GOOD LETTER

That was a very good letter by Elton R. Ambler, secretary of the school board, requested the Record to publish last week. In brief it was a review of the work that the reuniting school board had accomplished during the past two or three years. We don't know as we can exhaust over the five-foot fence that the board has erected around the school playground when possibly one, three-foot high would have answered the purpose just as well. But that is indeed a small matter when you stop to think of the many other splendid things the board did accomplish.

To our way of thinking the most outstanding work of the old board escaped consideration in Mr. Ambler's excellent letter. It was the establishment of the summer school. There is not the slightest doubt but what the board rendered to this district an outstanding service when it voted to start a summer school for the assistance of children who might possibly be held back in their grades if not for the little extra summer work provided.

It is a benefit to the children. It is a BIG saving to the taxpayers. When a child is held in school a year or so longer, he generally takes to complete the grade and high school work. It is a real expense to the taxpayers.

Statistics compiled some eight or nine years ago by the Research department of the National Education Association showed that the average cost per year to taxpayers for sending a child to school was somewhat over $90 in Michigan. These are not recent figures and we all know that during the past eight or nine years the cost of everything including education has advanced by leaps and bounds.

It will be readily seen from this what a big saving the old school board made for the district. There have been some forty children attending the summer school. We can safely predict that, if their work has been at all satisfactory, they will be able to continue with their grades "justified" and as a result will graduate with their classes.

Figure it out. There is a saving for this one year alone of between $3,600 to $4,000 to the district.

Of course, probably all of the children who have attended summer school will not continue up to the trades. The great majority of them will. Many have come from school last winter because of illness. As a result of this, there is no work either. The men profiting from the summer school are not members of the Board, are as follows:

OTHERS LISTED

Mr. Johnson and Mrs. W. C. Grand River, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moseley, who are engaged in the electrical improvement and are now making these plans of great interest.

Naturally the components of Redford wanted to get on board. They noted that progress with the highway expansion project is being made. Of course, Northville being practically on the highway is in interest in the development as itself. It is interesting to note that the Redford Record has to say about Grand River development.

Progress is the name itself forward! Grand River is the name of the river that crosses the avenue and we are watching developments with the greatest interest in the development of Grand River street highway.

It was just four years ago when Redford started his first business, a row of houses along our main street. The first narrow paved street in the city was considered one of the seven wonders of the world, and old timers remember proudly its meadow into service. A few years passed and the road experiment gave way to a wider paved road upon which two cars could easily pass. A few years soon found that improvement inadequate for the increased traffic and then the Wayne County Road Commission began the building of our two-way, frame bridge across our pavement on either side of the car tracks. Some six years ago the paving had progressed as far northward as from the City Hall to Meijer's road, but year after year the work has been continued until today the job is nearly complete in Wayne county. Before long the Grand River avenue will be a two-way artery all the way out to the Eight Mile road, the Wayne-Oakland county line. There Oakland county is continuing the widening which is destined to extend west to Farmington, perhaps to as far as Novi.

However before Wayne county can lay down its tools as far as Grand River's concern there is, I hope, a highly interesting proposal concerning its widening through Redford's business section. This is to be an expensive and laborious undertaking, but its completion is looked forward to with great anticipation by local business men who hesitate to see the job started yet who realize it must be begun in the name of progress for there is no other Grand River avenue. Other of Detroit's main highways near coast of one, two or more parallel streets but Grand River avenue is in a class all its own and there is none other.

Through the years of the immediate past it is within the memory of men now living to recall the trail, the plank, toll-road, the first concrete, and now the super-highway. Who is there so foreseen, to prophesy what improvements will come to this highway which passes by our front doors in the five or ten years of tomorrow? In day dreams one may attempt to visualize the street in 1940, but after all the vision would be but a dream. Today we have our avenue as it is and we must be eager to keep abreast of the times—always Detroit's greatest highway.

BILL BOARDS

Probably of all the obnoxious forms of advertising that has been created, the bill boards are the right to first prize. It spoils the looks of the roadside. It blocks the view so necessary at some turn in the highway and it stands out like a sore thumb.

We are pleased to know that the road commission of Wayne county blocks the erection of bill boards wherever possible. There are some around Northville that could be removed that would greatly please the motorists.

It is interesting to note that men in the real estate business are protesting their opposition to this system of despoiling the landscape. The following resolution was recently passed at a real estate convention in Boston:

"We believe outdoor advertising where it detracts from the sightliness of residential areas and mars rural scenic beauty is unfair to the general public and the property owner."

"We believe that bill boards or other outdoor advertisements should not be permitted where they form a dangerous or unnecessary traffic hazard."

"We recognize the natural beauty of our country as a public heritage to be conserved and the gigantic expenditures by the public in its highways as an investment to be protected."

"RESOLVED, That the National Association of Real Estate Boards request the Department of Commerce of the United States to investigate and make recommendations concerning the possibilities of just regulations of outdoor advertising."

"RESOLVED FURTHER, That this association tender to the Department of Commerce the full co-operation of its officers, directors and legal counsel and the co-operation of the member boards in conducting this investigation."

WE ENVY YOU

Every day we see an automobile loaded with camping equipment, fish poles and cook stoves leaving Northville. Our folks are on a vacation. Some have gone to the northern part of the state. Others have ventured into the warmer southern climate of Ohio, Kentucky and on down to Washington.

We are glad to see you go. Have a good time. Enjoy your vacation to the fullest extent. Many of us who are not with you would like to go and we stay at home enjoying you and your good time. Sometimes we think the stay-at-homes are indeed foolish. They don't go because they think up in their mind a dozen reasons why they can't go.

As a matter of fact their business or their job would probably get along better without them than with them. It is a hundred to one bet that they would be worth more to their job or business if they did go into the woods and took a good rest. There is such a thing as people getting into a rut. Often a real vacation, with plenty of rest will make you a much more valued worker and citizen.

We say again, go, have a good time. Fish, rest—and then when you come back to Northville you will feel better and we will wager you will live longer.

THE FINAL BANG

IN ORDER that the point of this story may be made clear, a word or two of preliminary explanation is required. Artist Hopkins, one of the younger group of theatrical producers, is a squarely built little man not more than five feet six inches in height and with rather an emphatic way of speaking: "It is characteristic of him that once he has made up his mind to do a thing, he acts upon his decision with his whole soul; nor, when he expresses himself, is there ever any doubt as to his exact meaning."

A season or so back he put on rather an expensive play for a try-out before bringing it into New York. The production did not seem to everybody concerned. The planning and the defendant were both slow-witted, and everything had to be explained to them at least twice.

"Do I understand, my man," said the magistrate at one point, "that the defendant harbored intentions at you?"

King-Main-ain scratched his head wildly. Then a look of understanding dawned in his eyes as he replied: "No, sir, to tell the truth, it was only bricks he threw at me; but what I complain about was the terrible way he swore at me when they missed."

Beauties Made by Dust

For a long and contribute to the beauty of the sky, both resulting short waves of suddenly world pour down there as white light, out for the elusive three minutes that go in the way of silk and satin, and the mountains and the hills.

King-Main-ain scratched his head wildly. Then a look of understanding dawned in his eyes as he replied: "No, sir, to tell the truth, it was only bricks he threw at me; but what I complain about was the terrible way he swore at me when they missed."

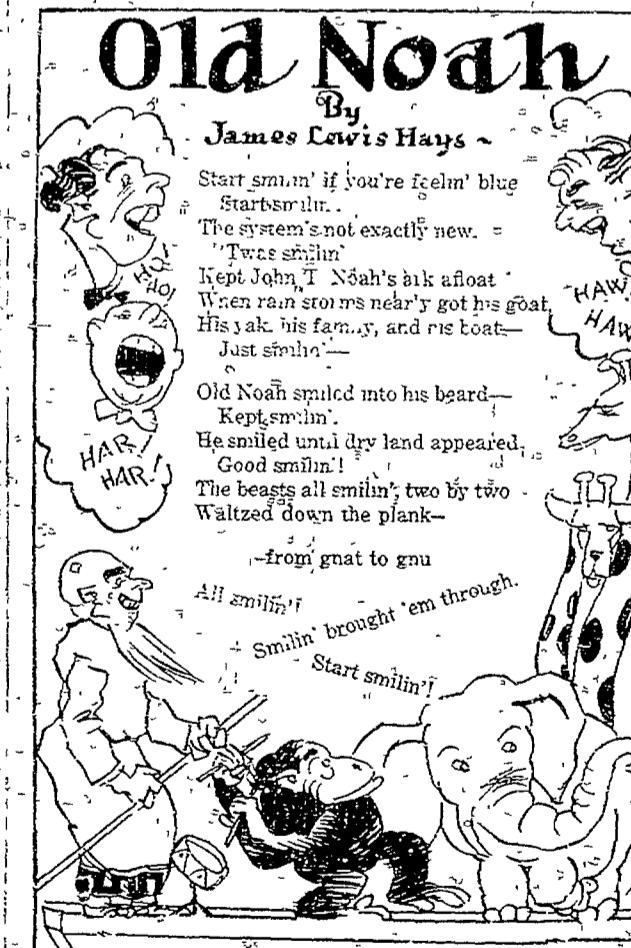

The Limit

A FEW KIND WORDS

The following article, written by Fred Keister, editor and publisher of the Ionia County News, contains a bit of "taffy" for both Dr. Robert Haskell and the Record editor. Sometimes even editors fall for it.

While on the way to the summer outing it was the pleasure of the editorial party to be entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Elton R. Eaton of Northville, and on Thursday at breakfast with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Haskell at their residence on the grounds of the Wayne County Training School for defective children, which is located near Northville.

It was our pleasure to find both Dr. and Mrs. Haskell intensely interested in this splendid work for humanity, salvaging from the troughs poured up by a great city hundreds of little human bodies, correcting both bodies and minds, that they may be a blessing to the world and not a burden upon society.

It is not our intention to dwell upon this work to any extent at this time; it has been arranged that on a later trip a complete story of Dr. Haskell's work may be told, which will be unusually interesting to hundreds of Ionia County people who knew Dr. and Mrs. Haskell while they were located in Ionia.

Editor Eaton, at whose home we were royally entertained, the first night was for two days a private secretary to former governor Alex J. Goebel. Before becoming secretary to the governor, he was for several years editor of the Gazette at Kalamazoo, where he built up a state-wide reputation as a newspaper publisher.

Buying a good here bull is the first step in growing better beef cattle at less cost per pound. In common of native-cow herds, calves sired by purebred bulls average 125 pounds a head more when one year old than calves of the same age sired by average-scrub bulls, and they sell for about two cents a pound more as stockers and feeders, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Two-year-old steers sired by good purebred bulls weigh on the average about 200 pounds more a head than steer sired by scrub bulls and sell for considerably more.

Small farms in a high state of cultivation, where large quantities of feed are produced, may be stocked with breeding cows to a maximum carrying capacity and the calves disposed of at weaning time or fattened as bats fed to advantage. In this way practically no other cattle than the breeding herd are maintained, and less feed and pasture are needed, and when the calves are carried over to co-operative cotton gins, as local units of centralized state-wide cooperative cotton-marketing associations, are developed rapidly. At least four of the larger cooperative cotton-marketing associations have already entered the ginning field and have organized one or more co-operative gins. Five gins were operated by state-wide cotton-marketing associations during the 1926-27 ginning season and 25 during the 1927-28 season.

Electric Cooking
Is COOL

IN summer, the heat of an ordinary oven makes the kitchen almost unbearable. Electric ovens are liberally insulated, and the increase in kitchen temperature when the oven is in use is hardly noticeable. The heat is kept inside where it is needed—one of the several reasons why electric cooking is efficient.

You can enjoy electric cooking in your kitchen now. Convenient time payments and a liberal allowance for your present cooking equipment make it unusually easy for you to own a modern electric range. Come in and inspect the many attractive models.

SALEM LOSES ITS FIRST BALL GAME

Salem lost the first game of the series with Northern Michigan Athletie club of Detroit, at Heeneys field, last Sunday afternoon, by a score of 9 to 5.

The heavy hitting of the N. M. A. C. was the factor that sent the Salem team down to defeat. Both teams played five scoreless innings before the visitors picked up three runs in the sixth.

Atchison pitched good baseball until the eighth when he began to tire and was replaced by Watts in the ninth. Watts allowed three runs and five hits while in the box.

Sunday, July 21st, Salem will engage Scio in the second game of the series at Heeneys field at 2:30 p.m.

Is now under way. The construction contract calls for a surety bond in an amount sufficient to guarantee the completion of the building in accordance with plans and specifications on file with the trust company trustee.

This beautiful place of sacred memories will fully and completely meet the requirements of those persons of fine feelings and sensibilities who abhor below ground burial. We have presented a plan that one can consider with clarity, openness, breadth and thoughtfulness, the same as any other sensible provision.

There can be no question but that mausoleum entombment holds for the living more of comfort and less of bereavement than any other provision that can be made. It gives the sense, not of hiding away or losing, but of providing a home—a last resting place that is beautiful, comfortable and eternally secure.

Westminster Abbey will be just as beautiful and permanent as money, art and science can build. A few desirable memorial rooms and crypts remain. The cost need be no more than earth burial.

Sees Mankind WithoutEither Teeth or Chin

That mankind will not need to worry much longer about getting toothache or spilling remnants of breakfast on its chin is the conclusion of a British student of dental architecture, Dr. G. E. Palmer.

"Soon men will bite, he believes, neither teeth nor chin, for any purpose at all. Toothless and chinless, our descendants will run the world, unless something forces a radical change in human food. Ages ago men and other animals needed really to work their jaws in order to eat."

Cooking had not reduced the majority of foods to a soft pulp, knives and forks had not been invented to relieve the teeth of their primeval duty to tear off whatever was to be eaten."

There is why nearly all the tasks of man's class developed until pointed front teeth that can bite or gnaw bits of meat or succulent root. That is the reason, too, for the sharp-pointed canines teeth on either side of the front ones—spearing implements to transfix the selected morsel while it is being gnawed loose.

Nowadays none of these duties are necessary. Cooking and table manners have dispensed them. Nature is always economical. Doctor Palmer believes, and accordingly she is gradually reducing the length of the human chin, the protrusion of the front teeth and the size and number of the teeth themselves. In a few hundred years table manners are apt to leave everybody chinless and almost jawless. —Ed. Free Ph. D. in the Washington Star.

Odd Foods Favored inCave and Elsewhere

Koreans, like many Orientals, live mostly on rice. They cook their seaweed in oil and serve it with slices of red peppers. Kimchi, a kind of sauerkraut, is a favorite Korean dish. To the north, the natives of Kamchatka relish the tongues and the marrow of the reindeer, but the piecemeal bones of the meat of unborn fawns. From the stomach of the reindeer the natives obtain their greens—half-digested balls of moss. A delectable native dish is reindeer sausage which has been boiled in water, then the liver and the penis where salmon are plentiful, dishes of boiled fish eyes are considered a delicacy.

Perhaps few people live as close to nature as the pygmies of the Belgian Congo. Tender roots are staples, but birds, small game, fruits and extraneous are not unmentionable. A diet of white ants is prized highly by these diminutive people who in spite of their scanty meat menus live well.

The Carp-Making Industry

The first carpet making on a large scale was done in an establishment founded by Henry IV in France—the Louvre. This was followed shortly by one called "Stavromerit" at Châlons and one at Beauvais by minister Cobert in 1661. In 1727 Ingrian carpets were made at Kildminster. The earl of Utton established a factory at Wilton in 1745. During a period of upheaval hundreds of carpet workers were driven out of France. They took refuge in Flanders and Holland and there a large industry sprang up and flourished. Brussels carpets were introduced in England by founders by John Brown in 1749. The first carpets made in America were made by hand looms. Curtis Bagshaw of Boston, Mass., perfected the first power loom.

Proof

He was a cautious young man and a first believer in egomaniacs, but when he met the doctor's lovely daughter, he fell in love with her and finally threw discretion to the winds and asked the young lady to marry him.

She accepted him and he was in the seventh heaven all the evening.

Next morning, however, his natural caution returned, and he called upon her father.

"Oh, doctor," he said, "your daughter has promised to marry me. I—I wanted to know if there is any—er—insanity in your family."

The doctor looked at him gravely over his glasses.

"There must be," he said.

Many blind creatures of the deep sea are provided with harpoon appendages of a highly sensitive nature, by means of which they apparently feel their way about.

The light that does exist in depths below 500 fathoms is not the light of day but a phosphorescence or luminosity such as one sees at the surface occasionally.

Some of these creatures have luminous globules on various parts of their bodies which enable them to go through the deep waters much like a motor car on land, shedding a light before them on their path.

In this Victor Fleming production, taken from the novel by Harvey Fergusson, Gary Cooper takes the part of a young trapper who has made his way westward from Kentucky to the wild plains and mountains of the southwest.

Lure Velez, Casablanca beauty from Mexico City, has the role of a rich daughter of the Spanish Basques who have established their civilization in the land infested by the "mountain men."

Stoush Wolheim, whose wavy nose has made him known as the "man with the million dollar face," has a featured role as Cooper's trapper buddy, with Constantine Romanoff, former contender for the heavyweight championship, as the burly champion.

The versatile and exotic Liane has plenty of opportunity in the film to exhibit her powers as a dancer and loves-making, and she doesn't let the opportunity slip by. Cooper, the handsome and rugged "man among men," extends himself to put everything he has into the part of a "wolf-eating" he-man. There is splendid support from a large group of character actors.

KEN MAYNARD SCORES A HIT WITH FLAWLESS LEGION

The Lawless Legion, Ken Maynard's latest starring vehicle comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday, July 21st. This is a fast, gay well told story with just the right amount of romance, thrill and drama to make it a typical Maynard and the kind that has moved this star into the high position he holds today.

The story deals with a huge cattle drive in which Ken and his horse Tarzan are intrusted with the job of driving them from Texas to the border. This tremendous herd of cattle represents the combined stock of an entire community who find it necessary to seek other grazing lands because of a continued drought.

The picture opens with Ken in jail where fit has been put for disturbing the peace but as soon as he starts on the trail with between right and ten thousand head of cattle he finds his freedom.

The Lawless Legion, derive a name from the band of organized bandits who rob both endeavor to get the herd out so it will be same time run. Ken's reputation and the only girl is then up to him to get them back which he does, but not until after tremendous odds.

Charles R. Rodgers, producer of the Maynard series and his director Harry J. Brown certainly know the audience appeal for the Lawless Legion is a real drama with all the action that could possibly be crammed into a six reel motion picture.

There are several stunts performed that tell about would sound impossible, but seeing is believing.

A very capable cast is Nora Lane who plays the sensible role of Paul Hurst and J. P. McGowan, the two arch villains are very good. Frank Rice and Howard Truesell are seen to advantage. However the entire picture belongs to Ken and Tarzan, and when they are on the screen it is hard time for much of anything else.

SEVEN FOOTPRINTS TO SATAN

SAVANAH MYSTERY FILM

The modern trend toward mystery plays and pictures thus "Seven Footprints to Satan" First National mystery film at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday, July 24th.

No one knows just why or when the present craze for the weird and mysterious in varying forms of all entertainment started. But today, the stages and screens are crowded with such plays and films and the bookstores are loaded with volumes magazines and even technical works on detection, chemicals, detective, dismembered prints, and everything else.

"Seven Footprints to Satan" is a straight mystery play, but exceptionally fascinating, and by its very fantasy, holds the interest and attention throughout. From the moment Five and Jim, sweethearts, are kidnapped and taken to the house of Satan, until the time they escape after the wildest experiences that ever befell two human beings, there is no let up in the excitement.

Creighton Hale and Thelma Todd are in the leading roles. Sheldon Lewis, Wm. V. Mong, Sojin, Laska Winter, M. DeVitt, Jennings, Kalla Pasha and others appear in the massive cast. Benjamin Christensen, the Danish director and Wild Gunning, who produced the film, are both ardent mystery fans. They worked assiduously over the script which was prepared by Richard Bee from the novel by A. Merritt.

Christensen delights in weird characters. He insists that his actors shall be given every opportunity for developing the roles and as a result there is naturalness about every role that is convincing even in the most impossible situations.

For one thing the director has contrived beauty with weirdness.

Thus a harem of lovely girls is exposed to a concourse of terribly menacing creatures. Suspense is maintained to the ultimate degree. There is no let up at the end.

ALL TOWNSHIPSGET TAX INCREASE EXCEPT DEARBORN

As a result of the equalization of property values for tax purposes by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, Dearborn is the only one of the 18 townships in Wayne county which shows a decrease.

That's What Doc Cavell Says About
His New Lawn Mower

Wanted—Butler who understands butlering. Must have black green and purple suits. State age color of hair and ability
All replies given careful attention
Dr. E. B. Cavell.

No the old has not been given to the Record of publication, but do not be surprised if you see it in the next few weeks. Doc it seems is rapidly approaching that position in life where the services of a butler will soon be required.

The first indication of his approach to the exalted and exclusive circles of butlerdom came this morning.

Some of his friends were driving by his country estate located on the east side of town.

"Whoa! Back up!"

The friends turned and looked.
They looked twice. Sure, that's Doc said one of the party.

"No, I am not sure. Maybe it somebody else."

The two got out of their machine and marched across the spacious lawns of the Cavell Home and sure enough it was Doc Cavell.

"What are your names, gentlemen?"
asked the Doc.

The two looked at each other—why the Doc had known them for years.

"Where's your card?" asked Doc again.

"One tore off the corner of the Northville Record, with his name stamped on it and handed it to the Doc."

"On yes. We have met before—but I can't quite make it clear where it was," responded Cavell.

Not exactly high-hatting—but the Doctor has become tired of pushing a lawn mower around his 40 acres of whereabouts of dawn and has decided to do like other aristocrats and country club folks. He bought himself a lawn mower that operates by horse energy.

"Of course, maybe the fellows think I am getting a little stylish thunk I am getting a little typhic but I am doing it to save my back," explained the doctor to friends.

Well, he's been talking about a butler—I guess it isn't his pactially deluded a kindly doubting Thomas. It's still, I'm sure,

I don't care what they think—if I want to now my lawn with a horse, it'll be a horse. If I want one, I'll get one. If I want two, I'll get two. If I want three, I'll get three. If I want four, I'll get four. If I want five, I'll get five. If I want six, I'll get six. If I want seven, I'll get seven. If I want eight, I'll get eight. If I want nine, I'll get nine. If I want ten, I'll get ten. If I want eleven, I'll get eleven. If I want twelve, I'll get twelve. If I want thirteen, I'll get thirteen. If I want fourteen, I'll get fourteen. If I want fifteen, I'll get fifteen. If I want sixteen, I'll get sixteen. If I want seventeen, I'll get seventeen. If I want eighteen, I'll get eighteen. If I want nineteen, I'll get nineteen. If I want twenty, I'll get twenty. If I want thirty, I'll get thirty. If I want forty, I'll get forty. If I want fifty, I'll get fifty. If I want sixty, I'll get sixty. If I want seventy, I'll get seventy. If I want eighty, I'll get eighty. If I want ninety, I'll get ninety. If I want one hundred, I'll get one hundred.

That's what Doc Cavell says about

his new lawn mower.

FARMERS WORKING
NIGHT AND DAY TO FINISH HARVEST

RAINS AND HOT WEATHER
BRING ABOUT RUSH FOR PRODUCERS

Farmers in this part of the state, and there are quite a few of them left, are just now working night and day in effort to overcome the disadvantage that weather conditions have forced upon them.

Rain delayed harvesting and made it almost impossible to cultivate their corn. On time of the wet weather the sun comes at times beaming brightly, and as a result wheat is ready to cut. Harvesting, cultivating and harvesting fall coming at one time means a busy day for the farmer. And that is what they are all doing in this part of Wayne, Washtenaw and Oakland counties
just at present.

If you keep the binder running at night time and if you have seen big loads of hay being moved from the fields at night, just make up your mind that Mr. Farmer is trying to do in a few days time what ordinarily takes some weeks to accomplish.

The wet weather caused some damage to hay in this section.

Much of it was down last week when the downpours started, and in some sections some of it spoiled before it could be taken care of.

The parents' boy, maintaining a child in good food, has only problems may develop at any time.

Playmates, who are allowed to pick and choose what they will eat at home may have a detrimental influence.

There are times when the best of children have unlucky appearances.

The mother must try to have all food attractive in appearance, odor and flavor to tempt the appetite, and use judgment in handing the child a table. Quietly expecting the food that is set before him to be eaten goes a long way toward accomplishing that end.

Timely Tips For
Northville Gardeners

Seeds of annual larkspur, lupines, calceolarias and candytuft may be sown now.

Remove the old flower stalks from the black locusts. Keep the ground cultivated and if a tree-like shrub is desired, remove the suckers.

Cut roses while they are in the bud and poppet the night before they open.

Cantebury bells may be potted for porch use and they are very decorative for this purpose.

Clip forget-me-nots after the bloom is gone to insure fall flowers.

Mulch strawberries with lawn clippings. This type of mulch may also be used for roses.

Snapdragon seeds may be sown indoors for winter bloom.

The foliage of early flowering bulbs should be removed as soon as it turns brown.

Hedges and evergreens may be trimmed now. Do not cut the evergreens too severely.

Grape vines should be sprayed with arsenate of lead to kill the worms which cause the leaves to curl.

Small fruit trees bearing peaches and plums may be trained over and all the deformed and imperfect fruit removed. A better crop will be obtained if this is done.

Corn beans winter beets and turnips may also be planted now. Celery may also be transplanted for a late fall crop.

To whip cream successfully in warm weather, it is well to chill the cream, bowl and whipper before you begin. Cream for whipping should contain at least 30 per cent butterfat, aged for 24 hours or more.

To prevent buttermilk from "wheyng off" in summer, the cream should be churned when only mildly sour, and the buttermilk should be cooled immediately and kept as cold as possible. In hot weather the curd is likely to settle to the bottom, leaving clear whey on top. In this form buttermilk is not so attractive. Buttermilk that is only mildly sour and is kept in a refrigerator or in cold water will usually whey off very little for several days.

HOW EMPLOYEE OF NEWS GOT AWAY FROM BANDIT GANG

Makes Escape by Driving into Police Station at Plymouth

A Detroit News employee, John Carmichael, made his escape from Detroit bandits at Plymouth, Monday, by turning his machine into the driveway of the police station. The story as told in the News follows:

"While making collections shortly after noon Monday, John Carmichael, 229 Lenox Avenue, 20-year-old collector for the classified advertising department of the Detroit News, was overtaken on Chicago Boulevard near Farier avenue by three men in a large sedan and ordered to drive out Plymouth road ahead of us."

Carmichael said he did as ordered and at Newbury road, one of the three displayed a revolver and directed him to drive north. About half a mile from Plymouth road he was ordered to stop and two of the men jumped from their car, thrust revolvers into young Carmichael's ribs and ordered him to get out and stick up his hands," the collector said. According to Carmichael, one of the pair searched him and addressed him as "Sanders."

"How long have you been using the name of Carmichael?" the youth said the bandits asked him. "We know you're Sanders and we're going to get you some day," they threatened.

When I asked them to stop kidnapping one of them struck me in the eye with his fist," Carmichael said, in relating the story. "They took $14 from my pocket and then handed it back, saying they knew what name I was using now and they would get me right some day. They didn't want money, I guess."

They next ordered me to drive into Plymouth and I did, with the three following closely behind. One of them started to get in the News car with me, but another advised him not to. I drove to Plymouth and instead of turning at the first traffic signal as ordered, I drove into the driveway at police headquarters. The bandits sped on."

Carmichael said the two men who had revolvers were "tall for娇子." One wore a dark blue suit and the other a grey suit with a stripe. One of the pair had a black mustache. The driver was a small dark man. All were unshaven. The three conversed among themselves in some foreign language. The car used was a black Auburn, with engine running. It had a license number in front, but none on the rear. Carmichael said:

"Propagation of Trees and Shrubs" is the title of Plumper Bulletin 1967-D, a new bulletin that can be obtained free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. It describes the methods of propagating deciduous fruit trees as well as trees and shrubs for the home ornamental.

The common toad should be welcomed as a pest on the farm, since it is an enemy of many injurious insects including the plum and apple curculio, potato beetle and caterpillars, caneworm and gypsy and browntail moth caterpillars. About 99 per cent of the toad's food is of animal origin, and more than 80 per cent consists of harmful insects, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The toad feeds during the evening and night and in 24 hours consumes insect food equal to four times its stomach capacity.

A colt gets more than half its fast growth during the first year so it should be kept growing well. The mare needs plenty of pasture grass and grain to stimulate a good supply of milk for the foal. When the colt is from three to four weeks old it should be given some grain. A good mixture is four parts crushed corn, three parts bran, and one part linseed meal. As soon as it will eat hay, some good legume hay should be provided. The colt should be weaned at from five to six months, when it is eating plenty of grain and hay.

If the weather prevents making good hay from the sweet-clover crop, it may be saved by putting it in the silo. Cut the crop until they are thoroughly dried, then put the crop into the silo like corn. If sweet clover is cut too early it is sappy and the silage is likely to spoil. After sweet clover has passed the blooming stage, it is too hard and woody to make good silage unless it is chopped fine, thoroughly tramped, and wet down with a hose. Sweet clover yields from five to ten tons of silage per acre.

A simple way to increase the number of bee colonies in an apiary, when each colony is to be divided in two, is to remove the lower hive body containing the queen and brood to a new location. A hive containing empty combs is placed on the old stand and a queenless one, containing a queen almost ready to emerge, is placed between the combs in a cell-protector, the second being put in place. A hive-body with full combs of honey is put on the removed hive containing the queen for the winter food supply. To prevent the return of too many bees of the new colony to their old location, the entrance of the new hive should be closed with green grass. As this dries the bees are released. When out-apiaries are maintained, the original hive is divided into two equal parts, the queenless portion given a queen cell and one part moved to another apiary to prevent its return to the old stand. Colonies should be increased before early August.

Chickens from the flock selected, young broiler, should be put on a fattening ration gradually and care taken not to overfeed at the beginning.

Keep the birds with a keen appetite for the first few days and gradually increase the quantity fed each time. Toward the latter part of the fattening period they may eat all they will eat. Fattening rations may be made up of a variety of grains. Two feed ones are as follows:

Six parts corn meal, three parts rolled oats and one part corn middlings, or six parts corn meal, two parts ground oats (without hulls) and two parts middlings.

Feed these rations with milk, using two pounds of milk to one pound of mash. If milk is not available, add one-half part of meat scrap to the mash.

Small farms in a high state of civilization, where large quantities of feed are produced, may be stocked with breeding cows to a maximum carrying capacity and the calves disposed of at weaning age if fattened as baby beef to advantage.

In this way practically no other cattle than the breeding herd are maintained, and less feed and pasture are needed when the calves are carried over as stockers and feeders.

GIRLS CARELESS WITH CIGARETTE BUTTS SAYS CITY

No Smoking Signs Now Decorate Ladies' Rest Room

No smoking signs have been put up in the ladies' rest room at the city hall.

At Monday night's commission meeting, Keeper Kilen of the city hall property, asked permission from the city officials to have some signs printed for the ladies' rest room in the city hall.

"We have found cigarette stubs burning on the floor up there, and we have been afraid the rugs would catch on fire. Of course, the room is not watched frequently, and a fire could get a good start before anyone knew there was a blaze going."

Girls don't seem to take the precaution with cigarette stubs as men do," Mr. Kilen advised the commissioners.

Because of the carelessness of the young lady smokers of the city, they can no longer enjoy a smoke up in the city hall, as smoking is now prohibited in that place.

DEHOOCO CONTINUES ITS SERIES OF VICTORIES IN BASEBALL WORLD.

The Detroit House of Correction team chalked up another win at DeHoocoo Park, Sunday, when they defeated the American Legion of Battle Creek by 8 to 4 score. Hartner, hurling for DeHoocoo, turned in one of his customarily good games, letting the visitors down with six scattered hits and striking out nine men. Timely hitting by Giles, Jaska and Smith, also had a prominent part in determining the final results.

Moment's pitching for the Legion went along in good style until the sixth inning, when the Farmers耦led two singles with a base on balls and a sacrifice fly, counting three runs and gaining a two-run lead. To start the seventh, Jonas replaced Moffett, and was given quite a warm reception when Deste-fanc first man to face him singled, and Giles followed with a home run. Jonas, however, put the brakes on immediately and retired the next three batters in order.

Ovenshine and Smith were responsible for four of Battle Creek's six hits, each getting two single.

Dow encountered some hard luck on his way to deep right in the third inning when Anderson raced far back and made what appeared to be an impossible catch. This play ended rather disastrously for both participating parties, as Dow was robbed of a possible home run and Anderson was banished from the game. Captain Perry explained his reason for hatching Anderson after such a brilliant catch by stating that Anderson failed to throw the ball into the infield as quickly as he should have, and thus allowed Yeakey to score all the way from second on the sacrifice fly. The fans, however, didn't take very kindly to the summary action and spent the balance of the afternoon razzing Mr. Perry.

There will be no game at DeHoocoo park next Sunday, as the local boys will see them back at DeHoocoo Park on a tag opponent.

The following Sunday, July 28th, will see them back at DeHoocoo Park, the American Oil Co. of Jackson a tag opponents.

Comet's Keep Distance

In the last hundred years only two comets have been definitely brilliant to the naked eye in the United States. One of these was in February, 1811, the other September, 1843.

Cold Baths

A friend in the hospital in the winter, told his recovery history, fresh air, which was admitted to his room despite the zero temperature. If the window remained closed long he felt "wilted." The electric fan was a tonic. Fortunately he had prepared to stand cold temperatures by daily cold sponges. The frequent bath is something with the Western world learned from the Far East. In the Orient the British connoisseurs value the daily bath. Our own peoples had been taking daily baths for a thousand years before Perry visited Japan—Grove Patterson in the Mobile Register.

Incubators in Use in

Egypt Ancient Models

The incubator for hatching chickens is probably as old as history, which in the Mediterranean region runs back more than 4,500 years. There were, doubtless, incubators in Egypt before Moses was born, and to this day in that country they are just what they were in the lifetime of the great Hebrew leader.

The art of hatching chickens is handed down from generation to generation, from father to son, a secret craft. Baby chicks are an important article of trade, and are produced by millions for rearing.

The typical Egyptian incubator is a rude and cumbersome affair when compared with the modern device. It is a building of considerable size of sun-dried brick. Through it run one or more passages, and on both sides of each passage are ovens (so to call them) in two tiers. The oven at the ground level has a small door; the one directly above it entered from beneath through a manhole. The ovens are arranged in pairs, one below and the other above. The eggs are placed in the lower oven, and a fire is lighted on the floor of the oven overhead, to furnish the warmth requisite for hatching.

The instincts in a horse that are opposed to obedience to man increase in strength with age, so it is very desirable to begin the education of the colt as early as possible. A good plan is to break colts to lead before they are weaned, and to harness them between the ages of 2 and 3 years. Accustom colts to work gradually and do not use them at heavy work until they are practically mature.

Alfalfa straw that is left from threshing a seed crop is considered worth one-third to one-half, as much as hay for feeding purposes. A seed crop is harvested as soon as most of the seed pods are mature, and while the plants still have many of their green leaves, the straw is of higher feeding value than when the plants are left until the pods are entirely ripe and the leaves have fallen.

CASS BENTON IS JAMMED WITH SUNDAY CROWDS

Popularity in Use of Summer Recreational Centers Grows Rapidly Recent Sunday crowds at Cass Benton park have crowded the various spaces provided for visitors to the park way beyond all expectations, and the additional parking space built along the highway during the early spring to take care of the overflow of Sunday visitors to the park has only been able to put do what was expected.

Greater crowds than ever before have visited Cass Benton park during the present summer. Phoenix Park, another one of the county beauty spots, has also been over-flowing with Sunday visitors. Last Sunday afternoon, and early evening the traffic was so badly congested along Cass Benton that it was unsafe to travel at even an ordinary rate of speed.

There has been some discussion whether the county parks commission might enlarge Cass Benton park. In fact the commission at one time had options on some available and excellent nearby grounds.

It is possible that within the next year or so some action may be taken by commission towards the enlargement of Cass Benton.

Of course, say those in a position to know, the congestion of state parks in the upper part of Michigan is much greater than in past years and the department of conservation in Lansing in a recent bulletin had the following comment to make pertaining to the popularity of summer recreational parks:

Out-door recreation is catching up with the progressive strides of commerce and industry. The three activities commerce, industry and recreation are securely bound together for it has come to be generally recognized that the congestion of industrial centers would be impractical

if it were not for the ready accessibility of the open spaces and the various forms of recreation which the offer.

As in many other things, it is possible to credit the automobile with playing a leading part not only in the stimulation of industry, but also for the rapidly growing popularity of state parks and forests for recreational pursuits. The manufacturing of the automobile calls for a tremendous influx of people into the cities and made the existing need for more out-door recreation still more vital.

A great number of people were engaged in making automobiles countless more were buying them, and no small percentage kept both nests and sold when old and white. Then came the cry for good roads, roads for transportation, for business, roads for recreation, roads to lead away from the tepid of everyday life. The demands for a way to go has been met but not go where? Invariably the traveler on a short jaunt for the week-end heads towards the woods, lakes, or hills where he can fish, hunt or more often just enjoy the scenery. But the forests and wild places would in many cases have vanished had not the state at the behest of the people taken steps to park.

These parks, besides serving as immense out-door playgrounds, have saved for posterity a glimpse of the scenes which have made Michigan famous for its beauty; and the forests are not only bringing timber and game cover back to the state but they are also providing a wilderness for the more adventurous vacationists.

At the present time the state parks are being increased in both size and number. They have proven themselves an indispensable boon to industrialized society by affording an opportunity for idle life and recreation in the out-of-doors, and they have attracted as they will continue to attract hundreds of thousands of people from other sections of the United States into Michigan.

During the last session of the state legislature a new law was enacted which provides a plumbing code for the entire state. The new law provides that plumbers operating their own business be required to take out a master plumber's li-tants to take out licenses as well.

The officers of the local organization are as follows: President, Roy

Henry Ray, Plymouth; secretary, treasurer, A. J. Laing, Farmington.

These officers, together with Glenn the board of directors.

The village of Plymouth will soon down by the new state law.

If the child becomes accustomed to having his feet handled and trimmed before he is weaned, much future work and trouble will be avoided. Untrimmed hoofs usually grow long and uneven, and the result may be a crooked foot, or what is worse, a crooked leg. Failure to regulate the length and bearing surface of the foot may make a straight leg crooked, while good care of the foot during the growing period will greatly improve a leg that is crooked at birth.

WORK IS ONLY WAY JUDGE LOVELL TO WIN SUCCESS ASSUMES OFFICE DECLARES CULVER IN NOVITOWNSHIP

Famous California Real Estate Dealer is Visitor Here

There is only one way to win success, and that is work. No other recipe has ever been found.

The man who goes highest on the ladder is the man who is not afraid to work, work all the time." Harry

Culver of Culver City, California, and president of the National Real Estate Association, told a meeting of luncheon clubs of Northville, Plumwood and Wayne at the Plumwood hotel Tuesday noon.

I enjoyed the honor a few days ago of going into the laboratories down in Florida of that wizard who has given to us so much in the electrical world, and there that smiling old man, Thomas A. Edison, with his apron on was working, working long hours, and finding the greatest of enjoyment in his efforts.

A few years ago Harvey Firestone was over in Europe. One day he received a message requesting that he come home as quickly as possible. When he landed in New York, he was advised that his business had suddenly been thrown millions of dollars into debt. What did he do? He quit! No, he went to work and in a short time had his business back on a firm foundation.

You who live here within the circle of great business, where giants in industrial circles are many, do not have to tell you the value of industry in business or in any pursuit you might be in. You can see it every day," he said.

He took occasion to talk briefly of aircraft development and predicted that within the next four or five years travel across country in planes and great distances would be as common as automobile travel of today. He is making his tour of the country by aircraft and has already traveled over 80,000 miles in his visits to various real estate boards in the United States. He was scheduled to land at the Northville airport, but a change of plans took him to the Ford airport, and as a result he did not visit Northville as had been previously announced.

Besides the luncheon clubs of the three communities present, real estate men were also guests.

Among those from Northville

were Ebner Smith, Wellman

Roberts, Charles Potsford, Scott

Lovewell, Serrill Ambler and Carl

Elly.

Re-solvent substances, such as sulky fly paper are often hard to remove from clothing. Try turpentine, benzene, carbon tetrachloride cohol ether, kerosene or gasoline.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Miller, who left Northville one day ago to go to California to reside, are back here at present, the guests of Mr.

and Mrs. Irving Ulrich at their new home in Plymouth. Mr. Miller is a sister of Mrs. Ulrich. They reside at El Centro in the heart of what is generally regarded as the richest garden spot in the world.

They drove through visiting many of the interesting places enroute. The trip was made without the slightest difficulty, and in good time in view of the many side trips they took along the way. They will be here for two or three weeks visiting relatives and old friends. Mrs. Ulrich entertained a number of Northville friends Wednesday night in honor of her visitors.

Mr. Miller states that business has been good in the Imperial Valley during the past year and that the construction of the Boulder dam is regarded as one of untold benefit to that part of the country. Before moving into the Imperial Valley some ten or eleven years ago, they resided in San Diego.

WHITMORE LAKE
ICE HOUSE BURNS

The large ice house at Whitmore

Lake, 150 by 400 feet, constructed

23 years ago by the Citizens Ice

Company of Detroit, burned to the ground on Saturday, when struck by lightning, carrying a loss of approximately $25,000. It was safe to be one of the largest ice houses in the state.

About a year ago the plant was purchased by E. Dömler of Detroit. It had not been in use for several years.

The building was struck during the Saturday inundations about 2 p.m. The blaze was a spectacular one and the Ann Arbor fire department was called to the scene to save adjoining buildings.

The residence near the ice house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Radike, R. J. Simmons and Ted

Lavender, also was destroyed. A six-car garage in the rear of the residence was ruined.

A number of farm implements stored in the ice house by the Steffe Elevator company were destroyed.

Four subscribers of the Michigan Bell Telephone company were without service owing to the fire.
