

LOCAL MAN GAVE GOOD NEWS TO GOV.
FRED M. WARNER

It Was William Elliott Who First Told Him of His Re-election

William Elliott of the Elliott & Son grocery and bakery is one of the few residents of Northville who has spent practically his entire life in this community. He was born here, and except for a brief time in business over in Redford, he has always made Northville his home.

The other day, when talking about olden times in Northville, he happened to mention the fact that he was the man who first gave Governor Fred M. Warner the information that he had been elected for the third term.

"It happened this way," Governor Warner and his wife got the election returns at their home in Farmington.

You remember that his third election to office was a very close one, and the early returns had him beaten by 7,000 or 8,000 votes," said Mr. Elliott.

"Well, Governor Warner and his wife had waited at Farmington until they were sure that there wasn't much chance of the returns changing. He had given up and thought he was defeated. His wife was just as sure as he was that there was no chance it had been a hard campaign and he was tired out."

"So I think it was the second day after the election when the Governor and Mrs. Warner came over to Northville to take the Pere Marquette train north, where they were going on a short vacation to give him a chance to rest up."

"I was at the depot that forenoon when the telegraph operator heard a report over the wires that new returns from the Upper Peninsula showed that Warner had been elected. It was just a few minutes after this when I saw the Governor and his wife drive up to the depot. Of course, like everyone else around here, I had known him for a great many years and when I saw him I told him the news that had just been heard over the telegraph wires in the depot office. Well, he couldn't believe it at first. He thought sure it was a mistake, but he went in and had the operator find out for sure about it."

"The report that I gave him was verified and you ought to see how happy both of them were," stated Mr. Elliott.

Everyone about these parts knew and loved Governor Warner. He was in business in Northville for many years.

In connection with this incident recently told by Mr. Elliott for probably the first time, an article in the Northville Record about how Governor was sworn into office on a sickbed when first elected will be of more than usual interest. It is taken from the file of January 18, 1907, and follows:

"While his aged father, whose hair is whitened by the snows of eighty-six winters, stood looking proudly on, Gov. Fred M. Warner took the oath of office at five o'clock Saturday morning, sitting in bed supported by pillows at his home in Farmington. An invalid mother whose affection for her son is as strong and ardent today as in the springtime of life dictated her thoughts towards the sick chamber, where the Governor was taking the oath to fulfill to the best of his ability the duties of the office of governor."

"It was a remarkable scene. It is probably the first time a governor of Michigan has ever qualified for office while upon a bed of sickness. It was like the gathering of a little family circle. There was no pretense of a state function, no suggestion of a little home ceremony that might be of no significance to the busy world."

"There were gathered in the bed chamber the charming wife of the governor, the four lovely children, the white capped nurse, the housekeeper and a few life-long friends of the governor, including Congressman S. W. Smith, Senator Solley, Representative McCracken, George Dickinson, County Clerk George Brown, Floyd Nichols, the governor's head bookkeeper, Gran Smith, Harry Cole, Fred Cook, for twenty years the governor's clerk, Steve Treadaway for many years the governor's faithful man of all work and Rev. Mr. Martin of the German Lutheran church of Farmington, and Mr. Neal.

George Dickinson and other Pontiac friends brought beautiful floral tokens which were placed in the governor's bed chamber. There had been no special preparation for the occasion. It was intended to be quiet. Many of the governor's friends throughout the state gladly would have been present and gladly would the governor have welcomed them, but his condition would not permit this."

The governor had intended to take the oath of office sometime this week but he desired to have Congressman S. W. Smith present on the occasion and as he was obliged to leave for Washington Sunday morning the ceremony was fixed at this time.

Mr. Martin offered a brief prayer

Colonel Clegg Brown administered the oath of office. The governor, with uplifted right hand, responded in low tones:

"I guess I won't lead to you my regular address but said, smiling I promise you I will fulfill the office to the best of my ability and always do what I think is right."

"Mr. Warner served a dainty lunch after the ceremony. This little tea party as it were was instead of a state banquet and reception. There were no orations but the expressions of loyal friendship and devotion were just as strong as those proclaimed in thunderous tones from the rostrum."

"The governor, improving very nicely now and will be able to be out of doors next week."

The purchase of new fire equipment to augment the present apparatus and afford Farmington full protection from fire is probable in the near future. The City Commission at a special meeting Monday night voted appointment of a committee to inaugurate a plan for purchasing a new fire engine.

Harold Oldenburg, who usually drives the fire truck, stated to members of the commission that the volunteers have been discouraged by the slowness and inadequacy of the present equipment. He said that the truck could not average faster than ten miles an hour and that "everyone else on the way to a fire passes us before we get there."

It was pointed out that the present truck is nearly ten years old, and that its original cost was about $3,150, indicating that Farmington had secured fire protection at a low cost per year.

Commissioner Carl H. Hoge, during the discussion, suggested that it would be best to drop all plans for changing the present apparatus and use the money toward buying up-to-date apparatus of sufficient speed and capacity to cope with any fire that might be expected.

The committee is to ascertain how much can be obtained on a trade-in of the present truck, but there is some sentiment in favor of retaining the old apparatus to have it available in case of an unusually large fire, or in case two fires should break out at once.

A movement has been started in Northville High school to organize a new "Hi-Y" club. This is a boy's organization sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. Thousands of high schools in the United States have such organizations, powerful factor of the school.

The fact that the Hi-Y club is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. does not mean that it is a strictly religious club. The purpose of the Hi-Y club is to help boys lead 4-square lives. This means to intellectually, physically, morally and spiritually fit.

This organization would benefit N. H. S. in its standing among other schools, and it will benefit every boy who becomes a member, not only in high school but in college when he will come in contact with boys who have belonged to Hi-Y clubs in other high schools. So it's up to the boys of N. H. S.

ONE SHIP SAILS EAST, ANOTHER WEST. The ship N. H. S. is off leaving port at exactly 8:30 Monday morning, January 29th. The ship set out on another cruise on the sea of study. It hopes to visit the cities of Algebra, Civics, Geography, Journalism and many other cities of importance.

Captain Ammerman predicted clear sailing from now on. The return trip will be broken up by three main stops at the Island of First Six Weeks and Second Six Weeks where supplies will be taken on board, and then the final landing. Captain Ammerman said many programs and dances will be given to entertain the brave sailors. "The main event the J-Hop, will be given March 23rd," he said.

No men went as the ship sailed out into the open ocean bearing with them Freshmen girls who they never will again see as "Freshies."

LOCAL TEAM LOSES TO DEARBORN. Northville high school lost the second game of the season to Dearborn in their gymnasium last Friday night. Unused to a large floor, the Northville team looked bewildered in the Dearborn gymnasium. On account of poor defense, the opposing team ran up a score of 24 to 15.

Thompson, forward, with consistent scoring power for Northville made the greater part of the score. Ted Waits, who had been ill the night before the game, played well being put in the last quarter. Levere and McCarlie, who generally play a good game could not get started in the Dearborn game. The guards played a poor defense game on account of the combinations which they had to use.

MRS. KINSEY IS ENTERTAINED AT SURPRISE SHOWER.

Mrs. Kinsey, formerly Miss Lister, was surprised by a shower and bridge party given in her honor at the home of Miss Hoag on Tuesday evening, January 24th. After the shower of gifts the teachers played three tables of bridge. Refreshments were served.

This closed the debate season for Northville. The three debaters who composed the team will graduate this year, so the team next year will have to be composed of new material entirely.

things. Sometimes it's mighty hard for the editor himself to understand what it's all about—but just bear with him and when we're back in a week or so we will try to make amends for anything that has happened meanwhile.

He will appreciate it—and everyone will—if you'll send him all the news you know about. He will try to get in the Record for you just right. If by chance it shouldn't come out just right, come down to the Record office and tell him how you want it printed, and if he doesn't do it, tell him you'll take it up with the old man when he gets back.

That will do the business, we're sure.

Among the succulent roughages pasture and silage are of most importance. Dairy cows always do better in early summer, when the grass is plentiful and green. Because of the nutriment and succulence that it provides, silage is the most economical winter substitute for pasture grass. Good cows will produce more and therefore cheaper milk if given silage or some other succulent feed during the winter.

SALES MEETING OF THE CHEVROLET BLANKET COUNTRY

Most Extensive Meeting of Kind Ever Attempted Under Way

National sales meetings of the most elaborate order ever attempted in the automobile industry are being held again this year by the Chevrolet Motor Company, with crews of factory officials, blanketing the country in a series of meetings that will bring them into direct contact with every dealer and associate dealer in the United States.

Designed to improve the dealer's relations with the public, by schooing him thoroughly in every phase of automobile merchandising, and designed to further the company's spectacular 1928 sales program, which calls for the outlet of more than a million units, the meetings are attracting from every city, town and hamlet in the country more than 20,000 people who make up the factory and selling organizations of the Chevrolet motor company. R. H. Grant, vice president in charge of sales, and H. J. Klingler, general sales manager, will have charge of the two parties. Mr. Grant covering the eastern half of the country and Mr. Klingler the western half.

The itinerary will take the two parties into 36 cities in key centers throughout the country, to which dealers in neighboring towns have ready access. Beginning with the meeting at New York on January 11th, the meetings are continuing for ten weeks until the final session at Birmingham on March 22nd.

Each meeting consists of a three-hour afternoon program—usually held at the largest auditorium in town, followed by an elaborate evening banquet, while ample time has been provided for dealers to take up their individual problems with the factory officials.

More than a carload of scenery, drops, stage properties and special lighting equipment are necessary for the presentation of the sales program in every city. A stage manager and a specially trained show crew direct the work behind the stage, while in front of the footlights the dealer organization sees the most interesting sales show ever presented in the industry.

Both Mr. Grant's and Mr. Klingler's parties will be together at New York, Detroit and Chicago, where the sales meetings are held in conjunction with automobile shows. In addition to stage hands and property men, Mr. Grant's party will include the following factory officials: E. E. Faiston, D. G. Flager, W. G. Lewellen, Gus Ek, J. R. Rogers and D. O. Battick. With Mr. Klingler will be M. D. Douglas, R. K. White, William A. Blees, J. P. Little and Sidney Corbett.

The motorist who kicks his toe against the splash shield above the running board of Dodge Brothers' new Victory Six, won't dent the shield. What looks to the casual observer like a splash shield is in reality the steel frame of the chassis.

To combine light weight with great ability to resist wear, the valvular lifters or "tappets" of Dodge Brothers Senior and Victory six cylinder engines are made of seamless steel tubing welded to chilled iron heads.

SPENDS MILLIONS TO PREVENT NOISE IN AUTOMOBILES*Squeaks and Rattles Are Fast Disappearing from Cars

Millions of dollars and millions of hours have been spent by the automobile industry during the last few years in the never ceasing war on noises. Over the drafting boards on the test tracks, in the machine shops, hundreds of men are constantly trying to make motor cars quiet, and to build them so that they stay quiet after long service. Minor squeaks and feeble rattles offer exactly the same challenge to the automobile industry of 1928 as did the loud chug-chugs and metallic clatters of 1908.

The owner who, twenty years ago, was satisfied with a car that could be heard two blocks away now hustles to a service station if a valve tapper ticks as loudly as a kitchen clock. Everywhere in motordom the demand is for silence. Motorists like to have their cars seen but not heard.

In developing the Victory Six, the Dodge Brothers' organization considered quietness as one of the main ideals towards which to work; as essential as speed, beauty, operating economy, or dependability," said A. H. Knight, consulting engineer.

The L-type engine was chosen, for one reason, because it is quiet. The designers paid careful attention to each individual engine part to insure permanent quietness throughout many thousands of miles of service and with minimum need of mechanical attention.

The 52-pound crankshaft is machined all over and is supported on seven bearings having a total length of 16½ inches. Crankpins are .25 inches in diameter and main bearings .275 inches, giving a total bearing area of over 41 square inches. Although a crankshaft which is carefully machined all over is in approximate dynamic balance, the Victory crankshaft is tested in specially constructed dynamic balance indicating machines and drilled until in true running balance.

The profile of the cams which operate the valves is such that each valve is seated gently, insuring quiet valve closing and long life of valve seats. The exhaust valves are of a special analysis steel alloyed with silicon and chromium to secure maximum heat resistance and freedom from need of grinding. The lifters or tappets are made of hollow steel bodies electrically welded to chilled iron heads, providing lightness of weight with freedom from wear. The cam-shaft is supported on four babbit-lined bronze bearings having an area of nine square inches.

The frame is eight inches deep, has five substantial pressed steel cross members and is further reinforced at the points of greatest strain with second channels placed inside the main side members. The steel floor of the body is riveted directly to the frame to give increased strength and stiffness.

In the steel bodies of the Victory, the conventional body sills are done away with, giving a lower center of gravity and permitting ample head room in a body so low that the top of the roof is only 68 inches from the ground.

Structural strength and light weight have been achieved by a form of construction which might be described as consisting of two welded steel shells fitted one inside of the other and welded together; sound proofing has been accomplished by lining each door and body panels with thick felt padding and by so fitting doors and windows as to prevent rattles and squeaks. In fact, almost every conceivable precaution has been taken to eliminate every form of body noise.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON SPORT LEADS TO BIGGEST FISH STORY TOLD IN LONG TIME

Spending a short afternoon spearfishing on a lake near Northville, Leo Lawrence and J. J. Marks made the biggest catch of fish reported this year. Both men, expert fishermen, proved their real worth when they brought home the bacon in the shape of four teen pike weighing from 3½ to 10 pounds.

The biggest pike weighed about ten and a half pounds, and the second largest about nine pounds. The fishermen exhibited the complete string which weighed about seventy pounds in all. Old-time sportsmen about Northville claim this to be the best fish story told in a long time, but the editor knows it is true, as he not only saw the string, but had a good dinner from one of them.

In the matter of the estate of SARAH A. HASTINGS, deceased.

from all appearances this action will be taken with interest by other towns in Michigan that hold county fairs.

This action will make Northville second only to Ionia in holding a free fair. During the past few years Iowa has met with great success in its re-admittance charge plan, and has been held as an example for other fairs about the state. The Northville Wayne County Fair being recognized as one of the leading county fairs in the state should with this advantage become the outstanding event of its kind.

The time is coming when all fairs will be run on the same plan and Northville will be remembered as the second one to adopt the same.

BUICK'S POPULAR
CHRISTMAS GIFTS SAYS OFFICIAL

A Recent Check of Sales Shows Big Increase Over Other Years

More Buicks were bought as Christmas gifts during the Christmas season just past than ever before in history reports from Buick dealer organization to O. W. Churchill, general sales manager, indicated this week at Flint.

The practice of selecting motor cars for Christmas giving is one which has gained considerable impetus in the last few years, a fact which Mr. Churchill attributes to genuine year-round utility and lasting satisfaction derived from such a gift. During the holiday season just ended, hundreds of Buicks were ordered for Christmas delivery, in which Buick dealers all over the country co-operated to the utmost.

The increasing popularity of the motor car as a Christmas gift is an indication that important changes have taken place in automobiles," said Mr. Churchill. "Where prospective buyers formerly delayed their purchasing until spring, so as to enjoy better performance or spare their new cars the injury which winter operation once spelled, they now show no restraint. Motor cars have developed to a point where winter imposes no handicap at all, and it is almost unheard-of to lay them up for the cold season as was once universally done."

Increases in several factors affecting winter driving account largely for the change that has taken place in the last ten years or so. The first and most important of these is the positive nature of operation. Progress in the study of carburetion and of lubrication has helped to make cars reliable the year around.

"Development of closed models, which may be equipped with heaters, has vastly increased the comfort of winter driving, and extended the usefulness of cars still further. We can now cover long distances on the coldest days without discomfort."

"A third line along which cars have come a long way in safety is low-pressure tires, low-swing bodies, four-wheel brakes and improved driving vision are making important contributions here."

The field of cars' usefulness is broader than ever before. Good roads lead everywhere, and thousands of miles of them are added each year. There was a time when we could spare our automobiles in winter, because streets and highways were impassable, but this is not true today.

"Modern cars not only operate better, but are less liable to injury from the elements than those of yesterday. Engine and other mechanical parts are quite independent of heat and cold; tires can stand more grief than ever before, and today's Duco finish is impervious to any weather. Insured against injury to his car, as well as against service interruptions at a season when these may be most annoying, the modern owner has no excuse for denying himself the use of a car at the season when it is needed most. The constant increase in winter sales of motor cars shows plainly that the public generally is adopting this view."

Will F. Lockwood Dies After Four Years of Suffering

Will F. Lockwood, life long resident of Northville, died Friday January 27th, at Ann Arbor University hospital, to which place he had been removed when his lingering illness took a sudden turn for the worse.

Mr. Lockwood was born in Northville September 3, 1856. His wife, who was Miss Kitty Carnier also of Northville, passed away in 1921. They had no children. Death relieved him of a long period of suffering that lasted over four years, the last two of which his condition grew worse, until ten days previous to his death he was taken to the University hospital, where he died Friday night at 12:30.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning by Rev. William Richards and Rev. J. W. Priest, from the Schrader funeral parlors. The body was placed temporarily in the mausoleum at Rural Hill cemetery.

Mr. Lockwood is survived by one sister, Mrs. Flora Larkins; a niece, Mrs. John Trumbull, and a nephew, Royal Larkins.

Mayor Smith Should Carry On

Editor's Record

The day following Northville's very successful community banquet, the Detroit News contained a picture of our popular mayor with the statement said to have been made by Mr. Smith to the effect that having accomplished all he had set out to do he would return from office at the end of his present term.

He has been efficient and faithful in the discharge of his duties, but as a taxpayer I am constrained to take issue with this statement that he has accomplished all he started out to do.

At the time of his nomination and election there was but slight hope that the village could acquire the Lapham property as a park, though it was the wish of the community that some time such a deal might be consummated.

There was but little discussion at that time regarding the adoption of a new charter, although the matter of adopting a commission form of government had been discussed for a year or two.

At that time very few even dreamed of having two of our residence streets paved, and as a matter of fact it is extremely doubtful if these splendid improvements would have been endorsed by the voters at the election at which Mr. Smith was elected president.

At a meeting of the Exchange Club some weeks before the village causes were held, Mr. Smith made bold to declare that he considered the system by which the assessment of the property in the village was being made was unfair, and he presented figures to compare the assessed valuation of certain residence and business properties to prove the basis of his conclusions.

Quite a spirited discussion followed Mr. Smith's remarks, and the facts he presented soon became current about the village, and the people at large began to discuss the matter and to make comparisons. As a result of that discussion end of the interest the question created in the community, Mr. Smith was urged to accept the nomination as village president, and he was elected upon that issue, as was also a new village assessor.

Some attempts were made to correct conditions which had existed for a long time, but the question of a fair and equitable assessment of village property was again discussed at a meeting of the Rotary Club, which would indicate that all of the unsatisfactory conditions regarding which Mr. Smith complained have not been adjusted.

In view of these revelations, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Smith has served nearly two years and they have been active and progressive ones for the village, it is my opinion and my sincere wish that he can be induced to carry on for another term, at least, until the manner of assessing village property can be adjusted in such a way as to meet with the approval of the entire community.

Perhaps our system of assessing will have to be changed somewhat to meet present day conditions, but this is the task to which Mr. Smith has his hands full, a year ago and until a proper solution of this vexed question has been found he should continue as the directing head of our city affairs.

Addressing Mail

To the Editor of THE RECORD:

I wish to remark about the manner in which the public address mail

The majority are very careless with their handwriting, especially in the spelling of street names. This carelessness causes a delay, and unnecessary additional expense to the Government. Co-operation of the public would remedy this.

MAX E. HECKER

Editor's Record

The rooters who followed the teams to Dearborn, Friday night, were well repaid for the cold, slippery drive by seeing some of the finest exhibits of school spirit ever seen in Northville. Just before the half in second team game, Arthur Lyke had the misfortune to slip and strike his limb on a brick wall. Those on the other side of the room heard the snap, and though he was carried out without a murmur, we were not surprised to hear it was broken.

We fully expected it to take the heart out of the boys, but they went in and played more determined than ever and won the game.

The first team was handicapped, as Terry Thompson had decided he could not play any more, and Ted Watts had an attack of appendicitis Thursday night, and was in no condition to play.

Arthur's grit and the spirit of his team did what nothing else could do. When the first team came out, the shouts and handclapping became loud and yells of Terry became real, as Northville's forward came onto his own.

The last quarter nothing could keep Ted out, and although the team lost, it was well lost, for they gained that which is worth all—faith, loyalty and school spirit.

A FAN

CHARLEY WEDOW WENT

UP IN THE AIR

Last Saturday, while the skating contest at Walled Lake was being watched with much interest, an airplane circling over the lake, and over the hundreds of people who had gathered on the ice, and finally landed near the crowd. This is something, Northville can't say, even though she has an airport. A large crowd began gathering around the airplane. Charley Wedow began visiting with the pilot (having a list to try), and in his usual winning way got an invitation to take a ride. Charley quickly accepted the invitation and proceeded right then and there to climb aboard. Soon he and the pilot were a thousand feet in the air and traveling a hundred miles an hour clip. Charley says people who have never tried flying can't imagine how beautiful the earth is with its orchards, groves, hills, valleys, fences, lakes, forests, towns, cottages and especially around Walled Lake.

Charley is wondering why Eddie don't come up from Northville sometime and land on the ice, and get acquainted with such fellows as Charley.

Wedow. Charley is thinking strongly of chartering an airplane to take him and his wife to Saratoga Springs next June. He says he wants to make the 600-mile trip in five hours—leave here at 6:00 a.m., and be in Saratoga Springs, New York at noon. Wouldn't that be going some?

GOOD NEWS STILL PLAYING

The many thousands of out-of-town theatregoers who have been unable to purchase seats for the Schwab and Mandel production of "Good News" now current at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, will be interested to know that the engagement has been extended two weeks longer, coming to an end on Saturday night, February 16th.

"Good News" was originally booked at the Cass Theatre for four weeks. It became an instantaneous hit and the engagement was lengthened to six weeks.

The demand for seats is still so insistent during the sixth week that arrangements have been completed to hold this dazzling musical play of youth, laughter, song, dance and an occasional tear over for the additional two, or eight weeks all told.

Age and youth thrill to the stirring tunes of "Good News," which fills an unusual niche in the theatrical world.

If you have not heard "The Varsity Drag," "Good News" or "Lucky in Love," you have missed much real enjoyment.

During the remainder of this week and for the next two weeks there will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The W. C. T. U. held its January meeting at the very comfortable, commodious home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Green, with an average attendance. A good degree of interest was manifested. What was lacking in numbers was made up in zeal. A very pleasant and profitable time was enjoyed by all present. This meeting marked the fortieth anniversary of Mrs. Green's membership with this important and far-reaching organization. It is a far cry from forty years ago to now. But through all those forty years, Mrs. Green has been a helpful, hopeful, consistent member of the W. C. T. U. She has helped to make prohibition possible. It is now a part of the Constitution of the United States. It is now the fundamental law of the land.

Thanks to Mrs. Green and the thousands of other brave women who have stood with her through all the disappointments and discouragements which have come and gone, they at last succeeded in reaching the goal of their ambition—the prohibition of the honor traffic.

Mrs. Green is a pioneer member of the W. C. T. U. It has never shown the white feather; never has compromised; unconditional surrender of the enemy was their slogan. They fought a long, brave fight and have won a grand victory. It now remains for all loyal, true-hearted citizens to help enforce the 18th amendment, and redeem our country from the curse of intoxicating liquors. Hats off to Mrs. Green and her co-workers!

Tribute to Women.

The grandest battles that were ever fought.

Shall I tell you where and when?

On the map of the world you will find them out.

They were fought by the mothers of men.

Deep down in woman's walled in heart,

Of women who would not yield,

But stoutly and bravely bore her part.

Oh! there was the battlefield.

No tented field, no bivouac song.

No banners to gleam and wave;

We have built this lumber business of ours slowly but surely, using the old reliable tools known as Quality, Service and Fair Prices. Satisfied customers have spread the word till it seems as though everybody should know that this is the place to buy lumber. Still there may be a stranger in town, so we'll run this ad anyway and tell him.

DR. J. W. WALKER OF THE UNION TRUST COMPANY ADDRESSES EXCHANGE CLUB

Dr. J. W. Walker of the Union Trust Company of Detroit addressed members of the local Exchange Club, last week giving them facts on American prosperity. Dr. Walker, an unusually interesting speaker brought club members face to face with facts that should startle the ordinary present day semi-minded man.

People of the present day, according to Dr. Walker, fail to appreciate the value of surplus fund. This according to Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the United States Treasury Department, causes the loss annually of $2,000,000,000 from the pockets of American people.

Statistics show that 92 per cent of all American men lose their life savings between the ages of 45 and 55.

This is not always the case, it is a serious thought nevertheless. I can find but two good reasons and analysis of both would tend to prove the statement true. First a man soon reaches that age finds that he has not quite reached his hope in laying away money, and decides to take a long chance of some sort. Chances are he will lose; investments of this kind are looked to as money makers, men expect great returns in short periods.

Secondly, a man's nerve and judgment undergoes a change between these ages, he is upset, causing poor judgment and bad decisions. He grows nervous and finds his investment not growing and too rapidly increases if, and in the end has usually lost all.

A man at this age often fails to consider the value of his surplus fund, he fails to consider those who have helped him accumulate it, and relies in his own judgment at this time, when it is far inferior to the time it was accumulated to invest it and make greater returns than it ever before afforded him.

This drive will have the hearty support of the Exchange Club of Northville. M. J. Murphy, president, is very friendly and an endorser. L. A. Babbit, president of the Northville State Savings bank, will act as treasurer and donations will be turned over to him. If you miss seeing Mr. Brown please send your donation into Mr. Babbit.

The budget is set for $200 for Northville. This money is to help defray the expense of the Army homes and institutions in the State of Michigan, for Michigan poor and deserving people. In October, 1925, the last drive the Salvation Army put on was a success. The people very liberally gave, and let's make this one also a success.

Reminded of the words of the Master when he said: "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of one of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Two hotels for men, two hospitals for girls, one children's home, one old ladies' home, three summer camps for Army mothers and children, all in the State of Michigan. All solicitors wear Army uniform and carry letter of endorsement.
