

VACATION AT END, SCHOOL
BELL TO RING

Students Resume Work
Tuesday - Teachers
Meet Monday

Between 700 and 800 children of Northville will Tuesday morning start the new school year, all of the grades resuming their duties at that time following a hot and dry summer vacation.

In anticipation of a considerably enlarged school enrollment, the officials of the district have wisely taken steps to provide the additional room that is expected to be necessary to care for the increased number of students.

While classes will not start until Tuesday forenoon, Sept. 3, William Gordon has called a teachers' meeting for Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the high school building. There the work of the new year will be outlined and general policies discussed. It is possible that President E. B. Cavel will be present at this session, providing his health permits him to be out.

On Wednesday evening, September 4th, the old teachers will entertain the new teachers at Cass Benton park. The members of the board of education and their wives will also be guests at this occasion. The full list of teachers for the ensuing year follows:

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Shawley will not be filled until the end of the present week. The resignations all came during the summer vacation.

DR. BRAMICK IS NAMED PRESIDENT

Dr. F. W. Bramick, Plymouth physician, a former resident of Germany, was elected president of a newly formed American academic society at a meeting of the organization Monday night at Harmon hall, 267 East Grand River avenue, Detroit.

This organization has been formed to assist students and other new arrivals to the United States from Germany in becoming acquainted with the American customs, English language and successful professional and business men—Plymouth Mail.

Success Winner Tells of Battle in Early Life to Win
Place in Business World

A worker, a tireless worker—one who always did more than he was paid for—that in brief accounts for the successful business career of Nelson Schrader, who Wednesday noon appeared in his turn on the Exchange club program to give a sketch of his own life. No, he didn't say that he always worked harder than the other fellows, but you couldn't help knowing that he did from the fact that when a mere lad he was selected to run a threshing outfit, that he got the same pay as men did for work on the farm, that as a wood cutter he put up just as many cords as did the old time woodsmen.

Intensely interesting was the life story of this business man who has held every honor that the community of Northville might confer. President of the village, president of the Northville, Wayne County Fair association, president of the Exchange club, president of the Northville Automobile club, a bank director and the largest individual taxpayer in the community—why wouldn't the success-story of a country lad, the youngest of nine children left fatherless when a small boy, be of more than ordinary interest?

Far laborer, coal shoveler, moonshiner—the former Cherry Hall trapper, while running a street

AYRSHIRE ASS'N WILL MEET HERE

Arrangements have been completed for the meeting of the Michigan Ayrshire Association on Thursday, September 19th, at the Northville, Wayne County Fair grounds. Not only will the breeders of their cattle at the fair grounds in a special tent erected for that purpose.

A number of professors, as well as well known breeders, will be on the program that will be given during the day, according to Roy Booth, an active member of the organization. Mr. Booth is vice president of the state organization, and he is putting forth every effort to make the event a big success.

James E. Davidson of Bay City, boat builder and prominent Michigan capitalist, president of the association, will come from Bay City to preside over the meeting. Mr. Davidson is also prominent in Michigan politics, having been national committeeman from this state for many years. He has a herd of some 180 head of Ayrshires on his farm near Ithaca.

CAR WRECKS HOUSE, ONE IS INJURED

Girl Driver Loses Control of Auto, While Turning Around

What Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt, 588 Plymouth avenue, for a few minutes thought to be an earthquake late last Thursday night, proved to be an automobile accident, which shook their home, knocked the foundation out from under, and broke a water pipe, causing the basement to be flooded.

The accident, one of those unusual ones, resulted when a new Oldsmobile coupe owned by Thelma Hicks of Plymouth, was being turned around just this side of the Seven Mile road.

In the car with Miss Hicks and her two other Plymouth girls, Miss Ruth Englund and Miss Evelyn Drews. They had stopped at the little stand at the Seven Mile road where they had purchased popcorn. Miss Hicks started to turn the car around to come back into Northville.

As she pressed her foot down on the accelerator, it failed to come back and as the car shot forward she did not turn it back into the street. It circled off the paving and into the southeast corner of the Hunt residence, where the rear end of the machine was crushed in and the frame sprung. The car was almost wrecked.

Fortunately only one of the occupants of the machine was injured, Miss Drews being badly cut about the face and having two teeth knocked out. The loss is a severe one to the young man who owns the car, as the insurance policy he carried on the machine in no way covers an accident like the one that took place. The house is owned by Mrs. Palmer of Plymouth avenue.

Members of the Rural Letter Carriers' Association of Wayne county, of which Roy Clark of Northville, as president, held their annual summer outing last Saturday afternoon at Cass Benton park, about thirty of the members and their wives being present. The next meeting of the association will be at Huron River park, on September 14th.

car between Northville and Wayne was urged to learn the undertaking business in Plymouth. Five dollars a week was the sum total of his wages. He studied night and day. On the first examination he failed. Did he quit and say it wasn't worth while? Not Nelson Schrader. He bought more books and he studied harder than ever. On the next examination he passed.

Soon after he purchased the undertaking business in Plymouth in company with his brother. Both workers, the furniture and undertaking business prospered.

On January 1, 1907, Schrader Brothers as the firm was known, purchased the Porter furniture and undertaking business of Northville, Nelson coming to Northville to conduct the business and his brother remaining in Plymouth. That in brief is his career. The only part that he told was of the jobs he held when a youngster and of his trials in getting a start in life. A most interesting story of success isn't it?

The postoffice will be closed all day Monday, except between 8:30 and 10:30 in the morning. No money orders will be issued and no mail deliveries (city or rural) made. All mail will be collected from boxes at 4:00 p. m.

FIRE WIPES OUT WORK OF ENTIRE YEAR

Burr Lyke Suffers Severe
Loss When Flames
Destroy Crops

In less than the time it takes to tell, the season's efforts of Burr Lyke, who last spring rented what is known as the old Hartman or Bradley place, five miles west on the Base Line road, was wiped out by fire Tuesday afternoon.

Fate seemed to decree that all of his crops should go in the fire, for the threshing crew had just finished carrying into the barn the last bushels of oats that had been threshed. All that remains of his year's work are a few loads of barley and some of this has been threshed and carried into the bin. How the fire started is one of those mysteries no one can explain. The threshing outfit belonging to Harry Bulmon, a neighbor of Mr. Lyke's living a short ways to the west was to the north of the barn threshing out Mr. Lyke's grain.

Mr. Bulmon was on the separator and Lyke had just a few minutes before the fire started, climbing down the straw stack, where he changed the blower to another position. Suddenly Bulmon saw a blaze in the straw stack directly under the blower.

Jumping to the ground and calling for help, he and others fought desperately to extinguish the blaze. But everything, dry as tinder and with a north wind blowing directly to the barn located some 15 or 20 feet away, seemed to catch fire all at once. The threshing crew hurriedly pulled the separator away and this was said.

An immediate examination showed that there were no hot boxes about the separator, and it is believed that possibly a stone caught in a bundle or possible, a match that had been dropped somewhere went into the separator and caused a spark that started the disastrous blaze.

So desperately did Lyke fight to save his crops that he was physically overcome and a physician had to be called. He was taken to the home of neighbors. Mr. Lyke and his six small children assisted by the threshing crew and nearby farmers, carried all of the furniture out of the house, as the house would also go. It was directly south of the barn and the wind was carrying great sparks into the roof.

The Northville fire department had been called, but a long freight delayed its arrival several minutes. The work of the local firemen is what saved the house from going up in smoke.

The threshing crew arrived at the place at 10 o'clock, and the work was nearly finished when the fire started sometime after two o'clock. Besides the 425 bushels of oats that had been carried into the barn, Mr. Lyke had something like 50 tons of good alfalfa hay in the mow. All of his farm equipment, except a binder, was in the barn. His chicken house, as well as the milk house, was destroyed. The barn was a big one, being 36x90 feet.

The insurance is so small on the loss that it will amount to practically nothing. Mr. Lyke, who had in the past done farming for the past few years had worked in a garage at South Lyon, and it was early in the present spring when he took his family back to the farm, where his great loss took place Tuesday.

As an indication of the way the wind carried the tinders from the fire Mr. George Roberts, who lives two miles south, in Salem, found big black pieces of burned shingles in her yard before she started for there. Fortunately the blaze was kept from spreading.

NEAR QUARTER MILLION FOR CLUB HOUSE

Meadowbrook to Spend Large Sum on New Building

Bids will be opened September 4th by directors of the Meadowbrook Country Club for the erection of a new club house at the country club, that will cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars. It is planned to start on the structure in the immediate future and when the new building is finished it will be one of the finest and most up-to-date club houses in the country.

Two stories high with a basement under it, the building will be something like 180 feet in length. It will be constructed of cinderblock blocks and made as fire proof as a structure can be.

There will be 25 bedrooms in the building, some 14 baths, a large assembly hall, a dining hall and several grill rooms.

The building will be built adjoining the new locker structure that was put up a year or so ago, and the architecture will conform to a

THOUSANDS HERE
SEE GRAFZEPPELIN

Thousands of Northville and vicinity residents enjoyed the most unexpected opportunity between 9:15 and 9:25 Wednesday evening of seeing the giant Graf Zeppelin fly directly over Northville on its world-circling tour. Far-off in a western sky people who happened to be out of doors heard the roar of powerful motors. In fact the hum of the giant engines was heard before the ship was seen.

Then a row of lights hovered in view and for a period of nearly ten minutes the ship was in full sight of everyone in the Northville territory. While people had read of the giant size of the great airship, few realized that it was such a long aircraft until they saw it sailing directly over Northville.

From the hills about town the ship could be seen for many miles. Then the searchlights of Detroit began flashing in an effort to pick up the big airship and once in a while the silvery flash of the giant bag could be seen from here. Fortunately indeed were the thousands of Northville folks who had the opportunity of seeing the giant airship.

NEW AIRSHIP BIG HIT AT

Cadillac Officials Highly Pleased With Its Reception

Northville's newest aircraft product, the amphibian manufactured by the Cadillac Aircraft Corporation, has been the center of unusual interest at the Cleveland air show and races during the present week. Thousands and thousands have inspected the ship and have declared it one of the finest of its type they have ever seen.

This craft, the same one except for a few minor alterations, that was given many extraordinary tests at the Northville airport a few weeks ago, was flown to Cleveland last week, landed on Lake Erie and then was flown over to the airport for the exhibition.

The fact that it is one of the few aircrafts made that can land on either sea or ground caused the exceptional interest in the machine.

Harry Graham and Mr. McCarrall, officers of the company, as well as Arthur Ackerman, spent practically all of the week in Cleveland and they were delighted with the favorable comments they heard about the ship.

While no authorized statement has been issued, it is understood that a number of crafts will be produced in the immediate future although much of the engineering work that the company has been doing in recent weeks is not yet completed.

MONDAY IS LABOR DAY-BUT ONE TOWN
PLANS OBSERVANCE

Next Monday, it's the first Monday in September, is Labor day. Bankers postpone employees and the other side of Northville will make it another day of vacation.

Labor day, a number of years ago quite generally observed as a holiday in some of the larger cities, has in recent years become less of a holiday and is no longer generally observed except in some industrial centers and by institutions that are required to close on holidays.

Northville has planned no celebration or other observance of the day. It will be a day before school starts and necessary every mother, Northville will be busy preparing Betty, Dick and Freddie for school. For mother it is a real labor day.

Over in Farmington, the American Legion will stage its annual gala day. It will be the eighth one that that community has put on and the committee this year hopes to make the 1929 event a bigger success than ever before. Plymouth and other nearby communities will follow the same usual routine as any other day.

The Farmington gala day will start early in the forenoon. A ball game, a concert by the Northville School Community band, a horse-shoe tournament, and all kinds of freak races will characterize the day's program. In the afternoon another ball game will be played; numerous vaudeville acts have been arranged and in the evening there will be dancing in the town hall.

Very great extent with that of the building it will adjourn.

The Meadowbrook is one of the oldest country clubs in the Detroit area and the golf grounds are said to be among the best in the state.

The club is in excellent financial condition in fact being one of the few not encumbered with heavy indebtedness. The building will be ready for use with the opening of the 1930 season.

START WORK ON BIGGEST PENAL PLANT

Capt. Dennison to Direct
Entire Building Program for Detroit

Under the personal supervision and direction of Capt. Edward Dennison, warden of the Detroit House of Correction, one of the biggest building programs ever carried on at any penal institution in America is just being started at the House of Correction, three miles south-west of Northville.

The plan provides for the entire removal of the Detroit House of Correction prison from Detroit to the Northville territory within the next two years and when the new buildings are completed, in addition to the structures already erected, this prison will be one of the largest in the country.

A year ago was completed the prison for women regarded as a model one by penal leaders of the world. Famous prison warden from many countries after visiting the new buildings, have told Capt. Dennison that they regarded the new women's prison as the best planned they had ever visited.

It is his idea to have the new institution rank just as high as does the part of the institution that has already been built under his direction.

Prisoners for weeks past have been making cement blocks, thousands and thousands of them, that will be used in the new buildings. It is the purpose of Capt. Dennison to save the city of Detroit just as much as possible through the use of prison labor in the building of the new institution. In fact, a very large part of the construction will be done by inmates.

Already the steel frame work for the new recreational building is being put up. This building will be something new in prison construction. While others have big halls for so-called recreational purposes, few have separate buildings used exclusively for this purpose. For the past several years, ever since the possibility of building an entirely new prison for the Detroit House of Correction, has been considered, Capt. Dennison has been studying prison construction and plans and into the new Northville township institution will go all of the best ideas he has been able to obtain.

Some of the work will be done by contract necessarily and this is the part of the work that is just now taking as great portion of Capt. Dennison's time. He is spending every minute he can spare with architects and builders.

The work as at present outlined will take at least two years, possibly longer. When the big prison buildings and the factories have been completed, the 1700 inmates or more from Detroit will be moved to the Northville institution. There are several hundred out at the prison farm now and the warden plans to add additional help from the Detroit institution just as fast as needed.

Of course a considerable portion of the work will be done by free labor and after the work is well started, employment will be provided for many men during the construction period.

HOWARD BATES IS CLUB CHAMPION

In the semi-finals for Bragburn Golf club championship, Howard Bates defeated J. N. McLaughlin 2 up and 1 to play. E. R. Snook defeated E. A. Johnson 7 up and 5 to play. Mr. Bates and Mr. Snook will play off for the cup next Sunday morning.

Saturday's regular tournament was won by C. H. Abe, 92-272 net. Next in line were J. N. McLaughlin with 94 net, C. R. Snook tied with L. W. Ricketts with 96 net.

FAIR GROUND
NEATEST IN THE COUNTRY

Northville to Present to Visitors a Beautiful
Exhibit Place

When the gates of the Northville Wayne County Fair swing open on Tuesday morning, September 17th, for the 13th annual fair, of the association visitors will behold a new fair ground, the neatest and most attractive in all Michigan.

For months past workmen have been employed at the fair grounds, removing old fences, taking down unsightly posts and boards, tearing up away tracks that have been erected at various times for one purpose or another, grading off the uneven places, building new lawns for the horse show grounds and painting up the fences and buildings that needed another coat of paint.

Much of this work has been paid for and done by real friends of the association, the story of which will be told later. A new ball diamond with larger fielding space and all just as level as a surveying instrument could make it will be used

YOUTH IS DROWNED IN WALLED LAKE

Walled Lake this week claimed another life, when Jack Lyons, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyons of Clarenceville, owned, was drowned sometime Sunday, but the body was not recovered until Tuesday.

The lad went out in a rowboat Sunday afternoon, and when he failed to return to the cottage late in the afternoon, his parents, who were spending the week-end there, became alarmed and a search was started for him.

When the boat was found floating on the lake, it was feared that he had drowned. Officers from Oakland county Monday morning started searching for the boy and his body was found Tuesday near the bathing beach at the end of the lake. How it was possible for him to have gone down without someone seeing him is a mystery as there were hundreds in bathing and about the beach about the time the accident must have happened. The parents and five brothers and sisters survive.

BELIEVE TWO BARNS WERE SET ON FIRE

George Hills Suffers Loss of Nearly $1,000 by Night Blaze

Fire starting from some mysterious origin last Friday evening, destroyed two buildings that had in years past been used for slaughterhouse purposes, at the foot of South Wing street. The structures, owned by George Hills, while not in use, were in good condition and the loss to Mr. Hills will run something like $1,000. The structures were not insured.

That the buildings were set on fire there seems to be no doubt. Fire was burning in both of them when the fire department arrived and the dry grass between the two structures was not burned, indicating that the flames had not spread from one building to the other.

Another small shed formerly used in connection with the slaughterhouse was saved by the firemen. The flames had made so much progress when first discovered that by the time of the arrival of the fire department, nothing could be done to save the structures from almost total destruction.

The buildings were originally erected for slaughterhouse purposes, and had been kept in a good state of repair new roofs having only recently been placed on them.

PYTHIANS HONOR BALL OF PLYMOUTH

L. L. Ball, one of the best known Pythian workers in this part of the state and who had much to do with the building of the elaborate new Pythian temple in Plymouth, has been appointed chairman of the important necrology committee of the Grand Lodge of Michigan. This work has to do with the permanent records of the lodge. The other four members of the committee appointed to serve with Mr. Ball come from various sections of the state, one member being appointed from the Upper Peninsula. Mr. Ball, who recently returned from a brief vacation trip was in Grand Rapids this week to attend the grand lodge session of the Pythians.

For the first time during the fair, from the grandstand a continuous view of the entire race track can be had from the minute the horses leave the wire until they flash under it at the finish. Not a post stand or other obstruction will break the view.

From Tuesday, September 17th, until Saturday night, September 21st, Northville hopes to give the thousands of expected visitors the best fair that has ever been staged in Wayne county. An effort is being made to increase the size of all the exhibits. The poultry show, always a thing of price, will far exceed anything ever attempted in the state this year. This one display will be worth going miles to see. It will be something different, something new.

The races, the baby show, the baseball contests, the many new vaudeville acts, the fireworks, the horse show and the many riding contests that will be staged during the fair, in addition to the auto mobile show and increased free exhibitions of all kinds that are being arranged will satisfy the most exacting way officials of the Northville Wayne association.

President Nelson Schrader and Floyd Northrup have been at the fair grounds for many weeks past, each day, directing the vast amount of improvement work that has been going on. They are anticipating the biggest crowd this fall since the beginning of the fair.

NORTHROPS SELL FARM TO DETROITERS

Rumored That House of Good Shepherd Have Taken Place Over

One of the most important real estate transfers made here in many months has just been announced. The Floyd Northrop farm on Fishery road, two miles west of Northville, having been sold to unknown parties. While there is no information available, it is generally believed that the 103 acres have been taken over by the House of Good Shepherd of Detroit.

This religious organization already owns the farm directly east of the Northrop place. During the past year or so two or three other small pieces of land have been taken over by the House of Good Shepherd in that vicinity. With the purchase of the Northrop place a good portion of all the land lying west of Clement road, along the Fishery road is now owned by the House of Good Shepherd, providing it is this organization that has taken over the Northrop place.

It is known that the House of Good Shepherd plans to move its entire group from Detroit to Northville, and for weeks past there have been persistent rumors of building operations starting on the new site within the immediate future. The location is one of the ideal places in southeastern Michigan for such an institution.

While it is not known, it is understood that the price paid for the Northrop property is under $1,900 per acre. The farm has been in the Northrop family since 1844, when Start Northrop purchased the place. The house that now stands on the farm was built 75 years ago, and the father of Floyd Northrop was born there the year after the house was built. It has been occupied by the Northrop family continuously. Erection of the property will not be given over to the new purchasers until next March, when it is understood that all of the buildings on the place will be moved. Mr. Northrop's plans for the future have not been made, but he says he expects to remain here.

DEATH CLAIMS

Friends of James W. McClintock, former Northville jeweler, were grieved to hear of his death Wednesday afternoon at the Maybury sanatorium, after more than a year of failing health.

Coming to Northville shortly after the war, he has been a resident in this section since. Following his release from the hospital, he opened a jewelry store which he ran until illness forced him to sell. In February of this year he was taken to the Maybury sanatorium where he remained until his death. Gassed during the war his illness has always been attributed to that fact.

Mr. McClintock was 40 years of age. He was born December 8, 1888 in Memphis, Tennessee, where his father, J. O. McClintock, resides. He leaves to mourn his passing, besides his many friends, a wife, Mary, and two children, James and Earl. Burial services will be held Friday afternoon, August 30th, at the Schrader Bros. undertaking parlors and burial will be at the Rural Hill cemetery.

LOCAL FISHERMEN INVADE THE NORTH

Sturgeon pike and one hundred pound rainbow trout of northern Michigan lakes have gone into huddling this week. They have heard that William Elthoff and William Scott have invaded that part of the country and are going to fish only for big game. That means nothing under 100 pounds.

The two well known Northville anglers bought all the fishing poles and fish hooks they could find in Northville and left early Tuesday morning for the northland.

This said they made arrangements with A. E. Barber, Pere Marquette agent, before leaving to hire a box car to bring their fish home.

WERVE PUTS IN NEW EQUIPMENT

Wilbur J. Werve of the Werve creamery has just installed one of the most modern electric refrigeration plants he could secure for his milk and dairy business. Not only has he installed a new refrigeration system, but he has installed a new job machine and considerable other equipment to take care of the rapidly growing milk business, he has created in Northville and the surrounding area. He states that he has other improvements in view and that when his plans have been completed he will have one of the most complete dairy equipments in the state for a place of this size.

Ralph Foreman, who has been the able assistant in the fruit department of the Northville Fair, will take the place of Harry Rackham this year. Mr. Foreman has had extensive experience in fruit growing and is fully qualified to take charge of this work.

TRUTH IN IT

Times are changing. Everything is changing. What would do ten years ago will not do at all these days. In fact, we are seemingly living in another world, due almost entirely to such men as Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Luther Burbank. We are driving machines that our fathers never dreamed about. We are hearing "canned" music that is most difficult to tell from its source. We are eating melons and fruit that the world never knew until 15 or 20 years ago.

Which brings us down to the point we wish to discuss. Some of the Northville Wayne County Fair officials visited the Ionia fair a few days ago. They wanted to get every new idea they could. Officials of the local fair association have realized that they have got to give the public something different, something new in the line of fairs or there won't be any fairs. The Northville Association has kept pace with all modern development in the fair business. The local show for its size has not been excelled, but the local association realizes that even the best has to provide that little "something different" or the crowds will not come.

That is what they are doing this year. The grounds will look different. Most of the exhibits will be put up in a different way. The show will be staged under different conditions. The poultry show—But wait and see.

It was with much more than ordinary interest that we read editorial comment last week by Editor Muri DePoe of Charlotte on the Ionia fair. Because of Northville's general interest in its fair, we reprint what Editor DePoe had to say about the Ionia fair as follows:

"Ionia has just given the neighbors another demonstration of how to operate a successful fair. As the originator of the free fair idea at least in this section of the country, this group is entitled to the palm. Other fairs much older than this, and consequently in prestige are gradually changing over to the free fair idea of making gestures in that direction. Westensaw has cut the gate from fifty to twenty-five cents and Livingston is giving away three automobiles, one at the close of each day's program to stimulate attendance and interest. At Howell the merchants give away, with every dollar purchased, a free ticket on the auto and the plan is working out satisfactorily. What we are trying to say is that Eaton county must meet these changing conditions or take the consequences."

"With the exception possibly of the grandstand, Eaton county has a far more pleasant fair than the majority. A few years ago then Mayor Fred W. Green gave the Eaton County Society the blue prints of their cement grandstand just then completed. Governor Green said at the time the Ionia group had paid $400 for the blue print and plans, making it something of a gift. A comfortable grandstand is a big item in modern day entertainment psychology."

"The excuse for a fair is not nearly as potential as it was back in the horse and buggy days when rarely more than a few and far between, the old-time fair served as a sort of social clearing house. With modern transportation the social need is entirely eliminated which means that to survive, affairs of this character must keep pace with the new needs that have grown along with progress of every description."

"While many local people lost interest in the Chautauqua when a cheaper grade of Redpath entertainment was introduced a few years ago, the fact that it has passed, and without doubt permanently so far as Chautauqua is concerned, confirms somewhat the statement in the preceding paragraph that "even in gatherings are getting harder all the time to sell, and particularly where it is necessary to make a profit. The country church is almost a minority, the city church, and fraternal societies are all running the same experience—diminution or worse."

SCHOOL AGAIN

Nest Tuesday many hundreds of Northville children will resume school work for a new year. Some will go with hesitation, fully comprehending the full meaning of it all. Others, especially among the older boys and girls, will give more serious thought to it. They realize that to a very good extent the preparation they receive for life during school days will have much to do with their success in later years.

Parents should never miss an opportunity to impress upon their children the value of an education. Our teachers and they have almost a sacred duty should never make any circumstances discourage a child in its effort to gain knowledge. Sometimes many little vexing problems will arise during the day and sometimes a little something will be said by the teacher that will undo the good work of many a year.

Every child needs encouragement. A new school year is just beginning. Let parents, teachers and children of Northville cooperate in a determined effort to make it the most successful and beneficial school year since the beginning of our school. We can do it by working together and by giving each youthful student the kindly word and the helpful suggestion at the right time.

MAYBE HE IS RIGHT

The sarcastic, eccentric sea-faring editor of the Birmingham Eccentric thinks maybe the sheriff of Oakland county is wrong on something the sheriff wants to do. This is the way that Editor Averill expresses himself:

"Clap Them in Irons"

"In the wake of the report of many holdups of men and women autoists east of Birmingham comes the announcement from Sheriff Frank Schram after a conference with Norman C. Orr, prosecutor, that persons found parking their cars in the vicinity will be liable to arrest because they do not know enough to protect themselves."

"Inexperienced as we are in educating crime, this method does not seem quite logical. If it is not too naive, we should like to suggest that those who rob the people be arrested rather than the victims."

"But the apparent line of reasoning, all banks should be surrounded by stockholders jailed because banks are always liable to be robbed, would be terrible."

My Radio

Speak to me, Darling, oh, speak!
The store guaranteed you to talk.

How meekly and weakly you squeak,
How loudly you whistle and squawk!

The baby's learning to walk
And he can say "Ma-ma" and "Pop!"

You're older than he but you balk—
You whisper and gangle and stop.

Speak to me, radio, speak!
I'll even allow you to sing;

The market review for the week,
A prize-fight—just any old thing.

Jazz music would tickle me pink
A bedtime story will do.

Oh please, Super-het, don't you think
You could say just a sentence or two?

Far into the night I implored
That radio stubborn and still.

It acted as if it were ebored
With all of my coaxing until

I gave up and started for bed
And then it remarked with a cough,

"Ho-o-o-o-o—ho-o! It's one fifty-five
This is station G-R-K signing off."

HOW TO LIVE LONGER...

By John Clarence Funk

IT IS UP TO YOU

THE obesity problem seems to attract much attention these days. Those who are not fat are afraid of becoming so, and those who have already allowed themselves that luxury are becoming conscious of their condition.

Thus we have a community upon human nature and its failings. For the simple fact remains that those who are not fat, fearing pathological conditions, need not become so. And those who have reached an uncomfortable stage need not have done it.

Indeed, this is a question that could be quickly and effectively solved if the people who are now thin would conclude to remain that way. As a matter of fact, the time to reduce is when one does not need to do so. The reduction method at this period is merely a state of mind—a proper and rational attitude toward the food question.

When considering this question, one must not confuse a natural tendency to slowness with obesity. The two are as far apart as the poles. The former is according to nature, the latter is antagonistic to it. One who is pleasantly plump was likely intended to be so; and any sustained effort to acquire an unnatural thinness would be detrimental to health.

Exercise which involves a measure of muscular effort, plus the habit of eating food in all probability will maintain the status quo. Incidentally, don't envy the thin ones. They are likely envying you.

Those of you who are really uncomfortable but likely have only yourselves to blame for this condition. You have given your body more food than it requires. Too much food is a bad thing. Good cheer while all the time you were sitting in an office or house chair wondering what you were going to eat at the next meal.

Well, what is one to do in such a case? The things I first don't submit your body to, here's measures suggested which will mean that you are getting into the habit of all day long eating methodically and wisely. First, make a habit of your physician's office rule, and do a thorough examination and follow the doctor's advice. A little bit of food is better than a little bit of fat.

It's your nature to be reasonable about it, that's all. If you are really fat, then work. And no cheating.

My Favorite Stories

by Irvin S. Cobb

BASED ON THE CURRENCY SYSTEMS

THE late Charles E. Van Loan, splendid story teller in his own right and equally adept as a story writer, used to love to tell this one:

"An ambitious promoter undertook to stage a prize fight between two heavyweights at a little Mexican town just over the national boundary from California. The fight was advertised to go for 20 rounds. From both sides of the line a great crowd gathered, the majority of those present being Mexicans."

"At something inexperienced, but quick-witted Texan acted as referee. It subsequently developed that, contrary to the ethics, the referee had a private bet on one of the scoundrels. Midway of the fight it appeared, highly probable that his favorite shortly would be knocked out and so, to save his money, the referee declared the fight a draw and ended it right there."

"Enraged and disappointed, the audience rose up, shouting threats. The native contingent was especially vociferous. A first-class riot was threatened."

"But the imperious referee had a sharp notion in reserve. By waving his arms and shouting that he had a statement to make, he secured comparative silence. Then he made his announcement and it proved eminently satisfactory. The Americans present saw the point of the joke; the Mexicans were appeased because the explanation seemed to them perfectly sound. 'Gentlemen,' the referee said, 'this was advertised as a 20-round fight, and that's exactly what it is—20 rounds of 10 rounds each.'"

NOT SO POOR AS HE MIGHT APPEAR TO BE

THE native was making slow headway with a hoe against the weeds and sassafras sprouts which covered the slope with their scrubby growth. Behind him rose a knobby hill with deep furrows in its where the rains had washed out gullies in the thin clay. Further on, a row of tall trees ran in a zigzag line across the brow of the end, now and on all sides, the clearing was enveloped by the bleak and poverty-stricken landscape.

A northern tourist, who was making a detour through the foothills, halted his car and looked the industrious worker.

"My friend," he said, "you look like a live chap, and a born hustler."

"Well," said the native, "I aim to keep busy." He laid down his hoe and advanced to the edge of the road.

"That's what I said to myself as soon as I saw you. I'm wondering why you're content to slave your life out in this God-forsaken country. I never saw such poor-looking soil in my life. Why don't you pull up stakes and move into Ohio where I live?"

The resident shook his head. "You see, stranger," he answered, "I've always lived around here and I guess I'll stay a while longer."

"You'll stay the tonight, anyway, man to his own land, and I suppose a fellow might in time get attached even to such a spot as this. But what can you expect to gain by staying on? You are bound to get poorer and poorer all the time."

"Mister," said the hillman, "I'm a blame sight better off than what you seem to think. Why, I don't own nary an acre of this here land!"

LITTLE GIRL LOST FOR 10 HOURS IN SWAMP IS FOUND

Granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Yerkes
Found Unharmed

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Yerkes, Sr. are rejoicing over the location of their little granddaughter, Jane Holden, who was lost for over ten hours in a swamp near Traverse City. A complete account of the affair from the Traverse City Record-Eagle follows.

Long and Bass Lakes, John Swick, age 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Swick of Detroit, and Jane Holden, six and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Holden, also of Detroit, had the entire countryside aroused in a frenzied search for them Sunday, and a posse of men numbering one hundred scoured land and water.

The youngsters were found by Paul Hostetter at 9:30 last night at Bass Lake, tired and weary but unharmed, after about six miles of aimless wandering.

About ten o'clock yesterday morning, Jane, who is with her parents at the Long Lake summer home of Mrs. Holden's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Weaver, went over to play with John, who, with his parents, is spending a couple of weeks at the Erdemberger cottage a few doors away. Later they wanted to hike in the neighborhood adjacent to the cottages, and being given permission and a lunch to take along by Mrs. Swick, started their exploration trip. Losing their directions, however, they wandered farther and farther away and were unable to find a route which would bring them back to the resort.

Meanwhile, with the arrival of early afternoon and the children still absent, the distracted parents and relatives spread word of their disappearance, and the groups were formed through the neighborhood to begin a search. As well as Jay P. Smith, who passed the resort and learning of the situation, here and there, all sorts of groups and parties were organized as well as the National High School Orchestra camp at Interlochen. Boy Scouts from the Interlochen stage John Minnema made announcement of the missing children, and, broadcasting a plea for volunteers for help, secured 25 men to look during the night.

However, before conclusion of the evening search, word came that they had been found. Searchers in a boat on Bass Lake, hearing the boys' voices, immediately put to shore and found the children safe on the south bank, snuggling with a white handkerchief tied to a stick.

The youngsters were brought to the Herman Weisberg home just north of the lake, and following a telephone call to the parents, were taken back to Long Lake by car.

Discovery of the children brought to a close hours of intensive search through dangerous swamp-land of that vicinity, where it was feared they had wandered, together with a thorough scouring of lakes and woods, after tiny footprints had been found.

The families today expressed sincere gratitude to all those who assisted.

Our annual "wash-bill" from the government amounts to many millions of dollars, and remedies for this enormous waste can be applied better now than later, say soil scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who recommend the following control measures: Soil-saving and water-saving terraces should be built in thousands of fields. Much steep land and high-erosive soil used for clean cultivated crops should be devoted to permanent pasture or timber. Overgrazed ranges should be regulated according to their carrying capacity. Fire prevention on watersheds should be practiced.

The advice of an agricultural specialist is often instrumental in saving large sums of money to a community. In a community in South Carolina plans are being made to soil stock and organize a cheese factory. A careful survey by a specialist from the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, showed that a sufficient volume of milk and other necessary requirements for successful operation were lacking and upon his advice the project was abandoned. The cost of the building and equipment as planned would have been at least $10,000.

I had a congregation who would let nothing hinder their Sabbath morning worship, and would auto in from the summer cottages for the services. They lost nothing and gained everything.

Religion is something more than for the closing hour when death comes. It is strength while living. Let us tune up our souls by making every effort to be in "The House of God," commencing with next Sunday. COMMISSION TO STUDY PROBLEMS OF NEW DEARBORN

Enlarged City Finds that It Must Plan for the Future

Mayor C. M. Ford, yesterday afternoon in a committee of the whole meeting presented the names of seven prominent Dearborn citizens to serve on the City Plan Commission authorized by ordinance last April.

The men whose names were proposed by the Mayor to serve on this commission are as follows: Warren J. Rachow, Donald E. Butler, Wil-ham Schroeder, Dan Horgan, James G. Vane, J. Mark Harvey and Harry C. Vane. The first three to act for the period of two years. The next two to act for the period of two years, and the last two named to act for the term of one year. The commission will have nine members; two of whom must be the superintendent of public works and the city engineer.

The mayor, in making the above appointments, stated that he was guided by his knowledge of the men named to act in the best interest of the city at large. He further said that he believed the men he had chosen to serve on this commission would work in harmony with the council and himself. The mayor in making the appointments, informed the committee of the whole, that he realized there were perhaps men in the city of Dearborn just as qualified as those he had just presented, but he had given the matter considerable thought and study, and believed that these men, who have always taken a great interest in public affairs, would not be found wanting.

The general plan shall incorporate recommendations as to the future development of the city of Dearborn, and shall specifically include studies and recommendations with regard to: The present and future enlargement and development of transportation facilities; the location and construction of grade separations; a convenient and adequate system of thoroughfares; adequate provision of and appropriate location of parks, playgrounds, recreation, and other open spaces for recreational or other public uses and the formulation of zoning ordinances. The commission may from time to time amend, extend or add to such plan. Several other duties are set out in the ordinance that will have a bearing on the future development of the city of Dearborn independent.

There is no "case" at all in this of recommending interest, public and other animals. Labels on the confusion of some people, but the name of the woman or girls for whom the preparations are to be made are the proof of the fact that the city is planning for the future.

Many failures of alfalfa stands are due to a poorly prepared seedbed. The ideal seedbed is a well-settled, subsurface with a fine surface that is loose to the depth of two inches.

The best plan is to plow in the fall, disc in the spring and harrow occasionally to keep down weeds until sowing time. Where the land has not been plowed in the fall, it should be broken several weeks before sowing, and the soil disked and harrowed frequently to settle the soil. A multipacker is of help in getting the soil in condition. For late summer or early fall sowing land that has been in such crops as early potatoes, peas, sweet corn, can be prepared by removing the vines of stalks and harrowing. In general, seed land is not recommended for alfalfa, but where it seems advisable for some reason to put the alfalfa on clover sod, the land should be plowed as soon as the crop is removed and thoroughly disked and harrowed to make a firm, fine seedbed.

To make grape juice, sherbet, sweeten the juice to taste with sirup rather than plain sugar, after adding one tablespoon of lemon juice for each quart of grape juice. Turn in the freezer until stiff. Add beaten egg-white after the mixture is frozen, give the dasher a few more turns, remove, pack, and let stand an hour or more before serving.

Have you figured out the amounts of various feeds the dairy cow will need for the coming year. A cow weighing 1000 pounds and giving 25 pounds of milk a day during a peak year will require in one year when the pasture season lasts six months, 3,400 pounds of silage, 2,500 pounds of grain. Larger or higher producing cows will need a little more, feed and smaller or low-producing cows a little less.

The Misses Mary Jane and June Deane, accompanied by their cousin, Miss Marjorie Fowl of Detroit, have just returned from a very enjoyable two weeks' outing at Camp Wathana, near Rose Center.

In preparation for the widening of Grand River from the Eight-Mile road, where the double highway now ends up to Farmington, Oakland county road employees have removed two old store buildings just west of the Eight-Mile road on Grand River. George Nacker for many years operated a grocery store in one of the buildings.

The third annual Dodge family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lyke. A bountiful pot-luck dinner was served on the lawn. Due to so many members being away on their vacation, there were only 42 present. After dinner the president, Grant Garfield called the meeting to order. Clinton Lyke was elected president; Elise Brooks, vice president; Jennie Schweizer, secretary-treasurer; Harry Cole and Harry Lyke were appointed as entertainment committee. The next meeting will be the third Sunday of August, 1936, at the home of Will VanSick.

FARM POULTRY

PASTURING GEESE
ON CLEAN RANGE

A General Rule Fowls Are Given Freedom of Field

The raising of geese has not been specialized like duck raising, for the reason that geese secure most of their feed by grazing. For this reason, geese are raised on most farms in comparatively small flocks. These facts are the principal reasons why geese raising offers an opportunity for most farmers to add another source of income to their spring poultry raising.

Geese may be pastured at the rate of 50 head to an acre, but as a general rule they are given "free range." This is satisfactory so long as they are not numerous. However, if a large flock of geese is pastured on the regular pastures, the five stock will be pastured on, on account of the geese's manure on the grass. Ordinarily, a number of geese raised on any one farm are not numerous enough to cause any trouble from this source.

Geese do not require a great deal of attention. After the first few weeks they are able to look after themselves. It is given a good range. The principal food of geese is grass, supplemented by insects and other low forage animal life. It is said that geese are not accessible to any not advisable to go into geese raising.

Houses that will protect the geese from rain in summer and from snow, cold winds and dampness in winter are the only essentials for the housing standpoint. Low, open front sheds are often used for this purpose. Care should be taken to see that the interior of the house is dry at all times. Geese like to swim and they will exercise in the snow practically all day, but they should have dry places to roost or they will contract rheumatism. The floor of such houses should be of earth. They should be covered with straw and renewed often enough so that it will be dry. A thin coating of sand often proves helpful in keeping the house dry.

Geese, while more successfully after they are two years of age than when hatched earlier. This is more true of the females than of the males. Occasionally, geese will produce fertile eggs, but they cannot be depended upon. Small, underbred geese should not be used for breeding purposes. On the other hand, extra large, coarse geese are not as satisfactory as those of full development, but not so coarse. With most breeds the females will mate from three to four geese.

Ohio Station Advocates
All-Mash Chick Ration

The rearing of chicks to maturity on all mash ration is a rather new venture in poultry keeping, and we shall have to take the word of those who have tried it as to its value. This system has been developed and advocated by the Ohio agricultural experiment station, at Wooster, and is fully described in a bulletin issued by this station. They state that they have found the method successful on their experimental farm and equally so in the hands of other poultrymen of the state. Some other stations where it has been tried, discontinue these claims somewhat. There is no question as to the advantages of the plan and the results of the Ohio station should be sufficient to give warrant for trying it on.

Those who have followed the teaching of poultry experts over a considerable period of years have learned that there is little that can be considered as absolutely fixed, even in the seemingly fundamental principles of feeding and care. Revolutionary findings are apt at any time to upset long accepted practices. The all-mash ration should not have scratch grain added to it since it sometimes is used for the scratch and the mash and the addition of more scratch grain would unbalance it. That is, it would change the proportion of protein foods to the other ingredients and presumably lessen its value. An all-mash should be more coarsely ground than other mashes, to make it more palatable.

Electric Brooders Are Clean and Convenient

The New York experiment station found electric brooders very satisfactory except in extremely cold weather, when this type of heat did not warm up the space in the house away from the brooder. Like electric incubators, brooders heated by electricity are clean, easy to regulate and very convenient.

Individual farm light plants extend the advantages of this electrical equipment to farms which are not located on an electric "high line." Because many farm plants are equipped with both generator and battery power, the supply of current for the incubator or brooder is constant and reliable.

In Case of Roup

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a strong solution of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards and stored elsewhere.

Every automobile should be equipped with ash receivers for both front and rear seats, for the benefit of the smokers of the family. Many a woods fire or grass fire is caused by burning cigarettes or matches tossed out of moving cars along the road.

Various experiments on the use of alfalfa hay for livestock show that the growing of alfalfa hay into small lots has little effect on the feeding value, the chief advantage of the hay being that it can be fed with less waste than hay, is more convenient form and can be shipped at less expense.

Farm returns in 1928 showed improvement over 1927 and were the best for any year since the post-war agricultural depression, according to the annual survey of farm returns compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The average net returns based on reports received from about 12,000 owner-operated farms is $1,334 for the year 1928 as compared with an average return of $1,290 on 14,000 farms in 1927.

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY, MR. CAR-OWNER! Even if we didn't have special prices in effect, you couldn't do better than buy new rubber right now! Because good tires now will carry you safely through the winter.

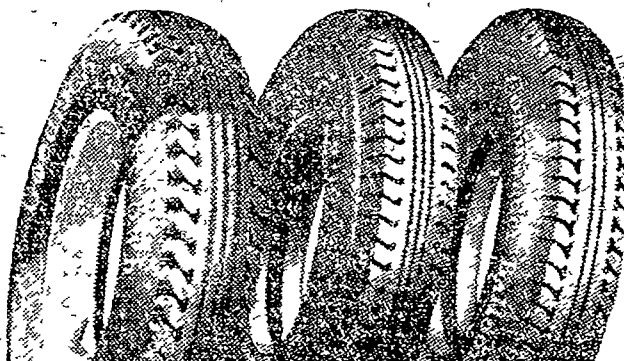

LABOR DAY'S coming. Last holiday of the summer. Last chance to get out for a week-end of driving...

Are you going to risk having it spoiled by tire trouble? Going to take a chance with winter not so far away, and new rubber needed for the bad weather that is coming?

Well... don't take that chance! Because we've priced all of our tires at special low figures... just for you and other Labor Day drivers! And they're all Goodrich Tires, every one of them! Tires built up on a carcass of stretch-matched cord and cured by the famous Goodrich 'water-cure' process.

Take another look at those figures. Then drop around. See us for real tire bargains.

ALL FIXED UP NOW! New Goodrich Silvertowns... a whole set of them! This motorist knew his business when he sent for all the new rubber he'll need for months to come! Changing tires on the road is unpleasant enough in any weather... and this is no season to take chances. How are you fixed? Need any tires?

PLUCK versus LUCK

Some people are forever waiting for a stroke of luck to come their way and make them rich. It's PLUCK not LUCK that makes for success. Wealth comes to those who work and prepare—to those who are financially ready to open the door when opportunity knocks—not by wishing.

EDWARD N. HINES TELLS OF STRIDES IN ROAD BUILDING

FIRST CONCRETE SLAB ON NEW HIGHWAY LAID TO OPEN DRIVE

One 20-foot slab of concrete has been completed on the east side of Northwestern 204 foot superhighway from Wyoming Avenue in Detroit to the Oakland County line, said Road Commissioner Edward N. Hines, yesterday.

Oakland County is also making good progress on the 9 mile section of Northwestern Highway under construction within its jurisdiction.

After building a short stretch of 40 foot concrete pavement in Greenfield Road where it intersects Northwestern 204 foot superhighway, the 20 foot of concrete on the west side will be poured and the whole road opened to traffic as soon as the proper curing has elapsed.

Oakland County has completed the concrete of Greenfield Road north 6 miles from Base Line Road to the Fourteen Mile Road. The one mile in Wayne County uncompleted will be done some time later in the year.

The section of Outer Drive from Lapeer Road west and south to Seven Mile Road has been completed and will be opened to traffic shortly.

Curbs are being built and the parking strips are being prepared for landscaping and tree planting.

One section has been developed with two 36 foot concrete pavements with the center parking strip and another section has a 60 foot concrete roadbed down the center of the 150 foot width of right-of-way.

Another section of the Outer Drive from Chalmers Avenue to Lapeer on the east side of Detroit has also been completed and will be planted with trees and landscaped at an early date.

Both sections will be lighted in conformity to the standards established on other completed sections of Outer Drive.

Construction is also completed on a new right-of-way where Outer Drive crosses Grand Avenue, making a connection with Corners Avenue. This is just a short section and eliminates a bad crossing condition with Grand Avenue.

Construction work has also been started on Outer Drive between Eastham and Allen Roads. Concrete is also under way on Outer Drive south from Ford Road to Michigan 204 foot superhighway.

Just south of Michigan Road the grades are being separated with the Michigan Central Railroad and Outer Drive crossing.

During the past week 3093 feet of frontage to provide a 150 foot width of right-of-way has been acquired on Outer Drive.

In addition to frontage acquired on Outer Drive 2069 additional feet of frontage was also acquired, state Mr. Hines.

This frontage is located on Port, Base Line, Michigan and Southfield 204 foot superhighways and Van Born and Allen Roads.

Break of Striking Clock

The bell on the house of parliament in London may be heard for a distance of four miles and within that radius there are points where it is possible to hear this clock strike 12 through the combined vibration of the wireless and the sound waves. This is at given intervals each day when the time signals are sent out from the center. There is an interval of 14 seconds between the strike and at the end of four miles, five or six strikes are heard by wireless before the last of the sound waves and then a few seconds later so that under these conditions it is possible to hear the bell strike 12 twice.

Instruction Points

The following are the four factors constituting the efficiency of instruction and are: (1) The pupil teacher ratio, as shown by the average daily attendance; (2) The number of classes taught by the teacher; (3) The number of students in a class; (4) The number of students in a class. The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools recommends the following as normal: (1) Pupil teacher ratio, 25 to 30; (2) The number of classes taught by the teacher, 6 daily; (3) The number of students per teacher, 170 per day; (4) The number of students in a class.

Stone Revealed History

The famous Moabite Stone, carved by Mesha, king of Moab, to commemorate his name and his victory over Israel, has thrown light on Bible history. And until not long before the World War, the name of Hezekiah outlasted well nigh twenty six centuries, unseen and unsuspected, upon the wall of the wonderful tunnel, one third of a mile in length, that he carved through the rock beneath Jerusalem to connect the Virgin's spring with the pool of Siloam within his city walls.

Time Out

The brothers and their families were spending an evening together. Brother A's four-year-old was struggling his stuff. Finally Brother B remembering that his baby, aged two, always called time "eight o'clock," slipped into the next room, noted the clock said 7:30, and nudged the hand up 17 or 18 minutes.

Of course the clock soon struck "What times tear Junior?" asked Brother B.

"Eight o'clock," cooed the baby.

PLYMOUTH WORKS FOR NEW FACTORY

Plymouth has bright prospects for another industry that we believe will mean much to the future prosperity and growth of the village. As a result of the Chamber of Commerce last week Friday evening, several Detroit gentlemen were present and outlined their plans to purchase the plant of the General Machine & Iron Works.

The gentlemen present were H. H. and J. Killeit and Dr. M. Ratner. These gentlemen propose to purchase the General Machine & Iron Works Co. plant at the sale today, Friday, and equip the plant with machinery and start operations immediately.

It is their purpose to purchase sheet steel which will be cut into blanks of the size and shape used for automobile manufacturing and other concerns.

According to Mr. Killeit, the building is ideally suited to the needs of the new company. The senior Mr. Killeit has had a large experience in this line of work. He has been identified in an executive capacity with some of the largest concerns in Detroit.

The Chamber of Commerce was asked to provide some financial assistance to the proposed new company which was arranged for with difficulty. If the purchase of the plant is completed today, it is expected that the new company will be under operation within a very short time.

We congratulate the Chamber of Commerce in the good work they are doing—Plymouth Mail.

Artistic Creation
The theme of Watts' "Hope" is symbolized by the figure of a woman seated with bowed head. She still clings to her life, all the strings of which with the exception of one are broken. This is to suggest the dominant quality of hope, which prevails in even the most adverse circumstances.

Go South in the Winter
Storks are supposed to bring good luck and are regarded as fortunate omens in many parts of the world, but in Europe they are only summer boarders, after all. In winter, says Nature Magazine, they go South like millionaires, to Africa, to Egypt, where they are equally welcome.

POULTRY

INFERTILE EGGS BEST PRESERVED

Only Fresh, Clean and Sound Should Be Used.

Only those eggs that are fresh, clean and sound of shell should be preserved or put down for use next winter. One spoiled egg will in many cases, cause the entire lot to spoil.

To be absolutely sure that the eggs are fresh and the shells sound, they should be "candled," says A. G. Oliver, extension poultryman at the North Carolina State college. "An old slide box may be used for this purpose by cutting holes in it to fit the egg and fitting it over a lamp or an electric bulb."

This test will show up any porous or cracked shells and will also show if germination has started. This is a safety-first precaution and, as it takes only a few minutes time, should be practiced by every housewife before putting down any eggs.

For best results, infertile eggs should be used, but fertile eggs can be used with good results if they are put down each day. If this is done the danger of germination will be eliminated. Never wash the egg before preserving as this removes the natural protective coating on the shell.

In preparing the solution, Mr. Oliver advises one part of water glass to nine parts of pure water. The water should be boiled and cooled before mixing with the water glass.

For containers, a clean stone jar is the best, but tin or wood vessels may be used. A six-gallon jar will hold about fifteen dozen eggs.

Mr. Oliver states that the eggs at the top of the container should be covered by at least one and one-half inches of the solution. It is not necessary to fill the jar at one time, as fresh eggs can be added each day, taking care, however, that the eggs on top are always covered with the solution.

The containers should be kept covered to prevent evaporation and should be stored in a cool place until needed.

Give Good Ventilation During Summer Months

Plenty of ventilation should be provided for brooder houses during the hot summer months, advises John Vandervoort, extension poultry specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Ventilators at the rear of the chicken house and windows at the front will on the whole be kept open to allow free circulation of air. Mr. Vandervoort says results of a year's demonstration among college flock show that pullets reared in hot, stuffy houses are likely to be stunted and unprofitable.

Frequent cleaning of the broiler in the summer is necessary also to prevent flies from breeding and to keep the air in the building pure. Coarse wire, netting placed around the broiler will keep the flies from the broiler and the means of helping to prevent tapeworm infection.

POULTRY FACTS

It requires 21 days to hatch hen

Pullets are not so easily chilled as hens

Dome-shaped roofs are the best for turkeys

Ducklings can be brooded much like chicks

It is always a problem to have the duck eggs clean

Baby chicks of a reliable hatchery is a sound investment

Milk and liver oil cover products, and leafy green food are the chickens grow Flocks can be culled at any time. The brooders must go if the chicken enterprise is to pay.

Gather eggs regularly twice each day, during excessively warm or excessively cold weather.

Turkey hens will lay in places prepared for them. Boxes or barrels placed suitably will do very well.

Pullets, like young chicks, should be raised on a fresh range—one which has not been frequented by turkeys or chickens the year previous.

In order to make the greatest profit on chicks, it is necessary to raise as large a percentage of the chicks hatched as possible. In order to do this, they must be kept warm and healthy.

If you were troubled last season with your little chicks dying with bowel trouble, try adding a teaspoonful of sluc in the spring in the drinking water, about three-fourths teaspoonful to each gallon of water.

Pullets should not be allowed to come into maturity too quickly. Normally, a pullet starts to lay eggs as soon as she has reached maturity and her body ceases to grow.

Records which have been kept on some farms indicate that the profits from poultry have doubled when the chickens were given skin milk or tannage to supplement the ordinary ration.

NOTED COMPOSER TECHNICIAN—EXPERT ON MENJOU FILM

Victor Schertzinger acted as technical expert as well as director for Adolphe Menjou's picture, "Fashions in Love," which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, September 4th.

Menjou, as the star, is presented as a world-famous pianist. Although Menjou can play the piano, he has never played on the concert stage, and in this role, Schertzinger brought his unique experience to the actor's aid.

During several years, Schertzinger was concert soloist with Sousa's band on European tours. His interest in the theatre, always acute, led him to accept the directorship of the orchestra for the Broadway stage offering, "The Wizard of Oz."

Following the New York run of the show, he went on tour with it, arrived in Los Angeles and finally induced Thomas H. Ince to experiment with specially arranged musical scores for motion pictures. He was successful in this undertaking and was soon directing pictures.

Scherzinger has both song and picture hits to his credit. Among the former is the famous love song, "Marcheta," and the latter include "Redskin," "The Wheel of Life," "Forgotten Faces" and others.

Prominent among them, from the standpoint of popular interest, are the malt tax statute, imposing a sales tax of 25 cents a gallon on wort and 5 cents a pound on malt syrup and malt extract, and the somewhat distasteful Cuthbertson bill. The latter, dealing with the drys, was introduced after liquor law violations had been removed from the fourth offender provisions of the criminal code, provides a mandatory minimum penalty of one year and $100 fine for commercial violations of the state prohibition law. A commercial violation is defined as the sale, keeping for sale, or transporting for sale, of any "poisonous, malt, brewed, fermented, spirituous or intoxicating liquor." The maximum penalty provided by the Cuthbertson bill is a fine of $2,000 and imprisonment for four years.

Numerous appropriation bills will become effective, including the Hartman bill, appropriating $22,277,300 for state institutional buildings purposes over a four-year period and the bills appropriating $25,000 for a state police radio station, $15,000 for a survey of Isle Royale by the University of Michigan and $18,000 for a building at Higgins Lake for the United Spanish war veterans.

Of particular interest to Wayne county are the bills consolidating the six Detroit justice courts into a common, E. J. Court, with eight judges, adding two circuit court commissioners to the Wayne circuit court, and permitting cities, villages and townships to unite in a metropolitan district for the acquisition and operations of parks and public utilities.

Four additional judges of the Wayne circuit court appointed under another act, are to take office September 1st.

Several important modifications or general revisions of existing statutes will become operative Wednesday. In this group are the new inland fishing code, the new game code, the drainage code, the insurance code, the Plat. Law of 1929, the election code, revision providing for permanent registration, the codification of the laws relating to the production and sale of milk and other dairy products, the revision of the corporation code, and the revision of the act relating to the operation of motor vehicles. The last named statute sets up new penalties for drunk drivers and establishes several new rules of the road.

Other statutes to become effective at the same time are:

Creating a State Board of Aeroautics to have supervision and control over landing fields and schools of aviation.

Amending the mechanics lien law to require more specific notification to the owner of the premises.

Permitting the effect of state to abolish a license office for the sale of automobile license plates in every county except in city of 10,000 or more in Wayne county, where two or more such cities are contiguous.

Making it unlawful for any person not licensed as a pilot by the Federal Government to navigate an aircraft.

Calling for examination of all prospective real estate brokers by the Michigan Securities Commission.

Authorizing power companies to condemn land for a water impounding and other purposes.

Permitting railroad companies to use public and motor buses for transporting freight or passengers.

Empowering the State Administrative Board to pass on claims arising out of the negligence of a dance or misfeasance of State officers or employees.

Setting up a method for condemning land for the Woodward superhighway project under the railway condemnation act.

Fortifying counties townships cities and villages to vacate or alter their highways.

Authorizing the laying out of 500 additional miles of State trunkline highway.

Providing for the construction and operation of intercepting sewers by cities and villages individually or jointly.

Increasing the bonding limit of cities from $5 to 10 per cent of assessed valuation.

Creating a Stream Control Commission to regulate the pollution of rivers, lakes and other waters.

Providing for an additional circuit judge in Macomb County.

Permitting the sterilization of incompetent persons in certain cases without the consent of the person sterilized.

Regulating the sale of table stock potatoes.

Making it a felony to steal or damage fixtures in a vacant building.

Making it a misdemeanor to carry firearms while under the influence of liquor or narcotics.

Returning that candidates for admission to the bar shall have had two years of general college work and three years of law school.

Termites or white ants, are not particular about their diet. They feed on living vegetation, on shoes, papers and wood—in fact, on anything that contains cellulose. But they can't work without water. To construct buildings so they will be ant-proof, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says, to make the foundations of stone, brick or concrete, if possible, and lay concrete floors on a gravel base. Eliminate structural wood from basements and cellars. If this is impracticable, use timber impregnated with coal-tar creosote. Lay basement windowsills and frames of concrete and do not allow woodwork to come in contact with the ground. Complete dryness of foundations and basement walls and flooring is an important means of making buildings safe from attack. Damage to buildings is especially serious in the Southern Central and Pacific Coast States. Injury to living vegetation which is becoming serious in the Southern and Pacific Coast States and the Southwest can be prevented by clean culture, deep fall plowing and insecticides.

Age Not Determined by Number of Years Lived

The following bit of philosophy, written by a contributor who signs "Author Unknown," has been received by the Detroit Free Press:

"Youth is not a time of life—it is a state of mind. It is a feeling of the world, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions. It is a freshness of the deep springs of life. Youth means apprehension of courage over timidity, of the appetite for adventure over love of ease. It is often exists in a boy of twenty. Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old by deserting their ideals."

"Whether seventy or sixteen, there is in every being's heart the love of noble, the amazement at the start and the starlike things and thoughts, the unquenchable longing of events, the unfailing childlike appetite for what is new, and the joy and the game of life. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt, as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear, as young as your hope, as old as your despair. In the central place of your heart there is a wireless station. As long as it receives messages of beauty, hope, cheer, grandeur, courage and power from the earth, from men, and from the infinite, so long are you young."

Black Ox Always the Symbol of Misfortune

The black ox symbolizes old age, ill luck, adversity, or tragedy. The black ox has trod on his foot, is a proverbial expression recorded already in 1456 by John Heywood. It means that one knows the meaning of sorrow and misfortune, such as having been visited by death.

The phrase alludes to the black cattle sacrificed by the ancient pagans to the infernal deities, especially to Pluto, supreme judge and lord of the underworld. White cattle was sacrificed to Jupiter.

At Rome the altar on which the black ox was sacrificed was 20 feet below the level of the ground and was never exposed to public view except when the sacrifices were being made. Among the Arabs the black camel is the symbol of murder and death by violence.

Defending Thirteen

One of the arguments against reforming the calendar is the coincidence that the thirteenth of each of the thirteen months of the proposed year would fall on a Friday. One of its defenders answered this opposition by saying that the United States "grew green" on "thirteen" and incidentally, on Friday.

America was discovered on a Friday, the thirteen landed on Friday, there were thirteen American colonies, thirteen stripes and stars on the American flag, and thirteen letters in the American alphabet. The motto of Thomas Munn, captain of thirteen letters.

Preserve Historic Spot

Mathe Daughters of the American Revolution have decided that the old is the most historic spot in the Pine Tree state. An act of the Mathe legislature made a state park of the area surrounding the fort in all there have been four forts at Pemquid; the blackhouse called Port Pemquid erected in 1630; Fort Charles, 1667; Fort William Henry, 1692; and Fort Frederick, 1720.

It was at Pemquid that French people are said to have landed 13 years earlier than the Pilgrims at Plymouth. Pemquid is a part of the old town of Bristol, which was named for Bristol, England.

Age Brings Penalties

The penalties of old age it is evident, are not confined to those which Barron enumerated—out and the stone. Loneliness must also be considered and when we call the roll of the friends of our youth and there is not a whisper in reply, then, perhaps, we shall feel the full burden of our years. Sir Oliver Lodge stated that science had made possible the extension of life to a hundred years. If such a gift is universally bestowed, it will be well. But there are few of us perhans, who would accept it as a particular favor.—Exchange.

Famous Rum Quay

Rum Quay, the most jealously guarded spot in London, West India docks, is enclosed by an immense glass roof that originally formed a covered way to the Crystal palace when that building was erected in Hyde Park in 1851, to house the great exhibition. Here, isolated behind iron doors, punch-eons of rum, each holding 103 gallons of spirits many degrees over proof, are laid before being rolled into the vaults which extend to the water's edge, and afford accommodation for 40,000 of these gigantic casks.

Chains of Habit

Steamboat men say, "Once a stevedore, always a stevedore." Sailors never are immune to the lure of the sea. Railroad men like to be near the railroads, to smell the smoke and hear the trains, even after years of retirement. Newspaper men, in the same way, yearn for the editor's ink.

The habits of years are not easily broken. The job that has become a part of one's life is not easily abandoned.

Feed favors and odors in milk are most frequently caused by succulent feeds. When fed to dairy cows from 1 to 2 hours before milking, silage made from corn, alfalfa, sweet clover, soy beans, and garden alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape and kale, seriously affect the flavor and odor of milk. Milk is affected only slightly by green rye, green corn, peas, potatoes, dried beet pulp, or carrots. Green corn, green oats, and peas, green soy beans, pumpkins and sugar beets have practically no effect on the flavor and odor of milk.

They Knew What They Wanted

Several years ago a play with this title was popular. A tale it told, of life in the vineyards of California—and how the members of a little household there solved their problem of domestic happiness because they had the good fortune to know what they wanted.

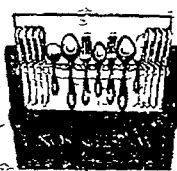

Today successful housewives everywhere are solving the problems of housekeeping—simply, easily, happily—by knowing what they want before they start out to buy. And knowing what they want isn't a matter of good fortune. It's a matter of foresight and forethought.

They read the advertisements in the Record—regularly, thoroughly! They save hours of shopping time by having their minds made up before they begin to buy. They know quality brands, comparative values, dependable merchandise. They don't waste time and risk money in investigating "unknowns" and "just-as-goods."

When a merchant places himself on record in the printed page, he is forced to guarantee you consistent quality and service—or the disapproval of the buyer quickly forces him out of the market. Advertised goods are reliable. Read the advertisements. Know what you want before you spend a cent.

Suffered from Rheumatism and Other Ailments for Twenty Years; Says Master Medicine Gave Amazing Relief.

MR. JAMES P. IVES

"Rheumatism developed 20 years ago, and since that time it has been my constant companion, sometimes becoming almost unbearable," said Mr. James P. Ives, 84, a veteran of the Civil War, living at 6 Whitney Court, Grand Rapids, Mich. "The pains mostly settled in the back of my neck, and in my legs, making life miserable."

"I took Konjola carefully and according to instructions. The different ailments eased up with each dose and finally they were driven from my body. Today I feel many years younger. I can walk without a cane and eat and sleep better than I have for many years. The energy and vigor that once were mine and that I lost, is returned, all due to Konjola. Konjola is sold in Northville at Northville Drug Company and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

Mr. Dolph is a past deputy grand chancellor of the state.

The Novi boys put up a rattling good game last Sunday, and the work of Rogers and Ashby had much to do with the successful result.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Vogt and family have just enjoyed a very delightful motor trip throughout the eastern states. They drove over through Canada to the Thousand Islands, then to Saranac Lake, New York, and from there they went on up to Portland, Maine, and other places in that part of the New England states. The New Ford ONE and ONE-HALF Ton Truck
Gives Service, Long and Dependable, at Low Cost

In the new Ford truck are many features which make it unusually economical to operate, and which contribute to long, reliable service. Perhaps the lubrication system has a greater influence upon the life of an engine than any other factor. In the Ford, the advantages of pump, gravity and splash systems are combined.

Oil is first pumped to the valve-chamber. From there it flows by gravity to all main crankshaft and camshaft bearings. It also flows to troughs into which the connecting-rods dip. This not only lubricates the connecting-rod bearings, but causes oil to be splashed on all other moving parts. There are no costly drilled shafts and pressure oil lines. The only moving parts is the pump. Simple and sure as water running down hill.

Why not come in today and let us show you the other features of the new Ford truck which add so greatly to its value?

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MANY AT THE LOCAL SCHOOLS

Hundreds of Dollars are Spent in Repairs on Buildings

School days—school days! They will be here soon—next Tuesday morning. Some kids are glad, others not so. Some would like to have the vacation period continue forever, and even—this in this old world of toil and strife children must be prepared and that is why their parents "through big school taxes they pay every year provide for the education of their children.

Workmen all summer long have been busy at the school buildings. They have been painted throughout and all the walls have been redecorated. The heating plant has been repaired and many other improvements made within the buildings.

Although purchased a year ago the big new playground to the west of the building has not been available for use until now. During past summer months hundreds and hundreds of yards of earth have been leveled to the ground to make the place as level as possible. Old Cady street and between Cady and Main street on the west side a large concrete retaining wall has been constructed and on this wall has been placed a high wire fence. It will give to the children an ideal place in which to play. While the school playground equipment has not been moved to the new location, the boys and girls will be able to play ball, practice football, tennis and any other game they might desire to play. Never before has Northville had an adequate playground for its school children, and there is no question, but what this one will be thoroughly appreciated by the boys and girls.

A new roof has been placed on the school building and the damage done by the heavy windstorm last spring has been repaired. The lawn has been re-seeded and many of the trees that darkened the front of the high school building have been removed. In the residence that was purchased with the ground that is used for playground purposes, some improvements have also been made. This structure is used for the kindergarten class. One partition has been taken out and a new window put in the west side of the building. The wall has been lighted that was badly damaged by one of the rooms.

The school board has been liberal in its expenditures for repairs and badly needed improvements, and with the opening of school for the new term teachers and pupils will find a greatly improved educational institution.

CHICKEN THIEVES AGAIN ACTIVE IN THIS SECTION

Thefts are Reported from North of Novi and West of South Lyon

Notwithstanding the fact that a gang of chicken thieves has just been given long prison terms for operating in this locality, it is apparent that another gang has taken up the work and are robbing hen houses throughout this section. The Northville chicken thieves who were captured following the theft of 25 chickens over in Washtenaw county, are now in Jackson and Ionia prisons, but during the past few days reports have been received of thefts about here.

Over west of South Lyon, the Walter Borden hen house was robbed a few nights ago of 20 chickens. About the same time twelve hens and four broilers were stolen from the coop of Ray P. Skinner at his farm corner of the Jackson and Townline roads. Once again convinced that the thefts were probably committed by the same gang of thieves, at the Skinner farm an automobile was seen in the vicinity of the place about 4 o'clock in the morning. No one heard any noise or saw any description of the hen roost robbers.

Mr. Borden happened to be awake when he heard a noise about his chicken house about two o'clock the morning. He saw an automobile and saw two men apparently trying to cut the telephone wire from the house. While he was looking his gun they had gotten into the chicken house and filled some gunny sacks with some of the best chickens he had. While he was looking his yard he saw two men run to the road and get into an automobile. Another one of the gang had been left at the machine. The three made their getaway and Mr. Borden called Deputy Sheriff Ed. McFadden, who trailed the men to Novi where all trace of them was lost.

"TALKIES" THROW MANY MUSICIANS FROM POSITIONS

Floyd Evans Tells of the Change New Pictures Made in East

Talking pictures and the accompanying music that comes from the screen have raised havoc with professional musicians throughout the east, according to Floyd Evans, former Northville boy, who has charge of the music work in the Waterbury, Conn. schools, here on a visit for a few days. Mr. Evans regarded as one of the leaders in his profession, stated that he and his kindred of musicians had been thrown out of employment in eastern motion picture houses as the result of the talking pictures.

Just how long people will take to the new form of so-called canned music, no one knows but it is generally believed that sooner or later the theatre orchestra will be back in its old place, he said. Mr. Evans stated it was very noticeable thing when talking pictures were introduced into eastern theatres and so many musicians were thrown out of regular employment that so many Italian and Jewish children dropped from their music classes. He said it was quite apparent that they were taken out of the purpose of gaining a livelihood from it and when they saw the demand for musicians drop so suddenly, they decided it was no longer advisable to continue their musical work.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans and children will return east in the next few days following a brief vacation period spent with Northville relatives and old friends.

START BUILDING RELAY STATION FOR WIRELESS CO.

Contracts Let for Excavation and New Well on the Property

Construction of the relay station of the Universal Wireless Communication Company on the property purchased from Elmer Smith about eight miles west of Northville on the Nine Mile road has been started. A Plymouth excavating company, M. Powell & Son, has been awarded the contract for the excavation needed at the place, and Richard Kiley of South Lyon, has been given the contract for driving a search well on the place.

It is planned to have the building entirely completed within ninety days. The structure will be one of a series of relay stations that are being erected across the country. First intimation of the project came early last spring when excavators for the company came to the localities looking for vacant farm land and began making tests to see if there might be any mineral substances in the ground. They advised Mr. Smith at that time that the place had to be entirely free of minerals, and after several days of experiments at the place, they reported that they had been unable to find any trace of minerals.

It was upon after this when the transaction was closed and the announcement made that construction would be started in the immediate future.

Best Fish

The cod is the most useful fish. Its food value is high; it yields valuable cod-liver oil and is easily cooked. Cod when mixed with certain plants and fed to cows greatly increase the milk yield.

MUSIC ALWAYS A REAL INSPIRATION

Go alone into the woods and listen to the myriad voices that send music to the waiting soul. Upon the shore of the ocean and hear those booming harmonies now into the soul stand in the evening sun and catch the music of earth and sky. Rev. William Richards, of the audience in the Methodist Church Sunday morning, said his subject was "The Mystery of Music" and his text from Revelation, where John, the evangelist, in his picture of the New Jerusalem, opened a wide door to let the divine harmonies flood the earth. Rev. Richards declared that it was man's duty to sing because the commands throughout the Bible to pour out the soul in song were more numerous than the orders to pray.

The stately music of the old church hymns were contrasted with the jazz rendering of many Sunday school selections, and the fine music by the old masters was dwelt upon at length. "Practice the songs of earth," said the speaker, "so that when earth's career is ended the new song may be used with the assurance that this new song will surpass all other songs ever known." The pastor paid a fine tribute to the excellence of the work done by Mrs. John Timbham.
