BROOKS POINTS OUT NECESSITY OF UNITED ACTION

Chamber of Commerce is One of Greatest Needs of Northville

R. A. Brooks, first president of Northville's Rotary club and who is greatly interested in the town and its future, is strong for the organization of a chamber of commerce. Speaking of the needs of such an organization he says:

"I have felt for a long time that we are missing the real benefits taken from a business standpoint by the lack of this kind of a business men's organization. It would seem that with the several clubs we have now in active operation, that the field would be well covered. It is from a social standpoint but one can readily see that in order for the benefits derived from the many and interesting and interesting speakers brought before these clubs, that there must be some made meeting ground wherein our grand fund of knowledge can be put to use. As it is, one body of men get enthused with a grand idea. It flares up for a time and then is put aside for Jacks of universal interest. It would seem that every business man must have felt that the needs for an active Chamber of Commerce were very apparent.

"Several months ago I had the pleasure of spending a week in Canada on a business deal. Just as a sort of respite for a sale of a lumber yard, the party selling was a Rotarian and the party buying was a Kavanian. Both of these two were very active in Ossawa but no Chamber of Commerce was in operation. The actual need of a body of this kind was so apparent to these Club members that a committee was appointed from each of the two mentioned Clubs who put the organization to work and thus the Chamber of Commerce was reorganized. The work of the joint committee was simply wonderful. Each day for six days a noon luncheon was attended by members of both Clubs and on the last day one of the keenest and best Chamber of Commerce I have ever attended was put to work. The control was placed in the hands of six real boosters for those taking the actual lead in the formation of a working program. The Chamber as organized was not heavy with committees but those six were the actual control body who saw that the many questions necessary to the welfare of the community were discussed and acted upon. I found that while there were many different views on each subject, discussed, the final result was in most every case a unanimous approval of the case at hand. I thought at the time that had one of the discussions been brought to the business men of Northville just one portion of us would accept the idea and another portion would reject it. The majority were not explained nor were its demerits discussed. The result would be to drop the whole subject and still the town would be actually deprived of what was before the different groups. This is the way in which business men are operating.

"We have many questions before us concerning the future of our town. These pertain to our municipal growth, our expansion or area, our local improvements, the expansion of our educational system, the laying out of more parks, the final decision of whether or not we are to enter the town as an industrial center or a City for homes. These and many other things must be decided intelligently very soon. We have a number of our best citizens who say we must plan to make the City one of homes. We have others who demand the opposite. We have business men and merchants who are keen to advance from the small town stage and whose advancement must be decided strictly by what our future program will be. These business men are entitled to be heard just as well as the citizen who is contented to let well enough alone. We have laboring men who are not members of any club, who have not been invited to partake in any of the Club activities. These men own their homes, they pay taxes, they are en-

PROMINENT DETROITER SEES BIG FUTURE FOR NORTHVILLE VICINITY

Conrad J. Netting, has for many years been one of Detroit's leading business men. He is an attorney and has extensive real estate holdings not only in that city but in adjoining sections. For several years past he has been one of the outstanding members of the Michigan State Legislature.

A few days ago the following letter was received from Mr. Netting:

"I have just read a recent copy of the Northville Record, and was very much impressed with your article on the front page regarding making Northville a place of winter sports."

There is no spot within one hundred miles of Detroit which is more ideally located than Northville for just such a project; however, it requires a liberal council and citizenship on the part of the inhabitants of the town.

"They must be willing to invest and make a start if they demonstrate good faith to the State and County Parks Board. I have no doubt but that something worthy can be accomplished and Northville occupy the place in the estimation of the Detroit metropolitan area that nature has so generously bestowed upon it.

"I wish you success in this new undertaking to boost the town."

"Monk" Watson Makes Big Hit

As a personal guest of Carl Bryan, Bob Watson, better known as "Monk" Watson, who made the Aurora theatre of Detroit such a popular place during the past two years, attended Wednesday's meeting of the Exchange Club and for thirty minutes kept the audience laughing.

He had many kind words to say about Rev. Richards and Northville.

The two served during the war in France together and a few months ago when Mr. Bryan went down to Detroit to invite him to this week's meeting he very gladly consented to come. Right on top of that he invited the entire membership of the Exchange Club and their wives to be his personal guests some night at the theatre.

"Monk" has a ver interesting war record. The outfit that the two were serving in was on the front line the morning of the Armistice. To be the first one on German soil "Monk" mounted a bicycle and dashed down hill ahead of general corps and even the drum major. He declares that he wasn't even sentenced to be hanged but that he was almost because he wanted the honor of being the first American on German soil.

"Monk" can't help from being funny. Everything he says and does is funny. Carl Bryan states that he was always in the army and that he fired many gloomy thoughts of retirement. The club is going to accept his kindly invitation and have a special meeting to be held next Friday night.

The Reeds, the hosts of the "Brace" by one in attendance, correct Wednesday evening.

titled to be heard in regards to this program. Their views are just as important in the development of our city as those of the merchants, the banker, the professional men. There must be a way to get these citizens together. There is a way—the Chamber of Commerce.

"I have heard openly expressed from one of our Councilmen that it is a mistake to invite criticism. That it retards progress. That the only way is to go ahead regardless of who offends. This view certainly is a mistake. How much pleasant easier to bring the hard to convert before the Chamber of Commerce and convert him to our ideas. This certainly tends to friends which means that it will eliminate the knocker.

"It may seem to many of our town people that this means just another club. That is wrong. We are not a club. We are a Chamber of Commerce. We are to receive the questions pertaining to the future of Northville, take them before the citizens discuss them, sell the idea to everyone if it has merit or discard it if it seems faulty. There need to be no set dues for maintenance other than enough for actual expense. There will be just six or seven real unselfish boosters at the head to control the actual workings of the body. What we want is a few workers who will give of their time in the interests of Northville. A large amount is not necessary but we do want to maintain open meetings for thorough discussion of problems interesting to the taxpayers of this town. If you are a booster we want you to kick. If you are a kicker we want you to kick. If an idea has any merit this Chamber of Commerce will turn it over to the postmaster.

There are many other relatives living in Philadelphia, Chicago, Ohio, West Branch, Lansing and Detroit. It was in 1902 when the family came to Northville, and they were always interested and active in all worthy community matters. His death is not only mourned by the family, but all of Northville as well. The funeral was conducted by Rev. William Rockford of the M. E. church.

MAYBURY LAUDS NORTHVILLE AND ITS RESIDENTS

Famed Detroiter is Honor Guest at a Community Banquet

I am proud of your friendship. I am proud of my acquaintances in Northville.

I am proud of your good will. And I am just as proud as any here of your splendid accomplishments during the past year or so.

No one here has a greater interest in Northville and its future than myself and I am sure that the future holds much for this fine community.

That was the declaration of William H. Maybury, one of Detroit's most prominent citizens and the builder of the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the country, at a community banquet arranged specially in his honor and that of his church for the use of the M. E. church for the use of that church.

It was the declaration on Thursday evening of William H. Maybury, for years one of Detroit's most prominent citizens and the builder of the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the country, at a community banquet arranged specially in his honor and that of his church for the use of that church.

Rev. William Richards, pastor of the First Methodist church, arranged the banquet. Mr. Maybury paid a high tribute.

When I first came to Northville a number of years ago I had the pleasure of meeting one of your prominent citizens. At time went to call to know him and was very pleased to find him to be a very high regard for Rev. Richards a man all the time," said Mr. Maybury, and I am proud of his friendship.

The banquet was a regular series. Rev. Richard Douris, pastor of the Sanatorium, presented Douglas of the Sanatorium to present at the banquet. Dr. Douris filled the post exceptionally well.

He had many kind words to say about Rev. Richards and Northville.

He told of the close relations between the Sanatorium and the village and of the benefit to both by the fine friendly feeling that now exists.

One of the other speakers of the evening was John E. Bright, who is another associate of Mr. Maybury at the Sanatorium. He talked of the early history of our country, of the struggle of Washington during and after the Revolution, and of his constant fear of defeat during the entire conflict with England.

Winding into his historical talk, he deplored the present day tendency to idolize prize fighters and others of their kind.

"We want men who have no encyclopedic something as our ideal," declared Dr. Richard Suley of the Sanatorium.

He played two piano selections that greatly pleased the audience.

Rev. Richards announced that the next community banquet would take place on April 12th and that plans are already being made for it.

Legion To Put On Show Next Friday Night

"Turn To The Right" Will Be One of Funniest Events of Present Year

"Turn to the Right," a home talent comedy, will be staged at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Friday evening, March 9th, at 8:15, by members of the Northville American Legion. The show promises to be one of the best home talent productions ever staged in Northville and for weeks past the cast has been practicing almost nightly.

The play is being produced under the direction of Lyle Alexander. With members of the cast has been working almost constantly for a month.

Those taking part are Merrill Sweet, Lyle Alexander, Chubb Smith, George Simons, Harold White, Waldo Johnson, Joe Vronian, M. Kalesky, S. B. Stevens, Mrs. Williams, Safford, Ellen Sutton, Edna Martens, Margaret Safer and Leona Moffit.

Admission prices have been fixed at 25 and 75 cents. Most all of the seats in the theatre, however, are only 50 cents.

"Turn to the Right" is a copyrighted play and the local legion post has purchased the right to use it for the one night. It has long been regarded as one of the funniest productions ever staged.

Tickets will go on sale at the Northville Drug company, near Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Wm. Dunderman and daughter, Mrs. Joseph King, and son, Dick, Mrs. Clare Middlefield and daughter, Eleanor, all of Detroit, were guests Tuesday evening at the Penniman Allen Theatre in Northville.

The leaf stalks around a head of cauliflower, if carefully trimmed and cut into short pieces, may be cooked and made into a very palatable dish. If there is a little variety in winter vegetables obtainable, these stalks, creamed, would seem almost like a new vegetable, if served separately from the flowers. If they are served with the rest of the head, they should be cooked until nearly done before the head proper is cooked, since they take longer.

On May 1, 1840, the British Post Office put on sale the first postage

NOVI HOME TALENT PLAY MAKES DECIDED HIT

A packed house greeted members of the Rebekah lodge of Novi that put on a home talent play Tuesday evening, called "Nancy Ann Brown's Folks." Every one was seated at the success of the venture, and the characters, all residents of Novi, won for themselves the praise of every one for the excellent way they played their parts.

So good was the show that it was reproduced Thursday evening at Wallen Lake where another good sized crowd turned out.

The play was directed by Miss Means and was a great success. The loosest special wishes to thank the residents of Novi, the orchestra for furnishing the music and the church for the use of the M. E. church.

Mr. F. C. Clark, manager, acted as toastmaster.

Mr. Clark, his wife and ability to handle his position added a good deal to the success.

In the absence of Rural Carrier J. B. Cook on account of sickness, Mr. Clark took his place.

Frank S. Hall was called upon to speak the address of welcome to the visiting performers.

B. D. Max attended with his wife and their three children. They are visiting relatives in the area.

Construction work has been started on the new pavilion to be added to the existing one.

When I first came to Northville a number of years ago I had the pleasure of meeting one of your prominent citizens. At time went to call to know him and was very pleased to find him to be a very high regard for Rev. Richards a man all the time," said Mr. Maybury, and I am proud of his friendship.

He told of the close relations between the Sanatorium and the village and of the benefit to both by the fine friendly feeling that now exists.

One of the other speakers of the evening was John E. Bright, who is another associate of Mr. Maybury at the Sanatorium. He talked of the early history of our country, of the struggle of Washington during and after the Revolution, and of his constant fear of defeat during the entire conflict with England.

Winding into his historical talk, he deplored the present day tendency to idolize prize fighters and others of their kind.

He played two piano selections that greatly pleased the audience.

Rev. Richards announced that the next community banquet would take place on April 12th and that plans are already being made for it.

It is known that there are two or three other business places under way that will doubtless call for building in the downtown section, only in the present year. The proposed improvement, in addition to what is now on the books, will give to Northville another busy business district.

In fact, builders state that there will be more construction in residential property during the coming summer than has been experienced in Northville for some years past. Alex Johnson, one of the most active contractors about here, is not only doing considerable work at present, but is figuring on considerable more.

CARRIERS' EQUIPMENT HAS NOT ARRIVED

Postmaster Neal has received word of the shipment of the new routing cases for the city carrier service for Northville and the equipment is daily expected. Soon as it arrives the service will be put in effect which now seems likely to be before March 15. Of the exact time the public will be duly notified.

The All-Suburban football team has been selected by the coaches of the various schools and Northville is the winner of five places on the team. We've secured three positions: Ypsilanti two, Farmington one, Dearborn one and Plymouth no place.

John Leavenworth, who is the new captain of the Northville team, was placed at end on the team. Ware tied with Eddie of Wayne for tackle. Lefevere of Northville won out as guard. Thompson of Northville as center and captain of the team, and Ted Watts landed as half-back.

The showing of Northville is the best that has ever been made by a local team since Northville high first began playing football.

Dairy product, and in particular fluid milk sold for consumption in homes, constitutes one of the outstanding exceptions to the rule that changes in retail price cause marked changes in the quantity consumed. In the Chicago market, for example, an increase of 1 cent in the price of milk reduced consumption by only 11 percent. As a result a surplus of milk cannot be disposed of by a moderate increase in the price of milk, as is the case with most other agricultural products.

The United States parcel post convention with Cuba yesterday became inactive and Postmaster Frank Neal gave notice to employees to accept no Cuban matter of the character for the island republic.

The agreement with Cuba was a temporary arrangement, and expired yesterday. Question of its renewal has been raised because of failure of the United States government and the smaller republic to agree upon allowing importation from Cuba of cigars in lots of less than 3,000.

Domestic third class mail to Cuba weighing not over eight ounces and first class mail not over four and one-half pounds, will be accepted, however, the postmaster said.

PLYMOUTH HOST TO KIWANIANS AT DISTRICT SESSION

Meeting Thursday Night
One of Largest Held in Nearby City

Plymouth Kiwanians always alert to a public service and anxious to impress upon visitors the hospitality of that community. Thursday evening added new laurels to their fame, when they entertained over 200 visiting members from this part of Michigan.

The event was the first district meeting of Kiwanis clubs ever held in Plymouth. In fact, it was the first big district club meeting of the kind ever held in the neighboring town.

The meeting was made possible because the community now has first class hotel facilities that can be used for gatherings of this character.

The visitors were not only loud in their praise of the welcome given them by local Kiwanians but they declared that the Mayflower hotel was one of the prettiest and pleasantest they had visited. The service given for the dinner and the menu provided by the hotel exceeded by far the expectations of the most critical.

Everyone, made themselves right at home in the hotel. In fact, Plymouth Kiwanians made them feel that way. It was a sort of "opening night" again and the management co-operated to the fullest extent in aiding Kiwanians members to welcome The Builders, as Kiwanians term themselves.

They are Builders. There is no question about that. Good will of great value for Plymouth was built last night.

The Plymouth High School band, the players neatly dressed in uniforms, of white trousers, blue caps and caps, provided plenty of music during the arrival of the visiting delegations.

Under the direction of Prof. Clark Dykhouse, the band played many selections and played them well.

To Plymouth Kiwanians belongs the credit for the existence of this organization.

The club sponsored the band and equipped it with its instruments and uniforms.

Since its organization it has provided numerous concerts at various nearby institutions, as well as locally, and the entire community, as well as members of Kiwanis, are proud of the band, and pleased with the excellent showing they made at the big meeting Thursday evening.

The banquet program was opened by invocation delivered by Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Lendrum.

The Builders, a Kiwanis club song, was sung by the entire group, Wayne VanLynne, member of the Northwest Kiwanis club of Detroit, leading.

President Bob Jolliffe of the Plymouth Kiwanis club, in his address of welcome, made it emphatic to the visitors that Plymouth was not only pleased; but honored, to welcome such a fine group of men as represented at the gathering.

"I deem it the most outstanding opportunity of my two and a half years of Kiwanianism to extend the greetings of our local club. We feel highly honored in that your various trustees and officers entrusted to us the responsibility of sponsoring so important a get-together inter-city group meeting as this occasion exemplifies," he stated.

"We again feel honored that so large a number, many of whom came a considerable distance, have shown their confidence in the Plymouth club's ability to do it right, by their presence here tonight."

You are our guests, and as such we want you all to feel the freedom of your home while in our midst. Not the least of Kiwanis' accomplishments is the building of friendship, and as brother members of Kiwanis International, we are all friends, meeting in a mutual basis with but one thought in mind: To Build, to make the world better for the next generation.

The visitors from the Northwest Club of Detroit, Escanaba, Wyandotte, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Chelsea and Ann Arbor let President Bob know by their applause that his welcome was just as cordial as the words he expressed.

George Mulger, prominent Ypsilanti attorney and lieutenant governor of Michigan Kiwanis clubs, was the chief speaker of the evening.

It was the pleasure of the Kiwanians to have present Archibald Case of Jackson, governor of Michigan Kiwanis clubs. Mr. Case expressed his delight at being present and highly complimented the Plymouth Kiwanians and their guests upon the very successful meeting that had been held.

Dr. George L. Nickolls, of the Northwest club, also made a most interesting talk. It was the quartet from his club that provided some of the pleasing musical numbers on the program.

The committee which so successfully planned the affair was composed of Roy Crowe, Paul Nutting, Warren Lombard and William Sturgis.

For the occasion the Mayflower hotel was most attractively decorated with flags, streamers and flowers. Each visitor was presented with a Dairy or King popcorn as a souvenir of the occasion.

Just a Starter

The hour was late. All was hushed and dark. Suddenly the stillness was broken by a knock from upstairs.

"Is your daughter still at home?"

"No—nor anywhere else."

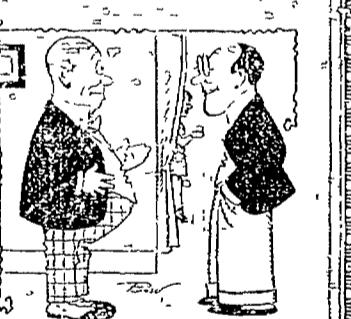

"It's rather deifferent night," replied the girl, "so I must change."

Not long ago a wealthy woman in England started a savings bank. That day I went in and made my deposit.

I am a modest person, however, and always am aware of this. It can easily be seen in the following statement from the paper:

In the center of the arched roof of All Saints church, Sabine in Polesworth, England, stands a huge stone slab which is the floor of the choir. This slab is made of four blocks of limestone, each weighing 15 tons. It is 12 feet long, 6 feet wide and 2 feet thick. The inscription on the slab reads: "The choir of All Saints church, Sabine in Polesworth, England, was built by Sir Thomas de Polesworth in 1385."

G. R. HORTON ON THE CORNER

LADIES, HERE IS
CHANCE TO SEE HOW
TO BAKE GOODIES

Pastry making and the proper baking of pies, the "All-American" dessert, was the subject of this week's Home Service Class at the Northville High School on Thursday afternoon. Miss Gladys L. Peckham gave simple, clear instructions on the recipes for apple, custard, coconut, cream, pie, lemon, grapefruit, pie and pineapple gelatine pie.

Important points in pastry making were—handling the pastry as little as possible; chilling before baking, and maintaining the correct oven temperature.

Three points in the success of a meringue were:

1. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry.

2. Add two tablespoonsfuls of granulated sugar for each egg white used.

3. Bake in a moderately slow oven, 300 degrees F., for about 30 minutes. The audience watched eagerly every step of the preparation, and were delighted with the perfect results obtained in the oven heat controlled range. The samples served were the final test, and many went home to try the dishes themselves.

Bids on the cabinet and enameled work table were received and they will be sold to the highest bidder after the last lesson, March 6th.

Awards will be made at this lesson to all who have attended five classes of the series. A set of aluminum measuring spoons will be given free to everyone attending the last lesson on Thursday, March 8th, at 2:30 p.m.

The subject will be "Oven Meals," giving instructions and recipes for preparing the entire meal in the oven at one time.

Recipes for any and all of these lessons may be obtained for the asking at the main office in Plymouth.

Come to us, we say, and together the Lenten season and the Easter service will be a joy to all souls good.

Editor's Note:—The care given to a nation's educational and welfare system is another value to the

The value of birds has chiefly in their destruction of injurious insects. Many of them, says the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, devour some of the worst pests of agriculture. The adult weevil has 45 different bird enemies; the armyworm 43; bulbuls 67; bumble-bees 69; brown-tailed moth 31; chestnut weevils 64; chin-ching bug 24; clover root borers 85; clover weevil 25; coding moth 36; cutworms 98; horseflies 49; leaf-hoppers 129; and wireworms 168. Birds often destroy insects in large numbers, devouring from a hundred to a thousand at a single meal. With such appetites it is not surprising that birds occasionally destroy all insects in a locality.

LADIES, HERE IS CHANCE TO SEE HOW
TO BAKE GOODIES

Pastry making and the proper baking of pies, the "All-American" dessert, was the subject of this week's Home Service Class at the Northville High School on Thursday afternoon. Miss Gladys L. Peckham gave simple, clear instructions on the recipes for apple, custard, coconut, cream pies, lemon dumy pie and pineapple gelatine pie.

Important points in pastry making were—handling the pastry as little as possible, chilling before baking, and maintaining the correct oven temperature.

Three points in the success of a meringue were:

1. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry.

2. Add two tablespoonsfuls of granulated sugar for each egg white used.

3. Bake in a moderately slow oven, 300 degrees F., for about 30 minutes.

The audience watched eagerly every step of the preparation, and were delighted with the perfect results obtained in the oven, heat controlled range. The samples served were the final test, and many went home to try the dishes themselves.

Bids on the cabinet and enameled work table were received, and they will be sold to the highest bidder at the last lesson, March 5th.

Awards will be made at this lesson to all who have attended five classes of the series. A set of aluminum measuring spoons will be given free to everyone attending the last lesson on Thursday, March 8th, at 2:30 p.m.

The subject will be "Oven Meals," giving instructions and recipes for preparing the entire meal in the oven at one time.

Recipes for any and all of these lessons may be obtained for the asking at the main office in Plymouth.

Coming Out of His Hibernation

MORE PROVERBS

Stretching the truth won't make it any stronger.

It's the way you show up at the showdown that counts.

A contest is something that some one else always wins.

A friend is some one who knows all about you but loves you just the same.

STRAY THOUGHTS

Jealousy and justice are never seen together.

Only an honest man looks himself in the face.

Who is betrayed by a friend is doubly scared in faith.

Each generation in turn thinks it has discovered America.

Light stuff: Corks and optimists always come to the top.

Trying to keep up, accounts for so many women being run down.

We attract people by what we seem to be; we hold them by what we are.

Before bragging of one's ancestry, it is a good idea to make the family album.

The repetition of scandal is like overeating; it adds greatly to the weight.

To the average woman, a major is the most interesting picture in the gallery.

Superfine parties are the happy strings on which the gods play their masterpieces.

There is scant comfort in being assured that others are worse off than we. Nothing was ever learned by multiplication—Exaggerate.

SCRAPS

The first postage act passed by the United States Congress was signed by President Washington on July 4, 1776.

The lost original manuscript of "Hamlet," as produced by Shakespeare at court in 1603, was found in the year 1926.

A prospective native Indian in Madagascar must stand before a spearman who holds a sharp pointed staff of iron. He must show no fear and must catch the weapon between his arm and his side.

The treasury of the Jackson Hole company of Nyack, N.Y., is now held by 40 cents, the sum paid by a haggling Indian back (N.Y.) Indian for the company's first motor sled bought in 1911 for $500.

An experiment has been undertaken at a cemetery in Madrid for the installation of tiny telephones in each coffin. These are to be connected to an alarm bell in the mortuary, thus providing against the danger of anyone being buried alive.

INVENTIONS

An inventor has designed a pitchbox that can be used as a belt buckle.

The bristles of a new shaving brush can be removed and spread apart for quick drying or a new set can be inserted.

your kick into a boost or we all become kickers. It is ideas we want.

You know as well as I do that there has been altogether too much selfishness shown in Northville. We have some who are excellent fellows, but who unless they receive a real benefit in any program are 100% against it. We have others who give of their time unselfishly to the extremes of limit. These have gone ahead and done their part in the face of the meanest kind of criticism. There are some of us who have complimented them and who deserve them to keep going ahead, but I tell you it is a thankless job, this particular work, it would seem that the least we could do would be to tender them a vote of thanks at least for what they have done. No you cannot please them all, but you can have a body of business men organized as a chamber of commerce, who can stand sponsor for what is being done and at least defend the workers who have and are accomplishing things.

The real subject is the future of Northville. The problems must be handled in a business way as they come up. We must be ready to approach and receive industrial offers of development. If we are to advance with other towns and cities comprising our region Detroit, we must get ready to shoulder the kicker and carry him along into this chamber of commerce and let him get caught up with the times and do a little of the boosting that Northville needs at this time.

I have stated this to you simply as my views of development. It may be

Step by Step

We have built this lumber business of ours slowly but surely, using the old reliable tools known as Quality Service and Fair Prices. Satisfied customers have spread the word till it seems as though everybody should know that this is the place to buy lumber. INVESTMENT

It is the part of good thrift to save your money and put it in a savings bank.

It is equally thrifty to draw your money out of a bank and buy sound investments, says Thrift Magazine.

It is better to get the 3 or 4 per cent paid by a savings bank for your account than to waste your money in needless expenditures. But it is still better thrifit if you can invest your money at 5 or 6 per cent with absolute safety.

R. A. Brooks during the past few days has added to his valuable stamp collection four letters that were carried by Lindbergh on his flight from St. Louis to Chicago a few days ago. Not only are the letters stamped with the special cancellation that was provided for the trip by the government, but each one bears on the envelope the signature of the postmaster where it was mailed.

One letter was put in the mail at St. Louis; another at Springfield, Ill.; Peoria and Chicago. The postmasters of all these places at the request of Mr. Brooks autographed each envelope.

The special cancellation provided by the government contained the words "Lindbergh again flies the Air Mail." Because of the fact that he is a member of the American Air Mail Society, Mr. Brooks was in a position to make arrangements for securing these special stamped letters. His stamp collection is fast becoming one of the most valuable in the country.

Many sloping fields could be protected from erosion by terracing but some types of soil wash too readily for cultivation and should never be used for any purpose other than meadow, pasture or forest. Terracing will become more popular, engineers and soil experts of the Department of Agriculture are confident, when research has developed new methods of soil conservation and when experimental demonstrations have proved that terracing is good business and will result in direct profit to the landowners who provide such care for their fields.

Northville with one of the best sewer systems in the state, one that will take care of the needs of a city five times as large, is more or less interested in the sewer problem of Brightmoor, that fast growing Little community cut on the Five-Mile road.

Brightmoor right now is suffering one of the penalties a place of that kind suffers when laid out by real estate promoters who do not provide all of the public needs.

Speaking of the situation at Brightmoor, the Redford Record in its last issue says:

pleted within several months are designed to conform with the requirements of the State Board of Health. Construction of the system will eliminate the need for individual septic tanks for each home.

Four septic tanks will be installed at Sunnyside and Riverdale; Fenkell and Benner; Lyndon and Greendale and at Fenkell and Ihad. The total approximate cost is $6,000.

The tanks are designed to provide for the sanitary flow of the sewered period of three years, assuming that 50 per cent of the lots have houses. Whenever conditions require, more community tanks will be built.

Plans have been prepared and construction work begun on the lateral sewer in the Brightmoor district.

To date eight contracts have been awarded at a total cost of $281,865 for length of 24 miles covering an area of 2.2 square miles. Portions of the large volume of sewer work will be in operation early in the coming summer.

Due to lack of trunk sewers for this area, the outlets for the lateral sewer will be temporarily through open ditches.

No pumping stations are required for this drainage, the outlets into the Rouge river and the East tributary being low enough to provide depths.

The total length of laterals needed to entirely sewer Brightmoor is approximately 50 miles, of which 24 miles are now under contract. The average cost per foot for lateral sewers in this area is approximately $280 per foot.

GREAT DAY WHEN HE WON A PRIZE IN ESSAY CONTEST

E. M. BOGART Writes About Item in 25 Year Ago Column of Record

It was a great day in his life—writes E. M. Bogart to the Record in commenting about an item in the 25 year ago column, which told of his winning the first prize in an essay writing contest, when he was in the fifth grade of the Northville schools. Mr. Bogart now resides in Grand Rapids.

"His letter is a most interesting one follows:

"Mrs. Bogart sent me the clipping 'Twenty-Five Years Ago' from last week's record. I had not thought of the winning of that prize for years, but I can readily recall that it was one of the proud moments of my life."

The reward was a large framed picture and a gold prize button. The picture I presented to the old fifth grade room and it was, of course, destroyed in the big fire several years ago.

In the same clipping I noted that it was 25 years ago that my good friends, Charles E. Rydell entered the grocery business with A. B. VanAken as his partner. I remember clearly the day that Ralph W. Rydell entered the fifth grade. I believe it was the first one to become acquainted with him. I remember the day that Van Aken & Rydell moved to the store now occupied by the A. & P. store, for the reason that it was the first real money I ever earned in helping them move.

Am up here in Chase Osborn's home town of city. I should say in connection with the opening of a large downtown A. & P. Food shop, containing groceries, meats and produce. It will be one of the largest stores in point of floor space at least that we have in the Grand Rapids territory.

Drove here from Muskegon last Thursday. Although the trunk lines were impressed Sunday and Monday of this week on account of the severe storms. This morning it was rather cool here. Thermometers registering around twenty degrees below zero. Everyone is counting the number of days until racing will begin out of Whitefish Bay and St. Mary's river.

North Carolina strawberry groves rid their land of parasitic nematodes by using a rotation which would be feasible in other regions. Following strawberries, corn is planted with nematocidesistant variety of cowpeas. When in the rows, the corn is harvested and winter oats are sown. In the spring the oats are plowed under or harvested, and corn and cowpeas are planted again. After this corn crop is harvested and the cowpeas turned under, the growers plant strawberries in autumn and on, among them the next spring the oats are harvested and the strawberries cultivated and dried. This system achieves three effects, it reduces the nematodes, it provides a crop of corn, and it adds humus and fertility to the soil.

In a number of States testing cattle for tuberculosis in large country has become so much the rule that eradication is put totally on a state-wide basis. North Carolina leads this movement and cattle in about nine-tenths of its area have been tested. It is probable that before the end of 1928 the few remaining counties will have flushed testing, in which case North Carolina will be the first State to be recognized officially as free from bovine tuberculosis.

FLYING CLUB IS BEING ORGANIZED AT DEARBORN TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

In order that visiting aviators landing at the Ford Airport, or any future airport of Dearborn, may be properly entertained by an organization interested in the development of aviation, a meeting is being held soon, for the purpose of organizing a Flying Club in this city. Dearborn is large enough to have such a chapter, and such a club could be instructive to all aviation enthusiasts, whether they are pilots, mechanics, engineers or laymen, says the Dearborn Press.

In Missouri a city with 30,000 people has a flying club of over 4,000 members. At this rate, Dearborn should have 1,000 members in a flying club.

MARKHAM AIR RIFLE COMPANY OF PLYMOUTH IS NOW THE KING MFG. CO.

A change in name and the reorganization of one of Plymouth's largest and oldest industrial enterprises has recently taken place. The concern which has operated under the name of the Markham Air Rifle company for the past forty-five years, is now known as the King Manufacturing company. The Markham Air Rifle company, pioneers in the manufacture of air rifles, was founded by W. F. Markham in 1886. The business grew from a very small beginning until its products were known all over the world.

The trademark of the company, being known for so many years as "King", it was thought advisable to change the name of the company to this and also for advertising purposes.

The company has splendid prospects for most prosperous year during 1928 and expects to show an increase in the number of employees at the plant.

The following are officers of the company: President E. S. Rice vice president and general manager R. F. Valentine; secretary and treasurer Cess S. Hough. These officers together with C. H. Bennett and E. C. Hough, constitute the board of directors. Frank J. Barrows is superintendent of the plant.

Farmer-owned co-operative associations in western Canada handled 220,000 bushels out of a total of approximately 450,000,000 bushels of grain marketed from that section in the crop year of 1927-28 according to a report of the United States Department of Agriculture.

STINSON WRITES ABOUT FLYING IN THE WINTER TIME

Local Manufacturer Has an Article in a Recent Magazine Issue

In a recent issue of the Aero Digest, one of the important magazines devoted to aviation, is the following excellent article by Edward Stinson, president of the Stinson Aircraft corporation, and well known resident of Northville, pertaining to winter flying. "Even while I was busy training pilots at San Antonio for army service the idea was on my mind that the commercial airplane would have to be one that would combine two specific properties. First, it should be inherently stable and second, it should be visibly more comfortable for passengers and pilot than the open cockpit type of that time. I felt that not only was such a plane possible, but that really practical commercial flying would never come into its own until such a plane was produced which could be flown even in winter. Other vehicles were designed to afford protection from the elements and their comfort and safety had been developed so that people liked to ride in them—why not the monoplane."

"Several Detroit gentlemen felt the same way about it. We built our first experimental biplane in the latter part of 1925, with a fully enclosed cabin, brakes on the wheels, and so inherently stable that it would really fly. It was the first airplane that ever combined these features and the Stinson-Detroit of today is the same plane that has created new standards in the modern plane for everyday practical flying purposes in all parts of the country."

"Our first production plane was completed in the fall of 1926 and it is in active service today. Stinson planes now in use by business organizations for the purely business purposes of carrying busy executives about, by commercial airlines on regular schedules, and by all those who want to go quickly, comfortably and safely from place to place, are the most satisfactory testimonials of the soundness of principle on which the Stinson plane was conceived. It seems to me that the real future of flying still depends on just that principle, it should be the basis of all development.

"From actual experience over many years I know that flying in an enclosed cabin plane is really more enjoyable than in a closed automobile. Heaters, operating from the exhaust manifold, afford an abundance of warm, fresh air. There's not the stuffy, dusty atmosphere one often suffers in the automobile. Radiators in the airplane cabin floor distribute the heat as desired by the passenger. The days of heavy fuel flying, toads and other Eskimo-like preparations by commercial air travelers are a thing of the past. The people will not only cast their ballot for the matter of consolidation but will also vote on the members of the charter commission. Just what method of selection and representation for the charter commission will be used is not known as yet.

Of interest to all the residents in Dearborn, Fordson and Dearborn township is the somewhat complicated method in which the ballots will be counted. Four distinct communities will be required to vote upon the proposition. These are: City of Dearborn, City of Fordson, the territory in the township to be included in the greater city and the territory in the township not to be included.

The four ballots will be counted separately, and it will be necessary for the matter to carry by a majority in each of the areas. Failure to pass in any one or more areas will defeat the entire issue.

The complication is caused by the fact that the township will have to release certain territory and the cities will have to accept it with the approval of the territory to be affected. This is according to state law.

Following the analog of the consolidation plan it will be necessary for the charter commission to meet and draft a charter in a similar manner as that pursued on the incorporation of Dearborn last year.

Advocates of the amalgamation plan have brought forth the advantages to be gained by the large assessed valuation. According to the figures as near as possible obtainable, the assessed valuation of the three communities is as follows: Fordson $40,000,000; Dearborn $30,000,000, and the plus $1,000,000. Addional assessed valuation is expected by the removal of the Ford Motor company property in the rest of the town of which is estimated at $75,000,000; Dearborn Pres.

DEARBORN VOTES JUNE 12 ON PLAN TO UNITE FORDSON

Election Date Fixed for the Purpose of Joining Two Cities

Following the announcement of the proposed consolidation of the cities of Dearborn and Fordson and the territory between general interest has been aroused by the people of the entire community relative to the many problems that present themselves.

According to the petitions which are being circulated in the four communities for signatures, the matter will be presented to the Wayne county board of supervisors at its next meeting.

With the acceptance of the petitions by that body, it is expected that the matter will be put to a vote at the general election to be held Tuesday, June 12th.

ROTARY CLUB DAY INTERESTING TO MEMBERS PRESENT

Dr. Saley and President Yerkes Made Interesting Talks

Ideals
That was the subject of a most interesting talk at Monday's meeting of Northville Rotarians by Dr. Richard Saley.

Every person starts out in life with some ideal. Every child picks some sort of an ideal and that ideal more or less affects his life," he said.

"As we grow older our ideals change. We are constantly aspiring for something higher. No matter how successful we become, no matter to what heights we may go we are always striving to go on."

"That is the difference between man and animal. All that an animal seeks and cares for is enough to eat. When a man becomes self-satisfied he is reaching the dangerous point."

You hear much about over-confidence with football teams. It never pays to think you know it all. To win in this world you have got to keep constantly striving. The Rotary code of ethics is a wonderful thing; something every member of this club should constantly strive to live up to."

President Don Yerkes, in the absence of one of the committee chairman who was to make a report on Rotary organization and procedure, told the club the duties and responsibilities of each committee.

The club can be just as successful as its committee desire to make it. In fact, the life of an organization depends upon the accomplishment of Friday evening when several of their work that has been delegated to the friends came in honor of Mr. Roberts' various groups within it. Our club birthday, which occurred on Saturday, will be just what we make it, and no "very nice supper" was served, and a more" declared the president.

The quantity of hay, silage and grain to feed to dairy cows will depend largely upon the condition and production of each cow. All cows do not produce the same quantity of milk and butterfat consequently, they should not be given the same quantity of feed. Economic feeding usually demands that cows be fed liberally. Under most circumstances during the winter when cows are in milk and largely on dry feed, they should be given all the roughage they will eat readily, and the grain ration should be adjusted according to the individual cow's production.

GREATEST SIGHT
SAYS CASTERLINE

Local Gas and Tire Dealer
Tells of Flight Over
Rocky Mountains

You really do not know what mountains look like until you have flown over them. I have gone over the mountains on irlains and thought I have some wonderful views of them, but not until my recent trip to Salt Lake City in an aeroplane did I realize what a wonderful view a mountain range offers from way up in the sky," stated Clifford Casterline recently.

Mr. Casterline flew out to the western city in one of the big monoplanes being delivered from the Simson factory to a customer in the west.

The trip was one of the most remarkable I have ever taken. It is difficult to describe how a mountain range looks from above. With the sun shining brightly on the peaks as you see them over the side of the plane or automobile, is nothing compared to that from above," stated Mr. Casterline.

Words can hardly describe the sight. Some of the peaks are snow capped, sparkling in the sunlight. Others will be covered with trees, and there will be many great bare rocks of different colors, colors that are made more beautiful by the reflection of the sun. It was one of the greatest trips I ever took.

SPRING

Now that spring is coming, the students of Northville high school are beginning to slack up on their studies. With the windows open and the warm spring breezes floating in we can hardly expect them to keep their minds on their work. Outdoors the sun is shining, making fairy reflections on the little glassy pools of water, and one observant pupil says he has even seen a red, red robin. The Freshmen are planning "group" parties and hikes, but every time you question them about it they blush a baby blue red. We are hoping that spring will not work too strongly on their young imaginative minds, for we do not want to have any "puppy love" disease breaking out among our brilliant students and resulting in an elopement with a tragic end.

One of our students was sitting by the open window in the Latin room gazing dreamily into space, his mind wandering into imaginary regions. Unconsciously his head nodded sleepily from side to side and he dozed off into dreamland. But he was suddenly awakened by the voice of his Latin teacher. He awoke with a start and solemnly started declaiming "amor amare" which goes to show all is fair in love and war. I wonder what his thoughts really were.

Little "Freckleface" has been broadcasting the news that he discovered a struggling young poet seeking an inspiration in his father's woods. So touching were his emotions that "Freckleface" was entranced, and throwing his arms about the poet's neck, he said, "Oh, dear one, that I had only met thee sooner." The poet has left for Bloom's woods where he may obtain greater inspirations.

Older folks laugh at these foolish emotions of youth when spring comes around. But dear old grandma and grandpa are evening sitting on the back porch singing.

"That wondrous spring when I was king
And you my wonderful queen."

But though we are enraptured in the beams of spring let us not neglect our lessons and lose interest in them. For to succeed we must stick to the job and not shirk our duty?

In an exciting game last Friday afternoon, the Northlake girls basketball team succeeded in tying the score with Haleway, 20-20.

The half found us still in the lead. The end of the third quarter left Haleway with a two-point lead, which they kept until the last minute of the game, when Jordan made a long shot and tied the score.

NORTHLVILLE IS IN METROPOLITAN DETROIT SECTION

New Government Map Puts
This Place Within Area of Metropolis

Northville is included in the parts of the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb covering an area of 749.16 square miles and having a total population conservatively estimated at 1,815,570, are comprising the Metropolitan District of Detroit as mapped out in conferences between representatives of the communities included in the district and the Detroit Board of Commerce and the Bureau of Government Research.

A report to this effect together with a map showing the boundaries of the Metropolitan District is to be submitted to the United States Census Bureau before the end of this month to be used in connection with the 1927 industrial census now in preparation. Items were included nevertheless, according to Charles E. Boyd, assistant secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce and the Bureau of Government Research.

"In defining the Metropolitan District of Detroit, we were guided by two considerations," Mr. Boyd said. "The Arbor and Ypsilanti in Washtenaw one was a definition laid down by a recent conference of representatives of chambers of commerce from 50 of the District, although their economic and large cities of the country, stating that a metropolitan district is an area within which the conditions of manufacturing, trade, transportation, labor and living, in brief, the daily economic and social life, are predominantly influenced by the central city."

The other consideration was a suggestion made by the United States Census Bureau stating that townships to be included in a metropolitan district should have no less density of population than from 100 to 150 per square mile, except in such cases where townships of a lesser population density are eligible to the metropolitan district because of their economic dependency upon the central city.

For these reasons the townships included in the Metropolitan District, together with the areas and population follow:

Brownstown, 34.76 sq. mi., pop. 4,000; Monroe, 3.20 sq. mi., pop. 5,000;

Monroe, 8.49 sq. mi., pop. 10,000; Taylor,

24 sq. mi., pop. 2,500; Dearborn, 16.68

sq. mi., pop. 12,000; Nankin, 25.38 sq. mi.,

pop. 10,000; Plymouth, 16.37 sq. mi.,

pop. 5,000; Northville, 17 sq. mi., pop.

4,000; Livonia, 35 sq. mi., pop. 8,000; and Grosse Ile, 8.86 sq. mi., pop. 1,200.

The townships, including cities and villages of Oakland county included in the Metropolitan District, together with their areas and population follow:

Warren, 36 sq. mi., pop. 7,400; Sterling, 36 sq. mi., pop. 2,300; Clinton, 32.89 sq. mi., pop. 20,500; Erin and Lake, 26.21 sq. mi., pop. 17,400; and Harrison, 15.59 sq. mi., pop. 2,000.

The townships including cities and villages of Macomb county included in the Metropolitan District, together with their areas and population follow:

Warren, 36 sq. mi., pop. 7,400; Sterling, 36 sq. mi., pop. 2,300; Clinton, 32.89 sq. mi., pop. 20,500; Erin and Lake, 26.21 sq. mi., pop. 17,400; and Harrison, 15.59 sq. mi., pop. 2,000.

In addition to the general basic map showing the boundary lines of the Metropolitan District of Detroit, another map is to be prepared for the Census Bureau in Washington comprising all the cities, towns and villages outside the Metropolitan area which are influenced by Detroit; both economically and socially, to a very large degree, Mr. Boyd said. These maps have been drawn by Harrington Place, engineer of the Bureau of Government Research.

The principal cities and villages in Wayne county, together with their respective areas in square miles and their population, partly estimated, follow:

Detroit, 139.02 sq. mi., pop. 1,334,500; Inkster, 2.09 sq. mi., pop. 9,000; Highland Park, 2.89 sq. mi., pop. 21,700; Grosse Pointe Villages, 16.29 sq. mi., pop. 15,000; Livernois, 2.79 sq. mi., pop. 2,000; Gratiot township, 2.57 sq. mi., pop. 457; Fordson, 8.70 sq. mi., pop. 25,000; Dearborn, 10.33 sq. mi., pop. 25,000; Inkster, 6.65 sq. mi. and Garden City, 5.87 sq. mi., both area and population included in township; River Rouge, 2.89 sq. mi., pop. 40,000; Ecorse, 2.91 sq. mi., pop. 15,000; Melvindale, 2.89 sq. mi., pop. 3,000; Allen Park, 5.80 sq. mi., both area and population included in township; Lincoln Park, 5.98 sq. mi., pop. 15,000; Wyandotte, 5.15 sq. mi., pop. 30,000; Riverview, 1.51 sq. mi., and Sibley, one sq. mi., both area and population included in township; Trenton, 6.78 sq. mi., pop. 2,700; Flat Rock one sq. mi., Rockwood eight sq. mi., Plymouth, 1.63 sq. mi., Northville, one sq. mi., and Wayne, one sq. mi., both area and population included in their respective townships.

FARMINGTON MUST CHANGE PLANS ABOUT PROPOSED ATHLETIC FIELD STADIUM

The proposal that the City of Farmington lease land surrounding the water works to the school district for 99 years, to make possible the development of an athletic field and stadium, has met with difficulty, when a communication was received from Attorney General William Potter, indicating that the law may not permit such a project.

The letter from the Attorney General was in reply to one from City Clerk N. H. Power of Farmington, asking, "Can the city lease this five acres of land for this term of years without a vote of the people—in other words, practically, did it away?" The Attorney General replied that the property cannot be sold without a vote of the electors, but that there is an act which permits co-operation between the city and school district in the operation of playgrounds.

Attorney General Potter's letter reads as follows:

I assume that the land to which you refer is held by the city for park purposes. This being true, it cannot be sold by the city without a vote of the electors. Subdivision (e), Section 5, Act No. 279, Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

I call your attention, however, to Act No. 156, Public Acts of 1917, which authorizes cities and school districts to co-operate in the operation of public recreation and playgrounds."

Yours very truly,

William H. Potter,
Attorney General.

SALEM TRAVELERS
WRITE FROM SPAIN
ABOUT THEIR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foreman
Having Pleasant Trip
on Other Side

Two letters from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foreman, who are now traveling in Northern Africa and the Holy Lands, came to the Record during the past week. One was mailed from the Island of Madeira in mid-ocean, and the other came from Spain which was their first stopping place on the other side.

The letter which will be of more than ordinary interest to Record readers follows:

"On the morning of February 3rd, at sunrise I got my first glimpse of the Island of Madeira. Strange, unique, picturesque and very beautiful, its highest peaks partly obscured by the clouds, and from the water's edge to the peak of the mountain is dotted with white stone and concrete houses with red tile roofs, and terrace upon terrace of vineyards, sugar cane and gardens of flowers and vegetables.

The sky was clear and the air balmy, and you could see the streams running down the mountain side. At 1:00 p.m. we anchored in the beautiful and peaceful harbor of Funchal, and some time before the steamer anchored the natives in rowboats came alongside and sold many baskets of calicoilles and violets. The tenders quickly took us ashore and we entered the city through a street lined with sycamore trees and paved with cobble stones laid in concrete. Our guides took us through the Diana Gardens where you see semi-tropical trees and flowers of much beauty, including hibiscus and palms of Florida.

"I haven't time now but I wish to weary you with details of this people and their strange habits of living and their still stranger habits of transportation. Will close by saying that we were taken to the top of one of the mountains overlooking the city, and had the great privilege of beholding the most beautiful panoramic view of Funchal and surrounding mountains that I ever expect to see anywhere on earth. Kind regards to all."

The father and son banquet given by the Bethany Bible class of the Congregational church Tuesday evening in the town hall was a great success.

Every day, and enjoyed by about 150 guests. The five large tables presented a pleasing view, with runners of red white and blue along the center of the tables and little cherry trees mounted with small red batches and candies all in keeping with Washington's birthday. The splendid menu for all the guests in fine trim, and the speakers certainly made a deep impression on all present. The program opened by the Salem orchestra playing lively music. Rev. A. Parker of Federated Church, was first speaker and gave a fine charge to the Bethany class which was followed by singing of several popular songs by the whole body of fathers and sons led by Don Phillips and Sherman Hartman. FARMINGTON NOT
TO HAVE POLICE
AFTER MARCH 10
Going to Let County Deputies Do the Work During the Summer

Changes in police work in Farmington are to be made shortly as a result of action by the City Commission a few days ago, in expectation of the stationing of a third deputy sheriff at the Farmington booth. The Commission voted to terminate the present arrangement with Officer Herman Kreagel on March 10th, and has under consideration measures that will provide ample protection for the city in co-operation with that afforded by the sheriff's men.

Officer Kreagel's present employment includes both daytime and night work, and opinion among the commissioners was to the effect that with three deputies in the Farmington booth, watchmen service at night will be sufficient.

The deputies are to give 24-hour service, and Deputy Sheriff Clayton Stokes, who discussed the police situation with the commissioners, gave assurance that his men would aid in every possible way.

"We will do everything except try the dogs," Deputy Stokes said.

The growing problem of parking regulations was discussed. Deputy Stokes advised that the present ordinances, for complete enforcement, required a number of signs properly placed to prevent violations. He also suggested that parking be restricted to perhaps one hour along Grand River Avenue throughout the day, and to one-half hour on Saturdays between 4 and 10 p.m.

Deputy Stokes said that the entire situation in Farmington city and township is being carefully studied and preparations made to thoroughly handle all phases. He stated that enforcement of such violations as passing the traffic signal at Grand River and Division will be checked up and halted as soon as the plans for the territory are worked out.

Addition of a stalk of celery, a sprig of parsley and a clove of garlic to potatoe when they are boiling makes a delicious dish with very little oil.

Members of the farm should learn to differ without quarreling. Thus prompt constructive discussion.
