GOOD WILL FOR NORTHVILLE

Now that the "new editor" of The Record is no longer new but a real resident here, may we say this? Here it is:

This newspaper knows no finer challenge than the task of helping bring about a new era of good will in this splendid community. If there is any deep seated hope, any worth-while ambition, as we start our life here in Northville it is, that we may have some constructive part in bringing about a united spirit so that we may accomplish for our community and ourselves what we ought to achieve.

We have a profound belief, backed by the experiences of some years in different localities, that when men and women (and even boys and girls) are moved by a spirit of good will they can literally accomplish wonders. On the other hand, when there is ill will around, when back-biting and a spirit of revenge are let loose, the amount of destruction that can be done is sad to behold.

Now that our election is over, it seems to this newspaper that Northville faces one of the finest opportunities of any town in Michigan to "go ahead." We have purposely learned little of the "inside" of the community family troubles that have carried the name of our town into the front pages of the newspapers. We didn't want to know too much. We should rather believe good of every man—no matter on which "side of the fence"—than to hear mean things about what he was, or what he had done. We like to believe in folks—no matter even if we think we could criticize some of their actions according to our standards. Now, however, how fine it would be if every one could forget all the differences that we have had and just resolve to go ahead with a united front. And frankly, we think we detect a spirit around town that we are going to start a new era of good will in our community affairs. If every one will do his or her part to arouse this spirit, Northville will become a town where more and more people will want to come to live.

So, with the past forgotten, let us all say, "Forward with Northville!"

NOT ENOUGH CLOTHES

"Guilty as charged."

We average men are a "shabby lot." We have to admit it. The other day the Michigan Retail Clothiers and Furnishers association met at Detroit and one of the speakers said that the "average man" owns but two suits of clothes when he should have five or six.

Check up, you men folks—if you have three suits you are "style conscious" and above the average. If you have four suits you are a plutocrat.

In the meantime now is a good time to buy a suit of clothes—they are cheaper than a year or so ago. We don't know how many neckties you need or how your supply of socks is. We do know this: You make a better impression if you keep your clothes pressed and your shoes shined—remember Abraham Lincoln polished his own.

WHERE DO DREAMS COME FROM?

Quite often we dream—and after every dream we just wonder where dreams come from.

Take Thursday night. We had had a particularly hard day in getting out the paper but had the relaxation in the evening of going with Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Cochran to the pancake supper at Salem, put on by the Congregational ladies. It was a pancake triumph. Then we came to The Record office and worked for awhile. Thence home, to listen to some wonderful Irish songs over the radio, while we tried to catch up on a little reading. Then to bed at 11 o'clock.

Then that dream. It was a mixed-up "mess." We had never done it before but there we were, trying to speak to a radio audience. But everything went wrong. First, we were late getting to the station and in front of that " mike " staring us so vividly in the face. Then we looked down and saw that we were attired (is that the word?) in our pajamas. Horrors! Then the microphone seemed to fall into pieces as we dreamed on and vainly tried to keep it together. We couldn't talk or even stutter and the microphone finally fell at our feet in bits.

Then to wake up and look out on one of Michigan's most glorious mornings. And to wonder once more: Where do dreams come from? Well you are probably saying it this time: Just don't eat so many pancakes and so many sausages, done country style. But what can one do when one's host eats twice as many and much as you do?

DESERT MOONLIGHT

Here was a strange coincidence. Thursday evening we were talking out at Salem to some one who had lived in California and we got to discussing what a glorious sight desert moonlight is. "Up at 'Big Bear' (a California mountain resort) one night there were so many million stars and they seemed to come down and touch me on the head," said our friend to us.

Then we came home late and picked up the paper we used to publish at Upland, Calif., and on the front page, in a feature story, we found this:

"Right now, moonlight on the desert is beyond man's puny powers of description."

Major Elton R. Eaton and his gracious wife, former Record folks, are now out in California, seeing all its glories. We just got to wishing that for a few minutes at least we could jump over the 2,800 miles or so to that glorious Southland and wait for night to come and see the stars come out. That is a sight that one will long remember.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT A CITIZEN OF ETERNITY

(Geo. R. Averill in Birmingham Eccentric)

Whatever may befall us, we pray that there will abide with us the will to desire to stoop over and pick up the broken fragments of any shattered dream; and smilingly, hopefully, patiently, seek to rebuild it.

May we ever be tolerant of unavoidable delay, knowing that in the fullness of time, all good that we deserve shall come to us. Finally, may we ever be obedient to those high moral impulses that surge through most of us, realizing that we are not the children of any single moment—but the citizens of Eternity.

When one lives for a long time in one community, one is inclined to be very desirous of retaining his good name, when one moves, about, from place to place, staying but a little while, the urge to keep his name unblemished is not always so strong; that's why we suggest that you recognize your life as an eternal reality—that you are a citizen of Eternity, whose good name must be kept good forever.

WOODSHED VS. GARAGE

(Wm. Cansfield in Livingston County Republican, Howell)

The crime wave of today, had its inception in the day when the woodshed gave way to the garage. Many problems previously settled in this home court of no appeal, finds in the modern garage, no fit companion for the realms of character building. The character moulding influences aided generally with the razor strap, shingle or swarthy palm finds no counter part in the sanctity of the household garage. This in brief is what Capt. William I. Cross, Director of Michigan's State Police Training School is telling Michigan people in a series of talks. These talks have been regarded very seriously. Commenting on Capt. Cross' idea we note the following:

"Capt. Cross has made the startling statement that if present tendencies continue, the crop of criminals in 1940 will come from children now seven years old. This is a statement to terrify the hearts of parents. The law breakers, the robbers, the bandits, the murderers, perhaps, of a decade hence, are now the innocents! This is something to think about."

HOW TO KILL FIVE BIRDS WITH ONE STONE

(La Grange, Ind. Standard)

The story is told of five men who sat around a table. Number one took a ten dollar bill from his wallet and paid number two a long standing debt. Number three reminded his neighbor of a debt and the bill was passed on from two to three to apply on account. Number three recalled that he owed number four and he passed the bill over to take up the old account. Number four, chanced to owe number five and the bill came into possession of the latter. Number five had for some time been postponing payment of an obligation to number one and he took advantage of having the ten dollar bill to pay the old debt and the ten dollar bill found its way back into the wallet whence it had emerged. In the meantime fifty dollars worth of annoying debts had been settled.

The story is perhaps a little crude but it applies aptly to the situation now being experienced. Every man who fails to pay, when he can pay, is unjustifiably holding up the current of business and is aggravating the bad situation. It is said that there is just as much money in the United States now as at any time but it is not changing hands fast enough to make conditions right. It will help if those who can pay, will speed up the passing about the circle of ten dollar bills.

THE SPRING MUSE AWAKES!

With the coming of soft spring breezes, sentiment and poetry seem to come to the surface of human feelings. One of our readers modestly suggests that he (or she) would like to be "greatly honored" to find the following verses printed in the paper. The Record is your paper and welcomes any reflections of its readers.

TELL ME WHY, when skies are blue, Hearts are light and songs ring true Tell me why, when hearts are free Those skies cry forth, find company Tell me why, from time unknown, The awakening buds call forth a tune Tell me why that song of love Swells up from earth to heav'n above Tell me how this marvelous life May purer be, more free from strife Show me how, these dull dark days, To see the blue behind the grays

CLASS PROJECTS

The Industrial Geography class are still drawing maps of the United States and placing on them designs, representing the average rainfall, irrigated land, and the forests of the country.

The twelfth grade girls of the sewing class are working on their graduation dresses. They are supposed to make the dress as inexpensively and as attractive as possible.

The seventh and eighth grades are having oral book reports.
The eleventh grade French class have a new translation French book.

DID YOU NOTICE?

The new magazine rack in the library?

The seniors enjoying snowball fights the same as the freshmen?

How many girls have had their hair bobbed?

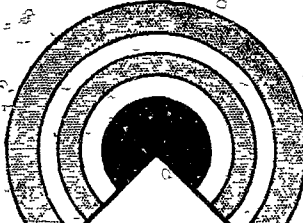

Eleanor Neslund looking older? She had a birthday last week.

The junior boys proud looks? They actually beat the seniors in a basketball game.

Ward Van Atta's green sweater? Probably it is his Irish spirit celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

How the new curtains have improved the looks of the stage?

Everyone hurriedly leave the building one day last week? We were having a fire drill.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

With the basketball season now over, let us again consider the games the team has played.

Walled Lake: The first game of the season was practice. Northville found that Walled Lake had more experience for so early in the season and were defeated 17-4. Tuttle, the right forward made 12 points for Walled Lake. The second team lost 5-8.

Chelsea: Northville won. The first team score was 23-17 but the second team won by two points, the score being 13-11.

Alummi: Northville took the Alummi by surprise and beat a squad composed of over twenty good, but a bit unorganized, former Northville athletes. The score was 27-21.

Tramington School: Again the team won. This time both games, the first team had a score of 23-5 and the second team's score was 19-11. Shortly before this the Tramington school had crushed Plymouth.

Plymouth: With this in mind we went on the Plymouth floor with real spirit and won the game by two points. It was a very even game, and although Plymouth had the ball a little more often, they failed to score as often.

Dusenbury took the game when he made a basket in the last minute, to break a tie of fourteen. The second team was defeated 19-13.

Wayne: In this game, Northville started their slump and lost with a score of 17-5. The second team lost 10-16. Greenlee made the only field shot of the game.

Chelsea: In this second game we were defeated. The score was 39-21. Holmes, the Chelsea right forward made sixteen points in the second half. Alex Johnson made eight points at guard and played a very good game.

Dearborn: Here the slump broke, although we met defeat. The score was 15-25. The team work and spirit were both much better, however. The second team lost with a score of 9-15.

Farmington: Northville played real basketball; so did Farmington. We won both games by one point. The first team score was 19-18 and the second team 13-12. Dusenbury scored nine points on the second team.

Detroit Country Day school: The game started out very one sided and was as high as 17-1 in favor of Northville. In the second half the Country Day school came to life and brought their score up to 23, the final score being 23-23. Charles Dusenbury, shooting chiefly from the left corner, made 15 points. The second team also won with a score of 12-7.

Belle Isle: Northville lost the last game of the season on a foul shot with less than fifteen seconds to play. In the last minute Dusenbury had brought the tie to fourteen after making two foul shots. Willet, the left guard, took the game. The second team won, however, by a score of 26-8. Robinson made twelve points at center.

University High: Northville lost this tournament game to a school which outlasted them by far. The score of the game was 13-33. This defeat put Northville out of the tournament and ended the season.

Results of the Season (not League).
Played 13.
Won 5.
Lost 7.

The Lincoln Park game which was protested by Northville was thrown out as "no contest" by a league meeting.

CEMENT ON THE FARM

By M. E. Moret

This is an age of cement as all the building contractors will tell you. All the modern highways are being reconstructed with cement of concrete. It is being used in all classes of buildings and artificial stone work. It is as fire-proof as metal or rock and when mixed in proper proportions and good sand or gravel is "much harder" to break up with a stone hammer than many building boulders.

It is that I would like to commend the fire proof possibilities and the future of cement in farm building construction. It can be used in many plans of barns and dwelling houses of new plans and those that are now most common where a barn is a cement wall up to about 8 or 10 feet and the remainder of the usual frame work. This answers as a fire proof wall built up higher than an ordinary fire would reach.

The country is sometimes bothered with lightning and the grass or crops catching fire and when burning around a valuable building could be guarded off by such a fire proof wall as I have described.

I would like to suggest a plan for a fire-proof stable of cement of my own. I once chanced to see one on the same order excepting that brick was used and I don't suppose there is another like it. Brick would crumble in a fire and my suggestion would be to use cement in the place of brick.

When I went into this barn I complimented the farmer on the nice way he was trying to keep his horse barn warm by bricking up the stall part. He did not seem to like it, and it was not until another man was fired out from his employ that I learned that this farmer had burned out once and lost all he had and this was his attempt to build a fire proof wall for his horse barn. Here is the plan described.

The stall section was on an outside corner, set in like a big corner stone in a wooden building, small girders or railroad iron being placed overhead and the four partitions constructed of the fire proof bricks made it seem something like a big boiler furnace. But the difference between this and a furnace was that the fire was to stay on the outside, at least long enough to rescue the horses.

SENIOR REVIEW

There has been much discussion pro and con concerning Senior review. Some feel it is a wise thing to have, others oppose it, while some are indifferent.

But one thing we can be sure of. This subject would not have been introduced if it had been of no value. Neither a teacher's nor a student's time would be wasted by a study of no importance.

What are the benefits of Senior review? They are many. Take arithmetic for example. Some seniors have had commercial arithmetic while others have had nothing in that line since they were in the grades. It is surprising how much one forgets in a few years. In later years, it certainly will be embarrassing to be unable to help an eighth-grader with his arithmetic.

Here is where senior review enters in. By reviewing the principles of arithmetic one recalls to mind the facts which once they were so familiar with.

But not only in arithmetic is review helpful. It is also helpful in algebra, English, history and all the other school subjects.

This is a new course in our high school. It really isn't fair to criticize it until some of the results are known.

MUSIC NOTES

A girls' quartette, composed of Hester Keller, Marie Lemmon, Marion Turnbull and Myrtle Lemmon sang at a St. Patrick's Day banquet in the Baptist church, Tuesday evening. They sang "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Pais Moon."

The boys' quartet journeyed to Pontiac Tuesday evening where they sang at an "A. and P. Grocery Store Manager's convention." This is the third out of town engagement the boys have had this semester. All together they have made about fifteen public appearances.

STUDENT COUNCIL NOTES

The Student Council met Wednesday of last week to discuss several matters.

After the meeting was called, Francis Sprenger, chairman of the Annual committee, reported on those who are in favor of putting advertisements or compliments in this year's annual. He reported that about twenty business men were in favor of the proposed plan. At this meeting a price was also set for baseball with children's tickets at 25c and adults at 35c. The meeting was then adjourned.

last week.

The high spots of our past basketball season was the fact that we defeated Plymouth and Farmington, our closest rivals.

GRADE NOTES

In Miss Reinke's room the students had a debate. Resolved: Lincoln did more for his country than Washington.

Affirmative: Nancy McLoughlin, Edwina Gerould, Alice Eaton.
Negative: Marjorie Chase, Nelson Hauver, Jean Robinson.

The judges voted in favor of the negative, but the students voted for the affirmative.

The fifth grade people of Miss Reinke's room are having an exhibit on Japanese and Chinese articles.

The kindergarten people visited Jones' greenhouse Friday.

The kindergarten people worked on an experiment last Tuesday. They watched snow dissolve into water.

James Harper and Anthony Bonavanni are absent from school, they have scarlet fever.

FIRE DRILL

The high school has some new rules for fire drills. They are as follows: Regular Fire Drill, 1 long ring; Stairway blocked, 2 short rings; Get coats and hats, 1 long and 1 short ring.

The students are expected to cooperate with this new system of rings, by walking fast, not running or jay walking, no talking or yelling, single files, and the first one to any door is expected to stand and hold it open to allow the others to pass out.

AT THE THEATRE

"MILLIE"

Six young featured players who have recently been acclaimed for their brilliant work in recent talking pictures, comprise the cast assembled by Charles R. Rogers for his production of "Millie," for Radio Pictures, which will show Sunday, March 22, at the Penniman Allen theatre.

Helen Twelvrees, chosen to play "Millie," has assured herself of a place among the stars with her performances in "Her Man" and "The Cat Creeps."

Lillian Plashman, who created such a sensation in "Gold Diggers of Broadway," and just recently in "One Heavenly Night" with Evelyn Laye, will be seen as "Helen."

Robert Ames was one of the outstanding hits of the year's biggest pictures "The Trespasser," with Gloria Swanson and "Holiday," with Ann Harding.

Joan Blondell brought herself very much to the attention of admiring audiences in "The Office Wife," while John Halliday's most recent success is the featured role in "Captain Applejack."

James Hall, whose name completes the featured members of the cast, added "new laurels" to his already outstanding career with his performance in "Hell's Angels" and in the comedy "Maybe It's Love."

"Millie" was adapted from Donald Henderson Clarke's sensational best-selling novel of the same title.

"NOT EXACTLY GENTLEMEN"

To the quite formidable list of youthful and handsome juvenile actors under contract to Fox Films and the name of David Worth, a new and striking personality who plays the leading juvenile role in "Not Exactly Gentlemen," a Fox Movietone production directed by Benjamin Stoloff and featuring Victor McLaglen, with Fay Wray and Lew Cody heading the supporting cast. Worth, who is a new screen name for the young man, came to the screen from the stage and it is predicted he will go far in his new line of endeavor.

"Not Exactly Gentlemen," based on a story by Herman Whitaker, "Over The Border," will show at the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday, February 25.

Home Maker's Corner

One of the rewards of being an editor's wife is the joy of authorship. Many a woman has cherished a secret longing to write but has been "turned down" with brutal abruptness by cold hearted publishers. Not so the editor's wife. Dinner might not be forth coming!

And so in this corner of the paper "Mrs. Editor" proposes to edit a small space for the discussion of those things of interest to her fellow-women. As our Quaker great-grandmother used to act "as the spirit moved" so will this corner be edited by the mood of the hour.

Of course we will welcome suggestions and contributions from other women of Northville. This corner will be just for "us women."

Right now we are all enthusiastic for gardening, stirred by a visit to the flower show in Detroit. What a pleasant surprise to step from a cold March show storm into sudden summerland where the air was filled with the fragrance of flowers. But it was not the prize blossoms of enormous size or rare coloring that "took our eye" but those fascinating glimpses into corners of real gardens where a green lawn was crossed by a winding flag stone path which led to an inviting

Its central figures are three bad men hunted and with a price on their heads who have many thrilling encounters and brushes with the law and join forces to participate in the stirring Dakota land rush.

The three bad men are, respectively, Victor McLaglen as "Bull Stanley," Lew Cody as "Ace Beaudry" and Eddie Gribbon as "Bronco Dawson."

The picture marks the return to screen activity of Robert Warwick and Franklyn Farnum, fan favorites of a decade ago. Three of the prettiest young feminine players in filmland, Joyce Compton, Louise Huntington, and Carol Wings are also in the supporting cast.

"GIRLS DEMAND EXCITEMENT"

When a co-ed starts to get her man she generally succeeds.

This is amply proven in the Fox Movietone production, "Girls Demand Excitement," directed by Seymour Felix and featuring John Wayne, Virginia Cherrill and Marguerite Churchill which will be presented at the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, March 28.

In this screen play of collegiate life, Wayne is the leader of the male group of students out to eliminate co-eds from their school.

The leader of the co-eds is Virginia Cherrill and she and Wayne clash periodically.

Virginia joins Wayne's psychology class and offers herself as an experiment about to be conducted to ascertain varying emotional reactions to kissing. Wayne is led to the slaughter and at first the machine registers no reaction but when Virginia cuts loose that S. A. he succumbs and almost breaks the machine.

"Girls Demand Excitement" is based on a story by Harlan Thompson and reaches its high point with a basketball game between girls and boys. For this particular scene, Ad Schaeffer, famous "basketball coach" spent weeks instructing the Fox girls in the technique of the game with the result that he has developed a basketball outfit that has defeated all challengers on the coast.

bench or pergola all covered with winter or rambling roses. In irregular curves—just as Nature would do—flower beds were inclosed with borders of flowers with a background of shrubs and trees to set off their beauty.

And rocks! We were impressed with the frequent use of rocks as the needful touch to complete the picture. Jutting rocks piled fantastically, make such natural niches for ferns and forget-me-nots and all kinds of woodsy flowers to nestle. Here's a secret told by one professional gardener. They use as the foundation just clinkers from the furnace and pour here and there a little cement to hold the mass

The most charming gardens, we noticed, were not the flamboyant type of many colors but those which followed nature most closely—where clumps of flowers were found unexpectedly as at the foot of trees or among rocks. Bird baths, an image of a playing child or of a waterfowl beside a lily pool gave touches of color and life to these gardens.

Gardening is more and more becoming the hobby of folks who find that working in the soil and watching a garden grow yields more than blossoms—better health, steadier nerves and a more kindly outlook on life. Let's plan a garden!

DEATHS

at the age of 75 years at the home, "Doombrake" on "The Base Line" road Sunday, March 15. Mrs. Jackson had been suffering from long illness for nearly two years, having been inactive on account of declining health for a much longer period. Her life spent here in the Northville vicinity was one of quiet retirement but those who came in close contact with her found her to be a character of fine and lovable qualities.

Mrs. Alta Bell Jackson was born in Monroe, Mich., on March 26, 1856. Most of her girlhood was spent in this place. She was married to Geo. H. Jackson on Memorial day, 1874. Four children came to this home, Clarence, who preceded his mother in death and Benton H., Floyd and Goldie Irene, who with their father, survive. Mrs. Jackson was the last of a family of thirteen children. For years before coming to Northville she was a faithful member of the Birmingham Methodist Episcopal church and it was to Birmingham that she was taken for her last resting place after the funeral services which were held Wednesday afternoon at the home near Northville. Rev. Wm. Richards officiated in this service and accompanied the funeral party to Birmingham where interment was made in Crook's cemetery.

Mrs. James Sessions.

Mrs. James Sessions, a life-long citizen of Northville, until two years ago, died at Sessions Hospital here, March 16 after an illness of two weeks with pneumonia.

Lydia Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Clark, was born March 5, 1892 at the family country home one mile north of the Base Line road and here her girlhood was spent. She attended the Northville public schools, where she graduated. Here was begun the romance which culminated in marriage with a school mate, Jas. Sessions, on April 5, 1920. One son, Robert, was born to them and he and his father survive her.

Mrs. Sessions was of a sociable disposition and her home was known for its cordial hospitality. While living in Northville she was an active member of the Methodist church where her interests had been since her early childhood.

For the past two years Mr. and Mrs. Sessions had made their home in Plymouth. Beside this husband and son, Robert, one sister, Mrs. Blanche Noyard and one brother, Bert Clark, of Detroit, survive in her family.

The funeral services were held yesterday (Thursday) afternoon, March 19, at the Schrader funeral parlors in Plymouth with interment in Riverside cemetery. The funeral was in charge of Rev. Wm. Richards of the Northville Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Hazen Werner of Cass avenue Methodist church of Detroit and Rev. F H Lendrum of Plymouth.

Mrs. John Raymond.

Mrs. John Raymond passed away at her home in Northville after an illness with the flu which was followed by scarlet fever. Death came suddenly due to heart complications. It is a comforting fact that her physician as well as her husband and Mrs. Margaret McKillup were present with her at the last.

Elizabeth Jane McKillup was born in Mundur, Penn., October 5, 1895 and came to Northville at the age of fifteen years. She was married in March, 1915, to John Raymond of this city and two children, Gerald and Evelyn, were born to them. Her husband and this son of fourteen and daughter of eleven years are left to miss her care. A kind and loving mother and wife, a good friend to all of her neighbors, Mrs. Raymond was beloved by a large circle of friends. Her sunny disposition and friendliness made her welcome wherever she went. Only recently had she attended the gathering of the Northville club, of which she was a member and those who were present recall her cheerfulness on that occasion. The whole community was shocked by her sudden passing.

The funeral services, owing to quarantine, were conducted in the presence of only the immediate relatives at the home on Monday afternoon, March 16. At the grave a large circle of friends gathered to pay their last respects to a loved one. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment was made in Rural Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Fred Dunlap.

The death of Mrs. Fred Dunlap occurred at her home on Tuxedo street, Detroit last week. Mrs. Dunlap, who was Miss Anne Armstrong, was a cousin of Mrs. F. J. Cochrane and E. S. Beard and her husband is a nephew of Mrs. Anne White. The Dunlap family were among the early residents of our village, one of the streets bearing the name of a pioneer citizen of this family.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at Westminster church and those attending from Northville were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Beard, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cochrane, Mrs. Anne White and Miss Inez Bryan.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Friday, March 19th, the Northville Woman's club had a program of home talent, one of the few this year. Mrs. C. M. Chase gave a review of the book, "Waters Under the Earth" and Mrs. C. H. Bryan a review of the play, "Green Pastures" which was preceded by two Negro spirituals sung by Mrs. Walbur Johnston, accompanied by Mrs. E. F. Lapham. Mrs. John Cleaver reported for the Welfare division of the Federation.

The club received a letter inviting them to Ypsilanti April 1st to a meeting to be held in honor of some of the women of Michigan who have been outstanding in their communities.

This week Capt. Dennison is to tell the club of the women's work at the House of Correction farm. Members are allowed guests.

MRS. ELY SURPRISED

Mrs. Harold Bloom carried out a very successful surprise on her mother, Mrs. Carl Ely, last Thursday, March 12, on the occasion of her birthday. Inviting her mother to accompany her into Detroit, Mrs. Bloom took her to see "East Lynne" and later to dinner. Upon their return to Northville Mrs. Ely was intrigued into paying a call upon her neighbors, the Babbitts and during her absence the guests assembled at the Ely home by arrangement, to await her return.

There were sixteen in the party of friends who came to extend their best wishes to the honored guest and to spend a pleasant evening. A beautiful pot of daffodils and tulips was left as a token of the esteem of her friends.

Be noble. That is more than wealth. Be right. That is more than place. Trust in the spirit that is health. And goodness is power.

Goethe said, "He who is miserably provided for, does not within needs but little from without," and Jesus said, "Greater is the man in you than in that in the world." Take heed and beware of covetousness, for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? What will a man give in exchange for his immortal soul?

Godliness with contentment is great gain.

The altar society was the hostess to an overflow crowd at their St. Patrick's Card Party last Tuesday evening. The committee in charge did splendidly. The patronage is thoroughly appreciated.

Sunday, March 22 is Communion day for all the laity of the parish. In speaking of prohibition too many think of it as a thing they forget that there is another prohibition direct from God Himself. This is against the all too prevalent and deadly practice of gossip. Add together the possible abuses of cards, dancing, smoking, drinking, joy-riding, theatres etc. and the crime of gossip (tale-bearing) as well as false accusations about equals them all. As a test make yourself a victim.

DR. J. H. THOMPSON

GIVES PLEASING TALK AT BAPTIST CHURCH

At the March Church Night of the First Baptist church, Tuesday night, Dr. Thompson, pastor of the Northville Baptist church, gave an address of quiet power. He stressed the truth that one is strongest and richest for service when he possesses little else but himself. Moses had only a shepherd's rod and Jesus had nothing of this world's goods, yet one became the world's law-giver and the other the Saviour of mankind.

Dr. Thompson spoke of the campaign in his church of Detroit in some twenty churches, under Dr. Hagan, Black conducted, very effective work in visitation, evangelism.

April 21 is the time of the next Church Night in the Northville Baptist church and Dr. H. H. Savage will be the speaker.

H. S. SENIOR GIRLS

MAKE OWN DRESSES FOR GRADUATION

Another commendable innovation in the school system this year is the sewing class for the girls of the twelfth grade. This is the first year that sewing has been offered to the seniors.

It is a pretty sight to see these "sweet girl graduates" heading over their needle work these days. Fashioning the most significant gowns they have worn in their young lives, their graduating dresses. Under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman, they are making their own dresses and the interesting part of it is that the total cost of the material for each will be five dollars.

A wide variety of personality is revealed in the choice of these important gowns which makes them all the more interesting. At this time, 21 girls who receive their diplomas June wearing gowns of their own making.

YOUNG MARRIED

PEOPLE'S CLASS ENJOYS BANQUET

The annual banquet of the young married people's class of the Methodist church was held in the church dining room on the evening of Tuesday, St. Patrick's day. The long tables were gay with the green of old Erin with shamrocks as centerpieces. The company numbered 87 which partook of the fine banquet served by the March committee of the Ladies Aid society.

Something of the wit of old St. Patrick must have moved the spirit of the toastmaster, Rev. Wm. Richards, the teacher of this fine group, for it is rumored that more than his usual flow of humor was evident. Mr. Richards held the deep interest of his hearers while he described his visit to the Emerald Isle where he was stationed during his commission as chaplain during the Boer war.

Clarence Davis was introduced to the company and proceeded to enter-tan them by showing four reels of moving pictures, some illustrating travels and others depicting some thrilling animal life.

Altogether the affair was pronounced a highly successful event in the history of the class.

Parents of school children who are feeling anxiety concerning the scarlet fever situation and who are wondering whether to send their children to school, now have their fears allayed by statements made by Village Health Officer Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, who says there is positively no cause for alarm nor any reason for keeping children out of school.

As a matter of fact children in school are given much closer observation than most of those at home. Dr. Johnston and the school nurse, Mrs. Bray, "check up" the children each morning and are able to recognize better than the parent early symptoms of the disease. Suspicious cases are sent home at once and not allowed to return until examined by the school nurse.

Cases have all been very light and if given early medical care illness is slight. The number of cases is gradually diminishing with only one new case in each of the past two weeks.

THE NELLIE YERKES AUXILIARY MEETS

The pleasant living room at the home of Mrs. Harold Bloom on North Main street was filled to overflowing Tuesday evening by members who attended the meeting of the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary. Matters of business were dispatched efficiently by the president, Mrs. Bloom and the program was opened by devotions led impressively by Mrs. K. H. Babbitt followed by singing by the whole group. A Bible drill conducted by Mrs. Harold Whitfield brought out the surprising fact that even in this age of amusement people are interested in fundamental truths. Each had brought her own Bible and deep attention was given to the search for answers of questions and in their discussion.

At the conclusion of the program angel food and ice cream topped with butter scotch dressing was served by Mrs. Bloom, assisted by the other hostess, Mrs. Robert Coolman. New members of the auxiliary are Mrs. Rex. Schuartz and Mrs. Percy Angore.

Mrs. Brown: Does your husband object to cats?

Obituary

"Gene" Palmer, as even the boys and girls liked to call him, was born November 28, 1871 at Westcoy, N. Y., and died at University hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich., February 28, 1931. Mr. Palmer was one of a family of eleven children, four of whom survive him, Mr. F. D. Palmer of Royal Oak, Mich., Mrs. W. B. Wheeler, Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Clara Pirof, Cassin, N. Y., and Mrs. Iva Corrigan of Batavia, N. Y. He is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Augusta Palmer.

For just thirty years he had been a member of the First Baptist church of Northville, having been baptized into that fellowship February 28, 1901, his funeral services marking the thirtieth anniversary of that event. He strove to bear his part of the burdens of life, whether in the church, home or community.

For a number of years his special interest was the Men's class of his church, where he is now sadly missed. His prayers were always freely offered in behalf of all men and his heart was in every effort to help children. So much did his attitude in regard to Christian brotherhood impress his pastor that he preached for his funeral sermon from the text found in Hebrews 13:1, "Let brotherly love continue." In his associations in the factories, where employed, as also in the night watch position at the Detroit Edison Building here, he made friends of long standing. Not only his fellow churchmen but all of his friends, his lodge and his host of others will miss his familiar face and figure.
