VOL. LVIII, No. 36

THE RECORD: NORTHLVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1923

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

SCHOOL DISTRICT VOTERS ARE BACK OF NEW PROJECT

Board Instructed To Buy Land Lying West of The Present Site

Voters of the Northville school district, at the special meeting called last Friday night, decided by a vote of 546 to 26 to instruct the school board to purchase the property lying directly west of the school site, including all of the Smith property, the Ambler lot and the Seeley property, in order to accomplish this purpose, it will be necessary to vote a small bond issue and this can be paid off without raising the taxes of the school district a cent.

Edward C. Langfield, secretary of the board, pointed out that a sufficient sum had been saved during the past year or so to pay for all of the property lying along Cass street, that the board has in mind purchasing.

"We have tried to be economical and have made a saving each year from the money raised by taxation," stated Harry German.

"We are faced with the necessity of doing something and we have come to the conclusion that the purchase of this property will be the most economical thing we can do," he added.

Roy Clark wanted to know about the expense of the project, and he was told that the Ambler lot could be purchased for $1250, and that this price ought to be some basis for the price that would have to be paid for the Smith property that will have to be condemned.

A motion was then made by M. A. Porter that the school board be authorized to purchase the three lots on Cady street. He stated that he was strongly in favor of action being taken that he had long realized the necessity of additional school grounds.

It was suggested by M. J. Murphy that Northville was growing rapidly, and that possibly grade schools should be established take care of the children in the outlying sections.

Following the support of Mr. Porter's motion by Sam Knapp, Thomas Cartwright offered an amendment which had numerous supporters that the school board be authorized to proceed with the purchase of the Smith, Ambler and Seeley property west of the school house.

"Way back in the days when Charlie Sessions was going to school they had more playgrounds than we have got now," said Mr. Cartwright.

Edwin A. Wheeler thought it would be an excellent thing for the school district to purchase the back lots lying east of the school way to the city property, and close the street lying to the east of the semis. There are many who believe that no matter how far west the school buys, that Mr. Wheeler's idea should sooner or later be carried out. The school needs this property they say, just as much as it needs the whole block to the west.

Some have said the city could not close the street, but it lies absolutely within the power of the village commission to do just as it sees fit about the matter and the commission's judgment is final under the home rule act.

President Miller explained that the board was in need of all the property to the east, although the members would be satisfied with whatever action the voters might take.

One other thought that too much attention was given to the plan feature of school board urged that there was nothing hurried about it.

It was then that Nelson Schrader, who is referred to as the largest individual of any person living in Northville, made known his position in a most emphatic way.

"Every person in Northville is interested in the welfare of our school children. Our entire lives are wrapped up in them whether you have any or not. And why shouldn't we be? There is practically nothing else we live for outside of our boys and girls. We want to do well and we have pride in the success of any child we happen to know," he declared.

"Our school is the last thing that should be neglected. Here we go and the money or paving, boulevard and my other things for our pleasure driving automobiles, millions which will be required for this project and nothing is thought about it. The improvements are fine and we enjoy all of them, and are paid off in our town. But let the school board come along with a request for a little more for the fool children, and we have not opposed to it right away. Our future depends upon the education of our children. I think we should make of schools the biggest and best in the state. There is one place no money wasted. We have never made a mistake by putting money into education, and we are not going to make a mistake by helping our schools."

It was soon after this when the vote was taken on the amendment, and by a standing vote of 46 to 26 it was opposed. The school board was later instructed to call the next election as soon as possible and start the constructive program that has in mind.

George E. Shell, attorney and member of the Highland Park school board, was present and answered numerous questions pertaining to the legal side of the proposition.

ISN'T IT TRUE!

"Our school is the last thing that should be neglected, and it is the first thing that should have our united support. We live for no other purpose than to aid our children and prepare them for the future that lies before them," says Nelson Schrader.

REPUBLICANS IN BIGGEST CAUCUS SELECT TICKET

New Candidates Named for Supervisor and Clerk—
Over 300-Vote

At one of the biggest Republican caucuses held in years, Northville township voters Saturday afternoon nominated Willard A. Ely for supervisor over the present incumbent, William H. Yerkes, by a vote of 172 to 120.

Not only did they nominate Mr. Ely for supervisor, but Ernest Miller, who briefly outlined the needs of the school, was elected to the office. Other members of the board expressed their sentiments on the question.

"We have tried to be economical and have made a saving each year from the money raised by taxation," stated Harry German.

"We are faced with the necessity of doing something and we have come to the conclusion that the purchase of this property will be the most economical thing we can do," he added.

Roy Clark wanted to know about the expense of the project, and he was told that the Ambler lot could be purchased for $1250, and that this price ought to be some basis for the price that would have to be paid for the Smith property that will have to be condemned.

A motion was then made by M. A. Porter that the school board be authorized to purchase the three lots on Cady street.

Long before the time for the caucus to be called, dozens of voters crowded into the village hall and stood about the streets talking politics.

It has been many years since so much interest was manifested as in this caucus.

Another one of the caucuses contests is going to be carried into the final election, Lewis Balko, who was beaten for highway commissioner by seven votes by Joseph Montgomery, declares that he is going after the place on sticks and has been actively campaigning during the past few days.

Montgomery received 147 votes and Balko 140. There were four blank votes in this ballot.

Long before the time for the caucus to be called, dozens of voters crowded into the village hall and stood about the streets talking politics.

It has been many years since so much interest was manifested as in this caucus.

It was soon discovered that only a small part of the crowd would be able to get into the city hall. Then it was announced by Dean F. Griswold, after discussing the matter with other members of the committee, that the caucus should be held in the library, so it was decided to go over there. Even the library was not large enough for the crowd.

Some of the candidates had for two or three weeks been exceedingly active and this party accounts for the big crowd that turned out.

After calling the caucus to order, Dean Griswold, upon motion of E. R. Neal, appointed Ben G. Finkins, Reut, Pickell, John Walker, William Safford and Ray Richardson as tellers.

G. E. McCullough immediately placed in nomination Willard H. Yerkes for supervisor. He declared that Mr. Yerkes had won for himself a place on the ways and means committee of the Wayne county board and had served the township well and that for the good of Northville township he ought to be retained in office.

Floyd Northrop then placed Willard A. Ely in nomination. He stated that Mr. Ely was not a new man for the place, as he had served with credit to himself once before, and that during his term he had been elected chairman of the Wayne county board of supervisors.

President Miller explained that the board was in need of all the property to the east, although the members would be satisfied with whatever action the voter might take.

One other thought that too much attention was given to the plan feature of school board urged that there was nothing hurried about it.

It was then that Nelson Schrader, who is referred to as the largest individual of any person living in Northville, made known his position in a most emphatic way.

"Every person in Northville is interested in the welfare of our school children. Our entire lives are wrapped up in them whether you have any or not. And why shouldn't we be?

WITH OUR GREAT IN THE SOUTHLAND

(By Staff Correspondent)

Miami, Florida, March 12.—When the president of the United States leaves Washington, it is always customary for the great papers of the country to send along staff correspondents to tell the people some of the things the president does and says. A few weeks back it became known that two of Northville's most prominent citizens were going to travel so in keeping with the usual practice of all great papers to report the doings of the great. The Record sent a staff correspondent along on this trip so that Northville residents might know all about the news of these prominent folks.

The staff photographer also accompanied the party. He snapped the above view just as the party was boarding one of the fastest trains that arrived at a photograph gallery. A wooden alligator was thrown in for scenery and the Mexican straw hat was added to give the picture a bit of Central American atmosphere.

The Polar Palm is not the name of a new kind of palm tree. It is the name of a man that doesn't move here who seems that didn't get into the men.

The two distinguished gentlemen you might know are Hon. Miss Johnson, a member of the Michigan state legislature and Edward H. Elphing-ton, the party's left for Northland

Additional pictures are being sent to Variety and the Motion Picture Magazine.

Does it pay to try and do something?

Northville says YES.

News came out of the state highway department's office this week, direct from Highway Commissioner Frank F. Rogers, that the long discussed question of making Center street, way from Michigan avenue to Grand River, then on to Pontiac, would be made a trunk line road.

The highway will be a continuation of trunk line number 50, and will, connect Toledo and Pontiac by a route around the metropolitan district of Detroit.

The section that has been placed on the trunk line comes direct north from Michigan avenue, to the point where

Center street joins with the Ann Arbor road, then directly north over Center street through Northville, on to Novi,

Walled Lake and Pontiac.

It has been approved by the advisory committee of the administrative board and now remains for approval of the administrative board. It is always the practice of the board to comply with recommendations of the advisory committee.

While the road has been recommended for a trunk line highway, Commmissioner Rogers states that it will not be taken over until 1929 for maintenance by the state. Just as soon as this is done, it is probable that the paving program will be immediately started.

The action is especially gratifying to Northville residents who have made numerous trips to Lansing, with delegations from Novi and Plymouth, urging action on the project. It was Northville, however, that started the agitation in behalf of this highway and we hope to see it through.

Spring is almost at hand. City officials, if they desire, can complete the placing of cobblestone filling within the concrete wall and the spreading of what has already been placed.

Stewart Nichols Declares
They Are Much to Blame For Crime

Stewart Nichols, assistant prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, addressed members of the local exchange club Wednesday noon. Mr. Nichols talked briefly on the reason for the crime wave that hung over Detroit at the present time. He explained that Detroit was situated in an unusual geographical position, being in the corner of the state and bordering another country. This made the city attractive to criminal practices that inland cities were not bothered with.

During his brief review of the crime situation, he also brought out the important part that daily newspapers play in the encouragement of crime. The manner in which papers describe the criminal action so vividly leaves an impression with the younger generation that bandits are sometimes heroes, and the thief that is inclined to be weak-minded is encouraged by these stories and in turn attempts the same acts himself. Often the paper brings in head lines the punishment that is given the criminal, but before publishing that during the trial they bring to the youth of today all of the details that go with the crime.

Brother Nichols also explained that the news papers were a disadvantage to the police in apprehending criminals because they published the issuing of warrants of certain criminals, and when the man read he was wanted by the police, he would naturally go into hiding. Although the prosecutor claimed the police officers were at times to blame for this news leaking out, he believes that the majority of crime could be wiped out and the large number of criminals captured that are running free, if daily papers would confine these stories to the outcome of criminal cases rather than the prosecution.

Your Own Home

Is Your Castle

Some day you will be standing, watching the smoke wisping from a stone chimney over the face of the moon. Mother will be putting the little ones to bed, and you can see the lights wink out upstairs. It's your domain, your castle.

WE WILL BUILD FOR YOU

No idle pipe dream, that. You can easily have a home of your own, putting what you now pay for rent into its construction cost. We have helped others. Let us discuss it for you.

THRILLING ACTION KEYNOTE OF NEW ZANE GREY WESTERN

So good-natured that it almost cost him his life was big, good-looking Tex Smith cowboy of the old west.

When he saw a few head of cattle wandering off from a driven herd, how was he to know that the drivers were rustlers? How was he to realize that when he drove them back into the herd a wounded cowboy guard was to see him and identify him later as leader of the thieves?

That's what happens at any rate. But not before Tex has met and fallen in love with Lucy Blake, and she with him. Then she is able to save him, for now both the townspeople and the rustlers are after him—the townspeople because they think he stole the cattle; the rustlers because they realize he knows their identity.

How Tex clears himself of the charges and proves his innocence, how the very cattle that have gotten him in trouble save his and Lucy's lives, how he stampedes them into a village to drive out attacking Indians—all these stirring deeds and more are in the Paramount-Zane Grey picture "Open Range," which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre March 18th.

Lene Chandler, Paramount's new Western "idol," is Tex Smith. Betty Bronson, the "Peter Pan" girl, is Lucy, and Fred Kohler, won of the screen, enacts the villainous role of Sam Hardman, half-breed leader of the rustlers. With the direction of Clifford Smith and the scenario by John Stone and J. Walter Ruben, "Open Range" should prove one of the most popular of all the Zane Grey stories ever pictured, Paramount officials have said.

EXTRA BLONDE ESTHER

RALSTON NOW BRUNETTE

Imagine a beautiful, blonde Esther Ralston as an exotic brunette. Imagine her as a small time actress who suddenly, through a complete transformation of appearance and personality, blossoms out as the toast of Broadway—imagine her falling in love with a handsome young man, only to find out that he loves the unique Russian girl she has become. "Imagine her feelings as she wonders whether he really loves her for herself alone, or whether it is only affection for what seems to lie on the surface. Imagine what happens when the theatrical manager who has made this Miss Nobody from Nowhere a Miss Somebody from Somewhere threatens to tell Esther's sweetheart who she is and where she came from. Imagine well any of a hundred things and you have some slight idea of what is in store for the people of Northville, when they see Paramount's new Esther Ralston starring a vehicle, "The Spotlight," at the Penniman Allen Theatre, March 20th.

Appearing opposite the star in this colorful tale of stage life and stage people is Neil Hamilton, the Digny of "Beau Geste." Arlette Marcial has an important role as a temperamental prima donna, while Nicholas Sissmann, the Joseph of "A Gentleman of Paris," is Hoffman, the theatrical producer.

Frank Tuttle, producer of many a hit film, notably "The American Venus," "Kid Boots" and "Love 'em and Leave 'em," directed "The Spotlight."

It is adapted by Hope Loring from Rita Weiman's Saturday Evening Post story, "Footlights."

NOTED CHARACTER ACTOR HAS LEADING ROLE WITH MENJOU

The German Kaiser has become an Austrian musician. Which is another way of saying that Lawrence Grant, the actor who did nothing but portray Kaiser Wilhelm in war pictures for three and a half years, appears as Josef Bruckner, the "available cellist" in Adolph Menjou's "Serenade," which reaches the Penniman Allen Theatre, March 22nd.

Grant's resemblance to the former Kaiser is remarkable. Without any make-up whatever, he can look more like the Kaiser than the Kaiser can.

Throughout the "war" and after, Grant was in constant demand for pictures which required the rôle of the Kaiser. Then came the slump in pictures of that particular type, and appropriately enough his last portrayal of the war lord was in "To Hell with the Kaiser!"

Grant decided on a change, the result of which he returned to pictures for character roles.

"Serenade" is his fourth picture with Menjou. He was seen as the duke in "The Grand Duchess and the Walter," the king in "Service for I-

Daily cows when freshening sometimes suffer from the trouble known as constricted udder. If the cow is all feverish or the udder hard and constricted give her a one-pound dose of Epsom salts. If this does not have the desired effect, give her a second dose two days later. In such cases leaving the calf with the cow longer than two days may be a great help. The calf's frequent sucking and massaging of the cow's udder seem to help in reducing the congestion. Making three or four times a day and massaging the udder with camphorated oil may be necessary in some cases. Keep the cow in the barn and away from drafts.

The hinged support should be placed so that there is room to draw a skirt or dress over the board. The board should be the right height for you. There should be a good light from the window during the day, and artificial light at night. The space below the closet into which the ironing board folds should be utilized for keeping the iron and valence accessories.

THE LIGHT THAT LIES IN DICK DIX'S EYES CHARM!

In Richard Dix's eyes lies the secret of his success in motion pictures.

This is the opinion of Thelma Todd, who recently looked into them for almost six consecutive weeks.

Miss Todd, star graduate of the Paramount Picture School, played leading feminine rôle in "Dick Dix," a story laid in the romantic period and setting of the California gold rush of 1849.

In the picture, which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, March 24th, there are the usual number of love scenes in which the hero and the heroine find in each other's eyes the secret revealed in the final fade-out.

"I never have seen eyes like Richard's," Miss Todd said, after playing with him for more than a month.

They have a peculiar power. They are the most expressive eyes I have ever watched. Without moving a muscle of his face, Dix can convey with his eyes alone just what he is thinking.

They have a peculiar fascination for me. Several times while waiting on the set for scenes, in which I play, I have been laughing and joking with the musicians of the property, men right up to the time the director, Gregory La Cava, called me for my scenes. "The moods of the scenes several cases were heavy and tragic, and I was still thinking about some audience talk by the violinist. Naturally, my acting was insincere, as I stated. Then I would look at Richard into his eyes, and I would feel immediately the mood of the scene. It was easy from then on."

Miss Todd, in "The Gay Defender," portrays an American girl in the days when men in California were Texans or gold-seekers and women were crude.

Sweetwater has come to be regarded as one of the major legumes. In the northern Great Lakes states it is sown in acreage only 13,000,000 bushels and under market. The chief difficulty with sweetclover seems to be to obtain a stand. Studies by the U.S. Department of Agriculture indicate that the most satisfactory method of sowing is to sow one-half of an acre in unthinned seed in the fall, and the other half in the spring. Winter sowing may give a natural method of sowing. Of course it is recognized that the soil must be well prepared for sowing.

MAGAZINE TELLS OF SUCCESSFUL
USE OF A STINSON
Business Publication Has Craft in Operation
Every Day

Another article touting off the very successful operation of a Stinson aircraft during winter months appeared in a recent issue of the Magazine of Business. This publication purchased a Northville-made plane to test out its actual value for business uses, and each month a very interesting article appears telling of the use of the plane during the preceding month. In part the article follows:

"Flying through heavy snowstorms, bucking a 50 to 60-mile gale at less than a mile in the air, these have been part of the experiences of the Shaw Publications ship as it encountered its first real winter flying. Many have asked if flying is really practical—if, in fact, it is at all possible—under adverse weather conditions. It is, of course, true that bad weather can hinder flying even as it hampers ocean travel, or, for that matter, travel by rail or by automobile. Our varied travel experiences of the past month show that the weather must be very bad indeed to make flying really impracticable."

"Our ship was used on 11 days. Approximately 3,500 miles were flown. For the greater part of the time bad weather of some sort was encountered.

Snow, sleet, haze, fog, or adverse winds. But in spite of all these on, but two occasions was it thought advisable to discontinue a trip, or was the ship materially delayed. This is particularly significant in view of the fact that it so happened, by sheer chance that the days when the ship was used were the days when the worst weather of the month was experienced."

This month of bad weather flying served to re-emphasize the fact that the difficulties of flying are not mainly mechanical difficulties with the airplane, nor the practical difficulties of flying itself, but rather were difficulties due to ground facilities inadequate to cope with adverse conditions—primarily the lack of frequent landing fields, marked airways, and the like.

For example, on the morning of November 17th, we left Chicago for New York. It was cold, with a strong wind making the air very rough. Over Chicago and as far as Gary the smoke and haze were very dense—so dense that we flew almost blindly. Having left Gary behind, we flew out into an area of good visibility, although clouds were heavy overhead and our ceiling was a scant 1,200 feet.

In central Indiana we flew through an area where snow was falling and where the ground was white from the fab of the previous night. Clouds forced us down to an altitude of some 100 feet. In 30 of 40 minutes we flew out of them and again our visibility was good until we were east of Toledo. Here we ran into a second snow storm.

The rates quoted above are Station-to-Station night rates effective from 8:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. A Station-to-Station call is one that is made to a certain telephone number, and not to another person.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone.

Day rates, 4:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., and evening rates, 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., are higher than night rates.

A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rate on a Person-to-

It was necessary to come down to 600 feet, and as we continued the ports as to the winds in the upper strata—and if good landing fields had been available and each town had been reached. Following the main line "plainly marked," of the New York Central, we found the Cleveland airport without difficulty and landed.

"A week or so earlier we had taken off from Chicago one morning at 7:30, and had flown to Louisville for an interview appointment. In 2½ hours of the afternoon and evening in Cincinnati.

The next morning at an early hour we took off for the return trip to Chicago. First we flew in fair weather, then clouds forced us to fly over 10,000 feet, and we passed through an area of rain. Again out into fair weather for a while and then through another area of rain. Approaching Chicago, it became colder, and as we neared the city we struck a fairly severe snow storm. We had flown directly into a strong wind the entire way, but in spite of all these adverse conditions, we had been delayed only 45 minutes, and we spent most of the morning in our Chicago office.

"But perhaps the most unusual experience of the month was our return trip from New York. After discontinuing our flight on November 17th at Cleveland, the pilot had brought the ship on to New York two days later, and the motor had undergone some overhauling at the hangar of the manufacturer at Teterboro Field.

On November 23, we took off from Teterboro, New Jersey, and headed west, intending to "fly the airmail route." At an altitude of 3,500 to 4,000 feet we maintained our westerly course for approximately one hour. As we checked our time from point to point we found that we were going a ground speed of a scant 60 miles an hour, at times as low as 50 miles an hour (although our cruising speed is 100 to 110 miles per hour). At one time we checked our time between landmarks seven miles apart and found that our flying time had been eight minutes. Obviously, we were bucking an unusually severe wind—in fact a 50 to 60-mile gale. At the end of an hour we had not yet crossed the Delaware River though we should have passed this point in approximately 30 minutes.

As we were passing over a rough country we dared not descend to a lower altitude to avoid the high wind velocity in the higher strata of air. So we determined to cut north across Pennsylvania into New York State where the country was much less hilly and lower, and we could fly at a lower altitude where we hoped we could find more favorable wind conditions. Accordingly, we changed our course to a little west of north. This change of direction obviously changed our ground speed tremendously. Instead of some 40 to 50 miles an hour, we were now going 120 to 140 miles an hour.

It is true that much of our difficulty on this flight was due to the weather itself, but the flying would have been immensely simplified if we could have had complete information regarding weather conditions at all points—reality being heavier until our visibility was a scant 100 to 200 yards ahead. Following the main line "plainly marked."

"In this there is a very real suggestion for every business man who is interested in further commercial flying. It is something that every chamber of commerce, or similar organization, might well consider to make sure that its community has done its utmost to bring about more rapid development in flying."

"It would be an extremely simple matter for the business men of every town to buy a few gallons of paint and identify their town with large block letters. The main hard roads entering the city could be used as signboards if large roofs were not available. Arrows could point to the local landing field. And other arrows could indicate direction to nearest large cities and give mileage, just as our road signs do."

"Or perhaps still milder—a pair of whitewash, a pile of stone could be painted white."

"Handling the hide from farm-slaughtered cattle requires attention to details for best results. Remove dirt, blood, and any pieces of flesh on the hide, scraping with the back of a butcher knife and by careful cutting, allow the hide to lose its animal heat before applying salt. When the hide has cooled sufficiently, spread it, hair side down, being sure to straighten all folds and laps. Sprinkle fresh, clean salt over the flesh side, using about one pound for every pound of hide. See that all parts of the flesh side receive a sprinkling of salt; rub in well along the cut edges and heavy portions.

LEGION PLAY IS BIG HIT—MEMBERS

Stage Settings Excellent and Show Proves to be A Good One.

Turn to the right, a very cleverly presented home talent play given at the Penniman Allen theater, last Friday night, netted the Northville American Legion a fairly good sized amount for their efforts. While at the last minute interest in the school district meeting that had been called for the same night, cut down the attendance at the play, those who backed the effort stated that the returns after all bills were paid would leave a small profit.

The play produced under the direction of Lisle Alexander kept a fairly good-sized audience present in almost a constant upsurge. It was filled with funny incidents from the start to the finish.

Possibly one of the things which added to the realistic features of the play was the stage setting. The Legionites did a very good job in planning this part of the show. Those who took part were Merrill Sweet, Lisle Alexander, Chubb Smith, George Simmons, Harold White, Waldo Johnson, Joe Vroman, M. Kalsetky, S. B. Stevens, Mrs. William Saiford, Ellen Sutton, Edna Martens, Margaret Saiford and Leona Moffitt. All took their parts exceedingly well.

"Dairy herd improvement association" is the new name being adopted in place of the old "cow-testing association."

THE FLU

When your back is broke,
And your eyes are blurred,
And your skin bones knock,
And your tongue is furred;
And your tonsils squeak,
And you're doggone sure you're going to die,

But you're skeered, you won't and afraid you will—
Just drag to bed and have your chil,
And pray to the Lord to see you through;

For you've got the Flu, Boy, you've got the Flu,

When your toes curl up,
And your belt goes flat,

And you're twice as mean as a Thomas cat,

And life is one long, and dismal curse,

And your food all tastes like a hard-boiled hærse;

When your latrine aches and head's
a buzz,

And nothing is as if ever was,

Here, are my sad regrets to you—

You've got the Flu, Boy,

You've got the Flu,

What is it like this Spanish flu?

Ask me brother, for I've been through;

It is misery out of sheer despair;

It pulls your teeth and curls your hair;

It thins your blood and, brays your bones,

And fills your draw with moans and tears,

And sometimes, maybe, you get well,

Some call it Flu, I call it H—

Do you think you would like to have it? ? ? ?

Treating seed wheat with copper carbonate dust is an effective and practical method of preventing smut in wheat. Two ounces per bushel of wheat has proved sufficient in most cases. Use only copper carbonate that is manufactured, especially for seed treatment. The best way to apply the dust is to mix it with the grain in some kind of a rotating machine or barrel mixer until each kernel is completely covered with dust. A mixing machine may be made on the farm by using an old barrel, a churn, a watertight barrel, or a steel oil drum.
Concrete mixer is sometimes available and can be used satisfactorily. Smut in wheat is responsible for much loss to farmers, discounts often amounting from a few cents to 25 cents a bushel.

Inbreeding or self-fertilization of corn is now considered the most promising method looking toward improved varieties and strains of corn with larger yields of more desirable characteristics. To secure desirable results it is usually necessary to cross two inbred lines. Sometimes a double cross is used. It is recognized that not all crosses will be superior and the problem of the corn breeder is to find the few that are best. Some crosses have been more productive than others in every reported experiment in which a number of crosses between selfed lines have been compared.
The production of salted kernels of corn is not practical for two reasons:
it is not getting along very well.

The obituary prayer meeting which was announced for the home of Mr.

was taken up on account of Mrs.

tist church in Redford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thompson of Northville, entertained the Nov. Five Hundred Club, last Thursday evening.
The hostess served an oyster supper.
The honor prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps, while Steve Hicks and Mrs. L. L. Granzow were consolers.

Mrs. L. L. Granzow delightfully entertained the annual meeting of the Mission Band Thursday. Pot-luck dinner was served. Reports of officers and committees were given. The treasurer's report showed over $400 had been raised during the year. Officers were elected for the coming year.

A large crowd that has been known for some time crowded the town hall Saturday afternoon when the Recreational caucus was held. Competition was keen and feeling was tense. Mrs.
Hamilton received the nomination for supervisor, Earl Banks for clerk, Glen Sallow for treasurer, Bernard Kitson, full term justice of the peace; Ben-Bentley, short term justice of the peace;
William Mairs for highway commissioner; and Frank E. Durfee for board of review.

The B. Y. P. U. under the leadership of Mrs. J. Q. Munro, introduced a new feature in their service for Sunday evening. The lesson, which was "What Can Missionaries Do?" was given by five of the young people in the form of a playlet. A brother and sister entertained two young people in their home during the preparation of their lesson, and incidentally heard over the radio, a very interesting talk from their own missionary headquarters.

At the close of the service, an offering of nearly $600 was given for service work.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at Mrs. John Huffman's home, last week Wednesday.

A number of important matters were discussed. The president, Mrs. Ethie Foot, read an article from the Pontiac Press, which was quoted from the Christian Science Monitor, in which Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the noted missionary in Labrador, expressed his sentiments in regard to traffic in, and use of alcoholic liquor. After a quarter of a century of hazardous experiences and sacrificial living in that northland, he claims alcohol has no place as a necessity under any circumstances and is a great deterrent to the work for which he has so nobly given his life.

Mrs. Luella Bower who had charge of the program, read a poem, "Woe unto him who giveth his neighbor strong drink," which was written by Katherine McCoy of Walled Lake in 1894.

At the Woodward Field Station in Ottawa, the average value of Sudan was drilled and used as pasture, for which $1.50 per acre was paid when the nutritive value was computed at $1.00 a ton and alfalfa at $1.25 a ton. In the same year the cost of Sudan grass was $1.00 a ton and alfalfa $1.25 a ton, which set the entire Sudan grass on Suncor Field but the crop yielded more nutritive protein and on the days when it was more valuable than either of the others.

CONCERT GIVEN BY SCHOOL BAND IS ONE OF REAL MERIT

Small Crowd Hear Program That Would do Credit to Old Musicians

It wasn't quite a year ago when Edward C Langfield was pressing the Rotary club, village commission and school board to take some action relative to the organization of a community school band.

His efforts were being taken and last Thursday evening the band presented its first formal program to the public.

The surprising thing about the concert was the fact that unless a man's time 20 or 25 minutes could be taught to play so well.

The concert, while only fairly planned, would do credit to a band of many years training. The boys and girls were under the direction of Edward Head who has had charge of the band since it was first started. He has accomplished wonders with the children, as evident from the nature of the program given at the high school auditorium.

Miss Bach, musical instructor at the school, sang two very pleasing solos. The Rotary quartette, composed of Don Verkes, Rey VanValkenburgh, James Vandine and Frank Hills, sang a couple of numbers that were very well received.

Elmer Perrin, Jr., played a couple of piano selections that were exceptionally pleasing.

The registrable part of the whole affair was that the school auditorium was not packed.

Community packing of farm products is an important feature of many co-operative marketing associations. When competent and disinterested men have charge of the packing they can grade fine fruits or vegetables to insure a standardized and reliable product which will come to be known on the markets. When the crop is large enough, or when many growers in different communities are co-operating, it becomes possible to advertise and expand the market with only trifling expense assessed against each unit of sale.

Adding dry skim milk powder to the feed of growing chicks has proved an excellent preventive of coccidiosis, and its use has increased materially in the preparation of chick feeds.

The special coating classes that have been conducted by Miss Gladys Peckham for the Michigan Federated Utilities in Northville during the past six weeks came to a close last Thursday afternoon, with considerably over 100 in attendance. The company has been conducting classes in Plymouth and Wayne on alternate days, and the attendance of the Northville classes was far larger than in either of the other two places say representatives of the company. Not only was the attendance larger but there was a greater interest in the demonstrations than in the others.

Relieving Pain With a Reading Lamp

A SMALL reading lamp has great possibilities in its light rays as a reliever of pain. The rays of light seem as powerless to cure pain as the rays to carry the radio message until one has actually tried them, as they are now being resorted to in hospitals, in sanatoriums, and in the tuberculosis camps for the cure of disease.

White large wattage lamps are necessary for deep therapy to produce general bodily reaction; a small nitrogen reading lamp will relieve the local rheumatic pain, or the twinges of neu-ritis, especially if the rays be brought down within ten or twelve inches of the area, and a cloth covers the lamp to concentrate the rays on the aching spot.

The earache, toothache, the pain in the foot or hand, knee, joint, elbow or shoulder can be successfully treated at home in the middle of May evenings and physicians order light rays for tennis injuries, alternated with a dust of ice which keeps up a constant stimulation of the blood in the painful area, and it is in this manner that the pain is relieved.

From Northville Miss Peckham has gone to Marshall, where she will conduct demonstrations for the next few weeks. It is the company's intention to have her return to Northville during the early part of next fall for another series of demonstrations.

Minks can be raised in captivity successfully, and the quality of fur produced is in no way inferior to that trapped in the wild. These animals are very prolific and when fed and handled properly breed and produce young regularly, their litters usually numbering from six to eight. Whether mink farming for fur can be made profitable is a matter for each prospective farmer to decide for himself.

So far those who have made money with minks have done so through the sale of breeding stock. Some helpful suggestions on mink raising have been prepared by the Biological Survey and published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Leaflet No. 9-E, "Mink Raising," which is free for the asking.

Leg bands on children's rompers or bloomers should never impede circulation. For this reason elastic bands are not advised. Cloth bands are better.

They should be wide enough to slide up the leg five inches or more when the child bends over. Because they must be so loose it is necessary to make the leg of the garment short, or it may hang down uncomfortably over the knees.

When you cut a dress with a normal shoulder seam and set-in sleeve, see that the back section is half an inch longer across the shoulder than the front section. This extra material is eased into the seam to give room for the shoulder blades. If a person is slightly round-shouldered it is particularly necessary to make this allowance.

This is a Special Price and you should take advantage of this offer AT ONCE. Remember, no soot, on smoke, no ashes, when you burn our Genuine Gas Coke.

COMMUNITY BAND GIVES CONCERT AT HIGH SCHOOL

On Thursday, March 8th, the community band gave a concert in the high school auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The room was nearly full and they cleared about $36.

New photos were bought in which their music will be kept. The band is less than one year old and there are twenty-six pieces. The selections that were given are: "Operatic Minstrel," "The Glow Worm Melodies from Faust," "March R. M. B. Little Wonder," "Step lively," "Little Arab," "New Hartford," "College Boy," "Pink Lemonade and America." During the intermissions Miss Bach sang, the Rotary quartet gave a selection and Elmer Perrin played. The Rosary, on the piano.

PLANS FOR PAGEANT BY THE DANCING CLASSES IS BEGUN

Mrs. Stalker and Miss Draper are working on a pageant to be given by the natural dancing classes, the latter part of May. The pageant is to dramatize the story of "Pan-dora," a Greek myth.

CAFETERIA CLOSES EXCEPT FOR SOUP AND MILK

The high school cafeteria was closed last week as it did not pay to keep open longer. Since the warm weather has come, the pupils are going home for lunch, but hot soups, crackers and milk will be served at school.

The eighth grade girls who took care of the cafeteria are now working on individual books entitled, "My Bedroom." They are being taught how to take care of their rooms, how to plan the coloring schemes, and are making little things to beautify their rooms.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

Have you ever asked yourself—What am I going to do when I finish college? If you are in high school it is time such thoughts entered your mind for the next few years will literally fly and then you will find yourself out in the world without the least idea of what you are going to do like many find themselves each year.

It is not only important that you decide what you want to do but also if you are suited for it, and to take subjects in the school that will benefit you in reaching that goal. This will make your school work more interesting. For even if football game would get more attention without a goal.

Records show that on the average it takes every person ten years after leaving school to get settled in the line of work he wishes to make his life's vocation. Finding out what he should best fit into when he was in high school is a good idea. I wanted ten years in which he should have been progressing.

So during this semester, the H-Y Club program is going to be planned along the line of vocational guidance. To help the boys in planning their future vocation.

EIGHTH GRADE ELECTS CLASS OFFICERS

After their study of election systems, the eighth grad. held a class election a short time ago.

There were two Boys' and Girls' parties. The names of the candidates were placed upon ballots of the usual kind. Election officers were appointed to be in charge of the polls. The following were elected:

President—Ralph Kuhag

Vice President—Arthur Hills

Secretary—Doris Leinenweber

Treasurer—Clyde Hinman

THE EARLY BIRD CATCHES THE WORM

Since school began in September there have been over one thousand tardies in N.H.S., a record of which we cannot be proud. The Freshies hold the unenvied distinction of having over 300 of these tardies to their credit, followed closely by the Sophomores. Then come the Seniors, third, and the Juniors with the least and they cannot be proud of their record.

One student holds an individual record of 22 tardies to his classes and rivals with 12, 15 and so on down the list, where the honor belongs to those each child was presented with a white carnation.

As a result of their visit, the children are now putting on a greenhouse project. They are also busy planning "secrets," which are not to be known before Easter.

THIRD GRADE

Annabel Zerjal left the grade school last week. She is now at the Methodist Orphan Home at Farmington.

FOURTH GRADE

The State and Capital contest of the fourth grade ended in a tie.

Nancy Jane Brown is back in school from her visit at Kalamazoo.

The class is working on numerous health posters.

FIFTH GRADE

Charles Austin has left school and is now living with his parents near Howell.

Hazel Copland, Margaret Norton and Catherine Shoebridge are absent with the mumps.

SIXTH GRADE

The Aviators played the Navy and the latter won with a score of 7 to 8.

The Army played the Marines and won by a score of 10 to 6.

A practice speldown was held last weekend Alice Boelens proved to be champion.

The sixth grade girls have organized a Campfire unit. They held a meeting Wednesday, March 7th, and elected the following officers: President, Vera Hörsfall; vice president, Margaret Richardson; Secretary, Catherine Duguid; treasurer, Marjorie Campbell; song leader, Winifred McCardle; scribe, Alice Boelens; guardian, Miss Elder.

GIRLS ARE URGED TO REMEMBER BASEBALL SEASON

Mrs. Stalker, the girls' coach, is planning on starting a girls' indoor baseball team this summer.

A team was started last year but resulted in a failure. We hope the girls will all turn out this year and make it a success.

Other schools have teams and we don't want to let them get ahead of us. Let's all work together to make the team so girls, you have something to look forward to besides just the fun you will have playing that most intriguing game—baseball!

CANDY SALES ARE POPULAR

Everybody likes candy. That is the reason why candy sales are so popular in the halls of N.H.S.

The Junior class started the fair, and was followed by the sixth grade, eighth grade and last the Alpha Sigma club.

The eighth grade excelled the others by making $12.20. The Juniors made $8.92, the sixth grade, $5.40 and the Alpha Sigma about $7.00.

SHORTHAND CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The third meeting of the Shorthand club was held the fourth hour in Miss Briggs' room, Thursday, March 8th.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Alvera Smith. The secretary reported read and accepted.

SOPHOMORES GIVE PROGRAM

Northville high seems to be a broadcasting station since last Friday when the Sophomores gave the assembly program.

The opening scene was in a restaurant where the class was expected.

After clearing their niches they tuned in on the radio. After a certain amount of static N.H.S. came in fairly clearly. A number of selections, among them being "Henry Mad a Lady Out of Lizzie" and "Are You Happy?" Here the announcer believed to be Mr. Cohn made a remark something about knowing we were happy because the examinations were over.

When the lunch was served it was discovered that they had ice cream instead of the "fries and gas" and "submarines" they had ordered. While they were "stowing the cold cream" there came in a number of songs by Sophie Sexton.

Last on the program was a report on Luther Burbank by Foster VanAtta, and another song.

KINDERGARTEN

Both sections of the kindergarten visited Jones' greenhouse, last Thursday.

They were shown the different flowers and plants and also the heating and water system. Upon leaving the officers for the next meeting are Dorothy Vogt, chairman; Marion Cousins, secretary.

Alvera Smith read part of a letter from "A Self-made Merchant to His Son."

The members then made several short speeches. The subjects were as follows:

To be "Great—Concentrate"—Catherine Litschberger

"Opportunities for Employment"—Marion Cousins

"When You Pay for Experience be Sure You Keep the Receipt"—Robert Strachen

The Importance of Business Training—Irene Bennett

"Telephone and Telegraph"—Dorothy Vogt

"Answering and Filing Correspondence"—Helen Hacking

"How to Succeed"—Rowena Root

The class feels that these meetings are very worthwhile. Much interest is shown in their preparation.

NEW JANITORS

"Janitors Wanted late hours, no pay."

No signs like this are needed around N.H.S. any more. Recruits are plentiful (Mr. Ammerman now sees to that).

Explanations are in order. Last Friday several ambitious members of the seventh grade after amusing themselves by acting "kittenish" in class period were given the position of janitors but as their work was unsatisfactory they were dismissed at 6:00.

Then the high school caught the craze and Friday night found four stalwart janitors (in other words, freshmen) diligently plowing brushes to the assembly room floor, under the supervision of Mr. Ammerman. Either sister's rouge had been employed or else the room must have been exceedingly warty for their faces were the most gorgeous tondsons I have ever seen.

After two hours of concentrated efforts the children were dismissed with a final admonition from our principal.

End of act one—exit janitors. We are waiting anxiously for further developments.

EIGHTH GRADERS PLAY GOOD BASKET BALL

The eight grade basketball team of Farmington, Plymouth and Northville have been playing a series of games during the past week.

Monday evening Northville went to Plymouth for the first game and brought home a victory by a score of 37-9.

The next two games were played with Farmington. First, Northville went down there to play in Farmington's toy gym and lost 17-1.

Then the tables were turned when Farmington came here, when our fellows played a much better game, winning 32-11.

To wind up the series Plymouth came here where our team came out on top again with a score of 42-4.

During these games our fellows showed good form and will perhaps prove to be of value to the varsity team in next year.

TALK VOCATIONAL SERVICE TO CLUB MEMBERS, GUESTS

Many Hear Interesting Discussion at Meeting of Rotarians.

Vocational Service—that was the subject of Monday's Rotary Club meeting, and Chairman Edward C. Langfield, who directed the special program, gave to the Rotarians a program of more than usual merit. After President Don Verkes, Sr., had turned the meeting over to Mr. Langfield, the former club president declared that it is natural that the work of the vocational service committee finds justification in the attempted development of the individual in his capacity to serve through his vocation.

If the ideal of service can be interpreted and expressed properly through the vocational activities of the local club members, the goal of the vocational service committee will have been achieved. If the committee can in reality nor in theory assist the individual in making the basis of his business or profession the ideal of service above self, the six objects of Rotary will have reached their fruition.

If we as Rotarians are to do this, we must regard our vocation as being our chosen way to serve society. No man comes into Rotary who has no business or profession. The business or profession into which he enters becomes the daily outlet for his contribution to the happiness and welfare of humanity. If the basis of that chosen profession or business is solely personal profit, private gain, then he cannot subscribe to the teachings of Rotary.

R. A. Brooks talked for a few minutes most interestingly on "Buying and Selling Relations," and his ideas were excellent ones. Dr. Richard Sales talked briefly of the "Rotary Code as Applied to Medicine," and another excellent talk was made by Wellington Roberts who discussed "Ethical Application of the Rotary Code by Professional Men."

In closing the meeting Chairman Langfield said:

"If Rotary can materially contribute to the development of friendship between individuals, business propositions and if the individual is willing to make his vocation the basis of his job or vocation then we have in idea of service being applied in any way that should help all of us. This spirit can be expressed in all our daily vocation, and then there will be no difficulty in carrying out the ideals of the Rotary motto 'Service Above Self.'

My dear friends, send me to them a note of sympathy for the fallen human, my brethren, weaknesses, ambition and failures did not cause me to take up with them, but because I like to be considerate than myself as a member of society. In every position in business life go my responsibility first come before me, my chief thought shall be to all that responsibility and discharge that duty, so when I have ended each of the Biological Survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture from the lead of our rodent-control work in California, showing the startling losses due to mice in grain warehouses in Sacramento Valley. The aggregate losses during the past year, according to the report, were not less than $100,000. In one warehouse 10,000 mice were found to be rearing grain at the rate of 1000 per day.

You will agree with me that were we all to act so as to make the world a better place than we found it, there would be little need for Rotary clubs to "do the work." And yet, because we fail to do the work, we fail to keep the guinea pigs, worth 14 cents apiece, ready to be used to resack grain at the rate of 1000 per day.

As an instance of the great damage that can be done by animals as small as mice, amounting in this one warehouse to more than $5,000. The mice eat grain, causing loss to the owners.

For nests, besides eating or wasting the grain. In moving 1,500 bags each day the men considered it lucky to find 100 bags that required no mending.

"Thus Little Pig Stayed Home" is the name of a new motion picture by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which calls attention to the losses caused by hog cholera.

Copies of the film are available for use in agricultural meetings, where it is desired to spread educational information on cholera and its prevention.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR GRANDSTAND
AT FAIR GROUNDS

Structure Will be of Steel and Concrete—To Seat
3,100

Plans have about been completed for the erection of the new steel and concrete grandstand, to be erected at the fair grounds, by the Northville Wayne County Fair association and as soon as the special grandstand committee and officers of the association "look" over the grandstand at Toledo some definite action will be taken.

Ray Richardson, chairman of the committee, stated yesterday that it was the desire of the members to go to Toledo presently to look over a similar grandstand that has been erected at the fair grounds in that place. The structure will seat 3,100.

people and will be built in such a way that additional space can be added without a bit of difficulty in the future. It will be 150 feet long, 48 feet deep and 40 feet high, and built entirely of steel and concrete.

The members of the committee and officers who plan to go to Toledo are Ray Richardson, A. C. Balder, Elmer Smith, Nelson Schrader and Floyd Northrop. They hope to start work on the structure just as soon as the frost is out of the ground, which will be within the next three or four weeks.

At an estimated value of 10 cents each, which is very low, the wild birds and insects of the United States prevent an increase in the annual damage done by insects of at least $44,000,000. Do all you can for the birds, urges the United States Department of Agriculture, and our bill for insect damage will still further decrease.

Many dairy cows are undersized and are low producers because they did not get enough of the right kind of feed when they were young and growing. After a heifer has freshened and is producing milk it is difficult for her to make up the growth she failed to get as a younger animal because of poor feeding.

PLYMOUTH ELECTS BUSINESS MEN TO ITS COMMISSION

Three Prominent Citizens
Are Placed in Office
by Voters

Carl Shear, Paul J. Nutting and John W. Henderson are the three new commissioners elected at the village election in Plymouth last Monday. There are two hold overs from the old commission.

Under the Plymouth charter the commission will elect its own mayor.

Mr. Nutting, who is general manager of the H. S. Lee Foundry company, was runner up in the contest and may be given the honor.

Mr. Shear is president of the Plymouth Buick Sales company, and Mr. Henderson is associated with the Detroit Creamery company.

The three new members of the commission are among some of the most progressive business men of Plymouth.

AROUND THE CITY

Look before you leap. Be sure you are right, then take another look.

Take things as they come. Don't even bite the thermometer when it is down.

One thing about the wages of sin is that you don't have to go to law to collect them.

You never can tell. It isn't altogether modesty that causes people to be shocked by the naked truth.

Some people par pew-fest with the idea that it entitles them to a reserved seat at the big show in the hereafter.

Luck is really one of the most perverse things in the world. It always seems to come to those who don't need it.

"A rolling stone gathers no moss," quoted the wise guy. "But it takes a lot of power to push one up hill," suggested the simple mug.

No matter what his reputation may be, every man can console himself with the thought that there are worse fellows in the world than he is.

Money is the root of all evil. The only way to keep sordid fellows out of mischief is to tilt their hams behind them and then pick their pockets.

Muggins—"I'm Good, Doctor" says we should forgive our enemies." Buggins—"But I don't believe I have any enemies." Muggins—"Well, it's easy enough to make a few."

"Blessed are the peacemakers," quoted the good deacon. "Provided that they can prove they are not merely busy bodies," amended the unregenerate backslider.

BIG WATER MAIN BREAKS, PLYMOUTH SHORT ON WATEROfficials Unable to Explain Accident to the Main Water Line

Sometime late Monday night, the big water main leading from the pumping plant to the city mains of Plymouth broke, uncovering ground between Plym Park and Plymouth and for nearly 48 hours the city of Plymouth was without water.

City officials at that place have been unable to decide what caused the trouble. It was discovered early in the morning and through courteous action on the part of Plymouth telephone operators, a large number of residents were warned of the break and were able to store enough water to carry them over the emergency.

Plymouth has recently raised its water rates in order to take care of the expenses of the department and the break of the line will result in additional expense to the city.

REPUBLICANS IN

The contest for the nominations of clerk proved the biggest surprise, as few had expected the present incumbent to make an effort to retain his place after he had announced his withdrawal.

Fred Hedge had no opposition for townships treasurer. Floyd Lamming spoke highly of the work that has been done by Mr. Hedge, and he was given the unanimous vote of those present for a place on the ticket.

George Pickell was named for highway overseer. Harry German as a member of the board of review; Frank Perrin, W H Safford, H S Green and George Whipple were nominated for constable, and a nomination for justice of the peace was left to the committee to fill.

The old gamemaster was retained for another year, Dean F Griswold being retained as chairman, J W Perkins, Mrs F S Neal, Mrs Charles Dolph and Mrs. Mary Stewart as other members.

The committee has decided to fill the vacancy on the ticket by naming Wellington Roberts for justice of the peace, long term.

The utensils should only be washed in hot soapy water, rinsed in clear hot water and dried thoroughly. Don't scrape a tin sauceman, even if food sticks to it. Scraping exposes the iron or steel surfaces underneath which may rust. If food has dried on the utensil, fill it with a weak soda solution, heat for a few minutes, and then wash.

Interesting Facts

Waxing or varnishing improves the appearance of linoleum and makes it last longer. Use wax on the maid and plain kinds, and varnish on the treated ones, for wax softens and tends to eaten the printed surface. If either of these finishes is applied the linoleum is then cleaned and cared for like a good floor, sc finished. If not given a special finish linoleum should be swept with a soft brush and cleaned with soapy or dry mop. Occasionally it should be cleaned more thoroughly with a cloth wrung out of saddle soap with lukewarm water and neutral soap. Rinse the linoleum with clear water and dry with another cloth. Only a small space should be wet at a time. A linoleum-covered floor should never be flooded. Strong soaps and cleaning powders, that contain alkali, injure linoleum and should never be used on it. Whatever kind of cleaning powder is used on a very dirty spot, care should be taken to remove any trace of the water in which the powder was dissolved.

Strawberry plants are easily injured by poor soil drainage. Water should never stand on the soil. Poorly drained soils will also tend toward the development of leaf rot and fruit diseases. February and March are the important months for starting strawberry plantations in the South Atlantic and Gulf States excepting Florida, Louisiana and southern and southwestern Texas. In these regions the rest of the plantation are set in the fall.

From Way Down East to the Far West, the trend of lumber production in the United States has fairly consistently followed the path of the setting sun. In 1819, the leading state in production of lumber was Maine. In 1829-32, the leader was New York. In 1839, Pennsylvania in 1869-82, Michigan, 1899-1904, Wisconsin, 1905-13, Washington, 1914, Louisiana, 1915-25, Washington. What state will hold the crown in 1930? It will be, says the United States Forest Service, the state which shows the most foresight today, while it is harvesting the present crop of timber by making provision for a future forest crop.

Contrary to a common impression that shelter belts and windbreaks sap and shade the land and reduce crop yields, forest investigators have found that lines of trees as rule pay for themselves in increased productivity of the fields they shelter from drying winds, from extremes of heat and cold, and from the violence of severe winds. These benefits extend into the field to reward for 10 to 15 times the height of the trees.

It is possible to grow good legume hay on land too sour for red clover, by planting alsike clover usually in combination with timothy or other grasses. Alsike clover is also a good hay crop for swales, or land too wet for most crops. It will make good growth in water-soaked soil and will endure over-flow to an unusual degree.

Cattle should not be fed within 24 hours of the time they are to be slaughtered but should have access to fresh water. An animal should never be killed while in an excited or overheated condition, as it will not bleed well. Beef from animals not properly bled does not keep well. Brusing the body just before slaughter will cause bloody spots which have to be trimmed off, resulting in considerable waste.

At least once during the year a competent veterinarian should examine the teeth of all horses on the farm. Generally all that will be required is the "floating" or filing off of the long, sharp corners, which are due to uneven wear. This roughness first causes sore tongues or cheeks, followed by a lack of proper mastication together with digestive troubles. Older horses particularly are often much benefited by proper attention to the teeth.

Grazing livestock in the farm woodland and maximum production of timber do not go well together, says the United States Forest Service. Continued heavy pasturing of hardwood woodland eliminates all young timber growth on the ground and prevents more from becoming established. This brings about a parklike appearing woods which grow out at small percentage of the amount of wood that the land is capable of producing.

When Miss Corbett gave an interesting talk on music.

MILK THE PERFECT FOOD

MILK comes nearer being a perfect food than any other food known. It contains all the elements necessary for life and growth and is completely digested without waste.

Nature itself devised milk as a food for nourishment of the young animals and up to the age of one year every child is absolutely dependent upon milk in order to survive. Do you wonder then why milk is a perfect food?
