ANGELL BAIL PUT AT $40,000 NOT PROVIDED

Farmer Held to Circuit Court for Trial on Serious Charge

Albert Angell, well known and well to do farmer living on the Ferry road about three miles west of Northville, was Tuesday bound over to circuit court for trial at the next term of court on a criminal attack charge by Justice of the Peace Wellington Roberts.

Bail was fixed at $40,000, which was provided and new bailiffs were appointed to the county jail where he will be held until his trial. Bail is provided. Two securities were required on the bond of $40,000.

It was not until after Assistant Prosecuting Attorney John A. Woods had declared that the crime charged was nothing short of murder, it is a very serious charge, I know of a case where an offender is serving life and his crime cannot be compared to this for seriousness.

The little 11-year-old girl was brought from a hospital for the hearing. The only testimony taken was that of the girl and her mother. Two attorneys for the prisoner conducted a brief cross examination of the girl, whose story remained unchanged. They protested against the big bail that was set by the justice, but it was permitted to remain without change. They stated that a request might be made to the circuit court in an effort to have the sum reduced. Up until the time of the hearing Angell had been held without bail.

The offense is alleged to have happened on January 8th, when the girl went to the home of Angell to get a pail of water. Since that night she has been confined to a hospital.

PRAISES REDFORD EXCHANGE FOR ITS CONVENTION WORK

Nelson Schrader Makes Report of Session in Detroit

High praise was bestowed upon members of the Redford Exchange club at the meeting of the Northville club Wednesday noon when Nelson Schrader, chairman of the delegation that represented Northville at the state convention in Detroit, made his report of the Detroit meeting.

He declared that the reception given the visitors by the Redford club was the most cordial the visitors at the Detroit meeting had ever experienced and that the Redfords boys went out of their way to see to it that every person attending the state convention had a good time.

The other delegates made a similar report to that presented by Mr. Schrader.

Mr. Schrader declared that the state convention in Detroit was a larger and better one than the national convention held by the Exchange clubs in San Francisco two years ago.

The Redford Exchange club knows how to do and what to do at the right time, he said. Many other members of the Northville club were present at the state meeting.

ILLNESS OF YEAR ENDED BY DEATH

Following an illness of something like a year Mrs. Maria Wurm, 64 years of age, died Monday at her home four miles west of Northville just off the Base Line road. Mr. and Mrs. Wurm moved to this locality about five years ago and in spite of efforts of some of her friends and relatives to induce her to move back to the old home in Detroit, she liked this part of the country so well she insisted on staying here.

The husband, Daniel, and four children survive. The children are Mrs. Fred Sternier, Northville; William Wurm of Detroit; Otto of Oxford; and Daniel, Jr., of Detroit.

Mrs. Wurm was born in Canada and came to this state when a small girl. She had always made her home in this part of Michigan and a wide circle of friends mourn her passing. She was a devoted member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon from the home at 12:30 o'clock and the church at 1:30 P.M. taking place in Forest Lawn cemetery at Detroit. Rev. Eckstein officiated. Services were attended by many old friends and acquaintances who were grieved to know of her death.

It is better to find out now whether the farm tractor is in good condition than to learn later, in the busy season, that it is not, and the only reliable way to check it up is to run it for a few hours and test it thoroughly. A tractor engine will often run well while idling, but will heat or develop only part of its maximum power when pulling a heavy load, or operating machinery.

Mr. Lou VanValkenburgh, who has been seriously ill with the flu, is able to be out again.

KELLER TELLS OF CONFLICTS IN PHILIPPINES

Wins Medal for Duty that Required Daring During Service

More than once did Charles Keller, Northville, veteran of the campaign in the Philippine Islands who was recently awarded a medal for distinguished service in the army during that time, face death in the jungles of southern Luzon. When notice came of the medal award Keller was probably as much surprised as any man in Northville at the late recognition of his services in the army.

The medal isn't much, but I guess all the boys in that campaign against the natives of Luzon earned it," he said.

I enlisted in July, 1899, at Toledo. I was in Company A, 47th Infantry, in connection with the Annex Semple McPherson case, we launched the California state assembly. Judge Hardy is alleged to have received a $2,500 check from Annex McPherson, evangelist. He was recently deprived of membership in the American Bar association.

"There the natives had refused to come under American rule. Some of the Spaniards kept them stirred up. When we landed the natives deserted the sea coast and went back into the jungles.

"But each night they would come down and fire into our camp. It was the idea of the army to fight the natives. The officers wanted to win their good will but we had to protect ourselves from these attacks. Because of their condition it was rather hard place for soldiers as we were not supposed to fire until absolutely forced to do so for our own protection."

"We wanted to round them up and tell them it was our purpose to be friendly to them," said Keller.

"But for a long time it was one of fight until we could get them that we wanted to be friends. They were armed with bows and arrows and spears. There were two or three hundred of them.

"Once I was surrounded by them and had to run away and hide in the jungle. The boys in command of me were going to hit them, but I had to run away and hide in the bushes. At the time I had no revolver, but I had a gun.

"Once I was surrounded by them and had to run away and hide in the bushes. At the time I had no revolver, but I had a gun.

MANY FARMERS TO ATTEND SESSIONS AT EAST LANSING

Farmers to Hear About Every Subject of Interest to Them

Final details of programs completed and stage was set this week for the annual M. S. C. Farmers' Week and housewives conference, scheduled this year from February 1 to 8, at the Michigan State College at East Lansing.

Predictions that well over 5,000 Michigan farmers and their families would gather from all corners of the state for the meetings were being made by college authorities in advance of arrangements for the week. Attendance has grown steadily each year and is a record breaking year could not be a surprise. Special conditions make for even more than usual travel.

More than 30 different agricultural associations and groups will hold annual conferences during Farmers' Week, each planning its own program of information and entertainment. General meetings with nationally prominent speakers listed will be held on afternoons and evenings, bringing together all the Farmers' Week guests in the huge M. S. C. demonstration hall.

Special educational exhibits, committee shows for various agricultural commodities, and demonstrations will draw a share of attention.

CONGRESS FROM WITHIN

By
GRANT M. HUDSON, Congressman
Michigan, Sixth District

Practically assured is the special session this spring to legislate for farm relief and to revise the farm and tariff laws.

Those close to President-elect Hoover name April 8 as the opening date for this special session, which it is now taken for granted will be called. Under normal circumstances the special session should be able to make appropriate legislation by June 1, unless unforeseen difficulties occur in revising the tariff.

An interesting comparison between the state legislature and the federal Congress may be made at this time. Governor may call a special session of the legislature which sits for a certain number of days on certain matters which the Governor may specify.

The President may call a special session and may recommend certain legislation, but the Congress has no final power by virtue of its right to organize all or special committees which report out the bills to Congress as a whole.

In this light, it is expected that only those four committees, two in the Senate and two in the House, will be called to prepare the farm relief and tariff revision legislation.

Thus while the Senate is discussing the farm relief bill, the House may take up the tariff changes and vice versa until both chambers are made up of both senate and house members.

There doesn't seem to be any adequate way in which this money might be used at the present time.

While we are anxious to see every dollar possible appropriated to make the Prohibition bureau more efficient, we do not believe it wise to appropriate any such amount of money without any definite plan for its use.

If there were the thought to give the president-elect the funds for enforcement, he should have had the opportunity to make the best use of which would surely have been granted but the special session would be to ask for $20,000,000.

The farm relief bill is to be introduced in the House by the chairman of the agriculture committee, Prof. Joseph F. Cox, dean of agriculture at Michigan State College, who was in Washington during the past week for the purpose of having the tariff rates raised on chicory and garden seeds now being imported largely from Germany. Dean Cox gave his views on general agricultural products and those products Michigan has special interest in from a tariff revision standpoint.

Other matters of particular interest in congress during the past week include the passing by the Senate of the deficiency appropriation bill with special reference to the amendment proposed by Senative Harris of Georgia calling for $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement.

This bill is now before the Conference committee, which commits to find out now whether the farm tractor is in good condition than to learn later, in the busy season, that it is not, and the only reliable way to check it up is to run it for a few hours and test it thoroughly. A tractor engine will often run well while idling, but will heat or develop only part of its maximum power when pulling a heavy load or operating machinery.

Editor Record—When you're there would probably be no "Palladium" this year. I feel I am going as the child when told there was no Santa Claus, simply dazed.

No record to look forward to of the kiddies we all love and watch grow up and take their places each year.

No record of what we are all so proud of, our band, our baseball team, our basketball teams, and all other parts of our school.

A school either goes forward or backward, it cannot stand still.

Which way is our school going forward of course?

Find out where the trouble is, and let's all get together and have the biggest and best "Palladium" we've ever had in Northville.

HIGH SCHOOL FAN

A SUGGESTION

To the Editor:

I being a taxpayer of Northville and also a very interested patron of the school and its work, I wish to draw the attention of the school board members to a greatly discussed subject among the school children and parents.

Each year when school opens there is always many new books to buy. Now these books mean quite a sum especially if one has a family. Why couldn't the school board buy the needed books wholesale and sell them to the children at school, thus saving the retailer's price which is considerably more than one-third. This would certainly mean a great saving to the parents.

Other forms can do this. Why can't Northville?

the digestion of sewage solids collected in the treatment works. Excess gas may be used for heating buildings or possibly in power production if the quantities produced warrant it.

Harry Johnson of Flint, newly elected president of the association, gave a talk on the operation of Flint treatment plant during the past year. This plant is the largest in the state at the present time. During the past year this plant has treated an average over ten million gallons of sewage per day. Exceptionally good results are being obtained from the sedimentation units since some initial operating difficulties have been overcome. Some experimental work has been carried on during the last year in preparation for the final treatment process which have not yet been constructed. Garden plots were developed to demonstrate the value of sewage sludge as a fertilizer with marked results. Material increase in the yield of beans, potatoes, cabbage and other crops was obtained. Further experiments are to be carried on during the coming year in order to more fully demonstrate the value of sewage sludge.

The officers of the association for the ensuing year are:

Harry E. Johnson, Flint Pres.

Herbert A. Olson, Pontiac Vice-President; Weland F. Sheppard, Lansing, Secretary-Treasurer; R. Anderson, Muskegon Heights Director for two years.

STATE IS STILL COVERED WITH A THICK ICE COATING

Dangerous to Travel Anywhere by Auto or on Sidewalks

Not within the memory of anyone living in Northville has such an icy condition of sidewalks and highways existed over such a long period of time as within the present month.

Something like two weeks ago Michigan was coated with ice as a result of a "late lamb rain". Continued frosting with additional rain added to the dangerous condition and in spite of the efforts of workmen from the various highway departments, automobile travel has been extremely dangerous business.

Garages in Northville as well as every other place have been kept busy repairing damage to cars that resulted from collisions and accidents resulting from slipping off the highways.

While many of the residents of Northville have made an energetic effort to keep their walk free from ice, it has been next to impossible to do so.

Yester evening and travel is still dangerous on the roads and it is not true that the ice is melting, it is simply that the roads are becoming almost

solid again before the ice

is melted.

Yesterday until the end of the week almost three weeks ago the heavy snow came and there was also application of salt

up in the salt compartments so everyone is hoping for less.

Officials of Delco state that never before have they faced a condition that could not be quickly overcome and the icy condition of the streets in the city have even been worse than in the country.

Although hundreds of men have been engaged to dig the ice off the streets with picks, a very large section of the city is as bad as it was two or three weeks ago.

The Blue Sky Laws and The Securities Commission

WHEN the Michigan Blue Sky Law was enacted and the Securities Commission appointed, it was a step in the right direction. The Commission's work has been conscientious and commendable, and they have, no doubt, kept many fraudulent securities out of Michigan. By complying with the statutes and rules of the Commission permission may be granted to sell securities in this state.

This does not mean, however, that because permission is granted to sell a security that it is necessarily a desirable investment, as the Commission states clearly that while they have passed on a security they do not recommend it. Bad management and many other things might later make a security worthless, even though passed on by the Commission.

Do not be misled by the glad stock salesman when he tells you that the Securities Commission recommends his stock. The chances are they do not. Come to this bank for information.
