THOUSANDS SEE PARADE SHOWING PROGRESS OF TOWN

Every One Praising One of Biggest Features of Celebration

The progress down through a century of history and the activities of the community of today, were wonderfully depicted in the parade that featured the last afternoon of the centennial celebration.

For more superior than its planners had anticipated, and eclipsing the pageant efforts of other communities that have held celebrations during the present year, the parade was one that will long be remembered. It was, about as near perfection as it could be made. Many thousands of people who had come from everywhere witnessed it.

And they were not disappointed. It was a great parade—an accomplishment that represented a community of the highest degree. No such display as the one that took place Saturday could ever be fully finished without the full cooperation of the part of everyone in town.

The individual efforts were as commendable as those representing some organization.

Contributing to the pageant of progress portrayed in the parade of the centennial, the several floats from the Wm. H. Maybury Sanatorium represented first the greeting of the institution to the city of Northville on its hundredth anniversary. The story of progress was illustrated by the floats which followed.

Beginning with the woodland the men were seen going with their axes to clear the ground for farming. Then came the farm show by the rail road, farm yard with its stock and its basket of farm produce, the barn with its implements, and finally the home with the well in the yard and the sturdy farmer and his wife tending on their doorstep.

After the development of the farms of the young city came the school indicated by Mary Baldwin with her lamp, her school bags, and with the teacher and the teacher's tools. Factors of the development of the community being education and religion.

Finally, as development of the town was built up by the downtown stores fronted with stores displaying in brilliant pictures, hardware and dry goods.

The spirit of altruism of the community that has become known as a plus for the all and important to health and happiness was represented in the miniature porches with their patients and nurses, surmounting the beautiful green hills of the vicinity of Northville, the hills which from the first have been the most beautiful attraction of the region.

Finally, patriotism, that makes the life of our American cities and towns so distinctive, and in which, quantity Northville so excels, was symbolized in a beautifully decorated float on which rode Mr. Wm. H. Maybury carrying a large flag, and flanking him on either side were the Goddess of Liberty and the sailor boy. Singing in tribute to the flag, rode at either end of this float a chorus of boys and girls.

The plan of this group of floats was conceived by Mr. Maybury and produced under his direction, as an expression of good will and best wishes from the sanatorium to Northville, as it looks into the beginning of a new century of life after contemplating the progress of the past one hundred years and to Mr. Maybury the entire community extends its sincere thanks for what he did.

For nearly one hour the parade moved from East Main, down to the west end of the street, then back on Main and over to the fair grounds, from where it started.

Heated by that wonderful musical organization, the Ford band, the parade started just as the fire hall post office will be closed all day except from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. No delivery on rural routes.

Next Monday being Labor Day, the post office will be closed all day except from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. No delivery on rural routes.

State troopers on motorcycles led the way. Immediately following the Ford band, came members of the Northville American Legion dressed in the uniforms worn during the Revolution of 1776.

Then a band of Indians. They marched single file, as Indians do. The representation was excellent.

Mr. Bronson of Plymouth and his two children, William, and "Patsy" provided the Indian pony and the typical Indian mode of transportation.

The ox team, drawing an old time wagon, that Mr. Ford sent over from his Grand River tavern, was one of the interesting features of the parade.

Riding in the wagon, Mr. Simon

STINSON PLANE ON WORLD DASH WORKS PERFECTLY

Fliers Left Turkey for Syria—Dash over Atlantic Without Mishap

With their Stinson plane working to perfection, William S. Brock, who has practically made his home in Northville for the past six months, and Edward R. Schies, Friday left Constantinople for Aleppo, Syria, in their next-leg of a flight around the world in an effort to beat previous time records. They have already covered over 4,000 miles.

Leaving the Stinson-Northville airport a little over a week ago for Newfoundland, the two aviators made their dash across the great Atlantic to London, England, in less time than had been expected. The flight would take a bad storm in mid-Atlantic delayed them somewhat and inability to find out just where they were after they had reached land on the other side caused a delay of several hours.

It was the last flight from America to England and the Stinson plane never once disappointed its navigators.

No flying craft has ever been put to a harder task than the Stinson that is being used in this dash around the globe. An inspection of the plane before it left Belgrade for the capital of Turkey showed that it was in just as perfect a condition as it was the day it left the factory in Northville according to information given at the factory.

Officials of the corporation like watching the experiment with intense interest. Already the Stinson plane has become a leader in aviation circles as the most substantial and trustworthy aircraft made.

There is no question but that Paul Redfern is lost somewhere in the South American jungle. He was seen last Saturday the day after his flight from the airfield off the South American coast, looking for oil wells. The last he was seen was 1,500 miles from land. Redfern was flying the Stinson quadruple—a 120-hp. Wright five-cylinder that he had built himself. He had a week to live before he could get back to land and they expected up to four to six days to find him.

NECK BROKEN IN AUTO ACCIDENT SATURDAY NIGHT

One Killed and Two Badly Hurt on Novi Road When Cars Collide

Samuel Allen Squires, 21 years old, an employee of the Ford Motor company in Detroit, was instantly killed when just this side of Novi, Saturday night, when his automobile and another car driven by F. J. Wade of Pontiac, collided full force. His neck was broken when hurled to the ground from his car.

Mildred Wade, who was in the car, was brought to the Atchison hospital in Northville, suffering from severe cuts, and William Carns living at 324 Mackinaw avenue, Detroit, is in the same hospital suffering from a crushed hip and many other injuries.

The accident happened just about dark at the intersection of the Novi and South Lyon road. Both cars were traveling at a fast rate of speed, and apparently the drivers did not see each other. The Buick sedan Wade was driving, was brought to the Armstrong repair shop in Northville.

Squires was a former principal of the Zanesville, Oho, high school where his body was sent for burial.

Mrs. Mary Allen who has spent the last two months with the W. G. Edwards family has gone to Flint, for a visit with relatives.

Next Monday being Labor Day, the post office will be closed all day except from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. No delivery on rural routes.

Goodell of Northville.

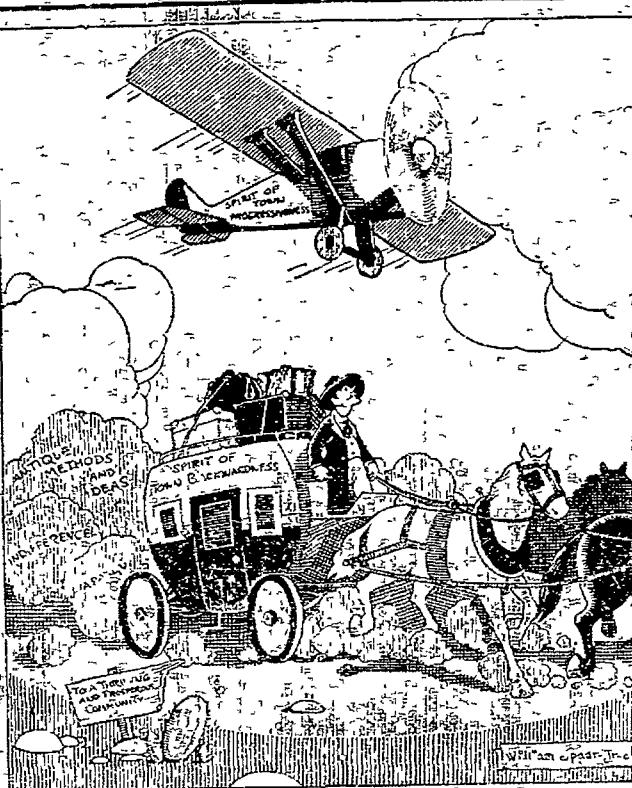

Next came many other highly prized vehicles from Mr. Ford's great collection. A prairie schooner and a stage coach then one of the old-time rag peddler's wagons rambled along.

"Any bones, any rags today?"

As the tiny wagon came down the street, you could almost hear the old familiar call of the rag man.

Russell Atchison, a student for the Methodist ministry, appeared in the parade dressed as a Methodist circuit rider. He had the saddle bags and all, a Bible, that Rev. Wm. Richards brought from England with him. The

A Woman Pays by Check —If She Is Wise

In ages past in the past, payments were made in any commodity you would accept.

Not so many centuries ago a transaction could be made with anything tradeable. It was at that time "I promise to pay upon demand" originated.

The defenseless were demanded to pay often being beaten into a paying mood.

In these days of advancement, wise people pay by check. The most convenient, safest, cheapest and most sensible way to transact affairs involving the transfer of money. Employers should pay their employees by check. That's safest. Employees in turn should pay all bills by check.

Come in and let us explain how a checking account is the ideal modern way to handle money.

THOUSANDS SEE PARADE

Bible that he carried was something like 150 years old.

Fred Strautz, dressed as a farmer of years ago, carried a cradle, the first that many of the younger people in town had ever seen. Grain has not been harvested in many years with one of these in this section.

The two-wheeled gig, old-time bicycles, a double-seated buckboard and many other vehicles of other days, most of them from Mr. Ford's collection, attracted the attention of everyone.

Mrs. R. W. Brown and Mr. Donahue of Redford, rode horses in the parade. Their costumes were of Civil war days, Mr. Donahue being dressed as an officer of the Union army.

The drum and fife corps, headed by Frank Perrin, was applauded time and again, as it marched down the streets, heading the more modern section of the parade.

A. C. Balden and Dr. Holcomb driving an old two-cylinder automobile, dressed as fishermen, with a "jig" of bait in the rear of the car, caused plenty of interest. The fish pole protruded from the back of the car with a reel on it big enough to be used for a small truck.

The high school band made an excellent appearance. The lads played well and greatly pleased the crowd.

Then came the fire engine from the Wm. H. Maybury Auditorium, and too, Northville fire truck, the local firemen being in uniform. It was a mere coincidence that one of the horses pulling the fire engine was in the team that used to pull the same steamer when it was in service in Detroit.

The Rotary float, an automobile completely and beautifully covered with red shades of gladioli, was a most attractive sight. The float looked as though it might have been picked right out of the Pasadena pageant of roses.

Showing the beautiful furniture, etc., today, the float of the Schrader Bros. store preceded the elaborate entry of the Exchange Club. Both were attractive and won much commendation.

The Shafe Electric Shop provided the unusual. A "colorful" bus was doing a fashion in the old time way on one side of the float, and on the other was one of the new electric cars.

Frank Wombleman and George Nichols drove a kind of bus just now used to be handled in front of the small park in town.

On the float, the driver had his arm emphatically raised with flowers and waving flags.

Joining the old floats took the place of the park. The old fashioned wagons, buggies, ped. cabs, and the like, were all interesting, and the girls will be in style or high life one could tell, especially the part ladies can be seen.

First hit you in the eye, attractive parts in the parade was that entered by Yerkes & Co. Seven young ladies dressed in the styles just as they were 100 years ago and four young men wearing the costumes of 1827 were on the float. Seated were Miss Ruth Yerkes, Miss Ida Rose Cavell, Mrs. Vance McKahn Masters, Mrs. Helen Vanatta German, Mrs. Bernice Hein Dye, Mrs. Irene Thompson Kahl and Ada Ely. At each corner of the float was Allen Buckley, Edward Riley, Daryln Edwards and James Wood. The decorations of the floats were in keeping with the costumes worn by the young people representing other days.

The Detroit Edison Company showed the old and new in ways of sewing.

The Globe Furniture Company displayed products of its factory.

Then came the newest product of Northville, one of the latest planes turned out from the Stinson Aircraft Corporation. Riding in the cabin were Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. Mara, wives of the officials of the company.

The Firestone Tire Company and the Gordon Baking Company both had entries.

The Northville-Wayne County fair board had an attractively decorated car in line.

Cars representing the Woodworth and Freydl stores were prettily decorated.

And there were bouquets for nearly everyone standing along the long line of march. Little misses on the boat entered by the Jones' Floral company tossed flowers to the big crowd along the packed streets.

The Foresters and the King's Daughters had prettily decorated cars in line.

Charles Hillis, with the Flying Cloud and the Wolverine cars, A. M. Zimbel with the Hudson Essex, haig German and S. J. with a string of Oaklands, Pontiacs and Studebakers; Tom Woodbury with the Willys-Knight, Claude Hinckman with the Paige, all displaying the latest of the times they handled gave to the great crowd an automobile show worth going miles to see.

It was a great parade, and everyone who had anything to do with it entitled to the highest commendation.

Robert C. Verkeer of Albany, N.Y., says, "Hello, Bob," as many folks pass his office door after the 11th meeting.

George Smith of Terrell, world traveler now, is at home. I happened to come to the restaurant and soon made his acquaintance in the picture post office. Old times are good to him.

Robert R. Brown of Mt. Clemens, "One Bob," had a lame arm and a tendency to move as the result of gout so many glands he found here.

Granville Wood of Detroit, 96, organ builder, extraordinary, hale and hearty, could remember a lot of the folks who came up to greet him. Mr. Wood built the Methodist pipe organ

John D. LaRue of Ypsilanti, joined the ranks of old timers and sought to make folks believe he had been gone a long time.

Isaac Crocker of Detroit, sent out every note from his old concert just as freely as he used to do when he traveled along with his father in the old Temperance band.

Charles Van Valkenburgh of Florida added a few more years of years as he came upon the boys and girls of other days.

Mrs. M. J. Knap Haddock of Detroit had a jolly time finding folks that she used to know—and there were quite a lot of them.

O. R. Bromley of Detroit, big chief in the Michigan Central family, recalled the days when he passed with D. C. R. problems in the little station at the foot of Main street.

Mrs. Anna Bogart McGuire of Flint, stayed away so long that she had to hunt quite awhile to get some of her school pals and swap experiences.

Orson Benjamin of Grand Ledge left here 50 years ago, and, of course, we had to find many of the old crew who made the picturesque a Northrop's corner in the old days.

Miss Florence Wood MacGillivray of Detroit author of best celebrated novel, "The Webbs," is still writing music she greeted a number of old and neighbors.

Clara Fletcher of Monroe, apparently absent, but as good as ever, told us she could find her old home.

Grace Sargent of Detroit, who is in all respects again the girl we used to see in "The old steam house."

Editor and Mr. George L. N. O'Conor were visitors from the Department of Commerce. Editor told him it was one of the best sets he had ever witnessed, and that Northville was entitled to a lot of credit
for staging such a success.

Hoyle Woodman, deputy state measurer for the past 26 years, is well liked in Lansing as he is a big home town, was a visitor to the city on Saturday afternoon. The affair for a time took off some of the heat of the political campaign.

Editor and Mr. George L. N. O'Conor were visitors from the Department of Commerce. Editor told him
it was one of the best sets he had ever witnessed, and that Northville was entitled to a lot of credit
for staging such a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham of Detroit were visitors here during the centennial. Mr. Graham is one of the directors and stockholders of the Skymson Aircraft Corporation. Like thousands of others both on land and sea, he delighted in the many early features of newspaper printing. In these old days the type was set by hand.

Editor and Mr. George L. N. O'Conor were visitors from the Department of Commerce. Editor told him
it was one of the best sets he had ever witnessed, and that Northville was entitled to a lot of credit

Frank Emeri, Gor Grier's ambassador to Washington last spring begging the invitation of the great state of Michigan to the President in viting him to spend his vacation on Mackinac Island, was a guest at the celebration. Frank once lived here.

His father was one time supervisor of the township and a former village president. The son for a time carried a name the Indians gave him of "Heap Big Medicine Man." It seems he had a job locating places on one of the old reservations where wild beings might be driven.

Frank had gained some general knowledge of wild drivings, and by tap, digging the soil with his toe, he could tell whether there was water under the ground or not. When he was up on the old reservation near Mt. Pleasant, driving along the walls, he had

Centennial Notes

The extra police provided for the celebration were sent over from the Deputy House of Correction in Capetown, South Africa, and the men did excellent service not only in assisting in handling the traffic, but in directing the people where to go and helping them get about the city. The did you see that big birthday cake decorated with 100 candles that was made by Fred Second and sold to the big feast? It took place at noon, last Saturday. It was a very handsome Northville, 100 years old, being written on the top in frosting.

As one of the features of the street races arranged by Harry German and his committee was a flat race for the men. The race took place at Wing Street, and riding those 200 pounds, cover the soul, everybody but their master on Fresh Bred Thoroughbreds.

Then a tip just before the race started swung the racing to 24 P.M.—and as usual with all races the favorites weren't even in the running at the finish. Harry Peery, riding about 200 pounds, one of the guards out at the Detroit House of Correction, came took the prize seriously that we like confidence, a straight line. Fred Durch was in second place. And he didn't even pant as he rolled by the two favorites. Anyways, it was some race and provided a lot of fun.

In a spectacular race between men and machine Dr. A. A. Holcomb, driving a two tractor or other vehicle, on just one engine, lunged the "lure" in his car was able to demonstrate claim that he crossed the finish line a fraction of an inch ahead of a German who faced him head on foot. Some of the spectators declared that the tractor was "hot" on one foot rubber because just as he approached the finish line he was met by throwing the weight of the hour against the dashboard and the momentum carried the car over the right wheel over the road line just as the left foot of Harry Peery hit the other side.

One million dollars of the largest sale in history of the automobile industry went to the trade.

Old Detroit on the 100th anniversary of its incorporation congratulated a lot of visitors on the 100th anniversary of the city. The big feature of the centennial was the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of Detroit.

Told you it was a big day everybody seemed to be making more and more noise.

Centennial Notes

Over 1000 saw the ball game Friday between the 50-year-old yellows and the Northville town team. Basilek and Cyrus made up the battery for the veterans and held their opponents without a run for four innings. Hinckley and German with Frank Bowerman catching, finished the game for the veterans, and the score ended 9 to 8 in favor of the old timers. The 50-year and upwards-in age, played ball like youngsters. The combined ages of the old players made a total considerably over 500 years. The veterans consisted of Bowerman, Hinckley, Basilek, German, Cus, Burch, Lampi, Weber, Moser, Paul, Perry, Riley, Tupper and Pierce. The Northville town team also played a good game, but the veterans had not forgotten their cunning and skill and were able to run them by a safe margin. On Saturday Capt. Dennis' De-Ho-Co nine defeated Belleville in a great game by a score of 2 to 1 before a crowd of over 2500 people. It was one of the best games of the season and both clubs showed their usual leave work. This game was another contribution on the part of Capt. Dennis towards making the centennial a success as he sent his team over without charge to the town.

When Eddie Styron was going the sun flying over the town last Saturday afternoon, Conrad Langley, Northville's long distance flyer occupied the cockpit with him. Loop the loops and straight up and down flying no longer send chills up and down Con's spinal column. He takes it all

It was just 80 years and six months ago that George F. Goodell, the old Civil war veteran who rode in the ox-cart during the parade came out to a place about a mile west of Novi on the Grand River, road in a singular ox-cart. He started with his pants from the Detroit river, and there Woodward street terminates at the shore line.

In Webster's American Dictionary wrote on "to split up" as an old men's game and "split up the poor old man's about him."

Mrs. Cora Marquette Clark came from Covert's Springs to call up with the news of our town and renew acquaintance.

Harry A. Boose of Fritchburg, Florida, couldn't have had more fun leaving brick than he did greeting the felons he used to know before he went south.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION MAIN RESTAURANT HAS BEEN SOLD

of his eternal obligation to the nation that he is a freeman and a citizen. It was his expressed desire that this flag should be the possession of the people of Northville. However, before he could present it to you, he passed on. So, today, on the One hundredeth Birthday of the Centennial, and in the name of my wife, John H. Steers, and keeping with his wish, we present you this flag. Whenever it is displayed, whenever it is hung in the breeze, may it quicken the souls of all who see to a realization of what it means to an American.

Mrs. Edward N. Fries, Mrs. Jessie Steers Powers, in his address Saturday afternoon James Schermerhorn of Detroit, paid a very beautiful tribute to Northville's natural beauty, enterprise, growth and prosperity and emphasized its pleasant, green, future. His forthright talk of vibrant humor, was listened to by a large assembly of people who were generous with their laughter and applause.

The many friends of Mr. Kehrmann will be sorry to know that he has found it impossible to remain in business. He underwent a very critical operation last winter, and for a time, it was feared he would not survive. His health has not been of the best during the summer. He expects to remain in Northville.

Village Clerk

The Unused Coupon

to the Great Offer

God Has Made to You

Ask what I shall give you says God—how as well as to young Solomon. It's a blank check—fill it out—take your choice.

Solomon came to a very great responsibility and he was yet a boy. The Creator made him a very liberal offer. Solomon asked for wisdom to do and be right. Solomon's life was a varied one—full of action—highly colored—dramatic in every phase—elaborate in all details. He has left his impress on the ages. His wisdom is supreme value.

What have you done with the coupon God has handed to you? Have you filled out? Are you getting what you did ask for?

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

An Adjustable Steering Column
to Suit Your Convenience

Buick for 1928 is extremely thoughtful of feminine comfort. One indication of this consideration is Buick's new steering column, which may be adjusted to the most comfortable position for women, as well as men.

And in addition, Buick for 1928 has a new steering wheel—slender to fit feminine fingers—yet deep and solid to provide the firm grip men demand.

Buick for 1928 pleases women because it is easier to drive—because it is more comfortable to ride in—and because it is the acknowledged style-leader among motor cars. That's why you see so many Buicks at fashionable gatherings and on the smartest boulevards.

Have you ever made good on one job...
for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape, without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

Centennial Notes

William Tidwell, who played in the drum and bugle corps, is over 84 years old. He came over from Adrian upon the invitation of Frank Perrin, for the one purpose of appearing in the parade. Mr. Tidwell is one of the few remaining members of Civil War days. He served as a drummer boy in Company K, 1st Indiana Cavalry Infantry. Mr. Tidwell's wife, a widow for both the government and New York Central lines, being him a pensioner. He is just as active as a lot of men less than one-half his age.

Gratville Wood, 73 years of age, one of the early pipe organ manufacturers of America, and the man who started the original pipe organ factory in Northville came out Saturday afternoon from Detroit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. MacKaye. Mr. Wood lives at 8903 East Jefferson Avenue, and up until five or six years ago was still making pipe organs.

He built organs in eleven of the churches of Detroit, and has placed 50 organs in various churches of Michigan. The organ in the First Methodist church of Northville was built by Mr. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Kehrl entertained Rev. Arnold Kehrl and wife, Donner's Grove Illinois, at a six o'clock dinner, Thursday evening.

Other guests present were A. G. Kehrl, wife and son, Floyd of Plymouth, Mrs. R. Pennell, Mrs. L. M. Strick, Mrs. L. W. Finch and Miss Winona.

Fred Lyke had a most interesting winnowing collection of rare historical artifacts. There were crowds around all the time. One of the articles that attracted the greatest attention was an old lace wavy edge they used to wear to church, used to keep their feet warm during those cold winter evenings.

Fred Lyke had a most interesting winnowing collection of rare historical artifacts. There were crowds around all the time. One of the articles that attracted the greatest attention was an old lace wavy edge they used to wear to church, used to keep their feet warm during those cold winter evenings.

It belongs to Mrs. Sam S. Black.

Copper teapot, also the property of Mrs. Black, was in the window. A coke or oven was loaned to Mr. Lyke by Joseph Tamm. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lawrence donated to the collection a spring shell—book of Chapman pertaining to the Civil War and the and grant signed by President Andrew Jackson to the very property on which the Lawrence home now stands.

In the collection was one of those rare old blue and gold platters or night trays in these days to those possessing one. It belongs to Mrs. Lyke. There were many other interesting articles in the window.

By EDNA PURDY WALSH,

Make Your Aprons of Paper

A DOZEN, basting stitches, a half A roll of cheap wrinkled crepe paper, and an apron is made which never knows the labor of ironing or washing day. Its life is shorter than cotton, but its expense is infinitely less, and its labor is nil.

A half roll is taken for the skirt, a double band for the waist, a small section for the bib and two crimped straps frayed at the edges make a nice decoration to take the place of lace or embroidery. There is enough paper left from the single inexpensive roll to make another shorter apron.

The new paper table cloths are also a great saving in ironing, and they can be purchased in packages of one dozen, with the varied designs of linen cloths put into them.

Cape paper dust caps are a better protection to the hair while cleaning than those made of loosely woven cotton. We also get the message that at the smart boarding and day schools the little girls are wearing generous bows on their hats, bright crepe paper to take the place of expensive ribbons. The bows are first made and then fastened to the hair with a small comb or comb of tape.
