THE IDEA IS RIGHT

The Michigan Roads and Airports Magazine, of which J. W. Hansen of Lansing is editor and publisher, in a recent issue reprinted from the Boston Transcript, an editorial which strongly supported the contentions of an eastern convention speaker who advocated the construction of all future through highways along routes where there are no towns or cities.

It might be interesting to Northville Record readers to know that the Michigan highway department has for a number of years had just such a plan in view. In fact, the department has already started some of its main-line highways along townless routes.

One of the biggest projects and one that will probably be completed first involves our own community. The state highway department and the Wayne County road commission have completed plans for the construction of a new highway to Lansing from Detroit. The new highway comes from the time it leaves the thickly settled portions of Wayne county does not pass through a single town from the Wayne county line until the city of Lansing is reached. This highway is a continuation of the Base Line road from the new grade separation over the Pere Marquette tracks on Griswold road, down through the valley that runs through the Ford property and crosses Center street just north of Randolph street. The proposed route follows up through the valley to the west again joining on the Base Line road west of town and from there the highway follows a course all the way to Lansing without going through a single town or city.

Such a highway would eliminate the obvious traffic hazards created by half-witted public officials at every tickle along the turnpike. It would reduce traffic hazards and make for much greater safety in automobile driving.

It was former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck who started the idea of constructing highways so that the traveling public would not be forced to go up to Milford then back to Brighton, then over to Holly and back to Howell and from Howell up to Flint and back to Webberville in order to drive to Lansing. The former Governor thought that the time had come to build highways as direct as possible between the important centers of the state and avoid as many communities as could be done so conveniently.

The editorial which endorses this idea from the Boston Transcript follows:

"Benton MacKaye proposed what might be termed the 'one idea' of motor traffic relief. Addressing the Associated Investors in Springfield, the president of the American Regional Planning Association set forth a scheme of 'townless highways' which will attract attention through its very novelty, if not its practicability—and we do not mean to suggest that the 'one' is not practical. In a word, he would have the longer motor highway of the future constructed away from all cities and towns although of course with suitable extraction points along the route. Mr. MacKaye's idea is this point that the railroad will be forced to keep within limits and that the automobiles if it is to be controlled must be as much uncontrolled in its longer lines. The plan is not be complete, but with respect to the great network of roads, which now exist, it is about 90% complete. The plan has been started soon will be finished in a great part of the space that it occupies."

This is a plan of the type of the one I am interested in. Mr. MacKaye would have the highway in his hands, isolated so, that would be provided with its length, gasoline and repair stations, and the roads so designed with connection of roadside stops and dinner stops at congested points as to let the traveler, truck and passenger cars run from each other and from home. He recognizes, however, that the existence of such alternative routes as these would stimulate the growth of villages and towns, so likely would be one of their merits. The new villages would be started in especially through which the main traffic would not flow, and they would eventually take the place of the tiny suburbs now so common.

The one is sufficiently attractive to escape thought and constructive criticism. It would require local cooperation for its expansion and on this point Mr. MacKaye would advise the appointment of a central planning board, co-operating with Congress and the various States, and it would be an essential feature of the plan that no appropriation should be made except for roads that fit into the general plan.

This one has its Utopian features even Mr. MacKaye we believe, could concede. It is difficult to see, for example, how the growth of buildings along the townless highway could be controlled or to see that the villages of the future would fit complacently into the 'jackets' for even so comprehensive a scheme as this could hardly deprive the owners of land along the way of certain inherent rights. However, the very point is now in controversy here in Massachusetts in the dugout factory case involving an abutment on the Old Colony Boulevard and should the State Supreme Court sustain the Merrimack District Commission in its contention, and that decision be sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States, steps would have been taken toward disposing of the doubt we have just expressed. It may be set down as a certainty that the next few years may witness a more drastic restriction of motor traffic than is desired now in order that motor vehicles may use the high ways at all and it is not inconceivable that out of the evolution of the future may come the possibility of some sort plan as Mr. MacKaye advocates.

GOOD ADVICE

In a piece of advertising matter issued by the Lapham State Savings Bank of Northville, is a bit of advice any one seeking a better place in this world can follow with profit. Read it all. It follows:

A parrot ready to die with thirst flew with joy to a large pitcher hoping to find some water in it.

He found some there, to be sure, but only a small amount at the very bottom, which was quite beyond his reach.

He tried to overturn the pitcher, but it being too heavy, was unable to do so.

He thought—and finally saw a plan that would help him. He gathered some little pebbles from a nearby ground, and took them one by one in his beak and dropped them in the pitcher.

By this means the water gradually rose to the top and the parrot was able to drink and save himself from a horrible death—Aesop's Fable.

It's the little things that count.

Nickels and Dimes are only little things. But they soon grow into dollars.

A few dollars on hand at the right time have started countless men and women on the road to success. Most people hope to be prosperous some day.

True, they don't know just why, or how, or when. So they continue to regularly "blow in" all their spare money and expect FOR-TUNE to smile on them in some mysterious way.

No matter whether a man works with a plow or a pen, whether he uses his hands or his brains, he will always stay in the rut if he doesn't hold on to his money.

Why take chances with your future? Remember the fable of the parrot and little by little drop your spare dollars into the bank so that eventually your dreams may come true.

WE ALL PAY

Who pays the cost of failure and losses in storekeeping?

The merchant pays and the public does too.

The public is interested in successful merchandising. The merchants who make money are the merchants who give the best values, who have the best credit, who buy the best and serve the most.

There are several bad practices which merchants ought to eliminate.

One of them is competition for business by giving too much credit.

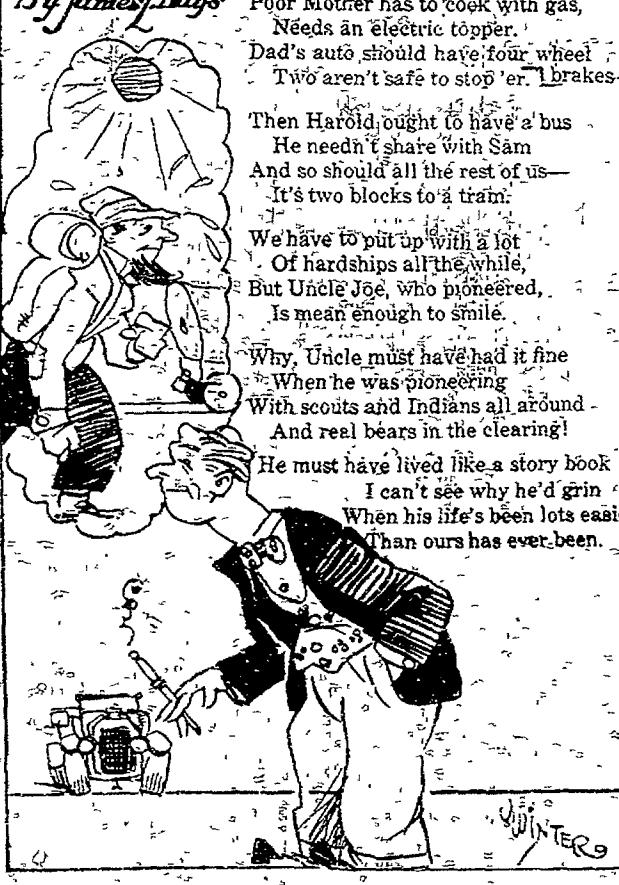

A person may buy almost anything with nothing down. Such a condition works to loss and that loss works against the cost of doing business.

Another practice which ought to be eliminated is the offer of "head-eraser" in merchandise at prices which are at cost or which do not allow a handling charge. This is now a nearly established custom in many kinds of retail business. When a merchant sells sugar at cost he must charge the cost of handling sugar to some other product which he sells. That is obvious.

The interest of the public is in well conducted, profitable, sound merchandising operations. The public never gains when its merchants lose money.—Grand Rapids (Minn.) Herald Review.

Hardskips

By James Hayes

Poor Mother has to cook with gas,
Needs an electric topper.
Dad's auto should have four wheel
Two aren't safe to stop er. brakes

Then Harold ought to have a bus
He needs t share with Sam
And so should all the rest of us
It's two blocks to a train.

We have to put up with a lot
Of hardships all the while.
But Uncle Joe, who possessed,
Is mean enough to smile.

Why, Uncle must have had it fine
When he was pioneering
With scouts and Indians all around
And real bears in the clearing!

He must have lived like a story book
I can't see why he'd grin
When his life's been lots easier
Than ours has ever been.

MISS LOCKWOOD WRITES LETTER TELLING OF CONDITION OF HIGHWAYS

Norfolk Record readers, contemplating an auto trip to Florida will be interested in a letter that has been received from Miss Edna E. Lockwood, who has just driven through to the south with her father. She says:

A person gets so much valuable information in regard to how the roads are from Norfolk to Florida I thought it might be well to write that my father and I found almost perfect roads considering the distance. There are only eight miles of dirt roads between Lexington and Pineville, Kentucky and as we came the shorter route from Cleveland, Tennessee to Dalton, Georgia, a distance of 30 miles over an ideal state road both in Tennessee and Georgia composed of gravel and red clay. It had rained the day before and was pouring when we drove through there but the road was good. The rest of the route from Dalton through Atlanta, Macon on into Florida was a completely paved road.

The only detour we did was four or five blocks in Cleveland, Tenn., and we made the trip in less than five days, a distance of 1,321 miles, where they have good winters.

It is real warm down here. My father was quite sick all day Wednesday but he is greatly improved now.

I trust this may help those who plan on driving to Florida this winter and don't care to go on the new waste than the unprepared forage. Usually it doesn't pay to cut low-priced hay of good quality for feeding.

Miss Lockwood and her father are located at Minocqua, Wis.,

It is often economical to cut or chaff poor quality hay for horses, as it is eaten with less waste than the unprepared forage.

PERSONALS
This week, for the first time, the Orange and Black staff is publishing a personal or society column. In the future, every student is urged to turn in any news items to Miss Park's room before noon on Tuesdays.

Have you heard that Marvin and Ella Tibble entertained about thirty of their classmates at a Halloween masquerade, Wednesday evening, October 30?

Ted Cavel and Louis Tiffen attended the football game at Albion Monday afternoon. Ted Watts, who formerly played on N. H. S.'s team and a back-field man on Albion's team, was undoubtedly their reason for going.

Both Helen and Eleanor Booth and Eleanor Grosvenor gave Halloween party at the Booth home Tuesday evening.

EIGHTH GRADE WRITES ENDING FOR THE LADY OR THE TIGER

The following story was written by Dorothy Meissner of the eighth grade English class. It is a conclusion to the story without a conclusion, "The Lady or the Tiger." This is the way Dorothy solves the mystery of the two fatal doors.

"With a firm unflinching step the handsome man flung open the door to the right. Out sprang that terrible, roaring, man-eating tiger. A hush fell over the crowd. But suddenly instead of going for the young man he went straight for the Princess."

"Kill him! kill him!" cried the king. Up sprang the young man and as the tiger was ready to spring upon his sweetheart, he plunged a long, keen knife with the beautiful pearl handle, into the tiger's throat. Down went the tiger, but in a moment he was ready to spring upon the Princess. The knife hit him again. It is true the young man did him in the heart."

The king was so pleased at his bravery that he gave him his daughter and half of his kingdom. And needless to say the king did not practice the "Tiger" and the "Lady" form of justice again. The Princess was thus killed. He wept and said, "I loved her better than anything else in the world. That is why I can be so cruel if it was to help her. The punishment after this I will employ two good judges."

THUNDERBOLTS WIN SOCCER GAME

The Thunderbolts and Troubles girls' soccer teams held a game Monday November 4th at 4:00 p.m. They played two halves of ten minutes each.

The line up was as follows:

Thunderbolts—Myrtle Lemmon, Capt. Ethel Gordis, Catherine Bonjouqui, Marjorie Nolton, Helen Christensen, Marie Lemmon, Marian Turnell, Catherine Shoebridge, Irma Bilsig, Florence Johnson.

Troubles—Catherine Duncanson, Capt. Dorothy Ferguson, Bobbie Mae, Dorothy Barbour, Winifred McCord, Betty Barnard, Rachel McCormick, Leila Haystead, Marion Litsenberg, Leona Coe, Peggy Blake.

The score resulted in 1 to 0 in favor of the Thunderbolts.

Miss Arap acted as referee, and Mrs. Stalker as scorekeeper, and she also kept time.

Games will be held each day this week after the dismissal of school.

When the final results of the five games are obtained, the side winning three out of five will be entertained by the losers.

High School Sponges

Some say that all the sponges come from the ocean, but there are some that are closer than that.

In the high school there are sponges.

By that we mean there is someone who will ask you to do his sponges for chemistry for him, because he doesn't know how to do it.

If you happen to be going down the hall and should see the sponge coming you run around the corner and start to congratulate yourself on your escape, when the "copyist" comes into view and says that he wants you to help him just this once.

You have planned to say no, but your sympathy is aroused and you lose your sternness and help the poor sponge.

It is known that the sponge absorbs and absorbs all the time, and that once a sponge always a sponge.

So if you are a sponge in school, you will be the same the rest of your life.

No one can do your work for you everyday life. So prepare now for the future instead of being a sponge and having to depend on someone else to do your work.

N. H. S. HAS PRACTICE DEBATE WITH EASTERN

The Northville High School debating team held a practice debate with Eastern High School of Detroit Saturday morning, November 2nd.

The following members of Eastern's team upheld the affirmative.

Louis Gagoyne, Walter Probst, Ruth Campbell.

The following members of the Northville team upheld the negative.

Elmer Perrin, Jeanne Richards, Catherine Stalter.

No decision was given as it was a practice debate.

CAST SUBURBAN LEAGUE GAME FRIDAY, NOV. 8TH

Farmington will play Northville at the latter's field on November 8th at 4:00 o'clock. This game will determine whether Northville will be in first or second division of the final standings.

Farmington has only a few regulars from their last year team and the game should be a little in Northville's favor.

Coach Steppenwinkel intends to let all reveries in this game so he can determine what kind of a hit you may have for the coming year.

Let's all turn out for this last Suburban League game.

N. H. S. PRACTICE DEBATE WITH OXFORD

Saturday afternoon, November 2d.

Northville high debating team went to Oxford for a practice debate.

Miss McMillan, Northville's debate coach, was formerly instructor at Oxford high school.

Tom Mallock, Billy Lockwood and Bert Grays of Oxford, upheld the affirmative.

The jury system was defended by Northville's team, the first speaker being Elmer Gehring, second, Jane Lawrence, and third, Catherine Stalter.

About two hundred people were out to hear this able and artistic speaker take the parts of the various actors in the play, "Servant in the House" by Charles Renn Kennedy. It is very remarkable indeed to be able to take the various parts and portray them so well as he did.

A reception was given, immediately following the recital, by the Dramatic Club for Mr. Johnson.

The Dramatic club under whose auspices he was presented wishes to thank the student body and townspeople for their loyal support.

TWO BOYS KILLED IN AUTO WRECK AT FARMINGTON

CAR CATCHES FIRE AND THEY ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN MACHINE

What was to have been a night of Haloween merriment making was turned into tragedy Saturday afternoon when two Detroit boys, one of them a Northwestern High school senior lost their lives and a third boy was injured in an automobile accident.

The automobiles in which they were riding struck loose gravel at the side of the Farmington road near the Twelve Mile road when an attempt was made to pass another car and overturned.

The car caught fire and one of the trio, trapped inside, burned to death.

Edward Egan, 18 years old, 5449 Grand River avenue, Northwestern high school senior.

Clarence Johnson, 6, of 4522 Second Avenue.

The injured was

Edgar Howden, 19, of 4265 Jefferson Avenue, living at Northville.

Both drivers of the automobile were burned in the car. The others were thrown clear of the car as it overturned, but the Johnson boy was dead when other motorists reached him. The Howden boy, unconscious, was picked up by Bert Reifs, 3038 Gladstone avenue, and Jarvis Kaye, and taken to the office of Dr. K. R. Aschenbrenner, in Farmington. It was found that he had suffered bruises and possible internal injuries. He later was taken to his home.

Egan and Howden were expecting to attend a Haloween party Saturday night at the home of the Johnson boy's grandfather near Walled brother was a chum of theirs. They went to the farm Saturday afternoon to assist in decorating for the occasion. The necessity arose for additional decorations and, taking Clarence with them, they were on the way to Farmington to get them when the accident occurred.

On days of low humidity and high winds, fires easily started and hard to stop. This is a season when many persons take advantage of the drought and stack timbers to burn off the accumulation of weeds, rubbish and bugs. A large number of woods fires are caused by allowing rubbish fires to get beyond control and spread into the woods. Choose a cloudy or rainy day to burn rubbish, and watch the fire closely.

Northville Record, a clipping from the Jackson evening paper about the game.

The Northville lad did not only make the feature play of the game, but he starred during the entire contest.

The Citizen Patriot says: "One of the longest runs ever made on the North Farmington Field was that of the animal invasion of the north.

Robert McCardle, when he dashed 89 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter after receiving a punt, there are several parties that McCardle started from his own 20-yard line and aided by some perfectly blocking swept towards the Brown.

Jackson, Joseph Montgomery, Glen Jackson, Marion Richardson and several others will make up one party that plans to go near Ironwood.

McCardle raced the 80 yards for a goal post to go Nelson Schrade, Scott Lovewell, Adolph Baldwin, Bob Ware, Elmer Law, and Charles McCardle, and then on down the field.

Richardson will go to a camp near Covington, also in the Upper Peninsula.

William Safford will be in a group that placed the pugskin on Adrian's 15-yard line. The ball was advanced to the 2-yard line, when McCardle took it and slipped over for the second score."

Since the early days of this country, custom has made Thanksgiving a day of feasting.

As closely associated with the day of turkey are the requisite table furnishings that give the dinner distinction.

Carvers in solid silver, new knives and forks and spoons, odd silver pieces of every description, new glass ware in all the newest colors and styles, see the new colors in glassware before you buy.

Don't longer the store that carries these goods in greatest variety—the store that sells you reliable goods every time.

Highways

and

The Telephone

From woodland trail to corduroy and dirt road; then gravel, macadam, concrete—thus, our highways have evolved.

Yesterday, we traveled twenty miles a day behind a spirited mare; today, we ride one hundred miles of an evening, in a motor car. Yesterday, travel was momentous; today, it is incidental.

From smoke signal and moccasin runner to pony express; from pony express to fast mail; fast mail to long distance telephone—thus, communication has evolved.

Yesterday, we wrote long letters and waited days, weeks, or even months for a reply; today, we lift a telephone receiver and, in a few seconds, have an answer. Yesterday, communication was laborious; today, it is effortless.

Michigan is building one of the finest highway systems in the United States, linking her cities by means of splendid concrete roads and opening a paradise of lakes and forest to all her people and to thousands of visitors.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company, too, is building highways, modern voice wireways, comparable in every way with the finest concrete roads; these wireways link every section of the state. Michigan's telephone wireways are partners of her other highways of commerce, and an important part of a universal telephone system.

Highways and wireways have helped develop our state, its commerce, prosperity and social life, and wherever your motor takes you over the fine, wide roads of Michigan, you also will find a voice wireway leading to your home and office.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety".

YOU PAY

DID you ever stop to think of how much more it costs to run a store in a big city than in a place like Northville? Taxes, licenses, fees and the high cost of labor—all have to be paid by someone.

Our Store

IN a place like Detroit would rent for probably seven or eight times more than it would in Northville if we had to pay rent. We have over 15,000 square feet of floor space for the display of furniture. It's a big store, even for a place like Detroit.

You Profit

WHEN you buy furniture in Northville because our goods are not high priced. We do not have to charge a big amount to do business. That is why you can buy the same quality piece of furniture in Northville for much less than you can elsewhere. We simply ask you to compare our goods and prices with the same kind of goods offered for sale elsewhere. If you do this we know that you will buy at our store, because it means a big saving to you.

Always Welcome

TO COME in and look at our goods whether you buy or not. We are pleased to show you our big stock and our big store.

ORVIS TELLS OF CALIFORNIA AND ITS MILD CLIMATE

LOCAL RESIDENTS ARE DELIGHTED WITH BEAUTY AND WEATHER

Northville Record readers will be greatly interested in the following letter received from Alton D. Orvis, who left here sometime ago with Mrs. Orvis, formerly Mrs. Lizzie Harger, to spend a year or so in California. The letter written on October 29th, the week of Northville's big rain storm follows:

Los Angeles, California
Dear Mr. Editor:

I promised to write you of our trip through the Yosemite Valley last June, but have only gotten to it now.

In my previous letter we had arrived at Merced, the principal gateway to this national park which I have recently heard was visited so far this year by over 750,000 tourists. But a very few of them go to see the trees, which is called the Mariposa Grove.

Leaving Merced in the early morning by a large motor bus carrying ten passengers we were after a seven-mile drive over a fine mountain road, which gradually ascended and entered dense pine timber. Found and round sharp curves for over three miles on a dirt road cut out of the mountain side wide enough in some places to pass another car—only two of which we met however—we trudged along. The driver almost constantly blowing his horn and oblivious of the fact that we were all nervously clinging to his seat and looking fearfully down 2,500 feet below, having got to go over. Finally we reached the wonderful big trees said to be the oldest and largest in the world, 3,000 to 5,000 years old, and some of them 28 feet and 30 feet in circumference. It is here that the fallen "Monarch" lies, which many of us have seen pictured with a troon of cavalry on its trunk. Here too, is the Giant through which every "spark" rides through a high ease opening in the center of the enormous tree called the "Wawona" and generally photographed as he hangs. There are about 850 of these venerable monarchs standing in the deep awesome silence and contrary to the preconceived idea of most people, including ourselves these trees are not in the Yosemite Valley, but are only twenty-five miles away and at an altitude of 6,000 feet, while the floor of the valley itself is only 4,000 feet above sea level. The latter is surrounded by towering 14,000 foot walls and cliffs from 3,000 to 5,000 feet high.

We crossed the valley floor and practically the same road which led to the valley and its radio broadcasts from New York City. Out here is Northville and Chillicothe, where our driver drove us and all passed the Duran at the Edison celebration we heard in our home as sublime a witness of the scenes I forgot to say that the passing leafs at the window, as though we stood there in a place where we sat, were in person 2,600 miles away. This told me, but rattled us again, morning a present is coming from Holland. The great Zeppelin came up there occasionally, and the skin of one was hung against a wall as a mute testimony, if one were inclined to skepticism.

We had one inch high up in the wilderness and a half hour's drive on the broad prairies where we could view the hills and entrance scenery before us.

Finally descending to the Yosemite Valley floor, which I was told is about one and one-half miles to two miles wide and five and one-half miles long we had

Again Komota Triumphs Over Stubborn Case

New Medicine Quickly Ended Severe Rheumatism, Also Kidney Troubles

MR. S. M. ABOOHAMAD
I was trying constantly to find something to relieve me of severe attacks of inflammatory rheumatism," said Sam Aboohamad, 14427 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. "My limbs would swell sometimes, in fact, the swelling would spread to my entire body, and I suffered terrible agony. During the past few months my kidneys also caused me trouble. Sleep—that was unknown to me. The first three bottles of Komota greatly reduced the swelling and relieved the pain. I continued with the medicine and today I am a man. The rheumatism is gone, and the kidney troubles have been corrected. It has increased my appetite. I am eating weight and feel 100 per cent better in every way."

Komota is sold in Northville by the Northville Drug Company, and is the best drugstore in all throughout this entire section.

The unique experience of sleeping in a board-floored tent in one of the two well managed camps containing thousands of cabins, tents and several hotels. There are also fine camping accommodations near by. Back or and close to us was the great wall towering 4,000 feet above. Guests were entertained free each night under the moon with music, pictures, etc., etc., etc., at the close of which flares or fires were thrown over the falls back of us from a height of 4,000 feet following some Indian custom.

Yosemite is Indian for "Grassy Valley" I was told, and they are beginning to advertise ice-skating events soon to be staged there.

Both Mr. Orvis and I obtained some fine photographs of Yosemite Falls and Bridal Veil Falls which we have just enlarged.

I used to tell my friends that I would boast of knocking the Los Angeles country with a vengeance, but somehow this year we have seen so much of its beauty and its marvelous climatic conditions and continuous sunshining the gentle breeze invariably temperature being unusual heat than previous impressions have greatly changed. We have had three good rains in the past four weeks, the coming about a month earlier than usual.

It is perfect June weather roses all blues, poinsettias, and other flowers blooming in your yard. An autocrat is happy that has seldom to clean his car other than dust it off, and our inclination is to eat and enjoy the delicious broods.

In the vast San Fernando Valley, just north of the Hollywood mountains we saw miles upon miles of green alfalfa, tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, melons, etc., green sweet corn, lettuce just set or coming to maturity, green beans, butter beans, grapes, beets, radishes and almost everything else nourishing. We visited "Runnymede" said to be the world's largest nursery with a quarter of a million laying hens.

Out toward Azusa, on fifteen miles east, we came upon what whilst we shot four blocks of fine eastern elms, probably 30 to 40 years old, which meet over head on each side of the highway.

The orange grove owners have probably irrigated their trees along with their groves. We saw perhaps avocados, pomgranates, guavas and kumquats on the trees;

and Mrs. Orvis is sampling ever fruit and vegetable, all of which are now in full flower. True to tradition however the elms lose their leaves about after three months he leaves the so-called winter here. We saw sixty acres of assorted roses in bloom in the open English wal-pis are being gathered every where a big crop.

It seems like everything grows swine is an exception.

Hogs will not eat alfalfa hay readily at first, but after becoming accustomed to it they relish a limited quantity espe-

Alfalfa hay added to the grain ration reduces the cost of swine and is good for brood sows.

It is a good plan to examine orchards regularly for signs of mouse injury.

Mouse injury in orchards may be prevented in four ways.

Removing cover around trees; treating trees with washes to repel mice; inclos-

GLORIA'S NEW FILM

GOWNED GORGEOUSLY

Remember the roles that established Gloria Swanson as the best dressed woman in the world?"

Ever wonder how Gloria Swanson was going to sound in talking pictures?

These and kindred queries will be answered at the Penniman-Allen Theatre next Sunday and Monday, November 10, and 11, when Miss Swanson makes her debut from the audible screen in "The Trespasser," her first all-talking picture for United Artists, written and directed by Edmund Goulding.

In a part said to be most dramatic she has yet played, Miss Swanson at the same time reveals a tenderness that is even more modish than any she has worn in the pictures which earned her sartorial distinction.

And Miss Swanson speaks and sings from the screen for the first time. Her voice is rich and well-modulated, it is declared; she not only talks in all the scenes in which she appears, but in addition sings two songs in the United Artists picture. One of them, "Love," was composed especially for her by Edmund Goulding, author and director of "The Trespasser."

Miss Swanson's supporting cast includes Robert Cummings, leading man; Purcell Pratt, Helen B. Wallach, Wally Albright; William Holden, Blanche Frederick, Kay Hammond, Mary Forbes, and Marcella Corley.

ACTORS ILLUSTRATE VERSATILITY IN FILM

The respective versatility of Walter Huston and Claudette Colbert are illustrated by their work in two productions—"The Barker," stage success, and "The Lady Lies," Paramount's brilliant all-talking picture.

In "The Barker" Miss Colbert was Lou, a tough carnival girl, and Huston was Nifty Alief, hard-boiled ballyhoo man with the show. Their parts called for a stalwart use of circus talk and gutter expletives; they were bitter enemies.

In "The Lady Lies" Miss Colbert is a gorgeous woman of great intellect and Huston is a polished and successful lawyer who falls in love with her.

"The Lady Lies" comes to the Penniman-Allen Theatre Wednesday, November 13th.

Now comes the evening. The Armistice Day address will be given by the Rev. Athanasius P. Rickard, who served with General Allenby's forces on the entry into Palestine and the capture of Jerusalem. This young man was in the infantry and saw the blunt of battle being fought in India. The service at 7:30 is for all interested to come.

The American Legion, Woman's Relief Corps, and Women's Auxiliary will meet in the Church House
