PAVING BASE IS ALL LAID—FINISH SURFACING SOON

Northville Already Takes on Much More Progressive Appearance

With snow falling and darkness fast approaching, the last of the concrete base for the paving work to be done this fall was completed Saturday night, and Sunday, the big concrete mixer was moved back to Detroit. The finish of the work took place on Eaton Drive. Thayer boulevard having previously been completed.

The first two blocks of the paving were covered over with hay to prevent freezing.

It will be about two weeks before the asphalt surfacing will be put on Durand street. It has been completed the full length and the new ornamental lighting system is being installed, making the thoroughfare one of the most attractive in western Wayne County.

The lawns are being graded between the sidewalk and curbing, adding much to the appearance of the streets. Clinton street and Rogers street have also been finished. The widening of the paving on Main street was completed a week ago, but the new paving will not be opened to traffic for a few days, it is announced.

A portion of the surfacing has been finished on Cady, and when the entire paving job has been completed Cady street will be one of the most attractive in the city. Its wide spreading trees in places almost overlap the width of the paving. The attractive rolling lawns of the street when another spring arrives, will rival the best there is in town.

Thayer boulevard and Eaton Drive located in one of the newer sections of the city, already show the benefits of the paving, although the job is not yet completed.

Eaton Drive as it curves around both sides of the spring on Fairbank Avenue presents a most attractive sight.

The paving program about to be completed, at first, follows Clinton street paved full length; Roger Street paved from Durand to Main; Clinton street paved from Durand to Main; Church street paved from Main to Cady; Cady street paved its full length from Plymouth Avenue to Rogers street. Thayer boulevard paved its entire length; Eaton Drive paved from Thayer boulevard to Fairbank Avenue.

SNIDERS TO OPEN NEW STORE HERE: SEE GOOD FIELD

W.H. Snider Complete Line of Men's and Women's Apparel

With a complete line of men's clothing and women's wearing apparel, Snider's, a new mercantile establishment, will open in Northville, Saturday. The store is located in the Richardson building on West Main street, being the third owned and operated by this company. For over five years they have conducted one of the big stores in Dearborn, and for the past two years have been in business in Wayne.

There are three brothers interested in the ownership and management of these stores, Reuben, Joseph G. and Aftonmore. They have spent their entire life in the retail clothing business, and are thoroughly acquainted with the business. Previous to opening stores in Dearborn and Wayne, they conducted a store on Randolph street in Detroit.

They propose to handle a very complete line of medium priced goods, which will sell at "cut rate" prices, they state. Shoes for men and boys will also be carried.

The store opening will take place Saturday.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The program for October 4th was under the direction of the political committee. Wm. Gordon spoke on "Politics and Education." He traced the growth of public school education in America from its earliest origin in the church through its years of political handicaps to its present struggle to free itself from all political influences.

Mrs. John Cleaver gave a most interesting discussion of "Higher Ideas in Politics."

Miss Ursula Hubbard of Detroit brought to the members a very vivid account of the work of the League of Nations. Miss Hubbard attended the Geneva conference, and was most entertaining in her description of the city and what the league is trying to mean to the world.

The meeting for October 11th will be an evening meeting. At that time the teachers of the Northville school will be the guests of the club.

Miss Katherine Sorague will speak on her subject being "Travelling Through India." Music will be furnished by Miss June Field, Mrs. Harry Blake and Wayne VanDyne.

VETERAN OF PARKE-DAVIS STAFF DIES SUDDENLY

George Fuller, 54 years old, 3523 St. Clair Avenue, Detroit, department manager and for forty years an employee of Parke-Davis & Co., died suddenly Sunday afternoon. He is survived by his widow, Irene, and three children, his mother, Mrs. Ida Fuller, of West New York, one son, a dental surgeon, who resides in New York City, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank L. Edwards, of Northville.

PLYMOUTH COMES TO SEE HOW FAST NORTHLVILLE GROWS

Plymouth officials spent the better portion of one day in Northville last week studying the paving program that is just being completed, and going over the newly adopted charter of the city. Not so long ago Plymouth adopted a new charter, but one of the visitors stated that it had not worked to the benefit of the city, and there was some discussion as to the advantages of repealing it.

"We certainly have got to keep pace with Northville," said another one of the visitors.

All were loud in their praise of the progressiveness of the community, and declared that the new paving added greatly to the appearance of the town.

PRISONERS' AID FIREMEN AS BLAZE RAGES AT FARM

Two Buildings are Lost
When Fire Spreads—
Loss is $60,000

Prisoners out at the Detroit House of Correction farm worked side by side with firemen from Northville and Plymouth in fighting the most disastrous fire that was ever suffered out at the institution last Saturday when the cigar garage and boiler house were burned.

The total loss estimated at about $60,000 includes both buildings and the equipment in them. Fire started supposedly from the chimney and fanned by the heavy wind made fast headway among the two buildings.

Elementary school, part of the farm, and Plymouth fire departments undoubtedly kept the flames from spreading and doing more damage. The James Lad burned a big hole in the garage roof before the department arrived and they were unable to check the blaze in the two buildings.

The fire consumed two new Fords, eight tractors, a Dodge truck and a good number of the fittings in the new buildings that were stored in the boiler room. The trucks, Fords and tractors are a complete loss.

The buildings were insured for the amount of $10,000 which will cover only about one sixth of the total loss. Replacement of the damage will start at once.

Corn silage is well suited for feeding of all livestock. Dairy cows need, perhaps, more than other classes of animals because the succulence it supplies is very necessary for large milk production. It is cheap and economical feed for beef cattle, from breeding cow to fattening steer. Sheep like it and it is well suited to their needs. Pigs, horses and mules may be fed limited quantities of good silage with good results.

SALEM SHOWERS NEW PASTOR WITH MANY NECESSITIES

Community Shows its Spirit

By Making its Welcome Effective One

A children's party arranged to be at the parsonage during the afternoon, each laden with gifts.

Over one hundred cans of fruit were received, and further gifts of aluminum ware and a set of tinted glass dishes have since come to hand.

Cakes and refreshments were freely provided for the surprise party, which many visiting hands graciously helped to serve, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent together in the parsonage.

Before the ladies departed they generously contributed $52.50 toward furnishing cost of the vestries in the church, a special classroom for the younger scholars of the Sunday school, a further gift of $10, and another $10 has also been received toward this object.

In the evening at 6:30 parents and scholars of the first and second class of the Sunday school gathered at the parsonage, and were entertained by Mrs. R. Burnham, Mrs. Bradbury and Mrs. A. J. Parker. Miss Anderson of the Salem school kindly directed the children in their games and amusements, and throughout the evening the parsonage echoed with sounds of laughter and song.

After taking of refreshments, the young folks returned home, feeling all the happier for the first children's party of the season.

The party was organized to help in raising funds for the special object already mentioned, and it was originally decided to make a small charge to all attending. But owing to the generous contributions of the visiting ladies in the afternoon no charge whatever was made, for which the children join heartily with the minister and his wife in saying to all leaders of the church and congregation, thank you very much indeed. Come again.

Ford was badly damaged and the driver quite seriously cut about the face. Dr. Atchison was summoned and found it necessary to take several stitches. Can't always tell what the other driver is going to do.

The Greater Novi Improvement Association held the monthly meeting last Thursday evening. A musical program and a reading were given by the Farmington young people. Rev. Davy of West Point Park in the absence of the announced speaker gave the address on "A Broadminded man." Those who heard him felt it was very worth while. Partial reports of committees were given. At the next month's meeting a mock trial will be conducted by men of the Association. Remember the date, the first Thursday of each month.

The Treasure Chest

ARMISTICE DAY

BY EDWARD C. LANGFIELD

Memories crowd fast upon the mind as the circling months bring us again to this memorable anniversary. There is not one in this presence who does not have some personal interest in the great events upon which the occasion is commemorated placed the seal of finality.

For some of those who are here today, that interest is "tinged" with a profound sadness that it is a proud sorrow and borders on the realms of grief that the world has not yet learned to live in peace and happiness. It is to them that the thought of what they experienced among those who came back, a silence falls like all the truth would be known—silence more eloquent than words.

But the American soldier went forth and bled on the realms of death to battle for the cause of human justice and freedom with no joy but that of a thing it is to have in his heart for any people, overruling destiny and under the banner of history. So fell the world to war.

He held in reverence the blood-bought rights of our freedom, and history has no fairer or more stirring page than that which records the splendor of their devotion and the completeness of their sacrifice.

They are the subject not only of our pride and love but even can ever be for it is not for us to close the volume of our yearning to write out names like those of Marne, Vimy Ridge, Thiepval, Bellicourt Wood, and the Forest of Broons.

Argonne, these are names that will forever stand for the splendid courage and irresistible energy of the American soldier—for courage that stormed up to the very gates of death and snatched the fruits of victory from the jaws of defeat.

Memory follows these sleeping heroes to-day as we pause to remember and draw the curtains upon the silent drama of the present, to wonder for a space in the picture galleries of the past. We see them with eagerness seek the registration office to enlist in the great army of knighthood in the cause of human freedom.

We see them as they take (solemn and tender leave of those they love). Some are walking for the last time in quiet sheltered paths where sweet joys are told. Others are bending over cradles, kissing babies that sleep in blessed ignorance of moments heavy freighted with destiny. Some are receiving the blessings of aged fathers. Some are parting with mothers who pass them to their hearts again, and again and yet to speak but for only a kiss, and tears tears and kisses. Grief mingling with agony of love. And some are holding subdued and sober converse with wives and regarding with mute words of comfort their hearts the too-much-torn.

We see them part. We see the wife standing in the doorway with the babe in her arms. At a turn of the road a hand waves a final good bye and disappears in the distance. We hold in our loving arms. We see them as they startle promptly and under the ringing sides of the bell, open top to the old grand piano of an old man after the strain of the test of time through toils and vicissitudes of life down to the yell of alarm to go and see for themselves birds and flight.

We see them in a primary in their weary bodies, in the twilight and on the cold, dark edges of the night, the tortured ends between the head supported with pain, while in the dark shadows of the world, men even in the misty clouds with fear and despair, paid where all others slept and slumbered so peacefully from young to old, the world held fast.

We see them in the whirl of the charge where men come from with horses of steel. Where worlds are leveled unheeded and only the cobbing

THAT "YOUNGER GENERATION"

The moon shone brightly, the air was "airy," the gravel road smooth, the bugs, cicadas, toads and high silk hat in perfect condition. In fact, everything was in perfect condition for the faring year of 1888 to come. A short time ago, I jogged down the road with a camel at his side. NOT a word was spoken, both sat in silence. A few moments later, the camel's hoofs were heard again. Then the horse was left to go, and it was decided to choose them at random, the buck-sab selected. The same moon shone down upon a world needing more of the courage the air was just as balmy, the smooth cement drive fairly invited an open throttle and steady hand. The "new" newsie had descended, and the sport roader waited at the door. An hour later a laughing, carefree "gang" set out for a good time, not constrained by "no self-conscious embarrassment" or relationship between these girls and boys. More, good fellowship and fun.

Perhaps they do keep later for earlier hours than they did some twenty years ago; maybe their dress is exaggerated according to present standards, and we grant that they are a little careless of conventions. But you must grant that the modern boy and girl are five per cent higher in health average than those of forty years ago. And you must remember this is the drawing of a new age.

Did you ever think that when hop-skits began to be omitted from the early hearings, several of your ladies that a scandal there was? And when girls and boys of high school age began to attend the same schools and mix in classes—wasn't shocked the cossies were.

For the last five generations our younger generation has been going to the dogs. They haven't gone yet and I'm thinking that they'll have a long, long wait.

SCHOOL PROPERTY

Some students delight in carving their initials in writing on desks and doing other things which destroy school property. The school property is yours; if you go to school and a person with good common sense would destroy his own property, a man should (and his initials on his desk or on the window) go but not in a room or the window and now here between us but we're both to think he would and probably he would be, and it is the main principle when you do this to protect school property "make out" every day.

MY FRIEND MAN

Anybody up to the task may do it. There is no

His wife comes first, and I suppose before her, but only she and I am not going to do it. It really does not matter if he does not do it, but the wife does not do it, but she would be a good accompaniment but doesn't like it, and I am

Dad, training up his son and preparing my husband. At seven wash dishes and made up. Leave for office at eight. There at 11:30 and prepare lunch. A strong, healthy man wash dishes and eat off. Home at 5:30, and in case of my absence get dinner. Wash clothes and clean house when it necessary. Be ready to read papers. To bed at 9:30 unless I require him for work. Also the most refrain from bad talk and sarcasm from me.

Once a week with permission he may purchase a suit or coat, but these and one or two small expenditure should not exceed $75.00 a month, covering the regular insurance.

stopped. Watts makes good gain through line, followed by Tiffin for many yards. In a line plunge Watts made first touchdown—but failed in try for points as quarter ends, 6 to 0. Second quarter—Thompson, tries pass, but is uncompleted and Northville makes 15 yards and then kicks. Plymouth makes small gain here, then tries kicking line and finds store wall. Completed pass, but failed to make their yards. Northville tries the ball, McCordale punts and half goes outside as the half ends. Score 6 to 0.

Third quarter—Plymouth kicked to No. 10 starting half. Thompson tries punt and fails for yards. Tiffin carries the line for yards followed by Weller for more gain. Thompson then takes the line for long gain. No. 10 was not selected a little but best play. Thompson took the ball over for second try-down, and it is fumbled in for extra point. Northville kicks to Plymouth. Watts breaks up pass, they kicked after third down. Thompson gets it and is tackled. McCordale places kick outside. Plymouth receives. Thompson kicks it as third period ends. Score 12 to 0.

Fourth quarter—Northville receives the kick. Watts held for no gain through line, tries pass but failed. McCordale punted. Plymouth completed pass and was stopped. Had to kick. McCordale late in the last quarter of attack play ran 70 yards for touch down with wonderful interference. Coach Docksen then sent in Cavell in place of Rasmus in last ten minutes of the game. It was brought to an end with the score 18 to 0.

SECOND TEAM WINS FROM GRADES 19 TO 20

The Grades Show Slabboard Spirit. Future material for the Northville football teams looks very promising after the senior team and grade 19 has. Thursday. Although the senior team opened with a score of 19 to 6 the grades showed they have good stuff in them.

The second team having more weight and longer fellows had it over the grades. McCordale took the first period's lead, followed by Weller but failed in try for extra point. After a passing and running attack, Hutchman scored another touchdown late in the first half. The grades playing their best ball in the third quarter held the second team. The grades fumbled in the last quarter and the second team getting the ball marched down the field and Ely made the last touchdown and then made extra point. The game ended with a score of 19 to 9.

LITTLE KNACKS OF MEAT COOKERY WORTH KNOWING

Use sour cream as the liquid in making veal or lamb gravy.

A clove of garlic tucked into the joint of a leg of lamb gives it a flavor that is different.

Put a bay leaf in the pan with roast pork or braised pork chops.

Ham baked in pineapple juice is delicious.

The syrup left from pickled fruit, such as peaches or pears makes a delicious flavoring for roast meats.

Try pouring a cup of such juices and a cup of water over a roast or veal or beef.

Serve fried oysters with beef pot roast and use the oyster liquid for making the gravy.

Cook a pot roast with one cup of currants.

Lamb or mutton may be roasted on a bed of tart apples.

The flavor of veal is developed by slow and thorough cooking and the addition of fat.

Creamed ham should be highly seasoned. A teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce to one cup of White sauce gives an added zest.

Cheese melted in the sauce of creamed flamed beef is a good addition.

An equal amount of cooked beef and boiled potatoes makes a corned beef hash that is different.

A thick slice of veal based in flour is good.

An agostoed clover in the center of each sausage case is a surprise.

A fresh clover seed is left after meat is finished and added to the dish.

"Grass" signs are obeyed because of the watchfulness of the city Police. And again as the days grow cold where they might live in comfort, to say nothing of a place to play. That is what confronts many homeless children today, or would were it not for charitable institutions which look after these unfortunate little ones and benevolent men and women who open their homes to shelter and protect those who cannot protect themselves.

Of the latter we have an example right here in Brighton. Just this side of the village of Farmington is an institution called the Methodist Children's Home which does a great deal of good among the homeless children with whom it comes in contact—but unless it finds those who will co-operate with it, its efforts are hampered and its plans to benefit humanity will fail. Just here is where we have an example in our home town. Mrs. Charles Shaw's home is never empty and her hands never idle. At the present time she has four of these homeless little ones with her, no not homeless for a "real home" is theirs. Flowers ample space for games, the delight of a boy or girl, a nature romping dog, plenty of food, a chance for an education. Of course, the Home helps with the expenses, but even that could not be done were it not for the help of such good Samaritans as the one mentioned above, Squire Thomas Burns, Earl Harvey, Nevin Hale, Frank Moody and many others will never forget the home on Second Street, Brighton, nor will those who in the past have known its rose garden and other contributions. No, she guards herself, and靠着 her own strength, she is more than welcome because of the needs of the little family. Our town's man is always sowing, dropping seeds of kindness along his path.

All over the state, indeed extending across the border of the great Commonwealth of Michigan, are those whom she has helped to make a start in life. One could give a score or more of her children, some grown men and women, other starved youths, and pretty modest maidens all loving to remember their stay in Brighton and the dear people who made it possible.

There are others who are engaged in a like service. It means much to both the service and those served. It is broad upon the water for it will surely reveal rich in blessings for those who realize that the harvest might be brought to full fruition.

AVIATION GROWTH DIRECT BENEFIT TO NORTHLVILLE

Florida Business Booster
Tells of Importance of Airports

Northville is being advertised throughout the country as the result of being the home of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation and the possessor of the Stinson-Northville airport. Evidence of this fact comes to light every day, but not until recently was it known about Northville that Gordon K. MacEdward, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Dunedin, Florida, had been in Northville and looked over both the Stinson factory and airport.

The following article taken from the Dunedin Times gives the Chamber of Commerce president's idea of aviation and its possibilities:

"Any newspaper reader knows that stunt flights are now an everyday occurrence, but the growth of commercial aviation throughout the country has been so rapid and yet so quiet that its extent is far beyond what is commonly believed," according to Gordon K. MacEdward, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Dunedin, Florida, who has just returned from a trip through 14 states in the east and middle west. Because of a particular interest in aviation I took pains to find out all the facts possible about this new development in transportation where I went. I spent considerable time at the Ford Airport, the Stoltz plant, and the Stinson factory in Northville, and found no points of particular interest in either.

The flight of Captain Lindbergh across the Atlantic, the passage of the hundreds of miles of the Pacific between the mainland and Hawaii, the aerial race from Detroit eastward to Japan by Schlesinger, Brock, and Fisher, last month, have turned the mind of the country toward aviation. No man, however, knows the end of the aerial race business and of established passenger service.

"Today, a resident of Detroit desires to fly to New York, Chicago, Omaha, San Francisco or Dunedin, can make the necessary arrangements with no more trouble than the experiences in calling a taxicab! All he has to do is to telephone to one of the adjacent fields, and a pilot and machine will be provided, whether he desires to take a joy ride to a football game in a nearby city or to cross the continent in a hurry."

An announcement is made every few days of new flying routes in all parts of the country. The Ford-Stoltz interests are expanding their passenger lines to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other cities, and announced that ultimately they plan a complete service throughout North America.

Only a month ago, a few years ago, and a year ago, that only a dozen persons could get together after they started the motor bus in the early stages of the automobile. The United States has now more than 40,000,000 automobiles, and the number is increasing rapidly. The automobile has become a necessity. And that fact is the chief reason for the limited limitation in the number of drivers and the number of passengers.

The United States Transportation Commission, however, says there are more than 400,000,000 fields in this country. Millions alone have been sold, many of them privately purchased, than Dunedin. But because of the nature of the roads, there is a great number of them which are not suitable for use with automobiles and trucks. An automobile can run on a paved road, but it cannot run on a dirt road. A truck can run on a paved road, but it cannot run on a dirt road. A telephone station, a residence, or any other equipment or structures that might be needed by an aviator who makes an emergency landing.

An aviator has all these. It is no more than a mere field. In the Air Commerce Act, an airport is defined as follows: "Any locality, part of water or land which is adapted for landing and taking off of aircraft and which provides facilities for shelter, supply and repair of aircraft or place used regularly for receiving or discharging passengers or cargo by air."

In other words, an airport which is only registered and recorded with the Department of Commerce is comparable to a railroad terminal.

Like a railroad terminal, provided it is properly designed and built, an airport is available in almost any kind of weather. Again, like a railroad terminal, it has signals, its red lights marking obstructions, its green lights marking runways. At night, if it is flooded with light, while the buildings are so illuminated that the aviator may correctly judge his height. And of such airports there are probably not more than 20 in the entire country.

The United States, however, is awakening to this fact. Approximately 20 such airports are either under construction or are being designed throughout the country while many are now under negotiation or in the process of development by municipalities, chambers of commerce or other municipal agencies.

Now is the activity confined to one section of the United States. Commercially, the East is not keeping pace with the West in this respect.

California has 83 landing fields and airports, the number of airports being small and flat of landing fields, large. Still the East, as is the rest of the country, is awakening. A few years ago an airport was dedicated at Elvira, N. Y., a city where it had been for a number of years. Elvira is a city of less than 50,000. Yet the airport is a civic enterprise, a corporation with a large number of citizens as stockholders. Portland, Maine, also has an airport, as is Schenectady, N. Y., and Albany, N. Y.

With this activity the country with its 2,000 projected airports is only at the beginning of the new form of transportation is vitally dependent upon the rapidity with which airports are developed along the proposed routes.

It is obvious that Lindbergh's flight did more to awaken the general public than any other achievement in aviation recently. But even this accomplishment has not proved to the people that commercial aviation is an important element in the economic growth of the country along new lines.

When airports are established in the principal cities and towns of the country, and commercial operating companies cause their ships to stop at these ports regularly, then, and not until then, will the public concede that aviation is here to stay.

Any city can have an airport and with the rear future any city without an airport will be placed in the same position proportionately as a city without a railroad station 50 or 60 years ago.

An airport must be able to accommodate all types of ships and under all conditions—a thorough survey of the site must decide the position of the land selected because of the importance of drainage, the location in regard to accessibility, and even the direction of the prevailing winds since they play an important part in landing and take-off.

Within five years every town of 10,000 population or over will have airport facilities commensurate with the demand, and all such towns will be closer to established cross-country routes or other older-line routes connecting directly with the transconce main routes and these lines will carry in addition to mail and express, the ever-increasing number of passengers as well as the still growing traffic with the greater motorization.

The airport will be a tremendous factor in the community's prosperity and standing. The sooner a community acquires an airport, the greater advantage it will have over other cities, not so alert and progressive."

Using Old Phonograph Records

Old or cracked phonograph records become quite numerous in a family of children. One of the ways of using them advantageously after they are cracked or too worn to play is to keep one on the front porch to keep the front porch cool. It is broader and thicker than a piece of boughs and it is too stand.

There are other uses of old records which make them useful to keep the temperature of the house comfortable. If the floor is made of wood, the record will be a good insulator.

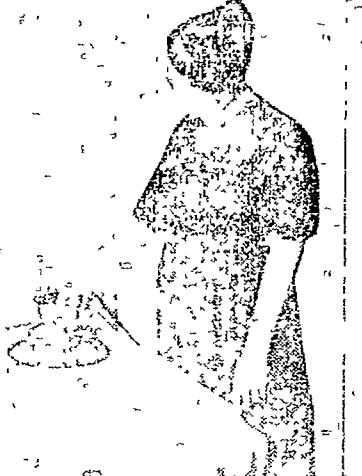

Old records are useful in the garden in the cool of the evening or by heating in boiling water. The other ingredients form a residue, leaving the wax on top.

The wax can then be used for model various animals and toys. It can be used for waxing floors and furniture by adding turpentine to the desired consistency.

Articles that are exposed such as doors and doggs will not warp or crack under the heat of sun or radiator if they are frequently treated with wax. A good floor wax is composed of two parts of wax and three parts of varnish turpentine.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT,

BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT ON NEXT
THURSDAY NIGHT

First Public Appearance of
New Organization on November 17th

Northville's School Band will make its first public appearance on Thursday evening, November 17th, in a benefit concert, to be given in the high school auditorium. The concert will begin at 8:30 o'clock, and the program that will be presented by the players is sure to please the large number expected to be present. The members of the band are giving the concert in order to raise some funds for the purchase of music racks and other equipment badly needed by the organization. A slight admission price is going to be asked and the members of the band and school officials hope that there will be a big turnout.

Remarkable progress has been made by the youngsters since the organization of the band last spring. The instructors have found a very receptive attitude on the part of the players and this has added greatly to the progress that has been made.

While the boys have played two or three times, this is the first concert offering, and it is sure to be well attended. When the band was first organized it was planned to keep the membership, always boys only, but so many requests have been made that girls are permitted to play in the band that the request has been granted by the school officials, also from now on a number of young boys musicians will be among the players.

Neal Bell of the school bands around the state has girl players, so it will be nothing unusual for the local organization to be composed of both boys and girls.

HERE IS ANOTHER FELLOW WHO CLAIMS TO KNOW WHAT THE NEW FORD CAR IS LIKE

A fellow in Waco, Texas claims to have inside dope on the new Ford which has aroused so much comment. We are pleased to give our readers this information. Here it is:

The new Ford product will be known as the Linford taking its name from Abraham Lincoln, its founder, and Henry Ford its manufacturer. Some other name may be substituted.

The car will be equipped with running gear, heavy gasoline tank, radiator and other accessories usual in other automobiles.

The wheels of which there will be four will be set on, and will turn around and around forward or backward depending on the choice of the driver.

On the extreme right and left will be equipped with a radiator which will have a reserve of water with which to cool the heat.

If one of the radiators will be broken off, to be in complete disorder of the body, the other will be closed.

Situated somewhere on the car will be a gasoline tank which will contain a certain amount of gallons of gasoline and will hold one gallon of gasoline. A few number of gallons can be had if desired.

All seats will be equipped with cushions of more or less softness. On the touring and sedan model, the rear seat will be placed directly behind the front seat. Both seats will be protected from sun rays by a top.

At the front of the front seat and behind the radiator will be placed a windshield, which will serve as a barometer. When it is raining the windshield will become smeared with mud, water, etc. from passing vehicles.

The car will be guided by a steering wheel which will turn the car to the right or left but never both ways at the same time.

Entrance to the car may be gained through doors cut somewhere in the body or if desired by climbing over.

The sedan and coupe model will be closed cars, and the touring cars and roadsters will be open cars.

The engine of the car will be usual in design and equipped with gears, rings, pistons, cylinders, spark plugs, tires and other doodads.

The car will be equipped with pneumatic tires, which will be placed over the wheels, tending to give the car a soft, airy, easy-riding feeling.

FIRST SNOW OF THE YEAR FALLS LAST SATURDAY—PEASANT FALL AT END

After experiencing one of the most delightful falls in many years this section of Michigan got its first touch of winter last Saturday morning when snow flurries started and continued intermittently during the entire day. The snow flakes melted almost as fast as they fell, although the ground was partly covered when Sunday morning arrived.

October, with the exception of two or three days, has been one of the most pleasant in many years. There was plenty of sunshine most of the time, and the temperature was higher than the usual average. In fact one or two days are recorded as the warmest in over 50 years.

What few farmers there are left in this section were highly elated over the real fall weather as it enabled them to complete all of their fall work without some of the inconveniences that usually accompany fall work.

To fatten turkeys for the market begins about the first of November. Feed just enough at a time so the birds will go away a little hungry, gradually increasing the quantity until they are given all they will clean up three times a day during the week before marketing. It is a good plan to feed equal parts of wheat and oats during the first part of the fattening season, gradually changing to corn as the weather becomes cooler. Old corn is much better for turkeys than new corn, but it must be free from mustiness. Heavy feeding of new corn results in scours.
