PEOPLE NEED FEWER LAWS SAYS COCHRAN

Attorney Speaks at Rotary Exchange Luncheon on Wednesday

An appalling number of laws come before our state legislatures and are passed, says Attorney Fred J. Cochran, who spoke at the Rotary exchange luncheon on Wednesday. He said that the state legislature is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days. He said that the state legislature is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days. He said that the state legislature is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days.

Mr. Cochran concluded his comprehensive and interesting talk with this telling statement: "The government is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days. He said that the state legislature is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days. He said that the state legislature is passing laws at a rate of one law for every two days."

HARRY WADSWORTH GOT START IN BAKING BUSINESS IN ENGLAND

Besides sportsmanlike speedboat racing, England sends some of the best bakers over to this country. Harry Wadsworth is one of them. He got started in the baking business in England. He got started in the baking business in England. He got started in the baking business in England.

Mr. Wadsworth spent ten years in England, where he learned the trade thoroughly. He learned the trade thoroughly. He learned the trade thoroughly. He learned the trade thoroughly. He learned the trade thoroughly.

Twenty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth reached these shores. They reached these shores. They reached these shores. They reached these shores. They reached these shores.

Step by step the Wadsworths have moved ahead and with a steadily increasing circle of friends and customers they are making the future of the Wadsworth Baking company of Northville.

A number of Northville young folks who are hoping to attend various colleges this fall are being held up temporarily in their plans.

ASYLUM MAY RECEIVE STEALERS OF WHEAT

According to several farmers, the three Mason young men arrested last week for stealing wheat should be examined by alienists. Instead of keeping these youths in jail they should be sent to an asylum. For anyone who steals wheat at the present low price is going to a lot of trouble for a small amount of money.

CHAS. MEINZINGER CATCHES BIG FISH

Fish stories now that the vacation season is drawing to a close are the vogue. The best and most authentic story so far is related by David F. Meininger, Northville, who proudly shows a picture of his brother, Charles, holding the largest "muskie" caught at Les Cheneau islands on August 31. The "finny" specimen of the deep was hooked by Charles on a Downage with a silk line and rod and reel. It weighed 30 pounds and was 48 inches long.

ORRIN C. CASTERLINE USES TRUCK TO BRING HOME HIS GROCERIES

Whether it was for his good looks or as a Legionnaire, we don't know, but anyway Orrin C. Casterline, Northville, has been awarded the grand prize of $25 worth of groceries at the "Gala Day" put on by the Farmington American Legion post last Saturday. Mr. Casterline had to commandeer a truck to bring home his groceries. He had to commandeer a truck to bring home his groceries. He had to commandeer a truck to bring home his groceries.

"ALL-STARS" NIP NOVI BLOSSOMS AT FARMINGTON

For only the fourth time this season—out of fifteen or sixteen games played—the Novi Blossoms "took it on the chin" last Saturday afternoon when they were routed out by the Farmington All-Stars, 4 to 2 in a holiday game at Farmington. There was no disgrace in defeat since the All-Stars were reputed to be a collection of the best players from several teams of high caliber.

The "All-Stars" took a two-run lead in the first inning and were never headed for the rest of the game, although the Blossoms kept threatening all the way. The batteries were All Stars, Cully Gurst and Wolfen Blossoms, Stamen and McCully.

After the battle "Bud" Newcomb, first baseman for the Blossoms went in and won the 100 yard dash, having a big lead over the second man.

FAIR RETURNS

Because of lack of space it is necessary to hold the Poultry department awards of the Northville Wayne County fair over until the next issue of the Record.

BEG FOUR PARDON

In the article on the Northville schools in last week's Record and the school of "T. J. Knapp, principal and superintendent" should have been under "Elementary School" instead of "High School" where it appeared. It was our error and we apologize.

CROWD VIEWS STEEPLECHASE AT GRENNAN'S

Detroit Riding and Hunt
Club Stages Big Meet

A large crowd which viewed the steeplechase meet held Saturday at the P. H. Grennan estate on the Six Mile road testified to the increasing popularity of Northville as the center of horse interest in the state. The feature event of the day was the Estelle F. Grennan Memorial race, a half-mile race for geldings, which was won by C. H. O'Shea's Fire Cure over one and one-half miles of brush to come an easy winner. E. S. Nichols' Saboteur was third.

In the three-quarter mile flat race, Captain Charles' hard won victory over John Dyer's Jake under E. Barnes, followed by Fred M. Alger's Bakers Boots made it a highly successful day for the Northville stables. The four horses finished neck and neck, providing plenty of thrills for the spectators.

Bobbie Nicholas' on Water Girl, another Navin horse, lost to E. S. Nichols' Black Rock after showing the way over most of the course in the University Race. Water Girl was the favorite because Black Rock was given a heavier allowance of weight since his victory in the Gross Pointe meeting.

Fred M. Alger, Jr.'s Wanderer won the Bob Wade race, a quarter-mile contest from a field of 11 that were representative of the fastest in the southern part of the state. Just behind Wanderer were Joseph Dyer's Puzzle, J. W. Barlow's Chief Revolt and P. H. Grennan's Northville with Miss Evelyn Grennan, up. The latter was gaining rapidly and in the opinion of several officials would have passed Wanderer in another 30 yards.

Northville has developed to the point where it is distinctly a threat to the supremacy of the local polo parks in the Players' dash. Northville won in 21 seconds flat, whereas Wanderer covered the same ground in 27 1/2. Last year Northville was a distinct disappointment to his owner as he was extremely slow.

Another surprise of the day was the close competition given to Northville by Plymouth who has occupied a stall at the Nine Mile road without breaking into a regulation contest. Plymouth came in ahead of Henry Mendy and but a length's distance separated him from Northville.

Bud Pierce rode Charles D. Pierce's Eclipse to a first in the school plate race, in which the young riders were paced for a mile and a half over brush by Allan Lee, and turned loose for a final scurry. The Hillwood Stable's Dolly was second under Henry McKenzie to show position going to E. S. Nichols' Greenslade with Charles Hubbell.

Thirty-Eight Northville Tots Get First Taste of School Life As They Enter Kindergarten

Vacation is over. Tuesday morning 38 young five-year-olds of Northville awoke to find their period of perennial freedom gone. Hereafter bells and schedules will control their lives. No rushing off to one grand long play day for these youngsters. Instead 33 rather serious mothers gave little necks and pairs of ears a special scrubbing and either led off or waved off these erstwhile babies to the beginning of their education. What happened behind the doors closed after they had gone home but mothers can guess but it has been happening yearly ever since mothers had to realize that "Birds must fly or they wouldn't have wings." And the mother knows they must. When she used to cuddle the downy things. Fortunately for our little ones schooling is begun very differently from the old method of sending tender little babies off on severe study. Kindergarten is such a happy transition from home to school that children adapt themselves unconsciously to the habits of study. Have you ever visited the Northville kindergarten? The whole lower floor of the old brick house adjoining the school house is devoted to this "school home" for the little beginners. Light, airy and clean, it is attractively decorated and furnished with small tables, chairs, bookcases and play equipment all of which make it a delightful spot for the kiddies. Mrs. Ida Rose Cavell-Eaton is the controlling spirit in this kindergarten and so thoroughly does she love her work and the children that teaching is a pleasure. "I have the sweetest bunch of youngsters this year," exclaims Mrs. Eaton. "In fact," she adds, "each year they seem the nicest I ever had."

"JUVENILE FOLLIES" COMING SEPT. 18

"The Juvenile Follies" are coming to Northville. Presented by the Lloyd H. Grennan post of the American Legion, thirty-five youngsters—one boy and 34 girls—are coming out from Detroit Friday evening, September 18, to put on a real professional performance. The entertainment, which will be something very unique, the Legionnaires say, will be held at the Wayne County Training school auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The "Follies" are coming here under the auspices of the Wayne County School of Dancing and the program will be an unusual one. One group of five of the organization holds the state championship for vaudeville performance. This indicates the high calibre of the "Juveniles." The price of admission will be in keeping with the times—only 25 cents for everyone, big or little. At this figure there should be a full house. Tickets are on sale at Horton and Stewart's drug stores.

The third race, a mile and a half steeplechase, was declared a win by the stewards when the patrol judges reported that each of the seven entries cut a flag at one place or another along the course. The meet was held under the auspices of the Detroit Riding and Hunt club.

645 PUPILS ENROLLED IN SCHOOL HERE

High School Has 295 and the Elementary Grades
Number 350

With 645 pupils enrolled the new school year got under way in Northville Tuesday. There are 295 in the high school and 350 in the elementary schools. The senior class numbers 39.

With the pupils who are very likely to enter during the coming months, the year will probably show an increase in students over last year, states Supt. Thad J. Knapp. The offices of Superintendent Knapp, Principal R. H. Amerman and Librarian and contact officer, Mrs. Martha Ray, have been busy places during the past few days as long lines of students have stood waiting their turn to enroll, arrange their schedules and finally purchase the required books.

No little patience has been required on both parts to untangle many of the complicated knots but "the worst is over" and according to Mr. Amerman things will be running like clock work next week.

Into the stream of resident students has poured another stream of "foreign" students, those who have come from nearby towns and rural schools whose courses were limited. Adjustments are being made and the leaders in the school are gratified to observe a fine spirit of camaraderie extended these outsiders by Northville students. Report of the number of these who have joined our resident students will be made later.

Following is the enrollment of the various high school grades: Seventh, 48; eighth, 58; ninth, 56; tenth, 48; eleventh, 43; twelfth, 39. This is the first enrollment and it is expected that there will still be additional students.

An interesting fact in this enrollment is that a number of those who had previously dropped out of school have come back to continue their course. Some of these had just "quit," some had stopped to work. The sparsity of jobs at present is the "ill wind that blows no body no good" and brings these back to complete their preparations for better positions.

Rather unusual is the fact that there are expected at least five persons who will take up post graduate work this year. Some of these are recent graduates and one has been out of school ten years.

Although Northville schools seem to be in a fine healthy condition with prospects for still better things.

officially between the councilmen concerning another celebration such as the Twilight Hamper but no definite action was taken.

TEACHERS TAKE ALLEGIANCE OATH

A new ceremony has been going on this week at the Northville schools—the taking of the oath of allegiance by the teachers.

The state legislature passed a law at its last session, requiring that all teachers in the public schools take an oath to uphold both the constitution of the United States and also to do their best to fulfill the ideals of their profession. The reason for the law is that in rare cases there have been teachers who have been charged with spreading radical doctrines among their students. Obviously there would be no need of such a law in a community like Northville whose ideals are those of the best Americans.

The oath has been given to the 25 teachers by Supt. T. J. Knapp.

JOS. BLAKE-NAMED AS COMMANDER OF AMERICAN LEGION

Joseph Blake, well known Northville resident, was head of the Lloyd H. Grennan post No. 147 of the American Legion, the coming twelve months. This post is widely known as one of the most progressive and aggressive in the whole state of Michigan. Officers were elected and installed Tuesday evening at the Legion hall, with 30 members present. Mr. Blake, who has been the hard working welfare officer of the post succeeds Chas. Schoutz who has given very capable and conscientious service the past year. The other officers named are:

First Vice Commander, Martin Kalsky
Second Vice Commander, Dr. D. H. Soley
Adjutant and Finance Officer, Leslie Alexander
Historian, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston
Chaplain, Alton Peters
Sergeant-at-Arms, Frank Wilkinson
Welfare Officer, Chas. Schoutz
Delegates to Wayne County Council, Harold G. White, Jos. Blake and Leslie Alexander.

BOY SCOUTS START SEASON BY PAINTING THEIR OWN BUILDING

With the energy of the traditional "Tom Sawyer," the local Boy Scouts have tackled the job of painting their building on the school grounds. As popular as was Tom's fence is this old building and the boys fairly clamor for a chance to wield the dripping brush—partly for the fun of daubing it on and partly because the job applies on their credits in handicraft.

What matter if the Scout building is rather motley when the job is done—a proud gang of boys will gaze with far greater satisfaction on their handiwork than they would if a professional painter had done it. Scoutmaster Orlo Owen shows himself a real leader of boys in this plan as in others.

It is a question whether the more paint was put upon the Scout building or upon the boys' exterior, says their scoutmaster—but the school board furnished the paint for this noble purpose. And red paint is not barn red but a shade that will blend well with the adjoining brick school buildings. In celebration of the beginning of their year's activities a big gang of over thirty hungry boys met on the school grounds and enjoyed a welcome roast around a camp fire Wednesday evening. When the weather was full and contented they discussed with their leader the plans for the coming year.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO DONALDSON HOME ON WALLED LAKE RD.

Fire, when started in five places did much damage to the Donaldson home on the Walled Lake road one-half mile north of Novi Wednesday night.

The fire was discovered approximately at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and a bucket brigade together with the aid of the Novi fire department extinguished the blaze. Mrs. Dora Donaldson, who lived at the house with a Mr. and Mrs. Pack and a hired man, was in Flint on a business trip and the other members of the household were not at home when the fire started.

Bundles of sticks, neighbors saw soaked with kerosene, were taken from three clothes closets and the kitchen. The fire was heaviest in an attic to which there is no inlet. Mrs. Donaldson was expected to return from Flint Thursday. The house was insured, it is said, and the state fire department will send an official to investigate the circumstances surrounding the case.

EXPERTS SAY TOWN NEEDS NEW WELLS

State Health Officials Give Recommendation to Improve Water

State Geologist Richard A. Smith and Director of Engineering E. D. Rich, of the Michigan department of health visited Northville Wednesday to review the possibilities of improving the town's water supply. Mr. Rich said that in order to take every precaution in safeguarding the health of citizens the open reservoir used in the Northville water system should be eliminated. He suggested that two new wells be drilled and that a smaller concrete reservoir, one that could be covered, be constructed.

The alternative of chlorinating the water supply was proposed by Mr. Rich, but he pointed out the objections to this plan stating that in an event Northville found it necessary to make new wells, the entire expense of installing the chlorinator equipment would be superfluous and that if the chlorinator system were used there would undoubtedly be a number of complaints from those who disliked the taste of the chlorine.

Mr. Smith, state geologist, mentioned a number of likely points at which good water, flowing through deep, coarse gravel, could be located. It would be desirable, he said, to sink wells near large water mains so as to obviate a large expense connected with building new mains to handle the flow of water.

In the opinion of the two experts it would be much less expensive and more convenient for Northville to sink its own wells than to hook on to the Detroit water supply which would not be up to the quality of Northville water.

Mr. Smith emphasized the importance of securing a well-driller who knew more than just how to "punch a hole in the ground." "Good wells," he said, "are often made than merely just discovered." A good well-driller will make a well where the hole-puncher will sink a shaft and trust to luck that nature will supply the water.

Col. Rich declared that it was the opinion of the state department of health that Northville's water supply was "potentially dangerous." A letter received a short time ago by village authorities from Dr. C. C. Slemons, head of the state department of health, confirms this statement.

The two experts delivered their opinion before commissioners Dr. H. Burkett, Ross B. Dusenbury, Dr. L. W. Snow and Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, village health officer.

ROTARY CLUB WILL HOLD AN ASSEMBLY MONDAY EVENING

The Northville Rotary club will not hold its regular weekly meeting next Monday noon but instead will meet in the evening of the same day, September 14, at 6:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian church house. The program, a Rotary assembly promises to be exceptionally interesting.

According to Father Jos. G. Schult, president of the club, a "Rotary club assembly" is an intimate discussion of items of pertinent interest to the local club as well as laying plans to carry out Rotary's definite proposed activities for that year.

The following program will be carried out next Monday evening with each member giving a five minute talk on the subject assigned. Report by president on District Assembly.

Good By To Summer Says Northville

Wistfully, yet hopefully, Northville says, "Good bye to Summer," as the leaves commence to fall in our beautiful Central park, at the corner of South Wing and Central streets. In the park the grass turns brown and the darkness comes early and the crickets begin to sing. Summer with all its joys—and worries—is gone and the bare trees of the park will soon sing a requiem as the winds whistle through them.

The summer of 1931 has been one of worry and anxiety for many, due to the reign of "Old Man Depression." Many families have felt the touch of hardship, due to widespread unemployment and the slowing down of business in general. Yet as the leaves fall and frost is not far off, there is definite and outstanding hope that this same summer of 1931 has seen the worst of the hard times that began two years this coming October after the summer of 1929 had bade farewell.

When the leaves start to open again next spring in Central park, Northville, it will very likely be to a brighter, cheerier and more prosperous year than we are closing.

THE TELEPHONE

Forgot to write a letter the other day about some folks coming to see us and at the last minute had to use the telephone. Called a number out in the country near a Michigan town and, sitting at our desk, in less than one minute had our party and the talk all over. When you stop to think about it, that is really marvelous. "The world do move."

WORLD LOOKS BETTER

Things won't be much better in the United States until the rest of the world is in a more prosperous state. So it is a good thing to keep a weather eye on Europe and the rest of the land overseas. The world is now a big neighborhood and we have been finding it out the past months, somewhat to the discomfort of those selfish people who would have us live to ourselves and ignore the rest of the world.

For our encouragement, the world is looking better. Mr. Stimson of the State department is just back from a few weeks spent in England, Germany, France and Italy and on his arrival in New York the other day he was very optimistic over the outlook. He says there is a better feeling among the nations there and that he expects to see a gradual return of prosperity and that in turn this will reach out and hit us.

So we thank Mr. Stimson for his encouraging words. These are days when every little hint of breaking skies and better days is eagerly accepted. Mr. Stimson has the world outlook if anyone has and what he says has great weight. Let us, therefore, get ready for the recovery of the sick world and look for a quick convalescence for ourselves.

"RESIST EM!"

When our spirits get low during these depression days we say: "1931 will be the year of the fighters." For really in every community—every town has been hard hit—there are two classes of folks who have been automatically divided: Those who "take it standing up" (the fighters) and those who "take it lying down" (those who go into a slump and ooze gloom).

Got to talking the other day to a Northville man about this and he talked on this fighting spirit. "Yes, sir," he said, "the way to do is resist 'em."

"Resist 'em!" Why isn't that a good slogan as we fight our way back to normalcy? "Fight gloom and depression and shoot out good cheer and optimism."

Lonia is one town that has the "resist 'em" spirit. The other day 25 or 30 business men in Fred Green's town got together and talked over ways and means to go after business and how to make it a good winter for Lonia.

Editor Fred D. Keister in writing about it in the home newspaper said: "I hate to think that this town would take a licking without putting up a scrap. A little co-operation and we will give depression an awful battle."

There is the "Resist 'em" spirit and there is the stuff you can't stop.

So we say to Northville: "Get on the battle line."

THE REWARDS OF SYSTEM

Around our house, we have a "pet-peeve." We tell the family that when anything goes wrong: "We make our own troubles." Every once in a while this comes back at us. If we take a drink at the sink and drop the glass into bits, we hear a titter from one of the "kids" and the soft words: "Well, Dad, we make our own troubles, don't we?"

Last week the whole Record office had an example of how it pays to be systematic and careful. A part of the big cylinder press broke and then it was impossible to start it. We had to send for an expert from Detroit, go and get him and then take him over to Ann Arbor where they needed another expert. Cost: Three dollars an hour which is more than this writer is making right now—so much more that we won't talk about it. The expert found that the whole trouble came from the fact that a piece of wood had dropped into some part of the press and stopped movement.

The moral of the story is not the fact that we lost a lot of time and money but here is the point to this yarn. On the way over to Ann Arbor the expert said: "What do you think it would have cost you if that block of wood had fallen in another part of the press and smashed something there?" When we gave up the problem he said: "Just about $700."

"Good night!" Seven hundred dollars for making a mistake and dropping the right thing in the wrong place! Well when we thought of that we had a near-sinking spell.

So, good friends, it pays to put things where they belong. We know a business man in another town who is a success in spite of the fact that he personally is unpopular because of his brusque ways. He succeeds because his business is systematically run and because there is no loss from carelessness. An employee who leaves valuable tools lying around soon finds himself out of a job.

One of the formulas for success is system and carefulness. The conscientious, careful man who cares for things around him won't live in the kind of a house that Rip Van Winkle did. He will usually be a success.

THE END OF THE ROAD

Strange how men who set out to be criminals don't figure out that sooner or later they get caught. Strange how men think they can steal and never get found out.

Here in Northville just a few days ago we had a man living here who afterward fled the town and probably the state. He is said to have been involved in a robbery in which his brother was killed.

Now look at this case. Brother dead, himself a fugitive from justice—what a terrible picture! What does it matter if this man had previously stolen a lot of money and enjoyed (?) the use of it. That's all out of the picture now. Everything a man can hold worth while is gone. Can anyone with an ounce of brains think that this pays?

One thing this country needs right now is a return to old time standards of honesty, of industry and of integrity. Nothing seems to be safe any more and the spirit of selfishness and greed is appalling. Yet we must believe that the vast majority of men and women want to do what is right. The problem seems to be doing something about the altogether too large minority that is lawless, defiant and domineering. If we can get over the notion that we can get "rich quick" and if we can return to the standards that our fathers and mothers had, a better day will dawn.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Should children have a budget?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

OUST THE CRIMINALS

(Cheyenne Observer)

A close perusal of the editorial columns of our best country weekly newspapers inclines us to the belief that if our city dailies were half as urgent and sincere in their demands that public law enforcement officers get down to brass tacks and perform the duties they are sworn to perform, and that if the public would once arouse itself to the dangers that have been menacing our country in the last dozen years, the yoke could soon be thrown off the criminal element properly disposed of, and much of the dangerous unrest and disorder and lawlessness would be done away with. Public sentiment invariably designates the action law enforcement officers take toward their sworn duties.

DETROIT'S DOLE

(St. Johns Republican-News)

An astute St. Johns business man gave voice the other day to what has been lurking in the minds of many people regarding the Senator Couzens million-dollar gift to the Detroit Welfare Fund. "Why could not Couzens have given this money and not advertised it?" the merchant said. "All of the bums in America have Detroit spotted as a soft place to land this coming winter," he continued. There is more than a thread of truth in this. It was last year Mayor Murphy proclaimed to the world that Detroit would spend millions for relief. It amounted to about $17,000,000—and there have been so many evidences of graft and abuse that Detroit taxpayers are wondering how much further this program is going.

I AM STILL RICH

(Roy L. Smith in The Rotarian)

When the depression came I was compelled to take an invoice and soon discovered that I was still rich.

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, business associates believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect. The wife's welcome at the close of the day has not depreciated in the least and our daughters continue to lavish their affection upon us with the same old extravagance.

My faith in the goodness of the universe is unimpaired. By that faith I am emboldened as I face defeat and despair. The prayers my mother taught me and the faith in God instilled in me by a devout father remain as priceless treasures no depression can touch.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something—only by becoming something. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

Thus depression has cost us some of the things we created but it has robbed us of none of our power to create. We may lose some beautiful things but we have lost no love of the beautiful.

It is a challenge, not a catastrophe.

COMPLETE CANDOR

(Cheesman Argus)

In the current issue of the Colliers the editor relates that when he met Gov. Huey Long of Louisiana, the governor greeted him with: "I've just been reading your stuff. By golly, you don't LOOK bright either."

This brings to mind the disheartening experience of a Detroit columnist some years ago. One morning he had a visitor to his sanctum, a constant reader from the wide open spaces. He had just dropped in, he explained because he always read the column and sort of wanted to know what the writer looked like.

"Now that you've found out I'm the writer, what do you think?"

"Well," replied the honest countryman, "I kinda wish I hadn't come."

PLYMOUTH AND THE FAIR

(Major Elton R. Eaton in The Plymouth Mail)

Last week Thursday was "Plymouth Day" at the Northville Wayne County Fair. So that everyone in town might be able to attend, all stores and offices, where it was possible, were closed. As a result almost everyone in Plymouth attended the Northville fair during the afternoon and evening. In fact an official of the fair association stated that "Plymouth Day" provided the biggest crowd of any day the fair had. This year, like all previous years, Plymouth has been a loyal supporter of the Northville fair. Not only did it provide the fair with its biggest crowd on most all other days, a check of the fair visitors by those in a position to know, showed that Plymouth residents were in greater attendance during other days of the week than were people from any other community. Plymouth not only patronizes the fair by attendance, but it contributes largely to the fair premium book by advertising, as well as the rice card each year. Many of its residents assist in other ways to support the fair. A large number of exhibits are provided by this community. We were pleased when the horse show committee decided to give its annual dinner party following the ending of the horse show last Saturday at the Hotel Mayflower in Plymouth. It didn't mean a whole lot, but it showed that the spirit of the officials who favored the Mayflower in Plymouth was right and that the Northville Fair association appreciates all of the support it gets from Plymouth.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

(Albion Evening Recorder)

While three cases of infantile paralysis in this community do not approach an epidemic, still they are enough to cause parents to worry. A recent check-up by state health authorities shows more than a seasonal increase in the number of cases in the state, and the State Health Commissioner has taken active steps to prevent a wider spread of the disease. The Michigan Medical Association and the University medical research department are working with the health commissioner.

Any epidemic of infantile paralysis is always at its height at this season of the year and the period of greatest danger is between now and November 1.

This disease has baffled medical science because it is caused by a virus or germ so small that it cannot be seen by the most powerful microscope. It has not been determined just how these invisible germs are carried into our homes. Strange to say, direct contact rarely is accountable for a spread of the disease. Physicians tell us that healthy persons perhaps carry the germs about and some may be ill to a slight extent with the disease without knowing they are spreading germs that may attack and maim some infant.

This sickness has become a dangerous epidemic in many states. It is difficult to account for the way it is transmitted, but families are advised to keep the children out of crowds in any community where this disease has gained a hold.

The attack may seem at first but a minor ailment, so children showing any symptoms of it should have attention at once. Fortunately medical science has made great progress in treating it.

Many young people who seemed hopelessly stricken, have fully or practically recovered from its paralyzing effects. Plans for regular exercises of the afflicted members have done wonders for many patients whom it was just thought would be laid for life.

A FORGOTTEN DUEL

Every American schoolboy has been taught that George Washington, during the eight years of the Revolution, had other enemies than the British to fight. More than once jealous generals sought to oust him and take his place. One of these attempts, the Conway conspiracy, is referred to in all American history books, but historians have passed over the story of the duel it caused between General John Cadwalader and General Thomas Conway. Now, as we near the celebration next year of the two hundredth anniversary of George Washington's birth, all these personal issues pertaining to his life take on new interest, and this incident of Conway's duel needs to be recalled.

We are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission that General Cadwalader so fully respected General Conway's circumstances that he challenged Conway to a duel. Probably the only record of what actually took place between the two generals was set down many years after the event by Alexander Garden, an officer in the Continental Army and aide-de-camp to General Nathaniel Greene.

As described by Garden, General Cadwalader arrived at the appointed rendezvous accompanied by General Dickinson as his second, while Conway's attendant was Colonel Morgan. It was agreed by the seconds that on the word being given, the principals might fire in their own time, either offhand or with deliberate aim.

The parties having taken their places and the word being given, Conway immediately raised his pistol, fired, and missed General Cadwalader. Was about to fire when a strong gust of wind disturbed his aim and he lowered his weapon.

"Why not fire, General Cadwalader?" Conway taunted him.

"We came here not to trifle," General Cadwalader retorted. "When the word has passed, you will find me acting my part."

"You shall have every chance of performing it well," Conway sneered, and at once turned himself full face to his adversary.

General Cadwalader fired, and Conway fell forward on his face, the bullet entering his mouth and carrying away a sliver of his jawbone. The wound, however, was not fatal.

The gall of honor having been satisfied, the two officers, General Cadwalader, paired without resentment, and Conway lived to write to George Washington a letter of sincere repentance for his part in the cabal against the Commander-in-Chief. Whether Washington replied is not known to history. No answer has ever been found.

(Major Elton R. Eaton in

The Plymouth Mail)

Last week Thursday was "Plymouth Day" at the Northville Wayne County Fair. So that everyone in town might be able to attend, all stores and offices, where it was possible, were closed. As a result almost everyone in Plymouth attended the Northville fair during the afternoon and evening. In fact an official of the fair association stated that "Plymouth Day" provided the biggest crowd of any day the fair had. This year, like all previous years, Plymouth has been a loyal supporter of the Northville fair. Not only did it provide the fair with its biggest crowd on most all other days, a check of the fair visitors by those in a position to know, showed that Plymouth residents were in greater attendance during other days of the week than were people from any other community. Plymouth not only patronizes the fair by attendance, but it contributes largely to the fair premium book by advertising, as well as the

Peemman Allen Theatre Northville Mich. MOTION PICTURE PROGRAM

"ARIZONA"
Columbia Pictures have made an absolutely interesting talking film from "Arizona," the celebrated stage play by August Thomas. It will show Sunday, September 13, at the Peemman Allen theatre under the same title. One can readily understand why this play has attained its popularity. It has an age-old appeal to men, women and children. In addition to a powerfully dramatic love story, it has plenty of action. The football scenes are among the most realistic and thrilling ever photographed. Here is a film that is genuinely entertaining because of its well-rounded action. Briefly, this is what transpires:
Bob Denton, during his four years at West Point, has been carrying on an affair with Evelyn Palmer, a New York girl of rare beauty and comfortable means. On the eve of the Army-Navy game, Bob decides to break off with Evelyn. She tries to take it like a sport because that was their understanding when they parted. But the affair has affected her pride. However, she continues her life, but does not think her good enough to associate with his friends and this makes her deeply feel. She determines to get back at him in some way. She marries his guardian, who is a colonel in command of an army post in Arizona, to prove to Bob that she can be accepted by his people.
When upon his graduation from West Point, Bob is assigned to his guardian's regiment and finds that Evelyn is the wife of his commanding officer. He is terribly shocked. He decides that the Colonel should never know of Evelyn's past life. Through him, Evelyn, however, will not let bygones be bygones and when her sister, who has come to Arizona from a school in the East, falls in love with Bob, Evelyn interferes in a manner that threatens to wreck four lives. How this tragedy is averted forms the basis for much of the film's action and there is plenty of it.
Laura La Plante, as Evelyn, gives a sincerely emotional portrayal. She has never looked more attractive in a role. Those who are accustomed to see her only as a comedian will be pleasantly surprised at her versatility—she is a capable dramatic actress. John Wayne is handsome and appealing as the romantic lead. He and pretty Julie Clyde take care of the love interest very nicely. Others in the cast who contribute interesting characterizations are Forrest Stanley, Loreta Sayers and Nena Quartaro, who is quite fiery in the part of an amorous Spanish girl. Credit for the smooth and intelligent direction goes to George B. Seitz.

"TOO MANY COOKS"
"Too Many Cooks," Radio Pictures' entertaining film, will be shown at the Peemman Allen theatre Saturday, September 19. The story is designed for laughing purposes only and revolves about the antics of thirteen members of the Cook family, who take an active interest in the courting affairs of a young couple, played by Bert Wheeler and Dorothy Lee.
From the beginning to the end the film is a whirlwind of funny situations, snappy dialogue, humorous character work and bizarre camera action.
William Seiter, the director, has moved straight to his objective, developed the full possibilities of his farcical situations and delivered an extremely well rounded story.
Bert Wheeler, in the whimsical role of a hard-working citizen, with a desire to get married and settle down in a love nest, is a new Bert Wheeler character and convincing.
Dorothy Lee is a thoroughly starring material, if her work in "Too Many Cooks" is a criterion.
Contributing highly amusing roles to the picture are Roscoe Ates, Florence Roberts, Robert McWade, Sharon Lynn, Hallam Cooley and several others.
"Too Many Cooks" is a smashing hit, distinctively and without reservation. It was adapted from the Frank Craven stage play by Jane Murtin and was supervised by Douglas MacLean.

Horse Show Awards
Little can be added to the Horse Show held during the Northville County fair, August 25 to 29, by way of descriptive phrases and flowery adjectives.
Suffice it to say that under the extremely capable management of H. B. Clark, superintendent, Russell Walker, chairman, Mrs. Wm. Rawle Brown, chairman of the Junior Show, aided by C. H. Newkirk, H. W. Nicholls, Dr. H. Burkart, Mrs. H. Whipple, Sterling Eaton, A. B. Holmes and F. H. Grennan, the smoothest and most complete performance ever held at any horse show were held during the three days given over to that purpose here.
Harry McNair, noted ring judge of Chicago, handed out the ribbons and participants alike by his impartial, skilled evaluation of the horses in each event.
Dr. E. B. Cavell, Northville sportsman, expertly attended his duties as veterinarian as did Gustace Blake as ringmaster and Harrison Johnson in the capacity of clerk of the show.

The city girl boarding in the country spoke to the farmer about the savage way in which the cow regarded her.

"Dear me!" cried the girl. "Of course I know it's terribly out of style, but I had no idea a country cow would notice it."

Don't Give A Newspaper A Dollar
Such is the advice spoken by a well known merchant over the radio recently.
He was directing his remarks to business men in small towns and cities. "Don't give a newspaper a dollar," he emphasized. "Instead, buy twice as much advertising as you think you can afford for a period of one year. Then watch your business grow."
"The newspaper," he said, "is an accurate mirror of the town which it serves. If your town is a live town, one that can meet the intense competition of today, the newspaper will be filled each issue with snappy invitations to trade at the various stores of that town. Your newspaper is your weekly or daily contact with the people of your trade territory. Use it liberally and you will be surprised at the results."
"The merchants in any community where a real newspaper is published could afford to pay the subscription to the paper for every resident within a few miles—they could get their money back many times over by increasing contacts for advertising messages."
"Boost for your newspaper: It is always boosting the community and the boost you give will pay you big dividends."

INSIST on the INSIDE FACTS
For Your Protection Make These Comparisons Before You Buy Your Tires

UNDERNEATH the surface is where you get the cold truth about tire values. It's the inside of the tire—the method of construction and the quality and quantity of materials—that determines its Stamina, Performance, Safety, VALUE. You can no more tell the quality of a tire by its outside appearance than you can tell the character of a man by the kind of clothes he wears.

We have arranged to show you cross sections of Firestone and special brand mail order tires. You can come here and make your own comparisons, uninfluenced by any sales propaganda. We urge you to thoroughly check every vital point—rubber volume, weight, width, thickness, and plies under the tread. Then buy accordingly—ON FACTS AND FACTS ALONE. Against the various claims plenty of a tire by its outside appearance than you can tell the character of a man by the kind of clothes he wears.

Miss Yerkes is Hostess To Party of Friends

Miss Ruth Yerkes was hostess to a company of young folks at her home on the Base Line road last Friday evening. A most delightful evening was enjoyed with various games. Hammond and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hicks all of Novi, spent a delightful day at Huron river park near Romulus. A bountiful picnic dinner was the big feature when steaks were cooked over a camp fire.

Miss Teskha Honored At Kitchen Shower

A merry group of young women laden with all kinds of mysterious-looking packages made their way Saturday evening to the home of Mrs. Albert Killeit who was hostess at a kitchen shower for Miss Doris Teskha, who is to become a bride in the near future. These packages were loaded into a large clothes basket and bus was carried to Miss Teskha who opened them and was delighted to find a fine collection of lovely ivory and green utensils for the kitchen of the new little home to be established soon.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing cards and visiting and at its close Mrs. Killeit served a dainty luncheon.

Marvin Bogart of Wixom Honored by Family Circle

Forty members of the Bogart family assembled under the trees on the lawn of La Rue Bogart for their home two miles south of Wixom on Monday, September 7. The affair was the first reunion of this family for sixteen years and its chief object was to do honor to this beloved family patriarch, Marvin Bogart, who is now "half past ninety-one" years of age.

At the head of the long tables sat this father, grandfather and great-grandfather beaming proudly upon the company surrounding him. The feast spread was very fitting for the occasion and everyone enjoyed it to the full.

Mr. Bogart did honorable service for his country in the Civil war and delights still to tell tales of the heroism of his comrades. The years have dealt kindly with this good man and none would guess that so many years had been lived by him.

For twenty-eight years he has walked alone in the path where once the wife of many years was his companion. During the past twenty-six years he has been a welcome member of the household of his son, La Rue, whose wife has been as he loved as a daughter.

Two sons, La Rue M. of Wixom and Harry M. of Flint and one daughter, Mrs. Richard McGurne of Flint, were present at this family gathering.

Fifteen grandchildren among them: E. M. Bogart of Northville and twelve great-grandchildren swelled the numbers of this family gathering. During the past twenty-six years he has been a welcome member of the household of his son, La Rue, whose wife has been as he loved as a daughter.

In the games which took place after dinner, none entered more heartily than the guest of honor, Marvin Bogart whose "children rise up to call him blessed."

Isaac White Family Reunion

The 10th annual reunion of the White family was held at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. George J. White of Flushing Saturday, August 22. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. White of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. White of Howell, Mr. Lewis F. White of Six Corners, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Burrier of West Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stage of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. George White of Flushing. The only ones absent were C. E. White and family of Florida and Billy Stage of Grand Rapids.

A pot luck dinner at 12:30 was served. A very entertaining program was followed, followed by election of officers. Ice cream and cake were served and all were happy.

Good afternoon ladies and gentlemen. This is station WHITE broadcasting. We are now in our studios in St. Petersburg, Florida, the Sunshine City. "Where your recreation is our occupation."

Our next program is dedicated to the White Family Reunion now in session at St. Petersburg, at the home of George White. Our first speaker is Miss Mildred White, who will now make a short talk on "Why I would rather be a bod carrier than a mosquito inspector," Miss White.

Hello radio friends. Before I make my little talk this morning I wish to say that I am very sorry that I cannot join you at the reunion. I hope that you have as good a time as we.

at this reunion as you had the year I was present. I know Uncle George has improved immensely and is enjoying himself. That's all.

Miss Maren White will now annoy you a few minutes.

Hello. Everybody happy? Will someone kiss all the men for me and shake hands with all the ladies? Next year make Florida your gathering place, where the cool gulf breezes blow. Ask aunt Ida. Here's hoping you have a good time.

Professor White now takes the microphone. Pardon, this is the house Mrs. White.

Dear folks, you must plan to have your next reunion here in Florida where it is cool and not so hot as it is in Michigan. We could spend most of our time on the beach in swimming or fishing. I suppose Ida has shown you the barrel of shell she took home last year. But she left plenty for the rest of you. Ernie and I expect to teach in the same school we did last year. He is principal now but he has a hard time keeping me. Marion and Mildred have finished the eighth grade. Marion is writing stories and Mildred is a diamond hall expert. Elizabeth finished the first year of Junior College. She broadcasts from two to four times a week. All the girls have had permanent waves this year, and have grown considerably. They are a live bunch and I know you would enjoy making us a visit. Hope you can do so sometime. Goodbye.

And now the Professor. Right this way sit.

If broadcasting is not easily understood, you can lay it to the fact that I have had my teeth out and will not get the new ones until next week. I have been requested to broadcast that a year ago this summer there was lost somewhere between Florida and Michigan one shell. Finder please return to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stage of Northville, Michigan, and receive reward. Also anyone sailing on Tampa Bay, the Gulf of Mexico or the Atlantic Ocean who finds a pair of shoes floating on the bottom of the water will please return to the same address. I have been requested to announce that if the White reunion is held in St. Petersburg next year that good fishing is promised, especially cat fish and shark. We sincerely hope that George is improving rapidly, and that all of you are well and happy and that you will all have a pleasant time at the reunion. We all wish that we could be with you on this Saturday.

Hello. Now for the last but not least. Did I ever tell you about myself? You don't know what you've missed. Busy as I can be, searching expressions, taking lessons myself, broadcasting, working at Sears Roebuck on Saturday, horseback riding, dancing, fishing, scalloping, (you don't know what that is? Well ask Uncle Lester) beach parties galore. Just millions of things to do down in old Florida. You don't know what you are missing. Sorry can't say any more. Time is up.

Ladies and gentlemen you have just listened to a program dedicated to the White family reunion with very wish for their health and happiness. May they all come to Florida some day. Where nature did her best. This is station WHITE now signing off. Your announcer—Elizabeth White.

From the White family in Florida to the White families in Michigan.

HOME NUTRITION CLASS A regrettable small number of women were able to take advantage of the Home Nutrition class at the high school last Monday afternoon, when the subject of "Developing Sound Food Habits for the Child" was discussed. Menus for the home meals and school lunches were demonstrated. All sorts of attractive and delectable sandwiches were made by Miss Emma DuBois and at the conclusion of the class were enjoyed by those present together with delicious iced mint juleps.

Another class will be held next Monday afternoon, September 14, at 1:30, when "Community Meals" will be the discussion. Those interested in the preparation of meals for large numbers will be especially interested in this demonstration.

Following the fact that the room formerly used at the school house is now in use the class will be held in the kitchen of the Baptist church where an oven will be available for the use of the instructor. These classes are open to all women at no cost whatever and are greatly appreciated by those who have availed themselves of them.

James Christie, a native of Scotland, plans to set sail soon for his old home for an extended visit. If conditions are favorable he hopes to return to America in time. He has been employed in the local Ford plant.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Abrams returned to their work at the Wayne County Training school after separate kinds of vacations. The former spent a month at Chicago and Milwaukee while Mrs. Abrams was at Ladder, Wyoming reorganizing the school department of the State Training school.

A. S. Whipple of the Bluebird fruit farm on the West Base Line road was not long in disposing of the crop from eight acres of peaches. This was the first that had been taken from the young orchard. He called at The Record office Saturday and said: "Take out that ad. I haven't a peach left."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, their Northville friends will be sorry to learn, have decided to spend the winter at their cottage at Wall Lake instead of returning to their home on Dunlap street here.

They have remodeled the cottage for the winter and are nicely located. For the week-end they had as guests their daughter, Mrs. Chas. Tyle and family.

Edward H. Raley returned Sunday to New York City to resume his work with the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., after a two weeks' visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Raley. He was the guest at dinner parties last week Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bloom, the next evening at one given by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hammond while Thursday evening he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. ("Bud") Young at Detroit.

Rev. Wm. Richards leaves next Tuesday for the annual session of the Detroit conference at the Central Methodist church at Detroit. The gathering will close the following Monday with the reading of the "appointments." At that time Northville will know whether or not the local pastor will be returning here for his tenth year of service.

Both church and community are unanimous for his coming back. Bishop Thos. Nicholson will preside at the session.

Mr. and Mrs. Joan Amrhein, the latter formerly Miss Eldon, a teacher in our public school, have returned recently from an extended motor tour through the West. They report conditions throughout the West as extremely dry. In the Dakotas there had been a scourge of grasshoppers which had eaten bare many of the fields. In other leafless stalks stood gaunt and grim. In places even the trees were leafless. Aside from this depressing scene they had a wonderful trip. Michigan looks good to them. They make their home in Plymouth.

At their popular booth at the Northville fair, the "Green Lantern", the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary and the Woman's Union realized much better returns than might have been expected at this "off" year. Every woman in both of these societies did her best to make the enterprise successful and when the bills were paid it was found that they had cleared $260. Be it said to their credit that every cent of their expenditure was made with local merchants and the trade was divided as equally as possible among the groceries. Mrs. Mary Hauger was the financial chairman. Last year they cleared $400.

After a two weeks' visit at the home of their brother, Dr. H. H. Burkart, E. H. Burkart and Miss Olive Burkart returned to their home in Patterson last Saturday.

Miss Ellen Barbour, daughter of the local Baptist minister and his wife, will leave next Tuesday to take up her college course in Hillsdale college. Miss Barbour graduated from high school last June.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Richards entertained Tuesday two of their former parishioners whom they had not seen for 19 years. They were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elise of Washington, Mich. The visit was greatly enjoyed.

Leo A. Des Autels and family, who have been spending the past two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Des Autels, and grandmothers, Mrs. Olive Charter, left Wednesday for their home in Niles Center, Illinois.

The W. R. C. held its first meeting of the new year Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Dean Griswold on Dexter street. It was decided to hold a social evening on September 23 at the home of Mrs. Clifford Casterline.

Miss Hazel Van Bonn enjoyed a week's vacation from her work in the Kroger grocery last week. In company with Jas. Ritchie and Miss Doris Ritchie and Lee Soules of Plymouth she made a tour of northern Michigan with stops at Harbor Springs and other northern points.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moore and baby daughter, Dianne, have returned from Huntington, West Va., where they have been since April when Mr. Moore has been engaged in playing professional baseball. They are at present at the home of Chief of Police and Mrs. W. H. Safford.

City Filkins is on the program of the annual session of the Methodist Detroit conference to be held at Central church. He will open one session with an organ recital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Van Valkenburg Wright, a new teacher in our public schools, and Mr. Wright have taken up their residence at the D. J. Stark home on the Base Line road. Mr. and Mrs. Stark plan to occupy their own home on E. Main street when the family of Earle A. Hamilton who live there now have completed their plans.

MEMBERS OF CLASS OF '31 MAKE PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

For the first time in the past twelve years the members of the graduating class of last June are not answering the call of the Northville school, bell this September. Like "lost souls" they are beating time until ready to take up their new occupations.

Many of them hope to continue their education further going on to colleges or universities. Some will be obliged to postpone this desire until they have accumulated a little more of the "cash on hand" to carry out this undertaking.

So far the following institutions of higher education will be attended by members it is hoped—though a few are somewhat uncertain. University of Michigan, George Greenlee and Eunice Cousins; Michigan State Normal college, Velma Blake, Lotie Damm, Miriam Richards and Joy Thompson; Michigan State college, Elmer E. Perrin, Frederick Kerr, Ted Cavell and Ivan Ely; Hillsdale, Wilfred Sterner and Mary Ellen Barbour.

Eleanor Westphall hopes to attend some business college. Dorothy Gerge plans to take training for nursing at Grace hospital, Detroit. Mable Bryan will attend the Detroit Business college and Howard Christensen has not definitely decided where to take a business course. Lillian Casse will attend Detroit City college and Frank Hinchman will go a long distance, to Georgia State college. Alex Johnson and Florence Balke have postponed their college work for another year. Positions in local stores are occupied by Ned Junod, Robert Lisenberger and Francis Sprenger. The rest of the class are as yet uncertain as to their future course.

Northville may well be proud of the fine representation of its young folks who aspire to higher education and extend all good wishes to these young folks who go forth from our town.

15 FRIENDS HONOR PHIL H. GRENNAN ON HIS BIRTHDAY

P. H. Grennan, noted polo enthusiast, was honored last Friday by a surprise birthday party held at his estate on the Six Mile road.

The party was a stag affair to which 15 of Mr. Grennan's intimate friends were invited. A beautiful high-powered moose gun was presented to him by the group of friends as a token of their esteem and there were numerous other gifts presented by members of his family.

The party was featured by a large birthday cake made up in the shape of a miniature polo field. A green field set with goal posts at either end, small lawn umbrellas and bleachers stand on the side exacted many exclamations of wonder from the guests. To finish off the work of art, ice cream in the shape of polo ponies were served to each guest.

The pleasant occasion was Mr. Grennan's 42nd birthday anniversary.

"Another Northville resident I like that fence—it makes things safer for everyone."

"No the gala day at Farmington isn't what it used to be," sighs C. R. Ely the day after Labor day. "Or perhaps it's yourself that's not what it used to be," suggested a friend.

Mrs. G. C. Benton. "The Paul children visiting at our home recently thought the plan was just wonderful. They went every night and pretty near cried when they had to go home."

Northville woman. "I wish the fair association would take down that fence west of the grandstand. We used to like it better when we could just go anywhere we wanted to."

Northville physician. "The telephone is wonderful. Even while in the upper peninsula on vacation I would call some of my patients at night and could hear as plainly as though I were talking here at home."

"What keeps you so young and jolly?" someone asked one of Northville's bachelor girls the other day.

"Because I have never had the trials of married life," quickly replied this cheerful soul.

Chief William Safford. "Labor day was the quietest I have seen in Northville for years. There was plenty of automobile traffic, however. We didn't have a sign of an accident. And I'm telling you that, we didn't have any traffic accidents at the fair, even though we had hundreds of cars here."

Full Flavored! Melting Tenderness!
with the ELECTROCHEF electric oven

FULL flavor and melting tenderness—that's the only way to describe this delicious Electrochef treat! Crisp and uniformly brown outside—tender and full-flavored within, this roast chicken owes its appetizing perfection to Electrochef's semi-sealed oven. Little water is used with Electrochef cooking, and the concentrated liquor for the gravy consists entirely of the natural juices of the meat. Mild electric heat penetrates evenly to all parts of the fowl, and the dressing is fluffy-textured and fragrant, thoroughly seasoning the meat. Because the Electrochef oven is practically self-basting, like a pressure cooker, roast chicken shows little shrinkage or weight loss.

Has Your Kitchen Stove These ELECTROCHEF Features?

1. A clean kitchen, a clean stove—no soot, no fumes.
2. Cool cooking—summer and winter.
3. Full flavor cooking—served in healthful food values.
4. Exact oven control—no baking disappointments.

Every Monday Morning

By "AD" SCHWENGER

Confession being heartfelt for the soul, (so they tell me) we'll break out with the news that this "dope" is written first thing every Monday a. m.

Following the close for alterations, this column now appears with a brand new heading viz. Every Monday Morning.

We can remember back to the day when we thought that Labor Day was the saddest day of the year—the day before school opened. (It isn't too hard to remember that far back, either.)

After two or three months out in the pasture it was pretty hard to drop back into the routine of pencils and books and we imagine that the same situation exists today. Any device to prolong the vacation was considered legitimate—a little illness, a wrench, back-anything rather than to get back.

Finally, at the point of a pistol, under dire threatening, we all went back, found that by meeting the friends we hadn't seen all summer, we could have a good time and that the end of the universe had not yet come.

We've always had a lot of bees against the educational system as practiced in this country. In any other country for that matter, but we're more familiar with the methods used here.

Anytime that a school university of any order—educational institution has the right to refuse entrance to a student graduated from an accredited high school then that institution is not fulfilling its destiny.

Alexander Meiklejohn, president of the University of Wisconsin, first expressed the thought when he championed the right of any student graduated from high school to enter college. He said, in effect, that every scholar had the right to expose himself to the virus of education. And he's perfectly right, not that he needs my support, but rather that the idea is not sufficiently recognized.

Educators contend that the acceptance of students with lower grades tends to hold back brighter ones who would advance much more rapidly. Village Attorney F. J. Cochran just told us that there are hundreds of students in the university today who cheat, drink and flitter away their time, who are holding back the ones who really work.

Well, doesn't the fact that hundreds of these students can get into the university prove that the standard of admission is too low?

Many hundreds are on the "outside looking in." Hundreds who are not flashy, bright, brilliant or any other adjective that you may care to use, hundreds who need the stimulus of a college education much more than those few who are in the upper third of their high school graduating classes.

They are the "plodders" those who are slow to grasp but who will improve with more exposure to the "virus of education."

They deserve their chance to improve just as much as those who show that they have the ability but deliberately flunk their chance.

What if the "plodders" do fail? Give them their chance and let them try. A sign on the door of a prominent educator's office reads, "Better to try something and be a failure than to try nothing and be a success at it."

As for holding back the better students, have separate classes and allow those who show a greater degree of proficiency in any subject to move ahead.

The cost of more schools prohibitive? Not at all. Put more young people in school, keep them there longer and we'll have less to support in the penitentiary.

More bees—I've got a bunch of them fled away.

Take marking "blue books" or examination papers—The instructor picks up a group of them and with pencil poised, and an eagle eye for errors he marks the paper with prejudice.

He does it because he can't help himself. The first paper he corrects is only fair but the one following is excellent. The instructor marks it good and then proceeds to judge the following papers with the excellent one as a standard until he finds one that is still better and then he changes his marking system again.

Also, instructors differ in their marking systems. One is too lenient and the other is too harsh. One emphasizes examinations and the other bases his judgment on the semester's work and not on the examination. Between the five or six different kinds of marking it's no wonder that the poor scholar is wary of instructors and makes every effort to "shine up" to them.

Educators are doing their level best to straighten up the tangle to which the system has brought us. They are constantly changing to

Therefore you must have your discharge registered with this committee before a new card will be issued to you. When talking to an applicant please make this plain to him. WHO REMEMBERS WHEN NORTHVILLE BANK WAS STOLEN?

Bank robbers? Old residents call that exciting morning when Northville's bank was stolen on Sunday, picked up bodily and carried away. Old Asa Randolph was the banker and to his home (where the Detroit Edison building now stands) folks brought their surplus funds to be locked securely in a huge, rough chest. One winter Sunday morning Banker Randolph locked his "bank" and made his way to the old stone church over on "Atwater street" to worship. While he was gone a prowler, disguised with a badlock and unable to unlock it, loaded the whole chest onto the "juniper" sleigh and made off for the woods.

So few trails led from Northville then that the thief was easily traced to Ypsilanti, where folks told them that a man driving a sleigh loaded with a box had been seen watering places in this section. Following on to Ypsilanti, the searching found a team tied before an old barn with sleigh, bank and all waiting outside within at the thief calmly drying his socks before an open fire place. The tale ends with his arrest and sentence of twenty years in Jackson prison.

WATERMELONS AND SHOTGUNS (Wayne County Review)

A Detroit youth approached a doctor Monday and asked to have some shot removed from various portions of his anatomy. He explained that he had been coming melons from a farm on the Ann Arbor Trail and that he had been shot by the farmer "I just ran and ran," he reported, "until I got home. I was afraid to go to a doctor because I didn't want to be arrested. Only I couldn't sit down or sleep. He had been eating off the side-board for four days when he finally mustered up enough courage to see a doctor. He was not hurt.

Record Laners say junior high schools, trial colleges, experimentation with groups of students, always seeking the millennium.

We owe much to teachers and educators but it is well while we are patting ourselves on the back and swelling our respective chests over the "greatest system of education on earth" to remember some of the faults that keep our schools far from perfection.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

BY MRS. EDITOR

A MAN'S DUTY TO HIS HOME

We have grown used to thinking of mothers as the homemakers—and of course that is their biggest job. One of our readers, however, sends in the following clipping which wives will do well to let their husbands read. (We are glad to have other women interested enough in this corner to make voluntary contributions. Do it often, friends.)

A Christian man belongs to the home and entirely different set of contacts from those furnished by the Christian wife or mother. There are a multiplicity of spiritual qualities which manhood needs for home building such as compassion and tenderness, consideration for the rights of others.

One of the choicest privileges of home life is, or should be, companionship with those dear to us. These are days of extreme business depression and the man confronted with the task of competing with others if not careful, can easily find that the little joys which do so much to make or mar the day's happiness for others become crowded out.

He with his shoes before his door. But paused to do a little more. He dusted off the strains of strife. The mud that's incident to life. The blemishes of careless thought. The traces of the fight he'd fought. The numerous struggles he had seen. And when he entered he was clean.

One of the most pathetic conditions I know in life is a man that merely tolerates his family. One of the most glorious experiences in life is to love that of one's own volition we want to be with our wife's companionship, helping for the fun of helping as well as to be useful, according to this simple spontaneous companionship to the one we love because she in turn invests her vitality for us.

The Christian man will add to companionship demonstrativeness. Thinking of this subject, I read this week a series of published letters of a mother to her son in one letter she wrote:

"I take such satisfaction in this boy. He is so sympathetic, clean, stable and affectionate, always so full of enthusiasm, and the most generous child I have ever known. He loves to give to give gifts, or to give pleasure. He will do anything for any one of us in this home."

Demonstrativeness is a quality not of weakness but of decided strength.

"If busy with tasks that belong only to men, we have developed the habit of expecting, wrongly, those we love to see us at our best with no expression of our love, we need to pause a moment, right about face and with all the enthusiasm of courtship days go home and demonstrate again the love we feel, but may often forget to show.

There are joys that you will share. Joys to balance every care; Aim in arm remain, and you will not fear the storms that brew. If when you are sorest tried You face your trials, side by side. Now that woeing days are done—Your loving years are just begun."

A CATCH-ALL SHEET

Here's a scheme suggested by a mother of five:

When you get Baby in his high chair and give him a cracker, have a large piece of muslin to spread out under the chair and it will catch all the crumbs he drops. This can be gathered up and shaken outdoors afterward, and you will be saved the job of sweeping up the crumbs and raising a dust in the room.

The catch-all sheet can be spread out when the little ones sit down to eat pop-corn, or a piece of bread and butter, or spread it under their sewing table when you are cutting out a new garment. It is a great labor-saver in a home. Having one, you will think of numerous uses for it, as a dust cover for furniture, a cul-can for the porch, or a spread to throw over the bed when the children romp on it.

HEALTH OFFICER GIVES WARNING OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Although no cases of infantile paralysis in Northville or Northville township have as yet been reported, announced Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, village health officer, the beginning of the school year makes it imperative that parents of school children realize the danger of the highly contagious disease, especially during the fall months.

During the last three weeks, he says, the number of cases in Detroit has increased from 20 to 50, 12 washtenaw county from three to 25, in Oakland county from one to six, and 43 of the 83 counties of the state have reported cases.

Infantile paralysis, he declared, will be with us until cold weather sets in and parents should be extremely suspicious of any colds or fevers from which a child may complain. Early diagnosis by a physician, he said, is the only way in which to avoid the disastrous results attendant on the disease.

"It is inadvisable," he stated, "to take children to crowded crowds in neighboring communities where infantile paralysis is known to be prevalent. Keep the children's hands and faces clean by means of frequent washings and above all, be suspicious of colds. Send for a physician and have an early diagnosis made."

Dr. Johnston stated that although Detroit schools have been closed down because of the spreading of infantile paralysis, in view of the fact that no cases have been reported in Northville township the schools here are not expected to close. The school nurse, Mrs. Florence Pratt, has been instructed to send any child home having a suspicious cold. This latter precaution, stated Dr. Johnston, is taken as a safety measure for the benefit of the entire community.

NORTHVILLE PEOPLE CAN GET SEATS FOR BIG LEGION PARADE

Through the courtesy of the Lloyd H. Green post of the American Legion, Northville residents who wish to see the spectacular parade of 80,000 men and 350 bands and drum corps on Tuesday, September 22, at Detroit as part of the national convention of the Legionnaires, will be able to secure grandstand seats.

The Northville post has been allotted a section of 220 seats which will be sold at three dollars each and will give the chance to see the stupendous spectacle in Detroit. These grandstand seats will be available only until Monday, September 14 and those wishing them should get in touch with Floyd Lanning at the Lapham State Savings bank.

This parade will be the last and the most spectacular and colorful that most people have ever seen and it will be worth going many miles to see. Northville is fortunate to be so near the scene of the big event that will attract probably a million people.

The grandstand will be on the south side of Jefferson avenue, near the downtown section, and only those having tickets will be allowed to cross to that part of the street.

It will take probably seven hours to march by a given point. The men will march 10 abreast and will be in close formation.

Commander Jos. Blake of the local post tells The Record that at least 25 of the Northville Legionnaires will be in this big march.

Next Monday will be the regular line for getting these reserved seats. Mr. Blake emphasizes that it will be almost impossible to get these reserved seats.

HAY FEVER CLUB

Between wives' Wednesday, Rev. Wm. F. Rull, Richards, said, "I think we should have a Northville Hay Fever club with Dr. Snow as president, Dr. Alexander as secretary and myself as treasurer."

Teach Your Boy To Be Thrifty

It is the best habit he can learn. In later life he will thank you many times over for taking the time to show him why it pays to be thrifty. The officers of this bank will be glad to co-operate with you in showing your boy in and introducing him. It may mean the difference between success and failure in his life.
