

RECORD IS NOW SEVEN COLUMNS—STANDARD SIZE

Important Change Made In Make Up of Local Publication

Probably one of the most important changes in the Northville Record, one that caused more "figuring" and more changing of little things, was made last week and without hardly a subscriber noticing the difference.

The change resulted in the paper being enlarged from a six to a seven column paper, the standard size of most papers. In order to accomplish this purpose, it was necessary to have a press expert make numerous adjustments of the press, to change much of the material used in the make-up and to practically make over the entire paper. You will note that the paper is considerably wider than before.

The change was made without purchasing a new press but to get a seven column paper in the Record press it was necessary to lengthen the "drum" which was done by Steve Armstrong, a well-known machine man from Detroit. Enlarging the Record was accomplished by the Stinson Aircraft plant and the Globe Furniture company, Leonard Eckberg working on this, exacting job. It was exacting because of the necessity of having the enlarged changes fit to a hairline.

This step is one of many the Record has been taking to keep pace with the growth and development of Northville and the surrounding section. The change makes it easier to read the paper and puts it in the standard size class of news publications.

MASONIC DANCE—NOVEMBER 23RD

Everyone is going to the Northville 23rd. Where—High school gymnasium. Why? To attend the Third Annual Blue Lodge ball.

Lorenzen, himself, with a fine orchestra, will be there to furnish the music. Fred Hedge and his assistants will be there to furnish the refreshments. The officers and members of the lodge will be there to welcome everyone and spread that feeling of good fellowship for which Masonry is noted.

Whether or not you are a Mason, whether or not you received an invitation, if you like to dance and want to have an evening of clean and wholesome enjoyment, come up to the high school gymnasium at 9:00 o'clock next Friday evening, and dance to the strains of your favorite music.

There will be fox trots for the younger set, waltzes and circle two-steps for their fathers and mothers. In fact a good time is guaranteed at an admission of $2.00 per couple and 50 cents for spectators. Everyone is going.

MARK SEELEY IS FIRST TO PAY UP HIS PAVING TAX

Mark Seeley has the distinction of being the first resident of Northville to pay his paving tax for the present year. He not only paid the first installment, but he paid all of them, a total of $967. This is for considerably over 100 feet of frontage on North Wing street. "No use in paying anybody interest," declared Mark, when he handed the village treasurer his check for nearly a thousand dollars.

HUDSON SINGERS IN NEW QUARTET

The four men who comprised the Hudson Male Quartette from 1922 to 1926 have recently reorganized under the name of the "Comminians" taking the name of the Masonic lodge form which they have been singing since 1922.

The quartet consists of Harry E. Parker, first tenor; Jos. J. Kendrick, second tenor; Harry A. Leiter, baritone; and Dean Yocom, bass. For communication with the quartette address Harry E. Parker, care of Grand River M. E. church.

MUST ANSWER TO CHARGE IN COURT

Because Joseph Meissner, aged 21, of Lansing, attempted to force his attentions upon two Northville girls who were waiting at Five Points for a bus to come to Northville, he landed in jail Sunday night, and today at 10:00 o'clock will appear before Justice of the Peace Wellington Roberts upon a charge of "assault and battery." As one of the girls, Miss Lydia Ashley, repulsed his attentions, he struck her, breaking her glasses and cutting her face. Miss Jessie Nelson was with Miss Ashley at the time. A crowd quickly gathered and grabbed Meissner, holding him until Deputy Sheriff Ernie Lyke arrived and placed him under arrest. His bail fixed at $500 could not be furnished and he went to the county jail. Meissner says he is a Lansing printer.

NEW REPRESENTATIVE ROTARY GUEST

DR. E. FISHER

Dr. E. Fisher of Dearborn, newly elected representative from the Fifth Wayne district in the state legislature, was a guest of the Northville Rotary club Monday.

Dr. Fisher is the first representative to come from the southern end of the district in many years, but his host of friends in the northern end of the district are confident that his record in the legislature will be as satisfactory as that of his predecessors.

Dr. Fisher told the Rotarians that he had not visited Northville previously to the election because he did not want Rotarians to think that he was using his club affiliations for "political" purposes. Now that election is over and he secured such a good vote in this place, he wanted to take the opportunity of expressing to his locality his appreciation of the support that was given him.

"I assure you that I will do my best to serve your needs in the legislature. If there is anything you might be interested in, do not hesitate to ask my assistance," he stated.

Dr. Fisher is not new to legislative services. During a brief time he resided in Wyoming, he was elected a member of the Wyoming state legislature. He was a member of that legislative body at the time Sen. O. Warren was up for removal. So he has some idea of what a real legislative battle is.

While in Northville, he met many leading Republicans who wished him well during his term in Lansing.

ALFRED L. GOTTS IS DEAD AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Globe Furniture Plant Is Closed During the Funeral

When the funeral of Alfred L. Gott, vice president of the Globe Furniture company, was held Tuesday afternoon at his home on Walnut avenue, between Farmington and Walled Lake, the Globe factory in this place was closed and practically every employe attended the funeral.

Mr. Gott died last Friday at the age of 47 years, after an illness of several months. However, he was able to be about and was in Northville about a week before he died.

It was 25 years ago last April that he became associated with the Globe Furniture company, and since that time he had been constantly in the employ of the company. Through his excellent work, he was elected to an executive position in the corporation several years ago.

As his duties took him to all parts of the country, he did not spend much of his time at the plant, and as a result his acquaintance in Northville was not extensive, although he had scores of warm personal friends who mourn his passing.

A widow survives. Burial took place in the Pine Lake cemetery.

BAPTIST LADIES' THANK GAS CO.

Officials of the Michigan Federated Utilities company have received from the ladies of the Northville Baptist church, the following letter of appreciation:

"We wish to thank you for your courtesy in furnishing us with the stoves and white heater and the splendid service you gave us through the time of the county fair. It is a pleasure to find a big corporation so ready to serve the public, and as a church society working to help with the upkeep of the church are exceedingly grateful for any assistance that makes that labor easier. For the first time we were able to roast our own meats, and again we thank you for your courtesy."

"By order of the Ladies of the First Baptist Church of Northville."

PRISON WARDEN WILL BE SPEAKER HERE ON MONDAY

Harry Jackson Is Coming To Rotary Meeting Next Week

When members of the Northville Rotary club meet in regular session next Monday noon they will have as their guest and speaker of the day, Warden Harry Jackson of Jackson prison. He has advised members of the committee in charge of the next meeting that he will be glad to come and talk to the Rotarians and their guests about penal matters.

Warden Jackson has been in charge of the prison for many years. He has long been regarded as one of the best prison officials of the state. When he assumed charge of affairs at Jackson, he brought to the institution a high degree of order and the abolition of many of the practices that had brought criticism to the institution. Previous to becoming warden of Michigan's largest prison Mr. Jackson was in charge of the traffic bureau of the Detroit police department. He was the first to start a solution of the traffic problem of Detroit, and the system he started a number of years ago is the basis of the present plan followed by Detroit in handling the greatest auto traffic of any city in the country.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

By the President of the United States

"A proclamation. The season again approaches when it has been the custom for generations to set apart a day of thanksgiving for the blessings which give of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us during the year. It is most becoming that we should do this for the goodness and mercy of God, which has followed us through the year, deserve our grateful recognition and acknowledgment."

Through His divine favor, peace and tranquility have reigned throughout the land. He has protected our country as a whole against pestilence and disaster and has directed us in the way of national prosperity. Our fields have been abundantly productive, our industries have flourished, our commerce has increased, and government has followed the undisturbed pursuit of highest toil.

"As we have prospered in material things, so have we also grown and expanded in things spiritual. Through divine inspiration we have enlarged our charities and our mercy. We have been imbued with high ideals which have operated for the benefit of the world and the promotion of the brotherhood of man through peace and good will."

"Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work and in their homes and in their accustomed places of worship, devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many great blessings that have been received, and seek his guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor."

"In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause to be affixed the great seal of the United States, the one hundred and fifty-third day of October, 1928."

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club, scheduled for Friday afternoon, has been postponed indefinitely because of Mr. Neal's funeral.

The address of Webster H. Pearce, state superintendent of public instruction, delivered before the Woman's club last Friday, was both entertaining and informative. It was to be regretted that so few representatives of the eight boards of education, invited as guests of the club, accepted the invitation to listen to this authority on problems of state education. Such instruction is beneficial to all.

FACE IS BADLY BURNED BY LEAD

Graydon Edmunds of Detroit, an employe of the Detroit Edison company, was fearfully burned about the face and both eyes, injured when molten lead exploded and flew into his face Wednesday afternoon while at work on a cable on East Main street. While the accident was not witnessed, it is believed that some moisture was in some way dropped into the pot of lead, causing the accident. He was taken to the office of Dr. Sparling, where first aid was given, and later removed to a hospital in Detroit. It is not believed that he will lose his eyesight, although both eyes were burned.

POSTMASTER FRANK S. NEAL EXPIRES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS--FUNERAL TODAY

WORTH WHILE TRIBUTES TO A WORTHY CITIZEN

(By Governor Fred W. Green)

It is with keen personal sorrow that I have learned of the death of Postmaster Neal. During my recent brief visit to his bedside I was fearful of the outcome, but my hope had been that Mr. Neal would be with us for many years to come. His death is not only a loss to the village of Northville, but to our great state of Michigan as well. I have known him over a long period of years. I have known him as a citizen of strictest integrity and loyalty to his friends. He has been a worth-while man and I am greatly grieved to know of his passing. To Mrs. Neal, the son and the community I extend my unbounded sympathy in this great loss.

(By Grant M. Hudson, Member of Congress)

Your message bringing information of the passing of Postmaster Frank S. Neal, comes as a surprise. I had confidently hoped for his recovery. He was a public servant in the truest sense of the word, with a deep interest in everything pertaining to the development of his community. He was an ardent partisan being a true friend always. He has rendered a fine service to the state and community. I grieve personally in his passing. His interest in making the postoffice a great service to the community was always first in his mind. Northville has lost a real citizen.

(By Frank S. Harmon, President Lapham Bank)

The true ring to the metal in a man's character and real personality can best be judged by intimate association. I consider it extremely fortunate to have been very close to Frank S. Neal both socially and in a business way for nearly 30 years. Our partnership really commenced in 1898 in the organization of the American Bell & Foundry company, followed by the Lapham State Savings bank and later other property ownership enterprises. The intimacy gave every opportunity to judge carefully and most advantageously the innermost workings of the mind and actions of a real man. I am proud to have been his associate and feel his loss to be one of the most intimate and dependable friends I ever had.

He was more than just Frank Neal, for he was no ordinary citizen, especially when it came to doing things for Northville and so many of its young men. His self-sacrificing for others never brought, neither was it intended to bring, great personal gain, but rather expressed his local pride and interest in men and affairs as well as a desire to help others less fortunately placed.

His connections in public affairs naturally drew him into the politics of this community and further became state wide. His extended acquaintance and natural desire to do for others made him a host of friends, who will regret the termination of a life scarcely out of its prime.

Just where is the man to take his place?

LITTLE HOPE FOR MRS. RICHARDSON

Late News from the Home of Mrs. T. G. Richardson Thursday afternoon as to her condition was most discouraging and it was stated that there was practically no hope for her recovery. Her condition became exceedingly serious early Thursday and grew worse as the day advanced. She has been in ill health for some time and during the past two weeks those caring for her have noticed a gradual decline, although it had been hoped there would be a change for the better.

Mrs. Richardson has lived in this part of Michigan practically all of her life and has a very extended circle of friends who hope for more encouraging news.

EXCHANGE CLUB MISSES LEADER

Wednesday's meeting of the Exchange club was not the happy, carefree event it usually is. The death of Postmaster Neal, a charter member of the club, cast a gloom over the first meeting held since his death.

I have known Mr. Neal well during the three years I have lived in Northville, said Acting President John Kallmiesch. "Of course, most of you know him better than myself. But I regard his passing as a personal loss. We will miss him. We will miss him greatly, but it is up to us to carry on. I know that that would be his wish."

There was no singing at Wednesday's meeting. Mr. Neal had alternated with Nelson Schrader as song leader of the club.

WARNER NEAL IS SERIOUSLY ILL

The many friends of Warner Neal, who has not been well for several days, will be grieved to know that the lad is confined to his home with a severe attack of appendicitis. Warner was taken ill the day before his father died. It was not until Thursday forenoon that his ailment was diagnosed as appendicitis.

MASONS TO VISIT HIGHLAND PARK

Members of the Northville Masonic lodge will next Tuesday, November 20th, make a return visit to the Highland Park lodge. The local members will leave the temple in Northville not later than 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, cars being provided for those who do not have transportation. The Masonic temple in Highland Park is located on Buena Vista avenue. The dinner will be served free to Northville members.

Hoyt Woodman, present deputy state treasurer, owes his position with the state to the efforts of Mr. Neal. It was something like 20 years ago when Mr. Neal aided him in securing a clerkship in the capitol. The fact that Mr. Woodman won himself promotion after promotion until he now occupies one of the highest positions within the state government was always a great source of satisfaction to Mr. Neal.

When the governor of a great state in the midst of an energetic campaign will take time from his speaking schedule to go to the bedside of a friend, you can make up your mind that that governor has a very high regard for the one he visits. Such was the case not over two weeks ago in Northville. When Governor Green came to Northville almost his first inquiry was as to where Mr. Neal was. He had missed him in the crowd. When advised that the postmaster was confined to his home by illness, Governor Green declared that he would not leave Northville until he had called to see Mr. Neal, if callers were admitted. Following his address before members of the Exchange club, the Governor went to the Neal home and for four or five minutes visited with his old friend. The governor's visit was one of the cheery hours of the final sickness that ended in the death of Mr. Neal. One of the postmaster's last questions was as to how the election came out.

Milo Johnson stated yesterday that he knew it to be a fact that Mr. Neal had secured positions either with the county or state for considerably over 100 young men and women from Northville or vicinity. He was always anxious to land a young man in some place, where he might have a chance to better himself.

It was through the efforts of Mr. Neal that Northville township was created out of the north half of Plymouth township. Years ago the rivalry between the two communities worked to the disadvantage of both. So Mr. Neal thought it would be better for both Northville and Plymouth if the township was divided in two, and he induced the legislature to make the change.

Mr. Neal was congressional committee man for Congressman Spaulding, Congressman Henry C. Smith and Congressman Chas. Townsend. His recommendations for this end of the district, whether it pertained to Northville or some other place, was always given preference.

1862 — 1928

HON. FRANK S. NEAL

Proclamation!

Over a long period of years Postmaster Frank S. Neal was a citizen most active in behalf of our community. There was never a time when called upon to give aid that he did not respond. Much he did for our good was upon his own initiative, and we all profited by his efforts. He was truly a loyal friend, loyal through thick and thin. He never deserted a cause in times of darkness and he could always be found fighting to the very end. The good of our town was always foremost in his heart.

Therefore in behalf of the community I officially represent. I hereby request that all business places be closed during the hour of the funeral of our beloved fellow townsman, Friday afternoon from 2 until 3 o'clock. In this small way we may all have an opportunity to show our regard for one who has served us so loyally.

CHARLES FILKINS, Mayor of Northville.

THE RED CROSS

If you have not yet enrolled in the Red Cross for the ensuing year, you still have time to do so. Just call in either of the banks and make your remittance of a dollar there. There will be no solicitation of the factories, therefore it will be necessary for you to do your part in seeing that Northville is well represented in the Red Cross enrollment for the year 1929.

PROMINENT IN PUBLIC LIFE FOR OVER 40 YEARS

Always a Community Leader—Record Editor For 28 Years

Following an illness of a brief three weeks, Frank S. Neal, postmaster of Northville for the past six years and for a period of 40 years, one of the community's most energetic citizens, died shortly before 6:00 o'clock Tuesday morning at his home on North Center street. In spite of the constant efforts of physicians and nurses, his condition from this very first has been exceedingly grave, and during the final days of his illness the hopes of his recovery were dim indeed. A week ago he was still in the hospital, but he was not until a brief few minutes before his death when he came home. It was just three weeks ago that he was forced to give up his duties at the postoffice, friends recall now that his health had not been the best for several months past. During the fair, this fall, he was able to attend it but one day, and several times recently he found it necessary to go to his home for brief periods of rest. However, during all this time he never lost his intense interest in public affairs. The day before his final illness, he was with Congressman Grant Hudson at a meeting of Rotary Club at Dearborn, where he greeted many friends whom he had not seen in some time.

It was nearly a week before his friends in Northville discovered that he was seriously ill and then it was generally believed that he would soon be out. Instead the severe cold that he had contracted developed into pneumonia, and later other complications arose which could not be successfully battled.

Born in Sheldrake, Genoa county, New York, September 21, 1862, he was brought up on a farm, obtaining his education at a nearby district school. As a lad he was anxious to do something different from farming, and when he bran down to the railroad his interest was aroused. work of the telegraph operator was but 16 years old when he started to learn telegraphy at the Lehigh Valley railroad station in his home town, traveling from the farm nearly a mile and a half away each morning over muddy roads down to the depot. Soon after learning how to telegraph he came to Michigan and secured a position with the old Chicago & Canada Southern at Monroe as night operator. He was but a mere lad when he secured this place. For nearly nine years he followed railroad work.

It was in the fall of 1889 when he came to Northville and engaged in the mercantile business with C. J. Ball under the name of Ball & Neal. Their store was located where the present coal office of the Ely Coal company is located.

A little over a year later he purchased the Northville Record from A. C. Wallingford, who owned it but for a brief time. Mr. Wallingford bought the paper from E. Reed in November, 1899. Except for the time the paper was in the possession of its founder, Samuel Little, little progress was made in the advancement of the publication until its purchase by Mr. Neal. "Not until the day he bought the paper had he ever had a thing to do with the printing business, but his untiring energy, his enthusiastic nature and his determination to make a success of the venture resulted in the Northville Record becoming one of the best weekly publications in Michigan. Almost since the days of Mr. Neal's ownership, "The Northville Record" has been regarded as one of the outstanding publications of Michigan and it was through his zealous right thinking that placed the paper on the high standard that it today occupies in Michigan journalism.

It was in August, 1919, when he disposed of his newspaper property to Mr. E. E. Brown. In his announcement of the sale of the paper that he had published for a period of over a quarter of a century, he said:

"I am not unmindful of the deep obligations I am under for the many kind acts, co-operation and patronage of the business men of this village. All this will ever be a pleasant memory. For over 28 years I have striven for Northville progress, and for the benefit of its people. Of course, mistakes have been made for even an editor is only human. Intentionally the newspaper has however strived to be impartial and fair in its news and editorial columns and no personal grievance has ever been aired and the news and doings of all persons has been without bias and without prejudice."

It was several years previous to his newspaper ownership when the first foot of an interest in politics, he had barely reached the age when Oliver L. Spaulding, asked Mr. Neal to assist him.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC AT UNIVERSITY IS MICHIGAN'S BEST

Over 1500 Students Enrolled for Work During Present Year

More than 1500 young people are receiving instruction in music at the University of Michigan. Some 700 advanced music students, representing practically every state in the union and several foreign countries, are registered for full time courses in the School of Music. While several hundred others are taking special courses in music in its historical and theoretical aspects in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts. About 350 others are members of the University Choral Union, 100 sing in the Varsity Glee Club, and a similar number of young ladies make up the Girls' Glee Club. Freshman Glee Varsity band this year has been augmented to 200. The Michigan Union Opera includes many musical students, while the Symphony orchestra has a membership of nearly 100. Altogether many young people are receiving definite instruction in music.

The faculty of the School of Music is made up of about forty artists musicians of national and international reputations, including such distinguished authorities as Earl V. Moore, musical director, Theodore Harrison, baritone, Albert Lockwood, Guy Maier, Mabel Ross ahead, Maud Okkeberg, pianists Palmer Christian, Margaret MacGregor, organists, Joseph E. Maddy, Walter Welke, Juva Hogue, in the field of public school music. Hanns Beck, cellist, Samuel P. Lockwood, Anthony J. Whitmore, violinists and numerous others. The Choral Union, the Glee Club, the band, the orchestra and other ensemble student groups are all directed by members of the School of Music faculty, each an expert in the particular field. Nearly a hundred concerts are provided during the school year. In the Choral Union and May Festival Series sixteen programs are given by the world's greatest artists and organizations, culminating in the annual May Festival of six concerts. Rosa Bonelli and Galli-Curci have each been heard this year in song recitals before audiences of 5500. While Vladimir Horowitz and Sergei Rachmaninoff, pianists, Fritz Kreisler and Yelby D'Arany, violinists, Roland Hayes, tenor, Prague Teachers Chorus, Plozaley Quartet, and the Detroit Symphony orchestra are still to be heard. The festival in May will bring together a large group of distinguished musicians.

The faculty of the school gives many miscellaneous programs from time to time, including a series of recitals on the new $75,000, Skinner organ each Wednesday afternoon by Palmer Christian, University organist. The Symphony orchestra provides four programs, while the other ensemble groups participate from time to time as do the solo members of the faculty. Recently the University of Michigan provided for the remodeling of Morris Hall, to be used as a music center for the several music ensemble bodies.

Mrs. Glenn Lyke attended a bridge luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower Wednesday as a guest of her sister Mrs. Arthur Black.

Mrs. Judson Taylor attended a Maccabean convention at Oxford, Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Proctor, visited friends at Danville, Tuesday.

Mrs. G. C. Foreman and daughter, Mrs. Merrell Renwick, enjoyed a pot-luck birthday dinner, Sunday at the former's home. Two beautiful birthday cakes, decorated with candles added much to the beauty of the table decorations. A lovely dinner was served, and each received some very pretty and useful gifts. Fourteen guests were present from Detroit and South Lyon.

Mrs. W. B. Crane of Kingston, Pa. who has been visiting her mother, Mr. Alvin Perkins, for a few days, left for her home Monday.

Mrs. Jennie Smith spent Tuesday and Thursday of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Bird in Plymouth.

To the first half-million
new
Ford owners.

TO THE half-million men and women who have received new Fords in the last eleven months, there is no need to dwell on the performance of the car.

You have tested its speed, on the open road. In traffic you have noted its quick acceleration and the safety of its brakes. You know how it climbs the hills. On long trips and over rough stretches you have come to appreciate its easy riding comfort. Continuous driving has proved its economy of operation and low cost of up-keep.

This is an invitation to you to take full advantage of the service facilities of the Ford dealer organization so that you may continue to enjoy many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

The point is this. You have a great car in the new Ford. It is simple in design, constructed of the best materials and machined with unusual accuracy. It is so well-made, in fact, that it requires surprisingly little attention. Yet that doesn't mean it should be neglected. Like every other fine piece of machinery, it will serve you better and longer if given proper care.

One of the best ways to do this is to take your car to the Ford dealer every 500 miles for oiling and greasing and a checking-up of the little things that have such a great bearing on long life and continuously good performance.

Such an inspection may mean a great deal to your car. To you it means thousands upon thousands of miles of motoring without a care—without ever lifting the hood.

Ford dealers everywhere have been specially trained and equipped to service the new Ford. You will find them prompt and reliable in their work, fair in their charges, and sincerely eager to help you get the greatest possible use from your car for the longest period at a minimum of trouble and expense. That is the true meaning of Ford Service.

GOLDSMITH IS SPEAKER MONDAY AT ROTARY CLUB

Plymouth Business Man Urges Clean Play in Dealings

Oliver Goldsmith of Plymouth, always a welcome visitor in Northville, was the speaker at Monday's meeting of the Northville Rotary Club. The program was in charge of Edward C. Langford, who in his introduction of Mr. Goldsmith stated that it was always a pleasure for this community to have him come and take part in our local affairs.

Mr. Goldsmith's talk was on clean business practices. He pointed out that by playing the "rules of the game" square, one is always bound to win in the long run that no one ever profited by a "dirty" deal or a transaction that could be questioned. His entire appeal was for the adoption of clean methods in the conduct of business.

President Howard Burkhardt announced that members of the Rotary club would go to Highland Park on the evening of the 26th to join in a district meeting that will be for the purpose of electing the International President of Rotary. Mr. Sutton from Mexico City. He urged a more liberal attendance at these district meetings.

Bees do not hibernate in the winter as do other insects and therefore they must be protected from cold. Wintering bees in cold weather, the hives may be packed in straw, leaves or similar dry material. Hives made with double walls, the space between which is filled with insulation material, are good for outdoor wintering. With proper protection, the moisture given off by bees in winter does not condense within the hive. This, if not prevented, would cause a great deal of damage.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Adams of Flint, are at the Harry Hammond home, assisting with the work and care of Mr. Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tyler made a business trip to Elba, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith and son, Carl, of Farmington, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Munro.

Mrs. Aubrey Adams, daughter, Lillian, and Mrs. and Mrs. Edwin Kishington and son, Buddy, of Conneaut, Ohio, were guests Sunday.

day and Monday of the former's brother, Rev. R. O. Thompson. Mrs. Will Williams of Flint, was also a guest at the home of her uncle, R. O. Thompson, over the week-end.

Frank Dodge, an aged citizen of Novi, passed away last Thursday morning, November 8th, after an illness of several months. Mr. Dodge had been a resident of Novi township all his life, having lived at his late residence forty-four years. He was a genial disposition, a kind neighbor, and a friend who will be missed. He left a wife to mourn her loss. An only child born to this union passed away in childhood. The funeral was held from his home here Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, at 2 o'clock, officiating, Rev. R. O. Thompson officiating. Burial in Novi Cemetery.

Novi School Notes

Miss Chamberlain Returns

After an absence of two weeks Miss Chamberlain has returned to the school, although she cannot yet speak normally.

Joy Thompson, who has also been absent for several days, has returned.

Marian Shinn has been absent since Thursday, November 8th.

Among others who have had slight attacks of this strange malady are Ernestine Grace, Joan Lindsay and Aldria King.

School Nurse

We now have a school nurse, Miss Barbour of Farmington. Novi and Farmington schools share her services, as she is in Novi two days of the week and in Farmington the rest of the time.

Report Cards

The report cards for the higher grades were to come out on Wednesday. The lower grades had already received theirs.

School Paper Organized

Miss Rector has helped to organize a school paper, which will be printed on the mimeograph. A name for the paper will soon be selected, and the first printing will be put out in the near future. The following were selected: Editors-in-chief, Marian Shinn; literary editor, Marguerite Huffman; joke editor, Robert Gaffney; class functions editor, Helen Whitehead.

On Monday, November 12th, Mr. Culver attended a men's banquet for Oakland county teachers.

Burr Hammond is leading the typing class. As there is only one typewriter, each person works alone, and may go as fast or as slow as he pleases.

NORTHVILLE ENDS LEAGUE SERIES WITH 20-7 VICTORY

Last Friday's 20-7 victory over Farmington, on the Farmington field, ended Northville's part in the league for this season. The Northville team at the start of the game was large holes in the opposing line for many gains.

Tomaszewski, plucky guard of Northville, on the first play fractured his nose, but kept his position through the game. Captain Leavenworth, end, LeFevre, center, and McCordie, half, also, suffered minor injuries.

After a 23-yard run by McCordie, and a complete pass, McCordie to Watts, in the first quarter the ball lay on the 1-yard line. Timm, full back, on a line buck scored the first touchdown. The kick for extra point failed. Farmington received and the quarter ended.

At the beginning of the second period, Watts intercepted a pass of Farmington and made a few yards. Leavenworth caught a pass and ran for good gain. Then late in second quarter McCordie passed to Watts, who carried the ball about 10 yards for second score, and successfully kicked for extra point. Teshka substituted for Cavell at half, who scored a good game.

Farmington received beginning second half, and on the next play Otis ran for long gain around end. The third period ended as McCordie threw a pass to Leavenworth, who carried the ball for a slight gain.

Timm, full back, for Northville, early in the last quarter plunged the line for Northville's last score. Watts, half back, booted the ball over for the extra point.

Otis at different periods in the game made many long gains, but late in the last period passed to an end, who carried the ball but a few inches from the goal line.

Otis tried line buck, then was sent around end, and carried the ball over for Farmington's lone score. The kick for extra point counted as one of Northville's plays was on side. Otis was responsible for most of Farmington's gains. The final score was 20-7. All members of the Northville team played a fine game.

FOOTBALL GAME AT WALLED LAKE ENDS THIS SEASON

Northville high plays its last game at Walled Lake with Walled Lake high, November 16th, at 3:30 o'clock. Now remember where, when and who with and be there.

Northville high won second place in the suburban league championship race, and are planning winning their last game of the season.

Walled Lake has a very strong team this year, and so the boys are having a real Monday night practice very hard, also with more pep than at any other time during the year.

The main reason is probably that most of the boys (seniors) will graduate, so this will be their last prep school football game, and perhaps the last game of their lives.

The attendance at the Farmington game was very pleasing, and it is hoped that there will be as many at the Walled Lake game. Come out and cheer for your team.

WHO WILL VOLUNTEER?

Wanted—Someone to pick up paper.

Ah! You ambitious people gather 'round. Here's some splendid news for you.

You all know we write on paper. For many years the old-fashioned slate has been covered with the dust of ages, indeed. No such thing for us.

A great deal of waste paper accumulates. Well, of course, we get it all into the waste baskets. Dear me! It makes them look too unkind. So we push it on the floor.

Now, someone must pick it up. Mr. Amerman has announced that anyone may have the position.

So come ahead. The job is yours. Start immediately.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS HIKE TO COUNTRY SCHOOL HOUSE

The Campfire Girls, under the guardianship of Miss Elden, hiked out on the Fishery road, last Friday after school. The girls went out to the school where Miss Elden's sister teaches, and had hot dogs and hot chocolate. Some of the girls took home and others walked back.

BOOKKEEPING CLASS BEGINS FIRST SETS OF THE YEAR

The bookkeeping students started their first sets last Friday, November 9th. The sets contain blank books and other material used for bookkeeping.

The object is to become better bookkeepers by practical experience. In this instance they are acting as employees for a wholesale furniture business.

All the students are extremely interested in this new work, as it furnishes diversion from regular class work. Miss Briggs is instructor.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Six boys turned out for quarter practice last Thursday evening. There would have been more there, but a "play" was being practiced. Charles LeFevre played the piano, while the others sang their parts.

The girls are going to have their practice at another time because two of the girls were ill.

It has been planned that both the girls and boys quartets will give the first assembly program of the year soon.

JUNIORS ARE REMINDED OF CLASS RING PAYMENT

The Juniors were called to a class meeting by their president, Foster VanAtta, Thursday, November 8th, at 3:45, for the purpose of being reminded to bring the down payment on their class rings.

The payment for each student amounts to three dollars. The money will be given to Mr. Blake, who will send for the rings and after the rings arrive the students will finish their payment, which will be $4.50.

MYSTERY PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY SENIORS

You've probably attended many mystery plays before, where the air became so intensified with feeling that you gasped for air—and consequently someone clever enough to solve the plot for you. Everyone becomes so excited that they cheer their teammates new, pocket kerchiefs, but no one notices a little thing like that, because they feel like doing the same thing themselves.

Everyone would feel disappointed if the play didn't contain its regulation murder, its hero, heroine, comedy characters and final climax. Now wouldn't you? In the play, to be given by the Seniors in December, all of the characters mentioned are promised and even more. There are four acts and novelties in between. Now what more could you ask for?

You won't be disappointed in this play, we all feel sure. About the next best thing you can do besides planning on attending it, is to get out your old tin bank—the one you broke open last Christmas to buy your girl a box of candy with the money you'd saved all year. Put your pennies in there for safe keeping until the date set for this mystery play and we'll do the rest.

TOWNSPEOPLE EXPECTED AT HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

A debate will be held in the auditorium of the Northville high school building, between the University high school of Ann Arbor and the Northville debating teams Friday evening, November 16th at 7:30 o'clock.

These two teams have been working hard getting together material for the debate. The topic for the evening will be, "Whether or not the federal ship subsidy is a wise national policy." This, of course, will be a future importance to the United States. Therefore the people should take an interest because sooner or later it is more than likely everyone will be voting on this proposed idea.

The Northville team has had several practice debates, and have been improving steadily, so much will be expected of them this Friday, although they have the harder side of the topic, the affirmative. The team is Madeline Cole, Allen Beard and Catherine Stalter.

Many townspeople will be expected to support the team and to get an idea for future use in voting.

COURTSHIP BY CORRESPONDENCE

I don't suppose anyone ever noticed how many white muskies float around the assembly room during the day. Some reach their destination by a loss of a strong brawny or better still by an obliging messenger, who isn't obliging after he has been asked to deliver about six or even seven notes, during one period.

Sometimes a good many of these notes come to grief, and likewise their writers because the power of delivery happens to be too great or not powerful enough to send it where it belongs. It appears to be the habit among some "fun-loving" children to waylay as many of these as possible for their own enjoyment and the producers' disfigurement.

What I can't understand is the fact that some persons can carry on several correspondences at once. One can hardly believe that it could be possible to keep one's mind checking up and separating these different answers, so as not to make the different correspondence coincide with each other. But still some do, and how we do not know, and probably never will.

We all know that an acquaintance of the past requires a few notes, just to let him of her down easy, while you continue with the affair at present. Then there's always the one in the future who seems to attract you, and they too must be attended to with a few notes.

To some it is a hard job, but to others, "It's all in the day's work." Then to sum up this note writing business in as few words as possible, it is a disease, easily contracted and easy to recover from. However, it rests with the individuals themselves whether or not their peace of mind is to be disturbed by this disease.

door throughout China. Before he left, Dr. Wung drew a picture of this symbol for Mrs. Kinsey.

If anyone is interested in this particular phase of Chinese life, it would be very kind of you to look it up and tell Mrs. Kinsey what you find.

SEE GERMAN PICTURES

Henry Hilger and Paul Beard, both seventh grade boys, entertained the members of the geography classes with pictures of Germany in colors, on Thursday, November 8th. The post cards have been sent to Heinz from friends in Germany and show various German scenes of the country now being studied in geography.

The lantern, which showed the pictures, belonged to Paul.

Another day last week was dedicated to lantern slides of France, Holland and Belgium. Miss Park believes that geography comes to life when the pupils can see pictures of foreign peoples and their native villages.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETS

The Northville Student Council held a meeting in Mr. Cohn's room, Thursday, November 8th. All the members were present, and the meeting was called to order by the mayor, Harley Wolfrom.

The purpose of this meeting was to transact some business that had been brought up before, but had not been settled. Mr. Jones spoke to the council and the issue that was passed, will be published later on.

Another decision made at the time was to purchase megaphones for the yell leaders.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Christie's section of the first grade wish to thank the janitor for putting in the two broken window panes so promptly.

Miss Hubler is giving her pupils oral reading by a chart, which is on the board. They are also outlining their geography and history in Note Books.

Miss Elden's section of sixth grade have made a calendar of pilgrims, going to church. This was drawn by Eugene Carman.

The seventh grade under the direction of Miss VanVleet are making stockades to help them in the Colonial Life of History. Alfred Parmenter made a village out of paper. Merle Frazer, Otis Tewksbury and Gerald Teshka also made a Colonial village out of wood. This one is a real stockade.

They are also having interesting reports on the Revolutionary war and picture study.

NORTHVILLE STUDENTS HOLD PEP MEETING

Seniors began at 12:15 last Friday, November 9th, so that it might close in time for the Farmington-Northville game.

After the roll call had been taken, the students had a pep meeting, Alfred Sibley and Herbert Broadbent in a few words. Jerry Leavenworth was called upon to make a speech. He said that he wished

MRS. KINSEY RECEIVES VISITOR TO LIBRARY

Last week, Mrs. Kinsey, our librarian, received a visit from a man by the name of Dr. Wung. He is interested in this particular time in traveling over the world in a Sunston-Detroit. He did not disclose his aim in traveling around the world by air. His purpose in visiting our library was to find out if we had any data on the meaning of a certain Chinese symbol. This symbol is put over every door in China, the purpose of which he did not disclose and as we have not a reference book that explains this symbol, we are still in the dark.

INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO CARE FOR WILD GAME BIRDS

Winter Feeding Sure to Be of Benefit Says the State

To bird lovers of Northville and the sportsmen of this vicinity who like to see pheasants, quail and other game birds well taken care of during the winter, a bulletin just issued by the state conservation department pertaining to winter feeding of birds will be of more than ordinary interest. Conditions in southern Michigan are such that require the regular feeding of birds, but there are many times during the winter when in this section where feeding would be of vast help to birds.

The bulletin from the department says: "During a mild winter the birds may need little or no special help. During the average winter in the southern third of Michigan, the birds may really need help during a few days only, if at all. But nobody knows when another bad 'pinch-period' is going to begin, or how long it is going to last, or when and how badly the birds will suffer. Every few years even our southern-most counties get snow and ice which lasts for weeks, shutting off those of the ground-feed and perhaps resulting in wholesale starvation.

Feeding stations which are tended only now and then, when and if handy, may do more harm than good. The birds must be gotten into the habit of using and depending on the stations. The stations must be sure and safe.

First of all, stations should be established where there are game birds. The birds can best be located by their tracks in the early snows. Then follows the selection of feeding stations. Although the habits of the birds vary slightly in different localities, certain rules for locating feeding stations will apply everywhere.

The stations should be placed in exposed places, which the winds will sweep free of snow, or in well sheltered situations, where snow will not cover and hide the feed. As the prevailing winter winds usually come from the northwest, sheltered places can usually be found on the south or southeast side of woods, swales, thickets, hedge rows and ditch or river banks.

A good location must insure the birds a fair chance to escape from their natural enemies such as hawks and owls, and so should be chosen close to thick low brush or clumps of evergreens. A small clearing, however, should surround the station to lessen danger from ground enemies which might hide in any nearby tangles.

Feeding for small fields of corn, wheat, sorghum or other late-harvesting grains, left standing and uncut, will furnish both food and shelter for the birds. Arrangements can sometimes be made with farmers to leave several rows of corn standing next to a hedge row or near the border of a swampy or brushy swale. Pheasants and quail will come to corn and bean fields for the seeds of tall-growing weeds such as ragweed, pigweed, and fox-tail grass, as well as for the corn and bean. Abandoned fields, fields grown up to tall weeds, sunnyside and the like may be very attractive to the bird.

Bundles of unthreshed grain supply food in ideal form for winter feeding, for they can be wired to bushes or may be broken open in sheltered places and at least some of the grain will almost always be available. Another advantage of this plan is that feeding stations of this sort do not need such frequent visits as when threshed grain is scattered on the ground or put under feeding shelters. Where rainy weather has prevented the gathering of grain for threshing, some of the partly spoiled grain may be suitable for feeding stations. Most feeding stations, however, are not planned until fall, when it may be too late to get bundles of unthreshed grain. In such cases artificial shelters provided with corn or threshed grain must be used.

The simplest types of feeding shelters are at the foot of large trees, under evergreen trees or under small spruces, firs, or hemlocks, the tops of which have been bent in so that they may be tied together to roof over a feeding place on the ground. Cornstalks, evergreen branches, or armfuls of tall weeds can be wired in place over bushes, stumps, grape tangles or clumps of briars so as to make sheltered feeding places.

The "lean-to" type of shelter is easy to build and is very good. Old fence rails or poles, boards, cornstalks or evergreen branches, leaned against a fence or a pole, (about eight feet long, propped or nailed three to five feet above the ground), will make a roof to catch and hold the snow and underneath will be a good feeding place. The front of these shelters should be open toward the south and away from the wind.

A modification of this type is the "wigwam" shelter, made by opening up the center of a shock of corn, or by placing the stalks, evergreen branches or brush around a circular or A-shaped frame. Poles or brush may be similarly arranged and covered with evergreen branches or roofing paper to keep out the snow.

The brush-heap shelter is often resorted to by quail and will not be crushed and spoiled by rabbit hunters. To construct this place near together several short logs, at least 6 inches in diameter and about 4 feet long. Across these chunks lay some strong poles. Then pile on plenty of brush and weeds, taking care to leave not less than three good openings near the ground through which the quail can enter to escape from ground enemies, such as weasels and cats. These brush heaps should be surrounded by a cleared area a rod or so across so as to make it difficult for cats, foxes, etc., to find shelter where they can lie in wait for birds coming to the feed.

The prairie chicken, sharp-tailed grouse, pheasants, quail and Hungarian partridge may gather at straw stacks and feed put on the snow-free side of such stacks will often be found by the birds. In a number of cases, the ruffed grouse (partridge) has come for wheat and other grains scattered on the bare ground near farm buildings or placed under shelters in the woods. As a rule, however, our partridge does not seem to care for grain if wild seeds and berries can be found. Simiac, bittersweet, late-harvesting varieties of thorn-apples (hawthorn), dogwood (Cornus) and the like, are much used. The hard seeds of these fruits probably help the bird digest its other food, more or less taking the place of the usual gravel and grit which may be covered deep with snow.

Bundles of these and similar native seeds and fruits may well be gathered and wired up above the snow in places where the birds frequent. If such plants are set out and encouraged to grow and spread in or near a good partridge cover, the birds should be able to take good care of themselves without artificial feeding except in seasons when the late-harvesting berries make no crop. Although the majority of stations this year will be planned for the pheasant, prairie chicken, Hungarian partridge and quail, it is easily possible that we may learn how to help the ruffed grouse by providing foods to supplement their usual winter diet of poplar and birch buds.

In most cases, however, various combinations of cracked corn, wheat, barley, millet, possum, hemp, rye, and similar grains will be used. If only one or two kinds are to be used, a mixture of wheat and cracked corn is a good combination. When snow is deep, it will be wise to mix some grit with the feed.

No definite quantity of grain can be recommended for a station since so much depends on the number of birds, mice, squirrels, etc., which visit the stations. The most important thing is to have some food always available at numerous stations. To do this will usually require visits at intervals of at least once each week unless feed hoppers or other automatic feeding devices are used. In starting a station, several quarts of feed should be put out, scattering the grain over a greater area than is done later on when the snow is deep, or after the birds have learned where to find their feed. Stations which it is impracticable to visit once a week, or oftener, should have a simple feed hopper (such as used in poultry houses) which is large enough to hold at least twenty-five pounds of grain. This would usually feed about twenty-five pheasants for a week.

CLUBS WILL GIVE SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM A BANQUET

Date Will Probably be About November 24 Say Officials

Members of the Northville Exchange and Rotary clubs have decided to give the members of the Northville high school football team a banquet at the end of the present football season, probably on the evening of November 22 or 23, the date to be definitely fixed at a later date.

The matter was brought before the Exchange club at a recent meeting and was acted upon favorably. At Monday's meeting of the Rotary members the club voted to join with the Exchange club in the venture. While the team did not win the Suburban championship, as it did last year, the club members thought it would be a good idea to show the boys that the community was interested in their efforts. However, both clubs have decided that the banquet is not to be a regular annual event.

Full details of the program will be announced next week.

OUR GREAT LOSS

It was with profound sorrow that Northville learned of the death early Tuesday morning of our postmaster, Hon. Frank S. Neal. A critical illness of three weeks had sapped the vitality of this energetic man, and left him without sufficient strength to pass over the crisis when it came.

It was something like ten days when the community learned that the condition of Mr. Neal was serious. It seemed that almost every person in the community was concerned for his welfare. Mr. Neal's loss was a great loss to Northville, as he was the only man in the community who had been a member of the legislature.

Mr. Neal was a man of great energy and ability. He was a member of the legislature for many years, and was known for his ability to get things done. He was a man of great energy and ability, and his loss is a great loss to the community.

His intense loyalty to Northville was manifested in everything he did. It is doubtful if there was another person in the community who took a greater interest in all the affairs of the village in which we live than did Mr. Neal. He knew of something someone wanted to do which would benefit the town, and he would find the way to get it done. He did not forget the little things that go to make one feel at home.

His intense loyalty to Northville was manifested in everything he did. It is doubtful if there was another person in the community who took a greater interest in all the affairs of the village in which we live than did Mr. Neal. He knew of something someone wanted to do which would benefit the town, and he would find the way to get it done. He did not forget the little things that go to make one feel at home.

He looked after the little things that others forgot. It was yesterday morning when one of the business leaders of the community related the battle Mr. Neal put up to secure a proper warning sign at the Pere Marquette crossing on the Base Line road. At first his efforts failed. Letters and personal visits to railroad officials brought no results. Determined to win, he kept constantly after the railroad, but not until he won a hearing with the president of the road did he get what he was after.

It was the day before he was taken to his bed that in conversation with the Record editor he told of his efforts a number of years ago in getting a position for one who had strongly opposed him. "I don't know whether he ever appreciated it or not, but I was glad to help him get the place," said Mr. Neal.

It was that ideal spirit which filled his life. Of a most friendly nature, he probably had a wider circle of friends than any other man who ever took an active part in state politics. No matter how much he differed with one, his most intimate friends say they never knew him carry a grudge. His differences of today were forgotten in the morning, truly a wonderful spirit.

Looking back through the Record files, you can find nothing that came from the pen of Mr. Neal during all the years that he was editor of the paper, that would cause anyone grief. From week to week as you glance over the pages of the paper, you will see where he had written something for no other purpose than that of bringing a little sunshine into the life of someone.

And always, as in his personal efforts, he was battling through the columns of the paper what he thought was for Northville's good.

In the sorrow of the community our hearts go out to Mrs. Neal and her son, Warner. While in affairs of civic life new leaders arise, not so in the family circle. A good husband and father is forever gone, and there is the greatest loss of all.

A REAL LEGISLATURE

Now that the election is over we have had a little time to study the make-up of the new Michigan legislature. To the credit of Michigan voters, it is quite apparent that the members of the 1929-30 legislature will rank much higher than those of the present year. The primary and election removed several legislative freaks, and in the place of these, able men have been elected. It is not saying that a number of good men went down to defeat in the primary. The fifth district was won by a good man in the house, and a good man in the senate.

Al Smith, "old um" again Monday evening, but it was a different kind of "old um" than it was before. It was really showing a most creditable spirit in defeat.

He was a former member of the house, where he made a record to be proud of. Dr. Upjohn will be a credit to the senate chambers. You will never find him mixed up in any of the little petty legislative schemes that so frequently bring discredit to the law-making body of Michigan. And so it goes: Senator Charles Sink, for years one of the outstanding members of the legislature, has been returned from the Washtenaw-Oakland district. Fred Ming is coming back from Cheboygan—and a lot of other real men will be found in the next legislature. Governor Green with the co-operation of a much higher type legislature than he had to deal with last year, might be able to do much more in the next two years for the state than has again honored him. It is a not-worthy fact that most of the outstanding members of the past legislature have been returned by the voters.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The sale of Christmas seals will start in Northville on Saturday, November 24th, and it is the hope of those that have charge of the work this year that it will be more successful than ever before. There will be no sales by school children as in past years. Northville has always done its part in the previous Christmas Seal sales, but an effort will be made to have the total for 1928 greater than ever before.

If everyone who has $2 or more worth of stamps sent to them from outside sources, it is requested that they either be returned or that the receiver get in touch with the local committee. If sold, then it is urged that the money be turned over to the local committee, of which Mrs. Brock is chairman, so that Northville will receive credit for the sale. If the money is sent elsewhere, Northville does not receive credit for the sale.

The national tuberculosis prevention society was found at the time of the last war to be the best health agency in point of organization in the country.

The national society conducts the nation-wide sale of Christmas seals to obtain funds for its work. The Detroit Tuberculosis sanatorium also obtains its funds from the sale, and for this reason is not included in the budget of the Community fund.

The Detroit and Wayne county tuberculosis society is a member of the Community fund, but the Detroit Tuberculosis sanatorium is not. There are 185 patients at the sanatorium and 90 of the After-Cure farm near Ypsilanti. This After-Cure farm, operated by the sanatorium, is one of the most modern establishments for the treatment of the consumptive recovering from tuberculosis. Statistics have proven that a majority of the patients released as cured from sanatoriums have had such hardening process as the After-Cure farm provides.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

President-elect Hoover wants to put into his cabinet an attorney general, who will be one of the most outstanding government legal advisors this country ever had, he will name former Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck of Michigan. No one will contradict the assertion that during the time he was attorney general of Michigan, Governor Groesbeck directed the affairs of his department far better than any other occupant of the office ever did and later when he became governor he displayed executive ability such as one occupying a cabinet position must possess.

CANDIDATES' GALORE

Over in the new city of Dearborn, comprised now of the villages of Fordson and Dearborn, the voters will on December 12th vote on a new city charter for the operation of the combined cities. A glance at the Fordson Independent would incline one to believe that nearly every resident of that community is a candidate for some office under the new charter. But who wouldn't be interested in minor political jobs that will pay anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 per year?

NEW POSTOFFICE

Sometime early in December the new postoffice building in Redford will be completed and ready for use as a sub-station of the big postoffice in Detroit. That's the next thing that Northville should step out to accomplish. Postmaster Neal frequently expressed a desire to see erected in this community a "worthwhile structure, one that will be a credit to a community of the standard of Northville."

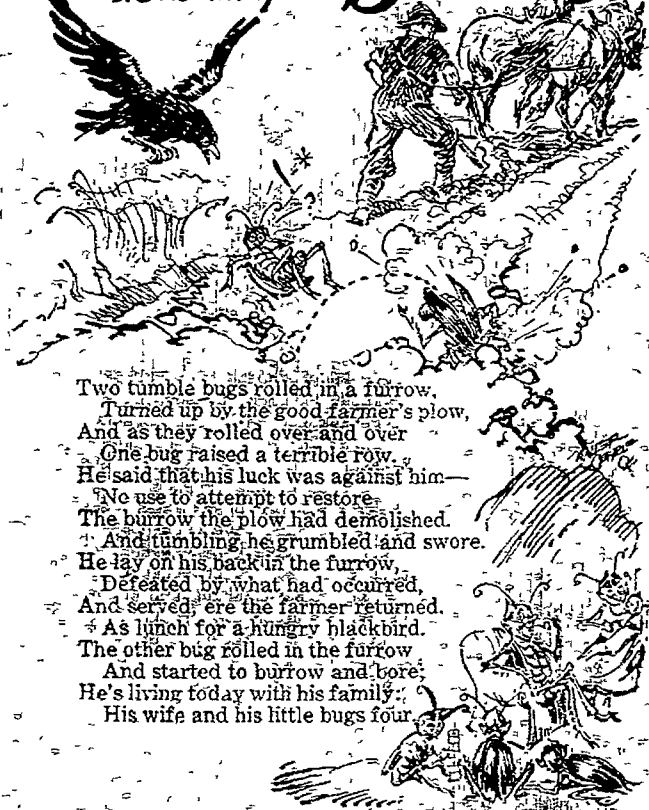

HE TOLD 'UM

Al Smith "told um" again Monday evening, but it was a different kind of "told um" than it was before. It was really showing a most creditable spirit in defeat.

NOT ONE VIOLATION

To the credit of the hundreds of local hunters who went out day after day during the recent pheasant and squirrel season, there was not a single violation of the hunting laws committed in this section. Naturally when so many go into the woods and fields to hunt you would expect some violations.

The Tumble Bugs

Two tumble bugs rolled in a furrow. Turned up by the good farmer's plow, And as they rolled over and over One bug raised a terrible row. He said that his luck was against him— No use to attempt to restore. The burrow the plow had demolished. And tumbling he grumbled and swore. He lay on his back in the furrow, Dejected by what had occurred. And served ere the farmer returned. As lunch for a hungry blackbird. The other bug rolled in the furrow And started to burrow and bore. He's living today with his family. His wife and his little bugs four.

One would expect some to commit a violation of the laws regulating hunters. Fortunately there was not one who transgressed. It is a most creditable showing, especially when so many were hunting. Now if these same hunters will give a little more attention to the trespass signs, we will all think the millennium is about here.

BABE IN POLITICS

Babe Ruth may be some baseball swatter, but when it comes to being a political forecaster, he is about as big a lemon as ever rolled out of a California citrus orchard.

ADVERTISING IS ESSENTIAL IF ONE WINS IN BUSINESS

A Prominent Detroit Talks to Exchange Club Wednesday

Walter Elliott, prominent Detroit advertising executive, who formerly has been manager of the Merchant Advertising Agency was the speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the Exchange Club. Mr. Elliott, long a personal friend of John Kibbelsch, came to Northville upon his invitation and he gave the Exchange a most interesting talk on advertising.

Contrary to general belief advertising is not a new thing in business. Advertising dates back as far as human relations do he stated.

Advertising to pay must be continuous, declared the speaker. "We all know of examples of firms doing national advertising a few years ago that gained national prominence then discontinued advertising. They gently faded from the picture and went out of business."

"Advertising is so intensely interesting because it is so human. Everyone unconsciously advertises himself. Each of us is contributing his own little share to this great commerce of business each playing the part assigned to him by that Master Architect of the Universe who said 'Seest thou a man diligent in his business, he shall stand before Kings'."

DETROIT AMUSEMENTS

"PARIS BOUND" REMAINS SECOND WEEK AT CASS

"Paris Bound" has proved an unalloyed delight to all lovers of good comedy at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, where Madge Kennedy will continue in the stellar role of the Philip Barry play for another week. The success of "Paris Bound" has been so unequivocal and its captivating quality has charmed Detroit theatregoers just as it did New Yorkers, that it is safe to prophesy that Miss Kennedy and "Paris Bound" will continue their tenancy of the Cass Theatre to delighted audiences. One potent reason for the success of Mr. Barry's delightful modern comedy is the masterly stagecraft of its producer, Arthur Hopkins. Every detail is carefully considered, and there is an atmosphere of reality about the whole representation that is seldom obtained by anyone but a great producer like Mr. Hopkins. Aside from the work of the star, Miss Kennedy, who has never appeared here to such splendid advantage, "Paris Bound" is notable in introducing to the Detroit stage such fresh, magnetic and attractive personalities as Donn Cook, Jane Seymour, Joanna Roos and John Maroney.

The matinees on Wednesday and Saturday have thus far tested the capacity of the Cass, owing to the genuine popular popularity of the star in Detroit.

First Presbyterian Church

NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN.

You Have Been Elected

To the highest office of citizenship in Northville and one of the duties pertaining to that office is that of setting the right kind of an example before the rest of the community. Do you accept? One of the finest examples we know of is that of attending divine worship on the Sabbath day.

Jesus Christ is the only answer to the problems that are vexing America at this time. The police will not be less busy tomorrow unless we have more of the teachings of Christ lived out in the lives of men and women today.

In no other place will you find the inspiration and help needed to live these teachings as in the church, dedicated and consecrated to that purpose. It is the only hope that the front pages of our morning papers will be filled with something other than murder and all other kinds of crime.

FRANK S. NEAL DIES

in his candidacy for election to congress. Mr. Spaulding was successful in his efforts and from that day until the day of his death, Mr. Neal was never out of politics.

Always a staunch Republican, he was keenly interested in village, county and state affairs. His political interest led him into a successful candidacy in 1900 for the state legislature.

There he served for two terms. During the time he was in the legislature he won for himself the appointment as chairman of the all-powerful ways and means committee.

It was through his constant suggestion in the Northville Record that he brought out Fred W. Warner of Farmington, as a candidate for governor. During the entire Warner regime Mr. Neal was one of the important political figures of Michigan.

He served for a time as private secretary to Governor Warner, and was later made head of the state oil inspection bureau. He retained this place for some time after Mr. Warner's retirement to private life.

Because of his state-wide acquaintance Mr. Neal has always been in a position to do much for his friends and his community. The fact that during the time he was associated with the state he secured positions for some of the local residents is an indication of his loyalty to Northville residents.

But his influence did not stop at the bounds of Northville. It was largely through his efforts that the old East Michigan Press Association was organized. J. Bert Smiley of Galesburg was elected its first president and Mr. Neal the first secretary.

The East Michigan Press Association was later made into the Michigan State Press Association, today one of the strongest newspaper organizations in the country. It can be rightly claimed that Mr. Neal was the father of the state association.

When the Northville-Wayne county fair association was organized some twelve years ago, Mr. Neal was elected secretary of the organization. In his usual energetic way he gave much of his time to its affairs and to the very last his interest for its success never waned.

In recent years he was a member of the Fair board. For several years he was secretary of the Michigan Association of Fair secretaries.

But Northville always had his first interest. He was active in the organization of the Lapham State Savings bank and since the first was a director of the bank. He invested as much as his means would permit in every projected local industry.

During his newspaper career he acted as manager of the old opera house, that provided the community's only amusement.

He was the founder of the Northville Automobile club, an organization that holds a charter older than that of the Detroit Automobile club. From the first he has been an officer of this organization. For over five years he also served as postmaster.

He was for a number of years Chancellor Commander of the Northville Pythian lodge, but in more recent years his interest turned to the affairs of the Methodist church, of which he was a most liberal supporter.

In 1882 he was married to Miss Jennie Hall, who died a few years later. It was on September 14, 1910 when he was married to Mrs. Neal, who survives with a son, Warner, Mrs. Alice Baker of this place, a sister of Mr. Neal, and George Neal, publisher of the Orion Review, a nephew, also survive.

No father ever took a greater interest in the welfare of a son than did Mr. Neal in his boy—and no son will ever miss a father more than Warner. Mr. Neal was intensely devoted to his home. And no wife ever showed greater devotion than did Mrs. Neal during the long doubtful hours of his illness.

The funeral will be from the home Friday, afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial taking place in Rural Hill cemetery. Rev. William Richards will officiate.

Do not throw away commercial feed stuffs that have spoiled; if they become moldy or otherwise unfit to feed, apply them to the soil. All commercial feeds make good fertilizers, and those rich in nitrogen, such as cottonseed meal, bran and beef scraps are especially valuable.

Take the guesswork out of roasting beef by using a meat thermometer thrust into the thickest part of the meat. When the thermometer registers between 130 degrees and 150 degrees F., the meat will be rare; medium between 150 degrees and 170 degrees F., and well done at about 180 degrees F.

The five food groups, recognized as necessary in the day's meal, though all five need not be represented at every meal are: vegetables and fruits, meat, milk, other foods dependent on their products, sugar and starch goods, fats and fat foods.

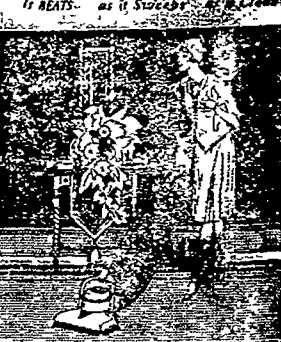

Potatoes for table use should be stored where it is dark. Exposure to light quickly injures their food quality.

If you were to make a comparative test of the Hoover and any other electric cleaner, you would find that The Hoover infallibly removes the most dirt per minute, the amount removed by it in ordinary cleaning time being at least 60% to 80% greater.

The Hoover is able to effect this greater dirt removal because of its exclusive beating principle, "Positive Agitation," which gets out the embedded grit which ordinary cleaning fails to remove.

Before you purchase any electric cleaner, see The Hoover in action on your own rugs. The amazing efficiency of The Hoover will be a revelation to you. Telephone for such a demonstration. Liberal allowance for your old cleaner. Only $6.25 down; balance monthly.

FISHING STORIES. FISH STORY, MORE FISHING STORIES

Here is One that Contains Food for Honest
Thought

Deer stories and fish stories—especially the latter—have filled the air for days. But the biggest fish story of all has emanated from the German garage on West Main street without anyone rising to deny the allegation.

With Studebakers and Pontiacs coming to town so loaded down with fish that the springs were strained downward over the axles, explanations as to how it all happened have been frequently demanded.

Harry German Sr. declares it was not a raid on the fish hatchery as some have suspected. "There isn't a pike around here as big as those we caught," he declares.

The story goes that Harry Senior, and his son, accompanied by Al Healey, the barber, James Black, Northville's most famous fisherman and Dr. Maxwell of Carleton, all went fishing over amid the Irish Hills. There is a lake over there so full of pike that one can almost catch them with his hands. Why the Germans took some old time fishermen like James Black and Dr. Maxwell and Al Healey, no one knows, but they did. Some say it was to keep them from pulling in the anchor and buying the hooks.

Others say it was to keep down the argument between dad and son about Pontiac lines and the Studebaker line both used on the fishing trip. Love had difficulty in keeping his line intact, and the senior declared that if he used his kind of a line there wouldn't be anything to it.

Anyway the story goes that the Germans left the two veteran fishermen so busy rowing and baiting hooks with Alewives, the bait that it was sort of a one-sided fishing party.

When the local scribe saw the dozens and dozens and dozens of fish being unloaded an effort was made to find out where they were caught. Al Healey says they came from Commerce lake. Loyd German declares they were caught in Waukegan's lake. Jim Black says he got his in Walled Lake. Harry German Sr. declares he made his catch in Pontiac lake and Dr. Maxwell said all the pike came from Yerkes lake.

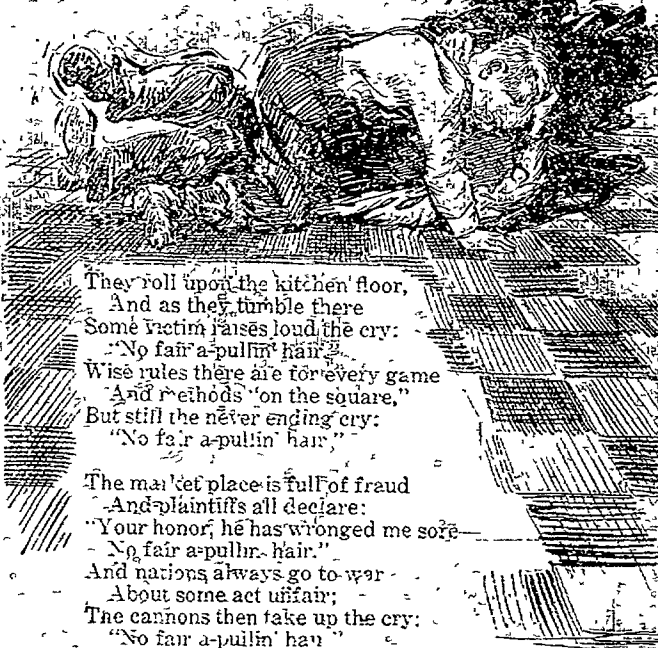

So it goes with a bunch of fishermen. William Elliott and Nelson Schroder says if they had some way to get they might think some interest in the fish stories being told.

He says it was a great string of that and there five fishermen must have been busy landing them.

For when we write the truth it isn't necessary to keep a carbon copy.

"A-Pullin' Hair"

by A. J. Durlap

They roll upon the kitchen floor,
And as they tumble there
Some victim raises loud the cry:
"No fair a-pullin' hair!"
Wise rules there are for every game
And methods "on the square."
But still the never ending cry:
"No fair a-pullin' hair!"

The market place is full of fraud
And plaintiffs all declare:
"Your honor, he has wronged me sore—
No fair a-pullin' hair."
And nations always go to war
About some act unfair;
The cannons then take up the cry:
"No fair a-pullin' hair!"

The earth will always have a lot
Of sorrow and despair;
And fumes will never be just right
Till folks quit pullin' hair.
And peace will come to all mankind,
And justice everywhere
Will bless the land with lavish hand,
When folks quit pullin' hair.

NORTHVILLE 25 years ago

The school building proposition was lost by a vote of 32 to 41 at the adjourned meeting.

Willbur Harrington has accomplished the sale of 56 books since he entered the ranks of the ubiquitous book agent.

M. A. Porter and T. A. Babcock have been appointed commissioners and appraisers in the Elizabeth Whitaker estate.

Harley Johnson is the substitute rural carrier for Fred Pennings, resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Thorman have secured the Welsh house on Balltown as a place of residence.

The leaves have all left the Northville trees, but the trees will not leave until next year unless the council jacks on their stayings around with bare limbs.

Charles Judson was thrown from his wagon Saturday and run over narrowly escaping serious injury. A dog rushing out and attacking the horses was the cause of the accident.

Edward Porter of Washington state is visiting his brother, M. A. Porter, for a few days.

Will Safford of the U. S. fishery has gone to Grassy Island to assist in securing white fish eggs. Mrs. Lee Macomber of Marine City has been with Northville friends for a few days.

Mrs. Flora Perkins has been elected president of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society.

The nash supper to be given by the Baptist young people's society has been postponed.

Will Thayer and B. G. Perkins of the U. S. fish commission, were out from Detroit Sunday.

F.O.B. FACTORY

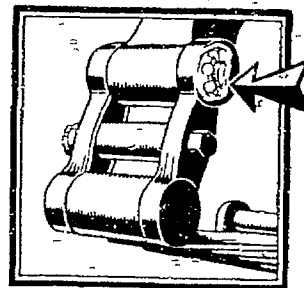

ANYONE looking at the Studebaker Dictator would estimate its cost at $2000 or better. It looks like a lot of automobile inside and out... it is!

And when you drive The Dictator it feels like a costly car—you sense the inbuilt ability which sent a stock model Dictator 5,000 miles in 4,751 minutes—breaking all records for stock cars under $1400.

Studebaker's 76 years of manufacturing experience, the advantage of its mammoth One-Plant facilities, and the genius of its great engineering department are combined in this fine car. It is so carefully built that it may be driven 40 miles an hour even when NEW.

Permit us to lend you a Dictator on a get-acquainted basis, because there is so much more to its story than words and pictures can possibly tell. Phone—today—for a Dictator for a thorough test run!

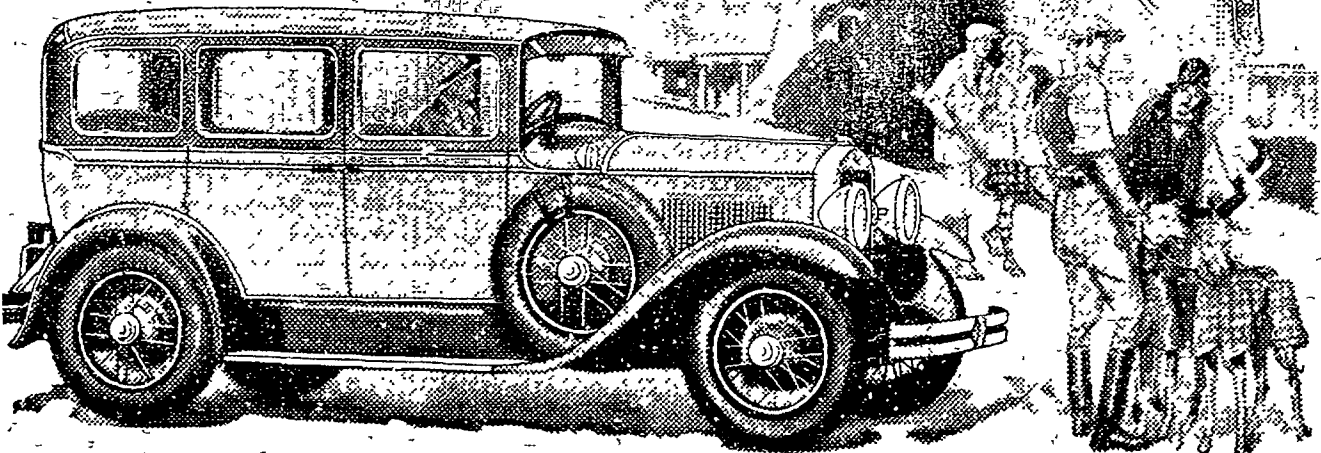

Literally floating the chassis friction-free on 172 balls of polished steel, Studebaker's exclusive built bearing spring shackles permit unhindered action of Studebaker's plant springs and hydraulic shock absorbers. Lubricant sufficient for more than 20,000 miles is sealed in each shackle. They will never bind, nor squeak, nor rattle. And because of all metal construction, there is no deterioration.

LOCAL HUNTERS OFF FOR NORTH IN FALL DEER HUNT

Several Groups Made Up of Sportsmen Expect Good Luck

Northville's army of deer hunters have invaded the northlands, leaving this community practically a deserted city. There are several parties made up of local hunters. The first off for the fall hunt is the group made up of Nelson Schrader, Scott Lovell, Joseph Montgomery, William Safford, Dayton Bunn and Dr. A. A. Holcomb. This group went to Kenon, where rabbits are thick and panicle dough flows from the hills all night. Many tame deer roam the wilds around Kenon, as well as one-eyed jacks. These hunters are expected to bring a lot of the latter home.

In another party was Clifford Turnbull, who believes that he can get a deer by electrical shocks. Earl Warner, who is going to enter the north woods with lead; Elmer Law, the attorney in name, who says he knows every loop hole in the law; Walter Ware, who is going to feed the hardware; Charles Hamilton, an assessor of facts; Fred Hicks, Herman Teska, Thomas Gibson, Lawrence Hamilton, Arthur Spillwell, and William Tiffin. This group is known as the "Haley Gang" and will be located near Goshen, in the Upper Peninsula. All the deer have been killed or scared away.

Another group of deer hunters is composed of Dr. E. B. Cavell, Sheriff Ambler, John Walker and others. They are covering the darkness for deer in the north woods. One cynical fisherman said these fellows had gone to a patch of woods over near Pontiac to do their deer hunting.

William Safford spent most of Saturday collecting up all the deer skins in his neighborhood to take along with him.

Dayton Bunn went coming home with a northern game. He brought some Peruna and Fletcher's cough medicine to take along with him.

A brand new pair of fur-lined mittens were tucked in Nelson Schrader's pocket. Nelson declares he is going to have no frost-bitten ears when he comes home.

Sheriff Ambler came near giving up the trip up north. He didn't want to go without some felt boots. "They ain't bear and takes unless I've got felt boots on," he told John McCully.

Dr. Cavell purchased several copies of "Boy Scout Timor" before his departure. "They're not going to lose me."

That, queer, looking box that Clifford Turnbull had was an infernal electric machine he is going to use in his shoeing business.

Barney Schepitz and John Hanna left Monday for Sidaun in the Upper Peninsula. "We don't travel in armies when hunting deer," John told a friend before the departure.

John Walker rucked an old feather bed in his trunk. John declares that he refuses to sleep in the same way most of the fellows do who go up north.

Bang, Bang, Bang—All summer long Northville residents have heard that noise. It was Bill Safford killing dogs. He reduced the dog population of Northville from 799 to 171 by the use of his pistol during the summer. Now the reason is out. He was simply practicing for that northern hunting trip.

Having recovered in wheelbarrow final dumped on Halloween night W. E. Poincy left the next day for the fall hunters to dig a little hunting.

L. W. Stewart when he left for the north took with him a plentiful supply of panicle flour. Having heard that there was a shortage up there.

Carl Elv disappeared during the early part of the week. "Ts said he has also gone up north looking for bear."

Don't let erosion rob your soil of valuable plant food that has accumulated for centuries and can not be easily replaced. Soil specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advise terracing and the planting of legumes, rye and various cover crops in a rotation which will not leave farm lands so constantly exposed as does continuous cropping to corn, cotton and other cultivated crops.

Eggs shipped to market should always be packed in the fillers small end down, as they carry better in transit and storage when in this position.

WEST POINT PARK

Mrs. C. Wolfe, Correspondent

The election is over. The voters in this community turned out well to express their wishes on the ballot. Everyone seems happy over the results of the election. Prosperity is before us, our population in West Point is going up. The school house is filled to its utmost capacity. We are going ahead by leaps and bounds, but what we need is more boosters. A large audience greeted the pastor, George Gullen, last Sunday. Each one was impressed by the object lesson and sermon. Sunday school and Christian Endeavor were well attended. The papers given by Miss Schrader and Mrs. Middlewood were good and worth hearing. The subject being, "What is wrong with the Men."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley, formerly of Litchfield township, died at her home in Plymouth last Thursday, and was laid to rest in the cemetery at Litchfield Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Bentley were among the old pioneer settlers, a goodly couple, good neighbors and friends. Mrs. Bentley will long be remembered for her kindness and hospitality. Sympathy is expressed for Mr. Bentley everywhere, for in his home there is an empty chair and she will be missed not only by her bereaved husband, but by her many relatives and friends.

John Mercer, who has been very and Lucile will be hostess. All young people are invited.

Mrs. O. Baughman called on her grandmother, Mrs. C. Wolfe, Saturday.

Mrs. Whipple, Sr., has just returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Ontario. We are all pleased to see her back at her son's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bennett moved into the house of Louis Witt, vacated by John McIntosh.

The yearly bazaar of the Ladies Community club will be held in the hall December 13th, commencing at 1:00 o'clock. There will be a goodly display of articles for sale. A quilt will be given away. There will be fairly work made for Christmas presents and a self-served supper.

Mrs. John Mercer, president of the Community club, is putting forward every effort to make this year's bazaar the most successful one we have had.

PLYMOUTH FIXES UP STOP SIGNS ON PAVED STREETS

Village Officials Believe
Streets Will be Made
More Safe

With a view of making the newly paved streets in the village safer for public travel by motorists and pedestrians, the village is installing at the more dangerous intersections a type of "stop" sign which, in many cases, has proven its effectiveness in preventing automobile collisions at busy street corners. The sign is a reinforced set into a wood and metal base embedded in the center of the pavement. The word "STOP" appears in bold letters of yellow upon a black background, the sign being perfectly readable at a distance of fully 200 feet in the daytime and half that distance under the illumination provided by an automobile headlight.

The sign possesses many advantages. Being placed where it cannot but command the attention of the motorist, and being so easily read, it is a distinct aid to the motorist in calling his attention to stop streets and dangerous intersections. Also, the sign being readily collapsible, and with its base set flush with the pavement surface, it may be run over by motor traffic without harm to either the sign or the car.

A frame and of this character cannot, however, be expected of itself to accomplish the results desired. The full cooperation of every motorist is needed to make any system of traffic control effective. Traffic control devices merely serve to aid the careful motorist to make our streets safe at all times for public travel.

The village authorities have in mind doing everything that can be done to keep our streets safe for motor and pedestrian travel, and to this end have ordered the installation of the new signs above referred to. It may be stated in this connection, however, that they do not mean to stop at this point. It is determined to put an end to speeding and all manner of careless and reckless driving upon the streets of the village, and whatever steps may be necessary to bring about this result will be taken.

The careful motorist and pedestrian and particularly our school children are entitled to travel our streets in safety at all times. Let us all cooperate with the village authorities in their effort to keep our village thoroughfares as safe for public travel as they can and should be. —Plymouth Mail.

A blanket of earth is a good thing for bramble-fruits, bushes in cold sections of the country, especially where cold dry winds prevail. Gently bend down the plants all one way, lengthwise of the row, and cover them with a few inches of earth. In large patches this can be done after the plants have been bent over and fastened by plowing a furrow over the row from each side. In the spring, uncover the plants and straighten up the canes.

Do you think about how you are standing, or sitting, when doing your housework? Much fatigue that is blamed on hard work is really due to faulty posture. Keep the back straight, bend from the hips rather than the shoulders, sit well back in chairs with feet square on the floor, do not allow the abdomen to sag forward.

Every Ache And Pain Gone Since Taking Konjola

Neuritis in Her Limbs Had Practically Made Her a Cripple

MRS. EMMA RUSSELL
"Konjola has restored my health in such a wonderful way that I sometimes cannot believe it is true, especially since I had neuritis in my limbs so bad that I was practically a cripple," states Mrs. Emma Russell, 219 Wealthy street, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"For many years I suffered untold misery, which I believe started from the disordered condition of my kidneys. Backaches and night-urining made it almost impossible for me to get proper rest and the next morning I felt miserable all over. Then I began to suffer from a lack of neuritis. They came on me all of a sudden. My limbs would get so sore from the pain and swelling in the joints that I could hardly use them for days at a time. Almost as soon as I started with Konjola, a new feeling of life energy came over my whole system. In a few weeks every ache and pain was gone and my kidneys never gave me the least bit of trouble any more."

Konjola is sold in Northville at Northville Drug Co. and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Fall is the most advantageous time for the cow to freshen, winter the next best season and spring and summer the least advantageous, according to dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Cows that freshen in the fall rank highest on an average in yearly production of milk and butterfat and in income over cost of feed and those freshening in spring or summer produce the least milk and butterfat and return the smallest income over cost of feed.

Stage of roots furnish a good, inexpensive feed for sheep at times of the year when pasture is not available. These feeds are especially valuable for keeping ewes in good condition during the winter.

GOVERNORS OF MICHIGAN

EDWIN B. WINANS

Evansston, Ill., furnished Michigan one of its few Democratic governors, Edwin B. Winans, chief executive of the state from 1891 to 1893, having been a resident of that county.

A graduate of Albion college, a gold hunter in California, a farmer of more than ordinary ability, Winans' career was a most interesting one. He was born in New York in 1832, his parents moving to Livingston county in Michigan in 1834. Winans graduated from Albion college in 1850. Those who associated with him in schools declared that no man was more active than Winans in affairs among the students. Soon after graduating from school, he decided to hunt gold on the Pacific coast. Crossing the country in the way of that time, he spent eight years seeking an easy fortune. Before returning to Livingston county, Winans had accumulated quite a fortune.

After settling down to farm life, he devoted most of his time to stock raising. In 1880 he was elected to the state legislature, serving two terms. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1887, and in 1876 he was elected probate judge of his county. He served two terms in congress, winning out in a district that was strongly Republican.

Michigan Democrats put Winans up as their candidate for governor in 1891, and to the surprise of the Republicans, he carried the state with a safe majority. His administrative work was devoted chiefly to the conduct of the official business of the executive office.

Some of our friends are such good fellows that we can almost forgive them for having such foolish notions about religion and politics.

DR. SNOW GIVES 15-BLANKETS TO HIGH ATHLETES

Presents Student Council With Long Needed Equipment

The Northville high school student council has received a gift from Dr. L. W. Snow, 15-blankets in the colors of the school, for use by players in the various athletic contests held during the year. The entire student body, as well as individual players, have expressed their appreciation of the gift.

It was during the recent football game with Plymouth that Dr. Snow noticed that the players had no way of keeping warm between halves. He told the boys at that time that he would see to it that means were provided for the blankets.

He ordered the large blankets and presented them to the team at the Farmington game. The boys wrapped in their blankets ran to the field, and presented a beautiful appearance to the many spectators who were gathered on the side lines.

The blankets are made of heavy black wool material, trimmed with an orange border, and in the center of the black background is a large 12-inch orange block "N".

The boys when they were given the blankets in the locker room, decided that they would go into that game and fight until every ounce of energy was used up to win the ball game for their school and show Dr. Snow their appreciation to him for the gift.

Dr. Snows aim in getting these blankets was not for appearance alone, but for protection of the boys while they were all warmed up between halves or when one should happen to be drawn from the game.

OUR OWN DUKE IS SHY OF CAMERA

Our own "Duke" Roberts is camera shy. And that's news. No one ever suspected it until last Monday forenoon, when Michigan's greatest newspaper sent out a staff photographer to get a picture of our "Duke," when he was presiding as master of the peate at a hearing in the village hall.

"Nix," said Duke as the photographer pointed his machine his way.

"What? No picture," said the camera shooter in amazement.

"Nix," declared Duke again.

"Well I wouldn't put your picture in the paper anyway, now," declared the news eyes of the world.

Thereby Duke lost a chance to have some million residents gaze upon him in one of his reflective moods, and Northville lost a lot of good first page advertising.

With the approach of killing frosts well developed tomatoes that show no color but in which the leaf green is beginning to fade, can be picked and ripened by setting in shallow receptacles in a room where the temperature is about 70 degrees F. If the air is very dry, sprinkle the floor a little from time to time, or set pans of water in the room, otherwise the tomatoes will shrivel during ripening.

COMING ATTRACTIONS at the PENNIMAN ALLEN

COLLEEN MOORE A SAILOR IN HER NEW COMEDY

When Colleen Moore returned from location, where ocean scenes were filmed for her new First National picture, "Oh, Kay!", coming to the Penniman-Allen Theatre Saturday, November 17th, she was pronounced by her fellow players to be a first class seaman.

A decidedly nautical atmosphere was supplied by the scenario, for several episodes of this humorous screen story in which the vivacious Colleen, made numerous scenes aboard an old wind-jammer, powered a skiff, and even acted as skipper and crew of a fast little sloop. The sloop a star-boat, racing type, captured the enthusiastic interest of Colleen, who went sailing in the sporty little craft, whenever she was most needed before the cameras. She confessed that she found handling main-sheet, jib and hiller all at one time a job better suited to a person with four arms but she was fascinated by the sport. She gives promise of becoming an expert sailor, thanks to the tutelage of her producer, Joan McCormick, a former naval officer.

As soon as camera work was completed on location near Santa Barbara, Calif., Moore and the cast and production staff taking "Oh, Kay!" went aboard a sailing vessel and cruised in the waters around Catalina Island for other scenes which include the episode in which Colleen displays her prowess in a little sailboat. Mervyn LeRoy directed "Oh, Kay!" from the scenario prepared by Carey Wilson. The supporting cast is composed of Lawrence Gray, Alan Hale, Ford Sterling, Claude Gillingwater, Julianne Johnston, Edgar Norton and others.

TECHNICIANS TRANSFORM BRIGHT DAY INTO NIGHT

One of the most brilliant pieces of work yet done within the confines of a motion picture studio was recently accomplished at the Paramount studio in Hollywood. Technicians turned the brightest California day into a black night, and what's more, kept it that way.

This work was done for "The Dockers of New York," starring Geo. Bancroft, which comes to the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Sunday, November 18th.

Inasmuch as almost all of the action of the play is done at night, it fell to the lot of the technicians to prepare a set in which no outside ray of light would be permitted to enter. The set was built on one of the massive stages and transformed the scene to a honky-tonk like located along the waterfront of New York. A huge black canvas hung all around the set, and the actors and technicians labored for several weeks with only a ray of light from a large spot-light flood-lamp on the stage.

On many occasions the actors saw the light of day only upon going to work in the morning. They were kept on the set long after the sun had set, when evergreen stepped right out into a real night.

Bancroft's new starring picture is one of the best he has ever done to date. The story is an original one from the pen of John Monk Saunders, who wrote "Wings" and "The Legion of the Condemned". He is supported by an able cast including Betty Compson, Bacalova, Clyde Cook, Mitchell Lewis and Gustav von Seyffertitz among others.

"THE CIRCUS KID" TELLS ALL ABOUT CIRCUS LIFE

Did you ever think of the circus as having a caste system as rigid as that which obtains at Newport or Palm Beach?

Such is the case, however, and you will have only to see "The Circus Kid," the RBO circus special, directed by George B. Seitz, and to be shown at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Wednesday, November 21, to learn the details of "circus etiquette," as well as catch an intimate "homey" glimpse of the life of the circus people under the canvas and in the road.

Performers can't associate with athletes and peanut salesmen, according to the code, and between the laborers, "roughnecks" or "razor-backs," as they are called, and the talent, or artists, there is a wide gulf. They have separate tables in the "cook-shack," their separate cars in the train, and their entirely separate existence.

In fact, several dramatic incidents in "The Circus Kid" grow out of the love between a young man who at one time was king of horse-jumpers, but through dissipation has been demoted to a laborer, and the pretty star equestrienne, and their desire to be together in violation of the conventions of the "big top."

These parts are played by Joe E. Brown and Helen Costello, the rival cover being portrayed by Sam Delaney. Little Frankie Darro plays the title role in the picture, and Lucile Benson, a Peaches Hansen Ford and other headlins, in the supporting cast. The story is by James Ashmore Greenham.

SALEM

Rev. A. J. Parker and wife left Ann Arbor, Friday morning, for Colony, Kansas, where they expect to be located for some time, and he will take up his new duties as secretary of the Western States United Methodist churches. Rev. Parker, former pastor of the Federated church at Salem, was a very able and a very able and forceful speaker. During their stay here, it is needless to say that they made many friends, and they deeply regret their departure, and we are wishing them both health and success in their new field of labor.

The Ladies Aid of the Federated church will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bender, Thursday, November 22nd, for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. VanSickle left Tuesday for California, where they will spend the winter.

Miss Frances Anderson spent the week-end with friends in Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ackerman and family will move to Brightmoor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitaker moved from the Leda Tennant house into the A. C. VanSickle home, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foreman and Cecil Mymbrun of Detroit, attended the wedding of Hilda Walters and Claude Skinner near Bay City, Saturday evening, and they were Sunday guests of Mr. Foreman's parents here. Colleen Foreman was a Saturday night guest of her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Crockett of Howell, and Mrs. John McDowell were Sunday evening guests at the Henry Whitaker home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tait of Plymouth, and Mrs. Violet Quackenbush of Detroit were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Whitaker.

Mr. and Mrs. W. VanSickle visited her brother in Detroit, Sunday.

Mrs. Mangle Bradley and daughter, Mrs. Glenn Burnham, were in Ann Arbor, Tuesday.

CHRISTMAS SEALS GOING ON SALE

The annual sale of Christmas seals in Wayne county will be officially opened, on Thanksgiving day, when approximately 35,000,000 seals, addressed to residents of the county, will be placed in the mails.

November 25th will also mark the opening of the seal sale throughout Michigan. 84,000,000 seals according to officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association will be placed on sale at that time in the 83 counties of the state. This figure represents an increase of 8,000,000 over the number distributed last year.

Statistics of the 1927 sale show that $113,233.59 worth of the seals were sold last year in Wayne county. The per capita sale based on the population of the county was 688. The per capita sale of the state in 1927 was 563.

Based on the figures of the 1927 sale, when the 70,000,000 seals, which were placed on sale resulted in gross receipts of $247,443.78, M. T. A. officials estimate that $275,000.00 will be raised in the sale this year. Chest clinics, children's camps, educational lectures, scientific research and health campaigns are included in the public health work financed by the seal sale.

FORD BREAKING ALL RECORDS IN CAR PRODUCTION

Employment Figures Also Show an Increase Over Past

Six thousand automobiles and trucks were produced daily by the Ford Motor Co. during the first week in November, an increase in daily manufacture of 500 over the September production figures, according to an announcement just made by the company.

The company estimates it now is making 22 per cent of all the cars in the world. Working the five-day week, the Ford factories turned out 106,404 Model A trucks and automobiles during October, and during the output the first ten days of November added, brings the total number of units produced since January 1 to more than 500,000.

"Some idea of the phenomenal growth of the new Model A can be gained from an examination of the production records since the first of the year," the announcement reads. "In January of this year the Ford production was only 179 cars. In February it went to 297 per cent, in March to 634, in April to 749, May, 859, June, 1118, July, 1330, August, 16 per cent, and September 20 per cent."

Ford employment figures and Ford payrolls all over the world are at the highest peak in the history of the company.

SALEM

Rev. A. J. Parker and wife left Ann Arbor, Friday morning, for Colony, Kansas, where they expect to be located for some time, and he will take up his new duties as secretary of the Western States United Methodist churches. Rev. Parker, former pastor of the Federated church at Salem, was a very able and a very able and forceful speaker. During their stay here, it is needless to say that they made many friends, and they deeply regret their departure, and we are wishing them both health and success in their new field of labor.

The Ladies Aid of the Federated church will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bender, Thursday, November 22nd, for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. VanSickle left Tuesday for California, where they will spend the winter.

Miss Frances Anderson spent the week-end with friends in Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ackerman and family will move to Brightmoor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitaker moved from the Leda Tennant house into the A. C. VanSickle home, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foreman and Cecil Mymbrun of Detroit, attended the wedding of Hilda Walters and Claude Skinner near Bay City, Saturday evening, and they were Sunday guests of Mr. Foreman's parents here. Colleen Foreman was a Saturday night guest of her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Crockett of Howell, and Mrs. John McDowell were Sunday evening guests at the Henry Whitaker home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tait of Plymouth, and Mrs. Violet Quackenbush of Detroit were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Whitaker.

Mr. and Mrs. W. VanSickle visited her brother in Detroit, Sunday.
