

ALL INVITED TO INSPECT NORTHVILLE RECORD PLANT JUNE 13

VETERANS OF FIVE WARS IN PARADE HERE

Memorial Day Service Held at Penniman Allen Theatre

Undaunted by heavy rain, veterans of five wars in the parade of 300 Memorial day marchers who participated in Northville's demonstration of homage to its war dead Saturday afternoon.

Forming at the American Legion headquarters, the line of march to the Penniman Allen theatre was headed by the Legion color guard, followed by the uniformed high school band and the firing squad. Two Civil War veterans, Charles Goodall of Northville and Marvin (Uncle Mary) Bogard of Wyand, Mich., formerly a member of the local G. A. R. post, both 91, Frank Raymond, 81, Indian war veteran, former member of Ouster's brigade, and Charles Kelley, veteran of two wars, the Philippine and the Spanish American wars, were carried in a private car. Following in order were the American Legion, the Women's Relief Corps, the Legion Auxiliary, three troops of Boy Scouts, two from the Wayne County Training school and one from Northville, and the school children bearing individual flags.

Veno Sacre, commander of Detroit post of the American Legion, addressed the program at the theatre, the 63rd memorial service held in commemoration of those who made the supreme sacrifice. "We who have returned," said Mr. Sacre, "have brought back with us the spirit of service inculcated in the army. The duties of citizenship are just as high as the duties of the firing line. There is no greater privilege than that of giving up a life for our country, but there are other demands for service to the community, state and nation. We must protect the widows and orphans of our war comrades and the disabled veterans. We must promote the ties of friendship and comradeship established by our country and preserve the glory and traditions of the great American people."

Opening with the Star Spangled Banner played by the Northville school band, the memorial program was as follows: prayer, Father Joseph G. Schuler; Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Elmer Gene Perrin; vocal solo, "Let Us Forget," Mrs. Wilber H. Johnston; "In Flanders Field," by Wilma Rattenbury; Memorial day, speaker, introduced by Legion Commander Charles Schultze; solo, "Roses of Picardy," Pierre Kenyon; prayer, Rev. W. R. Barbour; singing of "America," by the audience. All accompaniments were played on the organ by Guy Filkins. The program for the annual service was arranged by the Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147 of the American Legion.

Leaving the theatre, the parade of Memorial day observers marched to Oakwood cemetery, where the military salute and taps were given over the grave of A. M. Harmon in tribute to the Civil War veterans. The line of march continued to Rural Hill cemetery, where homage was again given in salute and taps over the grave of Lloyd H. Green, and over the pond in memory of the sailor dead. Wreaths were placed upon the graves of veterans. Following the return to Legion headquarters, parade formation was broken, and the W. R. C., Legion Auxiliary, and the Boy Scouts gathered for a picnic lunch.

A. SANISLOW BUYS FROM BENEDICTS

A newcomer to the circle of Northville business men is Alexander Sanislow who has recently purchased the Benedict Greenhouses. Mr. Sanislow took possession of the greenhouse Wednesday and will make his home here in Northville.

With a large background of experience as a florist, Mr. Sanislow comes here highly recommended. He has been employed by such prominent florists as Thomas Brown of Detroit, Joseph Dimes of Detroit and the past two years he has been with the Carl Heide Greenhouse of Plymouth.

Mr. Sanislow learned his trade as a youth in Passau, Germany where he spent the early part of his life. He is married and has a three months old baby, Forest Alexander.

CLUB WOMEN PLAN FORMAL OPENING

The formal opening of the Women's Club of Northville, which is situated at the intersection of Nine Mile road and Tait Center, will take place this week Saturday and Sunday. Membership in the club is open to Northville women, and all local residents interested have been extended an invitation to visit the club and make an acquaintance with its advantages, one of which is the new bowling green opened this week.

Sports activities this week-end will include a golf tournament, archery and riding, the last of which is in charge of George Dyer, U. S. A. member of Detroit, is the instructor in archery, a sport new to many women. A buffet supper will be served to all guests.

Miss Marie Riley heads the house committee in charge of the opening; Mrs. Elsie Frazer, sports, and Dr. Adella McGee and officers of the club will act as hostesses. Mrs. John Christensen and Mrs. W. Rawie Brown are the only Northville members of the club.

In the morning the local Legionnaires participated in the demonstration at the South L'yor at New Hudson cemeteries. Commander Charles Schultze and Harold White were on the general committee in charge of the day, and Alton Peters headed the grave decoration committee. William Whit and Martin Kalesky acted as collectors.

G. A. R. veteran Charles Goode, one of Northville's two female Civil War soldiers honored Saturday, discovered the spring at Andersonville prison, contributing to the welfare of hundreds of men thereby. Frank Rogers, 81, a veteran of the Civil War, was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shafer attend the Spartan Radio convention to be held at Jackson, Mich. on Friday, June 5th.

Many Northville Men Enrolled in Fifth Michigan Cavalry During Stirring Demonstration of the Civil War

The passing of another Memorial Day brings back a host of memories to elderly Northville residents. Little mention has been made of the 5th Michigan Cavalry, which was composed of most part of men from this and vicinity.

The Fifth Cavalry when the listed, were known as the Michigan Mounted Rifles but mustered under the name of the 5th Michigan Cavalry. About middle of August, 1862, E. K. K. received a commission to a company of mounted riflemen at once set to work to organize a company. Within a few days a meeting was held which addressed by Theodore Roman, Detroit, W. P. Yerkes and other Northville, and at once a number of men enlisted so that company went to Detroit and mustered in August 27, 1862, being 104 men all told. The service then granted a leave of absence of ten days and returned to the city. During the days the largest picnic ever in this vicinity was held in a back of the house occupied by A. M. Randolph, 24, and his wife. It was a picnic and a large number

VILLAGE MAYBURY SANATORIUM

Half the Size of Village Says Dr. Douglas

Dr. Douglas, superintendent of the Maybury Sanatorium, said that the new building is half the size of the old one.

The new building is a two-story structure, 100 feet long and 40 feet wide. It is built of brick and has a flat roof. The old building was a three-story structure, 150 feet long and 60 feet wide. It was built of wood and had a gabled roof.

The new building is located on the same site as the old one. It is surrounded by a large lawn and a few trees. The old building was surrounded by a large lawn and a few trees.

Drives to Coast at 73

Courage and the spirit of adventure are no small part of the character of Mrs. Armenta Stewart, mother of Mrs. Gus Regula of 230 North Rogers street of Northville.

Mrs. Stewart starts for California this week for her fifth transcontinental motor trip, with none other than her own 73-year-old self at the wheel. Usually she drives alone, but this time she will be accompanied by two friends.

Mrs. Stewart, whose home is in San Pedro, California, drives eastward often to visit her sons and daughters who live in and near Detroit, and one of whom is a Northville resident. Although she has made the long journey in an old "fiver," Mrs. Stewart decided that it was time to get the latest model, so that on the return trip to California her friends there will greet her in her new "stagecoach."

The trip requires about 10 or 12 days, depending upon weather conditions.

Pageant By Pupils Pleases

Northville public schools presented the third annual pageant Wednesday evening, June 3, at 8:30 p. m. The village park furnished a delightful outdoor setting for the affair.

The background of the stage consisted of a large, ornate, and colorful structure. The pageant was a series of tableaux, each depicting a different scene from the life of the village. The pupils of the schools were the main attraction, and their performances were well received by the audience.

Capital Thrills Seniors

Wednesday morning the seniors came back to school. The week they had spent in Washington was the only topic of conversation. Below are the first impressions of the members of the class as they themselves expressed them:

Howard Christensen: All of the buildings were very impressive. Everything about the trip was interesting and educational.

Robert Litsenberger: The paintings around the dome of the Capitol which had the appearance of statues stood out in my mind.

W. L. Stier: It was a great trip. The whole city of Washington is a most extraordinary place.

Mary Mados: Everything about the trip was wonderful. I like Washington's open-air street cars. Ned Junod: I think it's great! The Pan-American building and Mt. Vernon impressed me most.

Mable Bryan: It was all wonderful. It would be hard to say what I like the best about it.

Martin Sommers: We had about the best time Sunday. We took a trip through the residential district of Washington.

Esther Fischer: I was disappointed. I expected everything to be wonderful and it wasn't much more interesting than any ordinary city.

Rose Chargo: It was all so different. I liked it all.

Albert Root: The Capitol and the Smithsonian Institute were most interesting.

Alex Johnson: The city proper was not quite so beautiful as I had imagined it to be, although the residential section was nice. The Smithsonian Institute and the Capitol interested me more than the others.

Hazel Archibald: The Arlington cemetery made a decided impression on me. The city of Washington was beautiful, especially at night.

Ted Cavell: It was a great trip. The Smithsonian Institute and the Capitol interested me most.

Helen Strachan: I still like Michigan better than Washington, but it was a wonderful trip. The Smithsonian Institute with all its great variety of things was very interesting. The tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the Lincoln Memorial were impressive to me.

Hazel Cordukes: Washington was beautiful and I enjoyed seeing the historical buildings. But the most impressive thing to me was the beauty and the grandeur of the Blue Ridge mountains.

Dorothy Gerge: I was impressed by the unusual beauty and cleanliness of the city of Washington.

Velma Blake: Washington was so much beyond my best dreams that

NOTED EDITOR WILL BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT RECORD OPENING DINNER

Malcolm W. Bingay of Detroit Free Press Will Be Attraction: "Open House" to Precede Banquet

With Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of The Detroit Free Press, as the principal speaker, a splendid program awaits the business and professional people of Northville and outside newspaper folks, who will be the guests of The Northville Record at a complimentary dinner at the Methodist church house next Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The banquet marks the entry of The Record into its new home.

Inspection of the new Neal building and the equipment of The Record plant will be held from 6:00 to 7:00 o'clock. If the weather is favorable the Northville Community School Band will give an open air concert in front of the building during the hour of the open house. This unusual attraction has been made possible through the kindness of Director Edwin Head and Fred W. Lyke, manager.

Due to the desire of The Record to give Mr. Bingay ample time for his address, which will be notable, the program of other speeches will be short. John Kalbfleisch, retired Detroit business man who has made his home here for five years, will be the toastmaster.

Mrs. Bertha Neal, owner of The Record building, will bring greetings and Mayor Harry S. German will speak for the village of Northville. E. E. Spohn of Ann Arbor and Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth, both former owners of The Record will be heard in representative and possibly in prophetic vein. George Averil, editor of The Birmingham Eclectic and president of the Michigan Press association, will represent the state publishers.

A substantial dinner will be served by the Methodist ladies and high school boys and girls will assist in the service. Decorations will be in the hands of local florists.

The music of the evening will be in keeping with the unusual program. The high school orchestra, directed by Leslie G. Lee will be heard in various numbers and the Rotary quartet, which has gained an enviable reputation, will care for the vocal numbers. The members of the quartet are: Don Yerkes, Sr., Chas. R. Van Valkenburgh, Percy Angove and Leslie G. Lee.

The Record feels very much gratified that Mr. Bingay, one of the outstanding newspaper men of the nation, has consented to be the guest of honor.

NEW BUILDING WILL BE OPEN TO VISITORS

Newspaper and Job Printing Machinery Will Be the Attraction

Welcome to the new home of The Northville Record!

The latch string will be out to all our readers and friends, no matter where their home, on Saturday, June 12. "Open house" will be observed that day and the Neal building, constructed especially for this newspaper, will be open for inspection from the front door to the rear. There will be no formality. The Record force wants everyone to come in and just look around and see what we have in our new home and how the newspaper is made.

The match the beautiful and yet utilitarian building, there is some of the finest newspaper machinery in any town the size of Northville in this part of the Middle West. Only a small part of the equipment that was in the old Record building, before the fire that ruined it last December, is left to link the old with the new. We want our readers to see the linotype, the battery of job presses, the automatic press that does job work, the big newspaper press and the use of other machinery that is used in getting out The Record and in turning out the job work.

The task of moving from the former temporary quarters in the Latham State Bank building was started last Friday, May 29 and in two days the machinery, all moved to the new building. Under the direction of an expert from the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., the linotype, which is the heart of the newspaper plant, was moved and in less than 48 hours was setting type under the skylights of the new building. Only one day, Saturday, did that should have been a holiday—did the job department stand idle as Monday morning the presses were "hooked up" and are at the office equipment was moved to its new setting and by Tuesday morning the desks were arranged for business and the office force was again at work grinding out this week's paper and planning for the big special "new home" edition that will appear Friday, June 12.

The "new home" edition will consist of 32 pages and will be a representation in story and picture of the old and new Northville. A great amount of work has been necessary to compile the news matter and to assemble the pictures that will be found on every page. The paper will appear in four sections and the various articles will give a vivid picture of the entire Northville community. Unless there is some slip in the large amount of mechanical work yet necessary, the edition will go out to subscribers on the usual publication day, June 12.

So again we say, we hope you all will plan to come to "our party" Saturday, June 12. The office will be open from morning until late in the evening and you can come at any time convenient. There will be no "receiving line," all you have to do is to walk up to 120 North Center street and turn in at the new Record door and then make yourself at home. "You will be as welcome as the flowers in May."

The whole Record staff will be on hand to tell you as much or as little as they know about the newspaper and job printing business. We'll expect you at the "open house" of The Northville Record some time Saturday, June 12. Come in and know your home newspaper.

ROCKS FROM MANY PARTS OF U. S. AND A LARGE VARIETY OF PLANTS ARE FOUND IN CARRINGTON GARDEN

Unique among Northville's "beauty spots" is the rock garden at the home of Postmaster and Mrs. F. R. Carrington, 364 South Rogers street. Probably as large a variety of rocks, flowers and shrubs exists nowhere else in this vicinity. Begun by Mrs. Carrington seven years ago as an experiment, the garden has grown to be a beloved hobby occupying almost the entire spare time of a busy housewife and mother. It has now become a family venture, each member contributing new "finds" in stone and plant, as well as the constant and patient care required by such an undertaking.

At the front of the Carrington residence, Mrs. Carrington has arranged an interesting and novel landscape effect with various trees close to the house, and a moss log tree to the left of the front entrance. Below this is a "desert garden" with various trees and low plants of colorful variety, such as the Johnny-jump-up, scilla, and great hyacinths. Rocks and stepping-stones are arranged for use and beauty add to the artistic yet natural effect.

At the rear of the home the Carringtons have built a three-tier rock terrace. On the right is a section devoted to wild plant life, including get-me-nots, creeping buttercup, creeping phlox, and thyme, house leeks of the "hen and little chickens" variety, gladiolus, meadow rue, arabis, lupine, myrtle, violets, speedwell, Scotch pinks, cottage tulips, Oriental poppy.

BLOSSOMS' TRIM GARDEN CITY, 9-4

Northville's heavy hitting Blossoms went to Garden City Sunday and made good on nine out of twelve hits to beat Garden City baseball team by the score of 9 to 4.

The game was played on the Garden City field, corner of Middle Belt and Ford roads before a large crowd of baseball fans. The game was close until the ninth inning when the Blossoms pulled away from their opponents by scoring three runs to put the contest "on ice."

Estil Rowland, the Blossoms' ace pitcher struck out eight men and in the seventh inning gave a real demonstration by striking out three men in a row. Rowland only allowed the Garden City boys four hits altogether while the local boys hit hard and often for a total of 12 hits.

Fatherly for Northville were Rowland and Freydl and for Garden City Miller and Basse.

The Northville chiefs under the coaching of Harry S. German, baseball mayor of Northville, nearly won a shutout against the Brightmoor Independents. The game, played at Brightmoor, attracted a large crowd of people who, although disappointed that their team lost 5 to 2, were well satisfied with the exhibition.

The score stood five to nothing in the last of the ninth inning for Brightmoor. German had struck out two men when it became evident that his arm had gone its limit and two runs were scored.

The Wood brothers played excellent ball around second base while Moffet and German, Jr., were prominent at bat.

Batteries for Northville were Harry German and Loyde German and for Brightmoor were Carley and Gray.

The Northville Chiefs have coming engagements at Monroe, Carleton, Mt. Clemens, Jackson, Albion, Traverse City and other towns throughout the lower part of the state.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In an article last week The Record made the statement that there was only one Civil War veteran left in Northville, George Goodell. Attention has been called to the fact that Leonard H. Cornwell of 219 DuBuay street served in the Civil War and saw action with an Ohio regiment.

WHAT WOULD THEY SAY?

Monday night, June 1, 9 p. m. Just looked up at the new electric clock that was put on the walls of the composing and press room today. Like a flash we thought: "What would our own grandfathers and grandmothers think if they could look on something on the wall that kept perfect time without ever being wound?" What will your grandchildren have to look at that we never dreamed of seeing?

JUST LIKE NOON-DAY

A Detroit Edison expert came all the way out from Detroit one evening to inspect the lighting of the new Record plant. When through he said: "Your lighting is just about perfect. It is thirty times as good as a Detroit factory where we have made tests and where they will put in a new system." When we get through this big "jam" come in some night and try to find your shadow under those mellow yet powerful lights.

NORTHVILLE CO-OPERATION

We have mentioned it before in this column but we have to say it again.

The loyal co-operation of everyone in the trying times of keeping The Record going while getting our new plant organized has been nothing short of amazing. The boosters and lifters have been many. Their help has lightened a heavy load. From the bottom of our hearts we thank you one and all. Some day we'll try to help you all.

TO JAIL FOR LIFE

Three men who attempted the robbery of the bank at Pontiac will go to prison for what will mean the best part of their lives—from 20 to 40 years.

One with any imagination must shudder at the terrible price this trio paid for trying to steal thousands of dollars. Why would any sane being take the chance of being shut inside prison walls for years and more years just for the chance of getting some dishonest dollars? Why take such a hideous chance?

These sentences are so stern that would-be bank bandits will be doing more thinking before they start trying to "stick 'em up."

A little more of this Puritanic justice will surely drive the fear of the law into some of these robbers who think to prey off the success of others.

Maybe the sooner young men realize that little robberies lead to big ones, the sooner will they walk the straight and narrow—the only path that brings peace and lasting happiness.

LESSONS OF THE DEPRESSION

The depression, from which the nation now seems to be slowly lifting itself, brought untold hardship to many people. To others it was a blessing, dressed up in hard times clothes.

A good friend of ours, who we thought was a great success, took us into his confidence not long ago about the manner in which the depression had hit him. It was one of the best things that ever happened to him.

"Do you know, Dick," he said, "when the times were so booming, I was just going beyond my income, because everyone else was doing it. If my neighbor bought something I thought I had to 'keep up with the Joneses' and off I went and bought the same thing, just to show them that I was a success too."

"Well, do you know, we were getting head over heels in debt when this panic broke in the fall of 1929. Say, we came to with a bump. We just made up our mind that the wild spending must stop and so we went on a budget. We began to live on my income and started paying those debts for things that we shouldn't have bought. Now do you know we are getting along fine. Debts all paid up and getting some money laid away. The depression was 'bad business' for me for a while but it was really the best thing that ever happened to us."

The depression took a mean "wallop" at us all. But if a lot of us are square with ourselves we can find some way in which it has done us much good.

"AT HOME" JUNE 13

The Northville Record has moved into the new Neal building, thank you.

We feel the thrill that the patriarchy had when they reached the "promised land." To be in a building that is built especially for a newspaper's demands and then to have that building filled with the last word in printing machinery is to fulfill a dream that comes to every real newspaper man.

The new building and all that is in it are solid and substantial. From the steel windows to the solid foundations under the presses, everything is of a permanent nature. Unless there are some radical changes in the printing business in the next decade or two, the Record is ready to go ahead and do business on an enduring basis.

Without its readers no newspaper would endure for many weeks. The Record belongs to the community and is backed loyally by the community. Therefore, all of the citizens of Northville and environs have a deep and abiding interest in their newspaper. It is their spokesman and should be their best friend. Because The Record belongs to the community, we are hoping that hundreds of our readers and their friends will be on hand during Saturday, June 13, for our "open house" that will be our day "at home" to show the new building and the equipment to our friends. For many it will undoubtedly be the first time that they ever saw a linotype or an automatic printing press. We want everyone to come in and wander around all through the plant and to ask all the questions that bob into their heads. We might even have some flowers for the women and something for the men and children. Our biggest hope is to have everyone feel that they are coming to see "their" newspaper and its new home.

You are all invited to come and see The Northville Record building and everything that is in it on Saturday, June 13. We shall be disappointed if even the busiest of you fail to drop around and say "hello." You will all be very welcome.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What are you doing to make a better Northville?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

GOD'S WAGES

(Birmingham Eclectic)
How much money do you suppose Americans spent for pleasure during 1930? In spite of a so-called business depression, the public of the United States parted with $21,943,000,000, nearly twenty-two billions of dollars. During the same time they gave to organized churches in this country, including Catholic and Protestant, $469,000,000. When you consider the courageous progress made by Christianity of the small comparative allowance it gets, you've got to admit that God can give you more for your money than the devil.

EGGS UP FOUR POINTS

(Albion Evening Recorder)
Three weeks ago we called attention in this column to the exceedingly low price of that most utilitarian of fruits, the hen's egg. Now eggs are selling for a nest at eighteen cents a dozen, or a rise of four points. Eggs are the only things we know of which have gone up in price in this period. They are also the only things we have called attention to as selling below their worth.

Draw your own conclusions, and does some one think we should call attention to any other product selling below value? Have any of you a few shares of stocks you would like to see go up four points? Reasonable rates. Address Egg Editor, Recorder Office.

TOO MUCH PUBLICITY

Charles S. Seed, Rochester editor, declares:
"From the day that a man's name appears on the front page of a newspaper, his REAL worth is finished!"

The Rochester scribe was bemusing the wide publicity given Bryon United, who was so bravely instrumental in saving the lives of sixteen children in a snow-bound bus in Colorado. This paragraph from the lengthy Seed editorial carries the basis of his reasoning.

ATCHISON'S WAR POEM

ANSWERS CHALLENGE

A third cousin of Captain John McRae, author of the now famous poem, "In Flanders Fields," who was killed in action during the World War, Russell McRae Atchison, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Atchison, has written an answer to the soldier's challenge. It is entitled, "Though Star Shells Break No More in Flanders Fields," and is as follows:

Flanders' fields—ah yes, they lie
Beneath far distant Belgian sky
And overhead the larks do sing,
And ghent and wheel on merry wing
While down below the ground is red
With gently swaying poppy beds,
That nod and turn and twist and toss
Within the shadow of a cross.
A tiny cross just made of wood
That through the long years has
Withstood
The burning sun and creeping fog,
A lonely sentinel of God.
Sleep on in peace, fond soldier lad,
Let not your long dream be sad,
For we will carry on for you,
Until our span of life is through.
Till others come to take our place,
To guide the progress of our race,
And never a step for freedom yield
Though star shells break no more in Flanders' fields.

Russell was named after his cousin. He is a senior at the University of Michigan and plans to enter medical school next year.

Picked Out Wrong

To See Model Children
People wondered at, but enjoyed them, and are still told of the ad those days. Mr. Emerson gave Fuller some visiting cards one afternoon, and conversation having turned to the interesting subject of education, Miss Fuller said:
"Well, Mr. Alcott, you are able to carry out your own ideas, and I should like to see your model child."
She did in a few minutes as the guests stood on steps, a wild uproar approaching the corner of came a wheelbarrow ho May arrived as a question horse bit and bridled, by my elder sister Anna, zle played dog and bark as her gentle voice perma
"All were shouting and running, however, came down and we, eager group before us, got tripped, and down we put a climax to the job with a dramatic wave
"Here are the model children," said Miss Fuller, from Alcott, her life and Edna D. Cheney.

EDGEWATER PARK GREATLY IMPROVED

Many persons from this community have visited Detroit's beautiful Edgewater Park, Seven Mile road near Grand River, since its opening. At present the park is operating Saturdays and Sundays only, but later this month will be open every evening.

This popular amusement center has been completely rejuvenated for what promises to be its most successful season. Cleaning, painting, planting, and building have been under way for weeks. Each year sees Edgewater Park more beautiful than ever.

As usual the park will prove popular for holiday outings and family picnics and the management has made special arrangements to care for those who wish to bring their lunch baskets and picnic beside the beautiful lagoon skirting the River Rouge. Not only is admission to the park free but ample space is provided for parking automobiles within the park.

Under the management of Paul Heinze, Edgewater Park has established itself on a high plane because of its splendid supervision and the unusually fine type of amusements offered.

CONTROL IS KILLED

Waving "Corpse Lights" Due to Decomposition? There was in former days a firm belief in "dead candles," apparently a sort of natural rocket that issued from the ground and burned before the "window" of the room where a dying person lay. "Corpse lights"—blue flames that burned, or rather waved over the grave of anyone who had been murdered—were equally believed in.

A certain weaver, early last century, took as his assistant an ill-looking journeyman. After a time the weaver disappeared, and the journeyman, carried on the business, declaring that his master had gone on a long journey, but would return after some months. It happened, however, that two gentlemen, driving past the weaver's cottage one night, saw the "corpse light" near the cottage, and brought the sheriff to the place next day.

The journeyman, on being questioned as to the weaver's disappearance, denied all knowledge of where he had gone, but persisted in his story that he would eventually return. The sheriff, however, sent his officers to dig where the light had been seen, and when the weaver's body was found the journeyman broke down and confessed that he had murdered him.

It was said that about 1888 these lights, which were probably due to the decomposition of the body, had been seen almost every night in the over-hill churchyard at Gretna in Edinburgh. —Weekly Scotsman.

Has No Scientific Basis

There is no known scientific basis for the popular belief that underground water, oil, mineral deposits or hidden treasures can be located by means of a forked twig carried over the surface in a certain manner, says Fathinder Mahabadi, editor of the Faithful, a certain people is not deluded.

The belief is probably a relic of ancient methods of divination. Early in the fifteenth century, miners in the Harz mountains of Germany, prospecting with hazel twigs, said this practice, which was discredited among the Cornwall miners in the time of Queen Elizabeth, later was adopted as a means for finding veins of underground water.

Mystic Ceremonies at

Dance of Purification

Japan, like most of the Orient, is a great land for ceremonial dances. A sword dance is given once in every seven years as part of a festival peculiar to a little island, village near Tokyo. Here is a Shinto shrine, to which run long flights of steps, and the top of which is formed from an extinct volcano. Immense red cedars tower into the air. At the summit is the inevitable shrine with its money box and many ornate lanterns and curiously designed decorations.

The people take off their shoes and sit on the straw matting before the raised platform, which is the place for the Shinto priest. There are two old men, and one of them, after the going had struck to command silence, took his prayer stick and prayed long and earnestly before the holy of holies, with many bows, relates an eastern observer of the rites. Then he arose and waved his stick over the heads of the musicians on the platform and over the audience to purify it. The prayer stick is just a round bit of wood, three feet long, to which is tied a white paper symbolizing purity, cut in a peculiar fashion.

A shouter whose duty it was to terrify evil spirits and drive them away seemed to observe more destined to give the wide-eyed children in the audience a horrifying nightmare. This dispenser of evil spirits wore an ugly mask, with long scraggly black hair. He also carried a twig torn from a tree and had it waved through the air. These he waved throughout his dance. During his appearance the drummer beat upon the same kind of instrument used in the Furama dance and two other men played peculiar Japanese wind instruments, sounding much like a flute, but much shriller in tone.

Thinkers

Beware when the great God lets loose a thinker on this planet. Then all things are at risk. There is not a piece of science, but its flank may be turned tomorrow, there is not any literary reputation, not the so-called external names of fame, that may not be revised and condemned. The very hopes of man, the thoughts of his heart, the religion of nations, the manners and morals of mankind, are all at the mercy of a new generalization. —Emerson.

AT EXCHANGE CLUB

Members of the Exchange club following their regular Wednesday noon luncheon, were privileged to hear their fellow Exchangeites, Park Hammond and Pat Van Wagner of Pontiac, tell about the district convention to be held June 7 and 8 at Pontiac.

Major Emery of Oliver Military Academy, will be one of the main speakers, and Mr. Hammond quoted Joseph Borach, chairman of the convention, as saying that the Major was one of the finest speakers that he had ever heard.

Pontiac high school band, which recently won the Class A championship of Michigan and honorable mention at the national contest at Tulsa, Oklahoma, will play for the convention guests, and the high school choir composed of the boys and girls' glee clubs will also furnish entertainment.

The women guests will be shown through the Cranbrook school and Christ church, two of Pontiac's feature spots, and Monday afternoon will be taken to Pine Lake, where luncheon and bridge will be featured. A number of the local Exchange members signified that they would attend the convention, but expected to return in time for the banquet to be given Monday night, June 8th, at the business meeting of the Pontiac Exchange club.

Exchange members were reminded that the joint meeting of Rotary and Exchange will be held next Monday, and that there would be an Exchange meeting next Wednesday.

Mention was made of Past President's day, which will be held on the last Wednesday in June, the 24th.

During the closing minutes of the meeting, John Kalbfleisch, retired Detroit business man, moved that something be done about the brush growing in front of the Exchange club, sign on Plymouth avenue. Mr. Kalbfleisch declared that he had seen the brush while driving on the road and that he felt like getting right out and cutting it then.

Rev. Wm. Richards stated that he had had the same feeling and a prompt motion by a fellow member was quickly seconded, and carried that John Kalbfleisch and Rev. Wm. Richards be appointed a committee of two to cut down the brush in front of the sign. A single dissenting vote was registered by Thad J. Knapp, superintendent of schools for which the letter was immediately given thanks by John Kalbfleisch and the Rev. Richards.

Mrs. Voldrich, dressed in the costume of her country, told us many interesting things about the manners and customs of her people. We are greatly indebted to Miss Hunter for our pleasant evening.

Our next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Anna Casterline on Dunlap street, Tuesday evening, June 9th.

On June 23rd, the Auxiliary have invited the Legion members and their families to join in the annual picnic to be held at Cass Benton park.

WEDDED SATURDAY

The wedding of Floyd Gregory and Elizabeth Humberger of Northville was solemnized at the home of the Rev. William Richards, Saturday, May 30, at 1:30 p. m. They were attended by Mark Bell and Thelma Stanley, also of Northville.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered net over blue satin and carried white carnations. Her maid-of-honor was adorned in green and white and also carried white carnations.

A six o'clock dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Clef Boyd, 256 First street, of Northville. Out-of-town guests were the groom's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gregory and brother Donald; also his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Crane all of Flint. The couple will reside in Northville.

MRS. M. J. WILKINSON DIES AT AGE OF 86

Once a classmate of Henry Ford, and for 85 years a resident of Northville, Mrs. Mary J. Wilkinson, 86, died at her residence, 124 Yerkes avenue, at 10:39 o'clock Tuesday evening, June 2nd. She was the oldest member of the Methodist Episcopal church at the time of her death.

Born in Greenfield, township, December 13, 1844, the daughter of Samuel and Sarah Winn, Mrs. Wilkinson spent her childhood in Dearborn. Her parents were neighbors of Henry Ford's. On June 14, 1863, she was married to Byron Wilkinson, and came to Northville. She was considered a woman of remarkable vitality and beauty, even in her later years. She suffered no serious illness throughout her life, her health being unusually good until Christmas time, when it gradually began to fail. Two weeks ago she was forced to remain in bed, and failed to rally.

Surviving the deceased are five children: Anna Wilkinson, at home; Samuel Wilkinson, of the Northville district office of the Detroit Edison company; Bert Wilkinson, of the Consumers' Power company of Pontiac; Fred Wilkinson, an electrical contractor of Detroit; and Mrs. Gertrude Wade of Stratmoor, fourteen grandchildren, and a number of nieces and nephews. Mrs. Wilkinson's husband preceded her in death in 1882.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the home, and at 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church, the Rev. William Richards officiating. Burial was made in Rural Hill cemetery.

LITTLE DAMAGE AS TWO CARS COLLIDE

A collision occurred at the intersection of Main and Center streets at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon when a sedan driven by Earl Baughman of Lyons Township collided with a Ford coupe driven by Edgar Thomas of Plymouth.

Mr. Baughman was taking a left hand turn as Mr. Thomas came through a green light. Mr. Thomas had the right-of-way, according to Chief Safford, who witnessed the accident. Little damage was done to either car.

Copper and Electricity

The Siamese twins of science, as though conscious of their interdependence upon one another, reached on the world's hand in hand. For instance, Count Jean-Baptiste Carver caught sight of the famous "Ontonagon Boulder," a nugget of pure copper weighing six tons, in 1793. Alexander Volta, a visionary Englishman, tried in vain to remove it and to mine in Ontonagon County during the three years from 1771 to 1774. Russell Gore writes in the Detroit News: In 1788 Luigi Galvani, whose name is embalmed in the words "galvanic," discovered that electricity applied to the dissimilar legs of frogs convulsed them with the appearance of life. In fact he thought he had discovered the life force—the elan vital of the French—the energy that animates all the uncellular activities of the amoeba or the contractile vacuole processes of Danter or Volvox.

Alexander Volta, professor of physics at the University of Pavia, wrote the magic word "volt" into the language of electricity, by carrying the Galvani experiments to the climax known to electrical historians as the voltaic pile. In the year in which Doctor Roughton was born, 1806, the great English scientist, Sir Humphrey Davy, fore-shadowed the age of electric light when he exhibited a voltaic arc based on the discovery of Professor Volta.

Early Samplers Called for Expert Needlecraft

At first, "samplers" were loquacious, talkative, and had been worked out patterns for delicate lace, cut and drawn work, and attached both simple and intricate. It is recorded that the famous Italian, "punta tagliato" was introduced into America by Catherine Macdonald and this gave us a new side light on the activities of that historic country. Also, Mary Stuart, while an exile at the French court, learned to do the "punta tagliato" and brought samples with her to England. Many royal women of early days were skilled in needlecraft as well as in court intrigue.

Thus we learn that the original sampler was a pattern sheet having the latest and most popular designs for millinery's workbasket. But in the seventeenth century there came a change. Quickly rowed at stitches and designs; their letters, names of workers and dates of birth, and often sentiments or lines of verses were added, all this giving evidence of originality, skill and patience, which made the sampler a thing of beauty, highly prized by its maker, who could be rightly proud in using her name and date of birth. The body of the sampler was lined or cased, and when the former was used the work was more delicate and intricate.

If There Were No Copper

Copper, the most ancient metal known to man, is indispensable to electricity, newest handmaiden of the race.

Your telephone would be dead, your car would be useless, your radio silent. There would be no electric lights without copper.

Copper is the yardstick that determines the degree of any country's electrification.

Ironically, Africa, now "discovered" to have the richest copper deposits in the world, is the Dark Continent. It hardly uses any copper at all.

ALWAYS GOODBYE

Set a thief to catch a thief! Lewis Stone uses this method to expose an impostor in "Always Goodbye," stirring Fox drama, starring Elissa Landi and due at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday, June 10th.

Stone plays a wealthy diamond miner. He is entertaining at his Como estate, Paul Cavanaugh, whom he knows to be an impostor, and Elissa Landi, posing as Cavanaugh's wife.

Cavanaugh is intent on stealing the "Heart of Flame" diamond, Stone's rare gem, which he keeps in his private vault safe. Acting on the advice of Scotland Yard, Stone reveals the combination to Miss Landi, hoping to trap Cavanaugh.

Here romance enters the picture. Stone falls in love with Elissa, whose confessed policy has been to discard all lovers with "Always Goodbye."

How the veil of suspicion is finally lifted from Elissa, and the real criminal exposed, forms the climax of this stirring film drama.

Others in the cast are John Garrick, Frederick Kerr, and Lumsden Hare. William Cameron Menzies and Kenneth MacKenna co-directed.

IRON MAN

"Iron Man," starring Lew Ayres, will be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday, June 14th.

This Universal film is considered one of the strong pictures of the season. It is a great love story from the pen of W. R. Burnett, who is also the author of "Little Caesar."

Both novels were selected as the "book of the month" and have been tremendous sellers.

"Iron Man" tells the story of the rise and fall of a prize-fighter. It is a powerful story rooted deeply in American life, and with a passionate, if unusual, love theme.

Tod Browning, one of the greatest directors in the business, who was responsible for the filming of Lon Chaney's successes directed "Iron Man."

Jean Harlow, who has been called the most dangerous blonde in pictures, plays a vivid role that of a voluptuous, and cheating wife who preys on her husband once he attains fame. Miss Harlow will be remembered for her startling role in "Hell's Angels." John Miljan and Robert Armstrong both have important roles. A score of highly amusing prize fight types was gathered for this picture.

THE PERFECT ALIBI

Criminals are always seeking the perfect alibi. Master minds have tried through the ages to foil the law by craftily laid plans, leaving no stones unturned to thwart justice and apprehension. But they always seem to neglect one thing—disguise!

A most minor one and they are trapped.

Something of this sort happened A. A. Milne, one of the greatest British playwrights, to write his celebrated mystery play, "The Perfect Alibi."

The knowledge that criminals of great intelligence turned every crime into the famous author.

West Point Park

Arrangements have been made for West Point Park Presbyterian Church to join with Fort Street Presbyterian church on their annual outing to Bob-Lot Thursday, June 18th. Don't fail to remember this date. Announcement regarding tickets will be made later.

Mrs. Homer Goodman entertained at luncheon, Mrs. E. Rogers and daughter, Lucille, and Mrs. Christine Houghberry of Detroit.

The last meeting of the P. T. A. was held Thursday, the last one until after the holidays.

June 18th, the successful pupils who pass the examinations in the eighth grade, will receive their diplomas. The exercises will be held in Community hall. Six boys and four girls graduate and expect to attend the high school, with Mr. Johnston as principal next year.

Boy Scouts from Troop 189 of Nardin Park M. E. church, attended church here Sunday. They were under the charge of Scoutmaster E. S. Connelly, who assisted with the morning service. West Point church ladies served them with dinner. The boys were so hungry they did not waste any of the food prepared.

The seventh and eighth grade pupils from Keeler and Emerson schools had a trial on the diamond here Thursday at 4 o'clock to see which ball team was the best.

Elmer Hardwood and the Keeler team, Harry Wolfe and the Keeler team for Emerson. The score was 7 to 10 in favor of the home team.

Mrs. Russell Ault who has been at the Northville sanatorium returned home for a couple of days last week. Her friends are pleased to know she is improving in health and strength.

On Friday June 5th there will be a strawberry festival in the community hall. Music will be provided by home talent and also musicians from Detroit. The Union Trunk Company will give a dramatic play entitled, "Pat's Matrimonial Venture." Come and enjoy an evening of fun and merriment.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenlee, accompanied by Mrs. Samuel Jordan of Redford, were visitors with West Point Park friends, Sunday, and attended church here.

A large number attended services Sunday and heard a good talk by the pastor, Rev. John Adams, on the theme, "Invisible Witnesses."

The base ball game between West Point Park and Risdon Creamery teams was a very close one from start to finish, the latter leading until nearly the last inning, when the home team scored. The final score was three to four in favor of West Point Park. A game will be played on the diamond here on June 7th, between Skrzycki Bakery and West Point Park at 3:00 o'clock sharp.

Kenneth Gullen, son of Earl and Lillian Gullen, is seriously ill in a Detroit hospital. He attended church, and Sunday school in West Point Park for six years. He is at present in a contagious ward, and his relatives are unable to see him.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Owen are spending a few days with their parents and other relatives and friends at their home in Youngstown, Ohio.

Mrs. Berger and daughter, Helen, have returned from Florida, after

WILLIAM H. ASHTON PROTESTS CUTTING OF HIGHWAY TAXES

May 29, 1931

Editor Northville Record:

Local organizations are doing much to improve the scenic beauty of Northville, but while doing this would it not be well to give some thought to what we are losing in the surrounding country.

Township officials appear to think they have extraordinary rights to destroy trees and shrubbery, it seems to me to bring these people to task and restrain them, else we will soon have only hills and valleys to greet our sight.

Apparently the state was cognizant of the pernicious action of some of these officials because a state law says that "Highway property owners must have the abutting property owners' consent before they can move any trees and shrubs within the highway limits, unless these trees and shrubs interfere with the movement of traffic."

There are probably few people in Northville who have not at some time driven through, and admired that attractive spot on the highway, the road that crosses east of the Meadowbrook Golf course.

This was one of the most beautiful spots in this part of the country. Thousands of native flowering shrubs lined the road, shrubs such as people purchase from nurserymen to beautify their grounds and parks. It was a natural parkway.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

COLD HEARTED (?) NEW YORK

Almost forgotten this time, little Home Makers' Corner!

In the shock of news of serious illness of our sister—the chum of our girlhood—The Northville Record and all pertaining to it faded away into nothing. Suddenly in a case we were leaving behind little group standing loyally on the curb. The rest was a nightmare until our train was thundering into the gloom of the station of mighty New York. Somewhere, in all that vastness lay our sister—an "big heartless" New York.

Here then is our theme this week. People in the metropolis are just like other folks. To our surprise we found the kindest neighbors and friends.

To the little green gate in our sister's pretty back yard each morning came real neighbors—just like we have back in Northville—to ask, "And how is your sister today?" And "What can we do for you?" Another says, "Our car is at your service."

Cup custards and all kinds of delicacies are brought to the kitchen door. Even the milk man pauses to inquire and say, "She was always good to me." The butter and egg man—lingers awkwardly trying to express his feelings.

On the way to the nearest grocery, trades folk before their store say, "I know you are Mrs. M's sister. How is she? She was very good to us." "My hen laid a fine egg today," says the green grocer. "My parcel," and on the way a small boy hastily stops to ask, "How is Mrs. Madison?" I used to go to see her.

A ring of the door-bell flowers, a big box of them from the "Green Shop Girls"—just business girls of "Queens."

All these kind attentions fail to penetrate the dulled sensibilities of the sick one who lies upstairs but to her sister's heart they are like a hand stretched out in the dark.

The coming of a big city doctor we rather dreaded. He would be cold and forbidding we feared—too professional to care. Answering his ring, we opened the door to a kind faced man, bronzed by the sun. He came in, quick—long package, wrapped in paper. "I was fishing yesterday in the sound—here's a part of my catch"—a city doctor, bringing a fish! Will wonders never cease.

Before long we hope to turn back homeward, back to this "dearest spot on earth" but it will be with a very different feeling that we watch those same skyscrapers fading from view as we speed up the Hudson river valley. We shall say "Goodbye, old New York. How many wonderful friends there are out in this big old world after all."

SMILES Optimism

The price of rent, With swift ascent, Soon has my pile of wheatearth spent. But sing for glee— It occurs to me The blessed sun and air are free!

ALL RIGHT!

"Bah," quoth the pessimist, With a face characteristically long, "This is a pretty bum old world! And things are wrong—all wrong!" Still another "Bah," quoth he, With a face characteristically wry, "I could make a better world myself. With only half a try!"

"Sure," smiled the optimist, Characteristically aglow, "That's what we're here for; now let's try."

Heave-ho, my friend, heave-ho!

Popularity of Cuckoo

Clocks Well Deserved

Cuckoo clocks originated in Germany in the Black Forest district. The first one was made by Franz Anton Ketterer, in Schoneswald, in 1730. Copies soon became popular, the appeal made by their quaintness and novelty being reinforced by their good workmanship and excellent time-keeping qualities. The mechanism of the cuckoo clock is very ingenious. By the thrust of a wire the body of the bird is bent forward, the wings and tail are raised and the beak is opened. Simultaneously two small bellows are raised and dropped. The notes are produced by little wooden organ pipes, one tuned a fifth above the other, to which the bellows are attached. Almost every home in the Black Forest possesses one of these clocks, but on this continent they are now less popular than formerly, possibly because modern homes have not the right atmosphere. Moreover, the competition of other clocks has become increasingly strong.

Satisfied by Figures

You would think that a mathematician who had worked out the position of a new planet would be interested in having a look at that planet, when discovered, wouldn't you? Yet Leverrier, the Frenchman, who did the figuring that located Neptune in 1846, was once in the observatory with Flammarion, the astronomer, who said that the planet had Neptune showing in the telescope, and asked Leverrier if he would like to see it. He replied: "No, I have never seen it." He had discovered Neptune's position by mathematics and the his interest in it ended. The joy of a mathematician is the discovery of a theoretic truth, or the confirmation of a calculation by experiment.—Kansas City Star.
