

TAKE OVER
AUTO INSURANCE

Announcement of their recent appointment as local agents for the Auto-Owners Insurance Company, Lansing, Michigan, was made Wednesday by the Lovewell & Smith insurance agency.

The new company, according to its coverage, including fire, theft, auto hazards only," he said.

An exclusive automobile insurance franchise in addition to the general lines of insurance formerly handled by the agency, is to place automobile insurance everywhere, according to E. D. Smith, also pointed out that the Auto-Owners is writing only on Michigan automobiles giving each car owner advantage of the lowest possible rate to cover the hazards of his particular locality. Northville's premium rate for automobile insurance is just as low as its accident figures will permit and is not made up on an average which would include large cities with their high accident rates.

In addition to complete coverage, the agency arrangement will make Auto-Owners trouble and touring bureau services available to car owners insured with Lovewell & Smith. A divisional touring bureau, supplied regularly with complete state and national touring information, has been set up in this office. Policy Holders and the general public, as well, are asked to make use of this road condition service at their convenience. No charge is made for information and "state highway" department weekly bulletins on Michigan road conditions keep the service up-to-date. National road condition bulletins issued and compiled by the Auto-Owners Touring Bureau at Lansing, provide Lovewell & Smith with complete information on practically all main interstate highways. Information will be given out in response to telephone as well as personal calls.

Claims for free emergency trouble service, such as towing, starting, lighting, ignition or battery service, will be handled by the local agency for its Auto-Owners policyholders.

GIVE YOUR TREES
CARE THIS FALL

Millions of trees are facing starvation and premature death as a result of the unusual weather conditions which prevailed during the past eight months in many sections of the country, according to Martin L. Davey, president of the Davey Tree Expert Co., Inc.

Trees manufacture their food in their leaves. Davey said, "It is a slow process and months are required to produce enough food to keep the tree healthy throughout the year."

Last spring was unusually cold and the leaves were about a month late in coming out. The food manufacturing process was retarded. Then came the drought, there was no rain to speak of in many sections, for over two months without water, minerals from the soil and nitrogen from the air could not be converted into foods vital for plant life.

Because of the drought, the leaves withered and fell this fall much earlier than usual.

"As a net result of the late spring, the drought, and the early falling of the leaves, the trees were able to store up only a fraction of the food required. Their vitality has been lowered; many have been weakened so much that it is doubtful whether they can pull through next summer."

The effects of the bad season can be counteracted, Davey said, by properly fertilizing the trees. This should be done before the ground freezes or as soon as it thaws in the spring, he stated.

Many persons can remember trapping muskrats in their youth and making good profits by selling the skins for perhaps 20 cents apiece. Now, muskrat pelts sell for about ten times that amount, the carcasses are sold as meat for as much as $1.00 a pound. Neat's-foot oil and castor oil are among the best materials for greasing. Tallow and wool are also good. First brush but not hot place. Whenever the greases are, also good. First brush but not hot place. Whenever the Work the oil or greases into the leather. Work the sole is joined to the upper. Let the skins formerly brought and muskrat farming in marsh areas has become a profitable industry.

The animal catch in the United States is now around 14,000,000 muskrats! The chief requirements in muskrat farming are to maintain a food supply for the animals and to guard against depredations by too close trapping. In some localities muskrats are kept on definite premises by fencing.

After cutting season your fuel wood. To season rapidly wood should be piled or "flicked up" in narrow long piles exposed fully to sun and wind and protected against rain. A woodshed is a good investment, particularly if built with a good overhanging roof and with open or striped section all the way around a foot or two higher than the floor to provide for air ventilation.

PLYMOUTH BANK
BANDIT ESCAPES
JACKSON PRISON

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Richardson are back from the world's Fair.

W. G. York of Pontiac was Northville visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McRobert left last week for Portland, Oregon.

M. S. Kinner of Ohio visited his cousin, J. J. Kinnel, this week.

The Misses Hester and Marion Power were Farmington visitors this week.

Misses Augie Smith and Carrie Boeve spent Sunday in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Frances Horton returned last week from the St. Louis Exposition.

Mrs. Carrie Van Atta is visiting her brother Daniel Smith of South Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Woodward came down from Lansing Saturday and visited among friends here until Tuesday night. Hoyt has recovered his old time health and has resumed his position in the auditor general's office.

Misses Ella Turner, Elizabeth Burgess, Sarah Parsons, Delta Harmon, Mary Ashler, May Power, Ezra Northrop and Miss Camilla Wheeler and Mary Power of Northville, Waukesha club attended the meeting of the "Cardinal" county federation of clubs Saturday at Farmington as guests of the Ladies Literary Club of that place.

Frank S. Harmon has been on the sick list this week.

The new addition to the bank building on Main street is nearing completion and looks very fine.

The Brock residence formerly the P. R. Blair home on Main St., has been remodeled into one of the prettiest houses in town.

Chas. Booth, Ralph Diserns and a New York capitalist have purchased a big air compressor factory at Brandt Pt. The boys have a real banana.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Northrop and son Staff of Farmington called at P. E. Bradleys at Gilt Edge last Sunday.

St. Mary's Catholic society of this place will hold their annual banquet and entertainment in the opera house building next Tuesday evening, Nov. 18 and if precedent goes for anything it will certainly be an extremely enjoyable affair.

The ladies of the Methodist church will give a chicken pie supper in the church parlors this Friday evening. Supper will be served from 5 to 30 until all are served. Admission 25 cents, children 20 cents.

W. Y. Murdock and wife of Ypsilanti have recently been visiting friends here.

Mrs. Wm. Taff entertained a number of Plymouth friends Thursday.

Northville was visited by burglar last Friday night with Hulston's drug store, Hotley and Baldwin's meat market, and Stark Bros. store as the objective points.

The "haul" amounted to only a few dollars in money.

You don't need a chimney sweep to clean the soot from the chimney—all you need is common salt. The fire should first be put in good condition with a substantial bed of hot fuel on top and about a pound of dry salt sprinkled on the fire close to the furnace door. Shut the door and open all the dampers so the fire will burn as rapidly as the draft permits. Keep the dampers wide open until the fumes have disappeared, about a half hour. Except unusually heavy deposits of soot may require an additional dose of salt.

Jerome McCarthy, was killed by Patrolman Kenneth McPherson, Kobinsky's partner, in the gun battle.

Ridding themselves of their slain companion, the gunmen escaped in an automobile and were arrested 24 hours later in Marshall, Ill., where they surrendered to a suspicious Illinois state policeman, who searched their car for liquor. Instead of rum, he found the missing bank funds secreted under the automobile seat.

The bandits were returned to Detroit and convicted of murder. Arthur Sheehan, 19-year-old bandit killer who three years ago participated in the robbers of the People's State Bank of Plymouth, in which Patrolman Earl J. Kobinsky of Detroit was killed, escaped at 8:00 o'clock Saturday night from Jackson prison, where he was serving a life term for the crime.

Sheehan clung to the south wall of the prison by means of a rope. He was seen by a post guard as he went over the parapet, who called to him to halt and then fired.

The convict apparently escaped unhurt, the guard reported. He had seen Sheehan reach the ground and dart for safety, making his way southward. The guard said he fired two shots at the fugitive.

According to prison officials, Sheehan took advantage of construction activity in one of the cell blocks to effect his getaway. The rope was one that had been used in the construction. Sheehan, who had been working during the day in the office of Dr. R. W. McLain, prison chaplain, had secured himself in the torn-up cell-block until the opportunity for his dash to freedom came.

The fugitive was believed to be unharmed. He is five feet, four inches tall, weighs about 136 pounds and is of light complexion. Other identifying marks, prison officials reported, are a bullet scar in the right shoulder and one in the upper right leg.

Sheehan, then 16 years old, was one of the principal figures in the Plymouth bank robbery, in which a quartet of youths on July 9, 1926, shot up the bank, wounding Eli Boiccan, a bystander, and escaping with $5,000.

Patrolman Kobinsky was slain when he attempted to frustrate the bandit's flight. One of the bandits,

It's just too bad if any smoker because of misinformation denies himself or herself the pleasure of CAMELS.

New smokers are not always in a position to have a real preference in cigarettes. But when they acquaint themselves with Camels they develop that sense of discrimination that leads to real smoking pleasure. Camels are made so carefully and of so good a blend of choicest cigarette tobaccos that even those with inexperienced smoking taste quickly recognize their superiority. SOUTH LYON PLANT
HAS MANY ORDERS

The new steel construction work for the addition to the Michigan Seamless Tube Company's plant is nearly finished, and shipments of heavy machinery are expected to reach here about the first of February.

In an interview here Saturday, Mr. McMunn, president, said that the company looks forward to an unusually busy year for 1930, and expects to produce more than twice the volume of its output in 1929.

Total shipments in 1929 will be more than double the total of 1928.

Machinery and equipment for this increased production has been ordered.

This new addition represents a very substantial increase in the company's plant investment.

The company's principal customers are automobile manufacturers.

Curtailment of motor car production has always been felt at this time of the year.

There also, exists an additional temporary slowing up of business due to stock market operations of the past three weeks.

Orders are being booked for next year's production, indicating a good volume of business for 1930. Thus increased volume of business will give employment to more men in the tube mill than have been on the pay roll any time since the company started business.

Railways
and
The Telephone

A freight train puffs quietly on the siding—waiting—the outlines of the cars showing dimly through the darkness. A minute passes—two—three. Then over the night air floats a muffled whistle. Far down the track a light appears. The rails begin to hum, the light grows bright, and a passenger train roars past, windows gleaming. Then the freight comes to life and the long, shadowy outline moves away.

Four million persons in Michigan are served by this steam transport system—four million persons rely upon it, and upon its worthy partner, the electric railway lines. Michigan desires the prosperity of these efficient and progressive railways, for only as they prosper can they serve.

Over hill, across valley—paralleling the rails or following the highways—go the telephone wires, freighted with the spoken commands of industry, agriculture, finance and business.

Railways and wireways traverse the land as partners in progress.
Upon the one you depend for the transportation of yourself, your family and your goods. To the other you give your voice to be flashed immediately, one mile or thousands, from your home or your office.

The great rail transportation systems and the universal service of the telephone are vital factors in this country's development and prosperity.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety".

WATERFORD MISS TRIES HAND AT BIT OF FICTION

Leslie Rowland Writes on Subject—“A Taste of Day of Doom”

Miss Leslie Rowland, youthful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Rowland of Waterford, has tried her hand at a bit of fiction, with the following excellent results:

A Taste of the Day of Doom
(By Leslie Rowland)

Wayside—a small settlement situated between the village of Pennville and Arkton. There stand down-shacks scattered along a hillside, sheltering large families of unkempt children and burdened mothers.

Wayside Tavern, a saloon in the days of yore, and now a noted gambling house with a bar room in the rear, is located in the heart of the village. This is where the brutes of husbands and fathers spend their hours, from daylight to dark. Not only their time is spent, but also the wages that the little kiddies at home need so much, and then the faithful wife who has tried so hard to save.

Tis Monday morning, and was day by custom, but the women of Wayside are not washing. Here and there is seen the rush of mothers, with disconsolate hearts; children clinging to their skirts, crying the loud shrill cry of fight. Louder and even louder grow the walls of sorrow and anger, swifter the madly rushing and distopian clancor. Well is any hope of escape. Much strife and tumult of angry contention. Wandering, wailing, from house to house, the women and children amidst the gloom.

Yes, it is morning, but oh! so dark and dreary. The air is damp and sultry. Black clouds hang low. Suddenly a storm gathers, with the deadly sif of hailstones smiting these villagers. Now comes a terrible torrent of wind dragging them down.

Deserted are the homes, empty, drear and haunted with the phantoms of terror.

On rush the families to the tavern, waiting and looking in vain for the husbands and fathers.

Keenly the lightning flashes and the voice of thunder echoes loudly. Voices of women are heard calling shrilly, over the crying of children. Now at the door of the tavern pounding and calling fiercely.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Then the rust of brutal ruffians coming from within, drunken and boozing, with rage at the sight of their families.

Suddenly a great ball of fire shoots from the heavens, down behind the black clouds, illuminating the gray ones. Disaster prevails and more tumult of wind and storm. A great battle of confusion. All falter and pause, thinking of the great wrongs and sins they've committed, they mortals and tears fill their eyes.

Sunday, November 3rd, after nine years in South Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Allen observed their fifteenth wedding anniversary with a family of about 20 relatives present.

Miss Emma Richmond of White Lake, and Theodore Allen of Oxford, were married at White Lake on the 17th and 21st respectively. They took up the duties of housekeeping at Oxford and resided there for a few years.

Slowly the rain dies into a whisper, the dark clouds break away, there beyond gleams the holy light beckoning to these people with troubled souls. They remember the tale of the prophet of the justice of heaven and the righteousness of God. Kneeling on the steps of the tavern they pray to the Great Power above.

Arising, soothed are their souls still gleaming, the holy light leads them back to their homes. Silence reigns in the streets.

Not a task is done as yet and it is twilight. But great are the accomplishments of this day. The evil people of Wayside have become God-fearing Christians, ever to remain loyal and steadfast.

Slowly night descends.

The poultry raiser has no control over the price of feed and eggs.

He can control the rate of egg production at different times of the year.

Eggs are scarce on most general farms during the fall and winter, when egg prices are highest, mainly because the hens don't lay enough protein during the winter for good egg production.

An egg aside from the shell contains 13.4 per cent protein, while poultry flesh contains 21.5 per cent protein.

A mixture of corn, wheat and other grains contains only about 10 per cent protein and should be supplemented with a mash containing high-protein feeds such as meat scraps, fish meal, milk, soybean meal, peanut meal, cottonseed meal and gluten meal.

ROAD OFFICIAL SAYS WORK WILL BE STARTED AT EARLY DATE

Item along the Huron river valley secrecy no longer prevailed. Mr. Himes stated and linking of Rouge and Huron river valleys into an unparalleled scenic route.

Engineers of the county road commission who have been working on the scheme are mapping the project in ways that preserve the natural beauties of this region.

While the topography of Wayne county differs widely from that of Westchester county, New York, where an elaborate parkway has been built, it is felt, nevertheless, that country through this section has a native charm little realized. SECURITY

GUARANTY TRUST BONDS are secured by a direct First Mortgage upon Income-producing properties in selected localities in the City of Detroit. Most conservatively appraised as to value and issued upon terms which insure their payment at maturity.

Discriminating Investors have purchased $40,000,000.00 worth of these BONDS during the past 13 years, without one single dollar of loss or a day's delay in payment of either principal or interest payments.

There is a reason—Investigate!
