TOO DANGEROUS TO DRIVE AUTO, THESE MEN FLY

Northville Residents Take Safe Air Route to Big Racing Event

Automobiles that travel 75 to 80 miles per hour are "too slow" and dangerous these days for Northville folks. There was a time that speed would do, but no more, not since the advent of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation into this prosperous and rapidly growing place. Then its risky travelling on the ground anyway. When local business men want to go somewhere they haven't time to wait and tussle around with an automobile. They go through the air. First it was Conrad Langfield who took to the clouds. Next, L. A. Babbit, bank president. And so on down the line of daring ones.

Last Saturday, a number of local business men decided they wanted to go to the automobile races in Indianapolis.

"But how will we go?" asked Mayor Elmer Smith.

Naturally Conrad Langfield said there was but one way to travel these days and that was through the air. What's the use of risking our lives on these highways? Why I just read in the paper the other day where two people were killed on the Grand River road and four down in Detroit by automobiles. I want to go to Indianapolis.

I am not going to take the chance riding in an automobile," declared a prominent manufacturer.

Son C. Schrader said he didn't like to run any chances of getting wedged off into a ditch or colliding with a telephone pole and if he went the race he was going to go in the air, up in the air. That settled it.

Monday morning two Stinson planes left the Northville Airport carrying the local residents to the races in Indianapolis.

In the first plane to leave the field was Nelson C. Schrader, Conrad Langfield, Clifford Casterline and Mayor Elmer Smith. William Blackwell, Stinson aviator, was the pilot of the plane.

Hugh Babbit, Dr. F. W. Snow, Dr. A. Holcomb and Lawyer John C. Moore the passenger in the other plane was Sterling. One of the aviators who made such a favorable showing in the Park Reliability race, was the last of the craft.

On your, just a little more speed," he said later. When the two airplanes landed on the flying field at Indianapolis it was a long while before the crowd started, the Northville air is still having arrived plain to his destination.

Thus saw the race. Conrad Langfield was enthused over his dare and the driver who was in his burning car beyond the cockpit, or for a fact, an explosion of gas caused him to be thrown from the seat of Mrs. C. C. Casterline, a former operator sometime ago in the University Hospital, during the meeting of the bacteriologists Wednesday, and Schrader endorsed the plan for the adoption of a charter for the village to operate under.

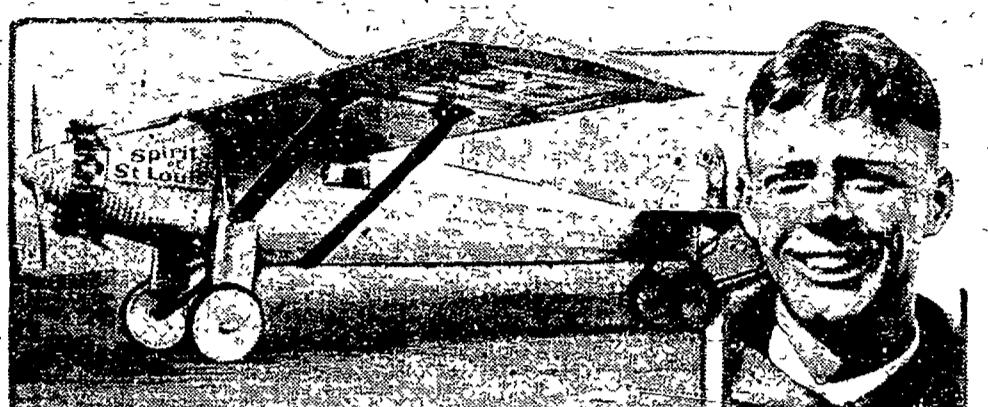

Mr. Brown was called upon to make a few remarks and he stated that he was just as interested in Northville affairs as ever, and that he was especially interested in the proposed adoption of a charter for the city. "It was a little different. He had been up before and not take a cross-country air

"We flew over the clouds and we flew into them. Our pilot didn't step on them very hard, but we covered 25 miles in just a few minutes over 2 hours. Coming home I looked down on my old home town of Elkhorn. Then I saw Phoenix pond and I as I finished telling Cliff Casterline that we were flying over the pond I looked down again and saw we were the Stinson Aircraft factory. We flew those three miles in just time it took me to tell Cliff where we were," stated Mr. Schrader.

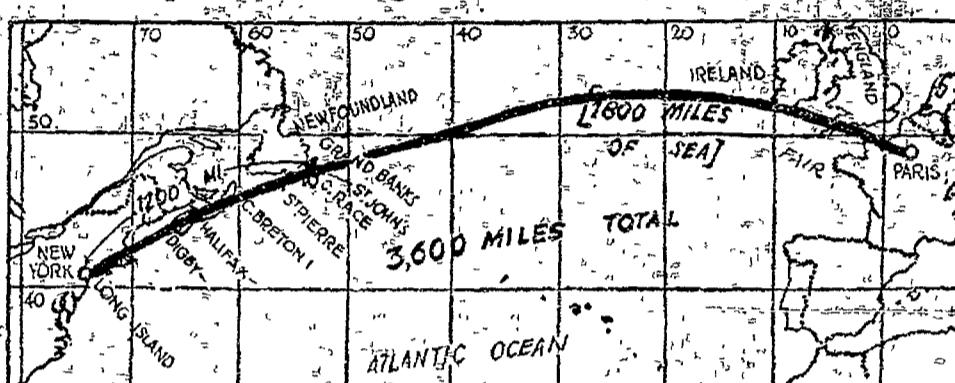

"Never fortunate was anyone frightened. It was nothing to be afraid of. You won't be afraid of someone wanting to smash into your car and if you ever in the road it was certainly a wonderful

WHAT IS YOUR SUGGESTION?

What have you suggested for the betterment of Northville?

Everyone who lives in this fine little city, everyone possessed of any influence here, might have something to say to how the community might be improved.

What is your idea?

Possibly you have thought something that will be of value right in Northville.

With it, right now, bring it and send it to the editor.

Remember what is being done in the whole community, a better life for every dash.

An answer to every problem is easier to submit to your neighbors.

It is not acceptable that a speech you would like to the community seems to be in the voice of yourself.

FORMER EDITOR SAYS REVISION CHARTER NEEDED

Tells Members of Exchange Club That Only Benefit Can Come from Work

C. E. Brown, former editor of the Northville Record, who has been engaged in a special study of the needs of the city, recently came to the airport to consult with the members of the Exchange club concerning the revision of the charter.

Mr. Brown was called upon to make a few remarks and he stated that he was just as interested in Northville affairs as ever, and that he was especially interested in the proposed adoption of a charter for the village to operate under.

Of course during the many years that the village has existed there have developed many conflicts not only in village ordinances, but state regulations, and they are not at all satisfactory to such a growing place as Northville. "I hope that the plan is approved by the voters as it is badly needed and cannot help but work out to the advantage of the community," he said.

The matter will be voted upon at a special election June 13th and, from sentiment expressed about town it seems that there is practically no position to the plan.

Those backing the project point out that a charter revision can do no harm anyway, and that if the right kind of a charter is prepared, it will be a wonderful asset to the community in the forward progress that is being made by the town.

Whole Community Unites to Honor Memory of Veterans

In Flanders fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row.

That marks our place;

John McCrae in Flanders Fields Monday, was Memorial Day, and Northville did not forget. The community, from Sunday evening until Monday night gave every indication of the occasion.

These who have served, those who offered up their all that the nation might exist, will forever and ever be remembered in this community in the same patriotic display Monday continues to live through coming generations.

The Memorial Sunday services took place Sunday evening in the Presbyterian church, the audience being packed.

The Rev. Frank Knowles delivered an excellent sermon, pointing out the righteousness of the causes that America had always entered into conflict for.

The musical numbers opened on the evening were especially pleasing, the numbers being given by the Presbyterian church choir.

Several hundred took part in the series of events on Memorial Day.

The parade formed at the city hall on West Main street, where Saftord's Gay band played a number of excellent numbers preceding the march to the theatre.

Northville Boy Scouts of America in uniform, the band, the few remaining veterans of the Civil war, members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Spanish War veterans, American Legion members, school children, W. R. C. members and other citizens took part in the parade.

Capt. F. H. Allen Jr., veteran of the World War, was the mounted marshal leading Saftord's band.

In the Penniman Allen theater, where the program took place, bands headed by Rev. J. L. Holliday of the Salem Federated church, a veteran of the World war, in his creative days, declared that Allen Jr. could never forget the songs he sang from the walls of the auditorium, every effort should be made to keep the nation in peace, and that a rich inheritance and the welfare of our country's rights of help in the world.

At the church service at the Auditorium, Rev. J. L. Holliday, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke of the importance of the war, and the meaning of the war to the nation.

The date fixed for a peace conference in Paris, France, was set for June 1st, and the meeting will be held in the Hall of the League of Nations.

It means everything to Northville. In fact I know of nothing that will be of greater benefit to this place, than the permanent establishing of the airport," declared Lt. A. Babbit at the meeting of the Exchange club.

His sentiment was strongly backed by Carl Ely and John Kalbisch, who declared that for the good of Northville there should be no longer delay in the matter.

The Exchange club as an organization, it was pointed out, took the project upon its shoulders and made it an Exchange club endeavor.

The Rotary club was called upon to assist, and the members did so—the various speakers at the meeting of the Exchangeites Wednesday, declared that it was something that the club could not or would not let drag along.

Floyd Lanning, trustee of the airport committee, declared that about twenty pledges had already been paid, but that some have not yet been taken care of.

And at the meeting of the Exchange club next Wednesday, the names of those who made pledges will be read if the pledge has not been taken care of by that time.

And the prediction is made that there will not be a single man for the secretary to call yesterday Wednesday arrives.

Members Decide to Have the Matter Cleared Up Within Next Week

New Wednesday is to be the day for members of the Exchange club to settle the infinitum of detail in the matter of making an airport.

Jellied prunes are made with gelatin, in the same way as any jellied fresh fruit. Use water in adding a little lemon juice to taste up the prunes, and allow one envelope of ounce of gelatin to each three and a half cups of liquid. As with other jellied fruits a trifle less liquid is needed than usual because of the presence of the solid pieces of fruit. A few pieces of walnut meats scattered through this dessert make it extra good.

FORD DAM AGAIN UNDERMINED—BIG POND IS DRAINED

River Rouge Cuts Under Concrete Wall at the Ambler Pond

Water has again undermined the Ford dam on River Rouge at the lower end of the Ambler pond, and as a result the big pond is now empty and Ford engineers are trying to figure out how to control the waters of the river.

Sometimes Wednesday, boys discovered two big boiling streams of water coming out from the ground just below the dam. The water looked just like two small gushers. They hurried to a telephone and notified local Ford company officials of the fact and engineers were sent out immediately from the Highland Park plant, in an attempt to check the break.

Men worked late Wednesday night at the dam, but the water had sunk deep under the concrete base on the east end and it was impossible to do anything to check the flow of the water in the new course that had been cut down deep under the dam.

The break came on the new section that was built about a year and half ago when the old dam gave way, following a period of heavy rains.

Apparently the water had seeped through soft spots in the earth, and the channel was 10 or 15 feet below the base of the dam. Workmen dug down into the break yesterday to find just how extensive the break might be.

The Ambler pond is entirely empty again and just what will be done by the Ford officials has not been announced. However, there is no question but that the damage will be repaired, probably by the driving of a great row of piles, and the construction of a concrete base extending out in front of the dam. The water power is not used by the company.

George and the South Seas

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright) GEORGE ABECETT was a very much engaged young man. His fiancee, pretty Sarah Makepeace, had her own loving ways of occupying his evenings and his office hours were frequently punctuated by telephone calls asking to meet him for lunch or downtown after work on days off and that. And because George really loved her and knew in advance what a topless trifling with her she was some day going to be to him, he never thought of protesting that her open savings were a bit stringy.

Never, that is, until that memorable night when they read aloud to each other a fascinating story of the ever-alluring South seas.

When George heard "Sissed Sarah" goodnight three times he turned slowly homeward. Thoughtfully, too. For the first time it struck him that there were distant lands to be seen.

He neither was free to go nor had the money, as far as that went. But he and Sarah who gave music lessons in between being engaged to him, were saving every possible cent towards a nest egg on which to marry.

When George reached his room, he found slipped under his door a white envelope addressed to him in hand writing only faintly familiar. Curiously he opened it and read the letter that was enclosed.

"My dear nephew"—so read the letter—

"I'm not dead yet nor thinking of dying. But I'm playing the dead aunt to my heirs. That is, I'm giving away to what you'd probably get later, each one of you. Please spend it to gratify some secret wish."

Affectionately, my dear boy, etc."

Attached to the inner sheet by a wire clip was a folded check for $2,000.

It is significant that George did not at once telegraph the good news in a way to make their marriage an immediate possibility, and surely no world traveler! At any rate, had young George's secret desire would lie in that direction.

On the morning, say at daybreak, by that shift George had snatched a patch of it window. He had noticed in the first few days the way her steps were a varied series of jolts. The fact was often noted. His thoughts were continually on the South seas along with a desire to why he was not to go. At last the single, definite urge had become so strong that he had decided to make the flight. He had been telling to many friends and foes, of the importance of getting away, living with hunting wild and honey, flying in ones and dozens, in a fast, scintillating, like a meteor streaking across the sky in two bits.

His unexplicable legacy seemed to render legitimate this desire, yet how could he explain to Sarah?

The obvious thing to do would be to get married and then, if he must now, fly away in such a way, making the journey in Sarah's company. He loved Sarah, he was honestly jealous of her looks, sideways at anyone else, and yet—low he wanted this last mad flight of irresponsible youth all by himself.

Suddenly he made up his mind to get it over with. He opened his mouth, shut it, cleared his throat and was about to speak when Sarah, laying down her work, looked toward and regarded him.

"George," she said solemnly, "I've something to tell you. It's hard to say, but—well, I've changed my mind about getting married. I feel—well, before I settle down, I'd like to go elsewhere, see somebody."

"See somebody?" echoed George, feeling as if the bottom of things were falling out.

"Yes," nodded Sarah, as I proffered eyes came a faraway, ecstatic expression. "Sometimes I dream of distant lands where the offshore surf beats on the coral reefs, where honey-colored moons rise out of a silver ocean, and strong, bronzed men in spotless suits white helmets and Victoria crosses on their chests."

"Sarah," by this time George had risen. Then, with an effort to swallow his indignation, "Just how would you do all this?" he asked.

"Well," said Sarah, "I've nearly a thousand dollars I was saving towards the house and—"

"And you'd use that?"

"Perhaps when I come back," said Sarah gently. "I'll not mind marrying you. But first—oh, I want one last mad thing." Rising, while her work fell to the floor unheeded, she threw her slender arms towards the ceiling. Then she found herself seized and her arms, falling fell on George's shoulders.

"Sarah," he was saying sternly, "Enough of this nonsense! I've just been left $2,000 by an aunt who isn't dead yet and we're going to be married at once. White helmets and Victoria crosses indeed! Tell me you do love me!"

So Sarah told him she did love him, what she did not tell him was that any girl knows when her lover has something in his mind and intuition plus some guess work will soon help her discover what it is.

Three weeks later, George's aunt received a letter from Sarah.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1927

WORTH STRIVING FOR
George Averill, publisher of the Bingham Eclectic, has long been regarded among newspaper publishers of the state as one of the most progressive in Michigan. His newspaper is generally regarded as about the best there is among country publications. In fact, it has won recognition beyond the confines of the state boundary line.

Naturally the Record was pleased when it received the following letter from Mr. Averill, relative to this paper:

"Several weeks ago I have thought of recommending you for the great improvement you have made in the Record since you acquired it. I hope that the citizens of Northville and adjacent territory appreciate the splendid effort you are making to give them an excellent weekly newspaper. A newspaper truly reflects the spirit and progress of any town, and from the appearance of the Record nowadays the community it serves ought to be a happy and progressive one."

Who wouldn't put forth a special effort to get out a newspaper in a place so appreciative as Northville of one's efforts?

It is indeed a source of considerable gratification to receive such a letter from Mr. Averill—because he knows.

But who wouldn't put forth a special effort to get out a good newspaper in such an appreciative community as Northville? The editor's ideal of a newspaper has not yet been reached; in fact we are far from it, but as the weeks and months go by, we hope to attain the accomplishment of our effort.

Watch! Watch! Watch! For "Nip and Tuck."

Legend About Beefsteaks
Tradition has it that the Roman emperor Trojan, or, as Lucius Plautius, a senator, roared in the duty of offering sacrifices to Jupiter. The senator thought that the work was beneath his dignity. He refused to obey, but was dragged to the altar. While the ox that was sacrificed to the leather god was being roasted, the senator, in contempt, tore off a piece of the meat and ate it. To his surprise, it was very palatable. He cut other slices and dished them for the slaves who were present. From that moment the Romans began to like "beefsteak" and before long the old styles of Roman cooking gave way to the Plautius style.

ROTARIANS WILL VISIT ANN ARBOR NEXT WEDNESDAY

Have Accepted Invitation of University Club to Meet There

Neighbors of the Rotary Club are planning on attending in a body the rotary meeting to be held next Wednesday at Ann Arbor. The matter was brought before the Rotarians at a meeting Monday noon, by President Don Yerkess. It is a very large percent of the membership expressed their intention of attending the Ann Arbor conference.

Neighbors of the members who play golf will go over for the afternoon tournament at the Barren Hills Country Club, and the others who will find it impossible to get away for the afternoon program will go in time for the dinner to be served at 6:00 o'clock at the Union building.

The Ann Arbor club is preparing an especially good program for the visitors.

Loyd German is the new member of the Rotary club. He had no sooner been taken into the organization than President Yerkess appointed him captain of the Rotary twelfth baseball team.

The matter of assisting flood sufferers of the Mississippi valley was brought to the attention of the Rotarians by E. H. Lapham, and it was upon his suggestion that a sum was raised to be sent south for the assistance of those who have lost their all by the great floods that have swept over many states.

Ernest Miller, briefy of the activities of the publicity committee, of which he is chairman. He stated that he believed the committee could best serve the club by doing the things that bring to the organization favorable comment.

Company Required to Increase the Allotment Made for Improvements

Rapid growth of Northville and vicinity has forced the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to increase the size of the appropriation it had made for this section and according to Roy Choyce, district manager, there will be spent in the vicinity of Northville during the remainder of the year many thousands of dollars in addition to what the company had originally planned.

This great growth has forced the construction of additional toll and long distance circuits to Detroit, and between the various outlying communities.

Incidental to this program, the Michigan Bell is spending approximately a third of a million dollars additional in Northville, Farmington, Plymouth and Bedford. So rapid has been the growth of this quarter advanced work planned for further in the future.

The year 1926 marked the expenditure by the company of about $34,000 in Bedford and Plymouth and the work now under way and contemplated for this year is in a way greater than the program which has been completed.

New office was placed in service at Bedford December 1st, last, and Plymouth September 25th.

At Bedford $210 "was spent for the original building and central office equipment. The Plymouth building and equipment cost above $10,000. Additional toll circuits were carried in a specially conducted underground cable connecting Bedford and the Detroit-Cadillac office.

Brought the Bedford program up to $50,000. Eventually the Grand River avenue community will be similarly connected direct with all Detroit offices.

There are already several lines connecting the various

Growth of Bedford the past year and anticipated continuance of the unprecedented expansion has caused the Michigan Bell to engineer and build considerable exchange cable both underground and aerial within the limits of that community. This provides additional service facilities in many districts that are rapidly building. This construction work started April 1st and will be completed in July. In the fall of 1926 there were 350 lines in service in Northville. Michigan Bell again expects to add approximately 2,000 lines by the close of next year, and by the end of another two years that figure will have doubled. The program is under way and since it late an expenditure of more than $100,000.

Recently engineers of the Michigan Bell have been engaged in a study of the best way to move these lines from Bedford to the new area of Farmington Hill.

It is estimated that the cost of this will be about $10,000.

In addition, the new Bedford area will connect Farmington

Hill with the new area of Bedford, which will connect Farmington and Northville central offices, and three more will connect Farmington with Detroit. Three new circuits will also be added to the Northville-Bedford group.

Plymouth and Northville now are being connected with a 78-mile aerial cable costing $40,000, which will care for the constantly increasing usage of the toll lines between these busy communities for some years, it is expected. This work was commenced early in the spring and is scheduled for completion during June. This cable also will connect with existing Detroit toll cables, and when completed will greatly speed the service between the towns of the entire Northville area and Detroit.

In addition, it will connect these four communities with the big trans-Michigan toll cable, which has been built to Jackson, with another section building between Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids.

BASE LINE ROAD

THE COUNTY LINE

County Road Commissioner Gives Out Information About Plans

According to announcement made by the Wayne county road commission, complete arrangements have been made between Wayne, Macomb and Oakland county for the paving of the Base Line road direct from Lake St. Clair to the Wayne county limits just west of Northville. This will give Northville practically three paved streets direct into Detroit and will lessen travel considerably on the Seven Mile road.

The announcement does not fix a time for the completion of the paving between the Farmington road and Northville, but representatives of the road commission have at various times indicated that the work would be done next year.

There is considerable paving being done in the eastern end of the road at present, and recently when in Northville L. V. Belknap, engineer of the Oakland county road commission, stated that there was no chance for the highway to be built this summer, however, he said that it might be finished in the fall if the road commission and the county commissioners

MOVE IS STARTED
TO DEVELOP HILLS
OUT WEST OF TOWN

New Residential Section to Grow Up When Street is Opened

A move is now under way to completely develop the picturesquely hill country west of Northville along the residential lines. This area is located between the Eight Mile road and Seven Mile road (Fishery road), and extends west to the Beck road. Main street when extended will bisect this area. Such development will be of immense value to the entire Northville district. The benefits accruing to both Township and village are manifold.

Given such a residential area, as the west Northville movement would make possible, Northville would be in a position to offer residents the most beautiful, finest, and largest home section of its kind in Wayne county.

Thousands of people drive through Northville who are attracted by the wonderful wooded hills. Yet, unless this area is developed these prospective home owners and taxpayers cannot secure homesites they desire, nor can they afford them.

In a survey made by the development division of Rel. Dre, Inc., to determine the possibilities this area offers for the suburban development many interesting points were brought out and conclusions drawn have been thrown off the subject of West and Township development.

Their survey and development plan reveal that around 350 acres of exceptionally beautiful rolling land now lying dormant could be advantageously developed with great benefit to the Northville section and office equipment. The Plymouth building and equipment cost above $10,000. Additional toll circuits were carried in a specially conducted underground cable connecting Bedford and the Detroit-Cadillac office.

Brought the Bedford program up to $50,000. Eventually the Grand River avenue community will be similarly connected direct with all Detroit offices.

There are already several lines connecting the various communities.

The total valuation of the west Northville area would be approximately $1,250,000 when platted alone.

Winding gables, tiered restriction-lapse rooms, houses would characterize the entire area. As this beautiful woodland area is developed and homes erected here, their value would be greatly increased.

This land in its present undeveloped state could not be leased at approximately $10 per sq. ft. or $100,000 would probably be a large figure. Yet under development along the lines mentioned above the price of the land, this estimate could be increased ten fold within two years.

The figure of $1,250,000 within an additional five years would be increased to $10,000,000. This is due to the fact that the area is in the early stages of development.

The survey and development program is all based on the fact that the area is in the early stages of development.

PLANS PREPARED FOR EXTENSION OF WEST MAIN STREET

Rev. D. E. Inc., Creates a
New Division to Handle
Special Work

The development division of Rev. D. E. Inc. handles the sale of land and development of the company's real estate that the real estate board is set up in the corporation which is to have some offices, the development division, the client to furnish all information.

Walter G. Roberts, a local surveyor and engineer, has prepared a report on the extension of West Main Street which has found such extension to be practical. The committee report will be presented to the township board and the surveying, for its consideration, the plans, profiles, etc., section, quarterly estimates of clearing, grubbing, excavation and filling, etc., will be furnished the township without cost to them.

Mr. Dye stated, "It is our purpose to bring about sound development in these sections, in which we operate. We carefully study any situation presented before making any attempt to develop a property. Conditions as they exist today do not allow hazard methods. The fundamental purpose of the real estate developer is to provide desirable living conditions for his clients. Correct analysis and proper development alone can accomplish this. Land, of course, is essential to the home, yet, knowledge, adequate and carefully planned development land is valuable."

The real estate man is as accessible to a community as the butcher, the grocer, the newspaper man or the merchant. The real estate man is dealing in one of the most sacred and dearest ideas of mankind—home—and all that home means. The real estate operator must first before him a vision of happy families—fathers and mothers working, struggling to give the little ones the best that life affords—a clear wholesome home environment. He must plan to give those parents and children the best he has in him. Congested lots and cramped apartments can never be considered home. Hillcrest Manor has been planned to provide a real homeplace. Our idea is to plan all properties along the same generous lines. Development work with the requirements of healthy family life in mind is necessary.

While regard is given to the zoning of the area, with the protection and welfare of the property owner in mind, the new zoning of residential areas, the general beauty of the streets and the character of the houses and the elements of safety to the health of the occupants and the value of the homes involved. Each house is to have its own private entrance, etc., showing its value.

NEW AMUSEMENT PARK TO OPEN ON SEVEN MILE ROAD

Million Dollars to be Spent in Making it one of County's Best

H. P. Clegg, president of the Detroit Amusement Corporation, has announced that there is now an amusement park to be opened on Seven Mile Road west between the Southfield Road and Grand River Avenue within the limits of the city of Detroit will open in June.

This park is accessible by three main highways—Telegraph road, Grand River Avenue and West Seven Mile road.

The new park comprises forty acres of scenic beauty, the River Rouge running through the entire property. The river is being dammed up, numerous islands and a lagoon, and the park will rank as one of the finest parks in Michigan upon completion.

The site was purchased from John and Emma Krave, it being formerly their estate. The ultimate cost of improvements will be approximately one million dollars. Improvements on the site will include the installation of a whirlwind coaster, Custer speedway, Dodgem, tilt-a-whirl, airplane ride and about twenty-five other concessions.

In addition, there will be large sheltered picnic grounds and the largest semi-open ballroom in Michigan under the management of Jean Gourkate. The park is the latest design of John A. Miller, park engineer.

Bands, fireworks and other attractions will be used during the 1927 season. There will be no gate admission. Parking space will be provided for five thousand cars. The park is within thirty minutes from the center of Detroit's population and arrangements are to be made with the D. S. R. for street car and bus service to the property.

WOODBURY TO GIVE OUT INFORMATION SATURDAY NIGHT

Will Tell Name of Person Who Made Correct Estimate on Auto Run

Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the new salesroom of the Willys-Knight and Overland Whippet, 141 West Main street, Tom Woodbury will announce the winners of the guessing contest on the number of miles that the Whippet wheels turned last Friday and Saturday on the rear that stood in front of the salesroom. Block'd up from the paving, the speedometer was sealed by Mayor Elmer Smith, and that the engine started.

It is Friday and Saturday. Every person who called at the place had an opportunity to make an estimate of the number of miles covered by the turning wheels. Some of the mathematicians of the town tried to figure it out by watching the revolutions of the wheels, and estimating the distance a wheel of a certain size would go if driven at a certain speed. Others just guessed.

The correct figures will be given out Saturday night, and the one who made the nearest estimate will be announced by Tom Woodbury. The seal over the speedometer was broken by Chief of Police Safford. If you want to know how far the car traveled through the city, and who made the nearest estimate, be at the sales room Saturday night.

What a world! One man swallows flattery, eagerly and another gets mad because you think him ass enough to swallow it.

The members of the Walled Lake contingent were present at this meeting and much inspiration was derived from the joint gathering.

Each lady brought a bouquet and the living room was transformed into a veritable fairies bower, for the ladies had with abandon gathered the choicest blooms of their gardens.

After an excellent program and dainty refreshments, the women distributed the floral offerings among the various shut-ins, and children in nearby hospitals.

Tuesday of this week, the Campfire Girls met at the home of Miss Mabel Chamberlain.

Last week they held a picnic in Phoenix park near Northville.

From the choice account

"It ain't gonna rain no more."

May be it won't rain any more, but undoubtedly just as much.

And to them better appreciate the comforts of home, perverse fortune presented them with a flat tire when the rain fell fastest.

LOCAL PLAYERS AGAIN STARS IN DE-HO-CO CONTEST

High Grade Baseball Being Played in the Inter-County League

The Inter-County League is yet young, but already the Inter-County League is just about privileged to win and say, "Look who's here!" The athletes who perform in this organization are putting up mighty fine article of baseball exhibition, well worth the modest prices that are being charged for it and well worth going to see. The Record wants to suggest that baseball of the brand that is being given the public in this league should have Northville's support particularly as two of our local players are members of the De-Ho-Co team that now is in a tie with Wayne for first place. Harry German is a member of the De-Ho-Co pitching staff, and E. Germann is playing center field regularly with the team.

Monday in the Inter-County League saw a 10 inning game between Wayne and Wyandotte. Wayne 17, Wyandotte 11. Wayne won by Gross Pointe over Belle Isle, 10-1. Wayne was second on De-Ho-Co and Detroit Firemen of the league were playing as exciting game of baseball as can be seen with spectacular fielding and pitching as any game staged on the Navin Field. Rowland, for De-Ho-Co and Bolden for the Firemen fought it out, with Gross Pointe enjoying a two-run lead when De-Ho-Co came to bat in the ninth. Here Bolden held his own, but long enough for De-Ho-Co to assume a one-run margin, which it maintained. Rowland drove in the first run for De-Ho-Co with a hit that sent over the passed and waiting Trombley, and put himself in position to count when Hammond got a hit that went past Ebene and found itself in the home run column.

Pitching features of the game were supplied by Fissette, in rights for the Firemen, who robbed Rowland of a certain three-pager by a remarkable running catch before the pitcher hit safely, and by Jacks, who went deep for Burrell's sitting grounder in the sixth and retired him by a long throw to the bag.

Wyandotte unlimed Detroit Municipal Employees in a league contest, the De-Ho-Co group Sunday in an exciting game of ball that was anybody's affair until the last man was out in the ninth. The score was 6-6.

De-Ho-Co and Wayne, at Wayne, were rained out on Saturday. This became a double-header to be played later on. Saturday's game between De-Ho-Co and Detroit Athletics, a colorful aggregation, was deemed impossible on the flue of Corcoran Park diamond, for obliterating rain had bent known to be reformatory officials, and was transferred to Northville, where De-Ho-Co shot the darkness out to speak for the arrival. In the afternoon, Buckley pitched good ball for De-Ho-Co, while his teammates were gathering strength off the opposition.

De-Ho-Co, the De-Ho-Co all the Farm, Sunday, and there will be the usual exhibition game on Saturday.

HASKELL POINTS OUT HOW STATE HITS THIS COUNTY

Forces Wayne to Take Care of its Insane and Pay Others, too.

The Wayne County Training School located here is one of the first institutions of its kind in the country, according Dr. C. G. Haskell, Superintendent of the state institution at Traverse City, who has been here several years, previous to going to Traverse City, was on the executive staff of the Kalamazoo State Hospital for the Insane in Kalamazoo for ten years. It has been his duty to see that the hospital is kept in proper condition, and that the patients are well treated.

Dr. C. G. Haskell, who has spoken at a conference of Wayne County social workers in Detroit, last week, said: "The present state machine for handling the institutional workhouse has broken down," declared Dr. Haskell. The legislature appears dead, he said, and consequently, and finally the Kalamazoo State Hospital which always has prided itself on never refusing admission to any worthy patient, has now notified probate judges that it will accept no more patients except as discharges occur."

"The state has increased its population in the last decade from 3,200,000 to 3,290,000, and of that increase approximately 70,000 have come to Wayne County," Haskell said. "The state has failed to anticipate any such condition, so the increase in the southeastern district has stalled an already overloaded piece of state machinery."

"Traverse City State hospital has been able for years heretofore due to shrinkage of population in its district, to accept patients from this district until today it is as badly congested as any state hospital, and cannot offer any more relief."

Pontiac State hospital has increased its overcrowding by 50 per cent and there is a waiting list of 150 which goes back as far as February.

"Since 1919 there have been added only 11 beds to the five state hospitals for the insane by new construction."

The resident population of the insane institutions has risen from a total of 500 patients over the population of 1910, which was then overcrowded by the 1,200 patients.

"We had to let the Traverse City hospital 200 miles away a total of 276 Wayne county patients."

This has been actually avoided in the entire southeastern district in the last year, but many cases of state, state and improved, and still further expansion of institutions. All these requirements have been granted, but have been met up to date.

In 1915 there were 7,484 patients in the various asylums of Michigan included in the 1910 census, he pointed out.

In 1920 the population of the state was 3,200,000, and the number of patients 10,100.

The number of patients in 1926 was given as 9,400, and it is to be dropped to 2,100 by 1930.

The explanation for reduction in numbers, Haskell said, lies in the fact that facilities are not up to state hospitals for the insane. They are not in supply adequate to the increasing demand.

The condition in the state is still deplorable, and the state legislative districts are in a mess, he said, and would replace the old state to 1,000,000, but may not do so, he added.

Haskell said in the state as it stands, it is the best state in the country in its institutions, but it is unable to care for all persons, strong or weak, and it is the duty of the state to care for them.

Lieutenant Governor Urges Constant Fight on the Liquor Question

Hon. Eben Dickenson, Lieutenant Governor of Michigan by virtue of the canon of Oscar R. Riendeau of Detroit, was the speaker Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church in behalf of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League.

The Eaton county statesman long a figure in Michigan politics has since the inception of the Anti-Saloon League activities in Michigan, been an active worker in its behalf.

He came to Northville Sunday because the Rev. J. R. T. Lathrop, pastor of the First Methodist church at Ionia and one time district superintendent of the M. E. church in western Michigan, who was scheduled to make the local address, found it necessary to fill an engagement in the western part of the state.

The state official told of the necessity of a constant fight against the liquor business, of his efforts being made to break down control of the traffic and urged a never-ending warfare on the part of those opposed to the liquor traffic.

COLTS RUN AWAY IN CONTEST WITH DETROIT TEAM

Another East Game Has Been Scheduled for Next
Sunday Afternoon

In one of the speediest ball games played in many weeks the Northville Colts Sunday trounced the fast

Frank & Seder aggregation from Detroit at the local fair grounds by a score of 5 to 6. Right at the beginning of the game was where the Northville lads made their big getaway. They scored four runs by heavy hitting.

The next run came in the third, and from there on the visitors were able to hold the runaway Northville Colts scoreless for the rest of the contest.

But it didn't do any good except to hold the score down.

Next Sunday afternoon the local team will play the speedy Nether Club team from Plymouth at the fair grounds. The game will start promptly at 3:00 o'clock, and it is expected that because of the rivalry that has always existed between the two clubs, there will be a big turnout and a fast game.

Harry German, Jr., and Clifford Le-

Fevers, batters for Northville, played an especially good game last Sunday.

In fact all the local players were right on their toes most of the time.

The rest of the Nether was Young at base ball, second base, Joe

Wool, short stop, Japan, third base, Voigt, center field, Holcomb

left field and Little, right field.
