RUSHING WORK ON NEW GRAND STAND AT FAIR GROUNDS

Steel Work Has Been Finished, Roof to go on in Few Days

Workmen have during the past few days completed the erection of the steel for the grandstand at the Northville Wayne County fair grounds, and in the next few days carpenters will begin the construction of the roof and seat platforms.

With a seating capacity of nearly three times that of the old grandstand, the thousands of people who come to the fair each year will have no difficulty in getting a good seat this year.

The association has booked the best lot of outdoor attractions that has ever been brought to Northville. With a list of exhibits that will far exceed anything ever before attempted, there is not the slightest doubt but what all previous records will be broken.

The old grandstand has been moved and built over into one of the best cattle exhibition barns on any fair ground in the state. It is large and well lighted. In past years it has been necessary to house the cattle in a tent, which made exhibition rather difficult.

Secretary Floyd Nofthrop is devoting every minute of his time to fair matters. Directors of the association are doing practically the same thing.

Ray Richardson, who is chairman of the special committee in charge of the grandstand erection, declares there is plenty of work yet to be done. "He is going to see to it that everything is in shipshape by fair time, even if we have to call in the whole town to help us," he declares.

GAS SERVICE FOR HILLCREST MANOR READY IN FEW DAYS

Company to Start Work on Line at Once Says Deal

Perley H. Deal of the Michigan Federated Utilities, has advised property owners along Clement avenue and the west end of Hillcrest Manor, the subdivision recently put on the market by Charles Bloom, that gas will be provided those who desire it in that section. The main will be laid from the Frickey road along Clement avenue to Main street and Hillcrest road.

Work on the improvement will be started in the next few days, and gas service will be ready within two weeks, states Mr. Deal.

The construction of the gas main out to the William H. Maybury sanatorium has about been completed, and just as soon as this work has been finished, the laying of the main on Clement avenue will be started.

The east end of the Hillcrest section will be provided with gas from the main that now runs out West Main street.

NEW HIGH RECORD AT POSTOFFICE

The total sale of stamps of the Northville post office for June of this year amounted to $1,356.21, being $226.69 more than for the same month last year, and it also being the highest June sale in the history of the Northville office. This shows that the business of this city is slowly but surely on the gain.

Last Sunday a very pleasant picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kidd on the Novi road, in honor of his sister, Mrs. Mary Montreuil of Walkerville, Ontario, the date being her 74th birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kidd and daughters of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall and sons of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kidd and daughters of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Karschneick and family of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dingman and daughters of Salem Royal McCormick and Miss Inez Jordan of Plymouth, Miss Mae Brockett of Walkerville, Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. George Grable and son of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marten of Detroit, Mrs. Jennie Spunkalitz, Mrs. Sadie McFadden, George Thomas of Marten's Ferry, Ohio, Miss Betty Spamer of St. Helens, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ray of Detroit, Mrs. Della Markham of Plymouth, Elna Payne of Detroit, and Marion Turnbull of Plymouth. The dinner was served under the trees in the orchard. A beautiful bedspread and many pretty towels were gifts to the honored guest.

Northville Commandery Wins Parade Glory

Members of Northville Knights Templar Commandery, No. 39, covered themselves with glory during the greatest parade ever staged by the Knights during a national conclave held in Detroit this week. Over half of the members of the DeMolay Lodge of Northville, under the direction of Joseph H. Humelsbach, affectionately known as "Dad to the boys," provided

It was certainly a splendid showing that they made. Three platoons, with colors and officers, made up the marching force from this place. The appearance of the local Commandery won much favorable comment. In fact, the radio announcer went out of his way to tell the country that the Northville Knights were passing the reviewing stand, that they looked fine, and that Northville, a community years ago regarded as a place way out in the country, was now almost within the great city of Detroit.

Besides the large number in line, there were nearly a dozen members of

VOTERS DECIDE IN FAVOR OF NEW LAND PURCHASE

School Property to be Greatly Enlarged as Result of Election

Voters of the Northville school district Monday evening, decided in favor of the recommendation of the school board for the purchase of the property lying west of the school house to be used for playground purposes, by a vote of 92 yes and 43 no.

It developed that a day or so before the election a number of residents living on the north side of the district thought the purchase of the land would delay the construction of a ward school on the north side of the city, and it is understood that several voted against the purchase because of this idea.

President Ernest Miller of the school board, stated that it was the plan of the board to build a ward school just as soon as the board thought it advisable.

Following the favorable vote of Monday night, school board officials immediately took steps to acquire the land in question. The section taken over adds considerably to the school property, including two houses on Main street. The brick house just west of the school will be made over so that it can be used for school room purposes. At least two or three grades can be accommodated there if necessary.

The old frame house on the Seeley property will be removed. The condition of the building does not justify any expenditure on it, state board officials. Mark Seeley, owner of the property and school officials have come to what is regarded as a very fair understanding as to the price of the property. He has fixed the price at $4,500, being a reduction since the matter was first discussed of $1,500.

The school district will pay $4,500 for the Seeley property, $16,000 for the Fowle place, and $1,250 for the Ambler lot, making a total of $21,750 for the nearly block of land that is being purchased. The bond issue is for $23,000. This will leave a small balance for the board to use in improving the property.

In spite of the purchase of the land, school board officials declare there will be no increase in the tax rate to take care of the bond payments.

It is the plan of the board to use the additional ground for playground purposes. Some of it lying along the street will be landscaped and shrubbery planted.

George and Charles Dusenbury, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dusenbury, who are spending the summer at Mississauga, the beautiful Y M C A summer camp on Lake Van Etten, are thoroughly enjoying the summer in the north. George is now one of the leaders in the camp, one of the largest of its kind in the country. The gift of a wealthy Detroiter and built by him for the use of Y. M. C. A. boys, the camp is ideally located on the sandy shores of Van Etten lake. The cottages possess every modern convenience and are located along well built drives that wind through the pine forest in which the camp is located.

INVITE PASTOR BACK FOR 7TH YEAR

REV. WILLIAM RICHARDS

Breaking all precedent, the Methodist church has invited Rev. William Richards to return for his seventh year of services and the district superintendent Dr. Martin will concur in the recommendation to the conference to be held this fall. The action of the church trustees is regarded as a high tribute to Rev. Richards.

Seldom in Methodist circles is a pastor permitted to remain with one church more than five years and quite often not that long.

This action will give Rev. Richards an opportunity to complete the church house, which he hopes to have under construction by the last of August. At the meeting of the stewards Monday evening, reports showed that the church is prospering and that the only delinquency is in some of the current expenses, but it is believed the membership will have this all cleared away by the time of the conference in September.

Northville, as a community, is more interested in this news, as Rev. Richards has taken an active part in all local affairs which have been for the benefit of the place.

DEATH CLAIMS LOCAL PIONEER

Mrs. Sarah Lanning widow of William J. Lanning, Sr., died Thursday forenoon in her home on North Center street, after an illness of some time. Mrs. Lanning was the widow of Judd Lanning for years one of Wayne county's best known public officials. The funeral plans had not been made at press time.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED

One of the interesting weddings of the season took place Saturday, July 14th, at noon, when two popular and well known young people of Northville, Miss Luella M. Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Riley and Glen Hammond, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, 53 Randolph street.

Standing in front of a bank of palms and in a room filled with baskets of beautiful roses, the young people were joined by Rev. William Richards of the Methodist church the ring service being used. The bride was beautiful in a gown of light blue.

They were attended by Miss Helen Hammon and Albert M. Zumper and Miss Ida Rose Cavell and Edward Riley.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to about twenty of the two immediate families in attendance at the wedding. Following a brief vacation, the young people will return to Northville to make their permanent home among their many friends. The groom is an employee of the Detroit Edison company.

Claude Benedict of Holly, was in town Tuesday in connection with the greenhouse that he formerly operated and which he has taken back. He is running a big greenhouse in Holly at present. His plans relative to the Northville greenhouse have not yet been worked out, but he stated he would know definitely in a few days just what he would do.

Surveyors are busy compiling data for the starting of the paving program in Northville. City officials say it will be about two weeks before the actual work is started.

Road Commission To Create Scenic Drive

TWO DELIVERIES MADE EACH DAY

The Northville city carriers are now making two complete deliveries of mail a day. Heretofore, they were unable to make only one complete delivery in parts of the town. A substitute carrier has taken over a part of the territory as an experiment by the department and so far it has worked out all right. In case of sickness or vacations there may be a little delay, but the work is now getting systematized and reports are coming to the postmaster that the service is very pleasing. The carriers have all they can do, however, to make the deliveries, and patrons can aid them somewhat by locating their boxes as conveniently as possible. Patrons having screened porches should place their boxes outside the screen door.

Royal Neighbors of America held their annual picnic at Island Lake, Wednesday. Nearly 30 were present.

BRADER TO ERECT BUSINESS BLOCK ON EAST MAIN ST.

Purchases Ware Property and Will Start Work On Monday

Samuel L. Brader for many years one of Northville's best known retail merchants has just announced the purchase of the old Ware property on East Main street. He will next week begin the construction of a modern two story business block, 37 feet wide and 80 feet deep. The structure will contain 160 store spaces and there will be two modern and up-to-date apartments on the second floor.

Probably no where in Wayne county is there a more beautiful row of trees than will line the middle of this paved way. Great towering maples and locust trees that must be nearly a hundred years old or more will shade the highway from the bridge to Powers road. The county contemplates building only the Main Street end of Griswold street to the Base Line road this year.

When the Northville village commission and the township officials voted to donate $10,000 to the county towards paying for the bridge over the Pere Marquette tracks and the stretch of paving along Griswold road little did they realize that the county contemplated so much in return. While the projects are of a benefit to the entire county and will provide the city of Detroit with one of the most scenic drives in Wayne county, the village of Northville is going to profit greatly from the improvement.

Engineer Smith advised Mayor Filkins that the contracts for the work on Griswold road from Main street to the Base Line road would be let in the next few days, and that the work would be completed in the early fall.

NORTHLVILLE GETS INTO PRINT IN NEW YORK CITY PAPER

Record Articles About Old Deeds of Widespread Interest

Picked up a copy of the New York Evening Graphic the other day over in Lansing.

Right there in the middle of one of the first pages was Northville, Michigan. Naturally it caught the eye the first thing.

And what was it?

Simply a copy of some of the data the Northville Record had been publishing about old deeds.

When the series was run in the Record no one ever dreamed there would be much of interest outside of Northville and vicinity—but apparently one of the big evening newspapers of New York thought it was worth giving some space to.

The article that was used from the Record specially mentioned the two old deeds that were presented by Marion A. Porter and the one by L. A. Babbitt, which was issued by John Quincy Adams, when president, way back in July, 1826.

The Ford factory has been working nights considerably lately. While there is no definite information on the matter, indications are that the local Ford factory is going to be busy from now on.

NORTHVILLE AUTO CLUB DOES MUCH FOR COMMUNITY

Director Hold Meeting To Discuss Work of Organization

A review of the work done by the Northville Automobile club in the last year, at the meeting of the Board of Directors, Wednesday, July 18th, shows that the organization has been a great benefit to the village. Reports of the various committees of the club gave the board a brief summary showing that within the last twelve months many things have been done in the way of creating a greater Northville.

The road committee, first to report, brought to the directors' attention the fact that through their efforts many bad bumpy roads had been repaired and placed in condition for motorists. They pointed out the fact that members of the committee have recently been active in securing a new road from Grand River avenue through Northville into Plymouth and gave a report on the delegation of business men from Plymouth, Novi and Northville that visited the state authorities in Lansing under their auspices to discuss the course of the new highway.

The sign committee gave a brief report on work they had done, showing that many new signs had been placed on side roads by the club, and that in a few cases the name of Northville had been added to county signs that were on many traveled roads. The safety committee explained the efforts they have put forth in trying to co-operate with stage officials and gave a fine report on the club's action of printing cards and signs local business men to park cars off of the main street throughout the day so as to give visitors more over-night parking space.

The secretary reported that the membership of the club has been rapidly rising and that the club has been of great assistance to local members who have taken long trips and needed maps and routings. The secretary reported that 62 people had been rotted over the country and that over 100 maps had been distributed among its members. Visiting tourists who called at the club's office and received information from the secretary numbered 24. The report of the Northville Automobile club service garage showed that within the last year the garage had serviced on the average of a car a day. The majority of the services going to Detroit Automobile club members. Local members to take advantage of the club service totaled 167.

A hog will find shade in hot weather if he can. However, he does not realize that a shady place often may be too hot and he is likely to stay there and die from overheating. Unless the hog houses are high and have plenty of ventilation and air space, it is better to keep them closed in hot weather and force the hogs to seek shade elsewhere. If shade from trees is not available, a good artificial shade may be made by setting posts in the ground and building a cheap framework about four feet high, covering it with brush, hay or straw. This shade is better than one made of boards or sheet iron. Due care must be used in setting it, watering the covering; this will at the same time cool the air underneath.

In pruning white pine, W. B. Deering of Hollis Center, Maine, gets good results with a 17-gauge steel saw blade about 18 inches long, 3 inches wide at one end and 2 inches at the other, he reports to the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. There are 4 teeth to the inch, set so as to cut with a downward pull, and the saw blade is fastened to a 10-foot pole at an angle of 30 degrees.

Deering's pruner, which he calls "log," is a simple tool a man can prune a tree in from 2 to 4 minutes of about 100 running feet of pruning tree trunk in an hour. This means a rate of about seven 16-foot logs per hour, and a cost of about 8 cents per tree.

Pruning tree trunks gives him clearer lumber when he is ready to cut.

THESE TWO WOMEN SHOW FISHING FAN HOW TO CATCH FISH
Mrs. Walter Ware and Mrs. Thomas McCordle Land Big Pike

"Now use this bait, right here. It never fails. Of course, it all depends on the fisherman. If he knows how to use the bait he is sure to come home with a nice big catch, and if he doesn't his luck is liable, not to be good. But even at that you are almost always sure to get them if there are any fish in the lake."

Mrs. Walter Ware, who assists her husband in the store so much, had heard her husband repeat the above assertions so many times, that she thought she would try out the bait and see.

She also knew that her husband had done the same thing; and that he hadn't even had a nibble.

"He's wrong if the bait is wrong," thought Mrs. Ware. She proceeded to find out.

The other night when Walt rambled out to his cottage at Appleton lake, there on a line were some of the biggest pike he had ever seen.

Mrs. Ware and Mrs. Thomas McCordle sat nearby packing away some of Walt's high-powered bait.

"If you can't catch 'em with it, we can," chimed the ladies. "You see it depends on the fisherman Walt. If he knows how to use the bait he is sure to come home with a nice big catch." Mrs. Ware simply repeated what she had heard her husband say so many times. Now Hubby is out each night trying to find out how his wife uses the bait with such remarkable success.

One of the pike was over 32 inches long and weighed nearly ten pounds. Both Mrs. McCordle and Mrs. Ware had exceptionally good luck.

"You see it isn't so much the bait as it is the fisherman," declare the ladies.

COMING ATTRACTIONS at the PENNIMAN ALLEN

CLOTHES PROBLEM SLIMS
MUCH MORE SIMPLE NOW
"How much more fortunate are the women of today in the matter of clothes than were their grandmothers?" This is the way Nancy Carroll, leading woman in Richard Dix's latest comedy picture for Paramount, "Easy Come, Easy Go," which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday, July 22, views the modern clothes problem.

"The extreme simplicity of the frocks of today enables every girl to have pretty and stylish clothes without a large outlay of money. Today a girl can be smartly dressed in a simple little one-piece frock containing not more than three or four yards of material. Our grandmothers' dresses contained not less than 20 yards of material and had to be elaborately trimmed. This it meant a big outlay of money and an immense amount of time spent in sewing. Hours were required for the fitting."

In addition to the dresses there were petticoats, pantaloons and hoops to be fitted. All this meant that a girl of slender means in 1880 could not afford, at most, more than one pretty frock.

"Today every girl can dress well and inexpensively. The one-piece and ensemble suits are simple and cheap, or they can be made at home with very little effort."

"This has been a felt hat year and this also has simplified the dress problem. Felt hats are being worn with every kind of dress."

THE SECRET HOUR BEAUTIFUL LOVE STORY STARS POLA NEGRI

When it comes to love-making on the screen—loveness, feminine loveliness to the veriest initiate, none will think—few, if any, can compare with fiery Pola Negri. From the most austere dispute this:

She proved it long ago in "Passion" and "Gypsy Blood," which she made abroad. Pola has doubly proved it on American shores with her stirring love characterization in "Hotel Imperial," "The Woman on Trial" and "Barbed Wire."

Now the celebrated star is coming to the screen with a story that is wholly and soulfully a love theme, swift-moving, dramatic and finely human.

Called "The Secret Hour," it was written and directed by Rowland V. Lee, who directed Miss Negri in her sensational success, "Barbed Wire." It will be at the Penniman-Allen theatre, Wednesday, July 25.

Pola needs no royal garb in which to display her emotional talents. In "The Secret Hour" she appears first as a waitress, and no one will deny that even a waitress may love and be loved. Her romance has its blossoming on the green and golden acres of an orange grove, where she is wooed by Jean Hersholt and won by Kenneth Thomson. Hersholt is said to have a tremendous characterization in the production, while Thomson wins new honors as a leading man.

That is the situation in "Partners in Crime," the Paramount melodramatic comedy, which comes to the Penniman-Allen theatre Saturday, July 26th.

Don Yerkes, Sr., Tells of His Impressions of Big Convention

If Rotarians lived up to the precepts of the organization, they would be better citizens and the community in which they lived would be a better community, declared Retiring President Don Yerkes, Sr., in giving his report, Monday noon, at the International Rotary convention. He attended recently in Minneapolis.

His report, of more than ordinary interest, told of his impressions of the convention of the thousands present from all parts of the world and of the various ideas expressed by delegates from South America, Europe and New Zealand.

All of them seemed to express the same high ideals and all agreed that the world would be better if Rotarism prevailed everywhere. It was difficult for those from across the seas to understand how it is possible for the United States and Canada to exist probably without a fort, a soldier or a warship stationed anywhere along the boundary line.

"I skipped out from one session to visit the big flour mills in that city. I have been in the milling business for years and I was interested in the operation of these mills. I was surprised to see that the kind of equipment we had discarded years ago is still in use up there," said Mr. Yerkes.

For the first time in corners where there is no fence set up, they are easy to grow and keep in the conditions in which and the right kinds of soil. They are easily planted in the ground and will grow in almost any kind of soil.

Now is the time to sow the seeds of biennials and perennials for next year. Put these in a cold frame in soil made of leaf mold, garden loam, well-rotted manure, and sand. Plant a little deeper than in the spring and press seeds down firmly. If the cold frame is not in a half-shady spot cover with laths for a few days. The earlier they are planted the better they will do.

Plant Oriental poppies. To get the color right, buy pieces of incense and plant two inches deep.

They are easily gathered.

Why more use of our beautiful native trees in landscape decoration is not made, why instead, we go elsewhere, sending naturalists thousands of miles into the interior of all the wild unpopulated countries of the world for subjects to adorn our home grounds, is a mystery even to us. Why do we go elsewhere for trees when we have the beautiful, yellow poplar or tulip tree which serves the purpose of both, the shade and the ornamental?

The tulip tree has every admirable quality a tree may have, beauty of foliage, add, and beautiful flowers; and it is not troubled with insects nor subject to diseases therefore requiring very little attention. It prefers a deep rich soil, but will grow in almost any kind.

The tulip tree is a thing of beauty all the year round, some believing it to be most beautiful in the dead of the winter. It is singularly straight and symmetrical compared with the young chestnut, dogwood and oak and it takes on very early in life the fine habit of later years. The shaft is tall and grey and smooth, crowned with an oval head of ascending branches, clean and handsome throughout.

The leaves have a shining surface always, and are a lovely shade of green in autumn, when they turn to gold like the birch, chestnut and hickory. They are easily distinguished from other poplars, the end of the leaves having a "chopped off" appearance.

The flowers are like the magnolias, showy and handsome, with dashes of orange on their greenish-yellow corollas.

As a lawn and shade tree the tulip poplar is unequalled. In Europe it is a favorite.

In transplanting, tulip trees require the same care given the magnolias, as the roots are fleshy and tender.

Plant everything in rows. This is better than sowing seeds broadcast. The weeding and cultivation will be much more easily and effectively done.

Sweet corn and beans may be planted now for use in late September.

HE TELLS HOW TO MAKE REAL TEST OF CHRISTIANITY

Rev. J. W. Priest Asks Five
Questions For You
To Answer

Rev. J. W. Priest in a sermon at the union services at the Presbyterian church asked five questions he deemed of importance to every person.

The Baptist clergyman declared that a person in answering the following questions could get a pretty good insight into his Christianity.

1 Are you a Christian? Would you follow the teachings of Jesus if to do so should result in the loss of money and position?

2 Do you have some great cause of humanity at heart and are you ready to give your life's enthusiasm for it?

3 Are you as active and as useful in some church as you are in your business or money making?

4 Do you pray and read the Bible daily?

5 Are you planning to do a man's part by sharing in the burden of good citizenship?

DEHO-CO TRIUMPS OVER ORION TEAM

Last Sunday, July 15th, DeHoCo defeated Orion, at Orion 6 to 5. Harry German, DeHoCo hurler, had the Orion boys well in hand until the ninth, when he was forced to give way to Constatineau to save the game.

Six errors on Orion's side, a three-base clout by Pankraz and a home run by Jaska contributed to the Lake Dwellers downfall. Orion tailenders in the inter-county circuit, came within an ace of taking the game away from the DeHoCoites.

Next Sunday, July 22nd, Pontiac will be the attraction at DeHoCo park, and it is expected they will put up a stiff game in retaliation for their defeat by the DeHoCo team, a month ago. Following is the Inter-County standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Per
Holly	8	2	.800
DeHoCo	8	3	.727
West Point	8	4	.666
Pontiac	7	5	.583
Municipal	6	6	.500
Rochester	5	7	.416
Selfridge	3	7	.300
Orion	1	10	.090

Give herbaceous borders and flower beds constant cultivation.

OUR OWN NELSON SCHREADER UP NORTH

Up in the wilds of Northern Michigan, where Indians, bears and deer still roam the cut-overs, has strayed Nelson Schreader, erstwhile chairman of the Exchange club fair association executive and in years of yore ambition motorman, to try and find a 42 pound pike that Doc Clevell claims he saw on his recent trip to the north. Equipped with all the fishing tackle he could find in Northville and with a rowboat he borrowed over at Wallen Lake he is roasting the inland seas. All alone Nelson is paddling the rough waters.

"If I ever get that fish I don't want Con Langfield or Burch Baldwin or somebody else to say they got it. I want 'em to know that I got it, and for that reason they are not riding in the back seat of my canoe telling me where to paddle," said Nelson over the Mo radio station microphone.

One of the photographers of Mo sent down the above picture of Nelson as he was paddling over the pond. When he returns, well, be ready for fish stories.

Wild geese, like the human race, should be allowed to select their own mates when they are being raised in captivity. Unlike some human beings, however, they remain mated for life and manage their family affairs in a competent way. Family loyalty is so strong among wild geese that if one or two of a family are incapable of flying off to other places, all of them will usually remain. They are somewhat temperamental about selecting their first nesting site, but in succeeding years they will boldly select and hold their chosen home, resorting whenever possible to a site used by them in former years. These birds often live to the age of 50 years or more and are better breeders in late than in early life.

Be sure that window boxes are kept well watered during July and August, and keep them tidy by removing any dry leaves or withered plants.

DETROIT AMUSEMENTS

BUNNY DAYS' BIG HIT IN MUSICAL COMEDY COMING

"Bunny Days" heralded as the sunniest musical comedy and the people dancing show of the year and produced by Hazara Short with a lasting farce by Ladd Spring of the famous Music Box Review comes to the Shubert Detroit Opera House for one week only, commencing Sunday night, July 29th. The big musical hit is coming direct from a season run at the Four Columns Theatre in Chicago and will stop briefly in Detroit on its way to Atlantic City and Berlin where it will stay for the balance of the summer.

A lot of the huge cast seems to merit the claim of its star "the sexiest girl in the world" for it will present five famous stars including Billy B. Van, George, American comedians; Jeanette MacDonald, latest star of "Yes, Yes, Yes"; Carl Randall of Ziegfeld Follies and Winter Garden fame, Douglas Leavitt and Jack Sheean.

"Sunny Days" is a musicalized version of the famous French farce, "The Kiss in a Taxi," which a few years ago was regarded as one of the best farces of years. All of the fast-moving scenes and most of the racy humorous lines of this rare farce have been retained in "Sunny Days" with the added features of the liveliest of jazz music by Jean Schwartz, for thirty years a leading composer of popular melodies, and three exquisite sets typical of the extravagant gorgeness of Hassard Short. The well-known stars are supported by a large and youthful chorus of dancing beauties, augmented by Peggy Cornell, formerly of Ziegfeld Follies, and Evangeline Raleigh and Maxine Carson of Winter Garden fame.

'THE DESERT SONG' STILL BRINGS OUT BIG CROWDS

With a score abounding with lilting melodies, the finest singing cast heard in many months, and a story of romance and adventure that never lacks interest, "The Desert Song" continues its summer engagement at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, where for ten weeks it has been attracting large and enthusiastic audiences.

The fine cast is headed by Alexander Gray, heroic baritone; Bernice Claire and the intrepid comedian, Bernard Granville, and the supporting company includes Harold Stanton, Philip Rydor, John Enright, Ruth Nagle, Edna Torrence, Al Baron, Jack Spiegel, Larry Lawrence, a fine dancing ensemble and a thrilling male chorus. The story is that of the elusive unknown leader of the nomad Bedouin who fight the Corolian Legion of France to regain their rights, and a girl who wants romance. How Red Shadow, in reality the son of the French sombre wanderer Edmop, the girl and others return to the desert strong-hold, and the almost meets his father in a and to the death, glorified in a highly dramatic manner.

In this interesting tale set to stirring Rembrandt tunes and it is seldom a musical romance has been produced that contains as many delectable scenes as "The Desert Song." Only a few male veterans for Detroit engagement and tour the local organization will go on a long tour of the profound American cities where it has yet to be seen.

No Sunday performances are given and matines are usual on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

CALL SWITZERLAND, COSTS ONLY $52.50

The Alps and the Rockies are on speaking terms since Wednesday morning July 18th, when transatlantic telephone connections for subscribers on this continent was extended to all of Switzerland. Swiss cities, including Geneva, mother city of the Red Cross and of the League of Nations, will be connected via Paris to London and the transatlantic radio link, by means of an 800-mile 4-wire telephone circuit newly established.

The rate for a call from Northville to any point in Switzerland will be $5.50 for the first three minutes and $1.75 for each additional minute. The hours of service will include the period from 5:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., eastern, standard time, which corresponds to 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 a.m. in Switzerland.

Switzerland, with a population of nearly four million people and a telephone development of 225,000 instruments in the puny European nation to be connected with this side of the Atlantic. This latest extension includes many popular vacation resorts, such as St. Moritz, Zermatt, Montreux, Lugano, Lucerne and Interlaken, as well as the Swiss Capital Berne and prominent commercial centers, such as Zurich.

Ferns are great in corners where there is not much sun, and if they are easy to care for required certain shade conditions are required and the right kinds grow. They like a partial shade. Some will grow in the sun, but others in partial shade are preferable. North or west will also do but south exposure is not so good.

HE TELLS HOW TO MAKE REAL TEST OF CHRISTIANITY

Rev. J. W. Priest Asks Five
Questions For You
To Answer

Rev. J. W. Priest in a sermon at the union services at the Presbyterian church asked five questions he deemed of importance to every person.

The Baptist clergymen declared that a person in answering the following questions could get a pretty good insight into his Christianity.

1 Are you a Christian? Would you follow the teachings of Jesus if to do so should result in the loss of money and position?

2 Do you have some great cause of humanity at heart and are you ready to give your life's enthusiasm for it?

3 Are you as active and as useful in some church as you are in your business of money making?

4 Do you pray and read the Bible daily?

5 Are you planning to do a man's part by sharing in the burden of good citizenship?

DEHO-CO TRIUMPS OVER ORION TEAM

Last Sunday, July 15th, DeHoCo defeated Orion, at Orion 6 to 5. Harry German, DeHoCo hurler, had the Orion boys well in hand until the ninth, when he was forced to give way to Constance to save the game.

Six errors on Orion's side, a three-base clout by Paukatz and a home run by Jaska contributed to the Lake Dwellers downfall. Orion tailenders in the inter-county circuit came within an ace of taking the game away from the DeHoCos.

Next Sunday, July 22nd, Pontiac will be the attraction at DeHoCo park, and it is expected they will put up a stiff game in retaliation for their defeat, by the DeHoCo team, a month ago.

Following is the Inter-County standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Per
Holly	3	2	.600
DeHoCo	8	3	.727
West Point	3	4	.466
Pontiac	7	5	.533
Municipal	6	6	.500
Rochester	5	7	.416
Selfridge	3	7	.300
Orion	1	10	.090

OUR OWN NELSON SCHRADER UP NORTH

Up in the wilds of Northern Michigan, where Indians, bears and deer still roam the cut-over, has strayed Nelson Schrader, erstwhile chairman of the Exchange club fair association, elegant and in years of yore in ambition motorman to try and find 42 hours back the Dog Cartel claims he saw on his recent trip to the north.

It appears that the fishing racket he could find in Northville and with a revolver he borrowed over at Walleye Lake he is robbing the inland seas. At a stage Nelson is paddling the rough waters.

"If I ever get that fella I don't want him hanged or buried or somebody else to say they got it."

I want 'em to know that I got it and for that reason they are not riding in the back seat of my canoe telling me where to paddle," said Nelson over the MIO radio station microphone.

One of the photographers of Michigan sent down the above picture of Nelson as he was paddling over the pond. When he returns, well, be ready for fish stories.

Wild geese, like the human race, should be allowed to select their own mates when they are being raised in captivity. Unlike some human beings, however, they remain mated for life and manage their family affairs in a competent way. Family loyalty is so strong among wild geese that if one or two of a family are incapable of flying off to other places, all of them will usually remain. They are somewhat temperamental about selecting their first nesting site, but in succeeding years they will boldly select and hold their chosen home, resorting whenever possible to a site used by them in former years. These birds often live to the age of 50 years or more and are better breeders in late than in early life.

Be sure that window boxes are kept well watered during July and August, and keep them tidy by removing any dry leaves or withered plants.

DETROIT AMUSEMENTS

"SUNNY DAYS" BIG HIT IN

MUSICAL COMEDY COMING "Sunny Days," heralded as the funniest musical comedy and the people's darling show of the year and produced by Howard Shor, who gained lasting fame by his stages of the famous Music Box Review, comes to the Shubert Detroit Opera House for one week only, commencing Sunday night, July 29th. The big musical hit is coming direct from a season run at the Four Courts Theatre in Chicago, and will stop here in Detroit on its way to Atlantic City and Boston where it will stay for the balance of the summer.

A list of the large cast seems to justify the claim of its advance representatives that it will present five stars including Billy B. Van, dean of American comedians; Jeanette MacDonald, late star of "Yes, Yes, Yes"; Carl Randall or Ziegfeld Follies' and Winter Garden fame; Douglas Fairbanks and Jack Shearer.

"Sunny Days" is a musicalized version of the famous French farce, "The Kiss in a Taxi," which a few years ago was regarded as one of the best farces of years. All of the fast-moving scenes and most of the gay, humorous lines of this rare farce have been retained in "Sunny Days" with the added features of the liveliest of jazz music by Jean Schwartz, for thirty years a leading composer of popular melodies, and three exquisite sets typical of the extravagant gaudiness of Hassard Short. The well-known stars are supported by a large and youthful chorus of dancing beauties, augmented by Peggy Cornell, formerly of Ziegfeld Follies, and Evgeline Raleigh and Maxine Carson of Winter Garden fame.

"THE DESERT SONG" STILL

BRINGS OUT BIG CROWDS

With a score abounding with lilting melodies, the finest singing cast heard in many months, and a story of romance and adventure that never lacks interest, "The Desert Song" continues its summer engagement at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, where for ten weeks it has been attracting large and enthusiastic audiences.

The fine cast is headed by Alexander Gray, heroic baritone; Bernice Claire, and the infinite comedian, Bernard Granville, and the supporting company includes Harold Stanton, Philip Ryder, John Elsie, Ruth Nagle, Edna Torrence, Al Baron, Jack Splegel, Larry Lawrence, a fine dancing ensemble and a thrilling male chorus. The story is that of the elusive unknown leader of the Nomad tribe, who fight the Foreign Legion of France to regain their rights, and a girl who falls in love with the son of the French commander; perhaps the girl and takes her to his desert stronghold, and then must meet his father in a duel to the death as portrayed in "Sunny Days."

All this interesting tale is set to stirring Rhapsody tunes and it is seen in a racial romance that has been organized that contains as many delightful melodies as "The Desert Song."

Only a few more weeks remain for the Detroit engagement and then the tour will start to a long tour of the principal American cities where it has yet to be seen.

No Sunday performances are given and matinees are as usual on Wednesday and Saturday.

CALL SWITZERLAND, COSTS ONLY $52.50

The Alps and the Rockies are on speaking terms since Wednesday morning, July 18th, when transatlantic telephone connections for subscribers on this continent was extended to all of Switzerland, Swiss cities, including Geneva, mother city of the Red Cross and of the League of Nations, will be connected via Paris to London and the transatlantic radio link, by means of an 800-mile 4-wire telephone circuit newly established.

The rate for a call from Northville to any point in Switzerland will be $52.50 for the first three minutes and $17.50 for each additional minute. The hours of service will include the period from 5:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., eastern standard time, which corresponds to 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 a.m. in Switzerland.

Switzerland, with a population of nearly four million people and a telephone development of 225,000 instruments, is the ninth European nation to be connected with this side of the Atlantic.

This latest extension includes many popular vacation resorts, such as St. Moritz, Zermatt, Montreux, Lugano, Lucerne and Interlaken, as well as the Swiss Capital Berne and prominent commercial centers, such as Zurich.

Flower bouquets are often refreshed after being worn by immersing the whole bouquet in the tub overnight. Tie the blossoms carefully in wax paper to prevent their getting wet.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1928

IS THERE A REASON?

One of the important daily newspapers of Michigan recently took occasion to severely criticize the weekly press of the state for publishing information which the daily paper declared to be propaganda issued by the so-called power trust. The material that has been provided the weekly papers of the state has come through a weekly editorial service issued by Fred Keister of Ionia.

His service was started originally as an aid to some editors who find their time too greatly occupied to look up and prepare suitable material for editorial purposes. As it developed he added articles that dealt with numerous subjects, among them being some urging farm electrification and dealing in general with electrical development.

The daily sees fit to damn the so-called country press for using some of this data that has been provided by Mr. Keister. Some other papers have gone so far as to say that the community editor of the state has been hood-winked in the use of misappropriated material.

First let's be fair in our view to the daily's apparent indignation. In the first place the so-called country editors that the country press of Michigan is so much cleaner than the daily press that there is no comparison between them. This assertion is made from an experience gained over a long period of years in the daily field.

As to the so-called "fixing" of the country editors—there has been nothing in the last. The Northville Record has never seen fit to use any of the material sent out by Mr. Keister. It is true that it has been required for information as to certain questions he has discussed; but it has been our practice to use no editorial comment if time forbids the preparation of it by the editor. Mr. Keister has time and again let it be known to the editors of the state that his service included material that had been provided by various political and business organizations. If some editors were not advised, then they must have been dumb-bells not to have known it. So there has been no deception of the editors by Mr. Keister or any one else.

The position of Editor Brown of the Ingham County News pertaining to the Keister matter is so ridiculous that it is hardly worth commenting about. In hot horror he proclaims the holiness of his paper. And it was just a week or so ago when he defended one of the rottenest pieces of public business the state has ever known.

Briefly as to this "matter" Editor Nowack of the Michigan State Digest had through action in the supreme court, forced Auditor General Fuller to reveal records he sought to suppress from the public. Then after he forced these books open, by a court action, he revealed how the records had been changed—and Editor Brown says it was all hokum, that Mr. Fuller hadn't after all really done anything wrong. "Mere piffle" in other words, according to this Ingham county publisher.

His position in defending this putrid piece of business and their joining with the daily press in its vicious attack upon his own associates in the weekly newspaper field is soazine that it goes beyond the comedy class.

The Northville Record editor owes Mr. Keister absolutely nothing. Its editor is not and never has been under the slightest obligation to him, or any one associated with him. Therefore what we say cannot be charged up as the payment of any obligation we owe Mr. Keister, who has long been regarded as one of the leading newspaper editors of the state.

If Mr. Keister has time to write material for the Michigan conservation department, if he has time to write newspaper articles for the bricklayers union, or the railroad association and send them out to the newspapers of Michigan, that is his own business. As to the use of these articles it is strictly up to the editor that receives them.

Our greatest concern is not so much over the attack that has been made on Keister as it is over the veiled insinuations against the Michigan Press Association and its membership. Editor Keister is well able to take care of himself, or when the charge is made that the whole association has been tricked into spreading propaganda of various brands or has knowingly been a party to it, this is a different matter and one of vital concern to every weekly newspaper in the state.

It is true that never a day passes but what some news article is received in the more important newspaper offices dealing with some question of general interest. The telephone company send out a vast amount of material. Much of it is as important as local news that passes over the editor's desk. All of the automobile companies maintain news publicity departments and can these three or four howling editors now busy singing songs as to their own intense purity say they never used any of it?

It is a pretty safe wager that a glance through their files will show many columns of this publicity material. But why should the daily press of Michigan, aided and abetted by a few unsophisticated weekly journals, be so concerned about the Michigan Press Association and its "rights?"

The association is well able to take care of its own problems. National advertisers have by test found the local advertiser that best results are secured through the home-town paper and, naturally this must be of some concern to the big publications that bow down and worship in front of the east wall.

It is quite apparent that the weekly newspapers of Michigan are growing in power; but they are cutting into the field of the daily press and that is the beginning of an effort to try and curb the remarkable development of the community papers. There can be no other reason for it—and the meaning being about the situation is that that some dozen weekly newspaper editors are joining in the fight that is being started against it on business.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE

In the twenty-five years ago items last week will round a partial list of incidents that happened in Northville on the Fourth of July. Seven boys had their faces burned by powder; another nearly lost his hand from the explosion of a firecracker and still another had the end of a finger blown off and suffered other injuries.

In the safe and sane Fourth celebration of this present year not a single youngster in Northville or vicinity was injured or burned by fireworks. In Detroit there were two or three, but in that great city the accidents were fewer this year than they were in Northville 25 years ago.

Surely we are making progress in some ways and we are using seemingly more common sense that we did a few years past. Now if we can cure the drunken automobile driver and the sap-headed drivers the millennium will about have been reached.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

KINSLY S. BINGHAM

Michigan's Agricultural College is mainly due to the efforts put forth in its behalf by Kinsley S. Bingham, a Free-Soil Democrat, who served the state as governor for two terms, being elected from 1855 to 1859. Born on a farm in New York in 1808, he moved to Livingston county a few months after his marriage. Clearing out a farm near Green Oak, he soon became one of the best known agriculturalists in that part of the state.

In 1836, when Michigan became a state, he was elected a member of the first legislature, serving for four terms, and acting as speaker of the house for three terms. His first public office was justice of the peace in Livingston county. He was also first probate judge of that county.

It was in 1846 when he was elected to congress, being the only practical farmer in that body at that time. He fought the extension of slavery and "Wood's Patent Cast Iron Plow."

When the Republican party was first organized in 1854, Bingham was elected as the Democratic candidate in opposition to the new party candidate. He served as Governor until 1858, being elected United States senator the following year.

He took an active part in the campaign at the time Abraham Lincoln was elected.

During his administration he saw to stitution of 1850 relative to an agricultural school were carried out. The M. A. C. was inaugurated and opened during his administration. The creation of the State Industrial School for Boys was also one of the accomplishments of his term as governor.

Many of the old friends of Mrs. Alice Jones of Novi met Tuesday afternoon to help her celebrate her 77th birthday. About 18 guests were present, all of them being friends and neighbors of Mrs. Jones when she arrived in that section as a young girl something like a half century ago. Mrs. Jones was showered with many pretty and useful gifts.

Leo Lawrence has among his possessions a copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, which carries a full account of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. The paper was among a number that Mr. Lawrence's father, for many years a state senator from Wyandotte, possessed.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Keeney and children left Monday night for Indianola, Iowa, for a few days' visit. Iowa is Edd's old home state, and he was about as pleased over his trip for a few days before departing as a four year old boy with new red top boots William Scott accompanied them on the trip.

In the mortgage sale notice running in the Record, the property in question was deeded by Fred Vanatta to Genevieve Nutz, November 9, 1927, subject to mortgage. The use of Mr. Vanatta's name in the notice is simply to comply with legal form. The arrangement was made on account of Mrs. Nutz being in Florida.

Mari Seeley and M. A. Porter spent Tuesday over in Lenawee county while there they visited at the home of Mr. Porter's brother, N. A. Porter, president of the Porter family organization and it is her plan to hold a big reunion in the near future. The Porter family were among the first to enter Lenawee county in the early days.

Mrs. Joseph McLaughlin and children will spend the next two weeks at Rock Lake.

Howard Church of Philadelphia, Pa., spent the week-end at the D. F. Griswold home.

Mrs. Blanche McKinney and son, Newman, motored to Glenn Lake for a few days' outing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Balso and Mrs. Charles Kreeger spent the week-end in Detroit with their sister.

The Misses Jean and Helen Cunningham motored to Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday, where they will spend some time visiting.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Bourne, corner Cadet and Rogers street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Nelson-Schrader and daughter, Reva, gave a very pleasant miscellaneous shower for Luella Riley. About 20 guests were present.

Forace Boyd has returned to a hospital in Grand Rapids for additional treatment. He is planning on returning home in two or three weeks.

The ladies of Forget-Me-Not will hold their next regular meeting with initiation, next Monday evening, July 23rd, at 7:30. All are requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Riley of Hastings and their two daughters were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Riley of this place. Mr. Riley went into Detroit for the conclave.

Thomas Mess well known architect of this section, who was operated upon a few days ago in Harper Hospital Detroit, is getting along nicely. It will be some time before he will be able to return home.

Mrs. William Mara who was operated upon at the Highland Park hospital last week for appendicitis is making a very satisfactory recovery. However, it will be some little time before she will be able to return to her home in Northville.

Little Ardella Kidd daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kidd, who fell while roller skating recently in Detroit and broke her left arm as well as spraining her right arm is recovering rapidly from her injury. The accident happened while he was visiting in the nearby city.

Roy Clark, president of the Rural Carriers' Association of Wayne County, will go to East Jordan this week where he will attend the annual state convention of the Michigan Rural Carriers' Association. Mr. Clark has for many years been one of the active workers in the organization.

On Friday evening July 14th, about thirty of the Macabre ladies of Forget-me-Not Hly gathered at the home of Mrs. Barney Schultz in honor of Mrs. Luella Riley. An enjoyed a very pleasant evening at cards after which Luella was presented with an electric toaster and American Beauty flat iron.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Burkhardt have started the construction of a new residence on Fairbrook Avenue near First street. Dr. Burkhardt sometime ago purchased four acres of land in that section. The house will be of attractive design, and will be completed about the middle of September. The large acreage gives him plenty of room for his riding horses.

PLANE INDUSTRY
GROWTH AMAZING TO ALL INDUSTRY

Figures Show It Is Growing
By Leaps And Bounds

Of especial interest to residents of Northville is an article appearing in an eastern paper pertaining to the remarkable development of the aircraft industry. In less than a year's time Northville has become one of the important centers in America of aircraft manufacturing, and because of this fact detailed information pertaining to the growth of the business is of more than ordinary interest here.

The article says:

"Indications point strongly to the probability that more than 15,000 airplanes will be constructed in the United States this year. This is far in excess of any previous record, even in war times."

Business in the domestic aircraft industry has been of such proportions as to remove all doubts that the present year will be the most profitable one that the manufacturers have ever enjoyed. Unquestionably, the orders now booked which are much in excess of expectations, are the result of the tremendous interest aroused in commercial aviation by the commercial flights in the last few months.

In spite of the tremendous gain that has been registered, there is every positive that the future increase in this industry will make the present output seem almost infinitely small.

The court of the aircraft business is definitely toward and the other day Mr. Foraceen is the owner operator. When war influence producers referred to the possibilities of the next two or three years it was felt that there would have to be a period of expansion in the industry, as there was no room for electricity in aircraft and the radio business.

The growth of aviation industry has been amazing. At the close of the World War there were a number of excess planes in existence. These were sold to commercial companies and by 1922 450 machines were employed by 120 companies operating from demilitarized fields. There was a steady falling off in interest by the public in 1922 due to some extent to high insurance charges and insurance accidents as a result of the use of planes which were becoming un-quoted.

In 1924 fewer than 64 concerns were operating from a fixed base. Then came the striking activity of the government in air mail transmission, and this built up the industry again at the rate it has been increasing steadily ever since.

In 1926 the output of planes in the United States totaled 1,126, of which 258 were the commercial type. In 1927, there were 1,962 planes built, valued at $14,250,000, and there were unfilled orders for 1,200 on hand at the beginning of the year, making a total business in 1927 of approximately 3,000 planes. Five times that number are almost certain to be built this year.

The trade has been so active that nearly all the manufacturers who had restricted themselves previously to military machines for the army and navy, once their best customers, now are building commercial planes.

Despite the increased production, nearly all the principal manufacturers are having difficulty keeping deliveries up with orders. Some producers have sufficient orders on hand to keep their plants at capacity until October or later.

The leading interest in the airplane manufacturing field is now producing at the rate of 100 machines a month. This concern will probably turn over 1,500 engines this year, over double the amount made in 1926.

The second largest producer thus far rose from 24 planes and 16 motors in the first quarter of 1927 to 77 planes and 45 motors in the last three months of 1928. Officials expect total sales of airplanes to exceed $6,500,000 this year as compared with $3,950,000 in 1927. Other manufacturers are working at full capacity.

American manufacturers are also reaping the record breaking demand from foreign countries. Total exports of aircraft, engines and parts in the first quarter of the year were at least 250 percent larger than in the corresponding period of 1927. This rate of gain seems likely to continue throughout the year.

In 1927 the commercial airplane miles flown totaled 8,491,417 as compared with 7,656,492 in 1926. It is estimated there are now over 12,000 miles of airways in operation and that 26,000 miles are being flown over these lines every day."

MURPHY TALKS TO ROTARIANS—LAUDS
WORK OF LANGFIELD

Says Community Owes Him
Debt For What
He Has Done

In a talk before members of the Rotary club Monday noon, M. J. Murphy, who has just retired as president of the Northville Exchange Club, paid his respects to Edward C. Langfield, secretary of the Northville school board, and declared that Northville as a community owed him debt of gratitude.

The brief tribute came during a talk Mr. Murphy was making in which he urged Rotarians to get out and vote Monday night in behalf of the school bonding question.

"The land is needed by the district and we should by all means purchase it," But I am here to tell you that I doubt if any other man in the town could have secured the terms that Mr. Langfield did for the property. It was through his effort that the price was reduced nearly half from what had been originally asked.

Not only is the board secretary but all other members of the board entitled to the thanks of the community for what they have done," stated Mr. Murphy.

In his brief talk he said that it was indeed fortunate for Northville that it had two active luncheon clubs.

"I used to think that there wasn't room here for but one. I have come to the conclusion that there is room for two and that is better that there should be two clubs in the town. We have our own way of doing things and the community profits from it," he said.

Potatoes grown under paper mulch last year on one of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's experimental plots came into flower 10 days earlier than the plants grown without the paper mulch. The average weight per plant of the mulched plants was 380 grams, while that of the unmulched plants was only 81.

This increased growth of the potato plants under the paper mulch was typical of the response obtained with various other truck crops. While the practical use of such a mulch is closely associated with climatic, crop, market, and labor conditions, its possible adoption as a means of hastening the maturity of crop is of interest to growers anxious for early market.

FEDERAL TIRES and TUBES

Has a Greater Meaning Than the Guarantee of all Others.

The wear and wonderful quality that is built in Federal makes them greater than the thousands of miles guarantee others boast of on paper. From actual mileage by our customers we know they outrun the average tire 4000 to 5000 miles—10,000 more miles than the unknown makes of tires.

Price—Just imagine being able to get these nationally known tires at such ridiculously low prices! We sell at wholesale—we are able to do this on account of the direct buying from the manufacturer and the tremendous volume we do in selling tires.

Reach California after Most Interesting Trip
To Coast

Mr. and Mrs. James Copeland, who recently left Northville to make their future home in California, have arrived there safely and in a better to their many friends through the Northville Record, say they are enjoying the beauties and climate of the Pacific coast.

The interesting letter follows:

165 W. Terebinth Ave.,
Compton, Calif.

July 7, 1928

Northville Record.

Dear Sir:

We have just been reading the records of June 8th and 15th, and we enjoy them very much, now that we are quite a distance from Northville. We would like if you can send the Record direct to us here. We have rented a house here in the meantime, but of course don't know how long, as it all depends where Mr. Copeland may be located in his work. I am hoping that we can remain here as we both like this town and we are located in a very pretty and convenient Spanish-style bungalow in a nice locality. We had a wonderful trip—just jogged along for three weeks and half. Went out of our way about 140 miles to see the Grand Canyon of Arizona. Truly a most wonderful sight indeed! Quite indescribable—works of space and silence.

We also enjoyed our "trip to see the Petrified Forest"—where we found trees date back to 200 million years ago. Through the action of the acid rain, some of the trees were broken in half right. Some of the trees were as tall as 100 feet, standing in the middle of the forest. It was a feeling of sadness that it was as if I were standing in a cemetery—feeling as if the dead gods were watching.

The Painted Desert was the most beautiful sight I have ever seen in color I think. All the most delicate pastel shades were there in rock and sand. It was quite interesting also to go through New Mexico village and towns. Didn't say I was very impressed, though with their adobe houses. And the Indians I always thought I had seen Indians but have now come to the conclusion that until now I had never seen a real Indian. The men all seemed to have long hair, while with a few exception, the women had their bobbed. We had quite a lot of fun with one very bobbed-hair square. We had stopped to buy water in our truck and she came up trying to sell her ware—hand-made pottery and such like. I wanted to take her picture, but when I produced my camera she exclaimed, "No picture no good." I said, "Oh yes, you can. Send it back first." She kept saying, "No picture no good" and whenever we saw her, we just came into contact with her. She never closed close to me, so that I couldn't take her picture. Then she began to give us black stockings with red sides. Black stockings for rings! I said to Mr. Copeland, "I can't imagine she did not understand us." Looks like Miss America is the real to be, and she certainly is excellent. No good no coal!" I began to think it was necessary to move on. Tried several times to carry a picture of Indians, but they usually put their hands before their faces. However, I did manage to get one snap of some Indians on horseback. They certainly seem to know how to take care of their horses, for they all look like very smart and well fed animals. Oh, the whole, though the Indians seemed friendly enough—would give us a wave as we passed.

Well, we crossed so many mountains that I never see a hill, but I'm trying to see the trail on it. Personally, give me the ocean!

At the present time, I think mountains are good for only one thing and that is scenery. They make a beautiful background, but they tell me here that I'll get accustomed to them by and bye. As yet, I haven't gotten beyond the stage of holding fast to my seat as we go over the passes.

We had it pretty hot coming through the deserts. Two days we had 108 and 112° in the shade at 5:00 p.m. Still it wasn't really so bad as we had pictured it. Kept always a supply of water on hand with us. One place, Vicksburg, I think, I turned on a faucet outside the post office, and I couldn't hold my fingers in the water it was so hot. One desert we camped in, one night, we had a visit from a coyote. It came quite near us several times, in an effort to reach the dogs eating fish, but every time our dog would snarl and chase it away. We certainly have a wonderful sentinel—a police dog that Will Smith presented to us this morning. We'll see what kind of get we'll have at night.

We have to get settled down and get to business. We have only had a wonderful time and we rented this house here. We're buying cows and getting fresh and close-up cows for sale.

ELEPHANTS COMING TO BIG NORTHLVILLE FAIR

It's a known fact that a circus is never complete without elephants and peanuts; these being considered two essentials necessary to its success. Without the ponderous pachyderms much of the atmosphere would be lacking and reflect strongly at the ticket box. The Northville Wayne County fair always has the peanuts in abundance, and this year is going to provide the elephants.

Walsh's Jumbo elephants, "the lightweights of the jungle giants," is one of the quickest and fastest elephant acts in the country. These are baby-like elephants, of droll gaiety and amusing swiftness in playful antics yet disclosing an astounding degree of intelligence and extraordinary achievement of training, inconceivable strength and incredible lightness.

Never before has an elephant act ever been booked for the local fair, and it is safe to be one of the big features of the fete fair.

Officials of the association are out to make the fair this year the biggest and best ever held. This is the reason they're going out of their way to book some of the finest attractions that can be secured anywhere.

BLACK DIAMOND TEAM IS RECALLED

Mayor Charles Filkins was out on the Bag Line the other day looking over some contemplated public improvements. He glanced over at the home of George Yerkes.

"I remember back when George Yerkes and myself, and some other fellows thought it was about the biggest thing in a man's life to play on the old Black Diamond baseball team. I used to play center field, and George played right field. He was a pretty good player, too," said the mayor.

"There are a lot of other fellows around town who played on the team. Frank Harmon played third base and was catcher on the team, and Don William Yerkes first base. My brother was catcher of the team, and Don Yerkes, Sr., was pitcher. Don was one of the best around here. He would have been good on a big team. We used to have lots of fun. The Black Diamond team got to be pretty well known. In fact, it was about one of the best around here," stated the mayor.

MUSICIANS GIVE
IDEAL PROGRAM

Members of the local Exchange club were favored Wednesday noon with an exceptionally fine musical program rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Evans and Miss June Filkins. Mr. Evans will be remembered in Northville as he spent his early years in the Northville schools. He is in complete charge of all music in the schools of Waterbury, Connecticut.

The trio rendered many beautiful vocal, piano and violin selections which met with much favor with the club members. Miss Filkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Filkins, is in charge of the musical departments of one of the Detroit schools. She is well-known in Detroit musical circles. Mrs. Evans a graduate of a well-known Chicago musical college favored the club with a number of southern melodies. The program was one of the best that the local club has ever had.

James Campbell of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, was introduced to the club Wednesday as its baby member, making the club membership now 52. Plans for the next meeting were left in the hands of Vice President John Kaltfleisch as the president and many of the members will be at the national convention in Toledo.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. George Ford of Tennell Avenue, Thursday, July 26th. A very interesting program has been prepared under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Carrington.

The Old Red Barn

By the School House
Should somebody passing over this country road,
Hear the sound of the hammer, the modern way
To give a good-bye to the landmarks erade.

Pause and listen a while with just a remark,
And something to say ere the shingles and Board disappear. The old barn is doomed,

And a landmark that stood at the top of the hill

Will no longer be seen when the children return.

And school will begin again.
Thus we pause to give a refrain.

The children who come romping along will see the old barn is passed and gone;

A vision of time will older ones haunt.
As a remembrance of years they begin to count.

Once it did shelter the old family horse;

Then came the car, no need for a wagon.
With the rushing saluted progress

Old time and her memories flag

So end we resign to the passing of time.

We just give the old barn

Our refrain in this rhyme

Who runs may read, and the autos
That speed in passing the school house today.

In a Waterford grove where the landmark has stood

We ask consideration if the rhyme

too is erade

As no school girl are we.

Many years we have known:

Light and shadows have flown,

Yet we would give a thought

Ere the last shringle falls,

Lest the barn and the memory

And all will be gone

TOWN PROGRESS TALKS

Our nation was founded on the motto, "United we stand, divided we fall," and every community in the land today exists on that principle. Together we can accomplish anything—divided with each person suspicious and working against the other, we get nowhere. We should emulate the "Three Musketeers," "One for all, and all for one." You can't beat that kind of a partnership. Cooperation makes successful and happy communities. When each man helps his neighbor, the difficulties which attend the securing of public improvements fade away like mist before the sun. So when we are asked to put our shoulder to the wheel for the public welfare, let's respond with a royal good will.
