BUSINESS CENTER OF NOVI TO HAVE BIG STRUCTURE

To Start Erection of Block Large Enough for Half Dozen Stores

Early next week a big steam shovel will be in operation at the southeast corner of Grand River and the Novi road, digging a basement for a big business block that is to be erected by Gullen & Gullen. So large will be the building that there will be room for seven stores, a bank space and six offices on the second floor.

The block will extend along Grand River for a distance of 136 feet. It runs back on the Novi road a distance of 80 feet.

A part of the block will be two stories high, with a full basement underneath. The remainder of the building will be constructed in such a way that a second or third story can be added whenever business justifies.

The block will be of pressed face brick, limestone and terra cotta. It will set back 54 feet from the present street. Gullen stated that this action had been taken because of the fact that in the layout of the plans for the development of Novi a 25-foot boulevard had been planned.

Grand River is fast becoming one of the heaviest traveled highways in America and for that reason the plan has been to set the new building line back such a distance from the street so that no changes will have to be made when the street widening project is ready.

One office has been leased to an attorney another to a physician and one to a dentist, states Mr. Gullen. At the present the space that has been reserved in the building for a bank will be used as the offices for the Gullen & Gullen real estate department.

A plan has been worked out for the "Greater Novi," but it has not yet been formally acted upon by the association. It provides for control of the Grand River district two miles in each direction from Novi and of the Novi-Walled Lake road a distance of at least a mile and a half from the center of the town.

W. D. Chamberlain, sales manager for the Company states that water and sewer lines will be built on the subdivision this side of Novi before 1931. In the new building to be erected there will be six individual heating plants, but only one water plant for the entire building.

In the past year Novi has made remarkable growth, and there is every indication that during the next year or so it will experience the greatest development in its history.

SUPERVISORS TO ASSIST BIG FAIR TO BE HELD HERE

Vote $5,000 Towards Support of Northville Enterprise

Through the efforts of Supervisors William H. Maybury and Willard Ely, the Wayne county board of supervisors has voted an appropriation of $5,000 towards the Northville Wayne County Fair, the money being available for use this year.

The action of the supervisors is in keeping with that of nearly every other county in the state which maintains a fair. In some counties an appropriation of at least $10,000 is made towards the support of the various county fairs.

This is the first time in the history of Wayne county that the supervisors have been asked or given the only fair held in Wayne county any support. It was made clear to the board members that the Northville project is strictly a non-profit affair and that it is one that everyone in the county can take part in.

In fact the Northville fair has grown to such a point that it rivals the state fair in some respects. Its poultry show, under the direction of A. R. Fuller, has far exceeded anything ever attempted at the state fair. Its display of fruits and vegetables has more than once rivaled the state fair exhibits of a similar nature.

Due to the fact that a new grandstand seating nearly 5,000 people has been built this year, a new cattle barn been erected and other improvements made, it became necessary for the Northville fair boosters to seek aid that the county has long owed the organization. It was granted without a single dissenting vote or an objection of any kind.

HIGH STREET TO BE MADE INTO BOULEVARD BY CITY

THE COVERT SCHOOL REUNION AUG. 25TH

At the last meeting of the village commission to take final action on the paving question it was voted to make High Street into a boulevard with a parking system through the center of the street.

There will be two paved ways on the street, each 17 feet wide, with a six foot parkway through the center. These parkways will be circled at each end and will be maintained by the village.

It is expected that the paving will be started sometime next week and an effort will be made to have it finished as early as possible during the fall.

Other streets to be paved are Wing street, West street, Linden, and the widening of Rogers from Main to Fairbrook and Center street from Main street to the Base Line road.

STINSONS CARRY HISTORY MAKING MAIL SHIPMENT

Northville Made Crafts Take Part in Record Feat

Stinson monoplanes possessors of many world aerial accomplishments thus week added another to the list when they carried out of the city of Lansing the biggest shipment of air mail made in the history of the United States. Loaded down with ten tons of air mail the Stinsons sailed out of the Capital City with the giant load much easier than the ten big Reo trucks had carried the mail to the field.

At sack after sack was piled into the craft spectators were amazed to see the great size of the loads the Northville made planes could carry. The load was taken to Chicago where it was split and went out over every air mail route that operates out of the city.

The ten-ton consignment in the red white and blue envelopes represented 350,000 pieces. It is the largest single consignment of air mail by several thousand pounds in the history of the postal service.

A single mailer, the Red Motor Car Co., made the record shipment. It represents the opening of a full expansion campaign of the company's new products. A check for $17,500 was delivered to Reuter Weller Rogers of Lansing to cover the cost of the air mail as imposed in the 150,000 pieces.

First movement of the air mail started at 10:00 a.m. Tuesday when a police escort took its place at the head of a caravan of ten trucks, each carrying one ton of air mail. The 10 planes at the Lansing airport were in charge of W. R. Voight, traffic manager of the Thompson Aeromarine Corporation of Cleveland, which has the contract for air mail route No. 27, covering the Michigan routes.

The ships were lined up in a wide semi-circle about the airport. Gov. Fred W. Green and Mayor Laird Troyer represented the state and city at the take-off of the planes.

The ships passed over Charlotte and Kalamazoo, between Dowagiac and Cassopolis, over Niles, south of Michigan City and Gary and into Chicago landing at the Cicero field. They left Lansing in four squadrons, each flying in V-formation. There were three planes in the first squadron and five in each additional squadron.

The distance to Chicago from Lansing is 175 miles and the speed of the crafts between 90 and 100 miles per hour. The pilot coming from the greatest distance to participate in the record flight is W. P. McPhail who flies the northern air line out of Minneapolis. He brought a plane from Farro, N. D., a distance of about 800 miles, another Stinson.

The new grandstand at the fair grounds has been completed. Work has been started on the construction of booths and other places that will be under the stand.

Keep the hoe at work cutting weeds so as not to allow them to obtain the upper hand. Ten times more work is required then to clear the garden of them and in the meantime the flowering plants suffer.

E. C. Langfield is having the trees around his home trimmed. Rapid growth of the trees had cut off much of his view.

The big event of the day takes place at 6:00 o'clock, when the Oakland Sir Knights and the Wayne Sir Knights will play a ball game. The umptires will be the sheriffs of both counties.

All games will be under the direction of Donald Springer. There are some good links near Island Lake and there will also be erected a public rest room within the main building.

There will be free refreshments are the direct result of the interest of Congressman Grant Eads.

Work is progressing very favorably upon the new buildings being erected at the U.S. fish hatchery, and it is expected that by the first of October the entire improvement will have been completed.

In addition to the big aquarium, the new residence, another new pond, a general painting of all the buildings there will also be erected a public rest room within the main building.

Other great improvements are the direct result of the interest of Congressman Grant Eads.

In "Three Sinners" he plays his role of the Baron Hellmuth Wallentin with Warner Baxter, Paul Lukas, Tullio Carminati and Olga Baclanova in the cast supporting the star.

DRAMATIC ABILITY OF STAR STANDS OUT IN NEW CINEMA

Once more George Bancroft is playing the virile two-fisted type of role so dear to his heart. In "The Drag Net," a sensational stock melodrama now showing at the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, September 1, Bancroft plays the part of a man who walks in constant peril and works at danger.

It was such a role in "Underworld" which transformed the dynamic Bancroft from the smiling "lamb" of the screen to one of the foremost dramatic stars in motion pictures. It was another such part in "The Snowdown" which again demonstrated Bancroft's great dramatic abilities.

In "The Drag Net" Bancroft was directed by Josef von Sternberg, the man who directed him in "Underworld." Evelyn Brent and Fred Kohler, two other outstanding members of the "Underworld" cast are playing in the new picture as is William Powell, one of filmdom's outstanding villains.

Despite its scanty nature, the dress contrives to add to the charm and attractiveness of its wearer and to the lovers of fresh air and sunshine, it is an invaluable discovery.

CHAMPION FENCER OF

ARMY SUPPORTS STAR

Anders Randolph who plays an important role in "Pola Negri" latest Paramount picture, "Three Sinners," was once a champion fencer and physical instructor for the U.S. Army. He yes the best physical instructor to make gymnastics compulsory in the army. The picture, "Three Sinners," will show at the Penniman Allen Wednesday, August 29.

Randolph has worked in Paramount pictures—the first the company ever made and the last.

Before Adolph Zukor and Jesse Lasky joined forces in what is now the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, Zukor made number of pictures in the east under the firm name of Famous Players Company. The first was "The Prisoner of Zenda." In this picture Randolph played four characters in support of James K. Backett who was featured.

In the fourteen years which intervened between his first appearance under the Paramount banner and his next Randolph appeared in practically every role in an H.H. and the rest.

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES DEATH OF
MRS. H. O. LEONARD

Former Resident Killed in West Leaves Six Children

Friends of Mrs. H. O. Leonard, formerly of Northville will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred July 6 in an auto accident while driving in her home town Chehalis, Washington. Mrs. Leonard was 46 years of age and was born in Northville in the home now occupied by Mrs. Kysor. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carpenter who will be well remembered here in Northville due to the fact that Mr. Carpenter at one time ran a hardware store here.

Mrs. Leonard left Northville at the age of twenty and went to Washington to visit her brother Willard, where she remained about a year and then married H. O. Leonard of that place. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her many friends six children and one grand child.

Children are keen observers, and by the time they are ten they know almost as much as their parents.

How to Build Up Muscles

By J. J. Tordi, Wilson Ave., Chicago

Article 12

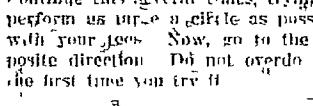

LEG CIRCUMDUCTION

Position—Same as Exercise XXV, with exception of starting with legs down.

Twenty-sixth Exercise—Raise legs a few inches from floor, in a circle to right, over head to left and to starting position. Opposite direction.

This exercise is one of the best for abdominal fitness. Your starting position is the same as Exercise XXV (Lie on your back, legs down). The exercise is to raise both legs a few inches off the floor, then proceed to circle toward your right and back toward your left face and then the left and arriving at the starting point. Continue this several times, trying to perform as near a circle as possible with your legs. Now, go to the opposite direction. Do not overdo this the first time you try it.

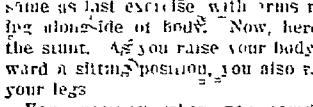

JACK KNIFE

Position—Same as Exercise XXV.

Twenty-seventh Exercise—As you raise body, also raise legs; reach for your head with hands.

This is perhaps the most difficult abdominal exercise and yet safe enough for most anyone to try. You may not succeed in getting thus the first few trials, but practice will give you control. Your position is the same as last exercise with arms resting alongside of body. Now, here is the stunt. As you raise your body toward a sitting position, you also raise your legs.

Your position when you complete the upward raising of body and legs should be something like a jack knife closed up.

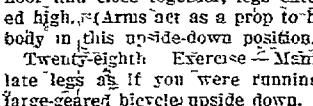

"THE BIG CYCLE."

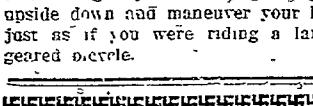

Position—Resting on shoulders, hands under hips, elbows resting on floor and close together, legs extended high, arms act as a prop to hold body in this upside-down position.)

Twenty-eighth Exercise—Manipulate legs as if you were running a large-gear bicycle upside down.

You can get plenty of fun out of this. Imagine you are riding a bicycle upside down and maneuver your legs just as if you were riding a large-gear bicycle.

Solving The Fuel Problem

Solving the fuel problem for now and later in the year is an extremely simple matter. Tell us your requirements and we will suggest the proper fuel quote you the cost, and deliver when and wherever you wish.

FUNNY, ISN'T IT?

George Welsh, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor against Fred W. Green, has long been a political opponent of Arthur Vandenberg of Grand Rapids, who is a candidate for nomination to the United States senate. The two love each other just about as much as Detroit gunmen love the police. In view of these facts, isn't it a funny thing to pick up a copy of the Grand Rapids Chronicle, Welsh's paper, and note his heading over an editorial: "Welsh for Governor, Vandenberg for Senator, a good home-town ticket." And this is followed by a full-fledged endorsement of the candidacy of Arthur Vandenberg.

What kind of a rascal off? Candidate Welsh used when he swallowed that dose is more than anyone can guess. Of course a lot of folks are going to vote for Vandenberg this fall because they believe in doing the straight Republican ticket. They think, and rightly so, that the country is in better hands under people who profess to believe in Republican principles are at the helm of the federal government affairs.

But some voters will close their eyes when they place that cross at the head of the ticket so they will be unable to see all the names printed below.

But the Welsh endorsement of Vandenberg, to those knowing the relations of the two, is so evident that we wonder if George did it cause he was asleep as the Governor must have been when he first appointed Arthur?

If things keep on as they are apparently going, maybe the Northville Record will be caught claim Jesse James, a murderer, to be a citizen and endear the name to readers generally.

WHY WORRY?

A newspaper in Downey, California, is greatly worried over some story it has heard about some man in a plutonium plant, who is a desert, where he is said to be very limited by atomic rays, but powerfully, albeit slowly, and gradually, very inferior to a way that would be able to benefit that Downey is the center of a wild and woolly country. By the way there is no reason for the "Dawn of Love" or anyone else in that beautiful little California city to worry about what eastern folks might think of the place after reading the story. Nearly everyone in the east who has not been to California has some relative or friends who have been there—and all know that the most of California, and especially Downey and its neighboring communities are beauty spots of the earth, and that the ranches are not the desolate places like they are in Arizona or New Mexico but rather garden spots producing nearly everything that grows under the wonderful sun-shine of the Golden state. In fact these Downey ranches look more like big floral gardens than anything else—and memory serves us right on a recent trip to that state we drove slowly through the streets of this beautiful little community. We wanted to see as many of the beautiful homes, the well kept gardens and the palm lined streets as possible. Why worry Downey when you know so much of the world's beauty lies in the same barren desert place or perhaps even may push into it?

THIS IS ONLY FOR LADIES TO READ

In Northville it is not infrequent that the housewife is called upon to prepare or to take charge of preparing church or club suppers and the like. One of the greatest difficulties is knowing how to change recipes from little ones to big ones and, how not to run short and yet not be wastefully lavish. The following recipes filed away against the time of need may help solve these problems.

Beef Loaf (for 100)

Eight pounds beef, eight pounds veal, 6 pounds beef, 2 quarts bread crumbs, 2 finely minced onions, 24 slices fat salt pork, 2 quarts milk, 16 eggs, 8 tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoonful pepper.

Have meat cut through the grader. Mix ingredients in order given. Shape in loaves and put in baking pans. Lay slices of salt pork over the top. Pour a little boiling water around each loaf. Bake at 425 degrees F. for fifteen minutes then reduce the heat to 300 degrees F. Bake frequently allowing from an hour and a half to two hours for cooking. May be served hot with tomato sauce or cold.

Beef à la Mode (for 100)

Fifty pounds beef, 5 pounds carrots, 5 pounds turnips, 8 bay leaves, 1 tea-spoon cloves, 3 pounds onions, 2 pounds celery, 4 pounds tomatoes, 1 tablespoon allspice, salt and pepper.

Have meat boiled and cut in one-inch pieces. Cleanse and scrub in drawings. Cook slowly until the meat is half done. Remove to a sautee and brown the vegetables, add the fat and vegetables to the meat. Cover the pot, bring to a boil, then cover again. Let it cook for 1½ hours. When nearly done, add flour sprinkled in water. This will require about four hours to cook.

Candied Sweet Potatoes

Wash and scrub 60 pounds of sweet potatoes. Place in a kettle and cover with water. Boil until tender. Then cooled peel and cut lengthwise. Place in baking pans and pour over 1½ pounds of sugar or 1 quart of syrup. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Pour drawn butter or milk drippings over the top and bake in a moderate oven until well browned.

An old shaving brush is excellent for dusting phonograph records.

A cloth dipped in olive oil will take the rusty look from old leather books.

Rubber triangles on the corners of the oriental rugs will keep them from sliding over the floors.

OLD SUPERSTITIONS

A mole on the nose shows you will travel.

A mole on the chin means you will be happy.

A spot on the neck shows you will earn a lot of money.

A mole on the eyebrow is a sign according to old superstition, that you will be married young.

When little girls' dresses are not to have matching blemishes, make them two inches longer than you would otherwise and they will look better.

All are vain and the professors in each generation who know history feel superior to the men who merely make it.

How unfortunate that nature didn't give us other people's children, the only ones we know how to raise.

SAYS THE OWL

Some men know what to do to be a gentleman, but they are too lazy.

History repeats itself, and there are many who run risks to see if it will.

IT MAY BE SO, BUT—

I am now a candidate.

I am dead with fright.

I believe in free speech.

I do not aspire to fame.

I will bet you ten to one.

I can take it so, leave it alone.

I am the boss of my household.

I could quit smoking if I wished.

I vote for the man, not the party.

I care not what the world may say.

I wouldn't do it for a million dollars.

I would rather be right than President.

I wouldn't have it if they gave it to me.

I never took a dishonest dollar in my life.

I have never had a quarrel with my wife.

I never drive faster than twenty miles an hour.

I break it a rule never to do any of the which I may be inclined.

STRANGE, BUT TRUE

ACTIVE ATTORNEY SEEKS VOTES IN OAKLAND COUNTY

Earl Phillips Visits Novi in Behalf of Candidacy at Primary

Earl L. Phillips, well known Pontiac attorney, spent Monday in the southern end of Oakland county, doing some campaign work in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for circuit court commissioner.

Mr. Phillips has many friends in Oakland county who are working to help nominate him for this place. He has been practicing law in Pontiac since the World war. His offices are at 604 Pontiac Bank Building.

He is an active member of the American Legion and members of this organization are actively working for him. They believe that he will carry Novi township by a good vote.

Previous to entering the World war he was a school teacher for a number of years, and his friends say that he is especially well qualified for the place he is seeking.

MANY GOING TO ANN ARBOR TO THE FAIR

Many from Northville, Salem, South Lyon, Novi and Plymouth are planning on attending the big Washenaw county fair which will be held in Ann Arbor next week.

Fair officials of that place have secured what is believed the biggest number of entries and the best attractions they have ever had and as a result it is expected that this year's attendance records will be exceeded by far that of any other year.

Several different parties from Northville that are planning on attending in groups on different days. The Washenaw fair has always taken many from this locality and for some reason, there seems to be more interest in the event this year than usual. Increased interest is probably due to the better fare that has been planned.

JUDGE O'BRIEN SEEKS RE-NOMINATION

POSTMASTERS AND EDITORS GUESTS OF HON. GRANT HUDSON

Many Present at Conference in Lansing—Expect Big Majority

Newspaper men and several of the postmasters from the Sixth Congressional district were invited Saturday noon at Congregational First Church in the Union Building at 3309 Linton. It was the editor's plan to have a talk over with the editor of some of these ideas pertaining to the present election and issues of the campaign.

It was freely predicted by the publishers present that the Congressman would have but little opposition to his nomination. In fact some made the assertion that he would have the biggest vote that he has ever had since representing the district in Congress.

There were representatives present from every county of the district. "Dad" Adams of the Fowlerville Review, one of the oldest and best known publishers of the state, presided at the informal program which followed the dinner. Vern Brown of Mason, discussed the tendency of newspaper towards an independent policy, and Governor Fred W. Green told of the importance of the newspapers in present day affairs.

Following the meeting the visitors were shown about the grounds and many buildings of the Michigan State College by Herman Halliday, secretary of the institution. Among those present from around the district were Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Neal of Northville.

BEST SIMILES OF 1927

The best similes of 1927, the seventh annual crop, have been gathered by Frank J. Wilstach, author of "A Dictionary of Similes." The following selections from a long list give some idea of the present trend in these figures of speech.

Under the direction of Capt. Edward Denniston, there has recently been completed just at the Detroit House of Correction farm that is regarded as the most modern prison for women in the world. Costing considerably over $2,600,000 the plant is complete in every detail. Much has been done to take away the general prison appearance of such a place.

Capt. H. Lehmann, one of the best prison officials in the United States, planned every detail of the big structure. Not only that but he has supervised the construction of all the buildings. While the entire project has not yet been completed, much has already been done.

Endorsements of the movement to retain Judge Ernest A. O'Brien on the Wayne circuit bench in January of this year are increasing daily.

Judge O'Brien was appointed to the circuit to fill one of the vacancies in circuit court, caused by the death of Judge George P. Codd and Henry A. Mandel. The primaries will take place September 14th, 1928.

In the bar primary held by the Detroit Bar Association, the lawyers of Detroit showed an appreciation of Judge Harr B. Holden by voting overwhelmingly in favor of these incumbents to retain their positions.

Judge O'Brien is a Republican candidate for circuit judge and is in year by Governor Fred W. Green, whose choice was widely commended.

On February 1st, the Detroit Free Press stated editorially: "The record of Judge O'Brien and the very evident respect in which he is held by his association of the bar and by those who know him everywhere, indicate that the selection is a careful and discriminating one."

Detroit newspapers were unanimous in their endorsement of the naming of Judge O'Brien.

Splendid results in controlling the chicken mite and cow tick have been secured through the application of some of the heavy coal-tar distillates, such as anthracene oil, together with the construction of simple, denatured foods and nests. The cow tick not only continues to be a menace to poultry raising in the South, but it is constantly invading new territory. Although this pest is particularly well adapted to conditions in the arid and semiarid southwest, it seems able to adapt itself to the more humid sections of the country.

At this time of the year evergreens may be trimmed and shaped to make the foliage grow more dense and keep the plants growing in a regular shape.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

MOSES WISNER

George L. McEachan, candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator from this district, has been in Northville this week in the interests of his candidacy. He is finding considerable support and from reports being received from other parts of the district there is no question but what he is going to make a good run for the place.

He has never held public office but has been a member of the Michigan delegation to the 1856 National Convention in Cincinnati. He is a business man and is well known in Detroit Masonic circles, being a 32nd degree Mason. His friends say he became a Mason when a young man. His business experience and the fact now setting on a farm in Lapeer that he is not a lawyer or interested in politics have caused him to give up his profession.

But one other candidate for the nomination as state senator has called upon Northville residents. Mr. McEachan, prosecuting attorney of that county, but soon after his term expired he returned to Pontiac, where he continued his legal work.

TIGERS AT HOME
He was a member of the convention at Cleveland which organized the Republican party in 1856. At Jackson, Mich., he was urged at that time to become a candidate for attorney general. In 1858, he was elected to the bar and became a candidate for attorney general. In 1861 he was admitted to the bar and became a member of the first Wisconsin legislature, and after the first Wisconsin campaign he was elected chief executive.

Dahlia's are growing rapidly these days, and should be well sown in the settember of the state, and dried moisture. The flowers will last all that is possible to extend their life. Many other states as a result of his appeal came here and located permanently.

He served but one term as governor of New York and was elected chief executive.

After returning to his home in Pontiac, he organized a regiment to go south. At the head of the 22nd Michigan regiment, he was sent to Kentucky. Soon after reaching the south, he contracted typhoid fever, and after an illness of many months died, before he had an opportunity to take part in a single engagement.

King Allen and sons, Bill and Edward, motored to Fremont last Friday where they did some fishing. They had exceptionally good luck catching a number of big bass.

A Single Piece

Can Make a Room Charming

It is really remarkable what charm a single beautiful piece of furniture can bring to a room. A striking table, a regal secretary, and odd and interesting chair will awaken beauty where only dullness reigned before.

To achieve a real decorative triumph, the pieces you select must be truly distinguished and it is refreshing to find in Northville creations of a character and individuality that will make any home pleasing.

And the satisfying part of it is that you can get this quality furniture at most reasonable prices.

WORK PROGRESSES FAVORABLY AT THE NEW SPRINGS PARK

The Rotarians Hire L. M. Schrader to Help—May Plant Flowers.

L. M. Schrader, who has been engaged by the Rotary club to spend a few hours each week working on the Fairbrook Springs park project, has in the last two weeks accomplished considerable at the park. The village has placed the gravel for the walks and on Tuesday cleaned out the pond. Mr. Schrader has trimmed out all the weeds and has cut the grass where it was first planted.

The whole park was not seeded during the early part of the summer because there was some filling that had not been done. The filling was completed sometime ago, and thus has now been seeded by Mr. Schrader. The village furnished the seed.

Some of the roses and a few of the shrubs will have to be replanted this fall, but most of the planting made last spring by the Rotarians has survived.

It has been suggested that the village purchase a number of early spring flowering bulbs to place in the park. The town has no place where it makes an effort to produce flowers. In nearly every city there are parks where numerous flower beds are in bloom during the entire spring and summer period.

It is pointed out that in Central park back of the city hall the location is of such a nature that flower beds there could not be seen easily from the street. In Fairbrook Springs park it is entirely different. There is no place in Northville where more impudent than the springs, and to keep the place brightened up with flowers would add greatly to the beauty of the spot, say those who have been interested in its development.

The bulbs that were donated by Flower Acres nursery and the Rotarians, gardens last spring and set out by the Rotarians, have done especially well. There is as beautiful a bed of dahlias as can be found anywhere, but the park is so large that the planting should be increased considerably. In the past few days village officials have made provision to place a number of brook trout in the stream. It is believed the trout will keep the water clean. So far there has been practically no vegetation growing in the water as in previous years.

TOWN PROGRESS TALKS

Testimony among the institutions which develop a town is the home newspaper. It stands for progress; it is fair to all; it nurses no grudges; it protects its people from unwelcome publicity, and causes needless sorrow to none; it boosts every enterprise, supports all public improvements, sometimes at financial loss; it promotes good fellowship at home and good feeling toward the town abroad.

The editor regards his position as a solemn responsibility; he endeavors to be the leader in all movements that will keep his town abreast of competing towns; he does not fill his columns with the sum of the news to fill his bill with dollars, though it befitting the community. So why not make the town's best friend, the home newspaper.

STATE FAIR WILL FEATURE HORSE
PULLING CONTEST

Some of Finest Teams in Michigan Have Been Entered

Reflecting the steady interest in the dairy and apiary business will also be shown development of larger and more powerful exhibits at the Fair, where a total of $265 will be offered in prizes. Every and rural use, the draft horse pulling contest to be held during the Michigan State Fair September 2-8 is attracting more entries than ever before in the Fair's history, according to Fair officials.

The contest will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, September 4 and 5, in front of the main grandstand, giving the thousands of spectators ample opportunity to see Michigan's finest draft horses demonstrate their pulling powers.

A scientifically devised dynamometer, supplied by the Michigan State College, will be used in conquering the tests. Horses will be divided into two classes; for light teams with a total weight of 3,000 pounds and under and for heavy teams weighing 3,001 pounds and over. The object of the tests, according to officials in charge, will be to determine the sustained maximum pulling capacity of each team and to obtain valuable scientific data in the relation between form and function. The tests are regarded as valuable in stimulating interest in the breeding and use of good draft horses, which have never lost their popularity in certain types of heavy hauling on both farms and in the city streets. A total of $500 will be given in prizes. The strict rules under which the contest is conducted absolutely forbids the use or carrying of a whip, or shouting at the team. Prof. Fern Freeman of the Michigan State College at Lansing will be in charge of the tests.

Two Michigan teams that won records in the contests last year will participate in this year's events. A team of Clydesdale, owned by R. H. Huntington, of Akron, Michigan, which won the light team class tests by pulling 2800 pounds and a team of Belgians, owned by the Owosso Sugar Co., Owosso, Michigan, which tied for the heavyweight class, by hauling 3150 will be seen again in action.

Information on entries can be obtained from Prof. Freeman or from the Director of Live Stock and Exhibits at the Fair grounds.

Plums only 80¢ and a dollar a bushel at Roth's store

Lee Lawrence son of County Agent Lewellen had a rather unusual experience on the Pete Maquette train Saturday while taking twin brothers to the Industrial school at Lansing. Over near Brighton one of them took off one of his shoes and began hitting Lawrence over the head. The boys tried to knock him out, agreeing to break out a car window after they had done so, to make their escape. With the help of some passengers Leo subdued the boys and landed them safely in the Industrial school. Both of the youngsters were nearly as large as he was.

Four main kitchen activities follow each other every day and several times a day; food preparation, cooking, serving and clearing away and washing dishes. Compact centers for these four jobs should follow the same order around the room usually from left to right. Equipment should be placed accordingly. REV. BELLES TELLS OF ISSUES IN THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN

Former Well Known Local Pastor Points Out the Difference

"In an article written especially for the Northville Record, Rev. E. V. Belles, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church now located at Kenton, Ohio, who is spending his vacation at the Ponsford farm, delves into the issues of the present campaign in an interesting way.

The article follows:

"America is warming up for her great quadrennial political squabble. After August 22nd when Al Smith formally accepts the nomination of the Democratic party, the forces of the two great political parties will be joined and the fight will be on. The average American citizen may well ask: 'What's it all about?' and a little study of the situation at this time may not be amiss.

Certain fundamental and unalterable principles are supposed to exist in the Republican and Democratic parties, which hold the two poles apart and out of which, at each quadrennium, and often between times, certain definite issues emerge which must be fought out at the poles for the salvation or destruction of the Republic. It is time for the patriotic citizen to be looking for these issues in order that he may vote intelligently, and we naturally look to the party platforms for light on the subject. A little study of the two important documents formulated thus summer at Kansas City and Houston respectively reveals some interesting phenomena. The tariff question is an age-old bone of contention between the two parties. Everybody knows that the Republican party favors a protective tariff and that the Democratic party stands for free trade or tariff for revenue only. That is, everybody knows that used to be the situation; but things have changed, and the Houston convention, for the first time in Democratic history, adopted a plank in its platform favoring a protective tariff. Of course, it did not call it that, but when it admits that in any revision of the tariff American labor must be safeguarded, what else can it mean? In other words the person who is opposed to protection and who has been looking to the Democratic party to put his ideas into operation, must now look elsewhere for a party to espouse his cause. The two main parties are strangely similar in their platform pronouncements.

"Another point of sharp divergence between the two major parties has been our foreign policy. There seems still to be some differences, but the main policy seems to be the same in both platforms, namely, co-operation in every way possible with other nations for promotion of peace, and in the meantime adequate armament for safeguarding the rights and liberties of America and Americans, and both with special emphasis on the protection of American rights abroad.

"Both parties definitely espouse the cause of the farmer and offer programs of relief, which in their essentials are very similar. Both parties promise a further reduction of taxes. Both see alike the outstanding points in the labor question. Both promise the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and laws enacted in accordance therewith. So similar are the two platforms in their essentials when shorn of all political verbiage that a prominent writer in the Magazine of Wall Street reported in commenting on the situation, "America is in happy position of having achieved a political unity rarely known to nations." National ideals and policies are clearly outlined and generally accepted, that major political parties present a choice of implements for realizing them.

"Where then are the issues? From a strictly practical viewpoint and judging from the platforms alone there is nothing to speak of. The ideals and policies of the two parties are strikingly similar. It is largely a matter of choosing which party will be most likely to carry out these ideals and policies in the most efficient manner. But there are elements other than platforms which enter into the situation, and chief among these is the personal element represented in the men who have been chosen to lead the respective parties. It is, of course, true that even if the two parties were to go forward on their record of reform, the public would be inclined to believe Al Smith, being Al Smith, and having Al Smith's family bearing behind him, he could not fail to be recognized, so he did the only thing Al Smith could do, that is, to platform in regard to prohibition. Well, he does not ask to have the Eighteenth Amendment repealed, of course not, for he knows that if only one house of the legislature of this country wants to retain it, it would be retained, and he knows Al Smith, too well to fool even himself on this issue. Against Al Smith's temperance tendencies by making it plain that he does not want thealon back. Of course, not. Why offend people who remember with admiration the time when Al Smith was a certain noted literary genius suggested that Al Smith would smell as sweet if called by any other name, and doubtless the places where Al's beef and light wines would be dispensed would smell just as sweet as the old-fashioned saloon whatever sobriquet might be applied to them.

Briefly, Smith's platform is this: The liberalizing of the Volstead act, and the application of the principle of States' Rights to the liquor question. Both have the same end in view, the one for the whole nation, the other to permit certain states to go beyond what can be forced on the nation as a whole. Primarily the purpose is to increase the alcohol content in liquor to be considered intoxicating in the eyes of the law. Obviously with a congress willing to carry out this platform, it would come to pass that actually intoxicating liquors would be legalized. And obviously again, with the States' Rights clause added, individual states could have liquor as strong as they wished and still be within the law. It is just this that Herbert Hoover has clearly pointed out would be nullification. That is, with the Eighteenth Amendment still a part of the Constitution forbidding the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors, individual states could and would be manufactured, transported and sold, and yet with perfect legality. This nullification, Mr. Hoover says, the American people will not countenance; but the American people will vote for that very thing if they vote for Al Smith for president.

In sharp contradiction from this stand taken by the Democratic nominee is the frank and fearless statement by Herbert Hoover in his acceptance speech. He goes beyond the platform, yet in absolute keeping with his word and spirit. Some of Hoover's most friends have tried to twist his words and make them mean something else than he intended, but he himself said he used words to express his meaning, not to hide it, and there can be no doubt as to his meaning when he says: "I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder."

Here then is the issue. It could scarcely be more sharply drawn. There is not a question of more moment confronting the American people. A fair appraisal of conditions as they are, with a comparison of conditions as they were, on the part of people who remember the pre-Volstead days, leaves not the slightest doubt as to what the decision of the American people should be. The question is, will people really make the true comparison and settle the situation fairly? The permanent settling of the disputes within reach will America secure that settlement? The answer lies with the voters at next November's election.

BEST RESULTS BY PLANTING ROSES DURING THE FALL

Northville Flower Lovers to Put in Many New Plants Soon

By Prof. Alex Laurie

Dept. of Horticulture, M. S. C.
The best time to plant roses is in the fall after the foliage has dropped from the plants, which occurs after a frost. Fall planting has the advantage of being able to secure freshly dug plants, while those secured in the spring are usually kept stored in the nursery fields over winter and of necessity are somewhat dried out.

The fall planted rose has a chance to become established in the soil before spring, so that it can withstand the hot, dry weather of the first summer. In addition, the fall planted rose can be fed early in the spring, while the spring planted must wait several weeks while its roots get sufficiently strong to absorb the food given.

If it becomes necessary to plant in the spring, the work should be done as early as possible. Late planting is always attendant with high mortality. Frequent syringing and even shading is needed to keep the plants alive in the early stages of late spring planting. For fall planting the beds should be prepared in August, while for spring planting any time in the fall will do.

When the plants arrive they should be unpacked at once. The roots placed in water for an hour to soak and then planted as soon as possible. If impossible to plant upon arrival the roses should be heeled in a trench and covered with soil until ready. A cool, cloudy day is the most suitable.

The manual operation of planting consists of digging a hole large enough to permit the roots to be spread out. The plant is then pruned to remove all bruised roots and cutting back the tops in accordance with the type of the rose.

The hybrid perpetual may be cut back to five or six buds from the base. While five or six stems are left on the plant, the hybrid tea and cut back more. Two or three buds are left on each stem and only four or five stems permitted to remain. The climbers should be cut back quite heavily in order to force them to make a new root system in their new position.

The shrub roses should be cut back to one-half of the old if due to the fact that they need a great deal of room in the garden. Hybrid rugosa should be cut back one-half, and the climbing roses one-half of their original height.

The pruning operations described above may be applied to the plants which have been in the ground a number of years. Each spring the same procedure should be gone through in the case of the hybrid teas and hybrid perennials. Such a system may appear draconian, but in the end better flowers on longer stems will result.

The only pruning needed for bush roses in the spring is the cutting out of the dead wood. The shrubs should be pruned after flowering, usually in August. They differ in their flowering habits.

from the other roses, the bloom appearing upon the wood of the year previous. Consequently cutting back and stimulates their production. It of this year's wood reduces the flowing next season.

All two-year-old wood should be cut out and the tips of the current year's wood be cut back about six inches to stop further development and induce maturity before winter.

Feeding may begin as soon as growth starts in the spring. The three elements of the plant food which are usually deficient in the soil are nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Nitrogen causes rapid growth and must be used with care.

It comes in the form of ammonium sulphate, nitrate of soda, urea, dried blood, tankage and in a small degree in animal manure. Ammonium sulphate and nitrate of soda may be applied in liquid form at the rate of three ounces to five gallons of water which will cover 30 square feet of bed.

If applied in dry form, one pound to 100 square feet is sufficient. Urea should be used three times a week. Blood and tankage are not quite as readily available and may be scattered over the bed at the rate of three pounds to 100 square feet. The peat moss, which was mentioned as a mulch, also contains nitrogen which becomes available upon contact with the bacteria in the soil and is very useful. The material thus becomes not only a mulch but food as well. Phosphorus gives color to flowers and stimulates their production. It is also responsible for quality or substance of the tissues and the petals of the flower.

Bone meal is the usual carrier of this material, but should be applied in the fall at the rate of five pounds to 100 square feet.

For quick effects in the spring, acid phosphate is used at the same rate. These are applied in dry form and consequently should be worked into the soil and watered.

Potash is useful in giving tone to the plant and making it more disease resistant. Heavy soils are usually rich in this element. Potassium sulphate, potassium chloride & unleached hard wood ashes supply this ingredient to the plants.

One tablespoon of potassium sulphate to three gallons of water is the best rate of application. If dry form is to be used at the rate of one pound to 100 square feet. It is advised that contain a small percentage of the material and thus may be applied as a dressing.

To facilitate matters in fertilizing, it might be well to use a good complete fertilizer which is well balanced. This should be applied at least three times during the season at the rate of two or three pounds to 10 square feet. A good formula is 4-12-4.

A more concentrated material is 15-30-15, which should be used in liquid and scald form four times per month only at the same rate as used for manure. Before using them and given every two or three weeks, never leave cereals when going away from home for any length of time. One weekly package will contain.

When used as a mulch a two-inch manure is sufficient. The liquids are made by soaking a bucket in a barrel of water for twenty-four hours. Sheep

FLOWER SHOW TO BE HELD OVER IN WAYNE AUG. 31.

How Nearby Town Works Plan To Beautify the Place

The Wayne Flower Show which will display all finery of the gardens of the village at their best, is to be held at the High School on Friday, August 31 from 3 to 10 p.m. At this time the twenty-five dollar awards for the property having the greatest general improvement and best appearing yard will be made it was stated by Rev. Walter Heyler, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

Five dollar prizes have been donated by many of the merchants and residents of Wayne for the best display of such flowers as: petunias, marigolds, asters, gladiolas, roses, snapdragons, salvia, chrysanthemum, hollyhocks, cosmos, carnations, pinks, dahlia's cockscomb, foxglove, zinnia, nasturtiums, calliopsis, scabiosa, cannae and strawflowers.

A ten dollar prize will be offered for the best basket of old fashioned flowers and in this display keen competition is expected as many of the people have signified their intentions of entering their best of these old stand-bys that beautify the rear garden of homes.

To be eligible to enter this finale to one of the most successful dressups that Wayne has ever had the contestants must enter only flowers which have grown within the limits of the village of Wayne.

Those who will enter displays are asked that the same be at the High school auditorium no later than 11 a.m. of the day of the show. Present plans indicate that a beautiful array of flowers attractively displayed and arranged at the school will be seen by the many who will want to attend the opinion of Rev. Heyler.

During the evening of the show a musical program will be presented by several artists together with other features that will culminate the venture as one of the seasons most delightful.

The aesthetic value of a flower show can easily be seen and its value to Wayne as a city that is rapid gaining renown for its beauty and cleanliness can not be estimated.

The Wayne "dresses up," which had its beginning early in the spring, has brought results that could be foreseen at no time in the history of the village.
