NORTHVILLE WINS PRAISE FOR ACTION

Given Permanent Place in Aviation World
By Marker

Northville has won a permanent place on the aerial navigation map of the United States through its efforts in the promotion of aviation, the establishment of an airport and the proper marking of the town so that it can be plainly seen by aviators who are flying over this part of the state.

This information came about as the result of a letter written some weeks ago by Postmistress Bertha Neil to the post office department in Washington. Mrs. Neil's response to an inquiry from the department as to what Northville had done to assist in proper identification of the community friend at Washington advised the postal officials that in addition to the name of Northville being printed in big letters on top of the Graham plant formerly occupied by airmail aircraft company, that the Standard Oil company had "Northville" painted in big letters on top of its buildings here, and that the business men of the community maintained an excellent airport.

The main sign on top of the Graham building is some 250 feet long and the letters are 12 feet high, enabling aviators to see it from a great distance in the sky.

Soon after this information had been sent to Washington, a letter was received by the Postmistress from the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, Inc. of New York City, in which the spirit of Northville was highly lauded for what it is doing for aviation. The letter states:

"It is gratifying to know that our community is identified for purposes of aerial navigation. The assistance which you have given this project is appreciated and I thank you for your co-operation."

Northville is recorded as identified. This record is being made available to the post office department, the Department of Commerce and the aeronautical industry at large.

It is hoped the post marks will be maintained as a permanent contribution to aeronautics and that you will inform the Fund of other markers as placed.

MRS. MARY E. LOUD LIVED 92 YEARS IN WATERFORD

Death Claims One Who Was A Friend to Everyone

Mary Elizabeth Rogers, was born June 14, 1836, in Plymouth township, the oldest daughter of Amos and Maria Rogers, and departed from this life after a very brief illness at her home in Waterford, having attained the age of 92 years, 9 months and 13 days. She received her education in the Waterford and Northville schools, later teaching in Northville.

At the age of 16 years she married W. B. C. Ames. To this union one son was born, Waldo B. Ames of Grass Lake, Michigan. In a short time she was left a widow, her husband having passed away two years later.

On the 27th day of September, 1857, she was united in marriage, to James Myron Loud. To this union two daughters were born, Jennie and Carrie, who preceded her to the higher life many years ago. After 23 years of happy married life, Mr. Loud passed away July 22, 1880, and since that time she has lived alone.

She leaves to mourn their loss one son, Waldo B. Ames of Grass Lake; one granddaughter, Mrs. C. C. Hammond of Seattle, Washington; two grandsons, Earl and Glenn King; one granddaughter, Mrs. Lloyd Brown and three great grandchildren of Grass Lake; one niece, Mrs. Edna Hughes; two great nieces, Mrs. Charles Waterman and Mrs. Frank Mavor; two great great nieces, Mrs. Camilla Jaskys and Kathryn Waterman, and one great great nephew, Donald Waterman; four great great great nieces and nephews and a host of other relatives and friends.

Mr. Loud spent practically all her life in Waterford with the exception of one year in Northville.

She was a devoted mother and grandmother, never losing interest in her home and family. It was her interest in her friends that kept her young. She was never too busy to sit down and visit with them. She had a wonderful memory, and it was very interesting to listen to her tell things that happened many, many years ago.

If one were in doubt as to a date or a record of any kind, it was Mrs. Loud they came to. One could not but admire her independence and ambition. She was always capable of taking care of herself at all times and in all places wherever she chanced to be. She attributed her long life and good health to walking and plain foods. It was nothing for her to walk to Northville or Plymouth and back when she was past 85 years, and carry home a basket of groceries. Her last years she spent calling on her neighbors and friends as she did so enjoy her visits with them.

CHINA'S LINDBERGH

CITY PARK IS CLEARED OF ALL REFUSE

Much Done to Fix Up The Appearance of Property

It has been completed, finished, and the job is a mighty good one.

The beautiful new park along the village park on Wing street now looks just as it should, with all the underbrush and unsightly ground growth cleared.

The old wooden fence has been taken away. The rotten fence posts and living cut part way over the sidewalk have been removed, the posts being trimmed up and some of the old ones taken out.

The village commission hired Martin Schrader to do the work, and he did it just as it should be done, and as it is now.

Not only did he clean up the park, but he cleared out the trash pile that existed there, and the refuse that coated the beautiful rose beds along the west side of the park.

It is rumored that the employees are contemplating the removal of the big ash and refuse pile that graces the northwest corner of the park.

In addition to the excellent work that has been done in and about the village park, Schrader has undertaken the rock garden in Fairbank Springs Park. He is being assisted in this work by Mrs. Thomas Carrington, who has one of the most attractive rock gardens in Northville. She has given considerable of her time in helping Mr. Schrader arrange the garden and assisting him in just how it should be finished.

The idea of a rock garden in the Springs park was advanced by Mrs. Flora Larkins who will donate many of the plants needed for the plan. It is proposed by the three who are working together, to have it just what it should be, put in flowers and plants that will not need attention from year to year.

Fairbank Springs park is now one of the most beautiful spots around Northville. Plants in that part of the city have been surprised at the number of machines that stop to gaze down to see the occupants can see much of its beauty.

Another proposition was submitted which involved the purchase of a new truck, the old one being turned in towards the payment of a new one. It is not the purpose of the department or the city committee to have the second truck equal in capacity to the big fire fighter, but it is generally believed that as long as an agreement has been reached between the village and the township which adds considerably to the territory covered by the fire department, that a better fire truck than the second machine now in use should be secured.

The arrangement provides that in case the department is called into the country the second truck shall be sent, leaving the big truck in Northville to fight any fire that might break out here meanwhile.

Northville has had one of the best fire fighting departments in this part of the state and many disastrous fires have been stopped before much damage has been done.

At a meeting of the village commission Monday night the matter was thoroughly discussed, but no definite action taken, although it was the general consensus of opinion that the reserve truck should be a much better one than the village now possesses.

EQUIPMENT OF FIRE DEPT. TO BE IMPROVED

City Officials Discuss Plans to Better the Department

At a preliminary meeting of the fire committee of the village commission with Chief Fred Hicks and Secretary Ley German of the department Monday night there was considerable discussion as to the advisability of making the second fire truck, a product of the Ford Company into a larger fire fighting apparatus and adding considerable equipment to it.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The annual meeting of the club was held on Friday, April 5th, and the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. D. B. Bunn

Vice President—Mrs. Bruno Frey

Secretary—Mrs. W. H. Gordon

Treasurer—Mrs. M. B. Brock

Directors—Mrs. E. H. Lapham

Mrs. R. J. Gibson, Mrs. J. W. Christensen, Mrs. G. R. Horton, Mrs. Bruce Douglass

Reports of the officers and committee chairman gave evidence that the organization was in a flourishing condition. Mrs. E. H. Lapham, retiring president, spoke of her pleasure in the progress of the club, and mentioned some changes which might work for still greater advancement.

Preceding this meeting, Mrs. J. M. Cleaver gave a very able paper on "Stabilization of Employment," which she had been prevented by illness from reading on the day appointed.

The last meeting of the club year was held on Thursday, April 11th when the ladies were entertained by Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips. Further notice of this will be given next week.

The scaffolding is being erected to the tower of the First Methodist church so that workmen can repair the damage done to the clock during the recent winter. Ice and wind broke one glass and damaged the face of the clock to such an extent that the village found it necessary to make repairs at once.

When the season for the furnace is over, it is a good plan to clean out the fireplace and ash pit, take down and clean the smoke-pipe and store where it will not rust, and give the outside of the furnace a coat of paint that comes for the purpose. If possible, have the flues of the chimney cleaned at this time.

This work should be done before any of the special spring house cleaning is attempted, since more or less dust and ashes will be blown through the house.

A snuff company has been ordered to discontinue price fixing and there is some sentiment for having the Interstate Commerce Commission regulate the stage coach fare.

She always wore a smile, and could always see some good in everybody. One would only have to know her to love her. To the last her memory and mental faculties were remarkably clear and keen.

The funeral services were held from her late home, Wednesday, April 3rd, at 2:00 o'clock. Dr. F. A. Landrum officiating. Interment in Waterford cemetery.

WILL PROVIDE TREES TO ALL EXCHANGITES

Scott Lovewell Makes Offer for Arbor Day Planting

So that every member of the Exchange club will surely have one or more trees to plant on Arbor Day, Scott Lovewell at the meeting Wednesday offered to provide each member with a larch and maple tree.

Many members of the club have already ordered trees, but several at the week's meeting of the club stated that they would be pleased simply to let in those who through public spirit and a love of the beauties of nature desire to assist in making the contest a success. They will be satisfied in giving the contest success. There will be a general committee to accept the offer of Mr. Lovewell.

I know it is rather difficult sometimes to get just what you want to plant but I am in a position to provide the young trees and I will be glad to get them for any member of the club," stated Mr. Lovewell.

The decision of the Exchange club to plant trees on Arbor Day came from a suggestion made one year ago by the late F. S. Neal, an active member of the organization.

Neal suggested that the club get the club to carry out the plan last year. It fell through and a few weeks ago President Sherill Ampler brought the matter to the attention of the club and thought that it would be an excellent thing to honor the memory of Mr. Neal in this way.

The club voted unanimously in favor of the proposal and this has been followed up by the offer of Mr. Lovewell to provide the trees.

This is a condition the yard and garden contest committee hopes to end. At a meeting of the general committee to be held during the end of the present week there will be discussed a plan to offer a special prize for the vacant lot that shows the greatest improvement during the present summer.

An effort is going to be made to set every vacant lot owner into the contest, and either induce him to plant the young trees and I will be glad to get them for any member of the club," stated Mr. Lovewell.

WV EDUCATION

The other day it was the editor's privilege to attend a meeting of the Kiwanis club at Mt. Clemens. Mr. William H. Gollon of the Northville schools had been invited to speak before the local organization on the question of good will among all races. At one point in the meeting, Jack, America's most famous citizen, the Honorable Jack Dempsey from the Commonwealth of California, Jack and the editor sat directly across the table from each other and when thrown into such close proximity to the very greatest of all the great, great, we were somewhat taken off our balance. Jack broke the silence and then said, "Of course, when the honor of our Kingdom comes to town it is right and proper that he should make a speech—and make a speech—Jack did. It wasn't long and it wasn't so awfully fluent as speeches go. In fact it lasted barely a minute. Jack said he was glad to be "hesh" and that he hoped to come back some day for a long vacation, something like two months or thereabouts and then we'll all get better acquainted," he said. Now that was a very, very good speech. There is no question about Jack doing well, quite well indeed. He tried to make himself agreeable while mingling with the horfolks and he got away with it nicely. Of course it's rather a hard thing for one occupying such an eminent place in the affairs of this world to step down from the top of his pile of millions to say hello to Jim, Jack and Harry of the Kiwanis or Rotary world.

Then Mr. Gollon made his talk. While he talked we did a lot of listening. His remarks gave a pretty general knowledge of history of economics and of world current events. In fact what we had to say reflected the thoughts of one who had spent much time in securing a pretty thorough education in each one of the above mentioned sciences as the University of Michigan and Columbia.

We caught up to Jack and his education training for the time he had spent in the school room preparing himself for a place in the affairs of men and things. We noted at his finely tailored suit and reflected a bit about the last week's newspapers tell us he has tucked away in the banks of California and New York.

Then we looked at our school superintendent. A graduate of the State Normal at Ypsilanti, of the University of Michigan and of Columbia and we thought about the words he had uttered and then what the schoolmaster was talking about. We thought of the incomes of the two men, of the ways they had taken to win for themselves a livelihood and of the fast difference in the earnings of their different professions.

We rode over to Mt. Clemens and back in the school superintendent's automobile. It wheezed along pretty good. We had to stop twice coming over for water and only once coming home. We pointed out to the engine just once on the trip. We fixed one of the doors, a couple of times to keep it from dropping off and when we put the hood back after pouring oil into the engine, we had to use a hammer to get it back where it belonged. Fortunately we had no blow-outs and lost no wheels and when the car landed safely back in Northville a careful check showed all still with us.

It is rather difficult to tell you why but do, though, consider the association with that automobile. We found we needed gasoline & motor oil so about Jack and all of his high-powered automobile members of the motor industry more than the auto dealers of Detroit.

The growth made quick of Jack. But why though? Well, it's to see the trade bigger of them? Anyways can you tell us about it? And a material this? I don't know what we have, though, in gold—why we need much more money on education when a big bulk of our capital is paper and not in gold? In truth, of good American dollars, and no, let me strike that off, we're making higher gold—true, gold? If you can, we would like to have you.

SAFETY.

Fred K. Smith in Loma County, N.Y., is constantly preaching safety and street crossings. He is one of the few editors who has taken the time to look into the subject and get a few facts about the frightening loss of human life at grade crossings.

Practically every grade crossing accident can be avoided in the use of a little caution.

In this issue of a paper in 1918 of the power of short being used by the state highway department and of the legislature to reduce the traffic loss of life due to carelessness in crossing railroads. He says:

"It quickly becomes clear that description of every grade crossing in the state by photographs, will be in the hands of the highway department. From this detailed description the department and the roadsides will be able to see all dangerous spots and have them eliminated."

Whenever investigation of a grade crossing reveals a dangerous situation, signal lights will be installed. The railroads, which in recent years have reduced the losses on lives on their line to a minimum, are anxious to protect the lives of travelers crossing their tracks.

The time is not far distant when or if the criminally reckless will meet with accidents at grade crossings. Both the railroads and the state highway departments should be praised for the work they are undertaking.

NO ACCOUNTS.

The supervisor is one who is used to desirous a man who does nothing for himself or his family. He is the type that generally permits his wife to take in washings while he dotes about the street corners gossiping about other people's business. He is the sort of man that the harpooner against everybody and everything. We heard one of these no-accounts knocking the yard and garden contest the other day. Can you conceive of the miserable mentality of one of these human leeches who is so opposed to everything in the world that he is against the beautiful of the place in which he lives? Yes, it takes all kinds of people to make up the world but without the most useless kind is the fellow who can see no good in anything or anybody. He is a burden to himself, his family and the community. But fortunately for the old world it was made with a strong back for the very purpose of carrying burdens of this nature. Well, have them as long as the earth endures and the best way to get along with them is to regard them as merely walking mummies that have the power of speech but not thought.

GOOD WORK.

Among the many duties of the supervisor is the direct administration of the poor fund. He passes upon all claims made for assistance and he is solely responsible for the ways the fund is expended. It is a very easy matter to spend a whole lot of just a little all depending upon the alertness of the supervisor. At the annual township meeting a week or so ago, Supervisor Willard Ely asked that only $100 be added to the poor fund for the coming year. His request shows two things, that he has been exceedingly careful of the way he has expended this money and that Northville township has fewer poor than any of the other townships in the county. Supervisor Ely has seen to it that every needy case has been taken care of and that no one has suffered from the lack of fuel or food. He has done a mighty good job.

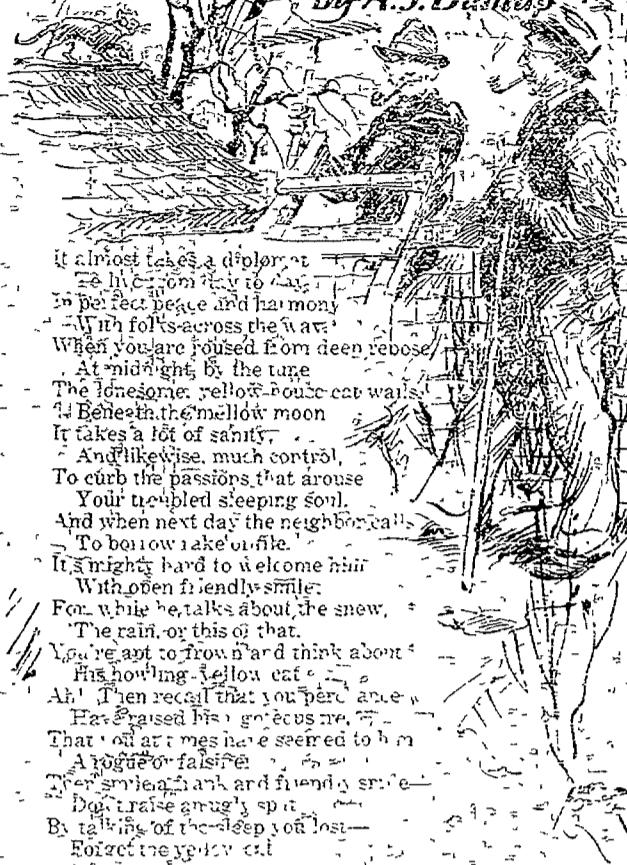

OUGH AGAIN!

Herbert S. Case, a few years ago on the staff of the Muncie (Ind.) News recently came to bat with a flowery paragraph on the record being made of Arthur D. Wood, Commissioner of Pensions and Paroles for this great Commonwealth. We are not inviting at present an editorial controversy with Mr. Case on the subject, nor are we ready to severely criticize Mr. Wood, but we would remind Mr. Case that his article is somewhat misplaced. Perhaps Mr. Wood is doing as well as he can; briefly, Mr. Wood would be able to do much better if he would confine to a plan for some assistance on his job.

As long as he continues alone on his job, Mr. Wood is, we believe, the most expensive public servant in Michigan. And in this belief, may we add, we are joined by some of the best informed newspapermen and officials in the state of Michigan. We hope, therefore, that Mr. Wood will soon ask for assistance before it becomes necessary to wish it to him for his and the state's own good—Geo. Averill in Birmingham Eccentric.

The Yellow Cat

by A. J. Dunlap

It almost takes a diploma
To live on it to be perfect peace and harmony
With folk across the water.
When you are housed from deep repose
At midnights by the tugs
The homesome yellow cat cuts wails
Beneath the yellow moon
It takes a lot of sanity.
And likewise, much control,
To curb the passions that arose
Your troubled sleeping soul
And when next day the neighbor calls
To borrow a lake or rifle
It's mighty hard to welcome him
With open friendly smile:
For while he talks about the snow,
The rain, or this or that,
You're apt to frown and think about
His howling yellow cat.
Ah! Then recall that you were once
Hausse his grievances,
That of all times never seemed to him
A rogue or false
A sprightly and friendly smile
Don't raise angry spa
By talking of the sleep you lost
Forget the yellow cat.

OFF TO A GOOD START.

Village officials in preparing the budget for the ensuing year have apparently exercised exceptional care in outlining the work they hope to accomplish during the next twelve months. There is a certain amount of expense that must be provided for like the sinking funds and the payment of routine bills. This is in the "extras" where the costs mount up and it is in the "extras" where Mayor Tolman and members of the commission have done their trimming. As a result of the way they have handled city affairs, there will be no large expenditures during the coming year. They finished up last year without the necessity of borrowing money.

With a reduced budget for the ensuing year, which necessarily means a smaller village tax, it is the duty of village officials to conduct affairs as carefully during the coming year as they have in the past and in so doing they will continue to merit the good will of the entire community.

IT MAKES YOU LAUGH.

Did you ever set out a lot of young seedlings that you sent away for and then with considerable pleasure watch them grow? Did you ever notice that in the lot there were one or two that did especially well? They grow much faster than some of the others and had become real promising young vines. Then you had picked out a place here and there where you were going to transplant the fastest growing ones of the lot. Did you ever pick up your spade and go down to the place where these vines were doing so nicely for the purpose of putting them in the new location? I had selected? And then did you ever find that some sneak that had been there and pulled the vines up by the roots and made away with them? If I make you laugh, doesn't it?

GOOD-BYE FIRE CRACKERS.

After a battle of some six years the legislature has at last put the finishing touches to the sale of fire crackers and other fireworks in the state. The governor has signed the bill making it illegal to sell or use fireworks in the state. Agitation for the doing away with the use of fireworks started a number of years ago when every Fourth of July celebration ended in the death or injury to many people. There are vast numbers who have lost their eyesight or parts of their hands due to the use of fireworks. It was this condition which led to the legislation which puts to the end the sale of fireworks in the state.

AND IT WASN'T MOVING DAY, EITHER

In KENYON, in the old days we had for the chief justice of our highest court a gallant old Confederate cavalryman. This general at last turned in the law but otherwise served himself. He lived in the middle between Franklin, the capital, and the little town where he had been born. Until he was nearly seventy years old he had been a river boatman on the Ohio River and one of his best and that's why he rose with Morgan's Raiders.

After his retirement from the ranch, he decided to see something of the world. He got on the train and came to New York. Arriving late at night he lodged at the old Fifth Avenue hotel. Arising early the next morning he set out for a walk in the greater city, going south on Broadway. After a while he came to Canal Street, then, as now, one of the busiest cross-town arteries. Knowing the worst, river street in lower Manhattan. Here, for a space, the old judge stood on the edge of the curving watching the quadruped lines of vehicular traffic that passed him east and west. As far as he could see in either direction there was no end to the interlacing tangles of loaded trucks and wagons and cars and delivery cars.

At length he made his way to where a coachman stood in the middle of the cross-tie directing traffic.

"Excuse me, son," inquired the visitor in his rich Southern accent, "but if you'll excuse me, I'm a policeman, that's what you want?"

"So I judged from your costume and department," said the genuine Kentuckian.

"Anything I can do for you?" inquired the officer, stirred to special enthusiasm by the courteous manner of the stranger.

"No, son, I reckon not," said the judge gravely, "but if it's not too much trouble, I would like to ask you a question."

"Go ahead with the question."

"Well, sir," professed the judge, "you boys suddenly have got a lovely city here. I'll be darn sure. But did you ever hear of a man perfectly behind with your hauling, somehow?"

INSURANCE IS STILL AVAILABLE TO WAR VETERANS

Commander Abe Barber of Legion Post Tells
What To Do

"Many veterans of the World war in this community do not know they may still obtain U.S. government insurance," Al Barber, Post commander, said today in calling attention to a recent amendment to the World War Veterans' act passed at the request of the American Legion. "U.S. Government Insurance is for veterans who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the period of the World War, April 6, 1917, to July 2, 1921, and who appeced for were eligible to apply for Term or 'Converted' Insurance," he said. "They now are in good health." The maximum or the U.S. Government Insurance allowed to a veteran is $10,000 and the minimum is $1,000. It may be had only in multiples of $500.

In many instances a veteran carried a policy for a time and then surrendered it for the cash surrender value. The amount of insurance that may be taken now is reduced by the amount of insurance so surrendered.

The following are the steps that a veteran should follow in applying for the government insurance:

"He must supply satisfactory evidence to the U.S. Veterans Bureau that he is in good health. This is not a departure from the requirement of the veteran who obtains a policy from any reliable life insurance company."

"The veteran must fill out the printed application for the plan and amount of insurance desired. These application forms are similar to those used in obtaining policies from any established company."

"The veteran must submit sufficient information to cover at least the first monthly premium on the amount and the plan of insurance applied for. Premiums are payable monthly on the first day of each month, but may be paid quarterly, semi-annually, or annually, at a saying."

"The application forms to the U.S. Government Insurance and full information may be obtained from a regional office of the United States Veterans Bureau, from the central offices of the U.S. Veterans Bureau, Washington, D.C., and in many cases from the service officer of a Legion post."

The following seven plans of policies are issued by the Government: Ordinary life policy, twenty-payment life policy, twenty-year endowment policy, thirty-year endowment policy, endowment at the age of 65 policy, and five year convertible term policy.

On the splendid lump sum connection with carrying U.S. Government Life Insurance policies, is that there are no restrictions. The insured may designate any person or corporation or legal entity as beneficiary under his policy, either individually or as trustee."

"U.S. Government" Insurance policies are free from the usual life insurance restrictions as to residence, modes of transportation, occupation, military or naval service.

The veteran who has already taken care of his government insurance is requested to pass the information along to his buddy in order that all may share in the general government provision for veterans.

Preventing diseases and parasites among livestock is the business of the farmer when these troubles are present, however it is usually best to call a good veterinarian, and to do it early.

Highway Mess Not Yet
Straightened Out
By Officials

New condemnation proceedings must be started before the state can use the land at Grand River and Seven Mile road for road widening purposes. A decision handed down by the supreme court states that the state highway commissioner acted illegally when he condemned the property without first offering a reasonable price for it.

The question of whether the state has the power to condemn property within the corporate limits of a city also became an important point in the case, the court finding that where the proposed widening concerns trunk highway, condemnation by the state within a city is possible. Jurists however did not agree definitely to that point in the Allen suit. This was an important judgment, persistently argued through both the lower court and supreme court proceedings by the plaintiffs.

The land in question is located in the triangular piece of property bounded by Grand River avenue, Seven Mile road and Grandview avenue and is just west of the D. S. & R. road being constructed there. It is owned by Elmer A. Adler of Detroit.

It is the belief of the plaintiff's attorney Robert M. Brownson that no decision of importance on the question lies in the state's rights within a city being raised vent of an Indiana Record.

HIS HOME OWNER HAD LIMITED OPPORTUNITIES

WHICH HE TOOK WONDERFUL ADVANTAGE OF THEM

A quiet outdoor living room in every back yard is the ideal of the Yard and Garden Contest. It is easy to see from the above illustrations how such a living room can be created even on a small city lot. Leave an open space and then plant in masses around the borders. A variety of shrubs, a tree or two, some flowers and one has another room added to his home during the summer months. These outdoor living rooms are assets to any home, especially in the crowded cities. And they're so easy to build, these rooms with their carpets of green grass and their ceilings of blue sky, with flowering shrubs and trees for the mural decorations!

Old Ordinance Still Effective, Provides For Many Don'ts

How conditions do change! Presently the village commission delegated to City Attorney Fred Cochran the duty of revising the ordinances of the village, the first since 1889.

In the Record library is a copy of the ordinances of the village passed at that time and they are still effective because they were never repealed.

Of especial interest is the ordinance relative to the use of streets, alleys and other public places as it deals largely with the care of livestock.

It reads: "The people of the Village of Northville Ordain:

Sec. 1. That no person shall remove or cause to be removed, or aid or assist in removing any building or other heavy and bulky article into, along or across any street, alley or other public space, without permission first obtained from the street committee in granting which permission the street committee shall designate the route to be occupied, and the time to be occupied.

(Lawyer-Democrat)

Born in Kinderhook, New York December 5, 1782. Married to Hannah Hobbs, 1807. Inaugurated 1837. Served four years. Died July 24, 1862.

The first year of Van Buren's administration saw the panic of 1837. Reckless speculation for two or three years, an inadequate banking system and lack of confidence in the stability of many of our business enterprises brought about conditions of idleness, business failure and suffering. States attempted to repudiate their debts and it became necessary to call a special session of congress to raise money to pay the running expenses of the government.

However, public schools were built and private capital founded newspapers. Trans-Atlantic steamship lines were started and business gradually resumed its normal condition. The resources of the country and the enterprise of its citizens made any continued depression impossible.

Such a meeting will be held at the Council Chambers on Monday, April 15th, at 8 p.m.

The Acylation of War by Charles Sumner, given by a boy from twelve grade, and Madeline Cole the orator speaks on Flame of Youth. Madeline Cole on the championing of the poor. The following is her speech:

"Flame of Truth"

The audience was engaged here a favorable occasion for the introduction of my subject a subject which touched all of us one which we had discussed almost everywhere to use slang expression.

Is modern youth going to the dogs? Is our ideals our grand old principles bring dragged in dust by the tyranical hand of the present day "flapper" or "collegiate boy friend"? Or is the "grap parade" mode, with a shade with a definite goal a good clean thinking right thinking thinking? Or is there one other one?

Youth of today is in trouble. I sufficient but not finding its half in a world of modern generation. I think of the one true deed. But as we see it is that we are no worse than past generations and that the freedom the "litter of physical mental action, in doing some definite good to ourselves and to the generation to come."

It is true that youth of today is in a difficult position. Entering upon a "phase" which many would like to call the "flapper" reaction required a fierce desire for adventure, for something new. And to this end our college life our home life our city life, in fact our whole social system has experienced an upheaval which, although only natural development our elders term "backward" and "wild".

As Harold Bell Wright remarked, it is the present generation (those who are between 30 and 70) who are still running things. And it is their running of things which they deplore. They exclaim over the haunting of the Volstead Act by their children. Judges, lawyers, doctors in fact all of our professional men and women enjoy their little drink anywhere they please in public or in private. Yet they work up an active shock whenever they see a boy a few years younger than themselves pull out his hip flask and follow their example. What about the manufacturing of alcoholic beverages? Have you ever heard of boys or girls operating their stills? Of course, not. Adults have only themselves to blame for the liquor traffic. This is one charge against modern youth and can be answered.

We hear again and again of the immorality of the modern flapper. Who originated the present day

Modern mothers should stand in front of a mirror and survey themselves well before mourning over daughter's shocking immorality.

Who censors the pictures which are openly condemned by the press?

Are they condemned by the press?

Are they condemned by the parents?

Who produces the plays for which the younger generation is blamed?

Who publishes the magazines openly considered indecent and privately having a huge circulation?

Who began the anti-religious bug that inflated the policy of going to church to see what Mrs. So-and-so, or Miss Such-and-such is wearing this season?

Certainly not the boys and girls from 17 to 22 who are popularly considered as the younger generation.

How many times we have heard an elderly gentleman tell of the adventures of his youth, of the shack in the woods and the barrel of hard cider or of a fair lady a burglar and a full moon etc. Yet when a representative of the modern cult speaks of one arm driving or a hot femme he is greeted by booted exclamations.

You fathers and mothers who are condemning the younger generation as bad clear through search your own hearts question your own consciences and see if you do not agree that the flames of flaming youth are lighted at the home fires.

Of course it is fine that these conditions do not exist, but even so we do not condemn all fathers and mothers as being bad.

losing side will entertain the winners at a "roast" the following week.

The Student Council met Thursday, April 10th, for business discussions.

One of the most important topics brought up was whether or not the student organization should go to the state fair. No definite time was set, but it will have to be April 10th.

All students of the 10th upper class who register a short time before the election are allowed to cast their vote.

The student under is the governing body of the school and has the principal as the adviser. The following officers are to be elected for next year: Mayor, secretary and treasurer. Each class is represented in the council in the round robin fashion.

Several days a week there is music practice to insure rhythm in all typewriting. Our speediest typists in advance class so far are Jeanette Vrdenburg and Madeline Cole 66 words per minute is the highest piece of choice legs. To be sure they may be a little the worse for wear and formalin, but no one should mind a trifle like that.

So just come to the high school and see Mr. Cohn for further particulars.

MISS DUGUID IS CONTEST WINNER

The final test of the Metropolitan spelling bee for the championship of the Northville schools was held last week. The contest was an exceptionally keen one as some of the contestants had won their grade the two years in succession.

During the past week Catherine

NO KISSES WANTED

HAVE WEINIE ROAST

(By Florence Johnson)

A "weenie roast" was held by the eighth grade about two weeks ago. They also had to make a hike, but in the end everyone rode in or on something.

When they reached Benton's Park, which was their destination, they ran around like kindergartners.

The fire was finally built and the little children had all gathered around the stove waiting impatiently for their share. When everyone was completely satisfied the mess was cleared up and they were soon on their way home again.

They all said they had a very good time.

Builders of the most modern homes of today are including in their plans specifications for extension telephones in various rooms. The old-time reception hall telephone is being augmented by extension telephones in the library, bedroom and kitchen. They promote convenience and quick answers.

The additional cost is slight, and adequate telephone service is a requisite in the present day home.

The Telephone manager will be glad to tell you more about extension telephones and house wiring plans.

Rheumatism Banished By New Konjola

Sufferer Had Abandoned Hope but New Medicine Made Life Worth While Again

MR. HARRY SMITH

How often it is that sufferers have abandoned hope, and then have found relief through Konjola from the ill of the stomach, kidneys and bowels, and from rheumatism, neuralgia and nervousness. Konjola triumphs over all the falls, because it works as a medicine should right at the source of the ailment. The 32 ingredients of Konjola, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs, all work together, yet each has its own mission to perform. How Konjola works is illustrated in the case of Mr. Harry Smith of Dexter, Mich., who says:

"I suffered so long from rheumatism that I believed that there was nothing to help me. I palpated my entire body, particularly the lower limbs. My kidneys were bad, too, and back pains added to my woes. Though I had no faith in any medicine, I decided to put Konjola to the test. And what happened? Konjola helped me at once and today I can walk as well as I ever did, all my pain have vanished and life is worthwhile. I will never lose an opportunity to praise this glorious medicine."

Konjola is sold in Northville at Northville Drug Company and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section—Advt.

Can Scarcely Tell Yard Is Same One After Contest Idea Hits Community

A BACK YARD BEFORE IMPROVEMENT

LOOKS LIKE A DIFFERENT PLACE NOW

W^{AS} a wonderful transformation results in the appearance of the back yard once a Yard-and-Garden Contest has been held in a community, is shown most forcibly in the above illustrations. Displayed with topiary and "shears" in the first picture, proper planting along fundamentally sound lines made this back lot a beautiful and attractive part of the home. Unattractive objects were screened from view and the carpenter added a few artistic touches to harmonize with the improved grounds. Transformations like this one take place everywhere. Yard and Garden Contests are held. Shrub and perennials were the base of the improvement in this case.

cause every detail has been studied and discussed in committee meetings and a practically all details agreed upon. None of the educational institutions will get all they have asked for, but the cut will be distributed among all districts in which school taxes equalized if the bill will go fairly created so far as possible without making the tax burden too heavy.

Talk of a proposed rate for final ad valorem tax heard among the leaders of the state courses which a year ago. Both branches are working overtime in getting less money out of the city, but there is a lot of business yet to be done before the session close. May 1st is the most popular date suggested, but some of the optimists think it can be made a week earlier.

A joint committee of both houses is busy investigating charges made by Rep. DeLand that the utilities commission was not functioning properly. DeLand demanded an investigation and the commission promptly responded with a request that the investigation be made and more thoroughly. A report is expected within a couple of weeks.

The Senate is still stamping over a capital punishment bill, which the committee seems unable to agree upon. Likely something along that line will come out from under cover of the judiciary committee next week, but probably with fuzz from the blanket all over it.

The appropriation bills will be probably the principal topic of discussion next week and they will likely go through in a hurry, be-were prepared by the banking department. Said the bus will prevent the organization of any more so-called industrial banks. The most important change according to the state banking department, will be the granting of trust powers to banks without requiring them to set aside portions of their capital and surplus in separate funds for that purpose.

Congressman Grant Hudson made talks from the "scrubs" of each House and Senate Thursday. In the Senate he was scolded by Senator Gannett, a voting against a bill increase on sugar from Cuba and the Philippines.

Senator Person has introduced a bill empowering the governor when to make a committee to study Michigan laws from 1893 to the present time, something which sadly needs to be done.

The governor has signed the criminal code bill, but the Cutlery bill, which provides stiffer penalties for honor law violations, is still out of sight in a Senate committee.

If you have any questions as to the right time to put on the new summer suit and hat you sure will make no mistake by following the example of these three say their friends about town.

Editor Northville Record — The enclosed tribute to the memory of Lieutenant Max E. Edwards, Jr., is herewith published. It is the expression of love and regret of a boyhood friend, and Mrs. Price's brother to them.

Rudolph Thrall of Novi was recently brought to the Sessions Hospital where his coronary is snowed up. He is improving rapidly.

J. W. Perkins and wife and their daughter visited at the home of Miss Ide McBride at Chesaning, Sancay.

Mrs. Anna Neff, who has been in Sessions hospital for the past week is somewhat improved and will probably be able to return home in a few days.

Shirley Jane, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boebel, has been run over in the past week by Ward Jr. with little or no visible damage.

Ward Jr. was little up since he had been ill with ear trouble.

Mrs. Ruth Sessions was able to return to her school work at Ypsilanti, Mich., after being confined to her bed during the greater part of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Norbort of Novi are the parents of a eight pound son born at 8:45 p.m. The mother and baby have gone to their home in Plymouth.

Wickmen's Hill started pricing its property along the side of the "Grosvenor" tract bridge. The bridge when entirely complete will be one of the most attractive in the locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kestell are the parents of a baby girl, born just Friday at the dianosis of Mrs. Kestell's mother, Mrs. Edward Gilling in Manistee. She has been named Marie Annette.

George Raftenburg, Jr. lost a car load of horses in a train wreck at Fort Wayne, Indiana, the other day. The horses were being shipped here from the southwest. All of the horses in the car were killed. The hearing of the village budget will take place in the council chambers Monday afternoon. Any one who desires may secure information about the proposed expenditures for the next fiscal year by attending the hearing.

It isn't wise to believe all who agree with you. Arguments bore some people.

Don't be victimized. These schemes haven't a chance in the world of paying dividends.
