CHURCH CROWDED AT INSTALLATION OF NEW MINISTER

Northville Lutherans Greet Rev. Leo Eickstaedt at Services

On last Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the Rev. Leo C. Eickstaedt, former missionary at Grand Dale, Detroit, was installed as pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church by the Rev. Paul Graupner of Clayenceville, Mich.

At this occasion the church was filled to capacity. The altar was beautifully decorated with bouquets of flowers, ferns and palms. The service was opened with a fitting prelude by the organist, Louis Meier. After appropriate hymns and prayer, the Rev. Graupner delivered the installation address. Immediately after the sermon Fred Steiner, accompanied by the organist, sang a solo entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." Thereupon followed the installation proper. The service closed with the benediction and a hymn sung by the congregation.

The newly-installed pastor is the son of Rev. Paul Eickstaedt, now pastor in Laporte, Indiana. Rev. L. Eickstaedt was born in Hamilton, Ohio, the former charge of his father. One year later his father accepted a call to Laporte, Indiana. There the Rev. L. Eickstaedt attended the parochial school eight years.

Upon completion of this course, it was his desire to study for the ministry. He therefore went to Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and entered the preparatory college there. At this institution he studied for six years, four years of high school and two years of collegiate training. From this college he graduated in the spring of 1924. In the fall of the same year, he went to St. Louis, Missouri, entering Concordia Theological Seminary. After completing his three years theological course in said institution, he received his diploma in June, 1927. His first charge upon graduation was missionary in Grand Dale, Detroit, where he served from September of last year till a few weeks ago.

WEED PATCHES ARE FAST BEING MADE INTO BEAUTY SPOTS

Cady Street Cemetery and Old-Spring Property
Lock Fine

They are no longer forgotten. Weeds and brush no longer hide the last resting place of the old substantial citizens who carved out the primeval forests of Northville, the beautiful village of Northville.

Village officials at the personal direction of Mayor Charles Fullens, have transformed the old cemetery on Cady street into a beautiful consecrated place. The duty of putting the cemetery in shape was delegated to M. L. Schrader, and he has completed an excellent piece of work. Trees have been trimmed, underbrush cut away, and the grass is now mowed and trimmed as neatly as on the finest country club estate.

M. L. Schrader has also been engaged to complete the Fairbrook Springs job that was started last spring by the Rotary club. The weeds have been removed, and during the early part of the week, working with Howard Cole, Mr. Schrader has seeded the entire park.

The shrubbery and trees that were donated by Flower Acres nursery are doing excellent, although some of the flowers were nearly choked out by the weeds. But with the care that will be given by the park by city employees from now on, it will soon be as attractive as those who sponsored the improvement planned. However, the place looks a thousand per cent better than it did a year ago.

This fall it is planned to place a large number of bulbs in the park, so that there will be early flowers in the spring. The whole improvement has not been completed, but by the coming of another summer, Northville, say those interested in the project, will have a beauty spot everyone in town will be proud of.

It will also be noted that the mess of water moss and weeds that have always covered the spring are this year absent. The clear, sparkling water is in itself a beauty worth seeing, and hundreds do so every week.

There were 25 sacks of catalog mail received at the Northville post office, Tuesday morning.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR AS THYSELF

Under the above heading it would be soon to those who will be gay, never sufferers within a couple of weeks.

It is understood there is an "ordinance" against allowing weeds to grow to maturity.

In many towns volunteer squads have assisted the council in cutting them down. Other towns set aside a sum to make war on weeds in vacant lots where the owners have failed to do so, and the labor is charged to the owner.

The weeds that most people suffer most from are the "ragweed" and "goldrod," which is profuse in its growth this year. Some are affected only in the nostrils and throat, others with asthma. Many who state they have "summer flu" have nothing of the kind, but the irritating pollen from weeds.

The coming two weeks will be the best time to lay low these as well as all other obnoxious weeds, and no better community service could be done by owners of lots, as well as the street commissioner, in helping these sufferers, as well as civic improvement.

Yours in service for others,
(Rev) WM RICHARDS

THE STONE SCHOOL REUNION, AUG. 17

The Stone School reunion will be held on the old school grounds, five miles east of South Lyon, Friday, August 17th. All former patrons, teachers and pupils are cordially invited to attend. Pot-luck dinner will be served at noon. Please bring fork and cup, as plates and spoons will be furnished.

There is to be a musical and literary program in the afternoon. Prizes are to be given to the oldest teacher present, the oldest pupil, the teacher with the greatest number of pupils present, and also to the pupil with the greatest number of teachers present.

Tell all friends and come, helping to make this eighth reunion a big success.

PREMIUM BOOK IS OUT FOR FAIR--IS THE BIGGEST EVER

Officials Believe That This Year's Fair Will be the Best

The Northville Wayne County Free Fair premium book went into circulation this week—and like Barnum's circus it is bigger and better than ever before.

The book has been entirely reset, and a new cover design prepared for the 1928 issue. It is the plan of the fair directors to change the cover each year, instead of having the same style appear year after year.

The fair, too, will be bigger and better and FREE.

It will be the first free fair Northville has ever had, and to take care of the great crowds that are sure to come, the biggest grandstand in this section of the state, outside the state fair grounds, is being erected.

There has also been completed recently from the lumber from the old grandstand a new cattle barn, the rival, the best there is in the state.

Workmen are rushing the construction of the grandstand and other buildings at the fair grounds.

The number of outdoor attractions at the fair have been more than doubled. Some of the best acts ever brought to Northville have been booked, among them being an elephant act, the first ever staged here.

The elephants, a dozen or so in number will be here during the entire fair. The directors say that the act is one of the most expensive they have ever booked.

Entry blanks will soon be ready. It begins to look as though Northville will be a crowded place during fair week, September 18th to 22nd, inclusive.

The Missionary Circle of the Baptist church was entertained at Mr. and Mrs. Roy Matheson's cottage at Silver Lake, Wednesday. A pot-luck dinner, bathing and boating were some of the day's entertainment. The pastor, Rev. Priest, tried a little fishing, but like other honest fishermen of Northville, he admitted they were not biting. All returned home delighted with the day's pleasure.

There were 25 sacks of catalog mail received at the Northville post office, Tuesday morning.

NEW EDISON BLOCK TO BE BEAUTIFUL STRUCTURE

MADE SECRETARY OF ORGANIZATION FOR 38TH YEAR

L. E. Vanatta Honored
Again by Northville
Association

When the new district office building of the Detroit Edison company is completed and opened to the public about December first, Northville can claim as its own one of the most modern and up-to-date blocks of its kind in Michigan. Architects have given especial attention to the appearance of the outside of the structure.

The Dunlap steel side of the building will be as pleasing as the front that faces Center street. Big display windows will be placed the full length of the building. The structure 45 feet on Center street and running back 74 feet on Dunlap, will be of brick, limestone and terra cotta. There will be a basement under the entire building and a passenger elevator will run from the basement to the second floor.

The building will be heated with an oil burner, a 1000-gallon storage tank being provided to store the fuel. Outside of the heating plant there will be a fireproof vault in the basement and a large room for storage purposes.

The offices and display room will occupy the entire first floor, which will be one big open space. The manager's office will be enclosed in glass, so that he may have a general view of the office room from his office. This is the newer way of arranging large business offices.

The second floor will contain the overhead lines department, the billing and meter department, which because of lack of room is now located in the Edison building at Plymouth, and a demonstration room where cooking schools may be conducted, and other demonstrations made.

Work on the foundations have already started, and unless some unforeseen reason prevents, the place will be open for business by December first. The company has not announced what it proposes to do with its present building on North Center street.

Why not have a business administration in the sheriff's office? Vote for Ura Wilson, September 4th, at the primaries. This ad paid for by Harry Robinson.

Ralph Pickard and family and Gerald Taggart and family were Sunday visitors at the Irish Hills.

Mrs. Margaret Yerkes and son, Edmund, are making an extended motor tour through the east, and will spend some time in Massachusetts.

She was riding in a car driven by S. H. Herkis of this place, when a left hand turn was being made onto Dexter boulevard. A car that neither of them saw struck their machine on the side that Miss Yerkes was sitting on, and flying glass inflicted the painful injuries.

After being treated at the Ford hospital she was brought to her home in this place. It will be sometime before she will be fully recovered from her injuries.

About 135 gathered on the pleasant lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hicks for the fifth annual reunion of East Novi school, a few days ago.

When Acting President John Kalbfleisch presented the question at Wednesday's meeting, it was immediately approved, and a committee composed of Nelson Schrader, Dr. Sparling, William Mara and Dr. E. B. Cavell was appointed to carry out the details of the project.

Something like 20,000 tickets for various free rides in the park will next week be turned over to members of the Exchange Club for distribution among their friends.

There will be rides for the young and rides for the older folks. The park will be open to everyone from Northville and vicinity. You do not have to be an Exchange, a brother, sister, cousin, uncle, aunt or even a second cousin to get in.

When the tickets are received which will probably be the last of the week announcement will be made just where you can get them. The only requirement is that you be a resident of Northville or that you live within what is called Northville territory and that includes a big section. It takes in Novi, Salem, Phoenix, Waterford and most of the territory between here and Farmington.

When Acting President John Kalbfleisch presented the question at Wednesday's meeting, it was immediately approved, and a committee composed of Nelson Schrader, Dr. Sparling, William Mara and Dr. E. B. Cavell was appointed to carry out the details of the project.

There are many ideal places around the park for picnic purposes, and everyone is invited to take their baskets along and enjoy real day of pleasure at Edgewater park. It's for Northville and everybody is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zaytzi have returned from a vacation trip to Ohio and Pennsylvania.

STEAM SHOVELS DIG EXCAVATIONS FOR NEW BLOCKS

Crowds Watch Work on North Center and East
Main Streets

Building activities took on exceptional interest in Northville, Monday, when two big shovels began excavations for new blocks that are to be erected this fall.

A big steam shovel lifted rocks, stumps and earth from the site selected by the Detroit Edison company for its new office building at the corner of North Center and Dunlap streets, and a little Ford shovel kept pace with its big brother in excavating the basement for the new Brader block on East Main street.

The earth taken from the Edison site is being used to fill the east side of North Center street along the Elly property, where the paving is to be widened. The present sidewalk is being covered over and the new sidewalk will be raised nearly three feet above the old one.

The earth taken from the Brader block was dumped on the fair grounds back of the new grandstand to fill the hollow that has in past years been a source of annoyance to officials of the association because water stood in the place every time it rained.

With the old building torn down, East Main street has already taken on a much better appearance.

Dozens stood around both places watching with interest the working of the big shovels.

There has been considerable speculation as to the old building that Contractor Alex Johnson tore down on East Main street. Spencer Clark of the Globe Furniture company, who is 61 years of age and was born in Northville, says the building was standing on the site when he was a boy. He states that he remembers hearing his parents tell of being married in the place. There is little doubt but the building like most other structures erected in pioneer days, was used at various times for both residential and business purposes.

In later years the block, according to Mr. Jackson, who lives on Cady street, was used for a short time as a liquor supply house. Someone also asserted that for a time it was used as the postoffice for this locality.

The brick that was used in the chimney were made at the old Northville brick yards that were located on the Fisher road just east of the Leo Lawrence residence. The brick yards were on the east side of the creek and the material used in the making of the brick was secured from the north side of the road east of the springs.

Two of these old hand-made bricks are on display in the Record office.

GIRL BADLY CUT IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN DETROIT SUNDAY

Miss Grace Biery, Graduate of Present Year, is Injured

Miss Grace Biery, daughter of Mrs. George Biery and a high school graduate with the class of the present year, was frightfully cut about the face.

Sunday, in an automobile accident in Detroit. So severe was one cut across the nose that it was necessary for Ford hospital surgeons to take seven stitches in it. She was otherwise badly bruised but fortunately her injuries are not regarded as of a critical nature.

She was riding in a car driven by S. H. Herkis of this place, when a left hand turn was being made onto Dexter boulevard. A car that neither of them saw struck their machine on the side that Miss Biery was sitting on, and flying glass inflicted the painful injuries.

After being treated at the Ford hospital she was brought to her home in this place. It will be sometime before she will be fully recovered from her injuries.

About 135 gathered on the pleasant lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hicks for the fifth annual reunion of East Novi school, a few days ago.

When Acting President John Kalbfleisch presented the question at Wednesday's meeting, it was immediately approved, and a committee composed of Mrs. Virginia Becker of Pontiac, and Mrs. Cook of Northville, were especially good. The next reunion will be held in Northville as guests of the Tibbits and Fred Hicks on the first Saturday in August, 1929. All were highly pleased with the day's pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zaytzi have returned from a vacation trip to Ohio and Pennsylvania.

THE DOG, NOT THE CAT, CAME BACK TO YOUNG FRIENDS

Pet Missing for Three Weeks Since Accident Returns

Three weeks ago Tuesday, the Rev. William Richards and his family were in a slight automobile accident at the Novi crossing on the P. M. tracks just this side of Novi.

"Teddy," the pet terrier of the family, was in the car. In the darkness he became lost. The Richards children thought possibly he had been killed, but they searched and searched for him, and he could not be found.

Days rolled along. The cuts and bruises of the various family members healed, but Teddy was still missing. People in the vicinity of the accident were called. No one had seen "Teddy." Although the days turned into weeks, the four children never gave up their hunt for the pet terrier.

Tuesday the good pastor was aroused from his sleep about midnight. He heard a dog bark that sounded just like "Teddy."

"But that isn't our dog," said the minister to himself. And he rolled over and went to sleep.

But it was different the next morning. The children heard the dog bark. There wasn't any fooling the children. It was "Teddy" of that they were sure.

Out of bed tumbled Alice. Down the stairs she sped, followed closely by her little brother. Then came the two older girls.

The lost had returned. He rolled over and barked and he jumped about, apparently more delighted than the children.

Now the mystery is—where has "Teddy" been during the three weeks since the accident?

Cottage cheese contains all the constituents of milk, excepting cream. It is therefore high in food value and is a particularly rich source of protein and minerals.

ANOTHER GRENNAN COW MAKES RECORD

P. H. Greman of Northville, Mich., has tested Beauty Louise Owl Do, a purebred Jersey cow which has been awarded a silver medal by the Jersey Cattle club. This official production test was started when she was 4 years and one month of age and Louise produced 663.00 lbs. of butterfat and 10,725 lbs. of milk in 305 days. Her yield was above 60 lbs. of butterfat for the successive months of the test and she was with calf for 202 days of this time, thus qualifying for her silver medal. The sire of this distinguished producer is Golden Flora's Excellence and her dam is Beauty Owl Do.

RICHARDSON SAYS POULTRY SHOW IS GOING TO BE BEST

Looks Over the State Equipment and Boosts Northville Exhibit

G. E. Richardson, superintendent of the Northville Wayne County Free Fair Poultry show, who has for years visited poultry shows throughout the United States and Canada was down to the state fair grounds in Detroit a few days ago, looking over the new equipment that has been placed in the poultry building by the board of managers of state fairs.

He states that the equipment is way ahead of any he has seen anywhere in the country.

"But after you have attended the Michigan State fair and all the other fairs and you think you have seen all there is to be seen in poultry, just come out to the Northville Wayne County Free Fair, and you will conclude that you have never before seen a poultry show," says Mr. Richardson.

A. E. Fuller, board member in direct charge of the Northville poultry show, has been exceedingly fortunate in securing the largest number of cups and prizes ever offered at a poultry show held anywhere in the country. In fact, the prizes exceed in value and number those offered by the State fair or even the big Coliseum Poultry show held in Chicago. There is every indication that the poultry show this year at Northville fair will bring out the biggest number of poultry fanciers that have ever attended a show in this place.

A FISH STORY WITH PROOF TO BACK IT UP COMES TO TOWN

Frank Woodworth Sends Down the Latest Data on Big Catch

There are fish stories and there are more fish stories. Some you may believe. Others you try to and some you just can't. But here comes a fish story out of the northlands with picture proof of its accuracy.

The catch was made by that sedate and hardworking business man, F. R. Woodworth, who has found it necessary to do a little investigating in the north woods.

Eight big bass big enough to sink the average sized rowboat, were landed by Mr. Woodworth recently when he went fishing on a lake up near Gaylord where he is spending the summer. With him during the time he made the catch and who acted as a sort of general all-around assistant, was a Mr. Appleton of Brighton.

The picture of the bass shows the two holding the string between them, both displaying the greatest of exertion in their efforts to hold the fish off the ground.

Mr. Woodworth writes: "Sorry we had no way to weigh them, but you can see from the picture that they were big ones, caught near Gaylord in less than three hours."

His communication is not quite clear on one point—that is whether he means there were no scales around Gaylord or whether there were no scales large enough to weigh the fish.

NEARBY TOWN MAY BE ENDED BY VOTERS

It is understood upon good authority that a petition is being circulated in the village of Inkster to request the dissolution of the community as a village. Considerable discussion is said to have arisen following the consolidation of the cities of Dearborn and Fordson and a portion of the township.

The petition, which is claimed to have about 800 signatures at the present time, and which will be submitted to the Governor, is being circulated by persons who endorsed the consolidation issue.

It is the plan of the community to dissolve to petition annexation onto the consolidated city at once and thus this way to bring the entire township of Dearborn into the greater city.

SOMETHING FOR OLDER PIONEERS TO FIND OUT ABOUT

How and Why Was this Old Ledger Brought to Northville

Here is a mystery for Northville pioneers to solve!

How, why and when was the official postoffice record of Knowlesville, County of Orleans, state of New York, or the year 1834, brought to Northville, and by whom?

Workmen in tearing down the old building on East Main street, used in bygone years as a cigar factory, restaurant and whatnot, found the browned sheets of the record of the Knowlesville New York state office.

In those days a postmaster had something to do, because the record shows that it was necessary to keep track of the number of letters sent to each place from the office, the amount

SITE IS DONATED
FOR NEW CHURCH
IN WALLED LAKE

New Catholic Chapel is Growing Rapidly States
Fr. Schuler

Father Joseph Schuler, who recently started a chapel at Walled Lake, has been advised that the new church has been presented with a site on the Pontiac road, about three blocks from the business centers of Walled Lake.

The location has 100 foot frontage on the main street and runs back 140 feet. The lot is a big one and will take care of the needs of the new parish in Walled Lake for many years to come.

In the few months that Father

Schuler has been conducting services in Walled Lake, the attendance and interest has grown steadily and the donation of a new site will be of great aid to the newly organized church.

Just when the chapel will be erected has not been decided, but Father Schuler states that if the interest continues to grow as it has in the past two months, it will not be long before there will be a building erected.

A good home-made furniture polish is made by mixing one part of raw linseed oil with two parts of turpentine.
A little melted beeswax may be added.

"MAN CRAZY"

"Man Crazy" is adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Clarissa and the Post Road," and features Jack Mulhall and Dorothy MacKaill. The story deals with the romance between the daughter of an aristocratic New England family and a truck driver on the famous Boston Post road. Much of the action takes place on the highway, and complete sections of this famous road, true to exact detail, are seen in the film.

"THE MAGNIFICENT FLIRT"

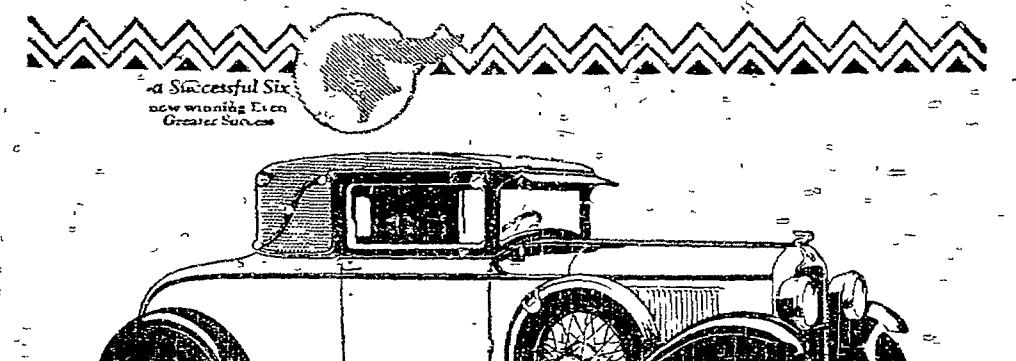

"The Magnificent Flirt" is the story of a Parisienne who has, during many years, accumulated a horde of male admirers. Finally, she succumbs to the attractiveness of a certain Count D'Estranges, whose nephew is in love with her daughter. The nephew asks the mother for the girl's hand in marriage and, when she agrees to the troth, he kisses her. This kiss is seen by the count, who accuses the woman of being too careless in her love affairs. She is vindicated, however, and this forms the climax of the story.

AIR MAIL STAMPS
ALMOST AS CHEAP
AS REGULAR ONES

Northville Office Finding a Good Demand for New Stamps

Not all the people are yet wise to the fact that under the new air-mail rates, that letters up to one ounce may be sent by air to any part of the United States for five cents. The former rate was ten cents for half an ounce. An air-mail letter is quite a big one when one comes to weigh it up.

A letter mailed in Northville in the morning reaches Chicago the same afternoon, and would reach Pacific coast points the following afternoon.

Afternoon mailings by air for the east reaches New York city in time for the early deliveries the next morning. The five cent rate is almost as cheap postage as for ordinary mail.

Postmaster Neal says that he believes that Northville people are particularly interested in air-mail, not only because of its speed in the dispatch of mail to its destination which is so often of great value, but also the interest is added to because airplanes that carry mail are being manufactured and sold by the Stinson company here. Air mail for the west and south leaves here at 9:45 each morning.

Thriving in comfort, wealth, in agricultural lands, as well as a summer resort section and noted for its educational institutions. Michigan holds a variety of attractions for the vacationer. Shorelines lapped by Lake Michigan's sparkling waters and shores of numerous islands, sandy beaches and wooded hills. Waterfalls, produced by rail and boat lines, and roads paved highways lead to busy manufacturing towns and through a romantic upland, grape and fruit raising section.

As evidence of its commercial activity one need look no further than the leading industries of a few of the cities of the region. Grand Rapids, farm equipment, lumber, flour, paper and textile manufacturing; Muskegon, builder of gas engines; Battle Creek, serving the world's breakfast cereal market; Jackson, producer of automobile accessories; Beloit, silk manufacturer.

One of the largest universities in the country is located in a beautiful Ann Arbor, Leland Stanford, Jr. University, the capital city of Michigan Normal College, Michigan State College and many other educational institutions dot the section.

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1928

HE IS RIGHT

Scott Lovewell, newly elected president of the Exchange Club, is standing out on the right track. He believes that the Exchange, a progressive organization composed of some 40 or 50 of Northville's business men, should do something for the town. He also believes that it pays well to cordially greet fellow members as well as our associates.

The following editorial, written by the associate editor of the Toledo News-Bee during the national Exchange convention, was given to the Record by President Lovewell to use. The idea expressed being identical with the aims of the local Exchange president.

"When we exchange a smile for a handshake, we have given nothing in return for nothing."

"Look at your hand after the friendly clasp of a brother who has welcomed you. It is the same hand as before. He has placed nothing in it and he has not pulled off any of your fingers."

"Look in the faces of those about you at a banquet table after they have relaxed from the smiles of friendly greeting. They are the same faces as before. The smile has added nothing and has taken nothing away. Perhaps in some cases a permanent change would have its advantage, but alas, the familiar face hasn't improved a particle."

"How is it then that we of the Exchange clubs go about trading smiles for handshakes and handshakes for smiles? If we stood back in the shadows and merely watched the performance, we should have to confess that there is something rather ludicrous about the whole thing."

"In fact, the natives root each other by sticking out their teeth as far as possible and rubbing them up and down. In China, the participants of a handshake always grip the good natured teeth for half a minute or more. The English do it, and the French do it, and the ancient Romans held their arm in stately welcome."

"And let us add to this object of the nations that in 1928, in Toledo, the A. Bryce, publisher of the Grand Lodge Exchange of America shook hands. Independent, a few days ago, Mr. and grinned. It is, every bit as funny. Bryce had made complimentary as the folkways of the other visitors."

"Then why do we do it? There is a reason and a good one here it is."

"From the pleistocene age to the present, Homo Erectus has had a hard time to get along. Something and usually somebody, is always interfering with his fun. In a big strange world, whether he lived in a cave or a palace, he found many enemies because they hit him first. The friends were not so easy to distinguish. The stranger that came over the top of hill might be all right, but the big question was—what did he have in his hands?"

"And because with the increase in population it became more and more necessary that a man should know his friends, those who were of good intent soon adopted the custom of standing with hand outstretched and palm up, to show there was no monkey business about it."

"The first time Homo Erectus saw one of his neighbors sticking his hand out, that way, he laughed out loud. His neighbor promptly changed the outstretched hand to a fist—and the next time the same thing happened Homo had become polite enough merely to smile."

"But now the custom has become so universal that you smile when a hand is offered you and when you see a grin your right forearm impulsively starts to raise forward and up. You know the fellow who shows his teeth and whose lips curve upward isn't going

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Barry and Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Holcomb left Sunday for an extended trip through Canada and northern Michigan. They expect to drive through the Muskoka lake region and around Georgian Bay, the trip taking about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Bunn left the latter part of the week for a motor trip through the east. They intend stopping in Washington, D. C., for a few days and from there will drive back through the southern part of Kentucky and visit the Mammoth Cave on their way home.

The annual reunion of the Tremper families was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Safa Tremper-Taylor at Walled Lake. There were about 100 relatives and friends present. After a fine get-luck dinner a short program and business meeting was held. The affair proved a very enjoyable one.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Larsen of Owosso spent the weekend with Mrs. Julia Goodale of this place. While here they all drove over to Plymouth where they had lunch with friends. Later Mr. and Mrs. Vern Goodale of Phoenix drove over to Northville and took Mrs. Goodale down to a Detroit show.

Miss Georganna Eaton of Brawley, California, has been the guest of relatives in town for a few days. She will be joined Sunday by her mother, Mrs. W. G. Eaton, and sister, Venola. After spending a few days here, they will leave for New York City, going from New York City to New Orleans by boat on their homeward trip.

The reorganized Northville baseball team under the direction of Manager Roy Booth is developing into a real team. In added another victory Sunday by defeating a speedy team from Detroit. The pitching of Parks and Pedley has been one of the sensations of the summer. Pedley has struck out 18 batters in the last 13-innings played. The hitting of Parks, Smith, Hatfield and Schubert has been a feature of the games played. The team is entitled to strong local support.

Mrs. F. S. Neal and son, Warner, visited Put-in-Bay, Monday, with Farmington friends.

Harry Leith of Arkport, New York, is visiting Sam Pickard and family. It is in Arkport where Mr. Pickard owns a large farm.

The many friends of Thomas Moss will be glad to know that he is getting along nicely, and that he will be able to be out in the next two or three weeks.

Rev. and Mrs. F. P. Knowles left Wednesday for an automobile trip through Canada and several western states. They expect to be gone two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Mr. and Mrs. Stach, and daughter, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Gotts for the past week, returned to their home in St. Catherine, Ontario, Thursday. Irene Gotts returned home with them for a visit.

Workmen for the Michigan Federated Utilities company have completed the laying of a gas main along Clement Avenue. This main will be used to serve the west end of the Hillcrest Manor addition, the subdivision placed on the market sometime ago by Charles Bloom. The east end will be served by a main that runs through Orchard Drive.

The new mail boxes to be placed at various parts of the village have arrived, and will soon be located for the convenience of people in mailing letters. Pick-ups by the carriers will be made two times a day, except that on Saturday there will be but one pickup. Of course, none will be on Sundays, and but one late in the afternoon on holidays.

Work on the new-concrete bridge over Rouge River, where the Novi road crosses it, is progressing rapidly. It will be two or three weeks before the job will be finished. Meanwhile traffic to Novi is being detoured over the Taft road and the road running east of the Yerkes farm. The bridge is located near where the Pere Marquette tracks also cross the river.

The many friends of Rev. E. V. Belles, for many years pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place who is now located in Kenton, Ohio, will be pleased to know that he will be in Northville at the Ponsford farm for the next two weeks. He has been over at Lake Charmane, near Howell, collecting a cent of tan a few bushels and some snake-root, he writes. They will be at the farm while Mr. Belles and daughter are away on vacation.

At the meeting of the Rotary Club, Monday, members of the cars and planes committee told those present their idea of what the club ought to do. Those who made talk were E. C. Langfield, Don Yerkes, Sr. and R. V. VanValkenburgh.

School Band Looks Fine
in Capes of Red and White

As neat and trim as any band could look, the Northville Community School band, Tuesday evening, made its first appearance in the new uniforms recently ordered for them by the directors of the Northville Wayne County Fair association.

Spice and span and fitting past-like were the goods, the uniforms, of white and bright red, made a decided hit as the youngsters paraded down Main Street just to show the new mobility enough to be around how nicely they looked.

The uniforms are just as satisfactory as those who purchased them thought they would be. They were made by the Triling Bros. & Everard company of Kalamazoo, one of the oldest and best known regalia houses in America. Many bands equipped through this company have won first honors in various contests for best appearance.

The trousers of the boys are in pure white duck and all of the capes and caps are bright red. The combination makes a very attractive appearance. The special committee named by the fair association to select the uniforms did an especially good job and Northville can be proud now to send its youthful players anywhere.

If you want to lengthen the blooming season, pick back some of the herbaceous plants.

NO VACATION TRIP AS PLEASANT AS ONE ON THE LAKES

Rest and Health Comes From a Few Days Out on Water

To store up health should be the main object of a summer vacation, and the people of our country are fortunate in having nature's own sanitarium at their doors—the Great Lakes, declared A. A. Schantz, president of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co., operating steamer lines between Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo.

Health, building and recreation are happily combined in a lake trip," said Mr. Schantz. "The health of passengers is the first consideration of vessel managers; and to that end every drop of water used for steamers for drinking, cooking and bathing is sterilized by filtration and chlorination. The air is always fresh and sweet on shipboard as all air is washed by a spray of water and a complicated ventilation system forces this washed air into closely, and in addition to the care of every nook and corner. The kitchen and the food served are inspected closely, and in addition to the care of the company, every detail is gone over by government inspectors at frequent intervals.

Sunlight has come to be known as the finest health-builder, and the doctors tell us that the healing power of sunlight is due to the ultra-violet rays, which is especially efficacious during the steamboat season from June to the end of September. The wide decks of the lake liners offer every opportunity for sun baths, and the balmy lake breezes that sweep over miles of Michigan pine forests is undoubtedly the finest tonic in the world.

Mackinac Island is a well recommended place to visit for people out on a health building expedition. On that northern island the days are filled with sunshine and the nights are cool, quiet and restful. This is the one remaining community where the automobile is not permitted to operate. Wonderful springs of cool, sparkling water abound and it is claimed, have great medicinal value. Many men and women journey there season after season to find renewed health and vigor in the clear waters of these bubbling fountains. All water for consumption on the island is drawn from the springs or the lake and is absolutely pure. Mosquitoes and other noxious insects are unknown, and this fortunate island is singularly free of malaria, typhoid and other fevers."

COMING ATTRACTIONS
at the
PENNIMAN ALLEN

POPULAR TEAM COMING
HERE IN A NEW FILM

One of the most popular teams in motion pictures will appear at the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday, Aug. 12th, in "Man Crazy," the famous Saturday Evening Post story, which appeared under the title of "Clarissa and the Post Road."

Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackall make an ideal combination on the screen. They have never appeared to better advantage than in this happy romance of New England. Miss Macall's characterization of the daughter of aristocracy who falls in love with a truck driver on the old Boston Post road is a gem, and one that testifies to her ability as a screen actress. Mulhall, as always, gives a sincere performance and makes the most of his opportunities in the role of Jeff, the truck pilot, who takes the same pride in his speedy wagon that a horseman takes in his blooded racer.

"Man Crazy" takes us into the home of an aristocratic New England family, where the daughter is forever keeping the household in hot water because of her whims. When she starts a hot dog stand at the side of the road, her irate grandmother sends for her father to have her put in her place. Then comes the romance with a truck driver, which caps the climax with the family, the exciting chase on the old road, and the ensuing thrilling moments.

This story is told in convincing manner and is ably directed by John Francis Dillon. The production shows first National's usual care as to settings, lighting and photography.

A special mention should be made of the veteran stage and screen player, Edythe Chapman, as the grandmother. "Man Crazy" is good entertainment, and Miss Mackall and Mr. Mulhall will make many new friends.

FLORENCE VIDOR WILL BRING THE LATEST FINDS

This latest venue in London and Paris is now becoming popular in America. It is being used in some of the best homes in the country. So far as motion pictures are concerned this modernistic French type of decoration is a distinct novelty, never having been used before in a picture.

In Paramount's "The Magnificent Flirt," Florence Vidor's latest starring picture the attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, August 15th, the modernistic setting is brought to the screen for the first time. The twelve interior settings used in this picture are the work of Van Nest Polglaze, head of the studio art department for Paramount.

Polglaze is a recognized architect and furniture designer. Everything in the rooms and the garden depicts the modernistic theme, a principle based on "cubism." Simplicity marks the rooms and their furnishings and square lines supplement the old-fashioned curved and arc motifs. The straight line is stronger than a curved line. The hedges in the garden scenes are cut in square lines, some being of triangular shape and others absolutely square.

The ballroom is large and simple, with comparatively few pieces of furniture, with pastel tapestries on the walls and a white piano as the main fitting. The hall salon contains a statue done in bronze, with two tiny chairs and a large plaster bear on the floor.

A tiny lounge room—tea room, they call it abroad—is off the hallway. Three low lounges, one chair and two circular tables, twelve inches from the floor, rest on deep-toned carpets.

ROD LA ROCQUE HAS EXCELLENT NEW PICTURE

Picture fans who were thrilled by Rod La Rocque's football playing as an Indian in "Braveheart" and as an Englishman seeking thrills in battles with Grecian bandits in "Stand and Deliver" will be more than delighted with his impersonation of a young Argentine athlete and football player in his latest stellar vehicle "Hold em Yale!" a De Mille studio production.

for Pathé, which will be on view at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, "goof" detective. Hugh Allan, who was seen to advantage in "Dress Parade" has a strong part. The picture was directed by Edward H. Griffith under the supervision of Hector Turnbull.

The story of "Hold 'Em Yale" based on Owen Davis' famous stage success "At Yale," deals with the son of a wealthy planter in Argentina who falls a trio of hounds and later meets the daughter of a Yale professor traveling in Argentina. He decides to go to Yale and an interesting love romance results, in the course of which he wins disfession as a college athlete. The action is said to be swift-moving and highly dramatic, the whole relieved by delightful comedy.

The supporting players are excellent: Jeanette Loft, who triumphed in "The Man Without a Face," "My Friend from India," and other recent screen productions, plays opposite Mr. La Rocque. Joseph Cawthorn, a veteran screen and stage player is seen as a college professor, while Tom Kennedy a noted comedian, has the role of a "goof" detective. Hugh Allan, who was seen to advantage in "Dress Parade" has a strong part. The picture was directed by Edward H. Griffith under the supervision of Hector Turnbull.

Put meats that have to be carved on platters large enough to give the one who carves free play. Never place potatoes or other vegetables around a roast if they are likely to be cut by the carver or pushed off the platter. Garnish the meat attractively with parsley or watercress or lettuce leaves, and serve the vegetables by themselves.

GARDEN BEAUTY FROM THE FORESTS AND HOW TO GET IT

Many Woodland Plants are Used—Better to Buy Wild Plants

Several of the native woodland plants have achieved positions of importance in the gardens and are now sold by dealers each fall. Among these are the metelaria or bluebell and the white wood lily or trillium.

It is much better to buy them from plant dealers and seed houses than to denude the woods of plants and destroy their beauty.

Plant brilliant in shady nooks near shrubbery and they will rejoice the with snowy triangular blooms next spring. The handsome bloodroot is another flower which may be bought from the seed houses with the ball bulb, and deserves a place in a shady corner.

The dog-tooth violet or trout lily, with their handsomely spotted leaves, are common in the woods all over the country, but California has the finest species of the whole list and fortunately, they seem to be hardy and to flourish all over the northern portion of the country.

Some of these handsome erythroniums should be included in the bulb order. The Californians have larger blossoms, taller stems and some of them have several flowers to a stem. They are beautiful for planting in the woods or in shady corners, where they will domesticate themselves.

For the cold frame the Mariposa lily of California, better known as butterfly tulips, are gorgeous and striking plants with their slender stems and large blooms nearly all bearing an eye of different color.

They are not reliably hardy outdoors, but grow well in cold frames as the glass seems sufficient protection.

Tubers of the St. Brigid anemones planted this fall will give beautiful material for cutting next spring.

They start blooming on the cold frame in the early April and continue until June. They are almost hardy and sometimes winter in the open with a mulch, but they are not safe.

In a cold frame they winter with no difficulty at all and are reliable bloomers. Their big flowers in scarlet, blue and pinks, with various markings and shadings are popular florists' material.

They come in both double and single forms. A dozen tubers will prove a revelation in the cold frame.

Destruction during the summer of currant and gooseberry bushes which grow near white pine trees will prevent the spread of blaster rust. White and sugar pine lumber in this country is worth about $550,000,000, and the rust disease is now threatening these valuable trees in New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Blaster rust does not go from one tree to another but spreads from infected white pine to currant or gooseberry bushes, and from them to the trees. From late June until the leaves of the currant or gooseberry drop, growths of the fungus develop, these growths producing the summer and fall spore, which are carried by the wind and infect the trees. The range of infection is limited to short distances, making it possible to control blaster rust locally by destroying all the currant and gooseberry bushes in the vicinity of white pines. The European, or cultivated black currant is particularly susceptible to the disease and is most dangerous to the pine. For complete control every currant and gooseberry bush should be pulled up, and sprouting should be prevented by removing the crown and large roots.

Ordinary drain tiles, 3 or 4 inches in inside diameter and 1 foot in length are very good for blanching celery in the home garden. The bunches should be first tied together with string and the tiles slipped down over the tops of the bunches. Drain tiles are especially desirable because they produce celery of good flavor. If heavy paper is used for blanching, it should not contain tar or creosote as these will injure the flavor of the celery.

Back she came...

A millionaire's wife and BROKEN-HEARTED

AS far back as Cherry could remember poverty and squalor were the only life she knew. Through the tears of self-pity, she had fought for so bravely and so long.

What strange circumstances caused her to cast her under this frightful load of misery? Why has she exchanged an honored name for the bitterness of shame and degradation?

But as Cherry blossomed into young womanhood, her determination to conquer life brought freedom and friends' success.

The aroma of fame came. As the wife of Dick Beifinger—young, rich, boisterously handsome—Cherry's measure of happiness seemed complete.

Then catastrophe. A merciless fate decreed that she go back to the gutter where

IRA WILSON HAS MANY FRIENDS IN THIS LOCALITY
They Believe He is the Right Kind of Man for Sheriff

Northville friends of Mr. Wilson are greatly pleased with news they hear from Detroit and other sections of Wayne county pertaining to his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff. From what can be learned they believe that Mr. Wilson has an excellent chance to win the nomination.

One of his friends recently said, "Wayne county at last has a real sheriff. He is fearless, able and honest, a real all-American sheriff on the job." He was born on a farm in Livonia township which his father took up from the government and has spent his entire life in Wayne county.

Mr. Wilson is by no means inexperienced in public service, having held offices in his township as supervisor, member of the board of review, justice of the peace, and as under-sheriff for ex-Sheriff Duke Coffin, under whom he escorted over 1200 prisoners safely to their destination in state prisons.

"Mr. Wilson's career as a public servant has always been characterized by clean, efficient management of the people's business. His policy in the administration of his present office as sheriff of Wayne county has been the welfare of everybody. He has created an efficient staff that is giving the county the full value for its dollar spent."

Mr. Wilson's friends are anxious to see

Arthur H. Hitchens, now chief deputy under Mr. Wilson, nominated and elected for the short term which runs from November to January 1st. If Mr. Wilson is nominated and elected he will not take office until January 1st. He will simply retain office until someone is elected for the short term.

WEST POINT TEAM GIVEN TRIMMING BY THE FARMERS

Strong DeHoCo Team to Play Municipal Club

Sunday

The wet grounds, which caused postponement of the DeHoCo-Selfridge

Fliers game, which was scheduled at Selfridge Field, coupled with the fact that Orion, who was obliged to meet

West Point, dropped out of the Inter-

County League, permitted an unscheduled meeting between DeHoCo and

West Point at West Point Park, Sunday, August 5th.

In spite of the fact that this was not a regular league game and therefore did not count in the league standing, the Farmers were anxious to revenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of West Point the last time they met. How well they accomplished their purpose is shown by the final score of 9 to 5.

While there were few outstanding plays, yet the game was very interesting and was a hard fought contest throughout, and the margin which separated the two teams was accounted for mostly by the errors, which were to be expected on a slippery field.

DeHoCo got the brakes on these errors, scoring two runs on two hits and an error in the second and two runs on standing at anyone's expense, and a base on balls and two errors in the DeHoCo, who are now just a hair game eighth. Two of the three errors out of first place, are just as determined to win the top berth by downing Municipal!

When Pankratz dropped a throw to the plate

Both James, who pitched for West

Park and Smyrski, who did the hurling for DeHoCo, turned in good games,

but Smyrski had a little better control and only walked one man, while James passed four.

German with one out of one, and

Jascha Demiston and Smyrski each with two hits out of five times up, accounted for most of DeHoCo's hits, while Woule and Wolstrom collected two hits each for West Point.

An unfortunate accident occurred in the fifth, when H. Garberman, who had pinch-batted for Johnson, tried to beat a double play by sliding to first and turned his ankle. He was badly hurt and had to be carried from the field.

Sunday, August 12th, the strong

Municipal Club will come to DeHoCo park, and an exceptionally hard fought game is in prospect. Municipal is determined to climb up in the league standing at anyone's expense, and a base on balls and two errors in the DeHoCo, who are now just a hair game eighth. Two of the three errors out of first place, are just as determined to

BE PREPARED

In Time of Peace it is hard for us to remember the Lessons we Learned during War Time.

Likewise—in hot weather it is hard to remember to order that fuel bin filled so that we will be prepared for those Cold Blustery Days Next Winter.

However, the market conditions indicate a raise in fuel prices SOON, and we wish all our customers to take advantage of the present low summer prices.

So be prepared—Phone us your order now before the raise.

Studebaker alone has ball bearing spring shackles restful riding!

Like the jewels of a watch, patented ball bearing shackles furnish frictionless support for each spring end—raise the chassis in polished balls of steel, sealed in lubricant sufficient for 20,000 miles and more of untroubled service. These 172 polished steel balls, rolling in lubricant, permit unhampered action of Studebaker's pliant springs—give to Studebaker's hydraulic shock absorbers their lightning-fast control of every recoil—provide a sum total of truvel-ease no other motor car at any price has ever offered.

This restful riding supplements Studebaker's brilliant performance... proved by the fact that Studebaker holds more official records for speed and stamina than all other manufacturers combined... including the greatest record in the entire history of transportation—25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes.

Drive before you buy!

You may doubt that Studebaker has created the smoothest riding cars ever built—until you ride in a new Studebaker. Let us take you today, in the model of your choice, over any route you select—the rougher the better. You'll lose your doubts before you've gone a mile. You'll also know that no other car can equal Studebaker in ease of steering, acceleration and braking.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

HENRY H. CRAPO

Too poor to buy a dictionary, Henry Crapo, governor of Michigan from 1865 to 1869, when a young man, compiled one for his own use. His father, a Massachusetts farmer, was unable to send his boy to school, but so anxious was the youth to gain an education that he would walk seven miles to New Bedford, after working all day, and gain what little knowledge he could from books in the library at that place.

Destruction did not discourage him, and although unable to attend common schools except for a few months in his early life, the young man retained a fair knowledge of civil engineering. Without funds to buy a compass to use in his work, he went to a blacksmith shop and with such tools as he could borrow, he made one and started work as a land surveyor. A short time later, the state where he resided passed a law establishing high schools. To become principal of one of these schools it was necessary to pass a rigid examination. Crapo determined to become a principal. Although he had never been able to attend school, he gained sufficient knowledge to pass the examination. Teaching school and acting as an auctioneer until he was 28 years old, he moved to New Bedford, Mass., where he served in many village offices. The village organized the first free library in the United States, and Crapo had the honor of serving on the first board that had charge of the institution.

Having gained a small fortune in his home state he invested some of his money in Michigan pine lands and came here in 1855, locating in Flint. He established lumber yards in Flint, Fenton and Holly. He aided in the construction of the old Flint-Holly R.R. After living in Flint five or six years, he was elected mayor of that city and in 1862 was elected to the state senate. He gained considerable distinction while in the state legislature, and was made the Republican candidate in 1865 being elected governor. He was re-elected for the second term. During the last few months of his term he was stricken with an illness, which resulted in his death, in 1869.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray VanVeenburgh and Miss Jessie Clark will leave soon for an automobile tour that will take them entirely around Lake Michigan. They will go to the Straits first, coming home through Chicago.

FOR STATE SENATOR GEORGE L. MCBATH

Well known Detroit citizen of 1535 Wisconsin avenue, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator in this, the 14th district, including Northville, Plymouth, Livonia townships, Highland Park and a part of Detroit. His long successful business career makes him a most acceptable candidate. He is the former president and general manager of the Gray Sales & Service company of Detroit. Register and vote is his urgent appeal to the voters of the district.
