RADIO GIVES FAMED STARS STAGE FRIGHT

Announcer Tells Rotary Club Some Things About Radio

Our president, Herbert Hoover, made his first talk over the radio from WOZ in Detroit. When he came out, the studio was so covered with sweat that he was wetting his face with his handkerchief. That's a tough job. I have talked to lots of people, but I didn't know what to say, to that man in there," declared Hoover. That's what Neal Tomy, announcer for the Detroit Free Press radio station, told members of the Northville Rotary Club Monday noon. That was six or seven years ago.

He was telling of the stage fright of many stars as they appear before the microphone.

It is surprising that many notables of the stage who, for years have appeared before big audiences get what we call "stage fright." Not so long ago, one of the best known vaudeville stars in the country was singing over our station. He became so frightened that he forgot the words of his song.

Things in the radio world are fast changing. A few years ago talent was freely offered to radio stations but last year a sum of something like $10,000,000 was spent for talent. We are often asked about the various kinds of programs. Some want grand opera, some like jazz. It is rather strange that people who like the better class of music do not write stations telling of their preference, but people who like the popular programs are very keen in sending in their commendations. People seem to want every kind of a program under the sun.

Mr. Tomy was a guest at the meeting of Charles Thornton who had charge of the program. In his closing remarks he spoke of the coming safety week campaign and of the part that radio will take in the effort to save the lives of children and careless adults. He declared that in the letters received radio stars in judged the value of the various programs they carry, and he also said that radio announced in the last two or three years another general demand for better music on the part of the public.

Mr. Tomy is one of the pioneer announcers in the business. The Free Press station was the tenth to open.

SELECT DATE FOR SCHOOL GRADUATION

Class Day Will be June 13 Address on Friday, June 14th

Commencement dates for the Northville public schools have tentatively been set for Thursday, June 13th, and Friday June 14th. Thursday will be class day, and Friday has been set aside for the commencement address to be given by President Spencer of Hillsdale college.

Supt William H. Gordon stated yesterday that while the dates had been fixed, there is a slight possibility of a change, although at present there is no prospect of an alteration in the plans that have been practically decided upon.

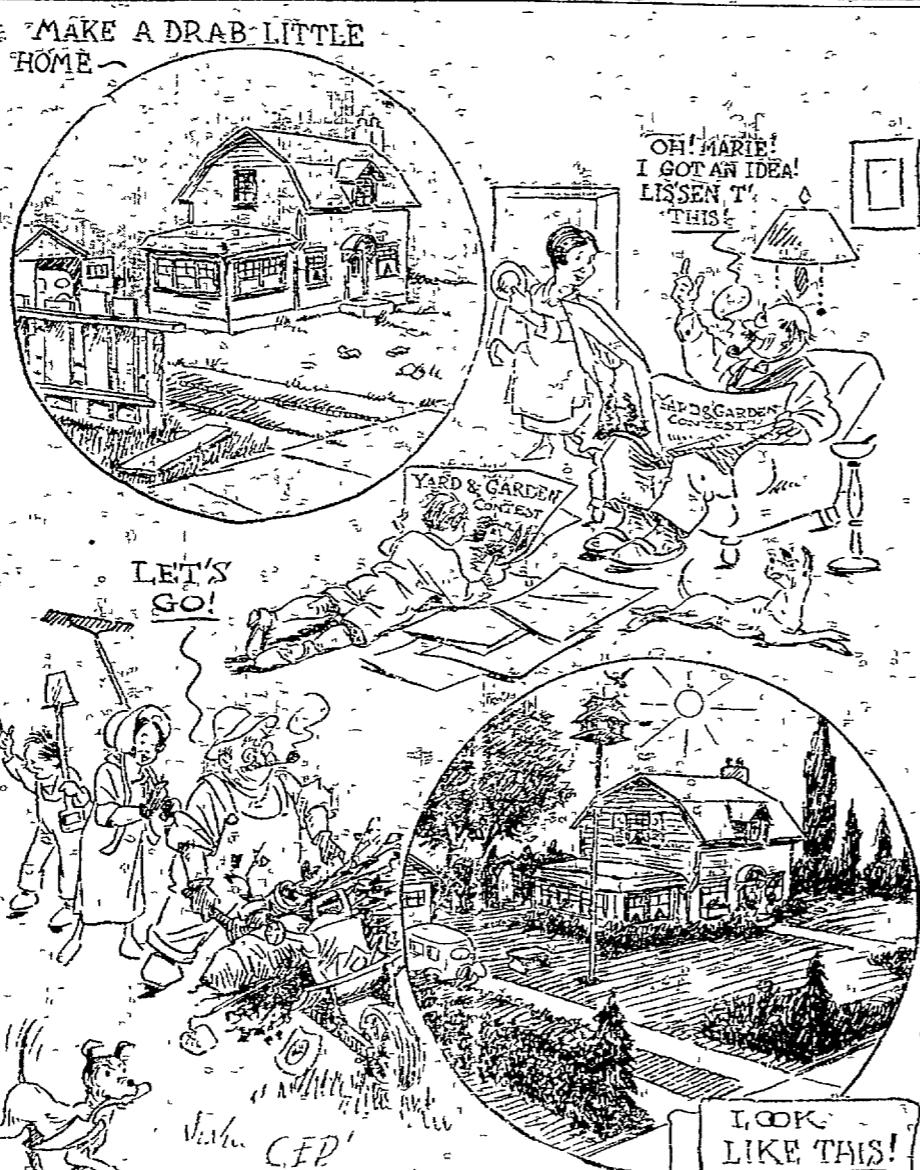

The Penman Allen theatre management has again generously offered to the Northville schools, the use of the theatre for the main commencement program. It has been found that the theatre can easily take care of the big crowd that is always in attendance at the graduation exercises. The program when entirely worked out will be published in detail.

TWO AUTO FIRES CALL DEPARTMENT

Two automobile fires during the present week have resulted in the fire department being called out twice. Tuesday night the department was called to Armstrong's garage where a fire had started out in front of the garage in a machine owned by Frank Lyon. The car was considerably damaged. Thursday morning the department was called to the Zimmer garage, where an automobile belonging to Al Zimmer had caught fire. The car stood in the garage, but was pulled out in front of his place. The fire originated within the body of the car, but the department saved the machine from complete destruction. The engine and lower part of the car were not damaged.

FATHER AND SON BUILD AIRSHIP; READY FOR TEST

Charles Rankin, Yerkes Avenue, Will Soon Try Out New Plane

Within the next few weeks Alex Rankin, 267 Yerkes avenue, his brother, Charles and Glen Rankin, a son will make first tests in the aircraft they have spent the last two years in completing. The ship now nearly completed, has been constructed, during the hours when they have not been employed at other labor nights, after work and Saturday afternoons, the three have been employed steadily in making the various parts and in putting the ship together.

The three have worked in the aircraft factory at Northville, and as a result they know much about how to build an aircraft.

It is of a monoplane type, carries four passengers and has a dual control. An Arizona engine has been installed on the craft. The cabin is of the enclosed type and while the ship has a different appearance, at a distance it resembles a small-sized Susten ship.

Every bit of the work has been performed by the Rankins in their garage and backyard. They have made the wings. They put together the frame and they welded the various parts.

Early in the present summer the trial flights will be made. It is expected that the ship will be out at the Northville airport within the next month.

GOING TO MAKE THIS BEST CLEAN-UP EVER

Dr. Randall Schuyler, village health officer, has all plans completed for the annual village clean-up campaign which will start bright and early Monday morning. He is determined to make the clean-up this year the most thorough one Northville ever had. Not only that but he proposes to see to it that the good work that is to be started Monday morning is kept up during the entire year. The success of the venture depends entirely upon the co-operation of Northville residents. If every one gets into the spirit of the clean-up and paint-up campaign there is no question but what Northville by the end of another week will be the cleanest little city in America.

There is no short cut in making good butter. To make first-class butter on the farm, the churning should take from 30 to 40 minutes at a temperature in the winter of from 58 to 66 degrees F., says the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Patent churning that churn butter in seven minutes produce butter of poor body and texture.

A Front Page Editorial

Members of the Exchange club at their weekly meeting are giving a series of informative talks about their careers and business. A week or so ago Lucas Blake, Northville's jeweler, store owner, was on the program. In part what he said was something like this:

"I spent a good portion of my life in western and northern Michigan. In the work I was doing I lived in several towns some of them larger than Northville. Some six or seven years ago I came to Northville and bought out the business I now run. I want to say this—I have lived in quite a few places, but like Northville the best of any of them. In fact, I think it is the best town in Michigan. I know it is the best town I ever lived in. We have got everything here that any city can offer. The town is growing, and I like the people. I don't know whether they like me but I do know I like them. I enjoy doing business in Northville. A few days ago a son of an old friend of mine who now works in Pottawatamie, came over to see me. I drove him all around. I showed him what we had here. He was surprised. He said, he didn't realize that Northville was such an interesting place of such a big place. He said he would like to come here to live and I told him if he ever did he would like Northville just as much as I do."

That's the kind of talk that does a town some good. Lots better than knock it isn't it? It's the kind of talk that has made Northville by far the best town of its size in all Michigan.

The majority of folks here are boosters—in fact practically everybody is out trying to do something good for the community in which they live.

TO SOON COMPLETE NEW SCHOOL STRUCTURE

The new school building out at the Wayne County Training School which will house among other things the swimming pool that is being constructed for the institution is rapidly nearing completion. The building, one of the largest in the group of structures that is being put up, will probably end the construction program for the spring. The training school has become one of the biggest institutions of its kind in the country, and among welfare workers it is generally regarded as the best.

COUNTY PAYS VILLAGE ITS PAVING SHARE

Meets Half of Cost of Widening Center and Rogers Streets

Payment has been made by the road commission of Wayne county to the village of Northville for its share in the paving widening costs in the widening of Rogers street.

The check for the county's share in the widening of Rogers street amounted to $141.88 and the North Center street was $876.88. These amounts will reduce the assessment that must be met by the property holders along these two streets by one-half the county bearing one-half of the expense and the village the other half.

The payments have been made to the village in accordance with an agreement that Mayor Charles Ellingson secured with representatives of the road commission last summer before the paving was started.

The mayor took the matter up with the county and pointed out that both streets were county highways and that the county had originally named them and had also requested that the paving be widened.

He advised the representatives of the commission that he deemed it only right that the county should pay for at least half of the paving. This has now been done.

The money has been added to the paving fund where it will remain drawing interest until payments are due. The mayor sometime ago recommended the creation of a paving fund as provided in the new charter where all monies collected for paving could be placed and held until needed.

The fund is in excellent shape and a check of the books show that there are exceeding large depositories on the list.

WIVES THREATEN TO USE SHOTGUNS ON MILK THIEVES

Many Complaints Being Made of Thieves of Milk

Residents along Cadiz Wing and Birney's streets are out with shotguns looking for the thief who has been stealing milk off the porches during the early hours of the morning. For a number of days past many of the residents of these streets have been missing the milk left off their porches and the nuisance has become so great that they have decided to take drastic action.

The trip is going to be so different and contains so many unexpected surprises that it is bound to be one of the big hits of the season.

Legion members are not giving out much information about the "Trip to Paris" in advance.

Possible data will be released for next week, says Merritt Sweet.

But he isn't sure. He says you have got to take the trip to find out.

ADD NEARLY HALF AN ACRE TO FAIR GROUND SPACE

Leveling of Old Gravel Pit to Give Much More Room

Considerably over half an acre of ground has been redeemed for use at the Northville Wayne county fair grounds during the past few days by the grading of the ridge that surrounded the old gravel pit in the northeast corner of the grounds. Not only will the grading add considerable more valuable space to the fair grounds, but it will do away with the low spot that has been somewhat of a hindrance to officials directly north of the grandstand.

The addition of the new ground will enable the directors to add considerable more space to the tents allotted to the auto show or for any other purpose that they might desire.

The fair has grown so rapidly in recent years that every inch of ground space that can be secured is needed and a friend of the association when it was pointed out to him that this ground could be used to good advantage, lost no time in having it graded.

There are other improvements under way at the fair grounds that will help materially in making the displays this fall more attractive than ever before.

The presence of a considerable percentage of spindle-shaped tubers in a lot of seed potatoes is a sign that the whole lot is undesirable for seed purposes. Late-season infection with spindle-sugar of healthy plants in the field often gives the disease to well-shaped tubers which, if used for seed, produce diseased plants.

Spindle-tuber may reduce the marketable crop from 25 to 50 percent.

Read This, Ladies

"I didn't think there was a place in the world where you could get meal like this one. I thought they had forgotten how to make peach orchards like these—and you know I eat many meals in hotels and other places where you are supposed to get the best that culinary art can produce." I am sorry the door is closed so that the ladies cannot hear what I have to say about the wonderful dinner they have served. I do not know what you pay for it but it is worth any price these fine women are asking for it. A church might ask you for it."

"That was the declaration of Neal Tomy, WOZ announcer for the Detroit Free Press radio station, told members of the Northville Rotary Club Monday noon.

BLOCKS ARE THREATENED BY BAD FIRE

Excellent Work of Firemen Prevent Serious Damage

Excellency on the part of the Northville fire department, as well as the daring bravery of its members who climbed into a smoke-filled stairway looking for the location of a threatening fire, prevented a real disaster in the heart of the business section Sunday night.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Bruno Frey, who lives in apartments over his store, discovered smoke coming from the hallway on the west side of his building.

He immediately turned in a call to the fire department.

By the time the department had arrived the rooms over the Atlantic and Pacific were filled with smoke.

No flames could be discovered anywhere and it was several minutes before the fire fighters were able to locate where the smoke was originating.

Slowly crowding stairway to the head stairs, the firemen finally located the blaze in a small room located west of the stairway and directed it to the west of it.

Cutting a hole through the north wall, they were soon able to extinguish the blaze, but not until after the smoke and water had done considerable damage, although the fire department was able to confine the blaze to the one room in which it originated.

How the fire started is a mystery.

The rooms above the store are not occupied and there was nothing in that could have caused a blaze.

No electric wiring and no chimney runs through the room.

There is no way that sparks could get into the room from the outside.

The fire started in a small pile of refuse.

It was on the floor next to the wall of the building but how it started will probably remain unknown.

The material caught fire because of the heat, smoke and water from the fire.

Charles A. Ponsford Sees Great Development in Northville

Tag more intensely interesting tales in the series, being given by members of the Exchange club featured Wednesday's meeting of the organization.

A glimpse of the growth and development of Northville was provided in the talk made by Charles Ponsford, who is nearly 20 years of active business in this community.

The other talk was made by Elmer Smith.

Briefly telling of his early career.

Mr. Ponsford stated that it was in 1914 when he came to Northville and purchased the business that he has conducted continuously since.

In the little over 19 years since he has been in Northville, he has seen erected one of the finest school buildings in the state.

One new church has been constructed and every church has been enlarged.

We have now two good hospitals and a high grade sanatorium within the village limits.

Just to our west we have one of the greatest sanatoriums in the country,

For number of days past many of the residents of these streets have been missing the milk left on their horses and the nuisance has become so great that they have decided to take drastic action.

The trip is going to be so different and contain so many unexpected surprises that it is bound to be one of the big hits of the season.

Legion members are not giving out much information about the "Trip to Paris" in advance. Possibly more data will be released for next week, says Merrill Sweet. But he isn't sure. He says you have got to take the trip to find out.

Sure I did, he said. Then inquiry developed the fact that many cows had recently been stolen from porches in that part of the city.

TO SOON COMPLETE NEW SCHOOL STRUCTURE

The new school building out at the Wayne County Training School, which will house among other things the swimming pool that is being constructed for the institution, is rapidly nearing completion. The building, one of the largest in the group of structures that is being put up, will probably end the construction program for the spring.

The training school has become one of the biggest institutions of its kind in the country, and among welfare workers it is generally regarded as the best.

COUNTY PAYS VILLAGE ITS PAVING SHARE

Meets Half of Cost of Widening Center and Rogers Streets

Payment has been made by the road commission of Wayne County to the village of Northville for its share in the paving widening costs in the widening of Rogers street.

The check of the county's share in the widening of Rogers street amounted to $411.88, and for North Center street it was $676.88. These amounts will reduce the assessment that must be paid by the property holders along these two streets by one-half the expense and the village the other half.

The payment was made to the village in accordance with an agreement that Mayor Charles E. Finkins "secured" with representatives of the road commission last summer before the paving was started.

The mayor took the matter up with the county and pointed out that both streets were county highways and that the county had originally paved them and had also requested that the pavings be removed.

He advised the representatives of the commission that he desired it only right that the county should pay for at least half of the paving. This has now been done.

The money has been added to the paving fund where it will remain drawing interest until payment is due. The mayor sometime ago recommended the creation of a paving fund as provided in the new charter where all moneys collected for paving could be placed and held until needed. The fund is in excellent shape and a check of the books show that there are exceedingly few delinquents on the list.

Commander Abe V. Barber, who is officially directing the trip is non-committal about the details, but he deems it is going to be the best town I ever lived in. We have got everything here that any city can offer. The town is growing, and I like the people. I don't know whether they like me, but I do know I like them. I enjoy doing business in Northville. He said he didn't realize that Northville was such an interest.

I didn't think there was a place in the world where you could get a meal like this one. I thought that had forgotten how to make peach pickles like these—and you know I eat many meals in hotels and other places where you are supposed to get the best, that culinary art can produce. I am sorry the door is closed so that the ladies cannot hear what I have to say about some wonderful dinner they have served.

I do not know what you pay for it but it is worth every penny these ladies serve. The church might ask you for it.

This is the declaration of Neal Tony, WCCO announcer who spoke Monday before the Rotary Club. The ladies of the Presbyterian church prepared the dinner that caused his "graveable declaration."

At 11 o'clock Bruno Frey, who lives in apartments over his store, discovered smoke coming from the ballroom on the west side of his building.

He immediately turned in to call for the fire department. By the time the department had arrived the rooms over the Atlantic & Pacific store were filled with smoke. No flames could be discovered, anywhere, and several minutes after the fire fighters were able to find where the smoke was originating.

Slowly crowding their way to the head stairs, the firemen finally located the blaze in a small room located west of the stairway and directly across the rest of it.

Cutting a hole through the north wall, they were soon able to extinguish the blaze, but not until after the smoke and water had done considerable damage, although the fire department was able to confine the blaze to the room in which it originated.

Her injuries were given immediate attention by Dr. Sparling, who caused her to be removed to Ford hospital because of the seriousness of the burns. From the first little hope was held out for her recovery

A FEEL 'BOOT' SENATOR

After reading various reports of the speech made in the Senate the other day by Senator Rushton of Escanaba, directed towards women property owners in Lansing, we are more inclined than ever to believe that the administration legislative floor leaders, a politician from the back roads of nowhere and a monomaniac pharisean statesman, out of step with the times. In other words he knows little or nothing of the progress being made in these times and of the new opportunities that have come to women and of their success in the handling of these new problems. Senator Rushton's usage of the women came about as a result of their efforts to have a law passed by the legislature which would give women owning property the same rights in the handling of that property as now possessed by men. Their request is a perfectly legitimate one and on later consideration the measure passed the Senate with all voting for it with the exception of Rushton and two others. The loud-voiced senator from Escanaba told the women who were in Lansing in behalf of the measure many of them prominent leaders in their communities, that "they had ought to be home learning to cook, washing dishes, and caring for their children." It's the sort of statement you might expect from some fellow who works only where he is forced to and lets his wife take in washings to fill the family breadbox. The words seem entirely out of place coming from one who is secure enough to send him to the state senate.

We are wondering if this Senator Rushton isn't the same Senator Rushton who a few weeks ago was trumped up when trying to put through a "deadly" piece of legislation in behalf of some lobbyist representing some exclusive manufacturer of a special right for the auto and ambulances?

And we are wondering just what the little thing is that would cause a senator with such a low score to talk so rhetorical when attacking a perfectly legitimate piece of legislation and then sponsor a measure that, if carried into a law, would do no benefit to the public but of his own hand great damages of dollars for the case of some manufacturer or another.

It's a hard question to answer just it?

HE IS HAPPY

Eddie Stinson has long been regarded as one of the greatest men of all time. With his ability to sail a ship through the seas naturally he has won many honors. The other day we saw him standing among the fast turning wheels, the roaring motors and the keen-edged saws of his new factory. It was our fortune two or three years ago to be at the Ford airport when he landed his ship on the field in the Ford contest, and we won. Of course, he looked happy when he knew the coveted cup was to fall into his hands—but he didn't look half as happy as he did the other day as he looked about his big new factory, heard the hum of machinery and watched workmen put together aircraft that will soon be flying in all parts of the world. Eddie's greatest ambition has been to be a manufacturer—and he is delighted in his accomplishment. Why shouldn't he be?

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Health Officer Randall Schneider has called the community to cooperate in making next week the most successful clean-up week that Northville has ever had. He points out that the greatest benefit from such a campaign comes from the united effort of everyone in town. He will not only have the park yards cleaned of refuse but he will have the streets too. They are now such an eyesore in some places, and he means preparing patches of ground with vegetable, grass or flower growing on them. There is not one man to do that in for every one to get busy and make next week's clean-up campaign one that will last throughout the entire year. And while we are cleaning up let's do a little beautifying up, and when it is all done you and everyone else will see what a good job has been done.

ARBOR DAY

Fri., May 10th is to be definitely fixed as Arbor Day this year by proclamation from the Governor. The proclamation reads:

More than ever before the people of Michigan are interested in maintaining the state's natural resources. The forests, the game animals, regulate the flow of streams and we are cool shelter waters. They feed the people and the streams of surrounding states to the ocean in the beauty. They are an asset to Michigan's growing value to Michigan's recreational industry.

It is usual to proclaim a definite date for the observance of Arbor Day on which we may consider the value of trees and plan ceremonies to accomplish tree planting. In addition to Arbor Day, it has been the custom in the last few years to join with other states in the celebration of American Forest Week. While American Forest Week has been discontinued this year, forests and forestry are as important to Michigan that this state can afford to stop the spring to without the observance of a special week of thought and action in behalf of trees and the restoration of our forest wealth and attractiveness.

The week beginning May 5th is designated as Michigan Forest Week and Friday May 10th as Arbor Day in Michigan. All citizens are called upon to help in observance of these occasions, and are urged to resolve now to promote the forest interest of Michigan and to be diligent in the preservation and protection of our wooded areas.

The so-called garden slug makes which the slugs are feeding. Many people for the gardener by seeing people think the garden slug is a plant, but it is not. Neither is it desirable and sprinkled with lime. Where to include unusually large eggs in a practicable, lime should be applied standard package as they are likely directly to the trees and plants on to break.

Lishing Time

by Dunlap

The first time, it seems to me, of all the good, long year.
Is when the buds begin to wake and spring-time birds appear.
When rivers break their shells of ice and on the swelling ride,
Like phantom devils unpanned, the silent ice-crafts glide.
When purple hazes paint the bluffs, where once the snow banks lay,
When heat waves shimmer on the hills, and spring has come to stay.
O! Give me then a quiet cove, where wavelets lap the shore;
A hook, a line, a worm, a pole—I'll ask for nothing more.
There would I watch the tell-tale cork betray the sudden "bite,"
And dreaming there I'd fish away till shadow brought the night.
If not would mend a broken nerve, or cure a troubled soul.
Prescribe a lad a day of spring, a hook, a line, a pole.

Timely Tips For
Northville Gardeners

Lay out the garden, if possible where it is in easy view from that part of the house in which you spend most time.

Leaf-eating insects will soon be working in the garden. For their poison spray on the foliage is the prime cause.

To grow a hedge in a shady position two things are necessary, heavy fertilization and very severe pruning. Prune hedges early and often to keep the bottom dense. Trim hedges with slightly sloping sides. A hedge that is to face the sun should be kept as low as possible to let air circulate.

Many annuals may be started out of doors now. Have the soil prepared for English ahead so that it will polymerize when being worked.

Keep the tall flowers supported with individual stakes; the grass edges clipped and remove old stalks from the bed.

Evergreens planted at the doorway entrance give a pleasant feeling of warmth and welcome.

April is the month of rapid-tree action. Lay your plans to make every day count.

Choose a sunny spot for your gladiolas, planting and where the soil is rich, well-drained and friable.

There's a best way to do everything, and amateur gardeners should give a little thought to the best way to handle pruning shears.

When selecting your perennials, make sure you have chosen varieties that will give you a constant succession of bloomings from early spring until late in the fall.

Although a garden may not be

MATTER OF SHORT DIVISION

Two East-siders strayed far on the customary bear. The middle of a noon round them in one of the fashionable side's "sets" just on Main Avenue. They were tired and hungry, so they had been along like since breakfast, and after dinner whatever it was which I thought it then good to have, they sat down to a smart meal.

At the head of the table sat a man in a suit and a woman in a dress, both of whom were known as "big names." They entered but a short time before, and were dressed in a manner which was quite becoming. Small and inconspicuous. The young couple were seated opposite; the waiters were superior looking persons in clean shirts.

"We," said one of the aliens, "dine out in fee place—we gotta go slow and not make no breaks. I leave us up a couple seats at a side table and set with the rest of these guys is taken before we gets our order."

"To be the idea seemed a good one. They sat down comparatively quiet and made themselves small and inconspicuous. But their ears and eyes were open.

"Two such failed very well at the longs, so I got up and gracefully downed a nearby table.

"Well, we," said one of an affected English accent, "what shall it be?"

"I have," said his companion briefly, after a moment's thought, "we will split a bottle of Martini."

The waiter stopped and made a mental note. Next month, part of dancing men dropped into their immediate vicinity. After an almost affectionate argument, they agreed to split a pot of tea. But one of them must have felt like being extraneous.

"Tell you what," she added, "suppose old dead, that besides splitting the tea we'll fit up an order of roast between them."

At the adjoining table Louis straightened himself. He had the cue to the proper mode of procedure now.

"Be," he said, "I'm onto de curves of this dump, now. I'll tend a hornin' wild vixen."

GINSENG BRINGS MUCH MONEY INTO NORTHVILLE AREA

Well Known Local Men Know Much About the Business

Northville has several ginseng hunters who know much about the industry that in recent years has brought many thousands of dollars into the state. Surprising, as it may seem, considerable ginseng grows within this part of Wayne County. Ed C. Stark, Marion Porter, Charles Sessions and several others who can be rightly termed ginseng experts can tell you just what and how it grows. Not only can they tell you that, out they can advise you where to market the product and what the prevailing price might be.

Recently in Lansing the 25th annual meeting of the Michigan State Ginseng Growers' Association was held and some data given to the organization on the ginseng industry in Michigan by Frank Curtis, president of the organization, will prove of more than ordinary interest about here.

Among other interesting things about ginseng, Mr. Curtis said: "There are not many people who know very much about this valuable root and its culture," said Mr. Curtis. "Today, and having been questioned so many times about ginseng and its possibilities, I have prepared a brief description and history of same."

"Ginseng is a rare product of recognized importance. The export trade in dry roots has existed for more than a century and for the last ten years at average value of more than $2,000,000 a year."

"The natural production of ginseng diminished by over collection and contraction of suitable forest areas, has dwindled to such an extent that prices have risen to levels warranting cultivation, which has proved successful in judicious hands.

The yield of cultivated ginseng varies greatly according to conditions and localities. A small bed four feet wide and sixteen feet long should produce ten pounds if dug when six years old. Ginseng at that age conservatively estimated would yield an average of about 2,500 pounds per acre and I have known as great a deal better than that.

As a commercial product it would appear to some as liable to over-production as any other product.

This danger is easily lessened,

however, by the slow maturing of the plant and the inherent difficulty of its cultivation.

American ginseng is a fleshy rooted herbaceous plant, growing naturally

on the slopes of ravines and in other well drained and shady locations in hardwood forests in varying abundance from Maine to the Pacific coast and as far south as the mountain regions of Georgia and the Carolinas. In the wild state it grows from eight inches to three feet high, one about the same under cultivation.

The cultivation of ginseng started about 1885 to 1890, and for a time progressed very slowly owing to the long time taken to grow the root and the many diseases it is subject to under cultivation.

Cultivation was first started in New York state but was practically wiped out with disease.

Almost all of the growers were discouraged and gave up but a few of the more energetic by co-operation with state agriculture, farm experiment and M. S. C. in experimenting, overcame some of the difficulties and yet only are left to meet the increase down to a point where it is not much danger of over-production, as it requires at least six years from the green seed to produce a good marketable crop.

Soil and location are very important in the culture of ginseng

since it is a plant that grows naturally

on the slopes of ravines and in other well drained areas, where the soil is formed from the acid leaf mold of hardwood forests. The soil should be naturally dry, fairly light and in a condition to grow good vegetables of any kind without fertilizing. Virgin soil is best and about 75 or 80 per cent shade is required.

The seed is usually planted in beds sown broadcast or in rows, broadcast thick enough to average about one seed to two inches square and left until two years old, then transplanted about six or eight inches apart each way and left to naturally. Ginseng requires no cultivation, but must be kept clean by pulling the weed.

The seed crop is taken from plants three, four and five years old.

A single plant five years old will produce anywhere from a dozen to 100 roots. The past few years we have been selling for about $16 per pound. Two year old plants have been selling for about $20 per 1,000.

It takes about 150,000 plants to set an acre, allowing for required paths through the garden.

UTILITY WORKERS
WIN PROMOTION
BY GOOD SERVICE

Perley Deal Made Manager at Alma—Carl Haner Comes Here

Announcements has been made that Pealey H. Deal, who for a number of years past has been assistant general manager of the Michigan Federated Utilities or the Northville, Plymouth and Wayne division of the company, has been made manager of the properties of the company at Alma and has already assumed his duties at that place. The promotion comes to Mr. Deal as the result of his efficient work in this fast growing section of western Wayne county. During the time he has been with the utilities corporation he has made an excellent record. In Plymouth where he has made his home he was recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce and for several years he has been an active member as well as an officer of the Kiwanis club of that city.

He has become well acquainted in the Northville vicinity and his many friends here wish him well in his new location. He plans to move his family to Alma as soon as school is out in Plymouth.

His successor is Carl Haner, former sales manager of the Michigan Federated Utilities office at Mt. Clemens. Mr. Haner has been with the company some time and his transfer from Mt. Clemens to this location comes as a merited promotion for the fact he has been doing. It is the general policy of the Federated Utilities to promote within its own ranks where merited service permits and the advancement of both Mr. Deal and Mr. Haner comes as a result of this acceptable policy on the part of the company for which they are working.

The Michigan Federated Utilities has made a remarkable growth in this part of Wayne county. In the past two years its business in Northville has almost doubled. Thousands of feet of additional service lines have been laid and hundreds of new connections made in Plymouth.

JOHN TYLER
(Lawyer-Democrat)

Born at Greysway Va. March 29, 1780. Married Lucia Christian in 1815. John Gardner in 1844. Assumed office in 1845. Served three years and eleven months. Died January 17, 1862.

John Tyler was elected on a Whig ticket, but was so thorough a Democrat that historians have classified him as belonging to the Democratic party. During his administration Pitt Samuel Morse built the first telegraph line between Baltimore and Washington. Horace Wells first used laughing gas in dental work.

The Northeast Boundary line between the Ohio, Indiana and Canada was definitely defined upon, as was also the boundary line between Maine and Canada. The dispute over these two boundaries had been a serious menace to the peace between Great Britain and the United States.

This administration was marked by many controversies between the President and Congress.

Hot roast beef sandwiches are made by toasting slices of bread, on one side, spreading the toasted side with butter, and placing slices of cold roast beef between next to the toasted sides of no bread. Now toast the outside of each sandwich, place on hot plate, pour hot gravy over each sandwich and garnish with a sprig of parsley and a pickle.

JOHN McCULLY IN RACE FOR OFFICE
FINDS HARD GOING

Lots of Excitement When He Is Elected
Sergeant

"When John McCully runs for office, things happen. That is what he discovered at Monday's meeting of the Rotary club.

John didn't put himself into the race for sergeant-at-arms by any means. He was "induced" to permit his name to be used for the position that has been occupied for the past year by Father Joseph Schuler, the well-known divine having declined the one term in any office's enough for any man.

Some of John's friends took him up on the mountain top and pointed out to him all the rosy things that such a job offered. It was a beautiful picture that was painted for his benefit, and finally after it was all over John said, "Yes, boys you can use my name for the place if you desire, but remember I can't put up anything for the campaign."

All the terms were agreed upon and John was assured there would be no expenses connected with the election.

Not only that, but there was assured there would be no opposition to him for the place.

Of course John is a run, nobody else will get it," said the spokesman of the Rotary delegation that waited upon the well-known Socie deale.

Election day arrived and John found out that even his own club officials often don't know where the spirit lies.

When they counted the votes it was discovered that 1000 votes for the Joe McCully Club.

However, the election was held and Mrs. McCully Club.

It seems that everyone of the 1000 present at the meeting voted for themselves—so John declares because of the fact that a couple of weeks ago John and some members of the Rotarians just what he would do if no other man in the club ran.

Fred Cocivian has been talking about an investigation to find out where the 1000 votes just help cured came from.

"It's funny. There were only 22 at the meeting and 31 voted for themselves. Of course, we're a possible John voted for himself and that would account for 22 votes—but there did the other 1000 come from, now that's what I would like to know," said the attorney for the club.

The attorney after investigating, the next day after the meeting, declared he did not know what had happened.

"Better be careful of what you say, because people are going to circulate, and I'm afraid of trouble," said one member.

The other fellow who voted for the club met him and warned him to be careful what he said.

"Well, I have always tried to be careful but this time I should be investigated." Fred says and no one knows where they found those 1000 votes.

It's a funny thing that the fellows that voted for John too, "I don't care if he does little or not, let him live away. Maybe it will do some good," declared Fred.

There's some talk of a jump to begin the new school year at the beginning of the new year. A lot of Rotarians know what is going to happen the minute the school year begins, but they have already started collecting a few extra sparkle in order to be prepared for whatever emergency might happen.

When sowing plants of tomato, cabbage, lettuce and onion are round cut off near the ground, it is fairly certain that cutworms are the offenders. A poisoned bran bait, made of five pounds of dry bran, ne-fourth pound of white sugar, and one pound of white syrup or molasses, and three to four quarts of water will kill the cutworms ten or fifteen hours or less per acre is enough for one application. It may require two or three applications at two-day intervals to get rid of the pests. Cutworms often feed on dark, cloudy days.

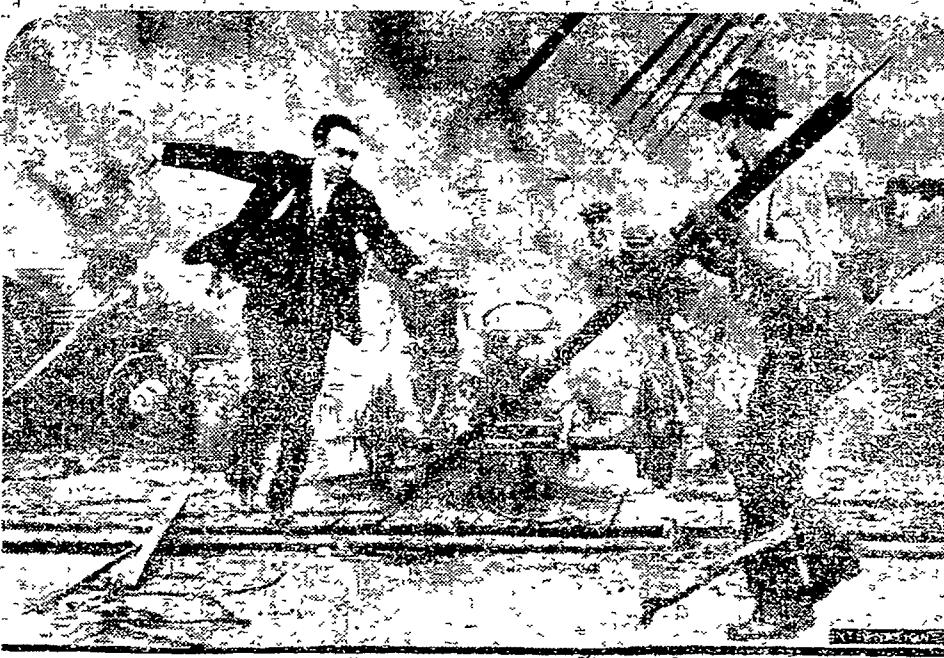

Crop soils, like a wagon load, and seeing as the soil should not be done too early in the spring, ten days or two weeks after corning time is the best time. Sowing is gone too early, however, early fall frosts may catch the crop before it matures. Thick stands yield better in favorable seasons, but in dry seasons thin stands are best. Cultivation should be begun early, and repeated often enough to destroy all weeds.

Chocolate pie is a general favorite.

Here's a reliable recipe for making it. Mix one square of unsweetened chocolate in the double boiler and pour into two cups of milk scalded in another saucepan. Mix 2 1/2 tablespoons of cornstarch with 3/4 teaspoon of sugar and a little cold milk. Add to the hot milk and beat until smooth. Allow the cornstarch mixture to cook in the double boiler for ten minutes, remove from the fire, add one teaspoon butter, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two eggs beaten and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Fill the crust, which should have been pre-baked, with the chocolate mixture and cover the top with a meringue made of two egg whites beaten stiff and 2 tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla and a pinch of salt. Bake the pie in a very slow oven for about 20 minutes or until the meringue is delicately browned.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN WILL TAKE PLACE ON MAY 9

Residents of This Part of the World Will Not See It

No folks in Northville are not going to be able to see it, but on May 9th there is going to be a total eclipse of the sun on the other side of the earth. United States scientists have left nothing undone to obtain every possible bit of knowledge during the only total eclipse of the sun this year. The sun will be entirely obscured May 9th, but the phenomenon will not be visible in the United States.

Four scientists from the Royal Observatory have set up their apparatus in Iloilo, on the Visayan Islands, a part of the Philippines.

Large scale photographs will be secured with a 65-foot camera and intensive study will be made of the sun's corona and shadow band phenomena.

Members of the expedition are Com. C. H. J. Kepler, Prof. W. A. Cogshall of the University of Indiana, Lieut. H. G. Kellers and Paul Sollnerberger.

The men probably will have less than four minutes in which to make their observations and photographs and there is a 50-50 chance that clouds will obscure their vision.

Photographs secured with the powerful long-focus camera will be compared with pictures taken with a similar instrument by Prof. J. A. Hall of Swarthmore College, who will be located on the islands of Sumatra.

Such comparison will determine whether there are any movements or changes indicated in the form of the corona in the interval of time taken for the eclipse to pass, between the two stations.

Naked eye observations will be made of the form of the corona and shadow bands and a special attempt will be made to determine whether they exist during the period of totality.

Shadow bands are narrow, dark parallel bands seen to rush across the landscape just before or after totality in a solar eclipse. Whether they exist during the period of totality may be determined at this time.

Times of contacts of the eclipse will be determined and compared with Professor Miller's observations to find the relative positions of the sun and moon at the time of the eclipse.

Besides the naval expedition two other groups of scientists, one from Hamburg, Germany, and one from Manila Observatory, will be in the Visayan Islands.
