

WESTERN TOUR DESCRIBED BY DR. WICKHAM

Five Weeks Trip To Pacific Coast Proves To Be Thrilling

(From the Spectroscope of the East-Lawn Sagatorian)

After five weeks of touring throughout the southwestern states, through fog, rain, snow, sleet, sunshine, mud roads and paved highways, mountains and the old west, Dr. Wickham, his wife, his daughter Lucille, and Mrs. Theodore Gendreau, returned home last week tired but happy over the most interesting trip of their lives.

After two weeks of preparation, Dr. Wickham is telling of the journey to the Pacific coast. The party left Northville, Michigan, for our first destination, Chicago, where we were to visit our friends and relatives. Although our start was made in a car which had been in the shop for some time, we reached our first destination, Chicago, in a few days.

From here we went on through the Ozark mountains where we encountered one of the most severe snowstorms we had ever seen. Fortunately, a new machine, equipped with 12 miles of tread, got through this district so we were spared the difficulty of traveling in the sand and gravel roads formerly running through there.

Through the Ozarks and across the borders of three states we went on to the great city of St. Louis. From here we went on to the great city of St. Louis. From here we went on to the great city of St. Louis. From here we went on to the great city of St. Louis.

Then we returned on step-downing back to St. Louis. We traveled through St. Louis, Houston, and Galveston. Here we saw the magnificent Carlsbad Cavern, one of the most stupendous sights in America.

Instead of retracing our course through the Ozark mountains, we took the Old Spanish Mission Trail to New Orleans. At one point we were nearly forced to abandon our car, the roads were so muddy. But after waiting for a few days we managed to get through.

New Orleans is a charming old world town which still retains many of the customs and traditions of the early Spanish and French inhabitants. Here we visited many spots of historical interest. One of the high lights of the entire trip was our visit to the old and beautiful New Orleans where thousands upon thousands of birds find refuge.

Then up the Mississippi river we went. Across the great mile bridge, the Chain Bridge, the great Mississippi we reached Detroit on January 8, after having driven 5000 miles by motor and 2000 miles by train on a tour that would have been impossible in any other way.

EDITORIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

It is with a deep sense of humility and gratitude that the "new editor" of The Northville Record takes over this splendid newspaper. We are humble because we realize that it is going to be a genuine task to even attempt to follow such a worthy line of publishers as Elton R. Eaton, E. E. Brown and Frank S. Neal. We are grateful for the privilege of coming to such an ideal place as Northville and for the opportunity to serve a progressive community with such an outstanding newspaper as The Record.

It is easy to promise and often hard to fulfill. Hence we are loath to say what we even hope to do as the publisher of this newspaper. Mistakes we shall make—there is inevitable—but there are three things that down deep in our hearts we shall try to do. We shall endeavor to be fair, friendly and progressive.

This is not our newspaper—it is yours and we know that in the spirit of co-operation and loyalty to each other we can count on the support and sympathy of the entire constituency of The Record. It will take time to meet and know you all but at the very earliest possible time we hope to be in full touch with your town and surrounding county.

We are under deep obligation to Mr. and Mrs. Eaton and their son Sterling for the remarkable help they have given us in getting started here. For some weeks it will be necessary to continue the printing of the paper at Plymouth and, therefore, we shall have to ask your patience and forbearance until we are again completely organized in our own plant. Every effort is being made to get new machinery in operation and to get the new personnel familiar with its work. In a few weeks The Record will be one of the best equipped plants of its kind in Michigan—and even nearby states—and with your constant help we hope to produce a newspaper that will be a credit to Northville.

We invite all our readers to come in and get acquainted. The latchstring will always be out for all. We are here to serve you and we know that we shall be friends and work together for our community.

—Richard T. Baldwin

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

There are some folks in Northville that we shall not soon forget. They are the ones who have gone out of their way to make it pleasant for the new comers. Only those who have moved around to new homes can appreciate the deep impression made by one's first contacts in a new town. A kindly courtesy in these first days means a lot more than the giver can realize. We won't tell you even who did this, but here was a typical kindness that touched us. A resident here, seeing us start out from the office late one night last week, stopped by the curb and offered to take us to our room. Now who could fail to feel better after that? Life after all, is pretty much sentiment. If the boy says, "do a good turn each day," how many more should grow men and women do.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD

No need to tell any one that we have been having a depression—a "soft" word for "hard times." Jobs have been lost, homes have been given up, life's savings have been wiped out overnight and by bitter degrees of slowness. Thousands of pitiful stories could be told of the way many have been hit by the depression. Towns like Northville have not been affected as have been the great industrial centers where nearly everything goes when the "job" goes, but many here have been touched.

But cheer up! It does look as though the road looked a little clearer ahead. The prophets see the gradual return of better times for all. A kind Providence has tempered a rugged Michigan winter to one of near-California softness, so in the same way there will be compensations ahead for all those who have been going through the valley of dark days.

In the meantime, one way to help is for you folks who have money to spend wisely and well. If you have some repair work, have it done now when the work will help some one. If you need a new car, buy it now and put some men to work. If you need something for yourself or for the house—well, read The Northville Record ads. Your dollar hasn't been as big for years as it is right now.

OH, THE LITTLE THINGS

A Chicago haberdasher's business dropped off 40% in one month. He was frantic. So frantic that he asked four or five of his best customers what was wrong with him. They all told him nothing was wrong with him, but that if he couldn't do something to keep his door from sticking when they tried to open it, they too would deal somewhere else.

Then there was the hotel, with perfect appointments and service, that kept on making its guests unhappy. The answer to the difficulty popped out during a convention when a committee of hard-boiled delegates braced the management to stop the city hall clock during the convention—the bong of that clock every quarter-hour, half-hour and hour shook every bed in the hotel.

Little things are easy to discover—all we need is the curiosity to ask a few customers.—Double Dollars

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

If 1930 lost money for us, whether it was "our own fault" or the fault of "conditions"—it will do no good to fret about it or carry a grudge against the world on account of it. That it was a hard year, most of us know by bitter personal experience, but that the coming year is certain to be brighter, by contrast with the darkness of 1930, we are also certain. For bad times are like boom times, in one respect—they cannot last forever.

Railroad automobile factories, and shops are taking on large crews during the past few days. The surplus of manufactured things is used up, if one may judge from government reports that drift to our desk from week to week. Money markets are easy for those who have sound business to promote. Everything is favorable to a sane and reasonable return in all legitimate lines.

Architects and finance companies say that building operations will be up to normal with the coming of construction weather. Farm experts assert that 1931 holds a golden promise as a result of the inevitable weeding out of surplus stock due to conditions of the past year. Retail merchants are noting a modest picking-up of business in the past "after-holiday" season.

Boom times are like an illness and the resultant fever must run its course to pass and the fever has run its course. Now, a bit of nursing along during the convalescent period, and we shall see healthy times once more.

Everything points to a good year in 1931. And that is why the opening words of this editorial should bring us cheer.—Lemont (Ill.) Optimist-News.

INDUSTRY AT HOME

The growing tendency of industrial communities to progress by growth from within rather than by increase from without is attested by the Department of Manufacture of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which is making a study of the subject.

Manufacturers are discovering that desirable results can be more easily obtained by working together than by working singly. New England, facing the competition of newer sections, appears to have taken the lead in this practice. It is developing it under the formidable title of "manufacturers' cooperative research." Common problems—labor supply, employment, transportation, materials—are thrashed out by industries working together. By taking counsel together, employes of one industry during a slack season may be transferred to another industry in full blast. In some cases one industry has loaned its skilled employes for a certain length of time to other industries temporarily in need of them. In others standard practices are agreed upon.

All of this works not only to the advantage of the industries but also to the advantage of the community itself.

Take Latin Out

Prof. George H. Carrothers, of the University of Michigan School of Education and director of the Division of the University Inspection of High Schools, advocates the omission of all foreign languages from the course of study in the smaller high schools and the substitution of health and vocational instruction in their place. He says that the need of the people is to have the pupils' "Training of Carrothers, who advocates the omission of all foreign languages from the course of study in the smaller high schools and the substitution of health and vocational instruction in their place."

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

An Unfortunate Entry

Politics usually is a messy thing, chiefly because it causes do not make sufficient interest in their problems of government, or in the proper administration of various offices, one can get into a mess of authority. It is particularly unfortunate, for this reason, that a man who enters into politics is not a man having a mind to shut out a present opponent to cooperation in the future. It is a pity that he is not sufficiently discriminatory to know that the path which is the new spirit of which is the incumbent, if then enters are advised.

We now have a member of the school board who has to offer, and who when two men named Winford ran for school board inspector, one of them being an efficient incumbent of the job. Their vote was split and Winford slipped into office.

Now we have John H. Webster, Jr., president of the board of education, in the office of educational matters, a man who, time and again, has proved his grasp of and capable interest in the proper development of Detroit's school system, about to be faced in election primaries by a negro, named James A. Webster.

This negro, James A. Webster, is a candidate for the state to represent his race on the board. He quit school after the eighth grade. What he should seek no doubt, is a janitorship at one of the lower east side schools, where he can probably fit his abilities to the job and still serve his race.

But an election law which would permit their names to go on the ballot without designating the present board member is silly, if not vicious.—Redford Record

Death's Highway

Just what can be done about it, we don't know, but we do know that US-16 from Portland to Grand Rapids is the most dangerous road in the state, and that it is the cause of many accidents and deaths that occur on it. Most of them are caused by speeding and, in places that are long stretches of country road, with no towns to check up on drivers, creates these conditions. We are sure to have the same condition on M-21 when it is opened up for through traffic. Hiram Johnson in Saranac Advertiser

Income Tax

The Republican News is not the only one who is not satisfied with the present plan of the state income tax proposal. Thus, our contemporary, the Charlotte Republican-Tribune, says:

Upon the point, however, this paper has always felt the justification to be adamant. On the ground that, voting a state income tax would only place in the hands of the legislature additional funds for further expenditure, not to say extravagance, the Republican News opposes an income tax unless accompanied with an iron-clad guarantee that its proceeds shall only be used to reduce state property taxes. And this guarantee can only be given by a fixed percentage limit, beyond which the sum total of all state taxation shall not pass.

In discussions with others, this paper has clung tenaciously to that contention. And so far it has been unable to show any slight demonstration that shows our fears to be groundless or to bring forth a more efficacious plan to prevent the misuse of the tax. And, at that, we are not sure that even our proposal might not be dodged.

At this time, for imperative reduction of expenses, it is not amiss to reiterate another contention heretofore advanced by the Republican News: A legislator—state, county, or municipal—who votes for an appropriation that just now can be possibly done without, is a public enemy.—St. Ignace Republican-News

BIT OF EARLY AID PROVES OF VAST BENEFIT TO LOVERS OF GARDEN WORK

A hotbed is necessary for a complete garden. Plants can be started early and the vegetables be ready for the table two or three weeks earlier than if seed were planted in the open. In short season sections the hotbed will enable the gardener to grow plants that other wise could not mature before fall frosts. Tomato, pepper, celery, egg plant, cauliflower, melons, etc., are the plants most commonly started in the hotbed. Many of the ornamental flowering plants can also be started in this way. The size of the hotbed will be governed by the size of the garden or number of plants wanted. A hotbed is not expensive or difficult to make. Regular hotbed sash is 3 1/2 feet and the frame can be built for one or more. In sections where storm windows are used, the frame can be made to fit one of the storm sashes. It will serve a double purpose if taken down in little early and used to cover the hotbed. Locate the bed in a warm, sunny convenient place.

The permanent hotbed is made by digging a pit in the ground two feet deep, one foot wide and as long as desired. The bottom of the pit should be lined with straw or manure. The sides should be lined with earth or manure. The top should be covered with a frame of boards or planks. The frame should be built so that it can be raised or lowered as desired. The hotbed should be filled with soil and manure. The soil should be well tamped down. The hotbed should be covered with a layer of straw or manure. The hotbed should be covered with a layer of earth or manure. The hotbed should be covered with a layer of straw or manure.

If dairy cows are kept in the stable during the winter, they should be watered two or three times a day. If drinking vessels should be kept in the stable so the cows can drink whenever they want. Give them good water. Give them good water. Give them good water.

gills. Have it two feet above the ground on one side and 18 inches on the other to allow slope for drainage of snows or rain. Make a permanent frame of good lumber or better. Set cement. Have sides and ends tight to prevent air drafts. This pit is to be filled with fresh horse manure that does not contain too much straw. The manure should be properly prepared by picking it over two or three times to make sure heating starts uniformly, after which it should be solidly tamped. The pit and covered with four inches of good garden soil. The top surface will run exactly high for a week and it is unsafe to plant seed within this time. Temperature is very important and must be carefully watched. Regular proper ventilation secured by raising the sash on the side opposite the wind. Keep the temperature as near 65 degrees F. as possible. Too high a temperature as likely to result in plants rotting off at the ground line. There must be sufficient moisture at all times, but soil should not be kept too moist.

The temporary hotbed serves the same purposes, but is constructed differently. The fresh horse manure is prepared in the same way but instead of being put in a pit, it is made into a flat pile two feet deep on top of the ground. It should be thoroughly tamped down. It ought to be two feet high on all sides than the frame. Build the frame on top of the manure to fit the sash. Sloping the six inch slope for drainage as in the permanent bed. After the frame is in place put in four inches of fine garden soil. This temporary hotbed can be put wherever desired each year. After it is made the care is the same as for permanent beds. It is best to run the row in line with the six foot side with four to six inches between rows. Use a six-inch board a little less than six feet long and with a thin piece of wood make a mark along one side to plant in. Cover the seed shallow and firm the soil. Be careful not to sow the seed too thick. Good sized strong plants should be ready to be set out in the garden by the time the soil has warmed up enough to insure plant growth and the dangers of late frosts are past. The time between planting in the hotbed and getting out in the garden will usually be from six weeks to two months, varying of course with different kinds of vegetables. This means that the hotbed should be made about nine weeks before the earliest time for field planting.

West Point Park

Mary Jane Junod of Northville and Olive Hudson of Milford were weekend visitors of Ernestine and Lucille Wolfe.

The church Sunday was well attended and we heard a good illustration of the Eighteenth amendment and a statement was given from the Presbyterian Administrative committee that was satisfactory to all present.

It was with a feeling of great disappointment that we experienced the arrival of the Northville Record and read the announcement that we were about to lose the editor, Mr. Eaton, of the Northville Record, also Mrs. Eaton. It is hard to part with friends whom you know them to be good and true and all friends in West Point Park wish them success wherever they go.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Travis were visitors Friday with their daughter, Mrs. Warren Lumbard in Plymouth.

The eighth grade pupils in Pierson school have completed their Science table.

Miss Lucile Coolman has returned to her home in Detroit after a few days pleasantly spent with her cousin, Virginia Coolman.

Wednesday evening the officers and Sunday school teachers of the church met in the community hall. Rev. John Adams, pastor of the church was present and led the meeting with singing and prayer. Mr. Robert Fredericks was chosen for superintendent of the Sabbath school for the place of Mrs. J. J. Gillen, who could not attend regularly and expects to move with his family to Lansing in the spring. We are all sorry to lose our church members.

Vaccination for fear of smallpox is the advice of school nurses' constantly there are a number of boys and girls, nursing very sore arms. A number have not been able to attend school.

The Ladies Community club met at the home of Mrs. William Zwickler Wednesday afternoon with our new officers appointed for the year and we fully expect a successful year. A number joined the society that have moved into the district lately.

Harry Wolfe, Sr., has been quite ill with a very bad cold.

Our Father and Sons banquet will be held on the twentieth. The preparations for a first class one is being discussed by the ladies of West Point Park. The program will be a good one and local talent will also take a part. The Father's day will be enjoyed. Get your tickets before they are all sold.

Allent Albrecht is slowly recovering after a severe attack of bronchitis.

Mrs. Russell Ault is still in the Northville sanatorium. She is improving and coming strength. Grandma Ault is taking good care of her two little girls.

Miss Matt Hamilton has returned to town city to assist in taking care of her father who is very sick.

Miss Mrs. Lora Gustafson from Portland, Oregon who came to visit the latter's sister, Mrs. Clinton Ault will not return but will move to the town for the present.

A strong impression is being made on the church and community hall in West Point Park. There is a separate division, the hall starts coming up, it does everyone into the church. The boys game down is the community hall where amusement games, amusements and business meetings are held. We have entertained a great many fine people and are glad to have anyone visit us. So far everything has been respectable. We welcome you to our church and hall, to any one of our services or entertainments and give a special invitation to our Father and Sons banquet on the twentieth.

The Parent Teachers association met in the community hall Thursday evening. The business meeting was led by Mrs. Hannah Ault, president of the P. T. A. The speakers for the evening were Mrs. Fish from Detroit who gave a splendid talk on Health, Mrs. Stringer from Redford gave a good talk to the parents. The birthday cake was then brought in by some of the high school girls. It was very fine, and tempting looking representing the thirty-fourth year since the origination of the P. T. A. The cake was distributed among those present.

Indications that Demonstration Hall would be too small for the evening which caused the erection of temporary bleachers in the afternoon and preparations to seat 10,000 people were made. Visitors already in the Hall for the afternoon program sent one of their party out to bring in a lunch while the rest held seats for the party. ### Take a Week, or a Week-End, and Enjoy Michigan Winter Sports

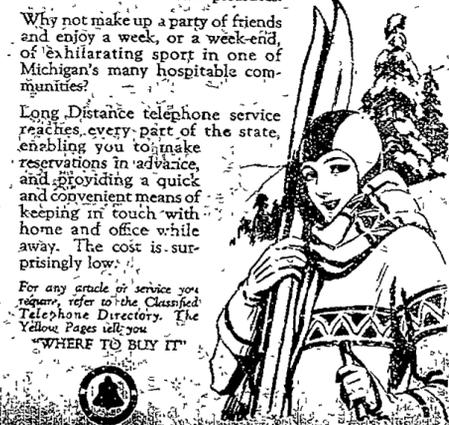

Our state provides unexcelled facilities for the enjoyment of outdoor winter sports. It is not necessary to seek them outside of Michigan.

Tobogganing... skating and ice-boating on thousands of lakes... hockey... hunting... fishing through the ice... old-fashioned sleigh rides under starlit evening skies... every section of the state offers zestful winter pleasures.

Why not make up a party of friends and enjoy a week, or a week-end, of exhilarating sport in one of Michigan's many hospitable communities?

Long Distance telephone service reaches every part of the state, enabling you to make reservations in advance, and providing a quick and convenient means of keeping in touch with home and office while away. The cost is surprisingly low.

time scheduled for the commencement of the program, found the doors closed and the building so jammed with people that there was no possibility of admitting any more.

While College officials were busy to find that the people of the state showed such intense interest in the week's events, they sincerely regretted the necessity of disappointing thousands and plans are already under way to have duplicate programs if necessary to care for future crowds.

The laborer is worthy of his hire and so is a service industry. To put the lines on a par with other competitive transportation agencies, to treat them fairly in matters of legislation and taxation, to adjust rates to conditions—that is the only part of wisdom. Railroad entrenchment is a blow to progress and a detriment to every community.

an Open letter to Buick owners

Dear Buick Owner: Because of its importance, we decided to inform you now that the present line of 1931 Buick Straight Eights will not be replaced by new models this summer. Buick, as you know, has introduced its new cars on August 1st, year after year. But inasmuch as these new Straight Eight models have met with such spontaneous approval by thousands everywhere, Buick has decided to continue manufacturing the present Eights throughout the summer and coming fall. This is mighty good news to thousands of Buick owners because they will buy new Buicks now with the knowledge that there will be no model changes next summer. They will find in these new Buicks a degree of performance that is certain to give them a genuine thrill. All have the safe, silent-shift Synchro-Mesh transmission. All have Valve-in-Head Straight Eight engines. And all have the famous insulated Bodies by Fisher. So well has the 1931 line been received that, out of every 100 eights sold in Buick's price class, 56 are Buicks. May we suggest that you drive the Eight as Buick Builds It? Your Buick dealer will be glad to have you take the wheel and learn at first hand how much Buick Straight Eight performance adds to the joy of motoring. Very truly yours, BUICK MOTOR COMPANY, FLINT, MICH.

The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive Low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation mean a distinct saving to every purchaser. THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life. There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner... low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation. During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive. The reasons for this economy are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, the new Ford is an outstanding example of fine craftsmanship in automobile engineering. The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price. THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN LOW PRICES OF FORD CARS $430 to $630 F. O. E. Detroit, plus freight and delivery.
