FREE FERRY SERVICE

There has been some discussion in Northern Michigan newspapers which indicates that the residents of the Upper Peninsula are anxious to have the free ferry transportation of automobiles across the Straits abolished. They say that the ferry is a part of the highway system of the state and that travelers should be provided this service without cost.

The ferry system at the Straits was inaugurated some five or six years ago by former Governor Groesbeck. It was the original intention of the state after the installation of the ferries had been paid for, to cut the cost of the service to actual maintenance. But this has never been done. The fee that is now charged automobile drivers for the use of the ferry, provides the state with an excellent income over and above operating expenses.

The Upper Peninsula is right in its demands in this respect. There is no reason for charging an excess toll at the Straits now for use of the ferries, than there is for placing a toll gate on Grand River and charging auto drivers for the privilege of driving over "the highway from Detroit to Lansing or Grand Rapids."

The state uses the revenue derived from its numerous automobile and gas taxes to maintain paved highways. Why not do the same think at the Straits? Or simply charge just enough to pay the labor and maintain the ferry service. Under the present plan the ferries are big money makers for the state. In fact, they make more money in proportion to the investment than any other business we know of in Michigan.

We quite agree with Editor O'Brien and others in the Upper Peninsula that the fee now charged should be abolished or cut to such an extent that there could be no objection to the 5 or 10 cents collected as the fee even at that price, would pay for the maintenance of the ferries.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE COMING

Vacation has just properly begun, in the minds of the school youngsters, and it is time to be thinking of school books and lessons. Yet with Augus' already well spent, then grown-up parents are aware that summer vacation has only a few more days to run and that before long daughter and son will again be traveling the familiar pathways to school.

Thoughtful parents, planning the clothes and school supplies that will be required during the coming year, should also consider the physical needs of their children. It's not enough to send a child to school well fed, well dressed and equipped with a set of books. A healthy body is also essential for a child's mind to conveniently receive full benefit from school instruction when the body or any of its parts are in jeopardy. Indeed, forced absence at school in the presence of physical defects may result in lifelong injury.

When a child with health in his bones, but with cultural backwardness, it is shown that bodily infirmities other than mental inability is often the actual difficulty - impaired eyesight, to name one common physical defect, may be at fault. Poor vision cannot always be discovered by depending upon the child to complain. A child with faulty eyes has no way of knowing that other boys and girls are different. Theodore Roosevelt was a rascal, and before he discovered that object easily won by his schoolmates were only a blur to him. Every child of school age should have a very careful vision test. Any Michigan school that does not have a glass for testing vision may, create one type bico charge by notifying the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, Lansing.

Poor hearing is another ailment that may be responsible for failing in school work. Hard hearing children repeating failed work in the next class are often placed at the back of the school room because they are bigger than the younger children. The probability that they will fail again increases in that as they are moved away from the teacher's desk, students a number of other physical faults may be revealed in under school work.

A thorough examination by doctor and dentist will determine definitely if children are handicapped by defects such as impaired vision, poor hearing, diseased teeth, diseased tonsils or adenoids, malnutrition, a cardiac disturbance or faulty posture. Every school child whether passing or failing in class work should let me see an inspection.

SLOW DOWN—LEST YOU BE THAT DRIVER

A wave of the hand, a kiss on the breeze from the sweetest little girl in the world—I stood for some moments watching her, a shadowy little figure in blue and white, an extremely important little person on her way to school. It must have been about four o'clock—my mind has been清淡 since—when the bell sent for me. "Bob," he said, laying his hand on my shoulder. "There's been an accident, and you'd better hurry up to your house." That little pal of mine—the wasn't at the window watching for me as usual. For an instant I faltered, it just seemed as though something went dead within me and I had to fight for breath. In a little time I went to the gate, just as I had every morning. And looked down the street the best I could. Right over there, a short block away, was where she turned the corner and passed forever out of my life. Today, it will be some other little girl quite as dear. And so on, and on, until the conscience of men shall cry a halt to the passion for fast driving, in localities where danger stares drivers plumb in the eye. —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

REAL PUBLIC SPIRIT

The Northville Library is a non-profit organization. No one makes any money by any connection they have with it. On the other hand thousands are benefited by the use of the vast amount of splendid literature that can be had at the library. A few weeks ago the village found it necessary to lower the walk in front of the library building. This improvement necessitated a change in the steps into the library as well as the building of a new lawn. The library has no janitor and it pays no one anything to keep up its grounds. There are not sufficient funds for this purpose. But that hasn't prevented the library from having as neat a lawn as any place in Northville. It has been reseeded and through the efforts of Mrs Frank Harmon, who has looked after it, kept it watered and gave it the attention all lawns require, there is today around the library just as neat a lawn as can be found in town. It is all the result of the unselfish work of Mrs. Harmon.

Companionate Marriage

By JASPER LEWIS HAYES

Oh, Sammy, Dub and Sadie Club
Are nothing else but nifty,
They're married on the latest plan—
A scheme of fifty-fifty.

Companionate they choose to mate,
So while they love and cuddle
They always know if they want to go
They can terminate the huddle.

The judge said "Presto!" Club and Dub
You're temporarily married.
Eight fair or you are apt to be Companions you buried!

So Sam and Sadie tried it out
But daily grew more scrappy.
Both were too independent
To be settled down and happy.

Nice kids! I hope they stick it out
And then perhaps some day—
Marry each other over again
In the good old permanent way!

MR. BRYCE ARISES

From over in the northern end of Eaton county comes the following from the taunting pen of Editor Bryce of the Grand Ledge Independent.

Preliminary Sweetening

A preliminary sweetening of the newspaper boys for the coming political game was held the other day in Ionia. Even some of the old hard-headed Groesbeck men were invited to sit in and sup. This gave rise to some wise good humor and some good "cracks." Those whose stomachs have soured or who have suffered from dyspeptic chills from the present administration system were however, not present (we did not read anywhere that Ed Novack was there).

No—not a little off, Mr. Bryce. There was nothing about politics in the affair. As a matter of fact there were probably more so-called Groesbeck men present than any other faction, so if it had been politics' Groesbeck followers would have controlled the situation. It takes more a soup and pie to sweeten the followers of a just cause even though they are outside looking in for the present. To Mr. Bryce you have just stubbed your tongue too this time.

Rats appear to have a strong relish for growing feathers. During adverse weather conditions such as the molt, moulting, which is the egg-cellular carbolic acid and other producing part of the ration should be fed freely. Scratch feed should contain oil, and peppermint and wintergreen oil, and this fact may be fed sparingly so that the hens eat more mush than scratch feed. The mash should make up the stored grain from the roosters from one-half to one-third of the total diet. Increased mash consumption may be induced by feeding on the floor and over the bags of cracked grain with a cup of raw linseed oil and won't injure the feed. No toxicous compounds that may affect the poultry should be used where any part of the material would be objectionable. Sulphur particularly has been found to be excellent for protecting stored grain from the ravages of rats. The same poultry feeds that give good egg production are best adapted Seeds may seem like commonplace things, but there are some interesting ones in the 35,000 lots collected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which has one of the most complete collections of economic foreign seeds in the world. The airplane seed from the East Indies comes from a large dry squash growing in the tree tops. The squash when ripe opens and sets the seeds, which have wings on each end so placed that the seeds in falling describe a spiral about 20 feet in diameter. The seeds of the traveler's tree from Madagascar is covered with a bright green silky fringe, and the seed of the bird-of-paradise flower is black with one half covered with a brilliant scarlet plumage. One kind of eucalyptus seed resembles a tiny beemerang, while another is a model of an Eskimo kayak, with a round spot on top for the paddler to sit in.

Shelled eggs are a pleasant change for breakfast, or dinner. Drop the eggs into a shallow buttered baking dish, sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top, and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set. Individual baking dishes may be used, and the eggs sent in them to the table.

Whenever an animal dies on a farm, hold a post-mortem and try to discover the reason. If in doubt call in a veterinarian to determine the trouble. If several animals of the same species are unhealthy and are not "doing well," kill the sickest, and find out the cause.

Experimental work by state and federal research workers indicates the wisdom of feeding young chickens with a mash containing 40 percent dry skin milk. This tends to prevent losses from coccidiosis.

general high vitality is an aid in protecting animals against many parasites. Good feeding builds up an animal's condition.

The name "Jacob's ladder" was given to the ladder reaching from earth to heaven seen in a vision by Jacob. This is also a name for fattening feeds for hogs, it is not given to a short rope ladder or shipboard and to an apparatus for raising light weights to a considerable height. An endless revolving chain of buckets, filling them with corn balanced by some seed rich in protein, such as tankage, fish meal, or soybean meal.

Formerly much used in breweries and distilleries, it is known as a "Jacob's ladder."

MANY NORTHLVILLE RESIDENTS GO TO THE MILFORD FAIR

Editor Rowe of Milford Says Attendance Records Broken

Nearly everybody in Northville went to the Milford at sometime during last week. In fact probably no town in this part of the state sent in proportion to its population as many people to the fair as did Northville. Many went twice and practically all of the officials of the Northville fair association spent a considerable portion of the week at the fair.

Excellent reports were heard from the local visitors. The one regret seemed to be the fact that the Northville baseball team suffered a set-back in the first game and didn't get into the winning was just one of those things that sometimes happen.

The fair, the 49th one held at Milford, proved to be the largest attended one in the history of the association, according to Editor Rowe of the Milford Times.

The big crowds were attracted by the fact that there was something different offered—the historical pageant being a tremendous draw-card.

Editor Rowe in the Milford Times had the following comment about the fair this year:

"The livestock exhibit is all that advance notices promised. The cattle exhibit is especially fine, with Arbu Farms of Oxford, Poniac State Hospital, L. C. Kelly & Son of Marshall, Lakesfield Farms of Clarkston, Stewart Brothers of Vassar, Van Hoosen Farm of Rochester, and Red Rose Farm of Northville among the exhibitors."

The poultry exhibit is stated by observers to be the best-balanced for quality stock of any ever held in the local grounds. The competition has been among all the popular breeds. The quantity of well-developed stock is especially noticeable.

The racing score card is being handled by Ray Poppe of Detroit. He also handles the Northville race card.

A large show case filled with hand-painted china comes in for a good deal of admiration.

F. W. Shell, of Farmington, makes an attractive display of honey bees and apiculturist supplies. The Pontiac State Hospital is showing many varieties of handiwork by the patients of that institution.

Two departments that noticeably smaller than usual are the canned fruit and the children's department.

The booth devoted to antiques maintains its interest each year with a changing exhibit of treasured relics of many kinds.

The kids will not lack for rides. There are four of them on the grounds, including merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, circular swing and till-a-wheel.

Boy Scouts from over the country have a tent on the grounds and are assisting with the parking. The boys get attendance at the fair as a reward for Scout activities.

The elderly ladies have a display of handwork to be proud of. The number of shirries in this department is unusually large. The baked goods make a large and tempting display.

The work of the 4-H Club girls is shown in the county building. The Pontiac Commercial and Savings bank turned over their space to the county agent for this purpose.

"Concessions—never so many of them" assembled on the fair ground. The Midway rivals that of the state fair, according to many visitors at the fair on Wednesday.

You can't help admiring the flower show, for which the Springfield, Gladwin Gardens, and the Davison Flower Shoppe are responsible. They make a colorful sight adorning the county building.

The Oakland County Department of Health has a tent where poisons and literature call attention to its work. There is also a display of work done by the patients at the county tuberculosis sanitarium.

Making any kind of a display of fruit at this season in a poor fruit year has its difficulties. However, Superintendent Bristol has assembled quite a showing of fruit mostly immature, and a larger exhibit of grains and vegetables of good quality.

The time of 2:11 by Saint Ruby in the second heat of the 2 1/2 m. on Wednesday afternoon is stated by the judges to be the fastest heat ever trotted in a race in Oakland county. This is the first time St. Ruby has started this season. He is owned and driven by the veteran horseman, William Lacey of Howell.

A most interesting exhibit in the county building is contributed by Miss Ernestine Fisher of Pontiac, who worked in India under the Woman's Union Missionary Society of America. The collection includes many articles from India and Persia, beautiful bedspreads, rugs, embroideries, brass bowls and vases, and curios.

An intricate piece of scroll work patterned after a cathedral is the clock exhibited by W. H. Lemmon of Highland. It is electrically lighted and can be used for radio reception. It was made by Mr. Lemmon some years ago. He was working on it for about a year, and quite steadily for six weeks.

The Farmington and Walled Lake Exchange clubs are the only two that have notified the local committee that they were sending Sunshine Special delegations. The Y. M. C. A. boys at Fish Lake, however, came in 200 strong the General Motors Corporation is providing six busses for their transportation.

The Boys' band from Flint was on duty Wednesday and Thursday and will be here Saturday. On Friday the Vassar band is to furnish music and it is reported that Vassar business men will close up for the afternoon and accompany the band to the fair. The band will give a concert for an hour preceding the free acts on Friday. You can't say too much about that band; we are advised, but time and space this Thursday prevent saying any more.

Aphids or plant lice, are one of the most remarkable groups of insects, one of the most interesting facts about them being their association with ants. Ants are very fond of the excrement of aphids known as honeydew, and will attend their "cows" very carefully, carrying them from one place to another where the "pasturage" may be better. With underground aphids, the ants carry them from one plant to another, and sometimes build a shed of soil over a colony of aphids above ground to protect them.

MANY ENTER THIS AIRPLANE CONTEST

The Mack-Craft Amphibian airplane model contest looks like it will be a huge success. It was indeed surprising to see the great crowds around the office every morning, either getting plane wood, propellers, rubber, bearings and many other necessary parts they are using to build their models.

There will be keen competition in this contest as each boy believes his airplane will walk away with the prize. The boys promise to build some very clever models. Some are building the Tractor, the Baby R. O. G. and the High Climb Biplane type, and many others.

By golly boys, this airplane model contest is sure going to be a huge success. The kids are pouring in like bees. Now, fellows, you have to use the room next door to the engineer's room when you wish to consult and buy parts for your airplanes. If causes too much confusion in the company's office. If you should want to see Mr. Monash, just give him the high sign, and go into the next room, or call him over in the park in the evening after working hours.

The following list of boys are members of the contest: Norval Ayres, Floyd Dicks, Alber Miller, Harry Wallenauer, Billy Petz, Homer Pennant, Forbes Smith, James Holloway, James Williams, Steven Horvath, Sheldon Baker, George Finkerton, J. D. McLaren, Burton Tobe, Kenneth Cool, Frank Allison, Melvin Blunk, Russell Nicol, Marvin Sackett, Emerson Robinson, Sanford Knapp, Donald Bronson, Arvid Burgen, Chester Simpson, Clyde Felt, Dan Carmichael, Richard Hewer, Rupert Hedley.

If the merchants desire to offer a prize to the boys, we would be glad to hear from them. We hope to get together ten or fifteen prizes. Some of the prizes will consist of airplane rides, wearing apparel, cash prizes and enough material to build a complete set of models.

Master Forbes Smith has had considerable experience in building airplane models and has offered to help the boys who have had, but little experience. His model is now being exhibited in the window of the Mack-Craft Amphibian Corp.

There are a total of twenty-eight boys entering the model contest, and there promises to be many more before the week is over—Plymouth, Mad.

DUCK HUNTERS HERE IS BIT OF DATA FOR YOU

(Continued from Page One) where most of the weed beds are below-water, unless floating anchored blinds are to be allowed there couldn't be much duck-hunting and of course we want Michigan hunters to get their full share of good hunting.

On the other hand it isn't fair to the ducks or to the hunters if such floating blinds are anchored too close together or so close as to keep the ducks from their best feeding grounds. If the birds don't get good chances to rest and to feed, they will be driven out and out of the state before they really want to go, and before Michigan hunters have had a chance to get their fair share of the flight.

—So as to prevent misunderstandings, says the director, a circular covering these points is being sent out to all enforcement officers under the new law we know what duck blinds are or are not lawful. We tend to have uniform and very definite enforcement of the law as it now stands, and we are very hopeful that the changes will make for increasingly good duck hunting and a fair distribution of the chances among our hunters."

Chocolate that appears white on the outside has been kept in an over-warm place so that some of the fat has melted and come to the surface. It is not injured in any way for use.

"Ducking" the losses from damage in spring wheat can be accomplished by the use of self-cleaning screens at threshing time, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The self-cleaning screen consists of a series of square racks rubbing on the underside of the screen which prevent it from clogging. Over 800 of these self-cleaning screens were used in the spring-wheat area in 1928, and successfully removed large quantities of small weed seeds and part of the wild oats. The average feeding value of dockage produced each year in the spring-wheat area from wheat, flax and rye is about $10,000,000. If this dockage is removed as part of the threshing operation, it can be used as livestock feed and handling charges for it will be saved. All dockage fed to livestock should be ground to prevent spreading weed seed on the farm.

TO MY CUSTOMERS:

The Priceless Ingredient

In the City of Bagdad lived Hakeem, the Wise One, and many people went to him for counsel which he gave freely to all, asking nothing in return. There came to him a young man who had spent much but got little, and said, "Tell me, Wise One, what shall I do to receive the most for that which I spend?" Hakeem answered, "A thing that is bought or sold has no value unless it contains that which cannot be bought or sold. Look for the PRICELESS INGREDIENT." But what is the Priceless Ingredient? asked the young man. Spoke then the Wise One, "My son, the Priceless Ingredient of every product in the market place is the HONOR and INTEGRITY of him who makes it. Consider his name before you buy."

When our customers come into our store they also like to receive the most for which they spend. By supplying them with nationally advertised lines, we honestly believe we are offering the very best. Nationally advertised products have always contained that PRICELESS INGREDIENT.

Yours truly,

C. A. PONSFORD

DEHOOCO BACK IN FORM, WINS AGAIN

Sunday afternoon at Dehooco park, a sixthinning rally, in which seven hits, a base on balls, and three errors, were turned into eight runs, changed what had been a good ball game into an absolute rout and put the Buck Motor Co. of Flint, on the short era of a 16 to 2 score.

There was some doubt on the part of the Dehooco management as to whether the team that showed up was the outfit that had booked play, and the start of the game was delayed while Capt. Denniston talked the matter over with the opposing manager. It was the varied array of uniforms in which they appeared that first aroused Capt.

Denniston's doubts, and he did not wish to perpetuate a hoax on the cash customers by charging them for a mediocre game. However, the opponents claimed that an accident had occurred to their regular uniforms and consequently the variety was necessary. Capt. Denniston was finally convinced and ordered the game started, and for the first five innings it looked like he had made a correct decision.

The end of the fifth found Dehooco leading 3 to 1, but having had to fight every inch of the way. They had gotten seven hits off Wright

during the five innings, four singles being grouped in the third frame for three runs, while the Bucks had tucked Hartner for five hits, but only one run. Then came the sixth in which Wright blew up and his supporting cast went completely to pieces. The eighth and ninth were almost as bad, and Dehooco rang up six more hits for five more runs, bringing the total up to twenty hits and sixteen runs.

The visitors managed to push one man around in the seventh for their second, and last run.

The only redeeming feature of the last few innings was the huri-ng of Rowland, who relieved Hartner to start the eighth. The big boy was right and struck out four of the six men that faced him, the other two being easy infield outs.

Next Sunday, the Dehooco team will journey to Sand Lake to engage the Jackson Manufacturing men in a contest, and the following Sunday, August 25th, will be back at Dehooco park with the Sebridge Phers of Mt. Clemens as their opponents.

ALLISON SAYS OVER MILLION OF SIXES ON ROAD

Local Chevrolet Dealer Tells of Tremendous Sale of Cars

One million six cylinder Chevrolets have been placed on the road since the first of the year, according to E. J. Allison, Chevrolet dealer of this section.

This sensational achievement indicates it does the great popular appeal of the new six cylinder car, was made at the central offices of the company here today as assembly plants in various parts of the country were operating on the biggest summer production schedule in the history of Chevrolet.

Never in the history of the industry has any other manufacturer equalled the achievement of placing a million six cylinder cars on the road in less than eight months. In fact, according to observers, this is more than three times as many six cylinder cars as were ever produced by a manufacturer during a like period.

The record-making model, probably the famous of all Chevrolet cars, rolled off the assembly line at the huge Flint, Mich., plant on August 5th. It happened to be a sedan, the new Imperial sedan, introduced a few weeks ago. The gleaming record-breaker was welcomed at the end of the assembly line by W. S. Knudsen, president, and other high Chevrolet officials.

Without any ceremony the car left the plant for Detroit, where it will be presented as one of the interesting exhibits that are to be part of the mammoth Chevrolet sales convention in Detroit, August 14, 15, 16. The entire sales-supervisory force of nearly 2,000 men will be on hand for the biggest convention of its kind ever held by the company.

The rapidity with which Chevrolet marched on to the record of a million "sixes" in less than eight months will be noted from the following tabulation of the dates when the various epoch marking sixes were on the road:

First Six - January 18, 1928
250,000th Six - March 19, 1928
500,000th Six - April 24, 1928
750,000th Six - June 1, 1928
1,000,000th Six - August 5th

Nearly every state in the Union had a share in the building of the million sixes. Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan furnished the steel; the South and West supplied the wood; the South and Northeast provided the cotton and wool; the rubber came from Ohio, Illinois and California; the glass from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois; and the zinc and enamel from New Jersey and Michigan. More than 85,000 carloads of material were used to produce the million sixes.

Official figures indicate the demand is even greater than during the same period of 1927 or 1928, during which years the Chevrolet Motor Company was the world's largest builder of automobiles. Furthermore, the change made by Chevrolet, January 1st, from four-cylinder production to six-cylinder production has upset all previous precedents in the low-priced field by causing the production of six-cylinder cars to exceed the production of four-cylinder cars for the first time in automotive history.

It is also significant to note from automobile registrations, that since January 1, 1927, the Chevrolet Motor Company has built and produced more automobiles than any other manufacturer in the world. Also, Chevrolet sales for the first time in the history of the company were greater in July than they were in June, which still further emphasizes the constantly increasing popularity of the new six-cylinder car.

WILD WEST RODEO TO FEATURE STATE FAIR THIS FALL

Secure Several Brahma
Steers for Bull-Dogging
Contests

Brahma steers, across between the sacred bulls of India and the Texas longhorns, have been obtained for the steer-bull dogging contests of the Wild West rodeo engaged for the Michigan State Fair September 1 to 7.

The rodeo, or stampede, will be the first ever seen in the Mid-West. It will rank in size with the great round-ups of Pendleton, Oregon; Cheyenne, Wyoming, and Ogallala, Nebraska. Afterward, and evening performance will be held. The rodeo will be the chief feature in the roundup and swing of the fair which will include aerial fireworks in the evening, a type never before seen at the fair. Fifteen hundred acts and a grandstand by Al Sweet's band in cowboy costume. Canada's greatest killer and the first Highlander, will be heard in a concert each evening at the Horse Show in the Coliseum.

The Brahma type of steer, a car load of which will be brought to the fair for the rodeo bull-doggers, is considered the most vicious variety, and in bull-dogging contests are more savage and hard-fighting than the more familiar longhorn.

Bull-dogging steers is considered the most dangerous feat of a rodeo. A cowboy leaps to the steer's neck while the steer and his horse are racing full tilt and endeavors to throw the steer by falling across the horns, seizing the animal's muzzle and twisting its neck. Accidents to the man almost invariably follow his failure.

Husband and hog calling contests again will be big features at the Michigan State Fair, according to fair officials. The contests, first held last year, proved so popular that they promise to become a permanent part of the fair.

Fines in each contest are the same, $15, $10 and $5. State fair officials hasten to explain there is no similarity in husbands and hogs, but that the contests have been combined because they are both of the calling type. The contests will be held in the Coliseum on the afternoon of Thursday, September 5th.

The hog calling contest, the official program declares, is "open to any farmer in the world."

The competition in husband-simmoning is open to any member of the general sex, from 18 to 30, who now has, ever did have or expects to have a husband."

Instructions in the program indicate that just a loud "Oh Jim" or "Come, Hog" are not enough in calling a husband or a porker. Some of the features the calling should possess, the program says, are: volume to reach friend husband in the village grocery or the hog in the back eighty, charm, to call the husband away from a rummy game or the porker from a mud puddle originally, that either master or hog will recognize his master's voice, assurance, that nobody knows the table is set and the woodbox filled, the hog knows that the food trough already holds his meal.

PENNIMAN ALLEN—

turning a stage coach over a steep embankment has its draw backs especially when the ground is hard and rocky a river is waiting for you at the bottom.

One of the big thrills of the film is the turning over of a stage coach during a race for the mail and express contract. The coach, six horses and driver actually go over the bank and turn several somersaults before landing in the river below.

It took two days to get this fall. Three stunt men whose business it is to do such things booked out at the last minute when they were to edge over to the bank and go over each decided to call it a day.

It remained for one Tom Bay, driver, to do the trick—and with him it happened unintentionally.

He was driving his team on the narrow mountain road when the road lay way beneath him and away he went, coach, horses and all. The quick action of Dave Good, the camera man, in getting the complete fall, saved several more days of shooting.

"The Adventure Mail" is an authentic story packed with romance, drama and thrills.

THE HOUSE OF HORROR IS TENSE MYSTERY THRILLER

Good cinema mystery thrillers are rare—and when they are good they are about as fine entertainment as the screen can offer.

That is why no one with a leaning toward eerie entertainment should miss "The House of Horror," first national attraction at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday, August 21.

The picture has more than mystery thrill to offer, for it is also a lively comedy, thanks to the efforts of Louise Fazenda and Chester Conklin, the famous funsters at the head of the cast. Love-passages of a novel sort are also present.

There's a mystery within a mystery, too, concerning the authorship of "The House of Horror" and it has to do with a blue diamond and certain other elements of the story based on real life happenings. The author of the scenario therefore remains incognito.

number of electric light and power customers."

Radical departures are made in heating element design, chief of which is the application of radiant heat. The range uses both reflection and convection from a high speed cooking element. Four electric cones are used for the cooking table. They are placed in the center of a heavy circumferential plated steel reflector and become hot almost instantly, since they are above average heating capacity. The reflectors concentrate all the heat on the food to be cooked. The cones which are identical in size and construction can be removed much in the same manner as an electric lamp.

The range is designed with it and economical in fuel cost, and that could be manufactured by mass production methods at a price much below than hitherto deemed possible for electrical stoves or comparable size and finish.

The reason for undertaking the development of a new type of electric stove, according to Alex Don, president of Detroit Edison, was the inability of our company and others to obtain in any other way a low-cost and rapid cooking electric machine.

His specific object, according to the designer, Warren Noble of Detroit, were to find effect that the machine should be easy to clean, simple to operate, quick to cook, and of such construction that it could be made in quantities at a price that would be attractive and economically possible for a large number of users.

Mass production methods similar to those employed in Detroit automobile plants will be used in its manufacture.

DROUGHT CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE TO CROPS ABOUT HERE

The annual Gage school reunion harvested in 1928. The rye crop amounts to only 2,200,000 bushels, marking a steady decline in the volume of this crop for the past ten years.

The condition of the potato crop dropped from 84 to 79 per cent of normal during July, reducing the estimate to 29,273,000 bushels. This quantity is about six millions less than the crop of 1928 and six million more than the crop of 1927.

With the United States crop now estimated to be below average in quantity it is too early to accurately forecast the final yield as weather conditions may alter it very materially.

There should be decided improvement in the prospects, indications point to better prices than obtained in 1927 and 1928.

Michigan leads in many of the south-central counties of the bean acreage increase from last year brought at the end of July, which is the critical period in the life of the bean plant. For that reason, it is difficult to estimate the true condition on August 1st. Planting extended over a considerable period this year, so that the stage of ripening varies widely between different fields. The blooming and pod-forming periods will vary and yields will likewise have a wide range in the same locality. The August condition indicates a production amounting to 6,977,000 bushels, or three-fourths of a bushel per acre, less than the ten-year average, and one million bushels more than the 1928 production.

Michigan's buckwheat crop varies but little from year to year in volume, the acreage this year being 59,000 and the prospective yield 70,000 bushels, against a production of 72,000 in 1928. The condition of sugar beets has dropped to 69 per cent of normal, which is equivalent to a production of 376,000 tons compared with a ten-year average of 903,000 tons.

The state's hay crop promises to be the largest on record. The acreage is large and the yield is good in all sections, averaging about 1,600 tons per acre in comparison with a ten-year average of 3,32 tons.

Weather conditions were generally favorable during the cutting season and a large proportion is of excellent quality.

Fruit prospects have declined slightly during the past month, except in the case of grapes which promise 76 per cent of a full crop.

The percentage of a full crop of apples is 46; peaches 46; pears 34; plums 35; cherries 49; and blackberries and raspberries, 60.
