

MOTHER'S DAY
SERVICES HERE
ARE IMPRESSIVEChurches Are Filled
for the Special Services

Motherhood was honored at all of Northville's churches last Sunday, May 10, as proof of the strong hold of mother upon the hearts of all men the churches of the village were filled with many who were not regular attendants last Sunday, as memory of each individual mother made its appeal to the best in man. Each wore either a red or white flower in honor of his mother.

At the Baptist church following the special music by the choir Rev. Wm. Roscoe Barbour spoke feelingly of the beauty and dignity of motherhood. Making a practical turn in his talk he urged young folks to live well to be properly fitted for the responsibility of parenthood. In closing Mr. Barbour paid touching tribute to those women who had taken the place of mother to him in his own youth.

In the evening the Junior Crusaders had charge of the service with a missionary program and appropriate mention of Mother's day. Rev. Wm. Roscoe Barbour spoke on the theme, "God's Way With the Nation."

On Sunday morning Rev. Wm. Richards used the ancient mother of Samuel, Hannah as his model mother. "Where is mother?" said the speaker, is the first cry of every member of the family when he comes home. Just to know that mother is there makes for the feeling of home stability and safety. Nothing, said Mr. Richards, should detract a woman from her highest duty to her home and family. A duet sung by Mrs. M. J. Koldyke and Mrs. Leslie G. Lee touched the hearts of all and made a fitting close to the Methodist service.

At the Presbyterian church Rev. Harold G. Whitfield called in grand review a line of noble mothers who have moved to greatness the lives of their sons, quoting Abraham Lincoln's tribute to his mother, "All that I am I owe to my angel mother."

In closing, the speaker urged that mothers "prove not their children to wrath but bring them up in the fear and admonition of the Lord." In obedience to the tenth commandment it is as important for the parents to be worthy of honor as for youth to honor. Ray Van Valkenburgh sang "Mother of Mine" as fitting close to this significant service.

In keeping with the custom of observing the month of May as devoted especially to the Virgin Mary, Mother's Day, at Our Lady of Victory Catholic church was commemorated in a fine talk by Fr. Joseph Schuler. The two great mothers, he said, are the mother Mary and everyone's own mother. By keeping the ideal always in mind it is possible for all mothers to approach this mother-perfection. Fr. Schuler urged to greater loyalty of youth to aged parents.

Rev. Leo Eickstaedt at the St. Paul's Lutheran church included in his address to mothers a message to all mankind. He asked "Why are we in this world?" and answered by saying that it is not only to save ourselves but to save others by the example of our lives.

Beautiful flowers at each place of worship were reminders of mothers whose memory is still green.

PERKINS HERE 35 YEARS

Recalling old times John W. Perkins announces that he came to Northville just 35 years ago and that he has seen many changes since.

Mrs. U. A. Tibbits of Northville.

Prizes Century-Old "Free Press",
Handed Down by Her Grandfather

Treasured for many years among her "keep sakes" Mrs. U. A. Tibbits has kept the old yellowed copy of the first issue of the Detroit Free Press which has just reached its one hundredth anniversary.

In direct contrast to the present voluminous daily paper is this modest little sheet of four pages dated "Thursday morning, May 5, 1831." In "Vol. 1, No. 1" of a century ago is a request that "citizens of Michigan who feel interested in supporting a Free Press in the city of Detroit are respectfully requested to send in their names." This is the beginning of a periodical whose readers now number many thousands.

In striking contrast to the much-illustrated modern daily, not a single "cut" breaks the solidity of this first little sheet. No bold-typed announcements of slashing prices, no news of the sport world, no society news, no editorial comments—not even "funnies." More serious affairs are reflected as making up the lives of these pioneers in the new "Territory of Michigan." Political news occupies the larger numbers of its columns when the administration of old Andrew Jackson is staunchly upheld.

The establishment of the old territorial road through heretofore impassable swamps and woods was another great agitation. This road was to "commence at the Inn of Timothy S. Sheldon on the Chicago road in Plym-

DETROIT LEADERS PAY
TRIBUTE TO NORTHVILLE
AS IDEAL PLACE TO LIVEMen Who Have Homes in This Community Are Guests of Rotary Club at Unique
Dinner Monday

Outstanding praise of Northville as a beautiful town and as ideal for a place of residence was sounded with grand opera fervor at a remarkable dinner Monday evening at the Presbyterian church house, sponsored by the Northville Rotary club. A notable company was present.

Attending as guests of Rotary were about twenty prominent Detroit business and professional men who have their homes in and near Northville, some of the heads of the nearby institutions and also leaders in our local civic life. The aim of the gathering was to bring about a better feeling of friendship between the village and those who have their homes here but have outside business and professional connections.

In the absence of President Elton R. Eaton of the Rotary club, rather J. C. Sculler presided and introduced as the chairman of the evening Harry B. Clark who spoke in glowing terms of Northville's charm of hills, trees and springs, its three golf clubs, its unusual fair grounds and then climaxed the picture by telling of the polo grounds which Phil Gremman is building.

Then followed heavy duty, short speeches by the various men who were introduced, each by his neighbor to the right. It was one of the most vivid collections of short talks that was ever heard in Northville and all were tuned into a pean of praise for Northville as an ideal place of residence. Men not given to speech making rose imaginatively to the occasion so that the program held its interest to the very last speaker. Some splendid singing by the Rotary quartet, Don Vickers, Sr., Leslie G. Lee, Percy Angove and Charles Van Valkenburgh, was interspersed.

Capt. Edward Detmold of the House of Correction set the pace for the others when he spoke of Northville's fine hospitality and that he was proud to call it his home. George B. Yerkes, himself a Northville product, now a well known Detroit lawyer, followed with this high word of praise. "No other place is as pleasant as Northville," Dr. R. H. Haskell, medical superintendent of the Wayne County

Exchange club to observe its 10th birthday in June.

Rousing community singing led by Nelson C. Schrader, excellent piano solo by Scott Montgomery and a talk on the recent district meeting at Farmington by Elmer Smith featured the weekly luncheon of the Exchange club Wednesday at the Methodist church house.

Both President C. R. Horton and First Vice President, C. B. Turnbull were late arrivals and consequently Second Vice President, Orlow G. Owen presided and did well. Mr. Horton stood for his late coming by passing cigars in honor of his birthday.

The Exchange club will have a notable celebration of their tenth anniversary the last Wednesday in June when past presidents will be present and have a part in the program.

Northville Lodge No. 136 will celebrate a unique event on Monday, May 18, 1931 when Past Masters' night will be held at the Masonic lodge.

The work will be done by Past Masters who were in office as far back as 25 years ago. Work will begin at 4:30 in the afternoon and at 6:30 dinner will be served by members of the Order of the Eastern Star.

At 7:30 p. m. the Master Mason degree will be conferred on two candidates by the Past Masters who will occupy the same respective stations that they held 25 years ago.

Past Masters participating include Beach A. Northrop, Floyd A. Northrop, James A. Huff, Barton A. Wheeler, Louis P. Van Valkenburgh, Thomas E. Murdock, Clay H. Pepper and Dean F. Griswold.

The Northville lodge has received several invitations to visit Highland Park lodge, Walled Lake lodge and Phoenix lodge of Ypsilanti but owing to conflicting dates will not be able to accept.

Among the legal is the recording of the "plat of the town of Pontiac." Only three advertisements appear in this issue, one for a "quick account" who writes a good hand, one announcing that the horse ferry to Windsor was again running order and the third for "wool carding."

A sheriff's sale announces the following articles "seized and exposed to sale"—one barrel of whiskey, part do. of vinegar, one feather bed, 5 woolen blankets, one bridle and halter, one lump sugar, one gal. bottle with brandy, one pint decanter with wine—etc.

With the few periodicals in circulation one hundred years ago, even with its scanty appeal to feminine interest we venture to say that every word of this early Free Press was eagerly devoured by hoop-skirted maids and matrons of the past century who waited for the leisurely stage coach to bring the mail.

This old copy of the Free Press was handed down to Mrs. Tibbits' father, Jas. A. Jones, from his father, Samuel Jones, who came to Michigan as a pioneer from New York.

A. L. ANDERSON
WEDDED DEC. 26
IT IS REVEALED

An interesting discovery, extremely interesting to members of The Record staff, was made recently when it was learned that A. L. Anderson, editor and publisher of The Eastlawn Statescope, has been married since December 26, 1930.

Miss Angeline Frasca of Detroit, now Mrs. A. L. Anderson of Northville is the lucky girl. The five month's secret came out when the hasty operator, Hugh Chapin, glancing through some "copy" ran across the name "Mrs. A. L. Anderson."

Further questioning brought forth the fact that the couple were married in Toledo the day following Christmas.

Although congratulations to the happy couple are not belated, The Northville Record and its staff sincerely wish them a happy and prosperous wedding life.

Members of the staff are at present looking askance at one another trying to ascertain if there are any more secret marriages close at hand.

NORTHVILLE H. S.
SENIORS TO ISSUE
"THE REFLECTOR"

Even though the school year is over, the Northville senior class will publish a yearbook titled "The Reflector." This yearbook will be published as one of the growing events of the school year. Thus far, the seniors have been working on the "Reflector" and the staff has been taking and editing photographs of the seniors and their work.

A pair of candle sticks made from a walnut beam used in the construction of the old Record building will also be on display.

The youthful workers draw up their own plans for each piece of furniture that they wish to make and then proceed under the direction of Paul B. Thompson, manual training instructor. They suggest what work they would like to do and after a class "choice" is made, they do practically all of the work themselves, the instructor merely adding expert advice to their efforts.

The classes contain approximately 60 boys each of whom spend five hours a week in the manual training class.

FATHER AND SON TO OPPOSE EACH OTHER
IN SUNDAY'S GAME

A baseball game between two local teams, "Grandpa" German's Chiefs coached by Harry German who is also the pitcher for the team which meets Zeland Smith's Northville Blossoms next Sunday, 3 o'clock at the Fair grounds will be a good start to the baseball season.

An odd angle to the contest will be supplied when Harry German, Jr. who regularly plays with his dad's team will, in this game pitch against him.

Admission will be 25c for adults and 10c for children.

JARVIS PALMER IS AT 80TH MILESTONE

Jarvis Palmer, one of Northville's long-time citizens, reached his 80th milestone in life last Sunday, May 10. In keeping with his usually unassuming character the day was spent quietly and without demonstration except for an especially good dinner, so Mr. Palmer says, with English beef pie as a treat for this native Englishman.

Jarvis Palmer as his boyhood friends called him, came from England with his parents when eight years old. His father was a good-natured blacksmith familiarly known as "Uncle Jim."

Those who have known Jarvis Palmer from youth speak of him as a rather serious minded boy who tended to business and did not have much time for "fooling around." He himself says that after attending school for a few years at the building now occupied by the village library he went to work in his father's blacksmith shop at the age of 12 years when he was so short that he had to stand upon a platform to be able to sling the hammer on the anvil.

Mary Simmons, an old schoolmate, became his wife and this contented couple will reach their sixtieth wedding anniversary next July 3. Two children, Grace (Mrs. Hoar) and Philip still make their home with their parents.

Unusually active for his age, Mr. Palmer spends hours each day in his shop at the rear of his home. A genius in woodwork, he proudly displays the work of his hand—a large bookcase, a cabinet or two and best of all, an oak rocker made for his "sweetheart" with her name "Mary" inscribed on the back.

A more peaceful home would be hard to find. To his father, the son Philip pays this rare tribute: "I have known my father nearly 50 years and have never heard him swear," and he laughingly adds, "And he has hit his thumb a good many times."

NORTHVILLE'S TAX
IS SET AT $17.40

The final tax rate figure as arrived at by the board of review, stated Charles A. Sessions, village assessor, is $17.40 per thousand dollars.

The figure for 1928 was $22.50; for 1929 it was $21.40; and for last year it was $18.20 so the reduction in the past three years has been considerable.

The experience gained, however, says Leslie G. Lee, director of the glee club, was invaluable and will stand the girls in good stead next year when they again enter the district and state trials.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB
GAINS EXPERIENCE IN STATE FINALS

Northville high school girls' glee club, which won first place in the district contest at Ypsilanti did not fare so well at the state tournament held last Friday at Lansing. The local girls took sixth place among the eight entrants in Class C.

After a long two hours' trip the girls were sent up before the judges fifteen minutes following their arrival.

The two songs which they sang were "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn and "Cradle Song" by Brahms. Although the songs were well received and the stiffer competition of the eight district winners weighed heavily in the final decisions.

The experience gained, however, says Leslie G. Lee, director of the glee club, was invaluable and will stand the girls in good stead next year when they again enter the district and state trials.

STATE ATTORNEY-GENERAL
DECLARES VACANT OFFICE
OF TREASURER OF SALEMGlenn C. Burnham Deposed on Ground That He Held Office Longer Than the Law Specifies

Salem township is without a treasurer as a result of action taken a week ago by Attorney-General Paul Voorhees' disqualifying Glenn C. Burnham on petition of 13 taxpayers.

Mr. Burnham, who was elected to office at the April election, was disqualified by the attorney-general because, according to law, he could not hold office for more than two successive terms. Section 213 of the Compiled Laws of 1915 states that "No person shall be eligible to the office of township treasurer for more than two years in succession." The law also states that an officer cannot hold two public positions of the same nature in the township at the same time. Mr. Burnham has held, besides the office of township treasurer, that of treasurer of the Salem Union school.

An effort is now being made by the taxpayers who petitioned Mr. Voorhees for an audit of the books which was granted, to have all of the members of the board removed for misfeasance.

Prosecutor Albert J. Rapp has requested county treasurer, Frank H. Ticknor, in a communication to refund to Mr. Burnham the sum of $5,310 assessed under the "Cover" act against the township at large. The township has paid a part of the tax from the general fund which procedure was "ready" contrary to law although "obscure" says that this practice has been followed before.

A. Burnham is still acting in the capacity of treasurer until a new appointment to that office is made by the township board.

MANUAL TRAINING
WORK TO BE SHOWN

An exhibition of the Northville high school manual training class products will be held from Monday, May 18 to Monday, May 25 in Lyke's hardware store.

The exhibits, made by seventh, eighth and ninth grade members of the training classes will include a walnut desk, cedar lined chest, coffee tables, lamps, metal work, and wood turning projects.

A pair of candle sticks made from a walnut beam used in the construction of the old Record building will also be on display.

The youthful workers draw up their own plans for each piece of furniture that they wish to make and then proceed under the direction of Paul B. Thompson, manual training instructor. They suggest what work they would like to do and after a class "choice" is made, they do practically all of the work themselves, the instructor merely adding expert advice to their efforts.

The classes contain approximately 60 boys each of whom spend five hours a week in the manual training class.

STOLEN CAR FOUND
HERE BY SAFFORD

Illegal parking will probably cost Alfred Ratley, 1237 Lyke street, Detroit, more of his liberty than he expects.

Ratley's car was parked illegally on Main street Saturday night about ten o'clock and when Chief Wm. Safford took him to the village hall, questioning brought out the fact that the car, a Chrysler roadster, had been stolen in Detroit the night before by Ratley. The latter was in possession of a driving license and a title which did not belong to him.

Chief Safford turned Ratley over to Detroit authorities and notified Ralph B. Klinger of Grand Rapids that his stolen car was waiting for him in Northville.

Ratley confessed that this was not the first car he had stolen but that it was his fifth or sixth theft.

MISS KREAGER AND
NORMAN GRIMWADE
WEDDED WEDNESDAY

Many friends will be surprised and happy to know that Miss Eleanor Kreager became the bride of Norman Grimwade Wednesday evening at 6:30 p. m. in Rev. Leo Eickstaedt's performance at the ceremony at the St. Paul's Lutheran parsonage.

Mrs. Grimwade formerly was employed as a clerk at the D and C store but left her position there two weeks ago. She met Mr. Grimwade while he was employed at the C. T. Smith store here.

The couple will take a short honeymoon trip before returning to Mr. Grimwade's home in Chelsea where he will take charge of a Kroger store. The Record hastens to be among the first to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Grimwade.

Historic Years of Northville Will Be Vividly Recalled in Record's
"New Building" Issue, June 12

Skeletons will rattle in closets, and ghosts will haunt The Record office when the New Building edition of The Northville Record is issued.

Fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers will all receive mention and names will come to light that have not received notice in many and many a year.

Who amongst the readers of this article can remember Northville's first fire department, or the old American Bell and Foundry company or any of the "nose-paint" dispensaries?

Who can trace the histories of the churches of this community? What was Main street like 50 years ago? Hitching posts were the principal ornaments of Main street and a horseless carriage was a novelty that would bring all the occupants of the town out to see the stalled motorist.

The gang of kids then used to go down to the stillway of the flour mills and catch fish, how many can remember back that far?

The special edition will contain as much of that forgotten information as it will be possible to pack into approximately 25 pages. We ask the cooperation of all the older residents in giving to us some of the town's pictures of old times. Go through the attic and see if you have any pictures that have an historical significance. Bring them to us and tell the story that lies behind the picture.

The day of days, the day of inspection on Saturday, June 13 will mark a new milestone for journalism in the history of Northville and it is desired that everyone living within the vicinity of this town will come and see the inner workings of a modern, completely equipped country newspaper.

All in all, as we have reiterated hundreds and possibly thousands of times, the new building, scientifically planned, with all of the new equipment, will embody all that any progressive town could desire in the way of a complete and modern newspaper. A country newspaper and its community are closely connected and the one is but a reflection of the other. The Northville Record extends a hearty invitation to everybody to visit the plant on Saturday, June 13, when the offices, the back room and the freedom of the plant will be thrown open for the inspection and approval of all.

FARMER DIES
NEAR NOVI AS HE HAILS CAREdward Dunka Struck
by Woman Driver
Wednesday

Edward F. Dunka, farmer, was struck and killed instantly at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning about four miles west of Novi, on U. S. 16, as he attempted to hail a car driven by Miss Catherine Magas, 290 LaBelle avenue, Highland Park, following an accident between his own truck and a car driven by Oscar C. Cronk of Detroit.

Miss Magas, together with her girl companion, were released by authorities, after she explained that she thought Dunka was a hold-up man. Miss Magas tried to get out of the way, she states, but Dunka stood in the middle of the road blocking her path.

Dunka, following his accident with Cronk's truck, started to walk toward South Lyons. He had gone about a mile from the scene of the accident when he made an attempt to hail the car driven by Miss Magas which resulted in his death.

Dunka's farm is located a short distance off Grand River on the Wayne road. His wife alone survives him. Dunka had a wide circle of friends in Novi and in Wixom who will mourn his loss.

SENIOR "PROM," WITH
IS BRILLIANT EVENT

Transformed into a veritable desert, the high school gymnasium was the scene of one of Northville high school's brilliant social affairs of the year last Friday evening May 8, at the Senior "Prom." Camels and palms silhouetted against a background of black, gave the effect of wilderness and vastness of the desert. The picture was enhanced by the gay hues of the evening gowns of the dancers moving under the "starry canopy."

At the door a small Arab, impersonated by Junior Ambler in white robe and turban, gave each lady guest a program in black with silver letters.

Music by the "Wolverines" was especially enjoyed and led spiritedly the gay dancers, who paced at intervals to drink punch from a typical well in the desert, served by Miss Helen Stachan and Miss Eleanor Westphal. During the evening members of the faculty mingled informally and pleasantly with the students. A number of high school alumni were also present.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Knapp and Mrs. R. H. Amerman, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Cavell, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Sherill Ambler, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Lyke, Mr. and Mrs. W. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Miss Helen Leonardson, Harold McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cassie and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Junod.

The committee in charge was Ned Junod, Alex Johnson, Eleanor Westphal and Ted Cavell.

RAINS ARE BIG HELP

Rains the past week have been of incalculable benefit to the farmers. May so far has been cold and windy as times. Lawns are looking beautiful. Apple orchards are ready to burst into bloom. Warmer weather is said to be in sight.

The layout of the new plant leaves nothing to be desired to a newspaper man in the way of speed, efficiency and service. A community as progressive and public spirited as ours is demands that nothing short of the best be used as a means of pursuing prosperity and the improvement of the future.

Machinery in the new plant will include a Premier-Whitlock newspaper press, two Gordon plant presses, a No. 14 Mergenthaler Linotype and a Kelly Automatic job press.

The linotype machine which casts the slugs or type, is capable of producing 11 different faces of type. The Kelly Automatic press will run off 3,500 pieces of literature per hour after it is started without the necessity of any one feeding it.

Two large American type cabinets will hold type of all kinds and two large steel make-up tables for holding the galleys of type and making up the pages of the newspaper, are also pieces of equipment that the few country newspaper plants can boast of owning.

All in all, as we have reiterated hundreds and possibly thousands of times, the new building, scientifically planned, with all of the new equipment, will embody all that any progressive town could desire in the way of a complete and modern newspaper. A country newspaper and its community are closely connected and the one is but a reflection of the other. The Northville Record extends a hearty invitation to everybody to visit the plant on Saturday, June 13, when the offices, the back room and the freedom of the plant will be thrown open for the inspection and approval of all.

TOO MANY LAWS

Some day some thoughtful man is going to run for a place in the Michigan state legislature on a platform of "No more laws." And a lot of folks will vote for this man. Look at this:

Last week one of our state senators said that there were then 200 bills pending in the house and 622 in the senate. What can our representatives and senators learn about 322 bills in a few days? Is it any wonder that we have laws on everything from the size of potatoes the farmer can sell to the kind of fish we can eat? Is it any wonder that in the rush of legislation some vicious measures are railroaded through? Is it any wonder that people are losing some of their old time respect for law?

THE NEW RECORD BUILDING

The whole Record family is touched by the splendid and sympathetic interest that the whole community is showing in the new building that is now nearing completion. Saturday morning a substantial man who has followed the course of the work stepped into the office and said: "You are going to have a great newspaper home there and we are all pleased to see it. And do you know I haven't heard one criticism of the way it has been built."

It won't be the biggest and most ornate building of its kind in this part of the Middle West but we do say this: It will be one of the most complete and finest equipped newspaper homes to be found in any city under 4,000 in Michigan, Indiana or Ohio.

Make your plans to attend the "open house" on Saturday, June 13.

WE JUST WONDER

Leave it to the young people of today to turn night into day.

In a Northville home the other night a daughter of the household strolled home around 1:30 a. m. after attending a "formal." She promised to be home at that time and kept her word. Yet for not agreeing to take another hour or two to go to a barbecue she was called a "wet blanket."

We got to wondering what would have happened to this humble writer when he was a high school lad if he had dared to stay out until one o'clock in the morning. What would have happened would have been strictly "informal."

Do we make for the physical, mental and moral health of our growing boys and girls when we allow them to keep these after-midnight hours?

You parents tell us. And maybe the family doctor might have a word of worth-while counsel.

GOV. BRUCKER'S VETO

Even though it would possibly have added two millions of dollars to the revenues of the state, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker vetoed the Ming-Wood malt tax bill. The governor took the position that his approval of the measure would practically put the state into a semi-partnership with attempts to over-ride prohibition. He said in his message: "Any bill which even indirectly places the stamp of approval upon this traffic (liquor making) is wrong in principle and vicious in practice."

Governor Brucker was honest and consistent in his action. He is a dry; the state is under the prohibition amendment. Any effort to nullify prohibition through making of liquor by the use of malt, even though it turns millions into the state treasury, is an attempt to nullify the law. It might have pleased the politicians if Brucker had signed the measure but certainly the governor will be commended by both honest wet and dry for following the dictates of his conscience.

It is good to have a governor who stands on his own feet and does a thing that takes courage and basic honesty.

THE LEGISLATURE AND TAXES

These are tough times to be a member of the Michigan state legislature. Nearly everyone is putting up a plea for taxes to be cut. Every manner of ploy is put forward as one of the ways to do it. The tax payers look to the legislature to lessen the burden. But after all, from income tax to cigarette tax, is introduced as part of the plan to bring down taxes.

What will be done about it? Very little. Individually the legislators are splendid men, capable and well meaning, but after all, just a good Michigan bunch of men—some above the average and maybe a few below. And yet we expect them to work out this tax business so that justice will be wiped out. We don't look for them to do it for a while anyway. The job is just too big for a bunch of men who are not experienced in economics. A few of the group have made a study of the whole tax business and know something of what can be done. The rest of them know about as much as the average group of business men, farmers, bankers would know. We happen to think off-hand of three men in the house whom we know personally—and respect. Yet we would never pick them as experts on taxation, for the simple reason that they have been doing the other kinds of work. One is a farmer and one an editor; the other a business man.

Some day we are going to be wise enough to let a commission of experts study out the whole tax problem and then take some action in keeping with their findings. In the meantime we shall flounder around and try to get out from under the burden of our general property tax. Our best hope is for the return of better times which will enable folks to get the money to pay their taxes.

Another way to help on the tax problem is to watch the problem of what we tax ourselves. No legislature can do anything to help that.

ROCKE ON SMOKING

Editorial Christian Science Monitor
Thousands of boys will doubtless profit by a letter written by Knute Rockne to a West Virginia lad in the famous football coach said: "My experience has shown that tobacco slows up the reflexes of athletes, lowers their morale and does nothing constructive. It is safe to add that if tobacco is such a handicap to anyone desiring to excel in sports, intoxicating liquor is even more so."

JUSTICE IN U. S. COURTS

Editorial Evening Recorder
Little comparisons as how justice is meted out.
Leo Brothers, a known hoodlum, murdered a newspaper reporter and because the cause can be said to be sentenced to 14 years in prison.
Fred Burke, wanted for crimes in 18 states, known as the "most dangerous" man alive and suspected for the massacre of seven men in a Chicago garage, was shot a young police man while drunk. He is sentenced to life and will be cared for comfortably as long as he is incarcerated which probably won't be long for he will be eager to parole in a few years.

A veteran of the U. S. army of 16 years service who has risked his life in behalf of his country on many occasions and is presumably honorably discharged finds himself at 73 without work and without money. His grateful government has not seen fit to pension him. He takes and empties gun and robs a bank of a few hundred dollars. The bank gets its money back. No one is hurt although he is shot at several times. He is sentenced to prison for from 30 to 40 years when at his age means life.

DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSIONS

HEAD AND INCOME TAX

Schuyler Marshall in St. John's Republican News

Why should not every normally intelligent, able bodied person of twenty-one years pay some tax? That is the age they start to vote. They enjoy the benefits of government police protection, the use of highway, sidewalks, schools, courts the same as any other citizens. Unless something better can be proposed, we would favor a head tax for every person over twenty-one. Graduated upward from $3.00 each according to the salary earned until that salary made them eligible for an income tax; then an income or profits tax. Scientifically administered, as to not penalize the person who suffers financial loss—the contractor or the head tax to be collected from all persons however regardless of profits or losses. Such a tax would be made not on income and it applied directly toward reducing the general property state and county tax would work for the relief of those carrying the entire load now. Of course we would say that every person regardless of his occupation or calling should be subject to this head and income tax, including preachers, teachers, state and local officers and others who are not on exempt.

How would a head and income tax be collected? Make the tax except the wage of citizenship. Let no person vote unless the records showed that they had paid this tax. No one to vote unless he had a license to drive or a license to practice law or a license to practice medicine or a license to practice dentistry or a license to practice any other profession or business. Possibly dependent students, minors, feeble-minded and some others could be exempted.

TRY A RECORD LINER. THE COST IS SMALL AND THE RESULTS ARE BIG.

R. T. Baldwin, Editor, Northville Record, Northville, Mich.

My Dear Sir:

I take pleasure in enclosing check to cover your bill for advertising and for a year's renewal of our subscription from April 17th or 27th for which kindly send receipt.

It is "something" to say that this advertising in The Record brought us a good tenant in Mr. and Mrs. Orvis G. Owen, as well as a good next-door neighbor for "Y-S" Editor. If we ever lose them as tenants, we can lay it to either the Editor or his paper, while on the other hand, in case of a neighborly row, our good old friend and next-door neighbor adjoining them on the north, Chief of Police Safford will be right there handy!

I feel like saying, as did my old friend Charles Booth, now of New York City, when renewing his subscription some months ago that while he has been away from Northville for many years, (he was formerly secretary of the old Michigan School Furniture Co. and the Globe Furniture Co.) he still takes The Record, finding pleasure in reading in its columns of some news of old associations of his younger days.

Being a new resident, you naturally do not know all the older names, but for your information I will say that Mrs. Lizzie Harger-Orvis, (my wife), is the daughter of Oscar S. Harger, life-time resident of Oakland and Wayne counties, prominent farmer and stock raiser, whose father, John Harger, coming from "York State" in an early day, took up a farm in 1886 near Farmington, just off Grand River road, and for years Oscar Harger lived in Northville, and was one of The Record's early subscribers. I myself lived there on Cadiz street when "Ed" so that while Chicago has been my home the greater part of my life, I still feel that I was once a "Northville"ite.

Santa Monica, a pretty city of 35,000 is in our estimation, the most beautiful home spot in all California, down here looking out over the bluffs to the ocean—17 miles from Los Angeles. Roses in this country are now the most beautiful we ever beheld and every yard, be it of palace or humble cottage, is full of color, and two-blankest are needed every night for comfort. I have never had a cold in California. But I'd like to be back in old Michigan in lilac time, as lilacs do not grow here; and I love the wonderful old hard maple and beech trees, and the unending green fields (when not drought ridden) by California has "got" us I guess last week at a gathering of friends there were more than 60 former residents of Pontiac, Mich. You see, "they ALL" come out to this land of sunshine and flowers" sooner or later!

With best wishes for your continued success and congratulating you on your excellent paper, we remain, Cordially yours,

Mrs. Lizzie Harger-Orvis, Alton D. Orvis

MAGAZINE FAKERS VISIT NORTHVILLE

Several other complaints have been received from residents who say that the persistent solicitors are "developing into veritable pests. If any salesman for magazine companies come to your door and do not present proper credentials close the door on them and if they are still persistent, call the police."

"Unless these salesmen present a letter signed by me, they have no authority to sell magazines for our church. Our salesmen must be recommended by the Chicago office and must secure permission from the local pastor before they solicit subscriptions. I allow only one salesman a year in my pastorate and all others are nuisances."

DETROIT LEADERS CALL NORTHVILLE IDEAL PLACE TO LIVE

council, were introduced and Mayor German spoke for the group, saying that the village officials were eager to do all in their power to make Northville a better town. John McCully came from Canada, he said, and liked it so well he stayed Elmer Smith brought greetings from the Exchange club. After 45 years' residence in Detroit John Kaibelech gave this testimony: "I can't tell how happy we have been in Northville."

Other local men who presented their neighbors were: S. H. Latham, Attorney Fred J. Cochran, Milo N. Johnson, Chas. Ponsford, R. H. Amerman, Leslie G. Lee, Ed. Langford, Ernest Miller, E. S. Beard, Walter Zell and R. T. Baldwin. W. W. Clark and Harvey Whipple, with homes on the hills between here and Plymouth, spoke briefly.

Nelson G. Schrader presented Phil Greynan with the statement that Mr. Greynan would not need to say what he thought of Northville, since he had shown it by his many actions of interest and generosity. Mr. Greynan had fine words of praise for the community and in speaking of agricultural interests said: "The farmer is the man who makes his money in the country and spends it in the city while the agriculturist is the one who makes his money in town and spends it in the country."

Albert Bodine, whose grandfather was here in 1828, said that one of the finest things about Northville is that you have the chance to know everyone in a friendly way. Other men who spoke in similar vein were W. R. Brown, Chas. Christensen, Chas. M. Young and John G. Baskett.

Glenn Phillips of the city planning commission of Detroit spoke of the great possibilities of the Rouge park system and said that one of the big objects of this was to make such sections as Northville more available to the metropolitan districts. Few regions have as fine trees as Northville, he said. The "destruction" of billboards on the highways should be removed, he urged.

Dr. Richard H. Saley, who "pitched" for Dr. B. H. Douglass of the Maybury sanatorium, who was in the East on business, paid a high tribute to Wm. H. Maybury whose great work in connection with the sanatorium is known to all. Speaking of his home town, Dr. Saley said: "Northville has plenty of things Detroit hasn't."

Other tributes paid to Northville were: Clarence Elliott: "We moved away, then we glad to come back."

Postmaster T. R. Carrington: "I was born in Northville and I am proud to call it my home."

James Scott: "The most beautiful place I ever saw."

Percy Ainge: "I judge a town by its boys and girls and judged by this standard you can't beat Northville."

Clarence Davis: "We are very happy in being neighbors of Harry Clark on the Base Line road."

C. J. Hamme: "I like Northville. George Stickey: "My wife and I built a home in your community a year ago and like it here very much."

Russell Walker: "I have made more friends in three years in Northville than in 18 years in Detroit."

The following, who were unable to come, sent their regrets: Dr. Condit, Wm. H. Aston, Frank Anger, W. N. Osburn, Wilbur Ohliger, Julius Borata, John Hettche, Charles E. Rogers and W. N. Booth.

The Presbyterian ladies aided much to the unusual pleasure of the evening with their beautifully appointed tables and excellent menu and service. The unique event was one of the finest ever held here.

ICE SACKS FOR ELY ICE PATRONS—Distribution of approximately 300 icebox sacks will begin Saturday May 16, declared Charles Ely of the Ely Ice company.

These extremely practical cloth sacks, says Mr. Ely, are invaluable in keeping celery, radishes, lettuce and vegetables fresh.

The produce is placed in the sack and the whole is placed directly against the ice. The cold ice keeps the vegetables in the best possible condition and the sack prevents the food stuffs from injury by freezing.

Mr. Ely will give one of these sacks to each of his customers on his route as he delivers the ice.

WANTED: A ROOM FOR BOY SCOUTS

Scoutmaster Orlov Owen needs a place to house his active 25 or 30 Scouts who have so far been shifting about in their location. Who wouldn't help a boy? Here's a chance for some magnanimous soul to expand his generosity to make possible the bigger and better growth of nearly 30 rising young citizens. The kind of citizens they will become depends largely on the start they get now.

This is what Orlov wants: A big room where the boys can congregate freely at any time, and work out boy projects. A place which they can feel is their own, where they may whistle and hammer and saw, play leap frog, wrestle—up short just be boys to their hearts content without anyone to say, "Boys, do be quiet!"

Great and wonderful, no doubt, will be the products of their hands, but greater will be the growth of personality that may expand under proper environment. This practical scoutmaster hopes to equip the room with a large work bench—other furnishings may be added piece by piece. He would like, some kind of an old stove on which boys may cook Boy Scout meals.

Orlov's hobby is training the boys to be self-reliant—to learn by doing. He wants a place that may be open at all times to the boys where they may be thrown "on their own" and thus work out their own originality.

Who can suggest such a place? Scoutmaster Orlov also on the look-out for a place in the country where a summer camp may be established where the boys may go for overnight hikes. The only requirement is that water be within reach.

NUTRITION EXPERT TALKS AT THE H. S.

An interested company of Northville homekeepers met at the old cafeteria in the high school Tuesday afternoon and listened to a comprehensive talk by Miss Muriel Dindas, state nutrition specialist. Miss Dindas traced with careful detail the nutrition of childhood from earliest infancy to maturity.

Almost all of those present were mothers of growing children who found the talk most profitable. Those who have not been present at these classes have missed a great deal.

Two subjects will be taken up during the coming year. "Planning the family, and Preventive Diet. This first lesson of the new course will be given Monday, June 1, and the subject will be Courtesy in the Dining Room."

At this time will be given a demonstration of the proper laying of the table for formal and informal occasions. All women interested are most cordially welcomed to these classes. Mrs. Harold White is president of the organization.

LUTHERAN BANQUET ON FRIDAY HONORS MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS

On Friday evening, May 8, a merry group of mothers and daughters gathered at the Lutheran church hall to celebrate their second annual banquet.

Having one's mother for her company is quite an experience in this day and age and it did make a delightful scene to see this relation bound even stronger by a good time together.

Four long tables were filled with company Vases of lavender flax were used as center pieces while tall lighted tapers stood at each end of the table, having lavender and green streamers running from the corners.

As president of the ladies' organization, Mrs. C. W. Hamilton extended a hearty welcome to all mothers and daughters present and stated how pleased she was to see so many happy faces. She introduced as toastmistress Mrs. Eleonora Kreeger who carried out her part to the best of her ability. The program was opened with an old song favorite, "Smiles" which seemed more than fitting for the occasion.

Miss Hazel Cordukes, representing the daughters, emphasized the need of companionship between mothers and daughters. Mrs. G. Bernhardt, who portrayed the figure of mothers, expressed the great love a mother always has for her children, whether they be right or wrong.

Austrian selections were rendered by Miss Marion Hamilton, who sang, "That's What God Made Mothers For," accompanied by Miss Rosalie Bastians. Miss Norita Kreeger, who was accompanied by Miss Andy Kreeger, sang, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine."

The most enjoyable event of the evening was having Mrs. Katherine Campbell, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction, as guest speaker. A woman who has had as much experience with people coming from all walks of life, especially girls, was able to stress the importance of friendships between mother and daughter. She stated how crippled the home was which lacked a mother or a father.

The program was closed by Rev. Eckstaedt, who in his most friendly manner, expressed his great desire to have all mothers and daughters practice their good will toward one another throughout the year.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By MRS. EDITOR

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

We heard a talk at the Presbyterian Mothers and Daughters banquet that was so practical that we were glad when we were given permission to use it in our Homemaker's Corner. Those mothers or daughters who have not heard it will find much food for thought and those who have heard it will be glad to read it again.

Mrs. R. A. Dusenbury—who was at one time a teacher in our public schools and who now is the mother of two sons, says:

Mothers and Daughters:

"I really didn't expect to be asked to say anything at a Mothers and Daughters banquet until I could give the viewpoint of a mother-in-law, and I haven't yet started gathering data on what I'll say when that occasion arrives. Since it pays to advertise I might tell the daughters here that I had a perfect mother-in-law for an example. And five or ten years from now I'll be glad to furnish further details."

Having no daughters of my own, I should be the very person to tell you mothers—just how to bring up your daughters, but I am going to tell these girls just two things I have learned by experience.

When I was in high school a boy would sometimes ask me to go some place where my mother thought I shouldn't go, and then I just didn't go and I would think they'll never ask me to go anywhere again; but they did. And years afterward a boy who had been away from Northville for a long time, returned and said to me, "Do you know, I always liked your mother, because she was so particular about where she let you go." The secret of this is—it is better to learn to cook before you are married and never have to cook afterward. That is, to not learn to cook before you are married, and have to cook forever afterward.

As I look at the family group from my point of view, I realize there isn't a person on earth with whom I would change places.

This doesn't indicate colossal egotism or complete satisfaction. It simply means that my position in my own family is worth more to me than anything else the world has to offer. If anyone here ever envies the talent, wealth or position of someone, else, just think "If I were that person my daughter, wouldn't be mine, or my mother, wouldn't be mine, my friends wouldn't be mine." It really gives one a very nappy feeling in these strenuous times.

In each family group I believe the mother's position is the most interesting and the most essential. Sometimes the mother makes the mistake of doing too much for her group. She gives up her own health in order that her family may have a few more of the comforts and luxuries of life.

This is a sacrifice that is not required and not appreciated. A mother should study her family and learn what things are most essential to their well being and happiness, then give them those things as far as possible and just eliminate or consign to their rightful place the unessentials. In my own group, a thin layer of dust doesn't seem to make the least impression on my two sons but they do appreciate sitting down, on each and every day, three times, to an honest to goodness meal.

The mother must protect the rights of each member of her family, for each member has its rights from father, down to the baby. This is too big a point to develop now, for when I asked Mrs. Brennan if I should talk about five minutes, she replied quite emphatically—"or less."

But you cannot let one member have the radio at full blast, and expect another member to get his history lesson. The ideal family radio would be in a sound proof room, where father could listen to Amos and Andy and Uncle Abe and David without groans from the younger members of the family, where another could hear Rudy moan undisturbed and where the door could be left open, regardless of protests, when symphony concerts and other really worthwhile programs are coming in for a while. Just learned that exposing a person to good music does take time.

And finally the two greatest helps to a mother are the two without which she can hope to accomplish very little, are prayer and a well developed sense of humor.

The following verse we clip from the column of another editor's wife. It is such a sweet conception of motherhood that we are glad to pass it on.

Mother

Mother is a little girl who trod my path before me;
Just a bigger, wiser little girl who ran ahead.
Sister, wiser, stronger girl who never has to wait for me;
One who knows the pitfalls in the rugged road I tread.

Mother is a playmate who will always treat me kindly Playmate who will yield me what true happiness demands.
She will not let my feet stray into brambles blindly—
Mother's just a bigger little girl who understands.

Mother is an older little playmate who'll befriend me—
Yesterday she traveled in the path that's mine today.
Never need I fear a foe from whom she might defend me—
Faithful little pal who ran ahead and learned the way.

Miss Dawson, demonstration agent for the Detroit Edison company, "invented" the following fine cake which is easy to make, she says and keeps most a long time—I use in families not the size of ours.

Whipped Cream Cake
Whip 1 cup of whipping cream.
Add two eggs.
Sift together 2 cups flour,
4 teaspoonful baking powder,
1/2 teaspoonful salt,
1 cup sugar.
Add to the above and beat. Bake in two layers at 375 degrees.

AT THE THEATRE

"THE SINGLE SIN"

"The Single Sin," a Tiffany picture with Kay Johnson and Bert Lytell heading a cast including Paul Hurs, Holmes Herbert, Geneva Mitchell, Matthew Betz, Robert Emmett O'Connor and Charles McNaughton, is the attraction Sunday May 17 at the Penniman Allen theatre.

The story is concerned with the regeneration of a man and a woman and shows that it is not conquering oneself that is the greatest battle, but freeing oneself from the evil characters of previous associations.

Kay Johnson plays the role of a girl who serves ninety days for bootlegging and comes out of jail with a determination to go straight. In a couple of years she becomes the wife of a millionaire and her cup of happiness is running over when a man out of her past starts blackmailing her—not for money, but simply to torment and torture her.

A. F. Younger wrote the story for which Frances Hyland did the continuity and dialogue. The direction is by William Nigh and the recording by RCA Photophone.

"BEHIND OFFICE DOORS"

Furnishing delightful entertainment from start to finish, "Behind Office Doors," Radio Pictures comedy-drama which will show at the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday May 20 is a most noteworthy presentation.

The film deals with an increasingly important social problem which has resounded through many divorce courts and has caused misunderstandings in thousands of American homes—the relationships which exist hours of close intimacy force upon business executives and their secretaries.

Should a secretary fall in love with her boss? Is it possible for an emotional girl not to fall in love with her boss when she associates with him daily, reads his letters and attends to his personal affairs? Has a fiancée the moral right to discharge her fiancé's secretary, just because the girl is conscientious and goes to work looking?

These are the moored questions that "Behind Office Doors" answers in a story that constantly holds the interest.

Mary Astor plays the role of a secretary who falls in love with an irresponsible, facetious and over-dressed salesman, played by Robert Ames.

The picture was splendidly directed by Melville Brown and the acting is extraordinarily good with unusually fine performances by Miss Astor, Ames, Ricardo Cortez, Edna Murphy, Kitty Kelly and Catherine Dale Owen.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

The annual Senior Prom was held last Friday evening. This affair was one of the best attended dances the class has given.

The gymnasium was decorated to resemble a desert. Silhouettes of camels and riders were around the wall and a dark blue sky, sprinkled with stars, was overhead.

Music was furnished by "Reade, Pierce and His Michigan Wolverines." At eleven o'clock the Grand March was led by the class president, Wayne Preston, and Miss Lillian Cassie. They were followed by a long procession of ladies and gentlemen.

At one o'clock the merry-makers danced to the tune of "So Gone," and the Senior Prom had passed into history.

Chaperones at the Prom were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Amernman, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Cavell, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Ambler, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lyke, Mr. and Mrs. W. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Miss Helen Leonardson, Harold McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cassie, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Junod.

Last Saturday the Senior Class held their last Bake Sale of the year, and wish to take this opportunity to thank all who donated baked goods and patronized their sales.

WALLED LAKE BEATS

NORTHVILLE TEAM

In a non-league game last Tuesday Northville was crushed 5 to 6 by Walled Lake. Walled Lake made all of their runs from Elmer Westfall in the first inning, after that Johnson replaced him and Walled Lake was held without further score.

This Northville made a fine comeback making five runs during the remainder of the game.

It was perhaps the best game that Northville has played this year.

"Humph," said Toby daintily washing his face with a circular motion of his paw, "some dogs in this neighborhood are getting very 'high-hat' just because they received a bit of publicity a few days ago."

He sniffed and the yellow iris of his eyes seemed to widen dangerously. Toby, by the way, is a coal black cat belonging to C. R. Horton and superstition or no superstition, he can hold his own in any battle.

"Personally, I think publicity hounds are detestable," he yawned and stretched forth an armament of sharp claws. "I've never sought fame in any way, shape or manner and yet I think that I am rather well known around this town."

"Perhaps," I dared to venture, "that is because of your color? It makes you stand out more distinctly in people's minds."

The black tail began to lash slowly back and forth and I saw that I had committed a faux pas.

"Only narrow minded and bigoted people," hissed Toby, "draw the color line. People with but an ounce of brains know that personality, charm and ability are the true index to character. I cause no more bad luck than the individual who views me, imagines."

If one should imagine himself due for a run of bad luck because I cross one's path, then one will undoubtedly suffer misfortunes not because of me but because of an inferiority complex induced by lack of ability and backbone."

I subsided from committing myself by foolish remarks and listened respectfully.

"That canine, you know the one I mean," he said with a feline smile, "the one that wishes he had more cats to chase, why I knew him when he was just a homeless waif."

I felt rather embarrassed that Toby should speak thus of my good friend Tim, but I kept quiet.

"He used to come around," here Toby forgot himself and lapsed into common street vernacular, "and try to pick a scrap with me but after I boxed his ears once or twice he soon remembered his manners—I treat dogs just as though they do not exist. I never pick a fight but when the time comes, I'm ready for anything in the way of trouble."

I could just imagine those sharp claws tearing and slashing at that midnight black back with its barbed wire row of hairs arched straight in the air. I continued to listen respectfully.

"My master says that I am one of the finest cats he ever saw and some time when he wants the bill jump and show you something of real muscle control. I don't exercise as much as I used to—too few rats to chase—but I still manage to keep my waist line where it belongs."

By this time I began to feel restless and not a little bored with Toby so I picked up my hat and remarked that I had an appointment that would take me away. Toby languidly viewed my preparations to go and I confess that I felt somewhat sheepish as the scornful light in his eyes bit into me.

As I left Toby yawned and began that ceaseless washing of his face.

"Come again some time—when you have more time—and I'll tell you some stories of my youth when life was a perpetual battle with dogs and I had to teach them respect. And don't forget," he added, "I'm ready to take on that orphan up the street that's looking for trouble."

I hastily waved goodbye and went on my way clutching my notes. Tim is still my very good friend and I should not like to be the innocent cause of a quarrel I am afraid, however, that bad blood existing between Tim and Toby will some day lead to a violent battle.

Church board meeting the week before the voters assembly. The voters meetings are held quarterly.
The Lutheran church of the Missouri Synod broadcasts twice each week over station WXYZ. Every Sunday afternoon from 2 to 3:15, and every Thursday evening from 8 to 9:30 over the Columbia network.
A hearty invitation is extended to all to worship with us. We preach Christ and Him crucified.

Baptist Church Notes
Services at this church Sunday, May 17, will have special interest both morning and evening. At 9 a. m. the pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, will preach at the Maybury Sanatorium and the church choir will assist in the service.
At 10:30 a. m. the pastor will again preach with the message designed to help young men. The theme will be, "If Your Heart Keeps Right."
The Plymouth organization of Plymouth and Northville will be our guests and attend in a body. We aim to make this a young men's hour.
The evening hour brings Rev. Dr. Wayne Worman, general secretary of the Michigan Sabbath Day Alliance and he will speak on the theme "Keeping the Sabbath Holy."
The church extends a cordial welcome to the community.

Methodist Church Notes
ASCENSION SUNDAY
In our morning service next Sabbath there will be reception of members. We are glad to welcome these fine people in our communion. The pastor will preach at 10:30 on "Our Lord's Ascension."
The crowds that have been coming have been most cheering and it means much for our fellowship. Do not let our souls lose the realism of this in other absorbing interests. Come and bring your friends.
We will have as our guest soloist in the choir Piere Knyon, brother of Mrs. Sherill Ambler, uniting in the beautiful part of our service rendered by over thirty vocal voices every Sunday morning.
Next Sunday is the last for the announcement of a lay delegate to the annual conference in September, at Detroit where the election by the laymen of our church takes place for the general conference at Atlantic City in May 1932.
A local conference of our church will be called very soon which has to do entirely with the business outside of the ministry by the laity.
Wednesday, next, May 20, the men of the Ann Arbor district will meet for their annual banquet at Farmington church house. Bishop Fisher of Ann Arbor will be the speaker. I hope to take forty men from this community. The banquet is fifty cents. Kindly let the pastor know and every man with Methodist tincture is invited.
Lord save us from any more scarlet fever. May our precious children soon recover, who have it. However, the scare is over, come along friends and bring your children for their religious instruction. Time 12:00 noon.
The Epworth League will meet at 6:30. Let us look forward to our election of officers and the Albion College Institute.
In the evening the united service will be at 7:30. Each church ought to be doing better than they are doing in attendance. Why not? You are representing Christ when you belong to a church and there are some things that have to be sacrificed for Him. There are only three Sundays more for these services, let us make them the best to witness for him. Rev. Harold Whitfield will preach and his choir will help in the musical part of the worship of Almighty God.

Wayne Worman of the Lord's Day Alliance will preach. In the past the congregation has been very sympathetic towards the Alliance and Dr. Worman will tell us exactly how the organization of which he is general secretary, serves its supporters.
In the evening at 7:30 union service will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church, the Presbyterian church being responsible for the service.

Monday afternoon at 3:30 the Junior Christian Endeavor will meet. Boys and girls, keep the attendance up.

DE MOLAY BANQUET IS FINE SUCCESS

A large gathering of approximately 100 people attended the Mother's banquet given by the Fellowship Chapter, Order of DeMolay Tuesday, May 12 at the Plymouth Masonic Temple.
Decorations for the event were in yellow and blue and the main speaker for the evening was Ted Little who spoke feelingly on the appropriate subject of "Mothers and the DeMolay." Mr. Little is field representative of the DeMolay Grand Council.

Lester Daly very capably performed his duties as toastmaster as did Stephen Horvath who introduced the former Winfield Baughn gave a toast to the mothers and Mrs. H. Daly graciously responded. Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour of Northville pronounced the invocation and the benediction.
Music was by the Blue Serenaders and individual selections were rendered by Miss Evelyn Starkweather and Charles Van Vleck.

The success of the affair has prompted the establishment of the banquet as an annual affair.

Obituary

William Salow

Wm. Salow, son of Carl and Marie Salow, died at the home of his son, Louis, in Livonia May 3.

He was born December 24, 1863, in Mecklenburg, Germany, where he was received in holy baptism. He came to this country with his parents at the age of 4 years. On April 10, 1891 he was confirmed in the Evangelical Lutheran church at Farmington.

On October 25, 1898 he was united in marriage with Edith Giv of Livonia. To this union were born two sons. They spent their wedded life on a farm in Novi township until the year 1916 when they moved to Northville where they resided until the death of Mrs. Salow on December 31, 1928 when Mr. Salow sold his home and lived with his sons until his death. After long illness and much patient suffering he passed away May 3 at the home of his son, Louis, in Livonia.

A faithful church member, a loving husband, and a kind father, he leaves to mourn his loss two sons, Louis of Livonia, and Edward of Plymouth; four grandsons, one granddaughter, one brother, Louis, of Northville, and a host of friends and other relatives.

He was laid to rest beside his wife in the mausoleum in Rural Hill cemetery at Northville, on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Schoen of Farmington Evangelical church was the officiating pastor.

INDEPENDENT TEAM RAINED OUT SUNDAY

The Northville Independent baseball team was rained out Sunday in its game with the Plymouth Independents but will continue its schedule.
The season has already been opened, not so lucky for the local boys since they lost a game to the Detroit Lincoln A. C. two weeks ago. With a few more practice sessions, however, they are confident that they will hit their stride and win the majority of the remaining games.

Practice is held at the fair grounds every Thursday night beginning promptly at 6:30 p. m. Players attending the sessions at present are: E. Frey, R. Frey, E. Woods, L. Guy, P. Starnan, L. Van Boon, J. Levasseur, H. German, Jr., M. Ritchie and L. Smith.
Anyone wishing to play may come to the practice Thursday at 6:30 o'clock.

FESTIVAL NEXT MONDAY

While the first good rain that Northville has enjoyed in the past year delighted the farmers of the vicinity, it had quite the opposite effect on those who had planned to participate in the Rural school May Day celebration, Monday, May 11.
Despite the showers of last week, the May Day festival will be held next Monday, May 18. The invitation to all parents to come to Northville park where the festival will be held, is repeated and it is hoped that there will be a large turn out of interested people.

RETURN TO NORTHVILLE

After having been gone from Northville for 21 years Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Palmer are again residents of our village. They returned last week from Ferndale where they have been living recently and Mr. Palmer says that it seems good to be back. They are located at 116 Novi avenue.

POPPY SALE WILL BE SATURDAY, MAY 23

For many months past the Legion and auxiliary have been planning their Poppy sale for Saturday, May 23. On that day, under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Simmons and Chubb Smith, members of the Legion and auxiliary will be stationed at various locations in Northville with poppies for sale.

As the men and women of our generation follow the men in blue on Memorial Day and pay honor to those who bore the flag before them, we cannot help seeing the others who went out with them and "paid the last full measure of their devotion." We see the men in the hospitals and we see the homes that are broken and empty. It is right that we should see these things, and remind those who may have forgotten, that Memorial Day is only a day of vain glory.

To those who have suffered the death of a loved one, and to those who are ill or in distress we hope the American Legion and auxiliary will like the touch of a friendly hand—strong, helpful and comforting.

There is only one practical way in which our organization can give out the message of hope and cheer, and that you know, is through our annual sale of Memorial poppies. The idea of remembering those who lost their lives in the World war, by wearing a poppy, was a beautiful tribute, and out of that idea came a dream which was to be of actual benefit to the disabled, sick and needy.

For many months the disabled ex-service men have been laboriously and painstakingly making these poppies for the Legion and auxiliary to sell. Wrapped in the petals of each flower is the story of some bright hope, some brave endeavor, or some homesick and homesick soul.

So next week when you are asked to buy a poppy—please don't refuse, as any amount you can give will be very gratefully received, and please wear these poppies. Do not put them in your pocket and forget about them. We wear this poppy once a year to express the feeling of reverence that is always in our hearts for the men who died on the poppy studded fields of France and Belgium during the world war. The poppy is their flower. It grew on the battle fields where they fought and died, it grew over their fresh graves, the one touch of beauty and life in all that region of destruction and death known as the front. Nothing can symbolize our remembrance of the sacrifice of the world war dead in so fitting a way as the wearing of the poppy.

SCOUTS GET HONORS IN TYING OF KNOTS

An interesting project has been carried out by the local Boy Scouts known as the "Knot Board contest." Under direction of the Scoutmaster, Orlow G. Owen, the boys have worked out the various kinds of knots taught in scout lore. Many of these originally worked out projects have been on display in the window of the Owen Men's Shop where they have received much comment.

As the result of the contest the following have won prizes:

Group 1: For number of knots, Russell Knight; For uniqueness, Alfred Parmenter; For neatness and promptness, Robert Lyke.

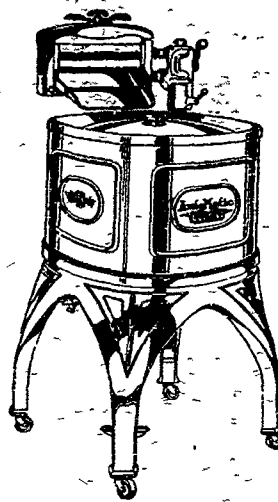

Group 2: For number of knots, Everett Cooper; For uniqueness, Herman Toussaint; For neatness, Junior Cole.

Group 3: For number of knots, Sidney Moose; For neatness, Thomas Carrington; For number of knots, Rolland Morse; For neatness, Jack Moffitt; For uniqueness, Lorrin Parmenter. Scoutmaster Loomis from the Wayne County Training school was the judge. Prizes will be awarded later.
At this meeting last Wednesday evening, May 6, five boys were initiated from the Tender Foot class to Second class Scouts: Jack Moffitt, Tony Bender, Paul Baldwin, Lloyd Spencer and Marvin Dickerson.

BABY CHICKS UNHURT IN BROODER FIRE

Fire Saturday afternoon did a nominal amount of damage to a brooder in a building on the old Ray Baker farm which now belongs to John Lester. The one acre farm is located on Walnut street.

The source of the fire is unknown but it was luckily discovered at the outset and the prompt appearance of the firemen kept down the amount of damage done.
About 250 baby chicks were in the barn but despite the smoke, none were injured. It is estimated that the cost of repairing the damage would not be more than $25.
