FAIR WEATHER FOR FAIR BRINGS OUT THE CROWDS

Free Entrance is Enjoyed by Hundreds—Exhibits Best Ever

The fair is on—and he weather is fair! Under ideal conditions the Northville Wayne County Fair threw open its gates to the public Tuesday—the first free fair that Wayne county had ever enjoyed.

There was no rain and no indication of rain—something that had not been experienced for three years past during fair week in Northville.

The result of it was that the first night's crowd was the biggest "first nighter" that the Northville fair had ever enjoyed.

Wednesday was also an ideal day and the attendance for the second day climbed above that of any other year.

We are off to a mighty good start," declared President Nelson Schrader. "It couldn't be better," added Floyd Norinap and Ray Richardson, who were looking high into the stars for the sign of a rain drop.

With more entries in the various departments, with more attractions along the midway with more horses entered in the various races, and with a greater interest than ever displayed at any previous fair, there is nothing now unless a sudden change of the weather develops to prevent the 1928 fair from being the biggest and most successful ever held during the 12 years of existence of the association.

The poultry show has gone far beyond all expectations. The displays are so numerous that A. E. Fuller and his assistant Glen Richardson have had difficulty in finding places for all the exhibits that have been brought in.

"We have got them piled to the ceiling and still we need more room," declared Mr. Fuller.

The Maybury Sanatorium farm display of Plymouth Rocks, and Hugh Barbetti's exhibit of Polands have attracted endless attention. But that doesn't mean that there are not scores of other displays in the poultry building, worth seeing. The poultry show in itself is worth the entire effort put forth by the association, this year.

So it is with all the other displays. In the live stock department a similar condition prevails.

The Plymouth schools, the Wayne County Training school and numerous other special exhibits have received much favorable comment.

For the hungry, and they are many, the Baptist ladies are serving delicacies that will satisfy the hungriest hunger that ever lived. The only complaint heard, is that they served too much for one's good.

The fair does not close until Saturday night at midnight. It's worth your time to go down to the grounds and visit the various exhibits and enjoy all the pleasures that go with an event of this kind. There is something that will please every one in the family, from babe to grandad—and you can find a real Northville welcome awaiting you.

NORTHLVILLE MAN LEAVES FOR TRIP TO SOUTH POLE

Orville Porter Goes With Captain Wilkins' Party

Orville Porter, who has been associated with the Stinson Aircraft corporation in various capacities for the past year or so, is one of the crew selected by Capt. Wilkins for his South Pole exploration trip. He will leave New York City, Saturday, for the south end of the world, and expects to be away from Northville for the next year or so.

It was Mr. Porter who delivered the Stinson ship to William Hinchcliff, the English aviator, who made an unsuccessful effort to cross the Atlantic late in the winter.

It will be recalled that Hinchcliff ran into a terrific storm in mid-ocean, and that he and his woman companion were drowned.

Porter was the last person to see them off on their flight that ended so disastrously.

BUSINESS-GROWTH MAKES NECESSARY ADDITIONAL HELP

Casterline Service Station Adds Another to Its Force

Stan Herrick, who was associated with the former Ford Service station, has accepted a position with the rapidly growing Casterline Service Station at the foot of Main street, where no will be glad to see his many old friends.

The business of the Casterline station has been growing by leaps and bounds and Clifford Casterline, its owner, has found it necessary to add additional help. Mr. Herrick has had long experience in the gas station business.

During his stay in California he worked with a number of the big stations in and around Los Angeles and he brings to the Casterline station some of the service ideas he gained out on the coast.

The recent tire sale conducted by the Casterline station was a far greater success than had been anticipated. Even the stock was sold something that does not ordinarily happen.

Mr. Casterline recently found it necessary to entirely re-stock his tire department because of the big sale.

Dr. L. W. Snow and family have moved into the home they recently purchased at the corner of Main and Linden streets. Dr. Snow will maintain his office in the residence formerly occupied by him and which is located next to the house he bought from Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parmenter.

Henry Kellie had the misfortune to break his arm while at work a few days ago.

BUSINESS KEEPS P. M. STATION OPEN 24 HOURS

Three Eight Hour Shifts Needed to Handle Northville's Freight

Announcement was made the first of the week that beginning Monday, the Pere Marquette freight station will be open both day and night, and that there would be a freight and telegraph agent on duty all of the time.

According to the local agent, A. V. Barber, business has grown to such an extent that the railroad, and telegraph company find it necessary to make the addition of two new men to take care of the large increase in work.

Northville residents will remember not long ago when the station was open only at train time, and if the agent received more than two or three telegrams a week, business was to such an extent that the wire was always in operation, either with messages coming in or being sent out.

The steady increase of freight since the village commission held Saturday afternoon to consider the High street paving problem, the commission decided to change the plans of the paving of the street. The boulevard plan has been abolished and in its place, a paving 36 feet wide will be put down. This is a foot wider than the Main street paving.

Several of the residents were opposed to the parkways in the center of the street, claiming that it would interfere with their driveways. As a result of these protests, a special meeting was called Saturday, and members of the commission visited the street, where they went over the entire situation.

The excavation has been made preparatory to the building of the parkways in the center of the street, but it was found that a sufficient amount of earth had been left along the side of the thoroughfare to permit filling in the strip that will be left unpaved.

This is the plan that was originally adopted by the commission. Bids were advertised for 36-foot paving and the suggestion that High street be made into a boulevard was a second consideration.

BRAE BURN GOLF COURSE ONE OF BEST IN MICHIGAN

Expert Tells Members the Course Will Far Excel All Others

Members of the Brae Burn Golf and Country Club held their first business meeting at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth Tuesday evening. The meeting, under the direction of President McLaughlin, was attended by 60 members and their guests.

The purpose of the dinner was to show and tell the members just how far actual construction had progressed. Moving pictures taken of the work that has been done to this time gave those in attendance a good idea of the first nine holes of the course, which will be ready for play next Decoration Day. Five of the first nine are seeded and work on the other four will be completed this week. The layout of the second nine has just been completed and active work on this part of the course will not take place until the finish of the first half. Although the eighteen fairways and greens have been graded at this point, the courses and contracts in charge feel that construction of the first nine is the more important. The whole course will be open for play on Labor Day 1928.

F. M. Mailes of the Grass Isle Country Club, who is considered an expert on golf terrain told the members that he had as yet to see a course that would compare with the one Brae Burn has.

CHIEF OBJECT OF PARENTS' WORK CHILD'S FUTURE

Rotarians Hear Excellent Address by School Official

Northville Rotarians Monday had the pleasure of hearing one of the best talks made before a local luncheon club in many months, interesting because the speaker knew what he was talking about and because he dealt with a subject of importance to every individual.

The speaker was Superintendent E. D. Down of the Ferndale public schools. He was a guest at the meeting of Sept. 21st, and while he came here as a pinch hitter for the club, his address was by far one of the best that Rotarians have heard during the year.

We all work for some object, mostly because we have to. We work to provide for our present day needs for our pleasures and for our old age, he said. But chiefly parents work for their children. We are all anxious to have our children have a good education. In fact, there is nothing we are more serious about than the education of our boys and girls, he said.

There has never been a generation since the dawn of civilization that has seen so many changes as the present one. It is impossible to enumerate all of them and the schools have tried to keep pace with the changes and progress of the times.

The teacher is held in higher esteem than former. He is more respected and better trained for the work he is engaged to do than were teachers of former years. In years gone by the teaching profession in a great many cases was simply used as a stepping stone to some other profession but that has also passed.

The doctor, the lawyer, the engineer are all highly trained for the work they do. The more training they have the less likely they are to make mistakes. So it is with school work.

We have learned that it is the individual child that must be taught. All children in a group cannot be instructed in the same way. We have got to know how to handle each child and each case presents a different problem. The youth of today is the same as it was 50 or 100 years ago. It is no worse now than then.

Our greatest object and one that I believe we are accomplishing, is in getting the child to think of citizenship, and in our efforts we are having the cooperation of Rotarians and other groups, all interested in school work and development.

Mrs. Howard Cole, who was taken to follow he was run down by an automobile driven by Harold R. Blake of Detroit, a real estate operator. Blake was released by Geo. Springer, Plymouth deputy sheriff, to make a statement at prosecuting attorney's office.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY

Friday, September 21st, a new season opens and our school's first football game is scheduled at Milford. Things do not look very good for the Orange and Black this year, because Coach Jones has not the veteran team of last year, and most work with new material. This means weeks and weeks of hard practice to get all the material in shape.

But in all those weeks of practice, some of our games will be played, and if the team wins we might hold the championship another year, but the team is of new material and difficulty is expected in the line-up.

There is only one way that the student body can help the team, and that is using their spirit and fight for school honor. Turn out to all the games because the Orange and Black your school team is in need of your team, so go out then especially to home games, and all those who possibly can be out to this first and important game at Milford.

Go around and ask football enthusiasts if you can't go to the game, also ask others to go and sell for the team; that's showing real spirit and helping your team to regain the Suburban League championship.

SERIOUS PROBLEM BEFORE PHYSICS CLASS

Mr. Amerman's class in 12th grade physics are becoming noted already for their apt answers to questions that are perhaps beyond their powers to answer.

Yesterday afternoon a class was thrown off its usual and natural balance by a good question from Mr. Amerman. What he asked is this: If it is solved all problems, including the most difficult, but what would it tell if you would prove yourself to be a fool?

He added to his question,

"What would it tell if you had 82% of the answers right?"

Count of the responses were as follows:

"It would tell me I'm not as good as I think I am."

"It would tell me I'm not as good as I think I am."

"It would tell me I'm not as good as I think I am."

STOP FARMINGTON
SYNDICATE REALTY
SALES IN STATE

Number of Shares Sold in Kalamazoo—Money is Refunded

Kalamazoo investors in syndicate real estate interests, located near Farmington, Mich., and promoted in Kalamazoo by B. M. Marr, will be interested to know that as result of an investigation and report made and filed with the Michigan Securities Commission, these interests were sold in violation of the Michigan Blue Sky Law, Act 220, passed in 1923, due to the fact that Marr has not qualified with the commission.

The disclosure was brought about by a complaint filed by John F. Doebele, executive secretary of the Michigan Real Estate Association, whereby he secured the return of $900 to Mrs. Buell, his mother-in-law.

Following Doebele's complaint, the matter was turned over to L. E. Griffin, of the State Securities Commission, who filed the following official report:

In my investigation of this complaint I found that B. M. Marr was selling syndicate interests in a subdivision located near Farmington. Mr. Marr was not qualified with this commission; therefore the sale of syndicate interests is in violation of the Michigan Blue Sky Law, Act 220, passed in 1923.

Mr. Doebele's complaint was in behalf of Mrs. Buell, mother of Mrs. Doebele, and a lady 79 years of age, that Mr. Marr sold her $800 worth of stock in the syndicate.

I met Mr. Marr in the office of Byers Brothers of Kalamazoo. He claimed to have been advised by his attorney that he could sell these interests without their being brought before the commission. However, he paid $400 cash to Mrs. Alice Renwick, daughter of Mrs. Buell and signed an agreement to return Mrs. Buell's note for $300 which he claimed was at his home in Detroit. He waited for this note while I was in the office of Byers Brothers. I did not call on any other purchased but was informed that Mr. Marr also sold interests in this syndicate.

Carelessness causes most fires. Every fifteen minutes someone's home catches fire.

Fifteen thousand burn to death each year in America.

Help prevent it! Be careful! As the days grow cooler and fires are necessary in stoves, fireplaces and furnaces for comfort, the danger of losses increases. It is important, therefore, that fires should be examined, cleaned and repaired where necessary.

Not all losses of property and lives by any means, are caused by defective flues. A frequent cause of danger is rubbish collected in basements or in and around buildings. A general cleanup is an effective method of fire prevention.

Songs of Plain Folks

By James Lewis Hays

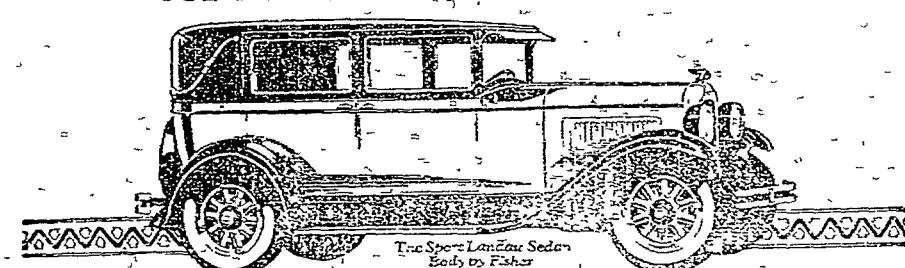

Nightwatchman

Night watchman I,
And while you sleep
I'm walking by
A gloomy wall
Round buildings
Shadowy and tall,
Beneath a sky
God knows how deep.

When radio
And pleasure car
No longer sound
And you're asleep,
It seems the great
Stars nearer creep,
And yet they're far—
God knows how far.

I love the four
Still hours of night
From one until
The morning bars
Lift up and send
My friends, the stars,
Behind the sky-wall
Out of sight.

But just recall we're on the road.

And it doesn't seem like ever.

We read of stories we read of stories.

And pictures come in.

To keep us up to date.

That there's no place like ours.

If you've lost your horse or your dog.

Anything else.

There is no place like ours.

Always there for us.

The Northvilleites who live away.
No matter where they roam,
Must be so glad to receive him,
Just like a letter from home.

It keeps them in touch with Tom and Bill.

And for office, who's going to run?

And what the old town is doing.

And what she's already done.

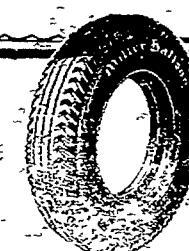

So we'll say Hurrah for the Record!

The best there is in the state;

Long may she live and prosper,

And continue to circulate.

DE-HO-CO CINCLES CHAMPIONSHIP

Sunday, September 16th, DeHoCo clashed with Holly at DeHoCo park, and emerged with the long end of a 12 to 7 score, and the championship of the Inter-County League.

The DeHoCoites started out as if they intended to make Holly a present of a game, when in the first inning errors by Jaska and Martin gave Holly a run without a hit. In the second one each, by Jaska and Martin and two by D'Este, coupled with a single by Hartner and a double by Adams, produced three more runs for Holly.

In this frame the veteran, Harry German, hurling for DeHoCo, had to show his wizardry with a baseball in order to save the massacre. With the bases loaded he struck out the last two men. DeHoCo then steadied down and played good baseball for the rest of the game.

In the last half of the second, the Farmers, not liking to be in the wrong end of a 4 to 0 score, staged a savage attack on Hartner. Holly's veteran ace, and five hits and three bases on balls produced seven runs. Still not being sure of winning they came back in the third and pounded out four hits for three more runs. After this onslaught, Hartner found himself and allowed but three hits the rest of the way.

This was the third and final meeting this year between these two teams, each having one game to their credit previously.

Next Sunday, September 23rd, DeHoCo will journey to Keego Harbor to engage Boyce Bros. of Pontiac, in the final Inter-County League game of the season. This will be a play-off of a game that had been postponed earlier in the season on account of wet grounds.

NEXT SERVICE SEPTEMBER 30

Judging by the congregations, the Sunday evening pictorial service, being held in Salem Town Hall, old fair to become a popular institution. At the service last Sunday, Bruce Barton's well known book, "The Man Nobody Knows" was reverently presented upon the screen. Incidents in the life of Christ, and the actual places where He lived and worked, and ministered were beautifully portrayed before an appreciative audience. Solos were rendered by Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. A. Parker and Lloyd Staebler. Mrs. Spiers kindly presided at the piano and accompanied the picture with well chosen selections. These services are being held under the direction of Rev. A. J. Parker.

The next pictorial service is to be held on Sunday evening September 30th when the feature picture, "One to Square," which is based on Ethel Lynn Beer's famous poem, "Which Shall It Be?" will be presented on the screen. A special musical program is being arranged and this service will commence at 7:30.

City officials in checking over the water fund have discovered that there are a large number of delinquents. In fact, stated Commissioner Ray Van Valkenburgh, the total amount would reach many hundreds of dollars. As a result special notices are being sent to all delinquents and advised that if immediate settlement is not made, water will be turned off at once.

There are no "ifs or ands" about it, state officials. Unless the water consumer can show by check or received water notice that the amount has been paid, it has been decided that service will be stopped immediately if full payment is not made.

In keeping with the new policy, it has also been decided that from now on water will be cut off in remittance, if not made in due time each quarter.

The demands for water service in the community has been exceedingly great, and because of the growth of the department officials have let it be known that every cent due the department must be collected.

A number of people on the city delivery routes in the village have complied with the post office department's orders to have their mail boxes located on the outside of porches that are screened in, so that carriers will not have to walk up the steps and open screen door in order to deliver the mail. A number of others have paid no attention to the order.

Carriers are not required to open screen doors in order to deliver mail. The request is a reasonable one and in order that the carriers may be saved unnecessary travel and delay, everyone should gladly arrange their mail boxes to the utmost convenience. In many cities and villages people are even locating their boxes in the outside of the porch columns even when the porch is not screened. In some cases here in Northville this has been done, and the carriers are duly appreciative of this.

The Northville carriers have all they can do to make their routes, and some days much more, and we all should show our appreciation of their efforts as well as the enterprise shown towards Northville by the department at Washington. In this connection it might also be stated that there are but few villages in the United States of Northville's size that have been favored

PREPARATION

The assets of youth are energy and enthusiasm—those of age, experience and reputation. We buy the one with the other. But once in a lifetime do we have at our disposal these vital years of foundation experience.

If we dissipate this early energy and enthusiasm in amusing ourselves, our chance will have passed forever, but if we let the law of cause and effect work for us, if we give these glad years to preparation, we shall always be out in front.

Life is not a joyride of the emotions. It is an extended time of varied experience. To dominate and enjoy this experience requires an even dis-

Chief of Police Safford is without question Northville's most economical employee.

This assertion is borne out by what happened at the city commission meeting Monday evening.

Of course, Northville's chief is in uniform—and he should rightly be in

But uniforms, like most everything else, wear out.

It became painfully necessary for Chief Safford to make a request to the city fathers Monday evening to buy him a new pair of police trousers.

In his evidence to the commission of the necessity of buying another pair, he displayed these that he had on to the gentlemen sitting in judgment. They had done service for two long years.

"Well, I guess Bill, from the looks of things you ought to have another pair. You have given those pretty good wear," said Mayor Falkens as he looked blossom forth in a new uniform; his old the police officer's clothing over with a one having given more faithful duty than one usually gets from just mere cloth.

The new Packard Shock Absorbing system and distinctively Packard Trunnion Spring bracket are almost magical in their effects. They make the new eight not only the easiest riding car in the world, but also the safest. This is so true that we would state it even more positively if we could find words to do so.

NOTED FILM ACTORS IN THE CAST OF "HEART TO HEART"

The legitimate stage, vaudeville, the drama schools and America's one hundred million "civilians" have contributed to Hollywood's army of film players to the saturation point. The cream of the army of talented, handsome, beautiful and grotesque; since it comes from such a large field of choice, is good.

That, probably, is why it is possible to assemble such a cast of film artists as that seen in First National's lively comedy-drama at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday - September 23rd, "Heart to Heart." Every role is enacted by a player who, at some time, has been featured or starred in films.

Mary Astor, Lloyd Hughes and Louise Fazenda are featured in "Heart to Heart." Lucien Littlefield, in a prominent supporting part, has been co-starred in comedy, Thelma Todd, First National's new beautiful ingenue lead, lent her blonde charm and figure to the title role of "Vamping Venus."

Raymond McKee plays opposite Miss Todd. McKee has been starred and featured in both comedy and dramatic film productions. Virginia Gray in the "Little Eva" fand in the original version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has an especially notable role in "Heart to Heart." Two other child stars, Maurice Murphy and Matin Jane, Laurette Lorraine and Evelyn Manning, make up the cast. There is another part.

Walter Readeine directed "Heart to Heart." It is a story of love and sacrifice by a man who is forced to give up his wife and two children to save his country.

AFRICAN JUNGLE BUILT IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIO

The mountain could not come to Mahomet so Mahomet went to the mountain. Reversing the procedure, the DuMile Company which directed "Midnight Madness" could not bring the African jungle to the mountains of the jungle, to the cities.

One of the big stages on the Hollywood lot is to be given over to production of a section of African jungle. A log cabin, built after outskirts of the dense thicket of trees and foliage peculiar to the jungle, which was assembled after an outlay of much time and expense. Many tons of earth covered the floor of the stage.

Much of the action of "Midnight Madness" is laid in this wild African locale, while the remainder is distributed between the most colorful districts of a Metropolitan city and the little world of an ocean steamer.

Jacqueline Logan and Clive Brook have the leading roles in "Midnight Madness," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, September 26th. Walter McGrail, James Bradbury, Sr., Virginia Dale, Louis Nathau and Clarence Burton also play important characterizations.

OLD IRONSIDES TRULY GREAT MOTION PICTURE

That much overworked adjective "gigantic," may very properly be employed to describe "Old Ironsides" the new Paramount spectacle produced by James Cruze and adapted from Laurance Stallings' original story by Harry Carr and Walter Woods, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, September 29th.

It is doubtful if even Mr. Cruze himself realized what a tremendous impression the picture would make upon the minds of the public. It is one of the first real American epics of the silent drama. Other producers have made us see parts of the United States history, but this, with its battle scenes, Yankee ears and dauntless fighting men makes one feel the tremendous bravery and courage of our forefathers.

Although "Old Ironsides" is, for the most part, spectacular and gives the low interest, significant scenes, it is full of conflict, suspense and danger. Sir Edward G. Greyton and Charles T. Keeler, who made a diamond wreath of a set of hand-hammered gold.

Aside from the scenes of love, consider the scenes of a bitter old soldier scene, love with a cancer, a sad section seen. One of the most moving scenes is the parting of the players at the end when Esther Reed, Wallace Reid, Constance Collier and George Bancroft leave him. See up to the mureys of the Chapel Sack, added the girls. Esther

Many plots are in it, too, who participated in the revolution, but the major portion is in John Cromwell.

FREIGHT SERVICE FOR FARMINGTON
SIX MONTHS MORE

Street Car Company Decides to Carry Freight for Brief Time

Farmington and Redford are to have freight service for six months more, it has been decided by the Detroit Street Railway company.

The hauling of freight over the D. S. R. tracks along Grand River avenue will probably be permitted to continue until a permanent settlement of the situation can be made. Just how long the continuance of the freight service will be extended has not been definitely set, although it is promised that the hauling of freight will continue for six months.

A date for a hearing when Redford business men and city officials will seek a solution of the problem has not been set.

Action on the question followed the filing an appeal of the continuance of the freight hauling with the mayor and common council several weeks ago by business organizations of Redford, Farmington and nearby community groups. The appeal of the council was referred to the department of street railways. The continuance of the freight cars has been promised for six months by Del A. Smith, manager of the D. S. R., following a conference with the department of public works. When the service is cut off both Farmington and Redford must have all freight trucked in.

To carry freight over the tracks the thickness of the roadbed must be increased, which will in turn necessitate a higher rate per ton according to Mr. Smith.
