THOUSANDS OF TREES PLANTED BY ROAD CHIEFS

Wayne County Commissioners Doing Much to Aid Beautification

(By Roy C. Smith, Wayne County Road Engineer)

The Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners have always maintained a policy of properly developing the roadsides along country roads. Tree planting was started six years ago. At that time about two thousand trees were planted along the Seven Mile road. As the annual observation of Arbor Day and American Forest week became more popular, the road commission kept pace with public opinion by planting more trees.

To date more than thirty thousand trees have been planted along improved roads in Wayne county. No effort has been spared in securing the best trees or in carrying out their required maintenance. The method of procedure in this work has been adopted after a thorough and complete investigation as to its requirements. Skilled labor, professional knowledge and practical experience has made it a success.

The kind of trees used depends upon soil conditions and the location. It has been found that the best species to use for this locality, considering the various types of soils are American elm, sugar maple, Norway maple, red oak, pin oak, and American sycamore. Elms, sycamores and Norway maples are planted in sizes from two and one-half to three inches in diameter. The best size to use for sugar maples and the oaks is about two inches in diameter.

These trees are all nursery grown. Experience has proven that an excessive loss results from using trees dug from the fields or woods. Trees are spaced at from sixty to eighty feet apart depending upon the species.

Upon receipt of all trees at the unloading yard they are inspected for insects or diseases. They are also held root end top pruned, sprayed, and placed in trenches preparatory to being planted.

After the trees have been planted they are carefully taken care of throughout the year. Much damage is thus averted through ground fires and injurious insects.

Approximately twenty-five thousand shrubs have been planted at various bridges, grade separations and town line fogs. All banks through deep cuts have been sodded and bare areas seeded.

One of the most important phases of roadside development is the practice of co-operation between the road commissioners and public utility companies operating overhead lines. A fixed location is agreed upon for all poles along the road, and as rapidly as pole lines are rebuilt or new ones established they are located in their proper places. A maximum of only two lines is permitted on each road. One side is reserved for power or supply lines and the opposite for signal or communication lines. If more than two lines are desired joint construction is provided for, thereby eliminating a number of poles. To date more than three thousand poles have been removed from the roads in this county.

The necessity for roadside improvement is fast being realized. This work is steadily progressing in the wake of road construction, with an ultimate aim of providing highways which will completely serve the county in every respect. Appearance and utility must go hand in hand to provide this service. At the present time Wayne county has done more in this respect than any other highway organization, resulting in the greatest possible use being realized from these improved roads.

Friends entertained Sunday at the home of E. W. Lockwood the occasion being the birthday of his daughter, Ella, were: Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Culverwell and Charles St. John of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burt and son, Frank, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bush of Highland Park, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foreman and son, Will, of Fishery road. Mr. and Mrs. Foreman gave a very interesting description of their recent trip to the Holy Lands.

Mrs. Edward F. Curtenus of Kalamazoo, has been a visitor with friends in Northville for a day or so. Mrs. Curtenus was elected a delegate from the third congressional district at the Republican state convention to the national convention to be held in Kansas City in June.

April is the month of rapid fire action. Lay your plans to make every day count.

MASONIC LODGE TO OBSERVE PAST MASTERS' NIGHT

Master Wendell Miller Sets Aside Date for Big Event

Monday evening, April 30th, has been designated as Past Masters' night by Worshipful Master Wendell Miller. Special invitations are being sent to all living Past Masters of Northville Lodge, No. 186, and roll will be called before the work is commenced in the evening. After roll call, the Past Masters will exemplify the Master Mason degree.

Another interesting part of the program will be the presentation of a new Bible by Brother Wilbur E. Walker of Detroit. The Bible will be accepted by Past Master Ray Van Valkenburg, who will give a brief history of the previous Bibles used by Northville Masons.

A large turnout is expected for these two interesting features. Lodge will open at 4:00 p. m. with dinner at 6:30; returning from refreshment to labor at 7:45. At least four candidates are expected to be ready for the work.

ANNUAL MAY POLE FESTIVAL TO TAKE PLACE ON TUESDAY

Big "Bargain Dinner" Will be Given Same Time at Church

Plans are complete and everything ready for the annual May pole festival to be given by Our Lady of Victory church on the church lawn, Orchard drive, Tuesday evening, May first. Father Joseph Schuler, who has been looking after many of the details connected with the event, declares that the May pole dance to be given by twenty little Northville girls will be a night well worth seeing.

But that is not all they have planned for the evening. There is going to be a "bargain dinner," beginning at 5:30 o'clock. For the overworked housewife of Northville here is a wonderful chance to get away from planning a big meal. The "bargain dinner" is going to cost only 50 cents—and kids under 12 years of age can eat all they want for the big sum of nothing.

The menu provides roast beef or roast pork, with all the fixings that go with it, as well as hot rolls, raspberry Jello with whipped cream, apple pie, cheese and coffee.

And of course there are other things "too numerous to mention" that can't go in this brief write-up as both space and postal regulations forbid.

Father Schuler and his committee have invited the whole town and countryside to come, see and eat.

The following "little girls" will take part in the May pole dance: Alice Eaton, Ida Altman, Barbara Simons, Nancy Brown, Patsy McLoughlin, Marion Turnbull, Dorothy Richardson, Elizabeth Gordon, Nancy McLoughlin, Janet Stewart, Jean Marburger, Betty Schrader, Phyllis Flarety, Gwendolyn Jones, Rita Healey, Winifred McCord, Katherine Marburger, Frances Alexander, Jean Lake, Evelyn Ambler, Lella Haystead, Ruth Campbell, Tom McLoughlin, Rita Springer, Rose May Badore, Eleanor Reed, Ruth Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron D. Taylor were visitors with friends in Fiat Rock, Sunday.

FORMER AMBASSADOR WILL BE SPEAKER

Hon. Charles E. Warren, former ambassador to Japan and America's representative to Mexico during the times of trouble, will be the speaker at the final meeting of the Men's Bible class of the Methodist church on Thursday evening, May 3rd.

The announcement by Rev. Richards of the fact that such a prominent speaker is coming to final meeting will be of special interest to residents of this vicinity, as everyone is acquainted with the career of the former ambassador. His talk will be of interest, there is no question about that.

The meeting will begin promptly at 6:30, and will be held in the Methodist church parlors. A five-course menu has been prepared. Rev. Richards especially urges that those who are planning on being present get their tickets as soon as possible, as there can be only a limited number issued.

ROAD ENGINEER PLANS BRIDGE AT GLOBE CO. TURN

Commission Decides to do Away with Danger Point South of Town

In a statement given out by Leroy Smith, road engineer of Wayne county, the Wayne County Road Commission has definitely decided to construct a new bridge over the river on the Plymouth avenue, just at the turn between the Stinson factory and the plant of the Globe Furniture company sometime during the present year.

Because of the fact that the commission intends to re-locate the road, going away with both sharp turns, it is probable that work on the project will not be started until late in the summer. It is understood that the commission plans to follow as nearly as possible the line of the street, railway tracks, using possibly the same location.

By following this new location the commission does away with all sharp turns in the highway and provides instead a long winding curve.

The present bridge over the river built back in the horse and buggy days, was adequate twenty years ago. But traffic conditions have reached a point where cars are frequently forced to wait while some big truck is crossing the bridge. The bridge is so narrow that only the smaller sized passenger cars can meet on it, and then always with a danger of meeting a fender.

Just a few weeks ago a New Hudson resident on the way home, was forced over the side of the highway into the creek, suffering severe injuries. Minor accidents are frequent at the bridge.

The definite news given out by the commission as to its plans is gladly received in this vicinity.

The paving of Griswold road from the Base Line road to Main street and a persistent rumor that West Main street may be opened direct through to the William H. Maybury 'Sagoloum' as well as the taking over of what is generally known as South Center street for highway improvements by the Wayne County Road Commission gives but a slight idea of the tremendous amount of development work being carried on in western Wayne county by the commission.

VAUDEVILLE AT PENNIMAN ALLEN SATURDAY NIGHT

Management Has Announced a Special Program for Week-end

Vaudeville at the Penniman Allen theatre in Northville. The management yesterday announced that in addition to the excellent pictures that have been booked for the regular Saturday night showing, that the Stefano Dancoers, in tunes and steps, had been booked for both the 7:00 o'clock show and the 9:00 o'clock show.

The troupe is an excellent one and there is not the slightest question but what those who like to see vaudeville acts will witness an excellent production right in Northville.

The Penniman Allen theatre has for some time been producing a lot of high grade shows in Northville, and the addition of an extra vaudeville program, now and then is sure to please the rapidly growing clientele of the theatre.

BASEBALL SERIES TO START SUNDAY OUT AT DE-HO-CO

The baseball season is on!

When Harry German steps into his uniform in the spring, that is all there is to it—whether it snows or rains—the baseball season is here. There is no better indicator than Harry and his uniform.

The season will officially open Sunday at the Detroit House of Correction farm—with Harry in the box.

Many Northville fans are planning on attending the first game, and there is but little question but what a big crowd will be present.

The next regular meeting of the L. O. T. M. will be held Monday evening, April 30. Initiatory work will be the feature of the evening. There will be a pot-luck supper at 6:00 o'clock.

Change the oil at regular intervals and prevent undue wear on the engine.

STINSON MADE LIFE MEMBER OF ROTARY

AVIATOR-MANUFACTURER IS GIVEN HIGH HONORS BY LOCAL CLUB

Northville Rotarians, by unanimous vote at the meeting held Monday, elected to honorary and life membership as a Rotarian, Edward Stinson, president of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation and holder of numerous world aviation records. Edward H. Lapshin was delegated a special representative of the club to present to Mr. Stinson his Rotary membership card, as well as a Rotary pin.

The action of the membership of the club, confirms similar action taken by the board of directors sometime ago. The Rotarians took the action in view of the wonderfully successful career of Mr. Stinson is an aviator and manufacturer. The membership gives him the same rights as an active Rotarian, and he can attend Rotary meetings anywhere he might happen to be a Rotarian.

EDWARD STINSON

The election to honorary membership in Rotary is a highly prized one, and it is not often conferred. In fact, the selection of Mr. Stinson by the Northville club is the first one made by the local Rotary organization during its nearly three years of existence.

UNLOAD RECORD SHIPMENT OF FURNITURE

During the past two days the biggest shipment of upholstered furniture ever received in Northville has been unloaded at the Schrader furniture store on North Center street. The goods constitute the latest there is in furniture of this class. The newest designs and the newest colors prevail. The shipment, worth thousands of dollars, consisted of two and three piece suites.

Northville has one of the largest furniture stores in Michigan. In fact, you can count on your hand the number of stores that can be said to be larger. During recent months an exceedingly large number of sales have been made to outside residents, due to the fact that Schrader prices are far below those of any other store in this part of Michigan.

MRS. LEO W. PAUL DIES AT HOME OF HER SISTER HERE

Illness of Three Months Ends in the Demise of Popular Young Lady

Mrs. Leo W. Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Black of Fairbrook avenue died Wednesday forenoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leo Lawrence, after an illness of three months. About Christmas time she contracted a severe cold, and in spite of everything that could be done, her condition continued to grow worse.

Born in Lansing, Michigan, July 29, 1899 she spent all of her life there, except three years after her parents moved to Northville. She entered high school here and graduated with the class of 1918. Immediately after graduation, she returned to Lansing, and secured a position with the Lansing municipal department of public works, a position she held until illness forced her to give up her duties.

Known to her hundreds of young friends in Lansing and Northville as Marjorie Black, she was always highly regarded and respected.

It was only May 28th of last year when she was married to Leo W. Paul, of Detroit, a former resident of Lansing. After their marriage they resided at 908 West Hillsdale street, until she was brought to the home of her sister something like a month ago. Her husband came to Northville at that time and has remained here during the weeks of her final illness.

Mrs. Paul through her pleasing way won the good will of everyone she came in contact with. She was greatly interested in the work of the Central Methodist church at Lansing, and was active in the Sunday school department of that church. She was also a member of the Eastern Star lodge of Northville.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Black, the husband, Mr. Paul, two sisters, Mrs. Lawrence and Miss Gladys Black, and a brother, James, survive.

Short services will be held from the home of Mrs. Lawrence, Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock, and the body will be taken to Lansing, where the funeral will be at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. Richards officiating at both places. The burial will take place in the family lot in Mt. Hope.

START PLANS FOR BIGGEST FREE FAIR EVER HELD

Officials of Association are Busy Working out the Details

Plans for Northville's big free fair are under way. Secretary Floyd Northrop and other officials of the organization this week began completing the minor details that must be given attention in the next few days.

Already work has been started on the premium book, which is to be made larger than ever before. Because of the fact that the fair is to be a free one this year, the officials are looking not only for a much greater attendance but a greater number of entries in the various departments.

President Schrader of the association recently declared that every effort would be made to have this year's fair the biggest and best in the state, outside of the State fair and possibly Iowa. He pointed out Northville is the second community in Michigan to adopt the free fair plan, and that it had been adopted only after carefully investigating results at Iowa.

We have talked with officials of the Iowa Free Fair Association. Gov. Green has been at the head of the fair for years and Fred Coakman has been associated with him. We have talked with both the Governor and Mr. Chapman and they all agree that we have adopted the right course in starting a free fair, said Mr. Schrader yesterday.

Work on the new grandstand is to be started in the near future. According to Rev. Richardson chairman of the committee having charge of the important improvement the grandstand will be one of the most modern that can be constructed. It will be of concrete and steel and will seat at least 7,000 people.

There are many other improvements contemplated at the fair grounds by the directors of the fair association before the opening of the fair in September.

ONE MAN RIGHTLY OBSERVES ARBOR DAY ABOUT HERE

Rev. Richards Plants Large Number of Trees—His Idea Right

One man in Northville is properly observing Arbor day.

While Friday, April 27, is technically Arbor day, the Rev. William Richards has been making at the week Arbor day.

As far as observed here is the ONLY individual in or about Northville that observed the event in any way.

Possibly there might be others. If so, the Record will be delighted to print a column for two of their names next week.

"I have been busy all the week planting trees. Not one or two, but many, many dozens of them. I have put in over 50 pine trees, some of them blue spruce. You know, I have not a place out east of town. Pine trees are not the only kind I have put in. There have been many other kinds, as well," stated Rev. Richards yesterday.

It is not too late yet for Northville and vicinity to do something about Arbor day. It is the general opinion of some who are more or less interested in tree planting.

"Northville has many trees, but not anywhere near as many as it had a few years ago according to older residents.

"We should plant hundreds of trees, yes, thousands of them. We may not all live to enjoy the benefits of our labors, but others will. Go to England or some of the down east states, and see the beauty of the trees planted by our fathers and their fathers. There is nothing which gives so great a joy to everyone at any time of the year as beautiful trees, and this section of Michigan with its wonderful highways and attractive hills could be made into one of the beauty spots of the world if we only had more trees," declared Rev. Richards.

THEATRE SWEET SHOP TO MOVE TO NEW LOCATION

Announcement was made Wednesday by Thomas J. Phelps of the Theatre Sweet Shop, that he had leased the store formerly occupied by C. D. Kilgour. Present plans are to vacate the shop where he is now located and move into the bigger space, where he can accommodate the large increase in his restaurant business.

He intends to continue his candy making, but will do it on larger scale than ever before.

Mr. Phelps has been in Northville shortly over a year, and has built up a solid business that requires him to find a store offering more room.

The new place of business will be opened under the name of the Theatre Sweet Shop, the same as it is now. Booths will line the wall with tables in the center of the store, giving accommodations for about 70 people. A complete line of food will be served, along with the regular line of confections. The soda fountain and refrigeration will be constructed under the Egidaire system, insuring perfect sanitation at all times.

The new shop will be opened for business around May 20th, and if present plans go through it will be one of the finest in this section.

LOCAL FIREMEN AID SOUTH LYON TO CHECK BLAZE

Nearby Town Suffers Severe Loss Early Sunday Morning

Northville fire department was called early Sunday morning to South Lyon, where the local fire fighters worked with the South Lyon, Salem and Detroit House of Correction fire departments to prevent the spread of a threatening fire which wiped out South Lyon's restaurant and threatened a good portion of the business district.

The local firemen, assisted by the others, succeeded in preventing the spread of the flames to other blocks. The fire started from an explosion in the rear of the restaurant operated by E. Armistead. Armistead had started to light the stove when it blew up, setting the whole room on fire.

He hurried upstairs to save some of his personal effects, but so rapidly did the fire spread that his escape was cut off and he was forced to jump out of a second story window. He was unharmed by the leap to the ground.

The fire spread to the State Savings Bank building. But the fire fighters were able to prevent serious damage to the structure. Another frame building on the other side of the restaurant was slightly damaged.

The loss was placed at around $10,000. No statement has been given out by the owners as to the future intentions of re-building.

Very satisfactory progress is being made on the fire residence being erected by C. W. Wilber, the general cashier of the Northville State Savings Bank, in Grand View Acres subdivision. When completed this residence will be a fine addition to the highly restricted district of which it is a part.

Little Edward Baughman has been awarded second prize for being the second best writer for his age in eight schools. He is 7 years of age and in the second grade. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baughman.

Faith Lebebrue, little six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lebebrue, was hostess to six little boys and six little girls on her birthday. Wednesday of this week. The twelve children spent a very pleasant afternoon at the Liebebrue home, where they played games and were served with a dainty lunch.

SALVATION ARMY TELLS OF WORK IT HAS BEEN DOING
Much Good Accomplished Declares the Bulletin Sent Out

Northville, a community that has always done much for the Salvation Army, will be interested in the information just given out from the headquarters of the organization as to some of the results being accomplished. The bulletin says:

"The war destroyed the significance of figures for most people," said Bruce Barber, famous editorial writer, in a recent publication entitled, "Only One Thousand Dollars" in which he set forth his estimate of the force of the Salvation Army.

"Having comparatively little practical need for sums above a hundred, we grew confused by the constant repetition of the millions and billions until in desperation, we gave up trying to comprehend."

"If I were to say to an audience," remarked Commander Miss Booth, of the Salvation Army recently, "that the Salvation Army last year fed 100,000 hungry folks, the audience would exclaim, 'what a wonderful work!' If I were to say a million folk, the explanation would be the same. Figures of and by themselves are most time cold, drab and meaningless."

But without attempting to give in its length detailed and voluminous statistics of work accomplished last year, now on record in the archives of the Salvation Army, we would reprint here a few of the more interesting statistics, which indicate briefly and incompletely some measure of that great revealing light thrown across the dark spaces of America, those places of suffering and heartache and want which too few of us know nothing about.

How many of us for instance, realize that in the United States the Salvation Army with over 50,000 prominent civilian advisers, board members, has more than 1,117 corps and outposts in charge of nearly 4,000 officers and cadets trained in the three Salvation Army professions: training school, administered by the national board, for the purpose of preparing officers for the practical work of the corps; the hospital, which is a public institution of charity in 32 nations of the world, that it tells to the use of Captain Fenner in an excellent lecture.

Here in the United States during the past twelve months, how many of us realize, have any idea of the number of men and women who have turned over a new leaf and been sold on the fact of having found of their usefulness with Salvation Army preaching? The answer is over 40,000. During that period of time in its 47 hotels or men more than 700,000 beds were supplied and over one and one-half million meals furnished. In 153 industrial homes for work-out men over 6,000 broken lives were reconstructed through the portal of 29 rescue homes and maternity hospitals. 4393 unfortunate girls were given shelter, and motherly welcome protection from a scornful world and a Christian environment and in which to give birth to their nameless babes. Fifty thousand prisoners were advised and prayed with—employment found for over 9,000 of them or their release from the penitentiary. Over 10,000 convicts were converted to the Christian faith, and over 3,000 paroled to the Salvation Army. Last Christmas the Salvation Army provided centers for over a quarter of a million people. Employment outside of industrial homes was found for over 37,000 men and 8,000 women.

and presented the musical play, "The Vision of Hensel." Mrs. John Melow was in charge of the party, and devoted much time and thought to the successful staging of the play. The principal characters were taken by Miss Marjorie Cole and Don Phillips, who kept the congregation deeply interested throughout. The play proved to be a great success and the spontaneous outbursts of applause which greeted the players from time to time testified to the appreciation of the large audience in the scenes presented. The evening had quite a romantic ending from the fact that a young couple sought out the minister of the Federated church and insisted upon having their wedding that night. A hurried journey was therefore made to the parsonage at Salem where friends were called in, and the happy couple—Alfred Earl and Gertrude Bachelder, both of Detroit—were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. In the early hours of Saturday morning the newly-weds were sent on their way rejoicing with all the good wishes in the world.

How to Build Up Muscles

By J. J. Todd, Wilson Ave., Y. Chicago

Article 1

Too fat? Too thin? Get into a gym! Your room can be the gym! The same exercise that tears down fatty tissues for the plump person will also build up muscle fiber for the thin.

Before taking any type of strenuous exercise, be certain that your heart is "fit" to stand the new volume of work with which it is to be taxed. If you are certain that you have no serious organic disorders you are ready for a real thrill. In some cases it is not wise to take exercise until certain functional disorders have been corrected. Any physician will give you counsel on this. Upon beginning a course of physical culture exercises, always start lightly. Then gradually from day to day increase the number of counts for each exercise. Do not become fearful when your heart action increases. You should be fearful if your heart action should decrease with exercise.

We will suppose then that you are all set so far as your general condition of health is concerned for exercise. We do not say you are perfect in development and health. Organically you may be safe, but you may be too fat or too thin.

The series of exercises with which I hope to acquaint you can be performed on your bed early in the morning before dressing or before retiring at night.

Position—Lying on back. Effort—Stretch arms high overhead and legs downward with toes pointed. Your first position is: Lying on your back, arms over head in straight line with body touching the surface upon which your body is resting, with the back of your hands.

Your first effort is to stretch the arms and legs. Stretch arms as high as possible. As you stretch your arms upward, you also stretch your legs downward, pointing your toes. We will call this your "morning stretch."

Let's Make Northville Clean

Everybody in With Rake and Hoe and Brush

The week of May 7th to May 12th has been designated Clean-Up Week in Northville, and it is the desire of the Village Health Department, as it should be of all our citizens, to give the old home town a thorough cleaning during that period.

Rubbish of all kinds—except ashes—will be carted away if placed in boxes or barrels at the street curbs. Gather up all the old cans, bottles and other accumulations of the winter months and have them carted away.

Do not wait until the last of the week. Start to clean now and keep at the job until your premises are cleaned up.

One unsightly spot will detract from all the attractive ones, so let us make this a real community effort—everybody clean their premises, whether they own them, or rent them.

WARD COOK SAYS DULUTH HAD SOME SNOW APRIL 19TH

Encloses Clipping Which Tells Details of Spring Storm

A note from Ward Cook, in charge of the United States fish hatchery at Duluth, Minn., for many years a prominent resident of Northville, where he still has hundreds of friends, says Duluth has been having some real weather. A clipping from a Duluth paper says the following about the big snow storm that place experienced on April 19th:

"Duluth and towns throughout the Arrowhead country are digging themselves out today, following a heavy snow storm that came unexpectedly yesterday morning and continued until some time after midnight.

The weather broke bright and clear today, and with a warm sun the snow is not expected to last long. About six inches fell at Duluth, the local weather bureau reporting that from four to ten inches fell on the range, and eight to fourteen inches in Upper Peninsula. There were ten inches of snow at Hibbing.

"The storm came from Eastern Kansas and is now sweeping eastward. A 60-mile gale was reported on Lake Erie, and the storm warnings posted on the lakes yesterday having been ordered in the eastern states, according to the weather bureau.

There was no tieup in railroad and bus traffic in and out of Duluth, the street car lines in Duluth and Superior suffering slightly late yesterday afternoon, when a drop in temperature froze sleet on the wires and slowed up the hillside lines.

"The telephone, telegraph and power companies reported no trouble at all, and no delays in service anywhere in this area.

"Only two trains were reported late this morning, all others coming in on time last night and today. The South line from Chicago was forty-five minutes late, while the South Shore from Upper Michigan came in fifteen minutes late. All the lines from Twin Cities, range and Canada were on time.

City and county officials are busy today removing the snow from the streets and highways, and automobile traffic, somewhat used up last night, is expected to reach normal again during the day. The buses are running regularly, although they experienced heavy going yesterday afternoon and last evening.

"The estimated cost of the storm to the city for removal of snow is placed at $1,200. The crews started out early this morning to open all the streets and sidewalks. The snow on the downtown streets is being removed rapidly today.

Duluth and Superior were not hit by the gale that swept eastern lake ports, the weather bureau reporting a thirty-mile wind during the afternoon. This area has suffered worse storms in recent years, and much later in the season, the bureau reports. A slight rain which started at 9 o'clock yesterday morning an hour later had turned to snow, the fall continuing until after midnight.

The state forestry office reports that the snowfall will keep underbrush wet for a short period and help protect the fire zone area a little longer than usual.

"The snowfall was fairly even, H. W. Richardson, local meteorologist, reports so that it will prove of considerable benefit to the farmers throughout the three lakes states hit by the storm yesterday.

"The temperature dropped from 32 above at 7:00 a. m., yesterday to 15 above last evening, remaining at that point throughout the night. A considerable rise is expected during the day.

"No boats passed through the harbor yesterday, the storm warning delaying the scheduled departure of one or two of the boats. The Amaranth, light-house tender, was reported out on the lake and was warned by radio of the storm. The vessel is believed to have sought shelter somewhere on the north shore."

BOUND AND GAGGED HERSELF TO COVER UP OWN ROBBERY

Farmington Girl Makes an Effort to Foo! the Village Police.

An dramatic story told by Alfreda Thefault, 17, maid in the home of Dr. C. F. Weaver, Farmington dentist, of a man who entered the house Tuesday morning and bound and gagged her, then rifled the Weaver home, had its ending Thursday morning, when the girl confessed that the story tale was untrue and that she had tied herself in an effort to obtain clothing without detection.

Clever detective work on the part of Acting Chief of Police Clayton Stokes resulted in the finding of dresses, clothing and some jewelry in the cold-air shaft of the Weaver home, a few hours after the reported robbery. Deputy Stokes took the girl into custody immediately after he had been called by Dr. and Mrs. Weaver, who, returning Tuesday noon, found the girl tied to a chair in a bedroom.

Confronted with the clothing found in the shaft, the girl still professed ignorance of what happened. Later, however according to police she confessed and pleaded guilty to simple larceny, before Judge John J. Schulte. She was sentenced to 90 days, but sentence was suspended and the girl placed on probation for three months. She had been working at the Weaver home a week when the incident occurred. She gave her address as 15073 Lahver road, Brightmore, Farmington Enterprise.

Shoes often mildew in warm damp weather, especially in a dark closet. They are not so likely to do so if kept in shoeboxes or stuffed with paper and stored in a well-ventilated, dry, light place. Mildew can be washed off with warm water and soap, but the leather must be wiped thoroughly dry afterward.

FOR THE PARENTS

Parents of Northville—Here is a direct appeal to you! Many of the residents along Dunlap street and Cady street have been making an effort during the past few days to grade and plant the spaces between the sidewalks and curbing. The ground has been leveled off and seeded. In a few weeks it will be exceedingly attractive—providing the kids of Northville can be kept off these newly seeded places. Many people are complaining that children are running across these newly seeded places. They are cutting corners and trampling down the seeds as well as making uneven ground. Children are thoughtless.

There is not a boy or girl in Northville who would do anything intentionally to mar the beauty of the place or in any way obstruct the efforts being made to make more attractive the village. Possibly a little warning from the parents, as well as the school teacher, would do a world of good. All you have got to do is to out in a while remind the children to follow the walks and not take the short cut we are all so liable to do.

But this doesn't apply alone to these two streets. There are other places in Northville where an effort is being made to make more attractive lawns, lawns and flower gardens, etc. Let's make a general effort to have Northville not only the cleanest but most attractive little town in all Michigan.

PLYMOUTH'S VOICE

Northville did not vote in favor of last year's plan. At the same time we have objection to the present one. Many considered that the village could not afford to do it just at this time. There is no question but what there was merit in some of the objections made, but it is very doubtful after having experienced one winter of streets full of mud that anyone would desire to go back to the condition that prevailed a year ago.

But this is a little aside from the subject. It will be noted that Plymouth's commission has just decided upon a very much more extensive paving program than was carried on by Northville last year. The commission picked out the streets that were to be paved and decided to rightly assess this improvement against the abutting property owners, as they are the ones benefited the greatest by it.

But the commission decided rather than pay out of the taxes each year the amount that the village would have to remit for paving street intersections, that it would bond for $40,000 to pay this part of the cost. The vote in favor of the project carried by a very good margin. The streets to be improved, combined, make about three miles.

Of course, there is always a difference of opinion as to which is the best way to do a thing of this kind. We are inclined to think that the Northville method of doing is better. There is some interest to be saved, and while the burden on the taxpayers might be a little greater at present, it will not be five or six years from now. There is this about the situation, it's another case of where Plymouth is following Northville—and that's something.

DO NOT BLAME IT ON THE YEAR

Every four years comes the bugaboo of a national election. Most people say that election years are bad years in business. This fallacy is much like many other things we take for granted. Election years are good years, and bad years, just as every fifth or every tenth year may be a good or a bad year. From the Magazine of Business, we find how the election years have been since 1888: 1888—Average year. Started below normal, but in spite of politics gained steadily and closed above normal. 1896—Below normal, possibly partly due to Bryan's "free silver" campaign, though the period of depression, of which this year formed a part, lasted over into the second year following. 1900—An average year. Considerably above normal in the early months; a little below at the year's close. 1904—Below normal. 1908—Started with carry-over from the depression of 1907, but improved later in the year in spite of its being a presidential year. 1912—Good year. Between 5 per cent and 10 per cent above normal. 1916—A real boom year, averaging 10 per cent to 15 per cent above normal. 1920—Considerably above normal until last three months of year, when post-war economic readjustment began. 1924—Below normal during middle of year, recovering at close. If you can get anything, either discouraging or cheerful from these cold statements of things as they have been, take it.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

STEVENS T. MASON

Michigan had its crime problems when it was first organized as a state. Stevens T. Mason who was the last governor of Michigan after it had been made a state, wanted a penal institution constructed the first year of the state's existence. His effort to create a state bank failed but he was able to form the nucleus of a public school system.

Born in Virginia in 1812 the son of General John T. Mason of Kentucky he was a man when only 19 years of age he was appointed secretary of the Michigan territory. George B. Porter was the governor of this territory. Upon the death of Porter in 1821 Stevens Mason became receiver of the territory and in 1826 he was elected governor under the new state constitution although Congress had not then admitted it to the union. After its admission he was again re-elected to his chief executive. Because of his youth he was generally known as the "young man of Michigan."

Mason's administration as governor was characterized by the war between Michigan and Ohio the differences between the two states raising over the southern boundary line of Michigan. The matter was finally compromised by congress giving Ohio the few hundred acres in dispute and appealing Michigan by giving it the entire section now known as the Upper Peninsula. Armed forces marched to the disputed section, but no real engagement was ever fought. During the time he was governor, contracts were let for the construction of the first railroad in the state and the survey for the Central railroad was completed as far as Kalamazoo. Work on the Saginaw and Chiron canals was started and a geological survey of the state made. He was 31 years old when he died.

The Tragedy of Self Discovery

A young man—a ruler—came to Jesus one day to ask an important question. He was eager—radiant—enthusiastic and ambitious and very wealthy. He went away sorrowful—his shoulders drooping—his face clouded—his steps dragging—and his spirit shaken completely. This young man found that his religion was a sham—make believe—that he had such a hitherto, of soul that he was dumfounded. His life, tragedy centered on his load of wealth. It was dangerous to him because he would not let his money go into channels of usefulness—he was selfish. Why put off discovering what we really are? Why kid ourselves that we have done this and so from our youth up? We are a success or failure today—this hour—now.

"FOURTH ESTATE"
HAS ITS DAY IN MOVIES—
LET 'ER GO, GALLEGHIER!

The "fourth estate" is having its day in the movies. For "Let 'er Go, Gallagher," the famous Richard Harding Davis classic of newspaper life has been filmed by Pathe-DeMille under the supervision of a group of experienced newspaper men.

Richard Harding Davis, who wrote the original story of "Galleghier," considered to be one of the "big little" stories of newspaperdom, was one of the country's most famous reporters and editors that ever sat at a newspaper desk.

Ernot Clayton, a prominent newspaper man, who has been affiliated with the leading dailies of the Pacific coast and now a scenarist of marked ability, adapted the screen story from the Davis original.

CUPID CHANGES HIS TACTICS—IN PICTURE "THE BLUE DANUBE"

Cupid has changed his tactics. Before the World War that revolutionized the aristocratic social system of Austria, it was practically impossible for a peasant girl to marry into a royal household. Now the Blind Boy Boy is free to cast his love darts at will. The great conflict that overruled traditions and uprooted established precedents has brought about the happiness of a maid of the Danube, portrayed by Letatrice Joy in her new DeMille studio production, "The Blue Danube," filmed for Pathe under the direction of Paul Sloane, and which will be the feature at the Penniman Allen theatre, Thursday evening, May 3rd.

Nils Astor, noted Swedish actor who won fame in "Topsy and Eva" and "Sorrow and Son," plays the leading role opposite Miss Joy. He is the son of a penniless baron in "The Blue Danube," whose father is desirous of obtaining a wealthy daughter-in-law.

Joseph Schildkraut, whose characterization of Judas in Cecil B. DeMille's "The King of Kings," proved one of the outstanding cinema portrayals of the past season and who played the leading role in "His Dog" and a featured part in "The Forbidden Woman," essays the role of a jealous hypochondriac—a part that abounds in strength and force of dramatic menace.

"Spring Owen" is cast as Helen's daughter of a rich brewer and rival for the sweetheart of the pea at the end of the Danube. May Robson is the peon's mother; Albert Gray and Frank Reicher appear in important roles.

THRILLING RAILROAD PICTURE BOOKED FOR LOCAL SHOWING

Sold to be one of the most thrilling railroad pictures ever screened, "The Night Flyer," a James Boyd production starring Johnny Robinson as leading woman, will be on view at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, May 5th. DE-HO-CO OPENS THEIR SEASON

Baseball fans of Northville will be accorded an opportunity to see a real diamond clash, when Detroit Municipal Club meets De-Ho-Co 1927 champions of the Inter-County League at De-Ho-Co Park, next Sunday, April 29th. This is De-Ho-Co's opening game for the 1928 season and besides base ball, the patrons will be treated to a band concert by the Detroit Recreation Department's Uniformed Boys' band of 75 pieces, and a flag-raising ceremony conducted by the ex-service-men's club of Plymouth. The De-Ho-Co 1927 championship pennant will be raised at this time.

Included among the leading stars in amateur and semi-pro baseball, to be seen at the opener, will be Harry S. German, who will start his forty-first year of pitching, with this game.

De-Ho-Co's line-up shows a few changes from their 1927 cast, chief among them being Demission from catching to first base, and Hunter and Hawley to the catching end. Jaska will still be seen at short, and "Sugar" Martin at third.

The Inter-County League season opening at De-Ho-Co park is scheduled for May 13th, when Howell comes. Rochester, Lake Orion, Howell, Holly, Pontiac, Mt. Clemens, West Point Park and De-Ho-Co comprise the 1928 Inter-County League, and local fans are assured of good fast baseball, when these teams appear at the De-Ho-Co grounds.

Cosmos belongs in every garden. The plants are self-seeding, but deteriorate, so fresh plantings should be made annually. Buy only the best varieties. Sow the seeds when all danger of frost is over or plant indoors in March for transplanting later.

Flower seeds should be planted at a depth of about four times the size of the seeds. It is best to plant fairly thick and thin to the desired distance as the grow. The extra seedlings can usually be tucked away in bare spots in the garden.

Use the hand gasoline throttle and foot accelerator alternately when on a closed up. This will permit a change of position which is always required.

PROF. WATERMAN OF U. OF M. MAKES ARCHEOLOGICAL TRI-UPH RECENTLY

Buried Opus Found After Ling Sought

An archeological needle-in-a-hay stack has been found. Emerging from a drafted crust of sand and the waste of centuries, Opus, fortress of ancient kingdoms, long since dead and forgotten, has, by the stroke of a pen, been brought to the glare of the sun. Announcement was made Sunday by Blake Moore, Godwin director of the Toledo Museum of Art, of a triumph which has been the result of a year's search for the site of the ancient city of Opus. The site, an archeological triumph, one scientists long have coveted, approximately 500 other relics from six periods have been found. One of the two tablets upon which rest the success of the expedition is inscribed in Punic characters with a date of 470 B.C. The other, the more precious, deals with the kings of Akshak. The two tablets, one taken from the wall and the other a side wall, have yet to be read completely.

Professor Waterman's personal secretary in a letter to the site of Opus, a really important because it was a strategic point in ancient Babylon and the focal point of innumerable wars and conquests, as mentioned by his name in the legend of the buried city. The target to hit a bull's-eye with a spear, a target on which to draw a bead, is the way Mr. Godwin describes the feat of locating Opus after centuries of obscurity.

During a mound-digging in Iraq plain, Professor Waterman found a temple site, a cemetery site, a portion of city wall, pavement foundations and several wells. The wells yielded a wealth of relics. In one he found a key thrown down by human beings who returned to claim it. From the water pitches, three of them perfect were found in one well, while a portion of the cemetery site yielded stone storage jars, one of them as large as a barrel. The fifth level of excavation, a temple area, yielded bronze coins, glass sculpture, terra cotta figures of human beings and animals, heavy stone implements, pottery lamps, ivory buttons and a glass goblet with stem and base.

Other trophies taken include bronze ink potter's handle inscribed in Greek, Greek-Roman pottery with figures, potter's marks, a bronze key, a large basalt stone with a rectangular hole and inscribed in cuneiform, a lead fragment, a Venus and Adonis figurine, a casing, mold, bronze key ring, bronze articles, a decorated glass bottle and part of a Doric column.

These relics will furnish students with authentic information upon the independent cultures of ancient peoples who occupied the site for untold ages. War, flood and pestilence caused fluctuations in the life of the city or caused it to be abandoned entirely. The site is on the left bank of the Tigris river, not far from the point of its nearest approach to the Tigris river, and lies across the Tigris from the village of Qasrban. Opus lived long down of Assyrian and Babylonian history to the days of ancient Rome.

The Opus expedition was financed partly by members of the Toledo chapter of the Archeological Society of America, including Sidney Spitzer, Thomas DeWitt, and Mrs. Thomas Goonbody. The Toledo museum and the University of Michigan are to share the riches and records jointly.—Washington Tribune

GERALDINE FERGUSON IS DISTRICT SPELLING CHAMPION

Geraldine Ferguson, who recently won the school spelling championship, was victor at the district spelling bee held Friday afternoon, April 20th. This gives her the opportunity to go to the Metropolitan bee, at the state fair grounds on May 4th, where 68 district champions will battle for Michigan's championship.

Geraldine is a student in the eighth grade, and this will be her last chance for spelling honors, as the contest only includes the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. She was runner-up for the school championship last year. This year she easily took her grade, school and district championships, and now she is ready for the Metropolitan bee.

The winner of the Metropolitan bee will represent Michigan at the National spelling bee held in Washington in June. All expenses to Washington will be paid by the Detroit News, and over $2,500 in prizes go to winners of the national bee.

SENIORS IN CHARGE OF ASSEMBLY PROGRAM FRIDAY

The Senior class will have charge of the assembly program, Friday afternoon April 27th and will present, "Who's the Boss," a one-act play, directed by Miss Hawes.

During this year, nearly each class and club have had charge of assembly. There are still several others who will have charge of it before school is out in June. The programs have varied from plays and speakers to musical programs, and have all been greatly enjoyed.

TO THE YOUTH OF N. H.

Have you ever stopped to think what impression your school life will have in later years? Will you be regarded as one who was a "rocker" and always did your best? Time goes so fast and every minute should count, for every minute brings us nearer to the end of our school days and we want to make those school days worthwhile. When we leave school we all want to be remembered as one of the best and not a disgrace to American youth. Everyone of us has an equal chance, and it for each one of us to decide whether our name will be referred to with esteem or if it will be scoffed at and flung into the dirt. If it wasn't for the past there wouldn't be any present or any future, and these younger years of our life will have a greater impression on us than any other part of our life. If we learn to do things honorably, honestly and well, if we make everyone proud of every little thing that we do, then we can be assured of a happier and more progressive life when we leave our school and each go our own way, and take our own method of attaining success, for if you

Gave to the world the best that you have,
Then the best will come back to you.

"FOURTEEN" GIVEN FOR ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

To give "burlesk," that is, a number, was the object of the most successful hostess of the year, a dinner table set for fourteen was by many strange mishaps fated to become that object of superstition—fourteen. As the play was very successful at assembly it was decided to present it on Wednesday evening also, as an extra feature of the carnival.

HOW TO SECURE PHEASANT EGGS FROM THE STATE

Record Receives Data from Lansing Department on Procedure

The Northville Record has received from the state conservation department, the following information relative to securing free pheasant eggs for setting purposes. The department is anxious to have those interested in pheasant raising secure good results from their efforts. So that you may know just how to proceed in securing eggs for hatching, and then to take care of the young pheasants after they are hatched, the following data from the department is published:

Ringneck pheasants at the State Game farm have begun to lay again.

This year the game farm will produce some 40,000 eggs. Of these about 10,000 will be used on the farm to produce birds for this fall's release and for next year's breeding stock. The balance, about 30,000 eggs, will be available for free distribution.

Applications for many thousands of eggs are already on file with the game division of the Department of Conservation, at Lansing and new applications are coming in with every mail.

At its session of April 6th, the Conservation commission authorized a new method of pheasant distribution, to go into effect at once.

In the past, instructions for hatching the eggs and for rearing the chicks, as sent out with the eggs, were very brief and many of the people who asked for and received eggs did not realize that pheasants require rather different handling than common chickens. As a consequence, the percentage of pheasants raised from the game farm eggs and released to suitable cover was too low to be satisfactory, especially since it costs about 25 cents apiece to get the eggs and pack them for shipment.

Under the new system for distributing the eggs, everyone who asks for eggs will receive a printed circular which tells in detail what sort of nest, coop, hen and cage is needed; what chick-feed to use and what common difficulties and enemies to look out for. With these instructions will be sent a letter explaining the new plan, and a new form of application.

The new application requires that individuals who receive free eggs shall agree to follow the department's recommendations as to hatching, rearing and release of the birds, and to report to the department when requested, as to difficulties encountered, chicks hatched, chicks reared, birds released and otherwise co-operate in getting the best possible returns from the free eggs.

The most important change under the new plan is the department's effort to supply "service" in connection with private pheasant-rearing operations. The main idea is to help hundreds of thousands of farmers, sportsmen and other interested people, so that they can, and will, raise and release more and more pheasants each year, and with a high percentage of success. Pheasant culture is not really difficult, but it is rather "different," and there are various tricks to it which are learned only through experience, and very few persons in Michigan have had such experience.

In order to make such pheasant-culture "service" possible, the Department of Conservation will give preference in the allotment of eggs to closely neighboring groups of applicants, who are located in high class pheasant territory. Then, several times during the season, such groups will be visited by experienced men from the State Game farm.

Most of the difficulties, it is thought, will have to do with the handling and feeding of the young pheasant chicks, and with the control of their natural enemies—rats, cats, weasels, crows, owls and so on. Some of these enemies will need year-round attention, and an important part of the department's "service" arrangements will have to do with permanent "vermin" control, without which it will be difficult, or impossible, to increase and maintain the pheasant supply to anything like the "carrying capacity" of the state's pheasant territory.

If the new plan proves generally satisfactory, the department will do doubt expand both egg production and "service" arrangements, so as to meet whatever demand may develop.

If the new plan should not prove generally satisfactory, and effective in increasing the percentage of grown birds reared and released as a result of free egg distribution, the commission may find it necessary to reduce the breeding stock kept at the State Game farm for egg production or to discontinue free egg distribution entirely. In that case, the eggs would probably be sold at cost as in the case of pine seedlings grown in the state forest-tree nurseries.

The new instructions and application forms are now being mailed from Lansing to everyone who has asked for eggs, and the first shipment of eggs are scheduled to leave the State Game farm about May 1st.

Plants in flats and hotbeds, often become spindly and weak before the time is right for transplanting into the open. Stronger plants may be produced by transplanting one first into pots and later into the garden.

Flowers, shrubs, and many herbaceous perennials will be benefited by a top dressing of fertilizer applied now and watered in.

FARMINGTON IS FORCED TO MAKE UP UNPAID TAXES

Nearby Village Faced With Necessity of Making up Deficit

That the city of Farmington must make good to the state for unpaid taxes for 1925, amounting to approximately $1,500, was revealed Monday evening at the meeting of the city commission, when the matter of assessment descriptions was brought up. Although no definite data was available it is believed that the city cannot avoid payment, the difficulty being due to faulty descriptions of land assessed. It is said that the owners of the land may not be required to pay the taxes inasmuch as the time elapsed since the assessment may protect them, unless the properties have been re-assessed since 1925.

The state, it was pointed out, formerly was lenient in accepting descriptions of property on the tax rolls, but recently has become very strict in this regard and demands a full and accurate description. George Guider, former city treasurer, when asked about the descriptions, said he believed that "three-quarters" of the city tax rolls contain descriptions which were wrong or inadequate. It was pointed out that the assessor can do little to correct the situation.

Mayor Butterfield, who two years ago proposed employing an engineer to work out a city plan, again offered the suggestion Monday evening, saying that he believed it would save the city from a re-occurrence of the trouble over descriptions of property in assessing, and that it would be in the interest of economy. No action was taken on the suggestion—Farmington Enterprise

SUPERVISOR TO OPPOSE EFFORT TO RAISE TAXES

Official Advises Rotarians of His Position on Question

At Monday's meeting of the Rotary club, Supervisor Ely, who was a guest at the meeting of Ernest Miller, assured Rotarians that he would do everything within his power to keep the proposed valuation boost (threatened for Northville township from being made.

"While the board of supervisors has requested that the valuation of this township be raised, I have advised them that so much property has been taken off the rolls in this township for public purposes that we cannot afford an increase.

I have found the assessment books turned over to me by Mr. Yerkes in such shape that very few changes will have to be made. Possibly some are too low and possibly some are a little high. These it is my purpose to try and adjust. His roll was a very good one, but the township right now cannot afford a raise, and I will do all that I can to prevent it," he stated.

Supervisor Ely stated a week ago that he had been advised that a request had been made for a general raise in this section, and his statement to the Rotarians was acceptable news to the taxpayers present. He has started work on his assessments for the present year, and it will probably be several weeks before the work will be completed.

TOWN PROGRESS TALKS

Success is won, the great men tell us, by concentrating on the job at hand. Any man who knows that the margin in our cartoon has a very small chance of putting the ball into the cup while his gaze wanders over the landscape ("Keep your eye on the ball") is going to fail in business as in golf. If your business does not yield satisfactory returns, perhaps it can be made to do so. Intim yourself on all the new wrinkles in your line and use them. Advertise, install new equipment, give your customers better service, see how much you can do for the public. Do this, and it's likely your business will develop to such an extent that you will envy nobody, and have no desire to move to another city.

The huge economic losses caused yearly by woods fires should make everybody realize the importance of fire prevention. The South is responsible for the burning yearly of about 20,000,000 acres of forest and cut-over land, or about four-fifths of the total forest area burned in the United States. This represents a money loss running into many millions of dollars.

HOW NORTHVILLE CAN BE MADE INTO BEAUTIFUL PLACE

Rotary Speaker Declares Paint and Rake Can Do Whole Lot

Northville is an attractively located city, but it is a town that should pay a great deal of attention to its general appearance. Well painted buildings, clean back yards and grass growing where rubbish piles prevail will do a whole lot towards making the community one of the best in all Michigan," stated George A. Beach in a talk to members of the Rotary club at its meeting Monday.

"You are so situated that thousands of people pass through here every week of the year. When these people come by it is the first impression that counts. By having neatly painted structures, attractive looking places, neat back yards and well kept streets, naturally one gains the idea that it is a prosperous and progressive place."

"Back yards that are not taken care of and that are used for dump heaps, you may rest assured are not signs of thrift. It doesn't cost much to have a well kept town. If I were living here and my interests were here, you may rest assured that I would try and do something towards the organization of a woman's committee to see to it that a clean-up squad worked the entire year. There are some parts of Northville that are very attractive and then again there are some that are not so attractive. You can make the town look just like you want it to."

"If people can't afford to buy paint to paint up their old places, buy it for them. If they can't afford to have a bad looking porch fixed up, have it done. If they need some grass seed, get it for them. It's all cheap and it is surprising the wonders it works." Mr. Beach has been spending considerable time in this vicinity in connection with the establishment of a new golf course west of town on the Phoenix Road. He is associated with Frank Hills who had charge of the program at the club meeting Monday.

FIVE POINTS TO BE WELL LIGHTED IN NEAR FUTURE

Detroit Decides to Put in Over 300 Lights this Spring.

Installation of street lights in the Five Points vicinity, that will provide virtually every intersection of that community with street illumination, is to be included in the program being mapped out for the summer by the Department of Public Lighting, according to information from the office of Frank R. Mistersky, general superintendent.

A total of 21 intersections will be provided for, lights to be installed in the northern triangle between Grand River avenue, Seven Mile road and the River Rouge. The new additions will make that district one of the better illuminated areas of the outer residential sections.

No definite date for beginning the placing of the new lights could yet be set by the department, although it was indicated that activities would start within a few weeks. The new improvement is to be completed by summer, officials state.

A program that includes the putting in of 300 new lights is being mapped out for the coming months by the department. Installation is to be pushed rapidly forward with the workmen beginning activities within a reasonable time in the territory.

For some time the North Five Points Improvement association and other groups have been drawing attention to conditions at the city limits having filed petitions for street lights—Redford Record.

Make sure that all trees which are planted are kept straight. It may be necessary to stake them or use guy wires. Such wires should be attached to the trees by screw eyes or circling the tree with a piece of rubber hose. Wire or rope should never be drawn tight around the bark as this cuts off the flow of sap and kills the tree.

Some simple rules for taking care of the dairy cow at calving time are given in Leaflet No. 10-L, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is called "Care of the Dairy Cow at Calving Time." A copy may be procured by writing to the department giving name and number of the leaflet.

W. H. CARPENTER, FORMER RESIDENT TAKEN BY DEATH

Homesteaded Claim Out in Washington After Leaving Here

Many of the older residents of Northville who knew W. H. Carpenter well, will regret to learn of his death at the home of his son in California, Washington. When he left Northville he took his family to that state to reside. A letter from his youngest daughter Mrs. Nellie Graham who resides at 638 Oxford street, Bremerton, Washington, to the Record, states that Mrs. Carpenter is making her home with her. A newspaper clipping enclosed, gives the following account of Mr. Carpenter's life:

W. H. Carpenter, one of Toledo's best known citizens, passed away at the home of his son A. H. Carpenter, 1115 B street, Centerville, Wednesday, Funeral services will be held from the Newell Chapel, Centerville, at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge of which he was a member. Interment at Centerville.

W. H. Carpenter came to Washington from Northville, Michigan, and homesteaded a claim on Upper Salmon Creek, where he resided until he had proved up on the claim. In 1901 he came to Toledo where he was for years engaged in barbering. In 1920 he sold his barber shop and not long afterward suffered from a stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered.

Some months ago when his wife was in Bremerton to be operated upon by Dr. Carpenter's son to the home of his son in Centerville to reside during the absence of Mrs. Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter was aged 59 years. He was beloved by his friends by the scores and was loved by all for his kindly genial nature. He was a great angler and frequently would close his barber shop to indulge in his favorite sport.

NORTHVILLE BALL CLUB DEFEATS ANN ARBOR FOR SECOND WIN THIS SEASON

The base ball team sponsored by local business men brought home their second victory Sunday from Ann Arbor, when they defeated the Ann Arbor Dairy team by a score of seven to nothing. The boys are fast rounding into shape and all early indications are that opponents will have a real fight on their hands if they take the locals into camp this year.

The third game of the season will be played here at the athletic field next Sunday afternoon. A team from Sable will invade the Northville camp and will give the cubs a last game. Fans who are interested in the game will see two fast teams in action, and if the Northville team keeps up the pace it has been traveling so far they are due for their third straight win.

The use of cod liver oil in the feeding of livestock has increased its demand to such a degree that imports last year exceeded 25,000,000 gallons valued at over $2,000,000.

REDFORD FOLKS MAKE BIRDS SING, CURE BALD HEADS

Bird Raisers Tell Many of Ailments and How to Care for Them

The curing of bald heads and restoring of singing voices among canaries are two of the many problems that occupy the attention of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rhodes of Winston Avenue, Redford, both of whom are well known bird and gold fish lovers of the city and state.

As impossible as the growing of feathers on a bare head may seem, the Redford bird specialists have been known to even do a complete new coat on canaries that sulked in a corner for weeks upon their entire bodies. Many a concert singer, too, of the canary world has at one time been set to music-making through the efforts of the local bird brooders.

Goldfish are described by them as being the most common ailment among the canaries and like human beings, cancer is named as the best over-coming remedy in the raising of the young. Why they are not an unknown quantity in raising may birds that have been apparently killed for hours because of sick birds have been restored to health by Mrs. Rhodes, who has kept even a trained nurse in Detroit. She has a record of having only two canaries die in a period of two years, although at one time there were 30 on her list.

The canary family is an interesting group. Like the model American family described by Roosevelt, children average four. Once a mother lays eight eggs and, when robbed of her nest, at least one record, by totaling 13. Once three canaries were hatched from two eggs, Rhodes also recalls. The latter bird is a creature of divided loves having as many as three mates.

but equally devoted to each. Hatched from their shells the canary family is an amiable sort, the young birds being sent off to singing school at an early age. The ability to sing is as natural in instinct as eating and shows itself before they are out of the nest, sometimes. If they are to be the best of entertainers, however, they must be taught by the master canary. Placed in a cage with their instructor, the young ones soon learn to sing as young birds should.

As common as the roller is known for its beautiful song, Rhodes says the Harz Mountain breed that he has literally raised by the thousand, has been known to total 21 notes.

Canaries are described by him as being smart. Gold fish, too, that most expressions of all pets are wiser than is commonly thought, he said.

Among other popular fallacies that are unbelieved by him is the old custom of covering a bird cage at night. He describes this as the most injurious of bird-rearing habits, as it shuts all cold drafts into the cage. In the attic of his home on Winston Avenue where Rhodes has his aviary, often on winter mornings canaries are singing loudly when it is cold enough to have frozen the water in their drinking pans during the night. Whether sick or well, canaries should be treated as human beings; it is through the following of this idea, that Rhodes says success lies in canary raising—Redford Record.

Specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture have found that when a farmer keeps accounts he has the best guide for improvement of his business. Farm accounts show which of his activities have proved most profitable and which have been conducted with little profit or loss. The farmer is then able either to concentrate on the profitable ventures or to substitute other activities which may bring good profits for those that have not been profitable.

Young dairy heifers should at all times have plenty of roughage which is best furnished in the spring and summer, by green pasture. In addition, roughage grain should be fed so that the heifer develops steadily and gains from 1 to 1 1/2 pounds a day. If skim milk is plentiful and cheap it may be fed advantageously to the dairy heifer until she is 8 or 10 months old.

Graves should be planted in rows eight feet apart and eight feet between plants.
