

BOARD TO ISSUE ONLY $22,000 OF THE BONDS VOTED

Find it Will Not be Necessary to Use Full Sum Authorized

School board officials at an informal meeting to discuss the recent bond issue authorized by the voters of the school district, have decided that it will be necessary to issue but $22,000 of the $25,000 that was authorized by the voters.

At a meeting to be held during the present week final steps will be taken to have the bonds sold so that the property can be taken over and improved before school begins.

The decision of the board to not use all the money that the district authorized them to do will be pleasing news to the voters of Northville and vicinity.

President Ernest Miller stated that the land can be purchased and improved within the price authorized by the district.

While it will be necessary for the board to set aside some of the cash they have on hand outside the bond issue to take care of bonds that will fall due in 1931, the board members believe there will be enough left in the general fund to take care of what improvements may be necessary.

The brick house will be remodeled and used for school rooms, and the old frame house will be removed from the property entirely, as it is not suitable for school purposes.

MAN FALLS DEAD IN CASS BENTON PARK MONDAY EVE

Body Lays Hours Waiting for Slow Moving Coroner to Arrive

Alexander Siler, aged 52 years, 14077 Ohio avenue, Detroit, died suddenly Monday night on Cass Benton park where he had gone with his family to spend the evening. They had just finished eating their lunch when Mr. Siler laid down on the grass he said to secure a little rest.

The rest of the family were nearby when they heard him suddenly gasp. Hurrying to him, they found that he was dead.

Park keepers called the coroner's office in Detroit, and it was something like three hours before they arrived. Not so long ago another death took place near here, where the coroner was called, and it was over six hours before he arrived to remove the body.

Under a piece of vicious legislation, the coroners were instrumental in having jammed through the last session of the legislature, it makes it unlawful for an undertaker to remove a body, where death has been by accident or under circumstances similar to this one in Cass Benton park until the coroner has arrived and viewed the body.

One person said out at the park that it was a case of where the coroners got the legislation passed so that they might turn it over to some undertaker friend or to some undertaking parlors they were interested in personally.

The fact that the body laid in the park for hours cast a gloom over the big crowd that had come to enjoy the evening in one of Wayne county's most beautiful playgrounds. Keepers of Cass Benton park did all they could to expedite matters.

OLD MAP FOUND BY SALEM RESIDENT

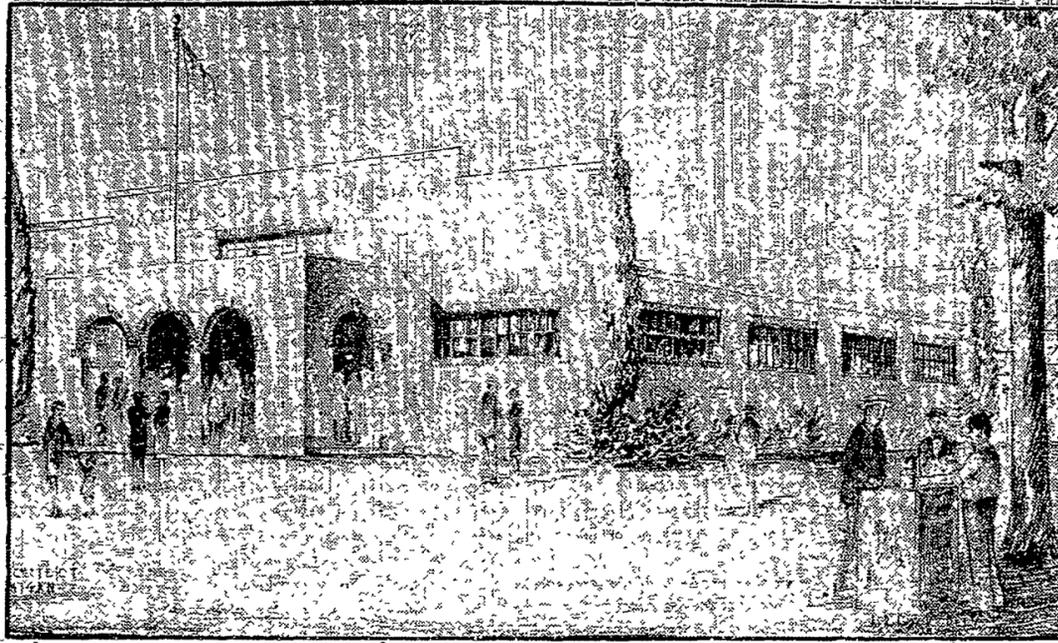

A map of Wayne county made in the year of 1860, which does not show Northville township, has been found by Mrs. E. L. Williams of Salem, in the attic of the home in which she lives. The map is one of the few of its kind in existence, and it is the purpose of Mrs. Williams to have it repaired and cleaned up. It shows the village of Northville as a little community with houses lining one side of a street.

Plymouth is also a "one street" town on the map, all the stores and houses being located on a thoroughfare that ran north and south through the town. Waterford is shown as quite a place. The owner of each farm is marked plainly on the map.

If weeds and grass insists upon coming up in the gravel walk or drive use a strong solution of salt and water or gasoline. Either one will very quickly destroy vegetation.

New Exhibitors' Building For The Milford Fair

Courtesy Milford Times

When the Milford fair opens next Wednesday, the thousands from this section who always attend will witness the opening of the new Exhibitors' building. The structure is 60x72 and is of concrete and brick. It is large enough for 24 different exhibits. Northville and Milford have always worked hand in hand in promoting the two splendid fairs held in the two places, and officials of the Northville fair association are planning on running over to Milford to be present at the opening. The fair starts Wednesday and runs through to Saturday night.

EDISON CO. WILL START BUILDING MONDAY MORNING

New Office Building to be One of the Best in the State

A big steam shovel will Monday morning begin excavation for the new Edison district office building that is to be erected at the northeast corner of Center and Dunlap streets.

Announcement was made Wednesday by Manager Edward Mills that the lowest bid for the job was presented by John Patterson, Plymouth contractor, and that the company had awarded him the contract. Other bidders for the job were Detroit firms.

The steam shovel will be moved on the lot tomorrow, and it is believed that the excavation will be completed within a week. The earth taken from the basement will be used for street filling along North Center street in front of the Ely property, where the village expects to begin paving soon.

The structure to be erected by the company will be a large one, 45 feet by 75 feet deep. It will face Center street and will be built directly on the corner, leaving the north portion of the lot for storage purposes. The site, for the purpose it is to be used, is one of the most desirable in Northville. The basement will be under the entire building. The building will be two stories high.

Brick, stone and marble will be used in the outside walls. It is the general practice of the Detroit Edison company to erect buildings that are a credit to the community in which they are located, and there is no question but what the Northville office block will be among the most modern and best equipped in the state.

It is expected that the structure will be completed and ready for occupancy by December first.

The sale of postage stamps and stamped paper again took another jump in July at the Northville post-office. The July sales amounted to $1,451.00, which is larger than for the same period last year by $375.00. This year's sales is the largest for any July in the history of the postoffice. In this sale there was 21,141 two-cent stamps, which shows that Northville people are some letter writers.

OLD LANDMARK IS BEING REMOVED FOR A NEW BLOCK

Brader Lets Contract to Alex Johnson for New Building

When workmen under the direction of Contractor Alex Johnson Wednesday morning started the removal of the building on East Main street that has in recent years been known as the Ware restaurant, Northville lost one of its oldest landmarks.

The building is being removed to make way for the construction of a modern two-story business block to be erected by Sam Brader. Excavation for the basement will be completed within the next two or three days.

The old building that is being torn down is believed to be nearly a hundred years old. No one around town could be found who could tell for what purpose the structure was first erected.

Contractor Johnson stated that the original structure was only about 35 or 40 feet deep, and that some years after it was first built, an addition had been constructed to the building.

Among the oldest residents of the town, all of them agreed that along about 60 or 75 years ago the structure was occupied by John Owenshire, who used the building as a sort of chair manufacturing plant.

The boys around town used to go out and get bundles or flags for him. He used them in seating the chairs. We used to get five cents a bundle. More than one bundle I have got right down here, on South Center street near where the Johnson house now stands, stated Charles Sessions who was born in Northville 75 years ago.

One to look at the section of the city where Sessions states he used to collect reeds can hardly realize that the territory was at one time swamp land.

Another old pioneer stated that Owenshire for a short time used the place as an undertaking parlor. In later years a man named Sands went into business with him. They used to make their coffins in the building, later moving across the street to the building now occupied by Lester Stage.

"When someone died, Owenshire would go out and measure the body, and Sands would then make the coffin," said one.

Another recalled the fact that Owenshire had a team that was rather speedy, and that he was not at all adverse even when driving for a funeral to step out and beat any team that tried to pass him on the way to the cemetery.

The new building that Sam Brader has let the contract to Mr. Johnson for will be ready for occupancy about the first of October.

The structure will be of brick and concrete construction. There will be two big store rooms and two apartments above the stores. Mr. Brader will occupy one store and will lease the other. He will also occupy one of apartments above the store.

LOOK OUT FOR THE ALLIGATOR!

Look out! There is an alligator running at large in Northville.

If you see it, do not kill it, but call out Rev. Richards and the police department, and corral it until they arrive.

Here's how it all happened: Rev. Wm. Richards, agent over to the National Exchange Club convention at Toledo.

Delegates from the sporting state came up to buy votes with alligators.

Just how the parson got an alligator nobody knew, because he wasn't a voting delegate—but he got an alligator, brought it home, fed it raw beef—and then it made its escape.

Doc Schaylor is making plans to erect an alligator proof fence around his place and John Walker says if it comes in his pool room he will hit it on the head with a billiard cue—just to stun it until help can arrive.

So look out—there is an alligator running wild in Northville.

CASTERLINE IS NOW SOLE OWNER OF GAS STATION

Purchases Interests of His Partner—Plans to Expand

Through a business transaction closed Wednesday afternoon, Clifford Casterline became the sole owner of the gas and automobile service station known in the past as the Elkington & Casterline service station located at the foot of Main street.

Mr. Casterline has assumed immediate control of the entire business, and it is his purpose to continue the operation of the business along the same progressive lines that have prevailed in the past.

It was exactly three years ago to the day that the two hustlers went into business together. During that time they have built up one of the biggest service stations in western Wayne county.

Besides the gas and oil business there is operated in connection with the station a big tire business, tire repairing, battery service and recently installed one of the most modern car washing racks about here. There is every arrangement for speedy as well as quality service.

Mr. Casterline has hundreds of friends who wish him well in his new venture. William Elkington has not announced his plans for the future, but he will continue to make his home in Northville.

No garden or border of perennials should be allowed to become overcrowded or too bare. Removal of a few plants, where they have become crowded, may entail a sacrifice, but it should be done.

ASSOCIATES IN MOTION PICTURE WORK ARE WEDDED

Manager and Cashier of Theatre Now on Tour of the West

Announcements are out of the marriage of Jacob Strenich, manager of the Penitman Allen theaters, and Miss Margaret Strenich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strenich of Plymouth, by Father Frank LeFevre at the parish house in Plymouth, last Saturday.

The young couple, both popular with a wide circle of friends, are now on an automobile-wedding tour of the northwest and expect to be gone for some time. After returning they will make their home in Plymouth.

The groom has for a number of years been manager of the Penitman Allen theaters, and the bride has won hundreds of friends for herself by the pleasing way she has treated the crowds that have passed the ticket windows of the theaters in Northville and Plymouth, where she has been employed as cashier.

Their hosts of friends wish them every success and a long and profitable as well as happily married life.

HIGH OFFICIAL OF WEST IS VISITOR

There isn't much interest out our way in the Democratic party or its candidate for president, declared E. W. Porter, banking commissioner of the state of Idaho, who has been spending a few days this week visiting his brother, Marion Porter, Mr. Porter is on his way home in the west from a meeting in New York city of the banking commissioners of all the states.

"I was quite surprised at some of the assertions made by the representatives from some of the southern states. In fact, some of them, and they were Democrats, asserted that they believed their states would go for the Republican national ticket," he said.

"Out in our country it is all very strong for Hoover. He will get the biggest vote I think any candidate for the presidency has ever received in the west."

Mr. Porter declared that the northwest had overcome the setback it received a number of years ago and that business was very good in that part of the country at present.

HAILSTORM DOES GREAT DAMAGE

During the terrific downpour that Northville experienced last Friday noon, fruit growers and farmers living out northwest of town suffered a loss of many thousands of dollars from the terrific hail storm that prevailed for about 20 minutes. Fruit was cut from the trees or so badly bruised that it will not be marketable. Corn was shredded so bad that the crop is practically a total loss.

The apple and plum crops will probably not be harvested. The Fred Simmons and Hamilton fruit farms had probably the greatest losses. Insurance will partly cover the big loss.

STINSON AVIATOR TELLS OF FLIGHT MADE FOR TROPHY

Bruce Braun Gives Interesting Details to Rotary Club

The story of the wonderful flight of three Stinson aircraft entered in the national endurance, the story of how 23 aircraft made a circuit of the entire western country, flying from the Ford airport to Texas, California, Washington, Montana and back to Detroit, without a single mishap although all kinds of weather and flying conditions were encountered, was most interestingly told by Bruce Braun, one of the Stinson pilots who made a remarkable record for himself in the race.

In brief his story was a review of the flight from the time it was started until the end. "Eddie" Stinson was so rushed with work that he could not personally come to the club to tell of the flight so he sent up Mr. Braun, who proved to be a most interesting substitute.

Our first stop was in Indianapolis. It was terribly hot there and so it was in St. Louis. Down into Oklahoma, then Texas the first leg of the flight took us. It was in Texas that we ran into our first dust storm. They said if you get up in the air 4,000 or 5,000 feet you will be above a dust storm, but I was up 12,000 feet, and it was just as bad there as it was down below," he said.

"The next stop was at El Paso. We experienced warm weather until we reached the Pacific coast. When we left Tucson, Arizona, for Yuma, Arizona, it was something like 110 in the shade and there was no shade. At Yuma, said to be the hottest place in the United States, it was 112. Yuma is something like 180 to 200 feet below sea level.

"We flew over the Imperial valley of California, then over the mountains and into San Diego that afternoon. When we reached San Diego we needed topcoats it was so cool. From San Diego we flew up to Los Angeles, along the coast line. It was a beautiful sight. We flew low, and could see all the pretty homes and resorts that dotted the coast line. In Los Angeles we were given a fine reception. In fact, we were in every place that we stopped. Everyone seemed interested in aviation and everyone seemed anxious to do all they could for us. Los Angeles is an especially beautiful place. We flew over to Fresno, and someone in Fresno told us that it was the sunshine they prized so highly and regarded as so valuable to that part of the country. Well, I will say there was plenty of it.

Up in San Francisco we ran into the fog that lies over that part of the country all the time. But it was the most interesting flying all along the Pacific coast. In Oregon and Washington we flew through canyons with great mountains towering on each side of us.

"It was over in Montana where we stopped at one place the city had secured permission from the state conservation department to give us a dinner of mountain trout. They had 1400 of the speckled beauties fried up—I never ate so many trout and such delicious ones in my life.

"From there on it was home, through the northwest and back to Chicago. It is always difficult flying around Chicago because of the smoke haze. You have got to stay down close, something like 300 feet.

"The trip was a wonderful one. There were no mishaps, except one in Texas, when one machine in landing at a high altitude suffered some broken parts that could not be replaced quickly and had to drop out of the contest."

One Rotarian after hearing the talk, declared that if 24 automobiles started out on such a tour, it would be a pretty safe bet that at least a dozen of them would get smashed up and probably have many hurt. In the air tour no one suffered the slightest injury, which demonstrates the safety of present day flying.

Edward Mills, manager of the Detroit Edison company district here, was chairman of the program. Two very pleasing vocal solos were given by Miss June Filkins, accompanied by Mrs. John Tuhan, another popular Northville musician.

The most effective method of eradicating moles in the garden, according to many who have tried various ways, is the castor bean. This is deadly poison to them and they are fond of the bean.

ADY RESIDENTS ANXIOUS FOR NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM

asking What Has Become of Proposition Voted Year Ago

Light! That is what Cady street residents are asking about.

It seems the story is rather a brief one—and not at all complicated.

When the street was paved something like a year ago, and the city commission started its new ornamental lighting system, Cady street residents petitioned for light.

The city commission voted light for Cady street.

"I started out the other day looking for light," said one Cady street resident.

"I walked down to Center street. There I thought I saw light twinkling amid the upper branches of a carefully grown burdock plant, but I wasn't sure. However, speaking seriously, we are anxious to have our new lighting system installed. I know that the city has had much to do, but with the completion of our paving and the assurance that we would have the new lighting system on our street, we think now would be a good time to have it installed," he said.

Since Cady street has been paved the automobile traffic on the street has been almost as great as that on Dunlap street, if not more so.

Residents believe that it will make it safer for auto drivers and pedestrians as well, if the street is better lighted.

DEHOCo DEFEATED BY ROCHESTER IN RAGGED CONTEST

Harry German Goes in Too Late to Save Day for Invaders

Old man, mnx, who seems to tran DeHoCo when they go away from home, was present again Sunday, July 29th, when DeHoCo journeyed to Rochester and consequently the Farmer boys went down to defeat by the score of 4 to 2.

Constance, DeHoCo's opening batter, had trouble locating the plate, and retired in favor of H. German before a man was put out. The bases were loaded and one run was in when German stepped to the mound. The first Rochesterite to face him, singled, and two more runs scored. German found himself and retired Rochester in each inning except the fourth, when two doubles and a base on balls accounted for another run.

Cox, who pitched the entire game for Rochester, was master of the situation at all times, and the best DeHoCo could do was to get two runs off five hits, five errors, and two bases on balls. Cox had them swinging at the third one, which is attested by his eighth strike-outs

Jaska with a home run, and Hammond with a double and single, did the heavy clouting for DeHoCo, while Wold with a double and single, and M. Bearas, with a two-bagger, starred for Rochester.
The switch in playing positions made between Destefano, Martin and Jaska, seemed to eliminate errors in that section, but they broke out in another spot, when Denzilson and Constance each contributed one. Some of the Rochester fans were wondering if McKinzie, Rochester shortstop, was on the DeHoCo payroll because he ooted four out of five chances.

Next Sunday, August 5th, DeHoCo will journey to Selfridge Field, Michigan to engage the Aviators in an Inter-County League game.

Following is the League standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Per
Holly	3	3	.500
West Point	4	4	.500
DeHoCo	9	4	.692
Pontiac	8	6	.571
Rochester	7	7	.500
Municipal Club	6	8	.429
Selfridge Flyers	4	7	.364
Oron	1	12	.077

STREET CARS NOW RUN FROM DETROIT TO FARMINGTON

Reduction Has Been Made Under Present Bus Fare into City.

According to the Redford Record, street car service on Grand River direct from the city of Detroit to Farmington was inaugurated last Sunday. Editor Babcock in his paper says:

"The new service is to operate on a 40-minute schedule throughout the day. The run to the city hall from Farmington will require 35 minutes. More frequent service and a speeding up of the cars will probably follow, if the patronage warrants it."

Fares on the line from Farmington to Detroit will be 26 cents a reduction of 14 cents from the present bus cost.

The present fleet of 14 buses will be released from the Grand River system upon the inauguration of the car service. A number of these coaches, rented from the Detroit Motorbus company, will be returned to that firm.

Re-conditioning of the tracks from Redford to Farmington is in progress this week. Workmen are straightening and leveling the rails and road-bed wherever necessary and repairing the trolley wires.

The tracks from Redford to Five Points will get a thorough reconditioning along with the rest of the line from Meyers road northwest, if there are enough funds available through the half a million dollar loan to the D. S. R. from the city recommended last week. Del A. Smith states it is not yet definitely known whether there will be sufficient money to include this strip in the repaving and conditioning program now under way on the Grand River line.

NORTHVILLE Twenty-five Years Ago

Supervisor Benton was before the Board of tax commissioners this week, and was able to tell the commission a thing or two at that. They don't fool the Northville supervisor very much.

Clayton Deake of Salem township, is the champion "huckleberry" of this vicinity, so far reported. Last week one day at Silver Lake, he picked three and a half bushels of berries in six and a half hours, wading in from one to four feet of water to get them. Two men secured six bushels in six hours.

People who are well posted claim that one of the imperative needs on North Center street is a supply of new hitching posts.

SCHOOL BAND IS PLAYING FOR MANY EVENTS THESE DAYS

Provided Music for Training School Circus—Will go to Wayne

These are busy days for members of the Northville School Community band. Edward C. Langfield, who is directing the affairs of the organization and who is doing much to build up and strengthen the splendid musical group that he has fathered, was out at the Wayne County Training school with the band last Saturday afternoon.

It was "circus" day at the school, the 500 pupils taking part in a series of events they had arranged. The Northville school band provided the music for the circus. It was not only a gala day for the children of the school, but for the Northville band as well.

Then followed the band concert down town Saturday evening. A bigger crowd than had greeted the players at any other time applauded their excellent music. Next Friday over at Wayne at the big home-coming that has been arranged for that community, the Northville band will lead the parade. Wayne has arranged a two-day celebration, and the local musicians will not only lead the parade at the opening of the celebration, but they will give a concert after the parade.

The band is proving quite an attraction in nearby communities as well as in Northville. The dream of Mr. Langfield has come true, the band is something that is a credit to Northville.

What is considered a heavy infection of bovine tuberculosis now exists in only 3.5 per cent of the total area of the United States, according to the fourth biennial survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This figure indicates a great reduction since the last survey was made. The salvage now paid is larger than formerly. During the ten months ending in April the average state indemnity was $29.23, the average federal indemnity, $18.63, and the average salvage, $38.00.

NORTHVILLE TEAM WINS FAST CONTEST

The Northville Baseball club won a keenly contested game at the Northville fair grounds, Sunday winning from the Detroit Carburetor team by the close score of 5 to 4 in the ninth inning.

Going into the last inning one run behind, the local boys started a rally that resulted in a well earned victory. Particular credit is due to Slicker Parks—the hard hitting outfielder, who made three good hits in four times at bat. "Round" Legs Smith, who pinch hit in the last inning for Eston gave a good account of himself.

The visitors produced a clean, fast ball game and many who witnessed the contest hope to see them back in the near future for another game. The re-organized team is playing some good games, and as a result is winning local support.

KICK 'EM OUT

For several years past the conservation department of the state of Michigan has leased out to certain parties the so-called concession rights at Island Lake park.

For many years past either the Exchange club or the Rotary club of Northville has each summer provided the unfortunate children of Detroit, who are sent out to the William H. Mayberry Sanatorium for a brief glimpse of some of nature's beauties and a little fresh air with an outing at some nearby lake.

It has been the practice of the clubs to take the children over to Walled Lake. There the concessions are privately owned, the bathing beaches are privately owned and the parks along the lake are privately owned.

But over at the public owned, public managed and public supported state park, it is altogether different.

Scarcely there is but one thought in the minds of the concession holders - get the dough even if it equates out of the high of little crippled and tubercular children.

There is no sentiment in their business. They will grab what they can get and they will grab it while the sun is good.

So rotten was their conduct in the past that the Northville Rotary Club and Dr. Clarence A. Ryan in charge of the children unit at the Sanatorium, have filed a protest with the conservation department in Lansing.

Now if the members of the conservation commission and officials in charge of the department really are operating for the benefit of the people, there will be a house-cleaning at Island Lake so quick that some of these concession grabbers will wonder what it is all about.

However, if the conservation commission and department officials are in favor of the measly trick that was put over on the little 100 or so unfortunate children from Detroit a few days ago, then they will permit the same outfit to run the park, and let the matter go unnoticed, which doubt-

WHY NOT TRY A 25c LINER IN THE RECORD?

SAWS SING WHILE NAILS FLY DOWN

Rotarians and Exchangeites
Give Association a Big Lift

Members of the Northville Rotary club, eight or ten of them drove nails, sawed boards and walked the high steel across down at the fair grounds of the Northville Wayne County Fair association just before seven o'clock yesterday afternoon in placing steel girders 200 and 300 feet across the eastern sky line.

In English, they were the first to see something like the 400 square feet of roof boards a record that would be hard to ever see an experienced union of hammer welders to excel.

Ernest Muller bank cashier, was the first on the job. Then came the straw boss Ray Richardson, Master of all ceremonies, Floyd Northrop, must have slept on the job. No one was there to tell at what hour he arrived. When "Bitch" Baldwin started skyward it was necessary for the carpenters to cut a larger hole through the roof to let him through.

Some of the real artists with the hammer, like Floyd Stafer, Wellington Roberts, Charles Schultze, Ray Van Valkenburgh and John McCully, did their "bit" and left before the sun went down.

Fortunate indeed were the Rotary workers who were on the job Monday forenoon. They had the opportunity of seeing Ranny Page winner of first place in the Ford reliability race, who was bringing his ship back from the Ford airport, do some stunts over the Sturson factory. He tipped the car up on its side, he sailed in, came and then gripped the leaves of the top of a number of trees. For all of this entertainment the Rotarians had grandstand seats right up on top; here nothing could obstruct their view.

Wednesday members of the Exchange club went down to the park and completed the job the Rotarians started. The Exchangeites considerable more in number did some fancy work with the hammers and saws. As a result of the "lift" given by the two clubs, the fair association now believe that there will be no question about the completion of the grandstand before the opening of the fair.

PENNIMAN ALLEN

CARTED A RAIN STORM AROUND ON BIG TRUCK
Carting around a heavy rain storm on a motor truck is all in the day's work at a motion picture studio.

This astonishing task was accomplished by Colleen Moore's starring picture, "Happiness Ahead" which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, August 3rd.

The scenario required a heavy down-pour to carry out the mood of an important scene, and as the setting for this part of the story was some distance from the First National Studio, a thousand-gallon tank of water was taken to the scene of action. The water was pumped into perforated pipes conveniently placed above the setting, and Miss Moore was drenched as thoroughly and as realistic as she ever has been in a real shower. "Happiness Ahead" produced by John McCormick, was directed by William A. Selter. Benjamin Glaze having written the scenario from Edmund Goulding's original story. Appearing in support of Miss Moore are Edmund Lowe, Lilyan Tashman, Edith Chapman, Charles Sellon, Robert Elliott, Charles Durnan and Diane Ellis.

YES A FLIVVER, NEVER NEVER GIVES UP THE GHOST

One of the most important props used in the filming of "Harold Teen," the First National fair comedy, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday August 8th is the decrepit Ford touring car covered with wire-bricks, in which Harold takes the girl friends morning.

A sequence in the picture called for the flivver to break down miles from anywhere, leaving Harold and Giggles to walk home. Director Merwyn LeRoy found an ideal location for the filming of the sequence in a wooded canyon about ten miles from the Burbank studio. The company drove to the location in studio machines and waited for the flivver to arrive under the charge of a studio mechanic. Two hours elapsed and the mechanic here over the hill—on foot.

"That flivver got temperamental and quit running two miles from the studio," the exasperated mechanic informed LeRoy.

The director loaded the company in the machines and returned to the Ford. Arthur Lake and Alice White, who play the roles of Harold and Giggles, got into the stalled car while the cameras were set up.

"Register anger," LeRoy informed Arthur. "The car won't run. You know it, but try to start it just once more to satisfy Giggles. All ready."

The cameras started grinding. Arthur jumped out and spun the crank and the motor started running perfectly.

The mechanic swooned.

SEARCHED HOLLYWOOD TO FIND VAMPIRE TO FIT STORY

Several years ago Fannie Hurst, celebrated novelist and short story writer, penned a story called "Roulette." As time went by the makers of motion pictures were attracted to it and purchased the story. First National was the lucky company and they obtained it as a starring vehicle for Richard Barthelmess under the title of "The Wheel of Chance."

In this story there was a blond girl of the "vamp" variety vividly described by Miss Hurst. Her book name was Josie Drew, and it was a problem for First National officials to find the right actress for the part who was there with sufficient personality and talent to conceive this character as Miss Hurst had painted it with words.

Our Hollywood player-world came Margaret Livingston, the vivid Margaret of luminous brown eyes and orange-tinted auburn hair. She was certainly the reincarnation of Josie. The Margaret Livingston of "Sunrise" could do this role. Miss Livingston was cast in this part and the result that will be seen at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, August 11th, will be gratifying to those who have read the Hurst story in the original.

Miss Livingston studied the role, poured over it and dreamed it until she had imbued herself with every emotion with which the character was vested.

This clever actress has had wide experience in screen acting, having been starred and featured for several years. Her first starring role was in "The Chorus Lady," and she has been seen lately in "American Beauty" and "Mad Hour," both First National pictures.

The balance of the cast supporting Richard Barthelmess in "The Wheel of Chance," includes Lina Basquette, Warner Oland, Bodil Rosing and many others. It is an Alfred Santell production.

Pineapple and cream cheese sandwiches are dainty for afternoon tea.

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN

The 360-mile shore line of Southeastern Michigan, curving northward from the Ohio border on Lake Erie, follows the busy Detroit river, rounds beautiful Lake St. Clair, the Flats and St. Clair river, bounds the mighty waters of Lake Huron and forms the outline of The Thumb by circling Saginaw Bay.

This water-bordered land, cooled by the gentle breezes from two of the Great Lakes, is one of the Wolverine state's ideal vacation sections.

Dynamic Detroit, the automobile and aviation center of the world, with its beautiful suburban development, has many sister cities in this section—Mt. Clemens, frequently called "the Carlsbad of America" because of the popularity of its mineral baths, Port Huron, with its sloping white sand beaches at the headwaters of the St. Clair river, Pontiac, the lustrous manufacturing center, joined with Detroit by the nation's greatest highway; and many other thriving towns. All hold great educational, scenic and recreational interest.

BAND CONCERTS PROVING POPULAR

So favorable is the impression that the Northville School Community band is making by its Saturday night concerts, that business men in various parts of Northville are now going to have the band play in their localities. At the school board meeting Wednesday night a petition was read from the business places along West Main street, asking that the band give its next concert in that locality. The request is pleasing to members of the band and those having charge of its affairs.

In the three concerts that have been given, the band has made an especially good impression. It is the purpose of the band to play in every section of the business section before summer is over. Business men at the north end of Center street, who have not yet had a concert in their part of town, are also raising their own petition, which is proving so popular.
