SOUTH LYON NOW BUILDING CHURCH HOUSE—COST $7,000

Will be Used for Community
Purposes and Motion Pictures

Northville residents will be interested in knowing that excellent progress is being made on the new church house being built in South Lyon. The church house is to be a part of the church and is primarily for the use of the church, but part of the time it will be available for use by the various organizations of the community.

It is to join the church auditorium on the north, running forty feet farther north and extending ten feet to the east and 21 feet to the west of it. The main entrance hall and the pastor's study will come twelve feet up on the west side of the old building. The new structure is to be of reinforced concrete and glazed tile. It will be seventy-two feet long and forty feet wide. A platform twelve feet deep and twenty feet long with dressing rooms at each side will occupy the east end of the building. The main floor will be 60 feet long by 40 feet wide with a 15-foot ceiling. A fire proof booth 10 by 8 feet for the moving picture machine owned by the church will extend beyond the west wall of the building. The full basement will have a large dining hall, kitchen, toilet, locker rooms and heating plant. Much needed room for the expanding program of the church will be provided by the entire building. At present there is not enough room for the Sunday school and classes, interfere with one another. The present dining room and kitchen are inadequate, and there is very little room for the social and recreational life of the church. The church house will give the opportunity to enlarge the Sunday school, and of playing basketball, indoor tennis and kindred games, and also gives proper equipment for pageants, entertainments and moving pictures, and will make possible a larger program of dinners, banquets and social gatherings. The completed building will cost about seven thousand dollars, over half of which has already been subscribed. Construction will go ahead just as soon as the weather permits.

Bethany Baptist church here, this Friday evening, at 8:00 o'clock. The admission will be 35c for adults and 25c for children, under twelve. The proceeds will be equally divided between the Baptist church here and the Bethany church. This is a short notice but all possible publicity has been given and it is hoped a large crowd will attend.

In response to an invitation from the Walled Lake, W. C. T. U., a number of members of the Novu union attended the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Green of Walled Lake, last Wednesday. A pot-luck dinner was served after which the presidents of the two unions, had charge of the program. Mrs. Myrtle Lockwood of Holly, who had spent the forenoon in the Walled Lake school, was present and spoke on the economy of prohibition.

The monthly meeting of the Novu Improvement association was held at the M. E. church Thursday evening. A. C. Atkinson, association president, presided. Miss Grace, the lady whistler and her accompanist, Mrs. Wulston from Royal Oak, charmed the audience by her rendition of a number of selections. The cadet warble especially showed ability and skill and was thoroughly enjoyed. L. B. Flint also sang solos in his usual pleasant manner. Mr. Hamilton of Detroit, spoke on "Building for Permanence," explaining he was in the concert business, that meant strong foundation, so in all of life's building a firm foundation is the first essential. Mrs. Davy spoke for Lloyd Gullen, who was absent on account of illness. She paid a fine tribute to the Gullen brothers for their honesty and integrity and felt confident their new project for Novu would be a success. Mr. Tanner, a former resident, spoke briefly in response to a call from the chair. The next meeting will be on the regular date, the first Thursday of March, when the association will celebrate the anniversary of its organization by giving a shadow box social. The proceeds to benefit the organization.

EARLY FREE PRESS DEVOTED ENTIRELY TO PUBLIC ISSUES

William Thayer Has Paper of More Than Ordinary Value

Mention was made in the Record last fall of the fact that William Thayer, superintendent of the federal hatchery, possessed a copy of the first issue of the Detroit Free Press, found in the attic of the old Thayer homestead a number of years ago.

The news in the paper, known at that time as the Democratic Free Press and Michigan Intelligencer, was confined chiefly to a discussion of political matters and carried a large amount of foreign news.

There was something less than a column of legal and other kinds of advertising in the paper. One advertised a horse ferry between Detroit and Canada, another advertised subscriptions to a new literary magazine, and then there was a sheriff's sale of two. The paper is highly prized by Mr. Thayer. There are but a few of them in existence, one copy being in the state library at Lansing. The paper was started May 5, 1831, and is now the metropolitan Free Press.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

Home day was both interesting and Dr. D. M. Saley's subject was "Health in the Home." He emphasized the need of common sense, regularity, rest, exercise, the right mental attitude, and of recreation.

Mrs. Dwyer, the speaker, furnished by the Detroit Edison company, talked about "Housekeeping Made Easy." She told of the importance of electrical appliances, how they saved time and strength and also gave more sanitary homes.

Mrs. J. B. Cook, who had charge of the question box, "Household Problems" was an able instructress, and the club was an attentive school.

Dramatic Day, Friday, February 10, will be a guest day. We are asked to respond to roll call with items of interest about the theatre or the movies.

"JOHNNY GET YOUR HAIR CUT" PICTURE AT LOCAL THEATRE TELLS INTERESTING STORY

Jackie Coogan, that mysteriously gifted child, has brought to the screen a new characterization which marks the dividing line between the young genius' babyhood and boyhood. The news of the shearing of Jackie's locks was doubtless attended by the tears of his millions of feminine admirers, but they need have no cause for apprehension—Jackie Coogan is not lost to them. The tressorial metamorphosis of Jackie Coogan is a radiant surprise as you will see at the Penniman Allen theatre, where "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut" will be shown on Saturday, February 18th.

The counselors of Jackie Coogan could have selected no finer vehicle for this period of Jackie's career than Gerald Beaumont's vivid tale of the turf. The story follows faithfully the career of the author, which appeared in a national magazine a short time ago. Nothing important is left out and nothing added that lacks in pertinence and direct value.

The story is that of an orphaned son of an Irishman, a trainer of thoroughbred horses. On the death of his father the youngster makes his way across the country in a horse car to the California tracks, where he tries to obtain a position as an apprentice jockey. With all the ingenuity of a determined adolescent, Jackie works his way into the confidence of Mother Slapp, a kindly woman who keeps a boarding house for jockeys, and whose only compensation for feeding hungry mouths is tips on the races, which are usually "bad ones." He meets Pop Slocum, a derelict of the race track, who owns a horse, and the two enter into a pact. The efforts which lead up to the big race are full of mischief and fun, with Jackie ever present on the screen.

The thrilling race-track sequence, the like of which we have never before witnessed on the silver sheet, was directed by E. Reeves Eason, the man who was responsible for the chaotic race in "Ben-Hur."

A daily ice service was inaugurated last spring throughout the Ohio River Basin by the U. S. Weather Bureau. It includes the larger tributaries of the Ohio, the Missouri River past of Kansas City and the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Missouri to the mouth of the Ohio R. or the information received and the forecasts issued will be broadcast by radio published in river bulletins, weather maps and newspapers and "look ahead" special reports of the formation of ice gorges will be made.

ONCE A FARMER ALWAYS ONE, SAYS WRITER OF POEM

Alton Orvis Receives Very Unusual Letter from Chicago

It has frequently been said that a man who has been "raised" upon a farm will invariably find his thoughts often reverting to those days of his childhood after he reaches the later years of life. The following poem sent to Alton D. Orvis, well known Northville resident, by a cousin who is a substantial business man in Chicago, confirms the contention. "Bose," mentioned in the poem, is the name of a dog. It reads:

Dear Alton
Your letter at hand, and I can see
That you are really thinking of me;
And the days when you and I were
kids,
Roaming through the woods in our
old-fashioned fids, Hunting the rabbits with which we came very close To catching when run out by our old faithful Bose.
Those were the days we loved the best;

We never knew what it was to rest;
Just running and jumping around with a whoop,
Playing any-over, over the old chicken
coop.
Those were the days, old kid, we
had fun,
Hitching up calves and seeing them
run;
Away with our sleds, and how we would go,
With our old faithful Bose through the deep drifting snow.
Those were the days, old kid, when you
Would get a good scolding from Aunt
Sue,
When we went out with the sleigh to hear the bells jingle,
And my Mother spanked me with a soft pine shingle.

The engine cooling system of both

One-half of the brake shoe used in each of the four wheels of Dodge Brothers four is rigid and the remaining half is flexible to permit a wrapping of self energizing action. The pressed steel shoe is so mounted as to be self centering.

On Your Back and Off Your Mind

When you button into a suit of Peninsulars, you forget them. There's no narrow collar to ride your Adam's Apple. It's cut to generous proportions and lock-stitched to hold its shape, will not bind after washing. They're knit on spring-needle machines and attached with sturdy lock-stitch seams. They don't creep or crawl. No bulging waist—the facing on the front opening is cut to exact measure and sewed with three lock-stitch seams. It won't

WALLACE ROSS

The funeral has been held. The remains of Wallace Ross have been placed in their final resting place. Out from the studios of this world has passed a real man, the kind that ought to live on for many, many years. All of Northville mourns the death of a young, energetic citizen like Wallace Ross, one always interested in the welfare of others and whose chief aim in life seemed to be doing good.

He was of the kind not often found, and so highly prized by any community. Always anxious and willing to aid, there is no question but what the additional burden he assumed so that others might be happier and feel more satisfied with their lot in this world had something to do with his untimely death. He was a tireless worker and the flourishing Masonic lodge of Northville, the Presbyterian Sunday school and the Boy Scouts, as well as all the community, have suffered a very great loss.

We justly mourn and wonder why fate can seemingly be so unkind. But we have no right to question the deeds of the Almighty. To the family, the little children left fatherless, goes the deepest sympathy of all Northville. Our loss as a community is indeed great, but that of the family it is forever a calamity. Kindly words help, but they do not count for much at a time like this. The mother and her family are now left with new problems. Your duty, OUR DUTY is to make the new paths that must be trod as smooth as possible.

THE NECK OF THE BOTTLE

The Griswold Street Canyon is rapidly deepening in Detroit. In dozens of other cities throughout the country the same puny imitations of nature's wonders are under way. People seem so inordinately crazy to crowd themselves into thousands of miles of Gods green earth to live in and to work in—yet everyone wants to be in the same spot. There's really a question as to the economic advantage of cities from the standpoint of the individual or of the mass. At one time it was thought that the automobile would relieve congestion—that it would permit people to spread out to get out into the places where pure air and sunshine and flowers and green things and the beauties of the country abound. While the pa-ssion has undoubtedly made it possible to get away from the fumes and the dust and the noise both on holidays and on some days, the net result of the thing is that after all the phlegm to the wide and open spaces has become a daily habit rather than a relief for a day-nightfall they all come back.

Aside from the spiritual side of the question there's the fact that the actual time required for one to go and come from his hearthstone to office or factory is really no less than in the days before the little old car cut the road. What's the really fundamental solution? Are we getting as the truly basic reason for all this crazy-about wider streets and rapid transit? Doesn't it seem inconceivable to raise skyscrapers to house more and more thousands on narrow streets that obviously cannot be widened and that mean simply crowding more people into necessarily limited spaces, and then to add further to the confusion by widening the main arteries or travel so that more thousands may more readily flow into the already congested areas?

In Detroit, there are miles and miles of area that might just as well be used for business purposes. There's no real reason, only the imaginary one—that all business must be done within one small district.

There's no reason why industry itself need be confined to limited areas. In fact, one big manufacturer has hit upon the plan of numerous smaller plants, where workers may live within short distances, and not only enjoy the material and spiritual advantages of the big outdoors, but save countless hours now spent in wasteful traveling back and forth.

And yet, the cry is for wider streets, for higher buildings, for noisier trams, for mole-like underground transportation—all that more and more human beings may be crowded into the smaller of area quicker. Granted that homo sapiens is a social animal, and all that, it would seem that a kind Providence that has given us the opportunity to live and have our 24 hours of being, under natural, healthful conditions is once more flouted by man-made ideas of the eternal fitness of things.

The neck of the bottle after all what's the use of the bottle in the first place?

Signs of spring and prosperity beginning to show themselves in the shape of excavations for new homes around Northville. Within the last week seven new cellars have been dug and foundations are fast going in, so that the new dwellings may be up during the summer months. There is no better sign of confidence, no better sign of increasing business than that local people are building new homes. New homes mean a bigger Northville, and a bigger Northville means a better Northville, which is in the end that which we all strive for.

BOYS ORGANIZE A H-Y CLUB AT HIGH SCHOOL

Fourteen Boys form Charter Membership as Club Gets New Charter

Students at the high school have organized for the boys a local H-Y club. Fourteen charter members were taken into the organization last Wednesday evening when the club from Plymouth came to Northville to put on the work. Temporary officers for the club are Louis Tiffin, president; Alfred Spivey, secretary and treasurer. The club will meet at a luncheon every other Tuesday noon, served in the high school cafeteria. An advisory board composed of local business men headed by the club with Re. W. Lam Richards as sponsor for the organization. A club of this kind should promote a better feeling of fellowship and encourage a high school spirit. The purpose of the organization is to create and maintain throughout the school and community high standards of christian character. Four standards with member must live up to: clean living, clean scholarship, clean speech and clean athletics. The fourteen charter members are: Clayton Murdock, Louis Tiffin, Ed Wood, Alfred Spivey, Sam Shaffer, Russell Alphonso, John Huff, Alfred Smith, Harley Wollman, Russell Weyand, Don Wade, John Lavenworth, Foster Van Atta, Ted Watts and Roy Richards.

DETROIT EDISON

Additional capacity will be installed at Richland at a cost of $2,500 to provide for additional service at that location.

A Howell $2,000 will be spent to make improvements to the present substation and to provide increased capacity. At Howell Brizhen and Chu on various improvements in the overhead line system will cost about $10,000.

A trolley line will be built from 14th to 16th and the northern boundary of Williamston township where it will connect with the line of the Consumers Power company and the Consumers Power company, thus providing greater advantage of continuity of service for the territory lying between the two lines. It is estimated that the construction of this line will cost about $20,000 and an additional $10,000 to be spent for a substation with traction to control this interconnection.

At Superior substation near Ypsilanti equipment will be installed at a cost of around $215,000 to control the interconnection of power between the Detroit Edison company and the Consumers Power company. During the past year a $25,000 coil steel tower transmission line was built by the Detroit Edison company from Superior substation to Bridgewater and from Bridgewater, jointly by both companies to Cement City, where it connects with the lines of the Consumers Power company. ### A Kingdom Builder of World Fame

Our martyred president is a commanding figure on life's horizon. The years add to his influence in the world. So long as this nation needs the words of wisdom which this man spoke, so long will it endure.

Jesus Christ was the greatest kingdom builder in all eternity and His work shall not fail.

All other heroic figures in history have played a wonderful part, but at that are only copies of the matchless Son of the Eternal God.

HOME

One of the most beautiful and forceful parables spoken by Jesus is that of "The Prodigal Son." There was no censure or upbraiding—just joy in the father's heart that his son had returned; and in just that way Jesus receives men and women now, no matter where they have been, how far they have wandered or what they have done. He is waiting to bid them welcome home. The road that leads back home is always open. All that is needed is the desire and determination to return. If you are not in the habit of attending church, or if you have been away for a long time, just take the road back home and find what a welcome awaits you there.

HOOSIER STATE FEATURED IN A. & P. GYPSY PROGRAM

The A. & P. Gypsies will trek along Hoosier trails in their Indiana night program scheduled for Monday evening, February 13. This program goes on the air at 8:30 o'clock eastern standard time over a group of sixteen stations in the National Broadcasting company's red network chain.

A high spot in the Gypsies presentation this night will be the rendition of Governor Ed Jackson's favorite selection, "On the Banks of the Wabash, Far Away." The famous old song so loved by Hoosier folk, will be sung by Louis James, tenor, who is the Gypsies' guest artist for the evening. Music-lovers at large will have this Indiana night radio hour with particular anticipation because the famous Suite Orientale "From India" of Rimsky-Korsakov has a place in the program. Another choice musical program is a paraphrase for violin of I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls, from Balfe's "Bohemian Girl."

The Hoosier state program is one of a series, which are being presented by the Gypsies in honor of the various states in the Union.

Following is the program for next Monday night:

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT GIVES INTERESTING ANNUAL REPORT

The total number of all species of fish planted last year in the inland lakes, streams and waters of the Great Lakes from the seventeen hatcheries and nursery ponds, was 218,373,106 according to Fred A. Westerman, fish division department of conservation, in a report to George R. Hogarth, acting director.

An increasingly large number of fish are being developed to the fingerling stage before planting, the report shows, and these are being naturally or artificially fed in the hatcheries and nursing ponds.

Approximately 32,500,000 of all fish planted last year were brook, brown and rainbow trout. About 1,100,000 were large and small black bass, and 93,834,975 were perch. Approximately 1,000,000 were blue gills.

Other plantings were as follows: Lake trout, 3,500,000; whitefish, 20,000,000; walleyed pike, 58,500,000; herring, 7,000,000; Crayfish, 731,000; calico bass, 10,000.

The chief function of the division of fisheries consists of maintaining satisfactory fishing conditions in Michigan lakes and streams. This involves the propagation and distribution of desirable species, the control and destruction of noxious fish and the regulation of seasons and creel limits.

The present propagation policy of the division is directed toward providing facilities to rear brown, brook and rainbow trout for several months in nurseries before distributing them to public waters. Physical problems connected with this activity involve the selection of streams that are adapted for planting, particularly brook trout. The department does not contemplate introducing additional species of fish to Michigan, but is concentrating all efforts in hatcheries on species that are well adapted for Michigan waters. The department is co-operating closely with the federal bureau of fisheries to improve conditions surrounding the collection and incubation of commercial species, particularly lake trout.

Reports on gasoline taxes show that the District of Columbia and all but four of the states levied gasoline taxes in the first six months of this year, ranging from one cent to as high as five cents a gallon. The total of taxes collected after allowing for refunds was slightly more than $100,000,000 collected from users of nearly 4,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline. The four states that did not tax gasoline—Illinois, Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey—are estimated to have consumed 947,000,000 gallons, bringing the total gasoline consumption used for motor vehicles in the first six months to nearly 5,000,000 gallons.
