DOLPH TELLS OF GROWTH OF LOCAL PLANT

HISTORY OF GLOBE COMPANY IS STORY OF MORE THAN OR DINARY INTEREST

Northville Apartments, Monday, noon, heard a most interesting story, a story that revolved entirely around the industrial life of the community during the past fifty years.

The speaker was Charles Dolph, president and general manager of the Globe Furniture Company, the only factory in Michigan producing exclusively church furnishings.

His talk had much to do with the early development of the business back in the days before the school seating trust put an end to the production in Northville of school seats.

The speaker was introduced by Charles Schonauer, who had charge of the day's program.

Mr. Dolph in part said:

"The locality where institutions and men managing them are located self-consciously appreciate the worth of these things to their communities. It is the old story that a product is not without honor, except in his own country. Perhaps it is human nature to overlook the immediate and consider the distant without enlightenment."

It is characteristic of old age to try to dwell on the past and emphasize its many values. Only the facts known or learned from the few, the ever few, that will be passed on to the next day."

The origin of a business is a form of romance. Someone dreams of a course of action which will render a service to others and produce a profit for themselves or their group. Then it is with the school desks and church seating business nearly so.

"About the center of the spot where the first seating saw sawing was the beginning of a business," said Charles H. Harrington, for several years the globe boy, now a man, 35, calling and doing a general trade dry business.

About 1893 or 94 a new school building was talked about by the residents of Northville. They took steps to open the Northville Union School. Among the things needed were school desks. Mr. Harrington thought, "Well, I can get some from my father's carpentry shop."

"About this time he made up his mind to open a furniture store, and the first piece of furniture he made was a desk.

"I bought just as much for this desk as I could, during those years. People now in their houses and the manufacturing states, I do not know what the benefit of producing children's desks in the main. People deserve some furniture, never had a better opportunity to get them at such low prices as in 1912," said Mr. Schonauer.

"It is unusual how furniture designs can do little things to furnish a house different and more attractive. The wooden height are all of the latest styles and designs. Most of the latest styles and designs, though, are not good for children's desks. All little women in the city will be in line to go into the organization."

"The heavy program of activities before the Auxiliary for 1931 makes it essential that the auxiliary make up to the maximum strength. We all think you'd have great fun if you'd join us in the organization."

"The Auxiliary is open to all mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of legatees and of the service men who have died. Membership in the organization gives them an opportunity to serve side by side with the men of the Legion for the ideals of justice and democracy which moved America during the war. The Auxiliary is a sonically patriotic organization and expresses its patriotism practical service to the country."

"The company started in February, 1873, and ended on December 31st with a fine profit of nearly $50,000 on the $25,000 worth of business which they did. The second year opened promisingly, but on October, 1874, the entire plant was burned to the ground and they lost a lot of unfilled orders. The problem was a tough one, but they rebuilt at a cost of nearly $8,000 and closed the year with a small profit and new line up. The business continued to increase until the total output was $20,000 annually. In the latter part of 1874 following the rebuilding the company's attention was directed to the making of church seats and their first attempt was at Bedford church. Others followed and among the early joiners was the Baptist church of this City and the First Methodist. In 1875 the Company started to make pews. Many of the curtains, pews, and other items used in this part of Michigan and shipped to other states."

"The original charter of the Company was taken up in 1884 and the Globe Furniture Company was the name of the new company as successor to this old. The business continued very profitably until 1893. Keen competition and the low prices for all its products was the rule. Louis A. Beal, Frank S. Harmon and the men in the Eastern territory could scarcely make up living. Fate dealt the concern a bad wad in the death of Fred S. Laramore, Treasurer of the Company, the man who was a consistent backer of his friend Beal in all the company activities."

"In 1893, the era of trust formation deal was made for the sale of the business to the American School Furniture Company. They took over the plant January 1, 1893 and would have continued for some time had not the main part of the plant burned April 30, 1893. Mr. Beal being one of these ruggedly honest men had put the business into the Trust at a price which was near its real worth; Gehrke had not. When the fire came it did damage to the main plant and foundry only. It left minters in such a state that with the 'reprise' of American Company to rebuild. The comparatively small price received later the Globe Furniture Company."

"Mr. Beal failed to see the remaining property of old Globe and its building occupied by the present Globe Company to get a new start for Northville. The Foundry was taken over by the American Bell and Foundry Company. On the site of the old main building the present, aircraft building, was erected. The new formed American Shade Cloth Company, the building occupied by the industry, was used by the Gossers Shoe Company. The old refrigerator plant was taken by the Globe Furniture Company, Ltd., which Robert A. Hayes formed."

"At the meantime the depression of 1903 came along and the various sales had not netted Mr. Beal enough to

A Christmas Gift That Went Astray

Mrs. Melvina Carpenter is a great lover of little children, especially boys. Once in her neighborhood sometime ago lived a family of seven children, and she became especially fond of one of the boys.

Some months ago the family moved into Detroit, and like thousands of others, the conditions in that city have prevented the farther from securing work.

A few days before Christmas Mrs. Carpenter wrapped up carefully in a piece of paper a 25 cent piece and wrote a little Christmas note to the boy she liked so well.

As she dropped the envelope into the postoffice she thought, though the sum was small, it would be something for that lad and he could buy the thing that he would like the best.

It was not until a week or so after Christmas when she happened to meet her little friend that she learned the boy had never received the money.

Then the other day back from the postoffice in Detroit came the envelope—with the note she had written and the quarter gone.

One end of the envelope had been carefully slit open the paper flat was folded around the quarter had been cut and the quarter was missing.

As she was sorry about it because when I asked the little fellow if Santa Claus had come to him he said that Santa Claus had been pretty good to him but Santa Claus had entirely forsaken their home on Christmas day," Mrs. Carpenter said.

It is characteristic of old age to try to dwell on the past and emphasize its many values. Only the facts known or learned from the few, the ever few, that will be passed on to the next day."

WINNING SUCCESS

After the Peace of Paris in 1763 Captain Duval, a French privateer, by his daring struck terror to the British Merchant Marine and became the most dreaded pirate of the time. The British authorities put a large bounty on his head; and at last, hard pressed, he reached the coast of North America and landed in a little fishing hamlet on the Grapnel Peninsula. The sides of his ship bulged with treasure and he was at his wits' end.

He fled in his service a Micmac Indian who found a trail to the summit of the supposedly inaccessible Rock-of-Percé. Some terrific convulsion had torn this rock from the nearby mountain some thousands of years ago and left it standing five hundred feet straight in the air. Its sides were sheer and unscalable and there were two caverns at its base where the sea thundered through in stormy weather. He hid in one of these caves and sailed away never to return.

For years, adventurers, natives, travelers, hundreds who knew the tradition, attempted to scale the Rock of Percé to gather Duval's riches. Hundreds of them died in their attempts and so many lives were lost that early in the last century an act was passed in the Quebec Legislature forbidding anyone to make the attempt without authorization from the Governor of the Province.

The world has always lured helter-skelter forward and back, rushing from one rainbow to another. A voice here today, another there tomorrow, and the great tide ebbs and flows.

There is no more pitiful sight in the world of business than the rushing, scrambling, scuttling hysteria of those who seek for the Royal Road to Success with little to offer in return. Only about once in a decade does an individual or an institution rise its head above the maelstrom of competition and stand out conspicuously as a complete success.

Hail successes are commonplace. They cause neither excitement nor particular commendation. The world is full of people who have stopped just short of the mark. It is not difficult for a man to obtain a place among the great majority. The receipt is a simple one and it is practically universal in application. A half success may be gained by anyone who will follow the beaten path. Precedence, tradition, custom—that is the triumph of mediocrity.

Failures and half successes worship at the shrub of the weather vane. The direction of the wind is then evident. They are ruled by mob psychology. They go with the tide. They have neither the will power nor the urge nor the nerve to resent and stand alone with their convictions.

Leaders chart their own seas and follow the course of no one. While others are squandering their physiques in search of hidden treasures, the leaders are building treasures of their own. They dare to fly their standards in the face of ridicule and adverse and sentiment. The leaders become the do not fear opposition and tradition have no place with them. If there is a way they will find it even as David did. They know that the sun, at least, resists yield little but sorrow in the end.

Forget the crowd.

Never mind the beaten path.

There is no royal road but an honest purpose, hard work and an honest product.

TOWN SLOGANS

Over in Grand Ledge, one of the few towns that still greet the visitor at its corporate limits with the sign "Speed Limit 20 miles," the subject of town slogans is being discussed. The Grand Ledge Independent touched on the subject recently and reviewed some slogans. The one best bet in the out of ordinary was missed with Merrill's, "Come again and hear our band." Here's some of the independent chatter about slogans:

Big Rapids is extending to the world a city slogan, has this, "The little-city with the big welcome." To casual tourists, who receive their information only from the huge sign at the city limits on US-131 and M-20, Big Rapids still stands out as "The home of the Ferris Institute." Both of these slogans, it can be seen, advertise to the passerby a feature that Big Rapids would like to have him carry away concerning the city.

Only one other town in Mecosta county has a slogan of its own, as far as we can discover. That one is Reedsburg, which boasts to the world that it is "The dairy center of Michigan."

Once started on the slogan business, we went the limit, and here are a few of those we found in Michigan:

Manistee—"Boost Manistee by boosting sports"

Charlevoix—"Charlevoix the beautiful"

Kalamazoo—"The gateway to opportunity."

Reed City—"The gateway to the north"

Traverse City—"The heart of Nature's playground"

Benton Harbor—"The city of million dollar sunsets."

Bay City—"Where summer traits begin"

Marquette—"Queen City of Lake Superior"

Plainwell—"The most beautiful big-little city in Michigan."

Of course scattered throughout the state are a number of cities with slogans like "The mill city," which, according to reliable information, is none other than Beloit.

WEST POINT PARK

Our church service Sunday morning was well attended and interested in a good sermon from the Rev. John Adams on the subject called "The choir and some fine selections."

The officers and teachers of the Sabbath school are invited to attend a meeting to elect officers for the coming year at the home of Earl Gullen Thursday of this week.

The twenty-fourth of January there will be a dance in the Community Hall. Proceeds will apply on the debt of the hall. Gentlemen 50 cents, ladies 25 cents. A first-class orchestra is engaged for the evening. Chicken sandwiches and coffee will be served at half past eleven. Come and bring your wife and friends.

The winter Sunday school picnic held in the Community Hall Sunday evening was a success all through. The different classes took part, each having a stunt that made a great deal of excitement. The J. I. boys represented the celebrities of the day—Aeros and Andy had the procession of Babe Ruth, Ted Roosevelt, Old Father Time and others. This is the class under their teacher and leader Mr. J. M. Mansfield also the winning class in the contest having the largest percentage in attendance to the last two months. And won the trophy trophy. You should have seen those boys eat at a table loaded with the best refreshments to be made. All the other classes—teachers and parents had a delicious dinner. Everyone there had a pleasant time and each class wants to win the next contest. They are very enthusiastic.

Skim milk contains practically all the nutrients of whole milk except the butterfat and is excellent feed for growing calves, growing and fattening pigs when used as a supplement to corn, growing chicks, fattening poultry and laying hens. The caloric value of skim milk fed on the farm in well-balanced rations is equal to the market value of such amounts of other feeds as have the same feeding value. For calves, about ten pounds of dry skim milk or ten to twelve pounds of commercial or home-mixed calf meals will take the place of 100 pounds of fluid skim milk. For pork production when fed as a supplement, 100 pounds of skim milk has a feeding value equal to about eleven pounds of corn plus seven pounds of tankage. For laying hens, 100 pounds of skim milk will take the place of fifteen pounds of meat scrap. Only sweet skim milk should be fed to calves, but either sweet or sour skim milk may be fed to hogs or poultry.

Although oats rank third among the important cereal crops in this country less attention is given to the production of this crop than to any other important grain crop, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Requirements for the successful growing of oats in the North Central states—which produce about four-fifths of the total crop of the country—are the total crop of the country are scanned by the department as follows: "Soil on land that retains moisture and is fairly fertile. Use good seed of adapted, high yielding varieties, cleaned and graded, and treated with formaldehyde for smut. Seeds preferably with a grain oil content proper methods of cutting, stacking, shocking, and threshing." (See Bulletin 1381, Oats in the North Central States.) Can be obtained by writing to the U. S. ## Why Pheasants Are Different Color

During the winter months some of the pheasants you see appear mainly black and dark the usual white feathers you are not necessarily color blind according to the Game Division of the Department of Conservation, for a new sort of pheasant was released from the state game farm at Mason this fall. These birds are a cross between the common ring-neck and the dark-colored Japanese pheasant known to game breeders as the "versicolor" or green pheasant.

Practically all experienced game keepers believe it is important to introduce "new blood" into their breeding stock, especially that in the purchase of eggs or birds from other game farms. Superintendent Donald Lamont has followed this practice at the Mason farm for the last ten years.

One year he has had eggs from a dealer in Oregon, the next year from Pennsylvania, and so on, but there was always some question as to the difference in the strain which was being introduced.

In 1929 one well-known breeder announced that he could supply true "versicolor" eggs and Mr. Lamont decided that stock from this source would not only insure entirely new blood, but might be especially desirable as the Japanese bird, slightly larger than the "versicolor" eggs were purchased and set up at the Mason farm. The resulting birds are reared for breeding purposes, and the "versicolor" eggs were purchased and set up at the Mason farm.

In 1930 one thousand of the "versicolor" eggs were purchased and set up at the Mason farm. The resulting birds are reared for breeding purposes, and the "versicolor" eggs were purchased and set up at the Mason farm.

The "ring-neck" is itself the result of crossing the black-necked pheasant of Europe with the ring-necked bird from southern China. This cross was made in England many years ago, and since the "monk" ring-neck is the most widely distributed strain with a few black necks present to the wild.

Since the wild ring-neck in Michigan outnumber the darker birds and since the ring-neck pattern seems to be dominant over the dark.

in the fields and along the roads and the release of the new variety will make any permanent difference in the looks of our Michigan birds. During the next few years, however, many of the darker birds will no doubt be seen.

The name Firestone is on every tire Firestone makes. They do not make tires under Special Brand names for mail order houses or other distributors. Such tires are made by some unknown manufacturer and sold under a name that does not identify him to the public, usually because he builds his first line tires under his own name.

THE ORANGE AND BLACK

Northville Michigan.

Published in the interest of the Northville Schools.

EXPENSIVE CLASSES

This year a few expensive classes have been eliminated, and others because the numbers of students were so small, or because the subject was something that did not have to be taught in high school.

Journalism is one of the omitted classes, and debating is another. Is each of these classes there are however, students who are interested enough to deserve little encouragement and thus they are receiving, but they do not have regular class time.

Economics will be taught next semester, but the course is not a durable subject, but because it is considered a loss that can be spared in the class in cases like this, the teacher however, is sure it is devoted to some of the view of economics.

Instead of classes in physics and chemistry both the subjects are alternated—this year physics and new year chemistry.

Several of the smaller classes in domestic science and art are being combined or discontinued.

Another look we shall show what effect these savings may be upon the school budget.

Stolen's Last Debate Is

Victory For Northville

With the debate which took place in the Northville High School Auditorium Friday, January 9 at eight o'clock, the other debate season ended. This last debate, with Northville upholding the affirmative side of the question, was resolved, that the National Chain of Grocery Stores operating in the state of Michigan is detrimental to the people of that state, against Van Dyke High School of Detroit resulted in a victory for Northville. The decision was arrived at by Professor O'Neill, head of the Speech Department of the University of Michigan, who was sole judge of the debate.

The negative team was composed of Henry Wind, first speaker; Dorothy Gossin, second speaker; and Richard Nott, third, all of Van Dyke.

The affirmative team was composed of John Stetson and Elsie Pollard.

Of the three previous debates of the season, Northville was the winner in only one. In this debate which was with Plymouth, the decision was in favor of Northville.

It is to be noted that Northville and Walled Lake, the former mentioned, lost to the other two teams.

Henry Wind, first speaker for Northville, an impudent Peter O'Neill than he made speech, measured in in proportion to the other speakers, a senior and well qualified to judge what he had to say.

While Rutherford and John Stetson may not have won in the coming Orange and Black game, it would be the end of a losing record.

Wally Rutherford and John Stetson may not have won in the coming Orange and Black game, it would be the end of a losing record.

We are certain the reason the whole was a success is that the whole was a success.

Results of the last debate were as follows: First place, Northville; Second place, Van Dyke; Third place, Plymouth; Fourth place, Walled Lake.

Northville's victory in the last debate was due to the fact that they had the best team in the state.

GROUP ORGANIZED

Baptist Church
The services for January 18 and Sunday of the new year have been arranged as follows:

-10:30 Morning worship followed by the Bible school at 11. The second Sunday, January 18, the morning service will be organized by Miss Emily Dillard, Home Demonstration Agent of Dearborn, Michigan.

Miss Dillard, because of her interest in the standards of health and hygiene, will give a clear definition of health, outlining the basis and characteristics of health.

Twenty-eight ladies signed the membership rolls and set the second Friday of each month as their date of meeting. Miss Harold White was elected chairman and Mrs. George Simmons secretary.

All of these ladies who attended the first meeting will be present at the second meeting.

The Philathetic class met Tuesday night with Mr. Barbary for social evening and election of officers.

The election resulted as follows:

Mrs. Wm. Hoitell, 1st Vice Pres.

Fred McKechnie, 2nd Vice Pres.

Wm. O'Donnell, Secy., Ella Clark, Treas.

Mrs. W. Rossou Barbour.

Our Lady of Victory Church

The Holy Name society elected their new officers Sunday, January 11. The Young People's Club had a business meeting Wednesday night and also elected new officers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Altar Society will be held at the church next Thursday, January 20. There will be a potluck luncheon at 12:30. Election of officers will take place at 1:30 p.m.

Plans are being arranged for each family of the parish to give a personal gift to their bishop for the benefit of the church. They shall invite their own friends for our visit before Lent begins.

The Catholic League, a warlike band, will be the topic of the sermon next Sunday. The Pope's recent letter states the new law of the church will make it easier to do what we must do, especially to those who are not yet members. The church's position is that no compromise can be tolerated where the divine and moral law do not demand it.

Presbyterian Church
On Sunday, January 15, it is in session. Service held at 11. First Presbyterian church. The minister will preach the sermon for the members, make a call for the present and then at the words "In God and his fellowship of this church" will be in the Baptist church.

Due to slight differences in the method of arranging for speakers for that service, we are unable to get the strength of the outcome of our church's house and home. Sunday, Jan. 25, at 10 a.m. This date is definite.

It is, and we wish our people to be present in numbers. Mr. Patterson, our pastor, came to us a few days ago and said he would be pleased to speak to us on this subject. That is one point which will be considered in choosing a speaker for the day.

During the meeting of the Northville Academy will be held Tuesday, January 20 at 7:30 sharp. The home of Mrs. H. P. W. Conklin, Mrs. Conklin will lead in the devotionals, exhortations and the subject. That is one point which will be considered in choosing a speaker for the day.

Methodist Church Notes
"Home and Woolish". It calls us to the dual and mutual duty of our wives and mothers to run to the tasks of life in the light of the teachings. When we are ready to pass this high level of our own, is they day all we possess of greater value than worship.

Next Sabbath the pastor preaches at 10:30. How to Meet a Depressing Condition.

Why do we reach a high peak in our Sabbath school attendance and then drop sharply on the following Sabbath? The superintendents wish many of our older people would stay to the adult classes. They discover we have the weakest attendance in our Bible school of any in town of older people.

Let us stay at 12:00 noon and encourage the children.

Bernice Clark will be the leader in the young people's Epworth League.

Sore Throats

and Coughs

QUICKLY RELIEVED BY THIS
SAFE PRESCRIPTION.

Here's a doctor's prescription called Thoxine that is really "throat" insurance. Its success is due to its quick double action. With the very first swallow it soothes the sore throat and stops the coughing. It goes direct to the internal cause.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful and is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable. Put up ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Your money back if not satisfied. Sold by Northville Drug Co. and all other good drug stores.

The BEST Gray Hair
Remedy is Home Made

1/2 pint of water add one ounce of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

De-Ho-Co Meals
In Poetic Form

(By A PRISONER)
I was sentenced to De-Ho-Co.
A prison down on a farm,
I was put in here for robbery.
So I wouldn't do no harm.
I am walking in the kitchen.
The breakfast I must make
So I will tell you about them.
Starting Sunday with Briskets,
the first day of the month.

After breakfast I must make
And potatoes I must take.
I am told it would be better
To serve them some steak.

On Tuesday when they come in to eat
I grade against they do real
To sit down and try to swallow.
The dish they call Rubber heel.

On Wednesday morning I start the steam.
To make my rolled oats boil.
This and it would be a dream.
If I would let it stop.

On Thursday morning when they come in they ask me what I'm making.
I tell them I am trying liver.
And bringing home the bacon.

On Friday morn we have a treat.
To sit down to something real nice.
With milk and sugar to camouflage their living cushions and nests.

We have something on Saturday.
That's even better than mush.
For when they go out they all shout.
We want some more beef hash.

They kick about the coffee.
They kick about the tea.
But when they're on the outside.
They say De-Ho-Co for me.

INKSTER BANK UNITED WITH DEARBORN BANK

The Victoria latest addition to the first group of de luxe passenger cars is radically different in body design from anything the Ford Motor Company has heretofore offered. A R. Ford local Ford dealer said today.

The Victoria is extremely attractive in appearance, he said. It has an atmosphere of luxury that gives it an instant appeal to those desiring some land more speed in a passenger conversion.

It has at this rate in a pleasant drive from the rear quarter down to the front door the smoothness of a single state adds a fragrant note of smoothness. The windshield of the Victoria is of safety glass.

It is contoured to fit the body of the Victoria.

Under the terms of the agreement between the People's State Bank and Inkster Bank, the People's State Bank will receive compensation on the stock until its assets have been fully liquidated and the obligation to the bank and its creditors have provided a sufficient fund to insure the full value of the assets which are being transferred.
