Michigan Press Association Rallies at State Metropolis for 1929 Summer Outing Frolic

Publishers Cast Cares Aside and Enjoy Generous Hospitality of Detroit, the World's Most Interesting City

Theatre Parties, Boat Trip, Banquets, Baseball Games, Visit to General Motors Proving Grounds, and Variety of Other Educational Features and Diversions Make Outing a Memorable One.

Welcome to Detroit! Welcome to the Hotel Fort Shelby! Welcome to the Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency! Welcome to the General Motors proving grounds near Milford! Welcome to the Detroit baseball park! Welcome to the Fox theatre! Welcome to the Ashley-Dustin steamboat line! Welcome to Put-in-Bay! Welcome from the federal government to attend the Perry Victory monument! Welcome to Ollie!

From the moment we landed in Detroit on Sunday and Monday, everywhere a most cordial and enthusiastic welcome was extended to the Michigan Press Association.

No new records were established for our reception in 1929 as was the case in 1928, in 1927, or prior years. Perhaps the main difference was in the fact that Detroit is the metropolitan area it is going to offer in some ways that can be found in the great open spaces were for the past few years our annual summer frolics have been held.

The city is the city around the country in the country, but there is a difference between Detroit and the ordinary city. Detroit has the river, the lakes, the islands and many other attractions that the ordinary city does not have, and which make it an ideal great summer resort where city and country meet, in perhaps the ideal setting that nature has provided for any of the great cities of the world. And Detroit has added all attraction that is available to all who live there.

Detroit is dynamic, the capital of Michigan, and the heart of the state, it is the gateway to Michigan, welcoming people from out of the state this year on the occasion of the annual summer outing meeting of the Michigan Press Association.

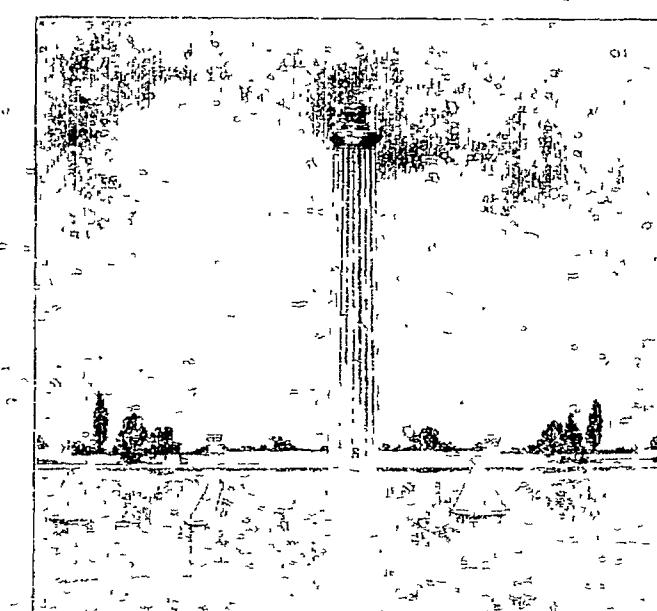

From all sections of the state the knights and ladies of the press pour into Detroit. From the Thumb, from the heel of the mitten, from the fingers of the hand and from the upper peninsula come the pressmen and their families, until all portions of the great commonwealth were fairly represented.

The splendid Hotel Fort Shelby was headquarters and the warmth of the welcome extended by Manager J. L. Frawley and all of his co-workers was but a sample of that later extended by all with whom we came in contact. As early as Wednesday evening the members of the MPA commenced dropping in and getting "set to go." Thursday forenoon the secretary and his aids were kept busy making registrations and long before noon the program was well started. Many of the editors refused to wait until afternoon to start the program but visited the Campbell-Ewald agency in the morning in order to satisfy themselves of the generous invitation of Mr. Martin of the Detroit Bungalow company to visit their field and see the figures cast on the Indians here in the day.

So the program started early and finished late, with no interval except in the middle of the day.

Following the visit to the Campbell-Ewald establishment, many of the hotel management was one of the delightful affairs of the week. It was jolly from start to finish and satisfactorily informal. The feast was all that the most exacting epicure could desire and the service was most satisfactory. There were no tiresome talks as an adjunct of the banquet, but cabaret entertainment and community singing enlivened the dinner hour and the company dispersed in ample time for those who desired to attend theatre parties or other attractions.

Visit to Moden's Advertising Agency. One of the most interesting events of the entire program of entertainment was the first thing on the program following registration time. This was paid to the office of the Campbell-Ewald Agency, which occupies the entire thirteenth floor of the enormous General Motors Building, and two wings off the fourteenth. The Campbell-Ewald executives made their welcome evident by having Mr. M. B. Tunnicliffe of their office force at the Hotel Fort Shelby to greet the incoming publishers and direct them to the offices of the agency, seeing them safely in taxis which were paid by the agency to bring their guests to their headquarters, a courtesy which aroused much favorable comment.

Arrived at the agency offices each group was escorted by a guide who followed a sample advertisement through all the various courses of usual order, through the department of art and display work rooms and corrections, through the order department, the mailing department, girls going out to various publications, books, magazines and checking copies coming in, being sorted and checked up through the accounting department, until the check in payment of account is written, cut and sent to the customer.

The

Michigan Press Association Rallies at State Metropolis

(Continued from Page One) guests took vans for Navin Field, where the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were clashing at each other. Here again they felt that they were most cordially welcome, for the management not only recognized the MPA badges at the gate, but the courtesy of the press boxes was also extended to those of the publishers who desired to sit up among the scribes and the radio announcers. At the Thursday afternoon game, which was won by the Tigers by a score of 6 to 4, they saw one player realize that glowing ambition of every baseball player to come to bat with the bases loaded and slam out a home run. Outfielder Johnson of the Tigers was the lucky player and his walkover over the scoreboard put the game on ice for the stranded rats of the Navin megaphone. A few decibels fans passed up the attractions of the proving grounds the Friday to attend the game but had to mount with the Tigers, who were taken into the wings of the Indians to be properly scalped for their antics of the day before.

Magnificent Box Theatre Opens Doors

One of the largest and most magnificent of Detroit theatres, the new Fox on Woodward Avenue, just above Grand Circus Park, gave hearty welcome to the Michigan Press Association by opening its doors to all members at all performances of Thursday and Friday. The official badge of the MPA was the only emblem for the porters and those who handled them selves of the passage were most enthusiastic of the splendor of the grand play house and the intrinsic merit of the attractions presented. A trip of inspection to this wonderful temple of amusement is mighty well worth while and can spend fruitful hours in admiring the sheer beauty of the interior and its brilliant splendor of illumination in the newspaper office and its hubris splendor of the lounge rooms of the two states were soon Promptly all were settled in the lounge room of the Crescent hotel where W. F. "Bill" Ranzer, manager of the Detroit office of the Western Newsman Union, and his company, subject to the friendly bounteous ban from, and the kind protection of its full file of 900 papers.

The Glorious Trip to Put-in-Bay

A most fitting climax to the annual gathering of MPA in mid-June, took to the City of the Straits, Sandusky, Ohio's golden gem to Put-in-Bay — for there was the American Legion Game had tendered the coasts of the lake, but it did not "put in Bay" which made it difficult for the most difficult of the recent Neutrino involved them of the newspaper people invited to have the opportunity to make the trip. A more perfect day could not have been desired, nor has, nor will ever, with just a slight breeze rippling the water of the Detroit river, and the dotted lake-shore.

Leaving Detroit at 9 in order the boat had barely left the dock before the motor car started to chug along the way to the steamer in Huron, where four quainter and polished surface tempted the curiosity of those who love to dance while those more stout wended about the six spacious decks and enjoyed the magnificence.

We passed under the skeleton of the new Ambassador International bridge which is to unite Canada and the United States with another steel link. The bridge was to have been ready for traffic by July 4, this year, but it was discovered in time that the huge tail cables which had been strung were of wire which was faulty and unsafe. Promptly the immense cables were cut down and removed and new cables of tested and approved wire are now being strung, and present plans are to have the stately and ornate structure completed by the first day of 1930.

Glimpse New Tunnel Sections

Further down the river we had glimpses of sections of the new tunnel which is being constructed under the Detroit River at the foot of Randolph street to make an underwater hook-up with our sister country. These big sections are built at Ojibway and are then lowered into the river and sunk into place in a huge underwater trench excavated by dredges.

Swiftly the big "Put-in-Bay" sped past all other water-traffic except the flying hydroplanes and soon we were out on the sparkling zippers of Lake Erie, the huge twin screw propellers driven by the 3,000-horse power engines making play of the swift pace toward our destination.

Shortly before noon we got our first glimpse of the towering Perry monument which dominates the scenery of that section of Lake Erie. It was not until we had landed, however, that the full majesty of this great marble shaft impressed itself upon us.

Created by the United States government, conjointly with the states of Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Kentucky and Massachusetts, the imposing shaft commemorates the Battle of Lake Erie, September 10, 1813 and is dedicated to the principle of international peace by arbitration. May it not have been erected in vain it is constructed of Milford granite, 52 feet high, 45 feet in diameter, at the base and 33½ feet at the top.

An open air promenade, protected by a 5-foot parapet, at the top of the monument, is reached by an elevator. The walls are 9 feet and 9 inches thick at the base and 6 feet at the top. For the first time since the monument was erected, the Federal government tendered the courtesy of a trip to the top of the monument, the Michigan Press Association receiving that marked honor, and nearly every member of the party made the trip to the top, where a most beautiful view of the lake and its many islands was to be had.

Met by Ohio newspapermen

Arrived at Put-in-Bay, we were met by a party of Ohio newspapermen, headed by H. E. C. Roy, field manager of the Ohio Newspaper Association house and the intrinsic merit of the attractions presented. Workers in the Graham-Paige cold room must wear Arctic clothing. Not only is the temperature far below zero, but the blower in the rear creates a 35 mile-an-hour gale. The performance of the engine is observed by means of a dynamometer in the adjoining room.

FROM "PRINTERS' DEVIL" TO LINCOLN'S CABINET

WHEN Z. N. Garbutt, editor of the Pike County Free Press, borrowed $100 from Josiah Carter's room, made one day back in 1848, and rode out into the country to round up a new subscriber or two, he set into motion a train of events that led to the court of St. James, to the freeing of the slaves and to the promulgation of the Open Door of China. Listen:

Pittsfield, Ill., wasn't much of a town then and Garbutt's paper wasn't much of a paper. But fate was waiting that summer's day in a little hill-cabin.

As Editor Garbutt rode past the cabin an angry woman, with broomstick uplifted, chased a small, frightened boy from the cabin. The boy ran toward the road. The woman hatted at sight of the stranger. Garbutt beckoned to the boy and questioned him.

"She's my stepmother," replied the boy. "And she seems to like to beat me. But I don't like it."

The boy was a plucky sort of boy and the native anger touched Garbutt. After a few moments talk he helped the boy up and placed him on the road more behind him. They rode into Pittsfield that night and the boy became a printer's devil.

We turn the page up a few years. The boy John G. Nicolay, is grown now. He is writing editorials, news items, "startling" type and gettng out the newspaper. He has found another boy, "devil" that boy, literally, who became John 165 and he is writing some very bad editorials.

Nicolay becomes a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln, living in a tall, yellow slender tower who appears to have a kindly profile.

One day Nicolay, perhaps more than ordinarily inspired, writes an editorial appealing to the nation to make Abraham Lincoln President. He puts it in writing on his hand press, and mails them to editors he knows.

The idea takes. There is big talk about it. Political thunderheads are heard. Finally Lincoln is elected.

Now, one of Lincoln's strongest traits was his ability not to forget friends. When he went to Washington he took John G. Nicolay with him as his aide first friend and adviser. Nicolay was, perhaps, a sort of Col. once House to Lincoln.

Now did Nicolay forget his friend? So John Hay, too, moved to Washington. Of the twain, Nicolay and Hay, perhaps opportunity smiled the larger for Hay.

John Hay became secretary to President Lincoln when twenty-four years old, became ambassador to the court of St. James, became secretary of state under President McKinley and Roosevelt, became the greatest diplomat that the United States has ever known, took time from his political duties to be, for a time, editor of the New York Tribune when Horace Greeley published it. And John Hay promulgated the Open Door to China. A treaty he negotiated with Great Britain healed a sore of fifty years' standing.

John G. Nicolay became one of the greatest historians of Lincoln. He became consul to Paris and then marshal of the Supreme Court of the United States. Pittsfield, Ill., is today only a village; maybe 3,000 people. Few see it because no railroad passes through; a stub-line its only transport. But on the courthouse square stands a noble boulder. On it are engraved four names:

Abraham Lincoln

Stephen A. Douglas

John G. Nicolay

John Hay

Douglas, who once defeated Lincoln for the senate, was added to the list because he, like the others, was a familiar sight in Pittsfield in those prewar days when the four were carving their careers out of the rough.

So I say to you, viewing the above apart, if you ever see a woman chasing a frightened little boy with a broomstick lift him up and put him on your road more behind you. It may lead him to the court of St. James or to the opening, perhaps, of the door to China. Or even to the making of some future

Michigan publishers at the Detroit meeting were given a real thrill on the trip to and from the Proving Grounds. A motorcycle police escort was provided, and all cross traffic was stopped to allow the procession of General Motors' autos to pass. The shrill blast of the police whistle warned all traffic to a stop and pedestrians and drivers alike, gazed in surprised wonder, as to what was the reason for the unusual occurrences this being the first escort of the kind this year. All the publishers admitted that the pace was faster than they would care to employ through Detroit traffic.

FIRST NEWSPAPER IN U.S. WAS SHORT-LIVED

America's first newspaper was short-lived. It was promptly suppressed by the government after the first issue on the ground that it contained "reflections of a very high nature." The only edition ever issued was sold Thursday September 25, 1890, and was called Public Advertiser. Both Foreign and Domestic Richard Pierce was the publisher and George H. Dugan was employed to print it. Boston was the place of publication. Pages were 7 by 11 inches. Three pages contained 16 columns and the fourth was blank. Plans were made to get it out monthly but the heavy hand of the government visited the project. Only one copy of the paper exists and that is in the Foreign State Paper Office of the British Government in London.

Four years later on April 24, 1791, the first successful newspaper in the Western Hemisphere was launched in Boston. It was printed by one B. Green, and the owner was John Campbell, postmaster. In the beginning it contained only two pages, 8 by 12 inches.

In the first number Campbell made a bid for advertising with the following notice:

"This News-Letter is to continue weekly, and all persons who have any Houses, Lands, Tenements, Farms, Ships, Vessels, Goods, Wares or Merchandise, etc., to be sold or let, or Servants Runaway, or Goods Stole or Lost, may have the same inserted at a reasonable rate, from Twenty Pence to Five Shillings, and not to exceed."

"Who may agree with John Campbell, Postmaster of Boston, all persons in Town or County may have the News-Letter every week, yearly upon reasonable terms, agreeing with John Campbell, Postmaster for the same."

B. Green, the printer, became owner of the publication in 1722 and after that his name blossomed into Bartholomew Green. The News-Letter was published continuously in Boston for 72 years and was the only paper printed there during the famous siege.

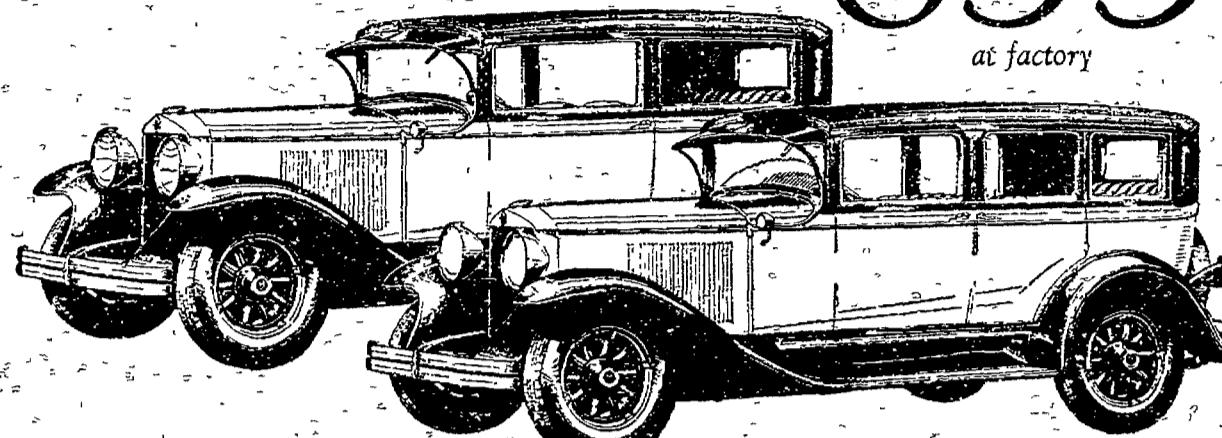

The Massachusetts Historical Society has a partial file of the publication. In its early years it was crudely written with small regard for grammar, spelling or punctuation, and the printing was badly done. Its columns reveal that trading consisted largely of barter and that a condition of semi-slavery existed.

Servants were "bound out" and "indentured" imprisonment for debt was common and there was much poverty. For many years it was believed that the first American publication was the English Mercure, presumed to have been published originally in 1588. Finally it was admitted that this publication was a hoax perpetrated by the second Lord Hardwicke.

Proof of this came along with evidence that the paper upon which it was printed came into existence long after the supposed time of its publication. Errors in historical data and mistakes in the timing of notable events of the period were other evidences offered to prove it a forgery, gradually regaining normalcy.

Spending time is like drawing money out of the bank. When one day is gone there is one day less remaining.

Mr. Dustin of the Ashley & Dustin has made the trip with us to Put-in-Bay and personally looked after the comfort of his editorial guests.

Mr. G. S. He has placed the entire MPA organization under obligations by his invaluable and generous services.

Among old friends attending various portions of the outing were Roger Andrews, one-time Poohah of Menominee, now managing editor of the Detroit Times, Norman C. Hill of Sault Ste. Several new members were added to the MPA during the Detroit outing meeting.

Graham-Paige Motors Undergo Severe Tests

Any climate in the world can be duplicated to order, on any day of the year, in the automotive industry's latest research and test building, at Detroit.

The new engineering laboratory built by Graham-Paige, houses in a two-story building 200 feet long, has a cold-room in which an engine or an entire automobile can be tested under arctic conditions, at temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero, and a hot room in which tests can be made duplicating Sahara, at 140 degrees. It is by such tests that automobiles are developed to operate efficiently in any country of the world.

Refrigerating machinery capable of producing 60 tons of ice every 24 hours keeps the cold-room at sub-zero temperatures, while the car undergoes dynamometer tests. A powerful blower sends a blast of frigid air against the radiator of the car, equaling a 35 mile-an-hour gale.

The new laboratory is a veritable exhibition of the latest mechanical and electrical devices for precision testing of materials and machines.

Four dynamometer rooms are constantly in use making test after test in the silent room completely insulated from all outside noises, entire cars or separate units may be tested for noiselessness. Another room houses the road shock test, where the car is run on rollers having heavy blocks mounted on their circumference, giving the effect of high speed driving over extremely rough roads.

Dr. E. C. Cavell, Fred W. Lyke and Sherrill Ambler are new members of the school board, having been elected to places on the board Monday night at the annual meeting of the school district held at the high school.

Dr. Cavell and Sherrill Ambler were named for the three-year terms, and Fred W. Lyke will fill out the unexpired term of one year of Edward C. Langfield. The appointment of Mr. Ambler to the board at the time of the resignation of Mr. Langfield was run up to the present election, and his selection to the full term was in appreciation of the services which he had given the district in the brief time he had served.

Secretary Ambler read the call of the meeting and also the financial report of the district. Upon motion of Dr. Paul Alexander, the report was accepted.

Nelson Schrader and Mrs. Paul Alexander were appointed as tellers. Nominations for candidates were called for, and Earl Bryan placed before the voters the name of Thomas Carrington, Edward Langfield, when presented the name of Fred Lyke, Charles Altman nominated Sherrill Ambler and Mrs. J. M. Eaton nominated Dr. E. C. Cavell. In the voting that followed at Dr. Cavell, Sherrill Ambler and Fred Lyke ran best. It was then that M. J. Murphy, who had previously declined nomination for the board, moved that the lowest one be dropped from the voting. The motion supported by Joseph Freeman carried and from thence the remainder of the balloting was by acclamation.

There was no other business before the voters and the meeting was over at an early hour.

The school board as now constituted consists of Dr. E. C. Cavell, Fred W. Lyke, Sherrill Ambler, Harry Germann and Wellington Roberts. The last two are hold-over members.

The Northville Record,
Northville, Michigan

Dear Sir:

In addition to publishing a statement in your paper this week showing the financial condition of our public schools, I wish to furnish additional information in order that those interested may become familiar with other conditions at the close of this fiscal year.

In March of this year, I was appointed to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Secretary E. C. Langfield, and since that time I have acted as secretary. This office gave me an opportunity to familiarize myself with the services rendered by the members of our Board of Education previous to my appointment, and inasmuch as former President Ernest Miller, Ray Richardson and former Secretary E. C. Langfield had completed their term of office, I wish to point out some of the outstanding accomplishments of the members of this board.

During their term in office, our school band was organized and developed into one of the best in the country. Arrangements were completed for the purchase of additional buildings and playgrounds west of the school, and since that time this property has been improved until, with the completion of the steel fence which is being installed this week, it will be one of the finest school playgrounds anywhere. On account of the unusual increase in the enrollment, it was necessary to provide additional school rooms for the lower grades and two rooms were added to the grade building, and paid for out of the regular tax money without bonding. For this purpose, a new roof has been installed recently on the high school building, and work is now in progress to redecorate this building throughout and make necessary changes to the heating plant. The school is such that they are on the accredited list with the University of Michigan and the North Central Association.

On account of this splendid showing, which has required an unusual amount of effort, I know that these trustees are to be congratulated, and as a member of the new board, I feel that they have set up a real mark for us to shoot at.

Sincerely,

Sherrill W. Ambler.

WHY FORDSON BAND PLAYED HERE FOURTH

Mystery of Appearance of Neighbors Cleared
by Dr. Haskell

The mystery has been solved—the mystery surrounding the appearance of that splendid group of youthful musicians from the Fordson High School that played all day down at the American Legion Fourth of July celebration at the Northville Wayne County Fair Grounds.

But the circumstances of why and how the band happened to appear was clear to no one in Northville until Dr. Robert Haskell, superintendent of the Wayne County Training School began to inquire as to the reason why the band which had been expected at the school all day the Fourth, did not appear.

In a letter addressed to the training school from Superintendent Harvey Lowrey of Fordson, an old personal friend of Dr. Haskell, the mysterious but welcome appearance of the Fordson players at the Northville celebration in connection with the Northville School Community band is explained as follows:

"You certainly have an apology coming. I don't know when we have ever made such a blunder as occurred in the matter of our band not playing at your institution July 4th."

"The Board of Education were perfectly willing for them to go.

"President Miller in calling the meeting to order presided in that capacity for the last time, as the new board assumes its dues at once. All of the members of the board were present.

Secretary Ambler read the call of the meeting and also the financial report of the district. Upon motion of Dr. Paul Alexander, the report was accepted.

The Board of Education were ter and went to your fair grounds at Northville. They were treated

CHIEF KEEPS THE JUSTICE COURTS BUSY ON MONDAY

Judge Roberts Has Plenty to Do With Sunday Offenders

Sunday was a busy day for Chief of Police William Safford and Monday was a busy day for Justice of the Peace Wellington Roberts. The activity of these two officials added cash to the village till as well, although because of the fact that some of the offenders were committed outside the village limits, it was necessary to take two or three of the offenders under the state laws.

When the fourth meeting of Chief Safford's commissioners was going to have two or three hours of rest, it was shortly after mid-morning Saturday night that the call came. The Chief had just gone to bed. From the time there wasn't much rest until after midnight Sunday night. The result of the day's activities was three arrests—Roy Krebs of Detroit, who collided with a car near the Booth Stock farm, taken for driving while intoxicated; Ross Leemon of Detroit, arrested for driving through a red light, and Elmer Avery on a charge of drunk and disorderly.

TO MOVE BARBER SHOP OUT OF THE ROAD AT POINTS

County Will Give Him $300 for
Portion of the Highway

The little shop in the middle of the street must go. For over a year it has hovered over the new government on Grand River superhighway at Five Points, a single business putting into half the street.

Herbert Simons, proprietor of the barber shop in the little builing, is to receive $300 for damage to his business, according to a decision by Judge Harry J. Dingman of circuit court, Monday. A commission of three was appointed to investigate the situation and fix damages.

When the pavement was built up to and around Simons' shop he estimated his damages at $5,000 and not $1, which he says representatives of the state offered him. Probably the rest has been paid to the owner for the piece which the highway department has been seeing to acquire. Simons' lease on the shop does not expire until next April.

The building has served as a sign post for political aspirants during townsperson elections and has also been a means of expression for Simons himself during his struggle to retain his place of business.

An awning at the front was folded up against the building and a barber pole on a corner was at one time during the year in a collapsed state.—Redford Record.

To make a souffle or baked fruit whip that will not collapse, put the mixture into a buttered baking dish as soon as the whites of eggs have been folded in, and bake it in a very moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for 45 to 50 minutes.

"An alternative source for overstatement is hearty and spirited under-statement. 'Not art' says the cockney, when wishing to say that a thing is an ample whole. 'The time has been,' says Macbeth, 'that, when the brains were out, the man would die; and there was an end.'"

The Greeks had a recognized name for this ruse of saying much less than you mean in the hope that your hearer's mind will make good even more than the large percentage of discount which you have deducted from the truth—cutting fellow, casting your bread on the waters, under the form of a kind of relate in sure and certain faith that it will return to you battered.

Famous Old Canal

The original canal connecting St. Mary's Falls and Lake Huron was made about 1797-98 by settlers and traders in the Northwest country in order to permit them to compete in the transportation of furs with the Hudson's Bay company. This work was practically destroyed by United States troops in 1814 during the war with Great Britain, and in 1853 a system of canals was begun by the state of Michigan within the United States borders to connect Lakes Superior and Huron. This cost $1,000,000 and had three locks. It was enlarged in 1870 in co-operation with the United States government, and in 1882 Michigan relinquished control to the federal government.

Theatrical "Snow"

Few who have seen through a playbill on the matinée picture screen know that the "snow" is contributed by night-blooming flowers. A small flower, and another in Ontario, in this, should not be confused with this form, fastened with paper, however, their blades, coated with white paint, when it is ready to be used. The "snow" is made the same way except that it is not sprayed with water, but is dried in the sun, so that it will not melt when it is applied to the stage.

Standing Pat'

Pat's an adjective probably from the French word "patin," which means "on ice." Its use is not exactly suitable. Its expression is used to give to refer to a bird or set of flocks that are held down to the ground to exercise the privilege of "drilling" and "drawing" cards. Hence the expression "stand pat." This came to the opposition to a chance of a bird. The play on this name is first used to express the attitude of members of the Papal hierarchy to St. Peter's Church in

Bird Alarm Clock

Liberians have given the name "living alarm clock" to the little pepper bird, which with the rising of the sun flutters to house-tops, fences and trees, uttering shrill cries. Both natives and whites have found the bird so dependable that his waking cries are said not to vary more than three minutes from day to day.

Production of Maple

Sugar Natural Wonder

Sugarcane is a purely vegetable production, as in common use, though largely mineral, carbon-hydrate, in its composition. The cane has much to do with its formation; though, as the beet crop proves not so much as was formerly thought to be the case. We know carbon best in the form of coal. Some prefer it in its purest form as diamond. It is one form, or another one of the commonest things in nature. How it gets into a maple tree it would be hard to say. "Out of nothing, nothing comes," and no man would care to claim that the tree makes it in the face of that dictum. If the roots search for and having found it in the soil, pass it up through the sap, they are very clever, or parts of a wonderfully clever machine. If it is found in the combustion of vegetable, and of some mineral matter, and there may be intimate connection between sunshine in the tree tops and the searchings of the roots which gets it into the mounting sap. We shall find it all out some day.—Montreal Family Herald.

The church was well attended Sunday morning when Rev. George Gullion preached a very stirring sermon. We were all glad to see him back after his vacation.

CHIEF KEEPS THE JUSTICE COURTS BUSY ON MONDAY

Judge Roberts Has Plenty to Do With Sunday Offenders

Sunday was a busy day for Chief of Police William Safford and Monday was a busy day for Justice of the Peace Wellington Roberts. The activity of these two officials added fresh to the village till, if not although because of the fact that some of the offenses were committed outside the village limits, it was necessary to take two or three of the offenders under the state laws.

When the Fourth ended Chief Safford thought he was going to have two or three days of rest! It was shortly after midnight Saturday night when the first call came.

The Chief had just gotten to bed when on there wasn't much rest until after midnight Sunday night. The result of the day's activity was three arrests-Roy Kircho of Detroit, who collided with a car near the Booth Stock farm taken for driving while intoxicated.

Rose Leemon of Detroit arrested for driving through a red light, and

Elmer Avery on a charge of drunk and disorderly.

Rose said she was in a hurry to get home but her nose cost her $15.

Judge Roberts said it wasn't necessary to go so fast one could not see,

NEW APPLE PEST INVADERS STATE GROWERS TOLD

Another Kind Of Spray Necessary To Kill Off Latest Apple Pest

Northville fruit growers have been advised of the appearance of the apple maggot in several localities in Michigan, which makes it necessary for the grower who wishes to produce first class late fall and winter apples to apply a special spray to control this insect.

The apple maggot is the larva of the codling moth, and it differs from the codling moth larvae so, that it can be identified by a careful observer.

The apple maggot is white, is smaller than the codling moth larvae, and has no head.

The maggot feeds throughout the flesh of the apple.

Successful control is dependent upon proper timing for the application of the protective sprays. The first spray must be applied after the emergence of the adult flies and before they have had a chance to lay their eggs, and a second spray is applied two weeks later.

The spray recommended by entomologists at Michigan State College is one pound of insecticide to 50 gallons of water.

This night the extra spray should be applied after she had to dig up the insects where the apple maggot is present.

A tasty way to cook string beans is to shred them finely, and give them a short quick cooking in a comparatively small amount of lightly salted water. Remove the beans, ends and strings, and cut the beans lengthwise into long, thin shreds, with a pair of scissors. If the beans are young they will cook tender in from 15 to 20 minutes. They will keep their good green color and have a delicate fresh flavor if cooked quickly and for a very short time. Season with melted butter and more salt if necessary.

In an effort to prevent an automobile accident at the new turn on Main ad Plymouth avenue where workmen are at present widening the paving, Charles Safford of the Grosse Pointe Hunt club drove his car into a sand bank Saturday night. The car was but slightly damaged. When Cheif Safford went down to remove the machine Sunday morning at the request of the owner, he found that the heavy rain had washed the sand around the car so that it was buried nearly a foot deep in places.

In Monroe

At a lovely June wedding Saturday, June 29th, Miss Elizabeth Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Norton of Knight Street, Eaton Rapids, became the bride of Lewis J. Bassett, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bassett of Farmington.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Bishop of Lansing, the home of the bride, in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends. The house was attractively decorated with vari-colored bouquets of Canterbury bells, bachelor buttons, rose-gloves and larkspur. The same flowers were used to form an altar effect combined with palms and germs before a bay window of the living room where the ceremony was performed.

Miss Norton, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an attractive gown of pale green sheer lace with a cocktail jacket of the same material. She carried a bouquet of rosebuds, sweet peas and orange.

Miss Marjorie Hoyle, the bride's only attendant, wore a flesh colored georgette gown, the courted collar being "set" with a jewel set in gold. Her flowers were butterfly roses.

Levi Lamb of Greeley, Colorado, acted as best man to Mr. Bassett.

Price was the entrance of the bride, Miss Hazel Field of Jackson sang a "Jazzing."

Following the ceremony the wedding supper was served to the guests. The orchard table was covered with a lot bouquet of pink and white rosebuds with orange.

It is a mistake to try to save ice by wrapping it in paper or cloth.

You want to save food which is done by lowering the refrigerator temperature below the warm air coming into contact with ice.

Usually there's the ice, but at the same time accomplishes the purpose of refrigeration.

Talent and Prestige*Needed for "Authority"

Throughout the ages man has striven vainly with his fellow countrymen to attain that "boundless" authority over his fellows, but it has been left to Albus Huxley in Vanity Fair, to tell why a man wants to be an authority.

What are a man's motives for wanting to be an authority? The two necessary attributes of authority are in the first place talent and in the second, a prestige which is a product partly of that talent and partly of causes external to the talented individual. No body without some sort of outstanding talent can hope to become an authority for the world at large. At the same time, talent without prestige has lacked authority during their lifetime; authority has only come to them posthumously with a posthumous accession of prestige. In this age of newspapers the greatest source of prestige is publicity, the mere fact of being somebody who figures in the news. It is possible for any public person, whatever the nature of his success-bringing specialty, to become an authority.

American Indians Not

Wanderers by Nature
The barefoot American ethnologist says, "One of the commonest classes of early Americans," by no means yet entirely dissipated, was the Indian tribes, having no fixed place of abode, but wandering hither and thither as they, or the necessities of subsistence demanded.

The term "wanderer" is not in fact appropriate to any Indian tribes. Every tribe and every confederacy of tribes, with few exceptions, had claims to and dwelt within the limits of a certain tract or region, a boundaries of which were well understood and were handed down by tradition and not ordinarily relinquished save to a superior force. Between many of the tribes, indeed, were debatable areas, owned by neither, claimed by all, which from time immemorial formed the cause of disputes and frequent wars.—Guardian Magazine.

Excommunication Only Way

When Nathaniel Parker Willis wished to withdraw from membership in the Park Street Congregational Church in Boston his town meeting was in session in the elasticating scheme had originated with withdrawal by the authority of the Lord Jesus Christ, he was excommunicated from the church in Glasgow, U. K., in the Anglican Church.

He accepted withdrawal, it was said, in view of the opposition with which the doctrinal tenets of religion and the church had been held by those who go to the theater and did not attend church services.

—Washington Post writes: "It is to be regretted that never have existed to my knowledge, if any, but one legal religion, for I have confidence in no man who is not

Inspiration for Saws

The dentist president says: "At 20 years, we were not made by any ordinary hand saws with teeth pointed out in the middle of the blade." A German man seems to have had a wooden blade with an iron teeth coping almost exact to those in a sawbone and these iron teeth devoured, cutting the substance of the teeth. For example, the types of early saws used until teeth could be cast or volume gives still others broken sharp while in some of the Pacific islands wooden saws were found, the teeth of sharks inserted along the edge of the blade. It therefore seems likely that the saw was the inspiration for saws.

Innocent Beginning

Mired in the depths of juvenile depravity, David, age three, horrified a North Side household by strutting from room to room vigorously repeating "Dog gone! Dog gone! Dog gone!" Whereupon he had picked up his incipient infantile profligacy was a matter of much concern to his elders until "Grandma" remembered that she painstakingly had been trying to teach him that well known classic beginning: "Oh where oh where has my little dog gone?" and the young lad's dog absence measured the extent of his proficiency—indisputably News.

Man Who "Never Died"

Ends the career of Methusalem never see death according to Hebrews 7: "But it is written in the passage says: 'I took' was translated 'that he was not seen death, and he was not to die' because God transfigured him before his translation he died this treason, so that he pleased God." This passage is the basis for the popular but mis-leading statement that Methusalem is the oldest man mentioned in the Bible, died before his father died. Gen. 5:23 says: "And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him."

Sure Sign of Old Age

A young man in Kansas City came downtown on a recent morning looking tired and worn. "No, I'm not sick," he said. "I'm just getting old." Then he explained his thirteen-year-old daughter had had a party the night before. "He was trying to help entertain as always had done at such affairs since she was a baby. Pretty soon his wife beckoned him into the next room. "Paw," she said, "go upstairs and let the young folks have a good time"—Canner's Weekly.

Sweden has as many different dialects as it has provinces ranging from the half-swallowed Danish-like talk of Scania to the high-pitched singing speech of Dalecarlia. But although the dialects of the country people are confusing, they use the same words in most cases and a short residence among the inhabitants is sufficient to bring a glimmering of understanding, even to the person acquainted only with Stockholmese.
