History was made in Northville Wednesday after oon when the first "run" of The Northville Record for this issue was made in the new Neal building, on the newspaper press that has been in process of erection for the past two weeks. The rest of the paper was printed there yesterday. It was indeed a happy Record crowd that saw the big press get slowly under motion and deliver the first pancy but it will be ten days before the complete task of removal from its temporary quarters in the Lapham State Savings bank building is finished.

ARE YOUR TAXES HIGH?

If you think your taxes are high (and they are) how would you like to live in England? A speaker the other day in Detroit said that eight out of every twenty dollars a man has in that country goes for faxes. That means a terrific load. And the tax burden in France and Germany is just about as heavy a load. If we think we have troubles a sympathetic look overseas will make us more grateful that we are as well off as we are.

ON TO WASHINGTON

As this paper goes to its readers, a large part of the senior class of our high school is on its way to Washington, D.C. We don't know of any finer event for the closing year of our graduates than a visit to our national capital. The whole world comes to it. How splendid that our young people should early learn something of not only theirs but the world's greatest capital. Let them so to the shrine of Lincoln and Washington and come home better citizens and better builders of the new day that is to come when they go out into life. Let them see a little of the vastness of this great nation and of the unity that joins a great people. This trip will soon be over but it will not be soon forgotten. Washington D.C. will ever have a new meaning for these seniors. We are just sorry that every last graduate couldn't make the memorable trip. D. C. We don't know of any finer event for the closing

WHAT'S BACK OF IT?

Just stepped over into the new Record building to within see how it was coming along. The place seemed full of aims, is men at work. We stopped to count them—an even dozen they were Carpenters were putting on doors; a young man was laying maple flooring so fast we could hardly watch the nails as they were driven into the wood; electricians were busy putting in wiring and conduits and all that; pressmen were putting the finishing touches on the big cylinder press: painters were slapping on the colorthe only folks we missed were the plumbers and you can repeat of a Pselin in unison, know that they will be there later for, although much libelled, the plumber is a dependable man.

MAKERS OF NORTHVILLE

We saw this man in the first two weeks we were in Northville, back last February. He was doing something worth while. We remembered his quiet, kindly greeting. On several occasions since, at different times and places, we have seen-him He is net-making much noise or bluster but is quietly filling in a niche in the community-life. We haven't been impressed by the fact that he holds any offices or asks any great favors for himself. We just suspect that most of you won't even guess who the man is.

We have seen this same man in every town we have known. There are a few of them—but you don't hear a great deal about them. But they back every good cause; they can be counted on. They don't go around with a "chip on their shoulder;" they don't seek office or preferment; they just seem to like to be dependable. They keep their homes looking neat and attractive. They will do their part without three committees coming around to ask them to do it. They are not social cr-business leaders but they help make up the back-bone of the communhas ever confronted there are those who would stop construction on ers but they help make up the back-bone of the control with the state highways by diverting funds when you need anything in our "boys." The biggest debt you owe your comfort is luxurious, restful, snuggley sleep-the kind that makes a baby wake up smiling—the kind grownups can have too.

So forget for a moment that this advertisement-features a mattress and a spring. Think, instead of lasting and beneficial comfort they will bring. The famous Beautyrest Mattress by Simmons, which has brought more comfort per dollar than any mattress ever made; it must be good, there are over a million in use. Investment? A marvelous one. Ten cents a day for a year and it pays for itself for its serviceable life.

Note its companion in comfort-Ace Box Spring. Read its short and true description. Then come in. To know this fine equipment you must

There is no more important purchase. And we want you to give it the time and consideration it deserves. Be sure we will contribute ours. No one is ever hurried or rushed into buying in this store. We are really here to serve—and service does not rhyme with rush or high pressure selling. You're always welcome—and we're sure you'll come back again and again. We make that our business.
