HOW MONEY IS TO BE SPENT BY TOWNSHIP

Storm Keeps Down Attendance of Voters at Annual Meeting

A sixty-mile gale, with rain and sleet alternating during most of the day, served to cut down the attendance Monday at the annual township meeting to the smallest number that has attended the session in years. The meeting held Monday afternoon in the library building proved a featureless one with the exception of the brief discussion of the nurse question.

The reading of the annual township report showed that Supervisor Willard Ely and Clerk Smith, as well as other township officers had made a decent effort to keep township expenses down. There was a balance in practically all of the funds, the convenient fund being the only one which showed that it was short. This was due to the large amount of uncollected taxes during the past year or so.

Supervisor Willard Ely told of the needs of the township and the requests were granted without opposition.

A sum of $100 was voted for the Library Library, an increase of $200 last year. The library is greatly in need of this additional amount as stated by Mrs. Frank S. Hartman, and when the vote was taken there was no objection to it.

A contingent fund of $4,500 was asked and granted. Only $100 was asked for the poor fund and the highway improvement fund of $2,000 was voted without objection, as well as $2,500 for road repair work in the township. A sum of $1700 was created to take care of the payment of road lighting that is now being done by the township.

It was also voted to spend $2,000 for the extension of West Main street, (through) to the end of the Charles Bloom subdivision. This will open up a new highway west of the House of Good Shepherd, and is a short distance from the continuation of West Main street directly through to the Northrop road, which borders the William H. Mayne Sanatorium.

Carl Benten moved that a sum of $500 be created to take care of fire calls that inflict damage in the township. In this part it has been found that anyone to put up $50 to take care of a fire call to his property but with the adoption of the motion by Mr. Benten, the township treasury now will assume the responsibility with the village that the individual property holder in the county has carried in the past.

Other officers elected were: Howard Eisenlohr, captain general; Paul Foss, senior warden; Floyd Kehler, junior warden; William W. Paine, president; B. A. Wheeler, treasurer; C. A. BACK FROM TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Jean Buckley has returned from California where she spent the last winter. A greater portion of the time was spent in and around Los Angeles, although many side trips were made to other interesting places on the Pacific coast.

Trips to Old Mexico, Arizona and Texas, and Mrs. Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Burns of Redford, and Mr. and Mrs. Valden Creiser and daughter of Pontiac, who were with her husband during the winter, Mrs. Buckley states that the weather in California was none too warm during the last winter, and that when they left there during the last of February they were having considerable rain. A storm was made in Southern Texas, which she describes as much more delightful than California in a climatic way.

The trip to the coast and back was made by automobile, only a stretch of 25 miles of bad roads being found on the whole trip. That was in Texas. The route they took was not a direct one and as a result they saw much and as the average traveler does not see.

Mr. Pickard was a business visitor Wednesday.

Preacher The First To Enter Yard Contest

To Rev. William Richards goes the distinction of being the first Northville resident to enter the better yard and garden contest.

He signed the blank early and declared that it was going to take someone who got around earlier than he did to take first prize chances away from him.

Entries are being signed up rapidly. Blanks can be secured from Supt. W. H. Gordon, the Record office or from school children.

Better sign quickly. A lot of good cash prizes are going to be announced—prizes that you will be sorry you didn't win when the awards are made next summer.

You are going to be paid for fixing up your own yard. You win if you lose, but you stand a chance to win a good fat cash prize—and there are going to be many good cash prizes offered. Sign today before it's too late.

ASK ONLY $100 FOR POOR FUND FOR NEXT YEAR

Report Shows This to be Most Prosperous Community

A city and township without paupers can just lay claim to this distinction—the only community in Wayne county or this part of Michigan that has no poor.

The facts were revealed through the publication of the annual reports this week.

Township Clerk Elmer Smith at the annual meeting of the tax-payers of the township Monday, voted for only $105 additional to the fund held by the township commissioners for the poor term.

Elmer Balko received 103 votes for highway commissioner and Wm. Dugman, 82 given 101 votes. All other candidates on the Republican ticket received from 91 to 101 votes.

Horatio, P. Abbott of And Arbor, Democratic candidate for regent of the University, has the distinction of having piled up the biggest number of Democratic votes in the whole township. He got seven.

The rest of the Democrats received on the average of one vote each. There was not a single straight Democratic voter in Pleasant.

The 14 candidates for judges received from 11 to 74 votes each in the first precinct and in the second precinct their vote averaged from 101 to 40. The total Republican vote in the two precincts, let us say, was 1,000 to 1,000 for the van der Veenites.

While the sum of about 400 people who have been given some aid by the township there is not a single family that the township took care of during the entire year, but within Northville township.

There is considerable difference between this and the reports of the other townships in Northville township, in which the village of Wayne is located, spent almost $5,000 last year in the care of the poor of that township. Plymouth spent many hundreds of dollars more than Northville last year in the care of its poor.

Township officials point out that there is nothing better than the reports of the poor department to show the actual conditions of a community. It is a generally accepted fact that where there is a big poor fund, conditions are not the best in that place.

The report this year bears out the general reputation that Northville has long had of being a community with no paupers in it.

PYTHIAN LODGE HAS NEW LODGE ROOM FURNITURE

The Organization is Now Nicely Located in New Quarters.

Officials and members of the recently reorganized Knights of Pythian Lodge have started the furnishing of one of the most up-to-date lodges in the village. They have leased the space over the McCullough shoe-store on East Main Street and by the end of another month will have the place as nicely furnished as any lodge could desire.

There is a large lodge room, 33x22 feet, as well as a parlor overlooking Main street. A kitchen and ladies' room are in the rear of the building. Not only is the new furniture being put in, but new light fixtures are being installed and the place completely renovated.

The officers of the lodge are: W. H. Safford, chancellor commander; Rev. Perkins, vice chancellor; Rev. Rev. Perkins, vice chancellor; Rev. Rev. Perkins, master of work; John G. Clark, master of records and seals; Fred Vanatta, master of finance; Charles Hills, master of exchequer; Lucius Blake, William Foster and George Holton, trustees.

Wenley, 69, professor of philosophy and head of the department of philosophy of the University of Michigan, one of the most famous educators of the faculty, passed away at noon last Friday at his home at 1404 Cambridge road, following an illness of heart trouble that attacked him the night previous.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock from St. Andrew's Episcopal church with Rev. Thomas Lewis, rector, and Rev. Thomas Harris, assistant, in charge. Interment was private at Forest Hill cemetery.

Total Number of Ballots Cast One of Smallest in Years

Northville's township voters, the vast majority of them, remained home Monday. Just a few over a hundred ventured out into the biting cold wind to do their duty at the polls, with the result that the vote at the election Monday was one of the smallest in many years.

Entries are being signed up rapidly. Blanks can be secured from Supt. W. H. Gordon, the Record office or from school children.

Gave Riches To Government—Son Dies in Eloise

His fortune gladly given to the government when rebellion threatened its existence—given with the same patriotic spirit which carried his associates to the battlefield, made necessary the burial of "Old Doc Ayers," as everybody in Northville used to know him years ago, by the county.

"Old Doc Ayers" had a boy named Charles Ayers. When Charles was a youngster his father was giving all his money to the government to help his government fight the rebels" as he used to express himself.

Charles didn't go to school much and when he grew up he didn't have an education or a trade by which he could make good wages. He wasn't a strong boy and he made his living by working on lawns and doing odd jobs around town.

As the father grew old, his money gone and the government refusing to give back to him many of the money he had given during the days of its greatest needs, it was necessary for the county to take care of him over at Eloise.

The boy, Charles, grew up and became a man, he died in his 30's.

Charles died according to news that has just been received by Supervisor Willard Ely.

He died in Eloise where his father died—and because the truth is that he gave his life to the welfare of the government in the world, the commissioners of the village of Northville, during the coming summer, probably the only community in Wayne county that will be able to show a reduction in the operating expenses of the village government.

"Let the Old Cat Die"

by A. J. Duran

Remember how we used to swing
And gaily you and I,
Beneath the ancient cottonwood
Would let the old cat die.

Remember how we used to wish
That we could swing so high

We'd touch the moon and, swinging there,
We'd let the old cat die.

Remember how we peeked one day
On Uncle Dick and Nell,

And how she begged till we agreed

That we would never tell

How she was swinging in the swing

And let the old cat die.

Sometimes when trouble comes along,
And things go awry,

I'm sure we could swing again

And let the old cat die.

It seems to bring about content

And all my troubles fly

To think how we used to swing,

And let the old cat die.

But, it is and they did have a war of getting tangled up and ahead of each other when it seems they ought not to, and in this case the e had the preference and was given first place and the final word was done and "vise" remained unalterable with the first and Matthew Gaffney was declared school champion. Two omelets—secret! Moderate, even cooking temperature, serving piping hot. Allow as many tablespoons of milk as you have eggs, and salt to taste. Use a large, heavy skillet and cook in melted butter, but not browned butter. Move the pan about during cooking so that the edges as well as the center will be evenly cooked. Brown the top of the omelet in the oven or directly under a gas flame before turning it out. For flat omelet beat the eggs slightly, add the milk and salt and cook of moderate heat in an even golden brown, top and bottom. Roll in the pan and turn out on a hot platter. For a fluffy omelet, beat yolks and whites separately, add milk to yolks, fold in whites carefully and pour into a pan large enough to permit the mixture to be about one inch thick. When set, crease in the middle, fold and turn out carefully. Serve at once.

NEW DIRECTORY IS ISSUED FOR THIS PLACE BY POLKS

Book is Issued Jointly for Northville and Plymouth

Volume two of R. L. Polk & Company's Plymouth and Northville Directory made its appearance last week, and is being distributed among subscribers. In the first edition, the book includes a directory of the rural routes served by the Northville and Plymouth post offices.

Reflecting considerably that is vital in the community's life and interests, the directory records a number of facts of general interest about Plymouth and Northville, among which the following Northville figures may be noted: Assessed valuation, $3,125,650; bank deposits, $1,562,725.48; annual postal receipts, $17,000; public school enrollment, 653; and miles of streets, 10.

A brief review of the village, setting forth its outstanding features, becomes community publicity by virtue of the distribution of the book in units of the free Directory Library chain maintained throughout the United States and Canada by the Association of North American Directory publishers, of which

R. L. Polk & Company is a member. The publishers advise that copies of the new edition are now going forward to replace the old issue, thereby serving to keep the identity of Northville and Plymouth in full view of the information-seeking public.

One of the largest branches of the Directory Library system is maintained at the home office of R. L. Polk & Company in Detroit. Residents of Northville and Plymouth are cordially invited to make use of this library for reference purposes.

One of the most interesting departments in the directory is the Classified Business section showing not only all sources of supply and sales, projects in Northville and Plymouth, but reflecting the growing diversity of business and professional activities in these two communities. This feature covers nearly 100 pages extending from "Advertisers" and "Auditors" to "Wreaths-Floral."

The new directory lists 52 Smiths in Plymouth and 19 in Northville. The first personal name entered in the Northville section of the directory is Arthur W. Ackerman, 214 Orchard Drive, the last Israel Zimmerman at 146 North Center street. The first name in the Plymouth section is John W. Abbott at 187 Adams street; the last, Joseph Zwiernikowski, R. F. D. 1.

An important feature of the Plymouth and Northville Directory, and one not included in most directories, is the telephone number listing opposite the name in the body of the book.

Much of the dirt the housekeeper tries to contend with is tracked in. A general path to open door of the house, mats and scrapers outside the doors and special places just inside the doors for muddy rubbers and boots will make a big difference in the amount of cleaning to be done.

The temperature of the home refrigerator, in the milk compartment should be kept at or below 45 degrees F. if possible. Refrigeration is used to retard the development of bacteria in milk, and above this temperature, bacterial growth is very rapid causing changes to take place in the milk that may render it unfit for food.

The life of the Hollywood film "Gathering Girl" is just one short picture after another, unless she happens upon a part in which her physique may be displayed in a comedy instead of a two-reel comedy.

Over fifty shapely beauties there were delighted fed, clothed and enabled to pay apartment-rent and instalments on the radio, by the filming of First National's "Naughty Baby." The peppy comedy-drama co-starring Alice White and Jack Mullally, is to be on the bill at the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, April 6th.

In "Naughty Baby," along with representatives and colorful glimpses of New York City life, is a long and interesting beach sequence. Treve the fifty-odd beautiful extras figure. A delectable variety of figures, in fact.

Thelma Todd, Doris Dawson, Frances Hamilton, Natalie Joyce and other notable film beauties add their charm to the scene and figure prominently in other parts of the picture, which Mervyn LeRoy directed. An equally notable group of men make up the large supporting cast.

An excellent cast has been given the picture and the interest never lets down.

Harry Brand, ace of Hollywood comedy constructionists, and Ed Kaufman are responsible for the screen version of this Ade story.

Among those in the cast, who in addition to the principals, score with fine work are Lucien Littlefield, Rolfe Sedan and Albert Hart.

Camilla Horn first saw the light of day in Franklin-on-Main in 1908. Neither of her parents had ever appeared on the stage or screen, though her father started out in life as a musician. When she was very young, Camilla went to Switzerland to school. At the age of fifteen she began the manufacture of pajamas. This business flourished for a while, but with the defection of the mark Camilla was forced to give up her trade.

Always fond of dancing, Miss Horn decided to try her fortune at this new hobby and subsequently hired an instructor and a piano and left the rest to fate. Soon she obtained a position in a dance-hall and continued happily at this new work until spotted one evening by an executive from the UFA Studio who was asked if she would like to come to the studio the next day for a screen test. The test was successful.

Hoosier men do not agree as to whether the horse should be watered before, during or after feeding—so take your choice. It is important however that he be watered at regular periods, as frequent changing from one plan to another will affect the animal's appetite. A horse needs from 10 to 12 gallons of pure water daily.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND EVENT

Item Romulus, South Lyon, Newburg, Wayne, together with the Northville Epworth League, all met in the church house Tuesday evening, April 2nd, to the number of 130. A pot-luck supper was provided by the young people with the Northville League providing the cream and coffee.

Managed the recreation. The chairman of the evening was the fine address by Rev. Charles Stephan of Detroit, who spoke on "Living to Purpose" to the young Leaguers which all enjoyed.

Outside of the various churches, which speaks well for the churches they represent.

At this session the markets are all of the so-called "protective foods". They are the fresh fruits and vegetables, eggs, dairy products—all good sources of minerals and vitamins, fulfilling growth and health, and preventing the diseases that come from too limited diet.

Most people who have nothing to do make the mistake of doing it.

You don't have to nurse a grouch very carefully to make it grow.

STYLE SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

Miss Pauline Post, style expert from a Detroit store, conducted a style show in the high school auditorium last Tuesday. Miss Post and her assistant, Miss Josephine Dibb's brought with them a trunk of gowns with hats and accessories to complete each costume. Using high school girls as her models, she illustrated the correct use of color, line, etc., in relation to the girl's coloring—blue and pink, sobriety.

Her first example was one illustrating how the four distinct types of coloring—blonde, brunette, auburn hair and medium—may dress to their advantage. The blonde wore royal blue trimmed in white; the brunet red, the auburn, yellow-green, and the medium type a dusty rose.

Her next lecture was on how a tall thin girl can offset her height by using a large pronounced polka dot design in dress materials and how a short girl of large proportions may make her size less obvious by using a small indistinct design.

Then Miss Post introduced the note of her whole lecture. That we should wear "only" clothing which is becoming, becoming also that which is suitable. She used two contrasting types to illustrate her points. They were both presumably girls going to school. The one was the extreme "slapper" type, fluffy crepe dress, peanut-scoop hat, a great deal of superfluous jewelry, an elaborate satin coat trimmed in fox fur. The other wore a dark blue skirt and short jacket with a waist of white and blue. A full length coat of light navy blue kasha, self-trimmed except for a row of buttons and a plain navy blue felt hat completed the costume.

Two girls then illustrated correctly frocks for school girls. One of muted, powdered taffeta at the waist of blue-green crepe.

Several younger girls wore simple jackets, suits suitable for school. All were accompanied by the berets, which are so popular for sports wear this season.

Miss Post then gave a short talk on boys' clothes, illustrating color contrasts, etc., with ties, sweaters and coats. Her parting bit of advice was to avoid matching their hats and ties—flaming red or blue or green.

The last item on Miss Post's program was the display of a complete wardrobe for a school girl. It included a white tennis frock with a red handkerchief and a white beret, a red jacket ensemble, a blue-green afternoon frock, an ensemble for the streets—an crepe dress and full-length kasha coat of navy blue and navy blue hat, a blue and white georgette frock suitable for informal dances, and a formal dinner dress jacket of a deeper green.

The girls who took part in the show as models were Leona Morris, Ernestine Wolfe, Catherine Sedan, Arline Richardson, Dorothy Kukan, Gertrude Dex, Ruth Melow, Anne Richards, Marion Hamilton, Jane Lawrence, Madeline Cole, Mary Jordan, May Jane, Junod, Madeline Hasted, Helen Hatchins, Lois Brockman, Marie Humphries.

Took Soda 20 Years
For Gas Stops Now

For 20 years I took soda for indigestion and constipation. One hot day I decided to stop it and never again. J. H. Hardy.

After taking a few days off, and coming in ten minutes, I was once again up and ready to go. However, I never again had a gas attack. I am now ten years old and have not had a gas attack since. Now just try it, you'll see how good it is. Your truly, J. H. Hardy.

Happy lady tells how just six bottles brought new and glorious health.

Mrs. MARY PEREZ

What a joyous privilege it is to read and hear the many endorsements of Konjola the new and different compound that has become the most talked-of medicine in America. Konjola with its 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs, contain no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs nor heart-depressing chemicals yet it cleanses and soothes and paves the way for the return of health.

Consider for a minute the fine experience that Mrs. Mary Perez 200 Chemin street, Detroit, had with this master medicine:

"I was run down and worn out by years of indigestion and kidney trouble. My back ached and every duty was drudgery. No food agreed with me. I tried simply everything recommended, but nothing touched the spot until I put Konjola to the test. At once I started to get better, and day by day my digestion improved. In six weeks I was perfectly well again, feeling better than in years. I am sleeping like a child and eating anything I like. Konjola as a medicine is in a class by itself."

Konjola is sold in Northville at Northville Drug Company and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

OLD HAUVER HOME LOCATED NEXT TO NEW PRESIDENTS

Northville Couple Greatly Interested in the Purchase

When Mr. and Mrs. A. Hauser and son go back home to Maryland on their summer vacation, they will find President Hoover there next door neighbor. The fifteen hundred acres of land purchased recently by Lawrence Richey, the president's secretary, was owned until a year ago by Mr. Hauser's brother. The tract joins the homestead and several hundred acres owned by Mr. Hauser, Sr. It has always been a pleasure to acknowledge Herbert Hoover as a distance, but now since he will spend his summer weeks in the region, for generations occupied by the Hausers, it makes it doubly delightful and interesting. Anyone who has motored through Frederick, the home of Barbara Fritchie, and wound in and out among the sparkling trout streams of the Cumberland foothills, on a trip to Gettysburg will not question the President's judgment in selecting this attractive and peaceful spot.

The following pertaining to the new Hoover summer home was written by Arthur Humphries:

ten by a Washington newspaper correspondent.

Catoctin, Md., where the chief of President Hoover's two week-end fishing camps is to be located, is the wettest spot in the state. This statement, however, is to be taken in the old and literal sense. Lying on the eastern slope of the gemes, the Catoctin neighborhood gets more than its fair share of the moisture-laden winds blowing in off the Atlantic.

The rainfall precipitated there is about 16 inches in excess of the average for the rest of the state. Baltimore often is referred to as the "wettest" spot in Maryland, if not the entire Atlantic seaboard, but this is in the new figurative sense. Catoctin has a bracing climate in spite of its wetness, but Baltimore depends on wetness for its bracing.

As a mining engineer, Mr. Hoover should find Catoctin interesting. It used to be mined there in pre-revolutionary days, but never since. During the revolution the place was a center for manufacture of cannon and cannon balls. Ruins of the old foundries still are to be seen. The village itself is as quaint and unspoiled as any in the East, despite the fact that it lies on one of the main roads between Washington, Gettysburg and the North. The house stretching along the road is one-story, built of stone and whitewashed or painted white. The old Manor House, built by Thomas Johnson, first governor of the state, is visible from the highway. It was built in 1781. The village houses, presumably are older.

The Manor House was not included in the 1500 acres purchased by Lawrence Richey, secretary and faithful servant of the President. He was thinking primarily of the fishing which is said to be good. Hunting Creek, which runs for four miles through the estate, was pronounced by Henry O'Malley, commissioner of fisheries, to comprise the best trout waters in the East.

Braddock passed by Catoctin on his way to Fort Duquesne. Twelve miles away in Frederick, Barbara Fritchie later pawed out another expeditionary force headed in about the same direction. One would think that in a neighborhood so replete with historical values, the addition of a little more history would have small effect on real estate prices.

But in the morning after the announcement of President Hoover's intention to follow in the footsteps of Braddock and Jackson, Richey woke up to find that history had done his investment a good turn. Offers for adjoining estates had been increased by a number of tens of thousands of dollars.

Richey's good fortune undoubtedly was unpremeditated. The officer of the Virginia Conservation Commission to build Mr. Hoover's fishing lodge on the Rapidan River in Shenandoah National Park on the other hand probably was calculating in a high degree. Virginia is beginning to appreciate the cash value of history. As soon as it became evident Mr. Hoover would prefer the Richey log cabin of Catoctin to the more effete delights of the Summer White House at McLean, Va., recently ordained by Calvin Coolidge, the forward-looking men of Richmond saw the necessity of taking steps. It seemed essential that Mr. Hoover should make some of his history south of the Potomac. The result was the fishing lodge on the Rapidan.

Ongersville, the nearest point to the site of the lodge, is 100 miles from Washington by railroads. Fourteen miles from there is the site between Double Top Mountain and German Ridge. The President probably will use the Virginia lodge for extended weekend trips, the Maryland lodge for those occasions when less time is available.

The big story of the summer, so far as Virginia is concerned, will be when Hoover pays his respects to the house of Thomas Jefferson, at Charlottesville, 40 miles farther south. By the time the entourage has climbed to the top of the mountain where Jefferson put his residence, they will be ready to agree there have not been, but two engineer-Presidents, and the rank will be heralded to the country in well-timed phrases furnished by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

The popularity of Mr. Hoover's tastes, which led him to veto the proposed summer White House at Mt. Weather, will save the tax-payers $48,000. President Coolidge's suggestion to the Congress had authorized a expenditure of that amount for remodeling the buildings there. Mr. Hoover's lack of taste for the once pleasures of cruising the Potomac and Chesapeake Bay will save the much larger expense of keeping up the yacht.

To avoid losses of chicks from gales, keep them away from turkeys. The turkeys may show no signs of the disease, but they can pass it on to chick with fatal results to the latter. Gapes is caused by a parasitic worm that gets into the chick's windpipe and the male and female worms have the curious habit of attaching themselves so firmly to each other that at first sight they look like a single worm with two heads and two necks. It is pretty difficult to extract the worms and it is better to put your faith in prevention. Put the chicks as soon as hatched on clean ground and keep them away from turkeys or around occupied by turkeys. Adult chickens seem to be immune from gapes.

Most people who have nothing to do make the mistake of doing it.

ROBBED OF $100 IN

John Lathrup Forced to

Bandit

A couple of young, well-dressed holdups men robbed John Lathrup, 74 years old, millionaire owner of Detroit and Wayne County real estate, of $100 late Tuesday, but they overstoled another $100, and Mr. Lathrup, even after his harrowing experience, is chuckling about the occasion.

Mr. Lathrup, who owns the Meadowbrook Inn at the South Lyon and Townline roads during the summer, Tuesday noon a man called him on telephone and made an appointment for an inspection.

At 4 p.m. the man accompanied by another man and a woman, about 25 drove up to the Lathrup home just west of Farmington. In his own car Mr. Lathrup went with them to the inn. He took them through the place which they inspected closely.

They walked into a small basement room below the dance hall, and both of the men suddenly pulled pistols.

"Throw up your hands," one of them said. The girl stood at the door holding a pistol also, Mr. Lathrup said.

"I put my hands up, as if I were going to box," Mr. Lathrup said.

One of the men swung at me with a blackjack but I caught one blow on my arm and then obeyed their orders.

They took three $20 bills from my vest pocket and a pocketbook from an inside pocket of my coat.

"They told me to lie on the floor for hours."

As soon as I heard them go out of the room I rolled over in time to see them drive away toward Novi.

I followed them as fast as I could but lost them when they swam back toward the south.

The two then could have had just twice what they got if they had looked in the pocketbook.

my hip pocket. I had $400 in it. The bandits were traced to the Eight Mile road and lost; there.

Mr. Lathrup is the owner of Louise Lathrup, real estate operator, and owns a number of houses in Detroit and 2,000 acres near Farmington.
