BALKO WILL NOT PAY ANY REWARD CASH

Dissatisfied with Action of Officers in Not Making Arrest

Highly dissatisfied with the result of the inquiry into the death of their brother, Walter Balko, the three brothers living in Northville—Louis, Edward and Fred—have absolutely refused to pay any part of the reward that was offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties guilty of the killing.

Louis and Edward drove over to Pontiac Monday to see the prosecuting attorney and sheriff, but they did not get into direct contact with any of them, but according to information given out at Pontiac, after their visit to that city, there will be a coroner's inquest Saturday.

Following several weeks of investigation on the part of Oakland county officers and the arrest of the dead man's wife, officers were surprised when Royden MacKillop of Detroit, last Saturday, sought an appointment with the prosecuting attorney of Oakland county and confessed to him that he killed Balko.

He claimed that Balko had threatened to attack a woman companion he had with him, but this the brothers in Northville declare is out of the question and it is because of their insistence that this part of the confession must be wrong that Oakland county officers have consented to the inquest examination Saturday.

No arrest was made by the officers as they contend that MacKillop was justified in shooting Balko.

From the very beginning of the investigation the brothers of the dead man have given every possible assistance to the officers in the inquiry they have been making and the action of the sheriff in not arresting MacKillop for the shooting in the court of their strong protest. They say that under no circumstances will they pay any part of the reward.

"I would have taught the man whether I had a gun or not," said MacKillop. When Balko lowered his pistol to open the car, door so Miss Williams could get out, MacKillop said he grasped an untriggered pistol he had in his car and aimed at Balko. Even then he said he gave Balko a chance for his life by ordering him "to throw up your hands."

In the brief moment that elapsed because Balko failed to comply, MacKillop said, his own trigger arm raised only a fraction of a second quicker than Balko's. In searching for the key to his car which Balko had taken, MacKillop said he noticed that Balko's gun rested almost under his left arm, where the reflex muscles of the man's right arm had carried it.

"It was a terrible experience and while my conscience is at rest, it is hard for me to think that I've killed a man," the young man said. "What I did I did to save the girl at my side."

The funeral was held from the home on Caty street, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Wm. Richards officiated. Burial took place in the Novi cemetery.

The daughter of pioneer residents Sarah Hammond, was born at Wall Lake in 1886, and had always lived in that vicinity until she came to Northville. It was in 1903 that she was married to John A. Green. There were born to them four children, Claude O., Dorothy and Dick, three of whom survive with the husband.

Miss Katherine Higgins, who had been in the guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Higgins, returned to her home in Rochester, New York Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wareham and son of Grand Ledge spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seaton of Northville. Mr. Wareham is one of the well known business men of Grand Ledge, while here Mr. and Mrs. Wareham and Mr. and Mrs. Seaton went down to Detroit to see the Tigers get a trimming from the Athletics, although the contest was one well worth seeing as it ran eleven innings.

Asked whether he had seen Miss Williams since the night of the shooting, MacKillop said: "Yes, several times."

"I gave him a chance" MacKillop commented. "I could have shot him before he reached the car, because I saw him from a distance. I did nothing because I thought probably he was an officer and had a right to shoot us." Even then it was not until he saw he would entertain the girl, he said, it became certain that he had no authority.

The Balko brothers insist there is another side to the story.

Asked whether he had seen Miss Williams since the night of the shooting, MacKillop said: "Yes, several times."

"I gave him a chance" MacKillop commented. "I could have shot him before he reached the car, because I saw him from a distance. I did nothing because I thought probably he was an officer and had a right to shoot us." Even then it was not until he saw he would entertain the girl, he said, it became certain that he had no authority.

Miss Williams said that she fears constant worry over the affair may result in a nervous collapse such as she suffered a few years ago which compelled her to leave school.

"I can't think of anything else," she said. "My father has told me a hundred times not to talk of it, and to sing or think of something else, but it is impossible. It hasn't helped any to tell about it. I thought after everyone knew Roy did it and I no longer had to keep it a secret that I would feel better, but I don't."

"At night I shut my eyes and try to sleep but all I see is that man's face and the pointed revolver. I think my mind's eye has seen it but a revolver since that I have stayed there five or six times." We where to look for the revolver.

We were not really worried but some how we got it out of his pocket. Then somehow we tore horrible to go to tell about it, and I can't see how I can do it."

A remarkable offer—rugs and linoleum one-fourth off from the regular price. It is a saving that one rarely has the opportunity to make on goods of this class. Read the ad in this issue, one of a series being run by this progressive furniture store.

He Appreciates Thoughtfulness

Sometimes it pays to be thoughtful so far a long time. I know that way you can gain some idea as to the number of real friends you have. Louis Babbit, president of the Northville State Savings bank, and for a long period of years one of Northville's progressive and substantial business men, has found that so.

Mr. Babbit is just now getting out of the streets following his long confinement in the University hospital at Ann Arbor. A day or so ago he dropped into the Record office.

"You know I want to say something to all my friends who were kind as to send flowers and call on me while I was in the hospital. I would like something in the record, so everyone will know of my sincere appreciation. You know really didn't know I had so many friends and their interest in my recovery has been one of the pleasant things about it all. Just say something so they will all know how grateful indeed I am for all the flowers and the many kindly things they did, as well as their calls at the hospital and my home. It's hard to find words to express my real feelings," said Mr. Babbit.

That in itself constitutes a pretty good card of appreciation.

BUILDING FRONT WRECKED BY CAR

An automobile belonging to Harry Stevens, who lives on East Cadiz street and is employed by the Detroit Edison company, Tuesday night was left without the brakes on, and backed down the Center street hill, circled, and the back end of the car crashed into the building occupied by the William Williams' hardware store. The entire front of the building was broken in, windows crashed and a considerable amount of furniture damaged.

The owner of the machine stood talking on Main Street with friends when the accident happened. No one noticed the moving car until the crash was heard. By the time made everyone at first thought there had been an automobile collision.

The car was thrown across, but the damage to the building and furniture was considerable.

MRS. JOHN GREEN DIES FOLLOWING MAJOR OPERATION

Wide Circle of Friends Are Surprised at News of Her Death

The death of Mrs. John A. Green, a life long resident of the Northville and Novi vicinity, Sunday, following an operation at the University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor, came as a great surprise to her many friends in this place.

The funeral was held from the home on Caty street, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Wm. Richards officiated. Burial took place in the Novi cemetery.

The daughter of pioneer residents Sarah Hammond, was born at Wall Lake in 1886, and had always lived in that vicinity until she came to Northville. It was in 1903 that she was married to John A. ## APPLE GROVE GOLF COURSE IS DEDICATED

Many Are Present for Formal Ceremonies on Monday

Another golf course has been added to the many located about Northville, the former opening and dedication of the Apple Grove Golf Course, the name given to the new green, having taken place Monday afternoon, amid all the pomp and ceremony that such an occasion demands.

The two hold-over members, Harry Gurney and Wellington Roberts, who long been active in school district affairs, were invited to serve on the unexpired term of Edward Langfield, he was elected for the first time at the district meeting upon the organization of the board.

Dr. Cavell, who has long been interested in school affairs, was made president of the board, and Fred W. Lyke was selected as manager of the Northville school community.

The two hold-over members, Harry

Gurney and Wellington Roberts, have long been active in school district affairs.

With the opening of this nine-hole championship course, Northville now lays claim to the excellent golf courses, the Meadowbrook being the oldest, Big Bear, the Northville, the Detroit Women's club course and Apple Grove.

The Laughlin course is directly opposite their home, and has all the advantages of a large course with a few minor exceptions.

Nine excellent short holes have been made by experts from the Meadowbrook country club. Each hole is par three, a short approach and two putts. Miniature flags have been made and small tee markers are present to make the course as complete as possible.

Some 30 of Mr. Langfield's golfing friends were entertained at the opening Monday afternoon. An 18 hole tournament was held, after which the guests were served with a buffet luncheon. During the course of the afternoon, play two hole-in-ones were accredited on the score cards.

Several players had eagles and many played the course in par. Prizes were given for low score to 8th place and the first hole in one shot.

Miss Katherine Higgins, who had been in the guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Higgins, returned to her home in Rochester, New York Sunday.

Kroger Manager in Novi Does Not Wait to Call the Officers

Clyde Dort, manager of the Kroger store at Novi, is not the type to call the police or sheriff when he sees something wrong taking place. He just hops out and catches the thief himself.

Monday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock an old automobile with three boys, not one over 16 years of age, drove up in front of the Baptist church on the Northville-Novil road in Novi. One of the boys remained in the car with the engine running.

The other two walked over towards Grand River.

Just as they were leaving the Kroger store, Dort happened to notice them. He gave chase and caught one of them before he could drive off the road.

The boy who had remained in the automobile.

The Oakland county sheriff's force was called and the boy turned over to the officers.

It is understood he was taken into juvenile court.

If you want to see a beautiful sight go up to the city reservoir, and see how clear and sparkling the city's reserve water supply is since it has had the entire bottom of the reservoir covered with concrete.

No longer will weeds and refuse blot this spot. With the water cleared out of the Fairbank springs pool, Northville will have no need to be ashamed to show its water source to anyone.

One of the excellent improvements about town has just been completed at the library. The steps leading to the building from the lowered sidewalk have been finished and present a very neat sidewalk.

This man is disposed to fight for the right, isn't it nice that the right side always happens to be the one that butters his bread?

The workmanship is excellent and the plan for the new entrance and porch worked out almost ideally.

He has been busy unpacking boxes and putting his new stock on the shelves.

It's been hot, but business has been good and I think there isn't much question, but what it will be better. I am glad I took my vacation just at the time I did," he added.

An excellent along the street curring in front of the Red Arrow restaurant Sunday led to the arrest of Carl Anderson on charges preferred by Kelly Saide of Detroit. Saide claimed that his car was somewhat damaged by Anderson's driving.

Chief William Safford was called and locked Anderson up. He was held until Monday morning when taken before Judge Carl Ely and fined $5 and costs of $3. The Saide car was not badly damaged. Anderson was charged with disorderly conduct.

Hot Weather and Vacation Here

It's hot. There is no dispute about that and as a result nearly everyone in Northville who suffers from the heat is not vacationing or thinking of a vacation.

Some want to do a little vacationing but for great financial difficulties and the fact that it's against the law to make your own money they are forced to remain right here and suffer from a few extra hot days.

Others say the weather is fine—it's just what is needed and that the only time to take a vacation is winter time.

Even some of the winter vacationers are vacationing again. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simmons, who are up in the mountains of New Hampshire.

Phoenix Park, Walloon Lake and other Northville sea-side resorts have been overworked for the past few days. In fact, it is almost impossible to get a parking place near these spots.

Therefore, they have deemed it advisable to change the slogan and make it "A BIG FAIR IN A GOOD TOWN."

And good judgement has been used in the selection of the name because in the past few years the fair has come to be one of the big ones of the state.

It far exceeds in size every break portion of many of the big county fairs. There is no question but that it is much better than most of them so officials after going over the matter carefully decided that it was best to eliminate the use of the word "small" and substitute the word "big" as that more correctly defines the actual fair that is held in Northville.

The annual premium book for the association will be out within the next week or so.

Just like the fair, the premium book is bigger and better than ever before.

More prizes are listed and necessarily that requires a larger amount of space.

Secretary Floyd Northrop is highly pleased with the prospects for the fair this year. He says he is finding a great amount of interest in the event scheduled for September 17 to 21, a date earlier than last year, and that the scouts who are interested in the contest are looking forward to the elimination of record breaking crowds providing the weather is at all favorable.

Fred Lake who is in charge of the association this year, states that the sites of space are greater for this date than they were a year ago at this time. He made a check of the records and he says he is highly pleased with the way the concession people are coming in.

In addition to the tremendous amount of improvement work going on at the fair grounds, the visitors this fall are sure to be pleased with the efforts being made in their behalf

A LITTLE BACKBONE

Our boys are off to Spanish Amber and other members of the school board who did not hesitate to step and settle a serious problem without any delay just the minute that problem arose. It all developed within a few days as the result of the members of the school band receiving money individuals that should go into the school band fund.

The taxpayers of this community are doing more for the members of the band than they are for the other students in the school. We all realize that this bit of partiality is a necessity if we are to have a school band. Because of this those in direct charge of the band should impress upon the youthful players that because of the favoritism shown them they owe an allegiance to their school and the community that should be repaid by a willingness to do more than ordinarily expected from students of a school.

The school board and the village commission at no time have in any way blamed the children for the situation that developed, but like everyone else these officials feel that the practice should be nipped in the bud before it got so far along that serious differences might develop.

It is an honor to be selected for a place in the band. It is an opportunity also to secure a musical education in connection with regular school work that boys and girls would be required to pay a large sum for if they had to pay individually for the instruction received.

The school band in Northville is a new endeavor for the community. We have never had one before and we think that much has been accomplished in the brief time the band has been in existence. The thing that we should aspire for is to make the band the best in the state and we can do that only by having a loyalty to our school and community that stands above everything else.

SWEEPING YOUR OWN PLACE

If everyone would sweep before his own door the whole world would be clean.

This runs an old proverb. It might be amended to read that we should not only sweep before our own door but also cut in those back yards which many people with good looking front yards neglect. But the thought in the old saying conveys a great truth, which applies to us all in Northville.

There is a strong tendency for people to be critical of the things someone else does, or does not do, though meanwhile they are neglecting to do something that belongs to them.

People complain of the faults in government, federal, state and municipal and then many of these same faultfinders decline to take an interest in the affairs of their home town or to vote at elections.

Many of them complain because thus far that organization has not done what they think it should do, but then these people themselves have declined various times to do any work in such organizations.

People complain because their home towns do not make fast progress, when many of them keep aforselves looking places which help give a bad impression to their neighborhoods and to the whole town.

READER CONFIDENCE

The Chicago Daily News has just spent many thousands of dollars in advertising. The News is building a new home, one of the finest newspaper offices in the world, and in its advertising campaign it says that the success of the Chicago News has been built upon "reader confidence." The News says, "Reader confidence" is our most highly prized and valuable asset. It is the most valuable thing we have to offer to the advertiser.

While great daily newspapers spend millions in building reader confidence, it is something that practically every small community paper possesses. In the whirl and multiplicity of a great city, it is indeed an easy thing for a great publication to be uninformed pertaining to news. In the smaller communities because of the fact that the editor of a small paper lives with his readers each day knows intimately, or at the affairs of his town he possesses a wonderful advantage over the big city newspaper. Reader confidence must be one of the chief assets of the weekly newspaper, because if it did not have its existence would be of short duration. The same thing is not true with the metropolitan publications and that's why so many millions are spent in advertising, because when once a newspaper feels that it does have this so-called "reader confidence" that every weekly newspaper possesses.

HE MAKE GOOD

The Portland, Mich., Review, sometimes ago, had considerable to say about a former resident of that place who went west, went to work and became rich. Possibly you had better read what the Review had to say about it.

Seth Way's return to the old home town, after an absence of 30 years, differed somewhat from his departure. Then he "bummed" his way to Everett, Wash., stopping occasionally to work in the cornfields of the West. His return over practically the same route was made in a large Studebaker auto, with wife and son accompanying him.

When Seth and his brother, Miles, arrived at Everett 30 years ago, they had a capital of $25. Now both are wealthy. They are sons of the late Alva Way and resided near the Barton schoolhouse, northwest of this village.

The first job Seth got was driving a laundry wagon. That was a piece of good luck for he advanced until he had a thorough knowledge of the laundry business and it was there that he made most of his fortune.

Miles got a job as bartender in Seattle. Then he had a chance to buy the business and Seth loaned him a weekly sum, out of his wages as driver, to keep up the payments until he became firmly established. When Miles sold the saloon it brought him $80,000.

Meanwhile Seth had bought a small hand laundry at Everett paying $60 for it and selling it back to the former owner after a few months for $600. Miles repaid his brother for the help he had received by putting some of his $80,000 into a new laundry building, where Seth continued to prosper. He now owns two large, modern laundry plants in Everett, as well as a heating plant which supplies 276 buildings with steam. His laundries do a cash business of $3,200 per week and last year's payroll amounted to $9,800. He is on Easy street, if ever a man was.

Who knows but what if he had remained in good old Michigan, applied the same amount of energy, and grasped the same opportunities that he did out west, but what his fortune might have been much greater than what it is reported to be.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Drive to the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left. Slow down when approaching a cross road—it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.

Look out for children. You can never tell what they will do and you are always in the wrong if you hit one.

Try to help instead of hinder the traffic officer he is there for your good and he's got a tough job.

Be sure your "dimmers" really dim; it's no joke driving into a blind corner as you probably know.

The Movie

By James Lewis Hayes

Does the charge of battle thrill you? Do the fortress banners waving? Stir your pulse, or trumpets thrill you? With the shivers you are craving? Are you fond of ghost or pirate? Cowboy, crook, or desert sheik? You can have what you desire at Any movie show this week!

Do the jeweled halls of fashion? Please you with their golden glitters? Would you see true love and passion? Make lives glorious or bitter? See the damsel's breath grow shorter? As the bläss villains scorn her? You can see it for a quarter At the movie on the corner!

What a lucky generation! We don't have to live at all, We can get life's big sensation In the corner movie hall!

Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments. If you feel you've got to speed—do it where it won't kill anybody but yourself.

When making minor repairs stop where your car may be seen from both directions—otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipate. Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital. Do not page past a stopped street car. Some day the jury will call it manslaughter.

Use discretion. The fact that you had the right of way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all yourself.

BACKING FLIGHT

Only Women Flyers Can Enter This Unique Air Contest.

The leading women fliers of the country have "scared" to victorious heights in their contests with the factions of men aviators who felt that their "chivalrous duty" to fly as mechanics with the women pilots in the National Women's Air Derby, to be born from Clover Field, Santa Monica, California, to Cleveland, Ohio, August 18 to 26, in connection with the National Air Races.

When the rules of the race were being considered on motion of officials wanted men mechanics to accompany the women fliers to take care of forced landings and share the hazards of the more than 2500-mile race over mountain ranges and desert wastes. Another faction, including most of the women contestants, voiced their protest for an exclusively women's derby through their spokesman, Miss Amelia Earhart.

The question has been decided in favor of the women, and no men will be permitted in the planes," stated Harold M. Harter, secretary of the National Exchange Club, under whose auspices the race is being held, after several conferences with Floyd J. Logan, Cleveland, chairman of the National Air Races, and Frank T. Copeland, managing director of the Women's Air Derby, at Santa Monica, California.

The rules of the race now stand that the crew of each plane shall consist of a woman pilot, alone, or woman pilot and not more than one woman as passenger or mechanic. The woman, riding as mechanic or passenger must be one who has never made a solo flight. Dual controls will not be permitted according to Harter, Logan and Copeland.

Each woman pilot must be licensed by the Department of Commerce and hold an F.A.I. license and an annual sporting license, issued by the contest commissioners.

separate Exchange Club "Lap Prize Money" to be presented by Exchange Clubs in the control cities along the route where the fliers will stop each day and night of the eight-day event, according to Secretary Harter.

The Derby will start from Santa Monica at 4:00 p.m. August 18th and will probably pass through the following cities: San Bernardino, California; Yuma, Phoenix, and Tucson, Arizona; Lordsburg, El Paso, Pecos, Abilene and Fort Worth, Texas; Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Oklahoma; Wichita, Kansas; Kansas City and St. Louis, Missouri; Terre Haute and Indianapolis, Indiana; Columbus, Ohio; Cleveland airport at 2:00 p.m. August 26.

NOVI TEAM WINS MILFORD FAIR TO ANOTHER BATTLE

The Novi Baseball team Sunday for the second time defeated the O. G. aggregation by a score of 12 to 10. Roger Sand, Ashby came up with the bat for Novi and Carl Davis and Hans for the O. G. team. Rogers worked for seven innings. Dashiell pitched the eighth and Hoberg finished the game by fanning two. He let one go high. There were three men on and two went out when Gow started by taking a line drive in deep second. He made a marvelous catch, taking it high over his head as he ran back after the ball. The Northwestern team will play spunky Novi team at Novi Sunday.

MILFORD FAIR TO BE HELD AUG. 7-10

The Oakland County Fair, coming with the first among the long list of Michigan fairs is held this year on August 7 to 10. In the entertainment line, the fair, a member of the Wolverine racing circuit presents a four-day race program with four auto races and four class races of lateral purses; a three-day baseball tournament; a fine hot air balloon, and aerial acts; an automobile show, a dog show and a horse show.

The night fair will present the whole series of fire acts, band concert and as a special attraction a historical pageant. The pageant rehearsals for which are actively under way, will require about 300 people for its production and groups and individuals from all over the country will have prominent parts.

The pageant, while called historical, and based on Oakland county history, will specialize also in spectacular features and dances. A new stage, especially for its production, is being erected in front of the grandstand.

The pageant will be produced under the direction of the John H. Rogers Producing Co., of Fostoria, Ohio.

The regular fair display of livestock, fruits, field crops, vegetables, ladies' handicraft, school work, etc.

will be large and may be seen both day and night during the four days of the fair.

A belt is the vital link in many farm operations and deserves good care. Belts can be cleaned with warm water and castile, or white toilet soap, but should not become wet, as this makes them stretch and slip and may cause laps to separate. Among the best belt dressings are mixtures of cold and neat's-foot oils with talon and wool grease free from mineral acids. Sticky materials such as resin, pitch, asphalt and tar should not be used to make belt take hold, as they glaze the surface and "take" on the belt and pulleys. Prompt repairs are cheaper and safer in the end. A weakened fastener may break but part way and badly rip the belt. Gluing and cementing laps is preferable to other means of fastening, as holes for laces or other fasteners weaken the leather. A leather belt of first quality, adapted to the work, properly installed, and kept in good condition, will last from 10 to 25 years or even longer.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER . . .

By John Clarence Funk

THE SEDUCTIVE LADY

A VERY romantic lady indeed is Queen Nicotine. And a very powerful one, too. The amazing number of her devoted subjects is a world wide phenomenon, and no living ruler reigns with such despotic sway as does she! From her humble start among the American Indians, she now has attained a domineering social power wonderful to behold.

Of the advantages attributed to tobacco no one needs to be told. It is an ever-present and continuously-repeated story. But there is another side of the picture to which more attention needs to be given: this refers to the harm a too great attraction for it can accomplish.

Of course, it would be folly to state that tobacco is harmful to every one. Pipe and cigarette smoking in moderation—and moderation is a personal equation with different individuals—is apparently harmless to the thousands, many of whom are old people.

However, it is the cigarette especially that demands attention at this time. Its general popularity among men and women, boys and even girls, justifies a discussion of its proper and improper use. True, if smoked casually and uninhaling, it is the easiest form in which tobacco can be consumed. But those who employ it in this fashion are in the very great minority. On the other hand, when inhaled constantly and constantly it is capable of harm, and oftentimes of much harm.

What definite statistics are lacking there seems to be a very close connection between the excessive use of tobacco and the heart and circulatory diseases, which decrease in the days so marked on the upgrade these days in America. A very significant fact perhaps, when considered in connection with the cigarette.

The damage irreparably or even temporarily any portion of one's physical anatomy for the sake of a transitory gratification of the smoke faste displays a lack of applied intelligence quite unfaltering.

To injure one's heart, to enervate one's nerves, to poison one's blood stream, to pour smoke into tissues which were manufactured for air only—and that of the best obtainable—is no pay too high a price for overdoing it to the cigarette.

Health in its highest perfection cannot be realized if infinite smoke in any quantity is a part of one's daily program. This is the saddest of facts.

Speaking generally, there is a very definite point where health and tobacco must part. Frequently this point will be self-evident through abundant pains, headaches and other unknown symptoms. But not always. It may require the assistance of a physician. In any event, if a man is healthily enjoying his life, the corner-punting point. And while by the discovery, neglecting to heed this advice may cause failure for you in your long life program. Give it some thought.

MANY LILY PONDS BEING BUILT IN THIS COMMUNITY

WATER FLOWERS ADD MUCH TO ATTRACTIVENESS OF HOME GROUNDS

During the present summer several lily pools have been constructed in Northville, and from what is said, there are many more in prospect or construction during the fall and next spring. Those who have built lily pools during the present summer have had excellent results with their efforts, and the idea seems to be spreading rapidly about the community. The latest one built is an attractive one in front of the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Richardson in Fullcrest Manor.

What is more to be desired on a hot summer day in the garden than a cool-looking lily pool with a bench in a shady spot close by where one may sit and watch the reflections in the water and the fish, gaily swimming about among the water plants. And considering how easily and inexpensively a pool may be built there is no reason why more gardens should not contain them.

Those in the suburbs may collect field stone and use them. Cement, of course, is the popular material used, but where clay is obtainable, it is quite possible to line an excavation with this in such a manner as to have it water-tight.

Make a pool as natural as possible and avoid stern lines and too apparent masonry. Informally can be supplied with a generous planting of moisture-loving plants.

The water of proper soil is important for the best results in growing aquatic plants. Mix three parts of rotten sod, compost, or good top soil with one part of cow or barnyard manure, and be sure it is thoroughly decomposed to prevent fermentation when covered with water.

Ground bone or bone meal may be used if necessary, at the rate of one quart to one bushel of soil.

The size of the pool depends upon the preference of the individual and the size of the garden. The larger the water surface, however, the better the results. Where only water-lilies are to be grown, the depth should be two feet and the plants are set in shallow baskets and lowered wherever they are desired. If other aquatic plants are to be grown with the water-lilies, the part of the pool along the edge should be shallow, not more than one foot deep, and the plants set along the edge with the lilies in the center.

The placing of the pool is a matter that requires great care, for once placed, it cannot be so easily moved. Of course, the temptation is to place the pool in a shady spot so that one may enjoy the utmost in coolness, but this is not wise. A pool should have direct sunlight. If not all of it, at least a part should be exposed. Lilies and other aquatic plants require sunlight in which to bloom and the sun also helps to keep the pool wholesome.

When choosing a place for the pool, it is best to mark the proposed margin, outline it with a rope or hose and then view it from all the angles from which it will be observed when the pool is completed.

Errors can readily be observed and changes made. It is easier to make changes at this time than late when the work is done.

There are so many kinds of water-lilies from which to choose, it is often a difficult matter. Gloriosa is probably the most used. It is an early bloomer and continues to flower until late summer, producing more blossoms than any other sort.

In the spring the flower is a bright carmine, which becomes darker as the season lengthens.

It is a good variety for cutting. The next most magnificent lily is Paul Harriet. The blooms are quite large of lasting quality and come in abundance all season. The petals are clear yellow the first day and this deepens almost to a red on the following days. Flowers of different ages present an appearance unique and attractive.

Then there is the Rose Aley, a cerise pink.

Rose Magnolia, also pink; Odorata, a splendid white; Marliacea in white and pink; and Hoopacang, a white.

Among the other aquatic plants appropriate for the pool are the Water Hyacinths, the Water Snow-

Nakes, Water Poppy, Parrot's

Feather, Sweet Flag, Umbrella

Plant, Egyptian Paper Plant, Pick-

erel Weed, Giant Arrowhead,

Lizard's Tail, Thala, Cat Tail, Eel

Grass and White Rice.

HINES TELLS OF BRIDGE WORK IN WAYNE COUNTY

THAT IS TAKING PLACE IN THIS POINTS ON DEVELOPMENT LOCALITY.

With virtually not a single bridge suitable to present day traffic requirements a decade or so ago, Wayne county has now 78 bridges designed to carry a 24-ton truck with a large factor of safety, while 11 other bridges are in various stages of construction at the present time. These structures are bridging rivers and railroad tracks, but the work of construction grade separations, at the junction of two or more important highways has been well under way for sometime, with the result that "eventually grade separations will be at all crossings of main traffic arteries" under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County Road Commission.

The average citizen of Wayne county has little conception of the bridge problem on our concrete road system," Edward N. Hines, county road commissioner, said Saturday. "When the county road system was adopted in 1905, there was not a single mile of improved road, a paved village street or an adequate bridge structure in the entire county."

Of course the first and greatest need was for an improved road surface over which to travel and the existing bridge structures were patched, repaired and nursed along to obtain the maximum use and wear out of them. These bridges were mostly old timber, light strength bridges designed for a six ton load, and virtually all were suffering from neglect and inadequate maintenance, lack of paint and supervision. Most of these old bridges were totally unsuited for present day traffic requirements.

About 10 or 12 years ago after the main highways to the county line were concreted, we embarked on a serious program of bridge reconstruction. This bridge program will not be completed until every structure in the county is built of steel with a grade safe and light.

All of our bridges are designed to carry a 24-ton truck with a large factor of safety. This is a much heavier load than is being carried over the roads today except in special instances and is almost double the legal load authorized by our state legislature. Special permits are issued when it is found necessary to exceed the present limit and only in cases under our supervision, and that's a rule.

Today is now being built across a clear roadway width of 30 feet, 10 feet and 10 feet is made up of 10 feet on practically all of our bridges.

Fifty-two bridges have been built across the Rouge River with numbers 11 through 26, and ten across the Huron river, four across Mongoneton Creek, two across Little River, two across Big Sable Creek, two across Swan Creek and one each crosses Silver Creek, Big Branch and Little Swan Creek. The rest are over the canal on Grosse Isle and around Detroit, Ia.

The bridge over Spring Creek, formerly in Spring Creek township, now in the City of Detroit has been abandoned through the construction of a series.

Of the 11 bridges now in various stages of completion, eight cross the Rouge river, one crosses Mongoneton creek, one is on Grosse Isle, and one crosses to Elizabeth park.

The most elaborate and expensive structures are the three bascule bridges crossing the Rouge at Jefferson, Fox and Dix Avenue. These three bridges cost a million dollars each and were financed from the proceeds of bond issues, all other bridges having been financed from current revenue.

Studies are now in progress before a bridge is built and the design is made to conform to conditions.

"Mr. Hines said. Removable T-beam bridges with sidewalks and ornamental hand rails are the prevailing type of structure which we are building. This type of structure lends itself to future widening whenever same may be found desirable without any great loss of the initial investment.

Other types built are reinforced spandrel arch, pony truss, reinforced concrete and deck plate girder, reinforced cantilever, etc.

It has been found necessary to widen some of these earlier structures and bridges only eight or nine years old with a half century of useful life ahead of them have had to be replaced with wider structures. Eight double bridges of super-highway design are included in this list, either as completed structures or under construction.

The bridges over the Rouge in Southfield, Jane Schlesinger, super-highways are examples of this type of structure. Southfield's double super-highway bridges have 40-foot clear roadway, each with a 10-foot sidewalk and a 35-foot space between which may be bridged in at any fixture day.

The space between the double bridge over Mongoneton Creek near the bridge approach to Grosse Isle is now being bridged in.

There are seven bridges crossing the Rouge river on the three and one-half mile section of concrete road between the villages of Northville and Plymouth.

There are now no county-built bridges east of Livonia, a road in Wayne county, all of the bridges built on Gratiot, Mack, Van Dyke and other roads on the east side having been abandoned due to the filling in of Connor's creek.

"With the bridge problem well in hand six years ago, we began the second phase of our bridge program by starting a program of grade separations with the various railroads operating in Wayne County," Mr. Hines stated.

As a preliminary we have adopted a policy of not permitting any railroad to cross any of our improved roads at grade, without making an agreement for a grade separation at some definite future date.

"While we are not adverse to any kind of separation in the interest of safety, we believe that much better and quicker results are obtained by removing causes rather than instituting caution and the road crossing is ever a source of potential danger.

"We have embarked on a definite systematic continuing plan of grade separations so that eventually no railroad in Wayne county will cross one of our concrete roads at grade.

Vacation in Michigan

DYNAMIC Detroit—giant of the Mid-West—marvel of the industrial world! . . . Factories making thousands of automobiles a day! . . . Center of the aviation industry! . . . Cosmopolitan in character—international in interests! . . . Include Detroit in the itinerary of your touring vacation.

And keep in touch with home by telephone. Long Distance rates are surprisingly low and the service is fast.

M. & T. S. L., one; D. T. R. R., one.

Wherever possible we are arranging for four and five-year programs with each railroad.

Including two structures which we inherited before taking the road over as a county road, there are 35 grade separations either wholly completed or under construction. We are constantly negotiating 15 or 16 separations so that our program may be continuous.

The railroad companies pay 50 percent of the cost, including property damage, and the balance is paid either wholly by the county and other interested municipalities.

Grade separations are much more costly than our average bridge structure, so our progress will necessarily be somewhat slower!

We are now entering the third phase of our bridge work, and similar to our stream crossings and railroad grade separations, it will be carried on under a definite plan by separating the grades between important highway intersections.

The first grade separation between two highways to be completed was the crossing of Outer Drive in Rouge Park with Bonaparte road, the separation of grade between Michigan and Southfield 204-foot super-highways nearing completion and sets a mark for utility and beauty for the entire country.

The proposed viaduct for Baseline (Eight Mile road) provides two 40-foot roadways and two 2-foot sidewalks, the subway for Telegraph super-highway provides a 60-foot roadway with provisions for two future roadways and two future sidewalks. There will be a 14-foot clearance over the highway.

Distance nowadays is measured in time and not in miles and the absence of long lines of motor cars waiting for a mile or two cars to go by or waiting for the green signal at an important intersection amply justifies the highway and railroad grade separation programs of the Wayne County Road Commission, to say nothing of the lessened gasoline consumption through engines idling, and increased safety all along the line.

vacation, to all employees, and some of the other automobile plants changing models, it is only natural that the employment and passengers carried by the Detroit street railway should exhibit a marked decline during the month of July. This is only a temporary lull on the part of the automobile manufacturers, in preparation for record fall activity. With the price of wheat rising to an unexpected level, which should result in increased purchasing power of the farmer, automobile manufacturers may be forced to revise their fall production schedules upward to the benefit of Detroit making the outlook for the future very promising.

Building still continuing, somewhat below normal in Detroit as in all other large cities of the United States. Some building companies with increased sales efforts and closer profit union, have not experienced any appreciable decline in activity.

The brass goods industry may be characterized as somewhat spotty at the present time. Companies dependent entirely on the automotive industry are quiet, while those manufacturing miscellaneous lines are experiencing unusual activity even for this time of year.

Other groups of industries which play an important part in the life of Detroit, all report an unusually good first half year, with bright prospects in view for the next few months.

The cigar and tobacco industry of the city has had a record first half year report prospects of continued increased activity during the next few months.

The paint and varnish industry reports unusual activity for this period of the summer, the outlook very favorable for the immediate future.

One of the most substantial industries of the city, drugs and pharmaceuticals, has experienced a very substantial increase in business over last year and expects this trend to continue up until the first of September which is as far into the future as their vision extends.

Stoves and electrical goods which are unusually good at this time of year, are more than satisfied with their present favorable situation and bright future prospects.

"STARS OF SAND FILM BASED ON FAMOUS NOVEL

Zane Grey, who is probably the best known American fiction writer, is the author of "Stars of Sand," the romance of old Arizona, which was recently completed as a moving picture at the Hollywood Paramount studios and which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre Saturday, July 27.

Zane Grey's first book was a success, as were all of his romantic western stories which followed. The phenomenal popularity of his stories brought the sales of each to over one million copies. Paramount has contracted for the screen rights to all of them.

"Stars of Sand" is the twenty-first Zane Grey novel to be pictured by Paramount, and is a worthy successor to a long line of successes. Wallace Beery, Jean Arthur, Chester Conklin, Fred Kohler, Guy Oliver and Phillips R. Holmes comprise the splendid cast which will be seen in the picture.

The story deals with the loves of a young girl in an Arizona town. She falls under the influence of a powerful man in the community and is befriended by another who is almost as heavily steeped in villainy.

Miss White's energy and effervescence personified. She has been termed the Apostle of It, the Tired Business Man's Joy and Exhibit A in the Exposition of Jazz.

In "Broadway Babies" another story of the Great White Way and life behind the scenes, Miss White has an ideal vehicle for her talents.

Otto Brower was the director of the production.

ALICE WHITE PUTS SNAP INTO "BROADWAY BABIES"

Sheerly here comes the Princess of Pep again.

Meeting none other than Alice White, First-National star, whose latest offering, "Broadway Babies," comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday, July 28th.

Miss White's energy and effervescence personified. She has been termed the Apostle of It, the Tired Business Man's Joy and Exhibit A in the Exposition of Jazz.

In "Broadway Babies" another story of the Great White Way and life behind the scenes, Miss White has an ideal vehicle for her talents.

It is declared. She plays one of a trio of hoopers—the others being Sally Eilers and Marion Byron, who try to tickle the Big Town. Their experiences make up a story that has much interest and will appeal to everyone.

Mervyn LeRoy, a graduate of the vaudeville stage, directed "Broadway Babies," which is adapted from Jay Gatsby's famous story, "Broadway Musketeers."

Charles Delaney, who played opposite Miss White in "Show Girl," is again her lead man and the cast includes Bodil Rosing, Louis Nathaniel, Maurice Black, Tommy Dugan and others.

"Broadway Babies" is intended for entertainment purposes only and will be welcome to local theatregoers who like their screen stories full of ginger and pep.

BRILLIANT GROUP ASSISTS POPULAR PAIR IN ROMANCE

Lover, its ups and downs, as Richard Arlen and the lovable Mary Brian can portray it, is the theme of the Penniman Allen Theatre attraction for Wednesday, July 31st, the picture, "The Man I Love."

It is a super-romantic drama, directed by William A. Wellman, the man who made "Wings." Legions of the "Condemned," "Ladies of the Mob" and "Beggars of Life" in a strong cast handles the thoroughly human characters of the story.

Richard Arlen, who played opposite Clara Bow in "Ladies of the Mob," with Charles (Buddy) Rogers in "Wings," and opposite Nancy Carroll in "Manhattan Cocktail," is here given a leading role opposite another popular favorite of the screen, the winsome Mary Brian.

Bacalov, the most talked of woman in Hollywood as a result of
