NINE STREETS IN PLYMOUTH WILL BE PAVED THIS YEAR

Contracts Let and Work Will be Started in Few Days

Because of the fact that Northville village commission proposes to pave three short streets and widen one or two other streets during the present year, there is more or less interest here in the extensive paving program that is being carried on in Plymouth.

The following is taken from the last issue of the "Plymouth Mail" which shows how much greater their paving programs for the present year than the one planned in Northville. In fact, Plymouth is going to do almost twice as much paving in the present year as Northville did last year, and what it proposes to do this year:

"At an adjourned regular meeting of the village commission Monday evening bids were opened for the paving of nine of the village streets. Proposals were presented by nine different contractors and covered construction of 8-inch concrete and 2½-inch asphalt upon 6-inch concrete base. Proposals received were as follows, covering the entire paving program of nine streets:

8-inch Sheer Concrete, Asphalt	Benton & Pope $120,911.20
Laclede, Con Co. 122,599.30	$148,435.80
Mich. Asphalt Co. 125,758.10	132,047.70
G. R. Cook's Co. 127,165.70
A. J. Rehmus 128,967.95
W. E. Lehmann 130,029.05	165,357.85
Lewis & Frisinger 131,181.40
J. Forstall & Son 131,902.90	164,188.80
R. J. Povelson 133,952.20

"After opening the bids, Monday evening they were referred to the consulting engineer for tabulation, and the commission adjourned until Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the receiving of the engineer's report of the result of the tabulation and the award of contracts upon the basis of the lowest bid.

After consideration of the proposals received the commission decided to award contracts for the paving of Blunk avenue, Ann Avenue, Harvey street and Adams street with 8-inch cement concrete to Benton & Pope of Mr. Cleheens, Kielburg upon the basis of their low of $72,236.70 for this type of paving upon the above streets. The commission also decided to award contracts for the paving of Ann Arbor street, Penobscot Avenue east, Church street, William street and Arthur Avenue with 2½ inch sheet asphalt upon 8-inch cement concrete base to the Michigan Asphalt Paving company of Royal Oak, Michigan, upon the basis of their low bid of $53,477.90 for this type of construction upon the streets named.

The proposals received for the paving work are much lower than have prevailed in some years due to the sharp competition among contractors in this field of construction, which condition is, of course, to the advantage of the village. It is expected that active construction upon the above streets will begin soon after the first of the month.

INVITES OFFICIALS TO NEXT MEETING

Scott Lovewell, new president of the Exchange Club, has extended a special invitation to Mayor Charles Fultons and members of the village commission to be present at the meeting of the Exchange Club next Wednesday, to discuss with the Exchanges what the city officials have in mind for the benefit of Northville.

"We want to assure the city officials that we will stand back of them in anything they have in mind which will be for the benefit of the town, whether paving or something else. We are sure that much good can come from a discussion of this matter, and it is for that reason that I have sent an invitation to all the city officials to be present at our next session," stated President Lovewell.

There is no question but what the meeting will be a most interesting one and that good will come from the discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Decker of Muskegon had the misfortune to run head on into a Michigan Motor freight truck parked in the pavement about a mile west of Novi late Monday night. Mr. Decker is in the furniture business in Muskegon and was on his way to Detroit with a load of furniture when the accident happened. He escaped without injury, but Mrs. Decker was seriously cut and bruised about the face and body. The truck and furniture were both demolished.

NEW PRESIDENT ASSUMES DUTIES

Dr. Howard Burkhardt recently elected president of the Northville Rotary club Monday noon assumed his new duties as executive of the organization. He expressed his appreciation to the members for having honored him, and he stated that he would reciprocate by giving the club just as good service as possible.

A change in the officers of the organization took place. Ray VanValkenburgh resigning as a director to become secretary. E. R. Eaton was elected to his place on the board.

Don Yeates Sr., called the attention of the club to the necessity of giving Fairbrook Springs park a little attention at the present time. He stated that excellent progress was being made by the recently planted shrubs and plants, but some cultivation was necessary and hand work being needed by the workers. The committee headed by Father Joseph Schulz spent a couple of hours in beneficial work Tuesday evening at the springs.

Father Schulz, acting in his new capacity as sergeant at arms stated that he had attended meetings of clubs in other cities and he felt sure that from his observations of the way they conduct this feature of the meetings the feature could be made a most happy one for the club. It certainly proved that way Monday.

SEVEN-MILE ROAD TO BE LIGHTED BY FIRST OF AUGUST

Township Officials Have Signed Contract—Men to Start Work

By the first of August Northville will have a lighted highway all the way to Detroit. The township officials have just signed the contract with the Detroit Edison company officials for the lighting of the Seven mile road from the village limits of Northville to Livonia township, a distance of about two miles.

All the distance from Livonia township to Detroit is now lighted and with the completion of the lighting system through Northville township it will give the residents of this locality a well-lighted street way into the city. The matter was voted upon by the residents of Northville township last spring and carried with a good majority.

Employees of the Detroit Edison company states Manager Edward Millis, will doubtless start work in the next few days on the project and it is anticipated that the new lighting system will be ready to turn on by the end of the present month.

With the new boulevard lighting system in Northville and the complete lighting of the Seven mile road, this will now be one of the best lighted sections surrounding Detroit.

MOUNTAIN TOP LANDING PLACE

William Naylor of the Stinson factory, one of the entries in the international balloon race that started last Saturday from the Ford airport landed his balloon on top of a West Virginia mountain without mishap. His landing was within 50 or 60 miles of the successful contestant, although because of conflicting data provided, it will be sometime before the judges will be able to announce the winners of the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyke and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lawrence and their children spent the Fourth over in the Irish Hills.

BAND CONCERTS EVERY SATURDAY DURING SUMMER

School Band to Play Down Town Beginning This Week

Beginning tomorrow, Saturday evening, there will be a series of band concerts given during the present summer by the Northville Community School band, according to an announcement made by Edward C Langfield, sponsor of the organization and manager of its business affairs.

"We plan to have the band play in various parts of the business section. The first one Saturday evening will be across the street from the Penniman Allen theatre on East Main street. The following Saturday night will be just west of Center street on Main street, and the third Saturday night the concert will take place on North Center street. We plan to alternate in this way during the summer.

"His recent successful trials of important criminal cases, his fearlessness and keen ability as an attorney, point out those backing his candidacy, all go to make him the logical candidate for the post he seeks.

Mr. Chenot's statement pertaining to his candidacy follows:

"In aspiring to the office of prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, I am sensitive to the fact that if elected I will be the servant of all the people of this country, that the office is not a personal prerogative, it is a public trust.

"The stewardship of that high office requires this resolve to keep all office persons and rights against violators of the law and to prosecute without fear of favor, even if it costs me my life.

"Many who have heard the Northville band play say it outranks many of the older organizations. They play, as well as not better, and their programs are more varied than one generally hears at most concerts.

"The youngsters were out on the Fourth of July and gave a brief concert in the park during the afternoon. Because of the fact that no announcement had been previously made of the concert, there were not as many present as would have been if it had been known that a concert was to have taken place.

Brake Testing To Start Monday To Continue 3 Days

Through arrangements made by Chief William Gofford with the state police and the Northville and Detroit automobile clubs, there will be a free test of automobile brakes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Testing will start at 10:00 o'clock Tuesday morning and continue until 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon of each day.

The Ford service garage will furnish a mechanic on Monday to assist in the test, as will Steve Armstrong on Tuesday and Al Zimmer on Wednesday. Testing will take place on Dunlap street between Center and Wing street, going east on Dunlap street. The line will form on Wing street and follow east through the test strip.

STINSON PLANES SCORING PERFECT

The three Stinson planes entered in the Ford endurance race have reached Tulsa, Oklahoma, with perfect scores to date. They stand in third, fifth and seventh places at present, but this is due to the fact that two other entries drew earlier starting places than did the Stinson planes. By the time the planes are half way over the circuit, especially if they hit a little bad weather, all three of them will jump to three places—and there is no doubt about that, judging from past performances of these crafts.

MAN WHO LAID D. U. R. LINE TAKES IT UP

It is rather a remarkable coincident—the fact that William White, who built the tracks of the old street car line into Northville back in 1899 is the same contractor who is now removing the tracks.

"Little did I dream when the railroad was built into town that conditions would ever change so rapidly that the time would come when it would be necessary to take up the tracks. We thought then that they were here forever," states Mr. White.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, 245 Cadet Street, to John F. Powers of Pontiac, the wedding taking place at the Methodist parsonage. They were accompanied by Ellen Hiatt and Leo Gibbs. Rev. William Richards officiated the ring ceremony being used. The bride has a wide circle of friends who wish her happiness. They will make their home in Pontiac, where the groom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Casterline, Esther and Clyde Casperine, Elsie Brassow and Harold Miller spent the week-end at Camp lake, near Sparta.

GANGSTERS' ENEMY OUT FOR PROSECUTORSHIP

James E. Chenot, who Convicts the Crooks, to Seek Nomination

James E. Chenot, chief assistant prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, who during his term of office has made a most enviable record as an efficient public official, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney. Mr. Chenot's candidacy is meeting with general approval, and other contestants for the place will find him an exceedingly difficult candidate to contend with.

"His recent successful trials of important criminal cases, his fearlessness and keen ability as an attorney, point out those backing his candidacy, all go to make him the logical candidate for the post he seeks.

Mr. Chenot's statement pertaining to his candidacy follows:

ANNUAL BANQUET OF ALUMNI ASSN BEST EVER HELD

Program of Especial Interest to Graduates of School

The annual banquet of the Northville High School Alumni was held Friday evening June 29, 1928. That it was imminently successful and certainly beautiful may be ascribed to two things: First, the committees who demonstrated completely that they knew how, and second, because it was the thirteenth

Through the enforced absence of both its president, Vance McKahn Masters, and vice president Irene Kahrl, the general program was developed after considerable lively work by the entertainment committee. Miss Jean Cunningham, Mrs. Ruth Johnson and Mrs. Grace Dusenbury, who developed on short notice one of the best ever

The decoration, under the charge of Mrs. Marjorie Koehnen, were done in white and orange, being the class colors of '23 and were made to harmonize beautifully with the baby decorations.

The ladies of the Presbyter church had full charge of the banquet proper, and the exhibits beautiful and colorful tables have never been surpassed in Northville. Utterly, we were told that Mrs. Mae Henry and Mrs. Margaret Yerkes were responsible for the general arrangement.

The banquet committee, Mrs. Eunice Clark and Mrs. Clyde Shoultz, we suspect also had something to do with it, although their modesty keeps them a little in the background.

The second long immediately preceding the banquet pump-handling everyone and reuniting the ex-students of other days. Each year finds some new faces who have never been before, as well as a scattering of ones who will never be seen again. This alone should be a reminder for all members to come and enjoy while opportunity to do so.

After invocation by Rev. J. W. Peete the program was opened by the introduction of the oldest living graduate, Mrs. Franklin Johnson, class of '23, who delivered the address of welcome and particularly referred in a most pleasant manner to the class of '28. She then introduced the toasting Mr. Nelle Heath, class of '23, now of Greenville, Michigan. The charming personality of this estimable and talented lad proved to be a decided asset to the program of the event.

After months of negotiations between Edward C Langfield, secretary of the school board and owners of the property lying to the west of the school on Main street, a settlement has been reached whereby the school board will within the next two or three weeks be able to submit to the voters of the school district the question of purchasing this much needed land for school purposes.

The school board is going to be able to present to the district a price for the land much cheaper than has ever before been offered. In fact the three pieces of property lying to the west of the school and running from Main street way through to Cady street, which are badly needed by the school, can be secured for considerably less than $25,000.

The original price offered was something like $40,000, but when it became known that the school officials would not stand for any such a price, a much more reasonable offer was made. In fact, the price has been slashed several times, and it has reached a point now where the board feels that it can go to the voters with a proposition that will receive during the past two years, as one of the outstanding speakers the school has produced.

The music by Wayne VanDyne and Ida Rose Caveli called for encords, both beautifully rendered in their most pleasing and happy manner.

The subject of Arthur S. Nichols of Detroit, class of '23, was "Why." Everyone was on edge to know how he would get anything out of such a strange subject, but they didn't have to wait long. He went to it like a master, and his audience was not kept waiting to learn why he was there and why "Why" was his subject. He did himself proud and we were all proud of him.

The outside speaker of the evening was Mrs. Frederick Ray of Highland Park. It is to be regretted that her address could not be presented here in full. Speakers are rare indeed who can enter so completely into their subject and get so much out of it. It was an unusual treat to be able to listen to Mrs. Ray tell of an adult's interest in high school. She thoroughly convinced her audience of her sincerity and earnestness in the superior work of education and particularly that branch pertaining to the high

MAKES HIT IN TWO NEARBY CONCERTS

Milford and Keego Harbor are Greatly Pleased by Playing

The Northville School Community band has given in the past few weeks two concerts outside of the city, and in both cases they have won the admiration of the communities in which they have played. The first one was at Milford and the other at Keego Harbor.

The Milford Times has the following write-up of the concert given there:

Northville School Band Pleases—The Northville school band gave the fortnightly outdoor concert Wednesday evening, and their program was both varied and well rendered. The band is composed of some 35 instruments and the players were apparently drafted from all grades, nearly down to the primary. It was very interesting to watch them, especially the younger members who look to be scarcely ten years old. Little Miss Altman, just ten years old and looking even younger, plays one of the drums. She has only a few months practice, but has had the advantage of being instructed by her father, who has played in Sousas band and other bands of musical fame.

The following is from the Keego-Cass Tribune:

From young to even Keego Harbor children as well as adults, seem unanimous in their opinion that the Northville High School band and concert attendees enjoyed themselves last night. A & T said:

"Last night the streets were filled with people

and our community enjoyed

it very much."

On the other hand, Mrs. Langfield and her son, E. C. Langfield, members of the school board and residents of Northville, recently spent several days in Denver, Colorado where he took a keen interest in the school bands of that city, of which there are eight. Upon his return to Northville, he set up the walls of a school band with the whom could aid the city, however. After pointing out the money employed in Denver, the council made an appropriation of $2,000 to buy instrument and equipment for a school band.

The funds of Edward H. Keene, teacher of band girls in the City Technical High School Detroit were secured and

After considerable effort was put forth in industry and Miss Instruction, the band bids fair to fulfill the hopes of

After a year of patient effort in the part of both the tractor and pupils, the band now numbers 34 pieces, and all members of the band are ardent boosters and supporters for the band in Northville.

The band was warmly applauded

after each number, and youngsters were plentiful in the front ranks, many wishing that they could be given the same opportunity as the Northville school pupils.

Mr. Langfield still retains all his interest in the activities of the band, and residents of Northville refer to him affectionately as the father of the band.

"Why not one in Keego?" With the completion of the new school building,

what could be better to centralize community interest and feeling than a school band? It would give excellent training to a large number of children that they would not otherwise get. In turn, the community would be benefited by having a band capable of giving concerts one night a week, which would be of untold advantage to business places as well as furnishing amusement and entertainment for the larger part of the local population.

Several business men already have stated that they would put up sums of money to help roster such an organization.

Some effort is being made by members of the fire department to organize a band, and if the school board looks favorably upon a school band, there should be some results achieved.

ORIENTAL POPPY
BEAUTIFUL PLANT
FOR ANY GARDEN

Easy to Make Your Home More Attractive by Use of Flowers.

The largest flowered and most brilliantly colored hardy perennial is the Oriental poppy. Its normal color is a flaming orange scarlet, but it has been developed into a wide range of shades from pure white to crimson and a mulberry red, purple in the variety Mahony. These poppies can be raised from seed in great quantity from a single packet, but some care is necessary to do so.

They resent transplanting and there is usually a big loss when this is attempted. Sow the seed thinly, mixing it with two or three times its bulk of fine sand at the start to assist in the process. As soon as the seedlings have made one true leaf it is time to start transplanting. This must be done before the taproots make sufficient depth to make it difficult to move the plants without breaking them. Otherwise they must be left to mature and become dormant. This poppy dies down and disappears in late June or July.

This is the time to move it, digging steep and getting as much of the long roots as possible. Place it in its permanent quarters and water it thoroughly. The transplant fails easily because of rot.

The secret of the poppies to bloom is to plant them in a sunny location, soil rich in lime, and the ground should be kept clean.

Water the plants as often as possible, especially during dry weather. If the soil is too dry, the flowers will drop off.

These flowers are the easiest to grow.

WITH THE EDITORS IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

Spent a couple of days last week up at Lake Van Etten, one of the beauty spots of Michigan attending a summer session of the Michigan Press Association. Considerably over a hundred of the publishers were present with their families. Michigan has the reputation of having some of the best newspapers in the country. In fact, the general average in this state is above that of other states. A little time spent among the publishers of Michigan will provide the reason for the excellence of Michigan newspapers.

Publisher William Berkley of Cassopolis is the president of the Michigan Press Association for the present year. Mr. Berkley has for over 40 years published the Cassopolis Vigilant, one of the best publications in that part of Michigan. He has long been active in affairs of Michigan newspaper circles and is highly regarded by fellow editors.

Talked with a young fellow running a gas station in Oscoda. He stated that the tourist trade was the salvation of that part of Michigan. The business so far this year has been the slackest since the construction of good roads to that part of the country. It was said, primarily due to the wet, cold weather that has prevailed right up to the present time.

Oscoda was at one time one of the most important centers in that part of Michigan. It had a population of many thousands. Right across the river was located the old city of Au Sable. This place 40 years ago had a population of nearly 15,000. It would be difficult to count 150 people there at present. Following the decline of the lumber business and a fire that wiped the town out, there has never been any reason why the place should be re-built. A few families live there securing their income from fishing in Lake Huron.

Editor and Mrs. Babcock were among the late arrivals. They publish the Redford Record, one of the best community papers in the Detroit metropolitan section. Previous to coming down to this part of the state, he was publisher of the paper at Harbor Beach over on the east side of the Thumb district.

Speaking of the Thumb district, come home that way. The entire Thumb district is one vast farm comprised of some of Michigan's best-laid Cropland, especially well and if weather conditions hold good during the remainder of the year, and prices are anywhere near what they should be this fall the farmers in that part of the state ought to regain some of the financial losses they have experienced in some of the past years.

Business must be picking up in that section. If many towns new business blocks were being erected and old ones improved. One cannot help but be impressed with the attractive appearance of most of the farm homes. All have well kept spacious grounds. If you want to take a pleasant drive some day, cut in across from Flint, then hit over on M-29 and follow it from Unionville, down through Bad Axe to Harbor Beach, and along Lake Huron home. It is one of the scenic places of Michigan. For miles and miles you drive right along the shores of Lake Huron—and you will never be out of sight of the water.

Drove through the town of Sebewaing. That is the place that will be the future home of William Edwards, who for many years past has been one of Northville's best known citizens, especially in Masonic circles. Mr. Edwards is going to move into one of the most attractive little business centers in eastern Michigan. Was in Sebewaing early in the afternoon. The streets were filled with automobiles. The place seemed alive with business—and Sebewaing is a very attractive community. The place happens to be the home of Senator Gifford Gettel, who has done much in the Michigan state legislature to advance the interests of the Thumb district. In fact, the highways are better in the Thumb than are the heavily traveled highways in the northern part of the state. While Northville is sorry to lose Mr. Edwards, everyone is glad to know that he is moving into such a splendid place. He will manage the business of the Detroit Creamery company in that section.

You would expect there would be a lot of politics talked at a meeting of editors. Well, it was strictly tabooed. Fred Kester, publisher of the Ionia County News, a paper that has won so many prizes for being the best, there is that officials of the national association try to keep him from entering, was the first to arrive and the last to leave, and no one heard him say anything about the governorship or most successful newspaper publishers postoffice of that place. It would be in Michigan. He has done much to help develop Caro and the section of Jim was appointed postmaster.

Just before we left for Oscoda, a promising young banker of Northville asked the editor to make some inquiry about a land development company that he had purchased some stock in back in his younger and more inexperienced days. We did. The beautiful resort property we found to be located in a big marsh far back from any lake or stream, where only rabbits might enjoy the summer.

Had the pleasure of visiting the wonderful library and home of Carl Schmidt on the island out in Cedar lake, just north of Oscoda. Mr. Schmidt spends the entire year in his island home, but it is not at all surprising that he desires to stay amid such pleasant surroundings. Beautiful flower gardens, a private zoo with buffalo, elk and peacocks, add much to the attractiveness of the place. His dairy is one of the show pieces of Michigan. Mr. Schmidt owns Greenbush Inn and the hotel at Oscoda. He has done much to develop and build up that part of the country. Last winter when the series of winter sports contests were scheduled there wasn't enough snow for the various events. Mr. Schmidt, in order to have the event take place as advertised, had several carloads of snow brought down from a point further north, and the big crowd that came to witness the races were not at all disappointed.

John Randall, publisher of the Mid-Telegram, was doubtless the oldest active newspaper editor present. Mr. Randall is something like 80 years old. He does all of his work in the paper and takes just as active an interest in newspaper affairs as any man present. It was something like 47 years ago when he started the Mid-paper. For many years it was in other hands, but during the past few years he has controlled and managed the publication.

It is a shame to think that the state has not yet paved M-22 to the north. The paving runs up as far as Standish and there ends. Northern Michigan is entitled to paved highways. The salvation of that part of the state lies in good roads.

One of the best forage crops for temporary pasture for sheep, particularly where the soil is thin, is soy beans a crop which is eaten with great relish by both sheep and lambs. Although the earliest plantings of soy beans are quite frosty, Jim runs the beans can be ready for pasture about Howard City Record as well as the month after seeding. It is usually desirable to allow five or six weeks between seeding and grazing. Soy beans can be ready for grazing about the middle of July or later and will furnish most of the feed until October.

Flowering shrubs may be pruned when through blooming. Most of them need little if any shaping—they do that pretty well themselves. But it's a good thing to take off the dead flowers.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

Remember that sound? Remember when the street cars rattled and hummed down the streets of Northville—the motorman clanging the old gong from the time he reached the Seven Mile road until he had passed the Verke's corner?

Thursday marked the ending of that clang—for the last street car passed over that line on that day, and the tracks were taken up as the car rolled along.

It was way back in 1899 when the street car line from Detroit was built into Northville and Plymouth. For years the business of the operating company prospered. When the cars arrived and left Northville it was sort of gala event. Most everyone in town turned out to see who was going away and who was coming, if they didn't go themselves.

And to be a motorman or conductor on that line was the ambition of every youngster in town.

To wear a uniform like the one Nelson Schrader had on. To stand on the front platform of the car and kick that old gong and blow that air whistle!! Wouldn't that be a great job? That's what every young fellow in Northville thought.

Little wonder that there is sadness in the heart of Ernest Miller, who used to go down through the aisles of the cars collecting the nickels and dimes. That is where he first secured his experience for the good banker that he now is.

But Nelson Schrader and Ernest Miller are not the only two sad ones in Northville and Plymouth, as they witness the removal of the tracks and the passing of the old street car line.

Charles Blackburn, Jr. of county office fame, for a long time collected the nickels and dimes from the boys and girls who used to think it an event of their lives to ride on the trolley cars Sunday afternoon.

A job on the street car line in the early days was as popular as the presidency of the United States is today. And the fellow who got a job running a street car or collecting fares was regarded as the most fortunate individual in town.

There was William Pettingill of Plymouth. He rang up the nickels as expertly as did Ernest Miller. Some of the other early employees of the line are Milo Corwin of Cherry Hill, George Dukler of Plymouth, Charles Thummie of Plymouth and George Groth of Ypsilanti, who is still operating a car on the interurban running from Detroit to Jackson.

Among the last to serve as a "nickel snatcher" was Wm. Ellington, of the famous Ellington & Casterline gas station. Patrons of this place have often wondered why it was that "Bill" could count out the nickels and dimes so accurately and speedily. Now they know. He got his experience back in the old streetcar days.

The street car line is gone. Now its the skidding, rattling old bus that serves in its place—no wonder there is so much sorrow and grief among a few of these old employees.

have the cream and the bowl very cold. If the kitchen is hot, it is better to whip the cream out of doors, using a dover beater. Or stand the cream bowl in a pan of cracked ice. To obtain the best whip it is well to use 30 per cent butterfat and that has aged at least 24 hours.

PHONE COMPANY
PAYS $2,453,360 TO

Only One Company Pays
More Taxes Than
Bell Phone

A check for $2,453,360 was handed to O. B. Fuller last Saturday, in payment of the state taxes for 1927 of the Michigan Bell Telephone company. George P. Holland, especially deputized to act for Walter L. Mizner, treasurer of the Michigan Bell, delivered the check to Mr. Fuller.

Federal taxes paid by the company this year amounted to $776,108, making a total of $3,229,468 paid to both state and federal governments.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company this year paid the state an increase of $415,976.05 taxes over the amount paid a year ago. Federal taxes paid this year represented an increase of $63,299, or a total increase of $479,266.05 over the taxes paid by the company last year.

Taxes of the Michigan Bell, both state and federal, total $5.68 per average telephone in service in 1927, the state portion amounting to $4.32, and the federal portion, $1.25, per telephone. The company's state taxes for 1927, which is the amount now paid, took the net earnings of one and one-fifth telephones in every five in service of the full net earnings of 137,500 telephones. Total taxes, including those paid to the federal government, of one and three-fifths telephones of every five in service, or the net earnings of 161,000 telephones for 1927, amounting to 31.85 per cent of the net telephone earnings of the company. State taxes alone required 24.24 per cent of the company's total net telephone earnings.

Only one public utility company in the state, the Michigan Central railroad, pays a greater tax to the state's treasury than does the Michigan Bell company, the records show. The utility company's tax for 1927 is $30,667.

NORMA HAS HAD THE SAME MAID FOR TEN YEARS

Norma Talmadge, star of "The Dove," at the Penniman Allen theatre, July 6th, has been the subject of many newspaper and magazine stories. She has, in fact, been called one of the most "written up" women of all times.

Perhaps there is not a phase of her career that has not been gone over and over by syndicate writers commented upon by editorial writers and pictured by photographers.

Ten thousand and one newspaper reporters have asked Norma Talmadge numberless questions about numberless things, and always she has given what she sincerely thought on any subject she has been asked about. There is hardly a phase of Norma Talmadge's character that a thousand writers have not, at some time or other, used as copy for a story. Probably there are millions of people throughout the world who know all about Miss Talmadge, that there is to know.

Undoubtedly there have been many things overlooked, and not the least thing probable is this fact which will prove of interest to all American women.

Miss Talmadge has kept her personal maid for ten years.

Such a simple little thing to say, yet one that bears a great significance—one of the little things that reveal character. Susie is a colored woman who has followed the fortune of Miss Talmadge on journeys throughout Europe and America, through picture stories through periods of rest and study abroad, never relaxing her

TO FUTURE FASHIONS

The wardrobe of a modern motion picture star must be miles ahead of the fashion at all times. So says Florence Vidor, star of "Doomsday," the Paramount picture which was taken from the novel of the same name by Warwick Deeping, and which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, July 11th.

It generally takes several months to make a picture and in order to be right up to the last minute the moving picture actress must be far ahead of the present day styles and fashions. Miss Vidor is considered one of the most smartly dressed woman on the screen, and it has been her delight to be in the fore as far as fashions go. The women in the theatre audiences are always very careful to note the clothes worn by the players. If a button is out of place or if the cuffs are worn on sleeves of a sport costume that has been declared out, by the powers that be in the designing world, the particular actress who has digressed is catalogued as being way back of the times.

An eye for the fads in dress is essential to the successful star and she must have at her command a competent dressmaker and designer. Miss Florence Vidor has always taken a particular delight in dressing. In "Doomsday" she has many opportunities to show the marvels that have been created for her by the most competent staff of dressmakers on the Continent.

"Doomsday" is an excellent novel and on the screen it does not fail to capture the best parts of the book. The picture was directed by Rowland V. Lee, who made Pola Negri's last picture, "Barbed Wire."

During hot weather keep the soil in all cultivated areas stirred into a loose dust mulch. If the rain beats it down smooth, get after it the first moment it is dry enough to work. Baked soil means injured growth and browned lower leaves.

If a woman's hips are large in proportion to her waist and bust, she should choose long vertical lines from the shoulder to the floor in designing her dresses. These lines may be stripes in the material bands of rows of trimming rows of buttons, tucks and so on.

PHONE COMPANY
PAYS $2,453,360 TO
STATE IN TAXES
Only One Company Pays
More Taxes Than
Bell Phone

A check for $2,453,360 was handed to O. B. Fuller last Saturday, in payment of the state taxes for 1927 of the Michigan Bell Telephone company. George P. Holland, especially deputized to act for Walter J. Mizner, treasurer of the Michigan Bell, delivered the check to Mr. Fuller.

Federal taxes paid by the company this year amounted to $76,108, making a total of $3,229,468 paid to both state and federal governments.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company this year paid the state an increase of $45,976.05 taxes over the amount paid a year ago. Federal taxes paid this year represented an increase of $63,280, or a total increase of $479,266.05 over the taxes paid by the company last year.

Taxes of the Michigan Bell, both state and federal, total $5.68 per average telephone in service in 1927, the state portion amounting to $4.52 and the federal portion $1.16 per telephone. The company's state taxes for 1927, which is the amount now paid, took the net earnings of one and one-fifth telephones in every five in service of the full net earnings of 137,500 telephones. Total taxes, including those paid to the federal government, of one and three-fifths telephones of every five in service, or the net earnings of 181,000 telephones for 1927, amounting to 31.85 per cent of the net telephone earnings of the company. State taxes alone required 24.24 per cent of the company's total net telephone earnings.

Only one public utility company in the state, the Michigan Central railroad, pays a greater tax into the state's treasury than does the Michigan Bell company, the records show. The utility company's tax for 1927 is $30,667.

per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase from $29.10 in 1926 and from $27.56 in 1925. The tax commission this year increased the assessed valuation of the Michigan Bell company $10,000,000.

The state tax paid by all telephone, telegraph and railroad companies goes into the primary school fund, which will exceed $16,000,000 this year, the largest in the history of the state. The properties of these utilities companies are valued by the state tax commission at $409,465,250, an increase of approximately $12,500,000 of the entire primary school fund. Distribution of the primary school fund is slated to begin not before July 15.

TO FUTURE FASHIONS

The wardrobe of a modern motion picture star must be miles ahead of the fashion at all times. So says Florence Vidor, star of "Doomsday," the Paramount picture, which was taken from the novel of the same name by Warwick Deeping, and which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, July 11th.

It generally takes several months to make a picture and in order to be right up to the last minute the moving picture actress must be far ahead of the present day styles and fashions.

Miss Vidor is considered one of the most smartly dressed woman on the screen, and it has been her delight to be in the fore as far as fashions go.

The women in the theatre audiences are always very careful to note the clothes worn by the players. If a button is out of place, or if the cuffs are worn on sleeves of a sport costume that has been declared out, by the powers that be in the designing world, the particular actress who has disgraced is catalogued as being way back of the times.

An eye for the future in dress is essential to the successful star, and she must have at her command a competent dressmaker and designer. Miss Florence Vidor has always taken a particular delight in dressing. In "Doomsday" she has many opportunities to show the marvels that have been created for her by the most competent staff of dressmakers on the Continent.

"Doomsday" is an excellent novel and on the screen it does not fail to capture the best parts of the book. The picture was directed by Rowland V. Lee, who made Pola Negri's last picture, "Barbed Wire."

During hot weather keep the soil in all cultivated areas stirred into a loose dust mulch. If the rain beats it down smooth, get after it the first moment it is dry enough to work. Baked soil means impaired growth and browned lower leaves.

If a woman's hips are large in proportion to her waist and bust, she should choose long vertical lines from the shoulder to the floor in designing her dresses. These lines may be stripes in the material, bands or rows of trimming rows of buttons, tucks and so on.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1928

MAKE IT LIFE
Police officers, judges and crime commissions are having much to say about crime and how to end it. They advance every theory under the sun. Some are good and some mere pride.

Time and again the Record editor has pointed out a way to END crime in Michigan. The remedy is so easy and it will be so effective that within six months time from its adoption, Michigan will be regarded as one of the "cleanest" states in the Union. And, it will not be necessary to hang or electrocute anyone in order to bring it about.

All that Michigan has got to do to end a very great portion of the high crimes within its boundaries is to pass a law making it mandatory for judges to impose a life sentence upon every person found carrying a concealed weapon, but if a firearm of any kind, such as a sawed-off shotgun, or machine gun, is found in the possession of a person or proven to have been in his possession during the commission of a crime, that person should also receive a life sentence.

All discretionary powers should be taken out of the hands of judges in connection with the imposing of sentences under this proposed statute. In order to make the law effective, make it just like the statute for capital punishment when it comes to the sentence. Judges will then do just what the law intends.

Police officers and everyone else knows that a gun toter has murder in his heart the minute he sticks a gun in his pocket. If he doesn't kill someone this time he may be the next time.

If the state legislature will next winter pass such a law, even though its members do nothing else, its duty to the state will have been well performed.

IS IT CORRECT?

The Chicago Tribune a few days ago sent out a syndicated article pertaining to what the official organ of the Jesuits in Florence, Italy, had to say about Al Smith and his election to the presidency of the United States. It says apparently with some authority, that the policy of the past few American administrations relative to immigration is going to be changed and that the selfish protective system will be ended.

Of course the United Catholic, the paper that makes these assertions must have some basis for its assertions and if there is the slightest truth to them, Al Smith is the last man in the world who should be president of the United States.

There has been nothing of so great aid to the American forced to toil for a living as the exclusion act put in effect a few years ago. America no longer wants and no longer will tolerate a general influx of the riff-raff of Europe such as make up the gunmen of Detroit, Chicago and elsewhere.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

ANDREW PARSONS

Bribery and threats failed to induce Andrew Parsons, who became governor of Michigan in 1832, through the resignation of Governor McClelland, to call an extra session of the state legislature to consider a railroad project. Parsons was convinced that the plan was not a good one for the state, and although a big sum of money was sent to him and meetings were held all over the state in an endeavor to induce him to act; he sent the money back and in a public letter, said under no circumstances would he call the members of the legislature together for the purpose of acting on the issue, and he never did.

Governor Parsons was one of the first men to explore Grand River valley. Born in New York in 1817, he came to Michigan when a boy, first locating at Ann Arbor, where he taught school for a few months. It was in 1835 when he explored the Grand River. The winter of that year he spent as clerk at Prairie Creek, Ionia county. The next spring he went to Marshall, where he lived with a brother until fall. Deciding to find a new place to locate, he went to Clinton county, at that time one big township. He had been in the country but a few months before elected

CHICKEN THIEVES ACTIVE IN SOUTH LYON SECTION

Two Men Caught in Detroit and Fowls Were Recovered

Thirty chickens were stolen from the farm of Joe McMahon, north of town, in the early morning hours of last Friday.

The McMahons awakened about four o'clock that morning, hearing an unusual noise outside of the house. However, nothing further was heard and the matter was dismissed from their minds.

At about five o'clock it was discovered that the flock of hens was gone. It is presumed they were taken an hour before.

Tracks gave evidence that a car had been parked at the roadside, some distance from the house, and footprints led across a corn field.

Officers were immediately notified.

In the meantime two men—one colored—were arrested in Detroit for driving a stolen automobile—an Essex sedan.

Upon taking them into custody police found the car laden with a lot of dead chickens, and began an investigation.

Word was sent to Mr. McMahon and he straightaway identified the birds as his flock. The fowls probably were killed when they were taken. The lot included all of Mr. McMahon's flock excepting a few stragglers that the marauders overlooked.

William Parks of Detroit, one of the men in the deal denies his guilt in the affair. He has previously served a term of 90 days in jail for a like offense. The man's partner, colored, is being held by Detroit police in a charge of car stealing. —South Lyon Herald

The cafe and restaurant in connection with the Northville Hotel has been sold to Thomas Chadohos of Great Falls, Montana, who has already assumed possession of the place. The former owner will remain here for the present to assist Mr. Chadohos in getting started, and then in the fall he expects to take a five month's visit back to his old home in Greece, returning to Northville shortly after the first of the year. He has business interests which will result in his being a permanent resident of this place. During the time he has been here he has made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy O'Connor are entertaining guests from Toledo.

Miss Gladys Black entertained friends from Detroit over the Fourth.

Mrs. Eva Johnson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Glenn Beach, at White Cloud.

Mrs. Bird Clark of Battle Creek, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murdock have received a cablegram from Miss Margaret Murdock stating that she had arrived in Southampton, England, after a pleasant trip over the ocean. She will spend the next two months touring Europe.

William Yerkes, who was hurt last week in an automobile accident in Detroit, when another car crashed into him, lost two fingers on his left hand. They were so badly crushed in the collision that they had to be removed.

George Carson, who conducts the Golden View gardens on First street, brought to the Record office last week an onion plant nearly four feet tall. He placed it in a box in such a way that many who saw it wondered if it wasn't some kind of a new cactus.

Miss Helen Hammond and Miss Gladys Schaupester entertained at a miscellaneous shower Monday night for Miss Luella Riley, whose marriage to Glenn Hammond will take place sometime in July. Covers were laid for 16 at the Schaupester home at 245 Horton avenue. The evening was spent in playing bridge, after which a dainty luncheon was served. High honors in bridge were won by Mrs. Cleon Dey.

The Wixom Farmers' Club will hold their annual picnic at Island Lake on Wednesday, July 11th. Pot-luck dinner at noon. Each person furnishes own dishes and silver, also sandwiches and other substances. Ice cream and cake will be served in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Austin and two children, who have been visiting friends in Detroit, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Hamiliton, her husband joining her to visit relatives at Island Lake, Wayne and Salem. They will leave next week for their home at Waujamaqua.

NEILSEN IS BACK FROM CALIFORNIA
WILL MOVE THERE

Well Known Dairyman
Likes the Golden State Spirit

Back from California, where they have spent the past month, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nielsen are preparing to return to the Golden State to make their home in that part of the country early next fall. They traveled the state from the lower to the northern part and are highly delighted with the climate and the prospects of living out in the sunshine and roses.

"We like Michigan too, but as long as we are going to move somewhere, I don't know why we shouldn't go out where they do not have snow and where the weather is good most of the year around. The thing I like about California is the spirit out there. Every one you meet is a booster for the place. That is what I like," he said.

Business is not booming out there. From what I could find out it is just fair. Land is pretty high priced up around Los Angeles. I like it down around there very much. We will probably locate in the southern part of the state. We like Northville and we like the people here, but the dairy herd that I have managed has been sold and the farm seeded to grass so I guess I will have to go to California to take care of a Jersey herd somewhere."

BIG STINSON PLANE

Contributing in a large measure to promote private commercial aviation in this section of the state, Capt. William Sparks, president of the Sparks-Withington company, announced Sunday, that his company has purchased a six-passenger Stinson-Detroit airplane to be used in connection with the factory.

The large plane will serve in the dual capacity as passenger and light freight transport, according to Capt. Sparks. Purchase of the plane was brought about by the realization on the part of the company officials that valuable time and money will be saved in the faster means of transportation, which this new service will afford representatives of the Sparks-Withington company.

Officials of the Stinson-Detroit company, headed by Eddie Stinson, who recently established a world's endurance record, have informed Capt. Sparks that the plane will be delivered at Reynolds Field some time Tuesday, July 3rd—Jackson Tribune.

Forest Service Rangers report that heavy losses of sheep from poisonous plants are likely to occur when the sheep, after trailing long distances without being permitted to graze, are turned on ranges where poisonous plants occur.

Respace all seedlings and perennials which have been planted too close.

Try These

(By Elizabeth Craig, M. C. A.)

There are few homes in England where some sort of old manuscript cookery book is not cherished. But seldom do you come across such a one as I did in an antique establishment in Margate. Bound in faded, age-stained brown leather, it has "Receipt Book" printed in clear, black handwriting across the center of the front cover with the date, 1789, below, and the initials, "H. D." underneath the date. On the inside of the cover, which has an old-fashioned printed notice of one Humphrey Simmons, stationer, at the White Bear, the corner of Warwick Court, Holborn," is written "Harriet Davison," no doubt the name of the owner of the book.

As I tried over Harriet's recipes I often wondered why such a relic of housewifery should have been allowed to go out of her family. And yet I am selfish enough to be glad that what has been some family's loss has been my gain. Some of the old recipes are printed below:

Spring Fruit Soup

Peel and wash well four dozen sticks of rhubarb, blanch in water three or four minutes, and after draining place rhubarb in a stewpan with two sliced onions, one carrot, one tablespoon lean chopped ham, one tablespoon butter. Stew gently over a slow fire until tender, then add two quarts of good stock, two or three tablespoons bread crumbs. Simmer about an hour and a quarter, skim off all fat, season with salt and pepper, run through a hair sieve and serve with fried bread.

Plum Pottage

Boil a hock joint of beef in two gallons of water for one hour and a quarter. Then strain and skim it and set it again on the fire with the bones of a thigh of veal. Crush a pound loaf of bread, put in in a bowl and pour over it about one pint of the boiling soup and let it stand covered until soft. Beat it with a spoon till smooth and put it into the stock. Add one pound currants, washed and drained; one pound seeded raisins and one-half pound of prunes. Boil all together for 15 minutes, then put the veal in the middle of the dish, pour the soup about it and serve.

gather for 15 minutes, then put the veal in the middle of the dish, pour the soup about it and serve.

Findadella

Found, after mincing well, eight ounces of lean beef with a small piece of butter. Add five ounces of suet, finely minced, then soak some bread in thin cream mixed with some thick beef stock, about a half slice thick cut will do, as the mixture of bread and stock should look like butter sauce and add mixture to the pounded meat along with pepper and salt to taste and a little minced onion. Lastly stir suet gradually in, make round balls of the whole and boil them three-quarters of an hour in weak

soup

Toasted Cheese

Mix three ounces of grated cheese the yolks of two eggs, four ounces of butter, three ounces of grated bread, a teaspoon of mustard and a little salt and pepper together. Beat the whole until smooth. Toast some bread cut in slices, lay the above mixture thick upon them, put in the oven, let cheese brown a little and serve as hot as possible.

Drop Plum Cakes

Rub one pound of flour and half a pound of butter together, add 10 ounces of sugar and three tablespoons of cream. Make into a rather stiff paste and drop in little cakes upon a tin and bake in a quick oven.

Everlasting Syllabubs

Mix a pint of thick cream, one-half pound of fine sugar, three-quarters of a pint of raisin wine in a deep pan. Put to it the grated peel and the juice of three lemons, beat or whisk a half hour. Weep, taking off the top with a spoon. File it in glasses, sprinkle a few Marjoram sugar plums on top. Substitute for the sugar plums cherries, ace or other fruit.

A baited trap often may be used in summer to reduce the annual crop of young fledged English sparrows. These young birds in their search for food will enter traps that usually are avoided by the adult birds during periods of food abundance. Trapping is safer than shooting or poisoning, and has the added advantage that harmless or beneficial native birds caught in the trap can be freed. Canary seed, hemp seeds, wheat, oats and bread crumbs make excellent baits; or a live sparrow may be kept in the trap as a decoy. Trapping may begin at any time after the young sparrows are able to take care of themselves, which is usually by July 1st. Although English sparrows are widely distributed as a species, one flock generally is attached to a single locality, a fact that makes their control easier.

Herb plants may be transplanted with great success when they are through blooming. The leaves should be cut back within six inches of the ground. While the location of different colors is fresh in your mind, it is a good time to move them about or perhaps give them a needed dividing.

Newspaper Publishers of Other Days Gather at Warren

Former newspaper publishers and some of the present ones, with their wives, were entertained at the home of Homer Harwood at Warren last week Saturday. There were thirty-six present for the dinner party and it was a whale of a dinner. It was most lavishly served in the basement dining room of the Harwood home under the direction of Mrs. Harwood.

Among those present were Congressman Louis Crampton, former publisher of the Lapeer Clarion; A. E. McKinnon, Farmington Enterprise of the days of long ago now of New York City; Hopkins & St. Clair Fox of Rochester; Judge Arthur Gordon of Detroit, former newspaper reporter; Mrs. St. John of Lansing, former publisher of the Boys School Journal; Mrs. Expan Booyer of Ann Arbor, the Maccales publication; James S. Scam, for many years publisher of the Holy Advertiser; Claspie of the Oxford Leader; Neal formerly of the Northville Record and a one time president of the Eastern Press Association.

After the dinner Mr. Harwood, who used to travel and circulate and make money, when the Warren Watchman acted as postmaster and a number of interesting things were made relative to the old papers and then there were grown on heavy soils. They prefer a peat soil and require a light sandy soil.

BABE BURIED HERE

The remains of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harrington were brought from Detroit for the funeral services and placed in the family lot for burial on Wednesday afternoon July 4th. Rev. William Richards officiating. Mrs. Harrington is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parmenter and known as Florence when attending the M. E. church and Sabbath school. The little one only lived a few hours and the mother known to all Northville friends is doing very well under the trying circumstances.

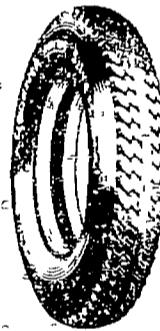

Burial was in the family lot at the cemetery on the Nine Mile road. Novi Heartfelt sympathy goes out to both parents and grandparents.

Do not expect unusual dahlias when the old timers end then there were grown on heavy soils. They prefer a peat soil and require a light sandy soil.

Methodist

Next Sunday morning will be a great event at 10:30. The pastor will have to sing Methodism with him in the pulpit. The Epworth League young people will assist the older members of the choir in the singing during the summer months. The young church will sing hymns no matter how small or large by their preference. Everybody come.

The Sabbath school will meet at the usual time at the close of the morning service. All our membership should be present as far as possible in the above services to welcome the stranger that worships with us. Many like to drive out from the city, worship with us and then enjoy God's out-of-doors.

The evening service will be in the Presbyterian church with Rev. Joe the Priest preaching. Come and do his heart good by your presence. Nuff said.

Meetings for next week Monday the official board at 8:00 p.m. when the canvassers will make a report of the church house. Those having made their promises to the pastor will be seen before them so the amount may be reported that we may soon build. We were thankful for $25.00 from a kind friend, not a member of our church, who voluntarily added the above to the pastor's list.

At 7:30 on Tuesday, the church school board will meet for business, and at 8:30 the Epworth League Cabinet and members for business.

Next following Monday, July 16th, the last church conference of our church will meet under the chairmanship of our superintendent of the Ann Arbor district, Dr. Martin. This will wind up the business for the year prior to the annual conference for which the pastor will leave September 9th, and which is held at Sainte Marie in the Upper Peninsula. All reports of the various departments must be brought in then. This decides your pastor for the coming year, and it is necessary for all to be present.
