NORTHVILLE STATE BANK NOW CLOSED

Directors Take Voluntary Action Monday Afternoon

Northville for the first time in many years was left without a bank on Tuesday morning when the Northville State Savings bank did not open its doors for business. Voluntary action to suspend business followed a meeting of the board of directors Monday afternoon when it was found that the cash reserves had dropped below the legal limit.

Less than three months ago, on June 30, the Lapham State Savings bank was closed by action of the directors.

The closing of the Northville State Savings bank was due to the same cause that brought about the suspension of business by the Lapham bank—that of a general distrust among depositors which caused a steady withdrawal of funds during recent months. Clinton W. Wulber, vice president of the bank, labored unceasingly to keep the reserve up to the legal limit of 12% of the assets but the reducing of accounts brought the reserve down to 10 per cent at the close of business Monday.

When Mr. Wulber found the shortage of currency below the legal limit, he promptly called the board of directors together at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and laid the situation before them. Faced by this the directors unanimously voted to close the doors for the protection of the depositors.

The officials of the bank believe that depositors will be fully protected as the assets are liquidated.

The state banking department was notified of the action and will take charge of the situation.

Geo. D. Monroe, of Howell, has been appointed by the state banking department as bank examiner to take charge until a receiver is appointed. The time of going to press is not known when the appointment will be made.

HORACE E. CRAY, FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN DETROIT

Horace E. Cray, a former resident, died suddenly, last Friday afternoon as the result of the excessive heat. He was about ten blocks away from his home at 5159 Semple Ave. Detroit when he was overcome and, realizing his condition, managed to get to the ice station nearby. There he was found dead.

Mr. Cray was born in New York state 67 years ago and came to Michigan in 1887 and lived with his sister, Mrs. Isabel Cray Dolph, until his marriage to Miss Grace Gumsolly, of Plymouth. During his residence in Northville he was employed by the Globe Furnace Co. and at one time operated a meat market on North Center street.

Mr. Cray was a leading factor in the Northville City band which gave good account of itself under the direction of the late Prof. Isaac Crocker.

Mr. Cray was an enthusiastic Mason and occupied various offices until he was made Worshipful Master of Northville Lodge No. 186 in 1898. He was the third oldest past master following Charles Booth and Lewis P. Van Valkenburg. Mr. Cray was a leader in the work of Composite Lodge which was formed after he removed to Detroit.

Mr. Cray leaves his widow, a son, Roy, and two sisters in Rhode Island. Mrs. Otis Tewkesbury of this place is a niece.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the family residence in Detroit and interment was made in Forest Lawn cemetery. The services were Masonic under direction of Clifford Simden, master of Northville Lodge No. 186.

NORTHVILLE COUNTRY CLUB GARAGE BURNS

A three-car garage located on the grounds of the Northville Country club burned Saturday causing a large amount of damage.

The fire is believed by officials to have been started from a discarded cigarette. The Northville Fire department responded quickly to the alarm but the flames had gained too much headway and the damage had already been completed by the time the apparatus arrived.

SIMMONS ORCHARD BUSY

The big orchards of Fred P. Simmons and Son have been very busy place the last three weeks and over. Seventeen men have been busy with picking and distributing the fruit. A few days ago over 3,000 bushels of pears were taken into Detroit and placed in cold storage.

LEGION MEETS

A large number of Legion members and their families from out of town to register in Plymouth at the Mayflower hotel for the Detroit convention September 21 to 24.

The registration office in Detroit will be literally swamped with the large numbers of Legion boys who, 14 years ago, went to France to fight. They were mostly boys then—young, eager for a scrap or a fight—but now they are mature men with families and they are coming back to meet their buddies and for a renewal of old friendships.

The city of Detroit has been attractively decorated with flags and bunting in preparation for the huge event and it is expected that over 100,000 guests will be in town for the occasion.

The feature of the convention will be a huge parade in which over 50,000 marchers will be in line. The parade will be a spectacular affair, with floats, bands, and officials. It is expected to be the largest parade ever seen in Detroit.

Legion 11, Northville, has been given charge of the state of Michigan. Tickets for the Northville Plymouth district and according to his announcement they may be purchased either at his office at 109 E. Main street, at the Lapham State bank or at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth. The tickets are priced at $2.00 each.

WHAT A BALL TEAM ACHIEVES 54 ERRORS

The Novi Blossoms blossomed forth to a new record Sunday when they were overwhelmingly defeated 21-7 by the Wyoming team at Novi.

But that is not the worst of it. A total of 54 errors proved conclusively that the boys were thinking of what they were going to have for the next day's dinner, or supper.

But that started and was topped for three hits in one and a half innings. Hottel relieved him of the burden and also six hits in five innings following which Utley finished the game, allowing but two hits.

Batteries for Novi were Starnan, Hottel, Utley and McCully; for Wyoming, A. C. Pierce and Starnan.

Next Sunday the Blossoms will play Chilson on the latter's home grounds game to be called at 3 o'clock.

GOOD SHEPHERD INSTITUTE ENDS

An educational and recreational institute which has been in session at Good Shepherd farm, 1208 Fishy road, Northville, during the summer months, and has been attended by a large number of the sisters, terminated on September 12 and all returned to their respective positions for the school year.

Many of the city visitors spent some time at the farm during the sessions, there was even one visitor from far-off Australia. The Good Shepherd farm is an ideal location for combined study and recreational activities. The girls also of the Detroit Home of the Good Shepherd have had dozens of outings in groups, at the farm, and the picnic in the woods has always been one of the most enjoyable features of the day for each group. The girls' brass band has spent some very happy days at the farm, during the summer and enhanced their outings by very splendid music.

The Sisters and girls hope the day is not far distant when they may all move to Northville for good, for those outings are only a taste of what they hope to enjoy later on. Lack of funds for erection of new buildings is the cause of delay.

Mother Macrina who has been in charge at the farm for some time has been recently appointed by the Mother General of the Order to fill the office of Mother Superior of the institution at Louisville, Ky., and left this week to assume her new duties. Mother Macrina has in former years filled similar positions at Toledo, Cincinnati and Louisville, but failing health obliged her to relinquish the position, but the wonderful air of Northville has completely restored her health. This Kentucky institution specializes in the care of colored children, both dependent and delinquent in separate departments and it has the unique distinction of being the first House of the Good Shepherd established in the United States.

DR. STEELE TELLS CLUB OF EPIDEMIC

Infantile Paralysis Now Is Better Controlled Says Speaker

That practically all adults who have lived in cities and villages where there have been frequent contacts with people have in some time in their lives had infantile paralysis, was the new theory held by medical science, Dr. Arthur H. Steele of the Wayne County Training School told members of the Exchange club at their luncheon Wednesday.

Because of this fact, Dr. Steele went on to say, serum taken from the blood of adults can be used effectively to the advantage of the disease. Boys coming from those who have recovered from the disease recently is more effective.

Once, during an epidemic, Dr. Steele gave his own blood as a serum and the patient was saved, yet the doctor said that he never was conscious of having had the disease.

Infantile paralysis comes in two phases, said Dr. Steele, and often patients have only part of the phases and do not reach the point where paralysis occurs. The disease could be diagnosed in the first stage which runs from one to three days during which the child has the symptoms of a cold or digestive upset. In the second stage comes within a week when the child becomes ill again and has symptoms of either drowsiness or restlessness. It is then that the physician must watch for symptoms of the disease. If stiffness of the neck develops it is almost certain that it is the disease and the serum must be used very promptly to avoid paralysis. If used in time, the serum is very effective in stopping paralysis.

One should not get over-optimistic over the disease, said the doctor, in fact the epidemic this year is no worse than the average year. The coming of cold weather will stop the disease, although it is an all-year-round one, but the paralysis symptoms seem to appear mostly in August and September.

Dr. Steele is best prepared of any city in the United States to meet the epidemic, said Dr. Steele and in the Wayne County Training School is the best prepared of any state.

President, Clifford B. Furubul presided at the weekly luncheon.

NORTHVILLE CHIEFS TO MEET CARLETON

The Northville Chiefs, under the direction of their veteran Harry German, mayor of Northville, will make their annual pilgrimage to Carleton Sunday for the ball game which denotes the peak of the season for both teams.

Last year the Chiefs defeated the Carleton nine by the close score of three to two before a large crowd of fans. The Chiefs have won some notable games this year and have a greatly improved aggregation. The Carleton team have been waiting for a chance to even matters and this will afford them their opportunity.

Mayor Harry German is now filling in as substitute cashier of the Carleton State Savings bank while the regular cashier is away on a leave of absence.

NORTHVILLE

By RUTH O. DEAN
Jackson, Mich.

There's a pleasant place I have in mind.
A pretty place, only one of its kind.
My thoughts go wandering as I glance out.
To see the beauty round about.
From far and near come friends to share.
Those good times in and out door.
Within its gates abides those we love dear.
Memories lingering from year to year.
I love them, yes, I think of them too.
And long for more of the good times I knew.
Even Saturday nights when the band does play.
Everyone goes happily along their way.
Once in a while a street dance too.
A "Twilight Hummer" something new.
And so many pleasures one finds out there.
Even to the Wayne County Fair.
Now that my poem is nearly done.
The real part has just begun.
'Cause this place—well, just take a guess
And imagine where the location rests.
It's not on a hill, more likely a dale.
True to its name, we call it "Northville."

Welcome to Legionnaires

Prior to and during the American Legion National Convention week, a great many visitors will pass through Northville on their way to Detroit. These men and women come to us as our guests and we want them to leave Michigan with the sincere knowledge that we are a hospitable state made up of friendly people who are honored by their visit. To accomplish this, the people of the state are asked to extend a hand of welcome to each visitor they come in contact with, and we of the Lloyd H. Green Post earnestly request the citizens of Northville to go just a little out of their way to make our buddies and their families feel welcome when they reach us. Very little will be asked of you by these men and women. Just offer them a smiling welcome and answer questions as to directions, etc., as freely as you can. From such an attitude on our part will spring a feeling of warm friendship and appreciation and when our guests again reach their own homes, only kind thoughts and boosting expressions will be theirs as to Northville and Michigan. Make every buddy welcome is our wish and you can help it, if you will.

Closing Schools of Northville Is Only Precautionary Measure, Says Village Health Officer

There is no cause for hysteria, said village health officer Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston to a company of Northville parents Monday evening at the high school when he came together at the suggestion of Dr. Johnston to listen to a discussion of infantile paralysis. He urged parents not to be alarmed because the schools have closed—it is merely a case of locking the barn door before the horse is stolen, said Dr. Johnston.

There are no cases of infantile paralysis in Northville nor even in the township, he said, and by keeping our children away from crowds and other children who have any suspicious symptoms danger may be averted. Keep the children in their own neighborhoods, the doctor said, where they are more certain about the health of their playmates.

Discourage visitors from places where there are cases of the epidemic. Even healthy folks may be carriers. Keep children away from towns where there are cases of this dread disease.

The hope of recovery lies in its early recognition. See a physician at once if your child seems even slightly ill. Even though cases occur there has been no epidemic yet. Early use of a serum which is administered free of charge by the "Cozen's Fund" and by other contributors.

In concluding Dr. Johnston complimented the churches, theatres and individual parents for their cooperation in prevention.

JUVENILE FOLLIES HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Due to the closing of schools because of the infantile paralysis situation in Detroit, the American Legion has thought it wise to postpone the showing of the "Juvenile Follies" at the Detroit Yacht club which were booked to appear at the auditorium of the Wayne County Training school this evening.

It is hoped that the entertainment, which is said to be very enjoyable, can be given in two or three weeks.

COLEMAN BUYS BEANER

George D. Coleman of Novi has bought a bean shelling outfit and is ready to start shelling. He states that about two-thirds of the crop in this locality has been pulled but the damp weather has prevented farmers from getting the crop under cover. Mr. Coleman is able to break both of his legs in an automobile accident last year.

RECORD OFFICE NOISY PLACE

The Record office is a noisy place. Lots of callers and typewriters clacking, so it's no wonder if you fail to hear distinctly over the phone at times. "Federal" doesn't sound much like "Southern" but that's what our reporter understood last week when one named the company in which Edmund Yerkes is employed. It should have been the "Federal Reserve Life Insurance Company." We apologize.

Presbytery Meeting Sept. 21

Over 300 ministers and laymen from the Detroit Presbytery will be in session at the Presbyterian church, shown above, next Monday, September 21. The moderator, Dr. C. Nickless, will open the session at 10 a. m. Two of the outstanding speakers will be Dr. Roy E. Vale of Detroit and Dr. Fred B. Fischer of Detroit. The public is invited.

PRESBYTERIAN MEET WILL BE HELD MONDAY

Company of Over 200 Will Be Here for All-Day Gathering

The First Presbyterian church and entire community is honored in having as its guest the Presbytery of Detroit consisting of the ministers and elders of all the churches within its confines on Monday—September 21. This is the first meeting after the vacation period and is of the nature of a spiritual retreat. The ordinary business, as far as possible, being left for the regular meeting in October. The Presbytery was pleased to accept Rev. E. C. Whitfield, minister, as moderator and presiding officer for the day. The Presbytery is held for a meeting of such character away from the din and tumult of city streets, amidst the natural quiet, such a place naturally affords.

The meeting opens at 10 a. m. with worship exercises conducted by the moderator, Dr. C. Nickless at 11 a. m. Dr. Roy E. Vale of Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church speaks on the subject, "The Spiritual Equipment of Ministers, Elders and Churches." The ladies of the congregation will serve lunch in the church house, when the Presbytery will be the guests of the Rotary club at 2 p. m. an address will be given by Dr. Fred B. Fischer of First Methodist church, "Ann Arbor."

The exact number of Presbyterians coming is not yet definitely known but Dr. A. C. Pearson estimates between 200 and 250.

A special invitation is extended to the members and friends of the churches in Northville to be present at this meeting. It will provide an opportunity for a spiritual refreshment and incidentally a good representation of the church people of Northville will constitute evidence of our interest in the affairs of this Kingdom.

SIREN WILL RETURN CHILDREN TO SCHOOL

Superintendent Thad J. Knapp and Health Officer Wilbur H. Johnston gave a definite plan for returning Northville school children and their parents whether school will be held.

The siren, Dr. Johnston stated, will be used to announce the opening of schools, the following day. A series of short and long blasts at six o'clock p. m. will be the signal which will notify the children now on an extended vacation that classes will assemble the following morning.

Up to the present time no cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Northville or in the township. Dr. Johnston stressed the importance of observing every sanitary precaution while visiting in Detroit during the Legion convention and urged parents to keep their children isolated and not allow them to visit localities in which the disease is known to be spreading.

Sunday schools and all young people's meetings have been banned while the public schools have remained closed.

BANK NEEDED

"Northville must have a bank."

After three days of village life without a bank, this is what one hears often as little groups gather around town.

The reaction of the closing of two banks in Northville will very likely be the same as it has been in other places in many states where the spirit of honest financial institutions. The closing of banks started a year or so ago in the South and spread to West and North Central states and to Ohio and Indiana. Then banks in Detroit, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Pontiac, Farmington and other nearby points had to close their doors due to the withdrawal of deposits by people whose confidence in many cases had been shaken by combinations of circumstances that one could not foresee or prevent.

Following all these closings, there comes a time of calmer thinking about a needed action on the part of depositors which brings back banks to replace those that have closed.

After weeks without a bank, Royal Oak is to have a new situation. Pontiac gets back one bank and so on down the line.

The people are right. Northville must have a bank.

With the right spirit of confidence and above all of faith in each other and in our town, Northville will, in the not distant future, have a bank. The Record does not presume to know how or when it will come but we have that firm faith in our town that we know it will surely come if we all do our part.

If we have had to go through our ordeal of re-adjusting hard and bitter as it has been, so shall we have faith to go in to the new period of re-building Northville has not failed in the past 100 years and it will not fail now.

U. OF M. FORESTERS MAKING SURVEY AT WM. RAWLE BROWN'S

Professor Dearborn of the Forestry Department of the University of Michigan is making a survey on the game refuge of Wm. Rawle Brown to determine whether the so-called predatory animals and birds are really destructive to game.

Professor Dearborn, who has spent many months in this work, has not yet published his conclusions, but he is apparently entirely in agreement with Professor White and others who have made a study of this subject. Professor Dearborn's observations in other localities indicate that the coons, skunks, hawks, owls and crows, which are abundant in this game refuge, are doing no damage to the game but are merely on the verge of eating food and on vegetable matter.

He is accompanied by two young assistants from the University, Mr. Stevens and Mr. Keller and the latter is engaged in the Brown woods.

EATON HONORED BY ROTARY CLUB

At a Rotary club assembly, marked by an unusually fine spirit of enthusiasm and friendship, Monday evening, September 14, the Rotary club of Northville honored Mr. R. Eaton, head of the club for the year ending July 1, by presenting him with a diamond studded past president's pin. Father Jos G. Schuler, the new president, made a very appropriate speech of appreciation of the work of Mr. Eaton.

Following the dinner, a most interesting "round table" was held, at which all members present contributed to the discussion. All were agreed that it was one of the finest meetings the club has had in some time.

All the outstanding accomplishments of Northville in the past four years have been brought about through the influence of Rotary, stated Mr. Eaton emphatically as he reviewed the work of the past year. Among the things for which the club is responsible he enumerated:

The elimination of a dangerous curve and the building of a new bridge at the junction of the Novi and Base Line roads organization of the community band, development of Hartbrook park and of the Northville-Plymouth road from the Seven Mile road to the Globe Furnace Co. and finally the work on the Pere Marquette spring which is now going on.

Reports on the new spring house were given by Ray Richardson and E. L. Mills. The latter had great difficulty in buying the bucket and chain for the new well and said, "If you want to know what finding the needle in the haystack is go into Detroit and try to find an old-fashioned bucket and chain."

Harry B. Clark told the club members that more should be done to advertise Northville as a range horse center. He quoted Phil H. Greenman as stating that within a radius of eight miles of Northville there are more racing horses than any other place near Detroit.

Percy Angove outlined the year's work and said that the programs, given at the Northville club were known in other towns for their excellence. Mr. Angove proposed that a worth-while accomplishment for the coming year would be the enlargement of the band stand where the weekly concerts are given in the summer season.

Next Monday the visiting pastors at the meeting of the Detroit Presbytery here will be guests and Don Yerkes, Sr. will have charge of the program which will have the general theme, "The Church and the Community."

Ladies night will be next September 28 and on October 5 the Exchange club will be guests at a "Rural-Urban" meeting.

NORTHVILLE FORD PLANT RECALLS 100

Local Factory Expected to Go to Capacity in Near Future

One hundred Ford employees had returned to their tasks during the first part of the week, according to an announcement made by Harry G. Marburger, superintendent of the valve plant here, and more of the men who were laid off early in the summer are being called back as rapidly as possible.

We have 100 men at work now, said Mr. Marburger, and we will go to capacity at once by adding on our old employees as fast as we can find work for them. We are using only one shift a day, five days a week just at present but we are hopeful of increasing those hours.

Mr. Marburger emphasized the fact that only men who had formerly worked at the Northville Ford plant were being re-employed.

The plant at full capacity employs 300 men and before the "lay off" had been operating for three eight-hour shifts five days a week.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPT. MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

Due to the lack of classroom space this year, the Domestic Science department has been moved to the basement in the room formerly occupied by the cafeteria. Because of the adequate eating places down town the small percentage of children who would patronize the cafeteria, this was dispensed with last year.

During the summer the walls were redecorated in buff and brown which makes the room very pleasant and light. With the compact arrangement of furniture it is an improvement over the former room. The kitchen is especially improved with the ugly gray and brown cupboards painted and the white range replacing the old black one. When we get our new curtains and a few pictures the department feels it will be very happy in its new home.

This year there will be four sewing classes and one crocheting class. The seventh grade taking sewing for the first time, will have towels when make their caps and headbands to cook with. The eighth grade will first make pajamas then either a cozy coat or smock and then a plain dress. The twelfth grade girls will first make an undergarment, a blouse, then a dress when they will make a traveling dress of silk and finally their own graduating dresses. In addition to these garments instruction will be given in darning and mending. This course was just introduced last year and proved a great success, each girl bringing credit to herself by the interest shown and the work turned out, especially the graduating dresses.

In the eighth grade cooking class this semester they will study luncheons or suppers and next semester will study dinners. They spent one semester of last year studying breakfasts.

With our new surroundings and this schedule laid out before us, we hope to have a very profitable and successful year.

CARRYING A BURDEN

"My life insurance costs me a lot of money every year and keeping it up has been a real burden," said a friend. "Well isn't anything worth while a burden?" asked another man.

Think that over, if you are carrying a load.

A YEAR FROM NOW

Cheerful thought: Just about a year from now the political primary will be on and there will be lots of excitement. Gov. Brucker will be running for re-nomination and maybe someone or several will be opposing him. There are a plenty of office seekers and August and September of 1932 will be busy days.

"MR. SKUNK NOT GUILTY"

We have always maintained that if you leave the skunk alone he is a good citizen.

So we were pleased the other day to get a report from experts who have been surveying at the game refuge of Wm. Rawie Brown to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Skunk, along with the coons, hawks, owls and crows, really are well behaved and useful members of the animal world.

If the skunk is left alone to mind his own business, he goes about getting a living in a very orderly and trimly way. There are some people who could well emulate the skunk in taking care of their own affairs.

One of the prettiest sights we ever saw outdoors was a mother skunk taking a family of five (we hope this number is right) for a walk across a country road one summer evening, near Abington. The mother went ahead, followed by five little fellows, all in Indian file. We just naturally stopped the automobile to watch that happy family go by. And yet, probably before the winter was over, some trapper had broken up that family and sold them for fur. Everything in this world has a place and even the skunks and coons are coming into their own.

THE ANONYMOUS LETTER

"Oh no, we don't expect this to get into print," is part of an anonymous letter that comes to the desk of the editor.

You are right, Mr. (or Mrs.) Writer of this anonymous letter. Nothing will get into this paper unless we know who the writer is. Anyone who sticks a letter under the office door or sends it through the mail unsigned is just wasting paper and time. The person who is afraid to sign his name to a communication certainly does not deserve any consideration from the waste basket.

On the other hand, if anyone will come frankly into the office with a communication or send it by mail, and say "don't sign my name to that" we shall be glad to run the article, provided only that it is not libelous or unfit for print. The columns of The Record are always open to anyone who has anything to say on any topic under the heavens but we do insist on knowing who the writer is, even if the public never knows. For this have we editors.

NORTHVILLE'S WATER

State officials were here last week and said frankly and plainly that Northville should put down wells for our water supply. They state that our spring supply is too close to the surface to be safe and that we should not take any chance of the water becoming contaminated. They also suggest a new reservoir.

Are these men right? And if they are right, what are we going to do about it? Here is what "we" of our friends said about it. "I have lived here all my life," said one "and I can't see anything wrong with our water." The other one said: "I have been thinking about these water reports for months and I tell you they have me worried." The question is one about which there will be a sharp difference of opinion, yet we should have the interests of our community enough at heart to approach the problem calmly, fairly and progressively.

There are enough of these "experts" reports to cause us to look seriously and carefully into the whole water situation. That is just for our own protection and safety.

There is one item we should not forget. Water conditions that might have been perfectly safe a number of years ago might not be now, due to the growth of the town, the installation of sewers and a number of other factors.

The wisest thing to do, it seems to the impartial and thoughtful observer, would be to probe the whole matter in a fair-minded and thorough way and then when the conclusions are made we can decide what is the next step. In this day and age it won't do to just say: "Well, these experts don't know anything about it anyway."

A safe and complete supply of good water is one of the greatest assets a town can have. If Northville can make its water supply unimpeachable it will be a great boon to its future.

We have faith that our village officials will tackle the problem wisely.

GO TELL THEM

These are—and have been—days when a lot of us can't pay our bills within 30 days or within whatever time is the rule in the particular case. Conditions caused by a world-wide upheaval have made it impossible to do as we should like to do. Money is tied up—many "big" men are just as "hard up" proportionately as the poor man.

All right, if we can't pay the bills "on the dot," what should we do?

Go around or phone the man you owe and tell him exactly what you will do. You will be surprised how kindly he will treat you. Why? Because you have acted honorably to maintain your credit, which is one of the most sacred things a man has.

One thing is certainly fair about bill paying. We should keep the money moving along as rapidly as we can. If we can pay one man one dollar or five dollars, this can be passed on to a dozen men before a couple of days go by. Think what good that does.

This happened in another town, so we can tell it. A friend of ours said: "I went to my coal dealer and told him that I couldn't pay my bill when it was due and also promised just what I could do. Then I went back a few weeks later to order my coal for the winter and said to the dealer: 'Well I don't suppose you will let me have my winter's coal now, will you?' 'We must certainly will,' your credit here is one hundred per cent because you always come around even if you can't pay and tell us what you'll do. 'We like that way of doing business. You can order all the coal of us you want to and it will be delivered.'"

This is just to illustrate the point we have been talking about.

Your credit is one of the greatest assets you have. Keep it—even if you can't always pay in full.

ELECTING DETROIT'S MAYOR

(Birmingham Eclectic)

Detroit is about to engage in the biennial farce of electing an official mayor. As it progresses through the usual stages of pally-hoo, observe how many of the foolish and unfair tactics that man has created are used by the various contestants. All through it will be manifest the personal antagonisms of one clique for another—very little will be brought out to reveal real political efficiency. The average Detroit business man pays more attention to buying a $2500 car per week than Detroit does to electing its mayor. And that goes for practically every other American city over 25,000 population in the United States.

GAR WOOD

(Clinton County, St. Johns, Republican-News)

The sport-loving American public will find little comfort in the explanation made by Gar Wood of Detroit concerning his jockeying tactics in the Harmsworth speedboat race in Detroit. The Englishman, Kaye Don, made no comment. Apparently he had nothing to explain. Wood may have had justification for resentment when he was not allowed time to repair his broken gas line, but it hardly called for deliberate trickery which he practically admitted, and which might have easily resulted in the death of the Englishman and his mechanics. The fact that the race originated in England and the trophy is furnished by the late Lord Northcliffe, together with the fact that it has been held by Wood for eleven years would indicate that the Detroit boat builder could well have afforded to gracefully taken his defeat. Instead his own story indicates that he resorted to county-fair-race-jockey methods.

BUSINESS COMING BACK

(Eaton Rapids Journal)

Reports from the great national corporations in regard to the first six months' business this year show substantial gains in many instances over the corresponding period last year. Not are these increases in one or two lines only, but cover a wide variety of products.

Department stores, paint manufacturers, zinc and lead smelters, drug stores, radio makers—these are a few of the lines reporting increased profits, on which regular or extra dividends are based despite the business losses in steel, railroads and some other industries.

The impression gained from the studying of these semi-annual reports is that industrial and business activity is slowly but steadily growing and already has staged a material degree of recovery from the low point of last winter.

SHE MISSED THE WATCH

(By Fred D. Reister in Iowa, Capital News)

It's my guess the column is going to be warped in places this week. I've been in no mood to write since Mrs. Keister came running upstairs yesterday yelling that the wrist watch she gave me on Father's Day a year ago had just taken a four-dollar and fifty-cent trip through the window in company with my golf knicker. At least that was what the village jeweler said it would cost to squeeze the rest of the contents out of the ring spring, and the jeweler knows that certainly was a strange accident. It shows great carelessness on the part of Mrs. Keister, who has been married thirty-three years of married life that she has ever missed anything in her pants pockets.

THE MUDDLE AT LANSING

(M. H. Deane in The Chicago Tribune)

The open break between Governor W. M. Brucker and State Treasurer H. C. Lawrence occupied considerable space in the papers but it is not with this controversy that we are concerned—only indirectly.

The admittedly precarious financial condition of the state is of much more importance to the taxpayers in the first place under this new super government we have at Lansing, no two members of the administrative board are seemingly agreed as to the exact amount of the state's deficit. The "red" balance is given all the way from six million dollars claimed by Governor Brucker in his statement against Mr. Lawrence, to more than ten million mentioned in several press dispatches.

State Highway Commissioner Dillman claims the highway department has a bookkeeping credit of four million dollars and yet he is unable to pay long overdue bills to road contractors. Mr. Dillman is quoted as openly saying the four million highway dollars have been diverted to pay other or preferred claims. Delinquent taxes are, to some extent, no doubt, to blame for this distressing set of facts, but how can the state urge caution and conservatism to county and city governments with the state's fiscal condition in such a confusing muddle.

No one charges any dishonesty, but such official slovenliness at Lansing is not a very good example for the state at large.

The more we see of the operations of the administrative board the more we are disposed to agree with Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald that it is time for Michigan to get back to constitutional government. In other words we would much prefer to have a financial statement from Auditor General Fuller rather than depend upon the methods and machinery of any state administrative board past, present or future.

Legion Notes

(By Lisle Alexander in the Legion News)

This copy is going in early, and it's going to please the Editor. It will be brief—I am going North after the fish over Labor Day.

A full report of post election results next week.

Be sure and register with the adjutant for the Big Convention. It costs one buck, and buys souvenirs and tickets worth ten times the amount. Some of us will never get this close to the Big Parade again. Do not fail to get in on this one.

Next regular meeting will undoubtedly be called off because of the convention. More details in that later. In the meantime, save your dough and make your plans to be in town for the Big Show.

BECAUSE OF A STONE

A TOWN WAS BUILT

Northville, so beautiful for situation, owes its beginning on this site to a very small circumstance, the finding of a large boulder, so goes the story, which was discovered in looking through an old file of the Record.

E. B. Williams of Bedford, in speaking to the Rotary club on the subject of boocing, got the home community tells the story of Henry Miller who came to this part of Michigan in 1827 and took up a large section of land. Finding a large "hardhead" he proceeded to convert it into a miller's stone and from the beginnings of this meagre industry the town of Northville grew up. Instead of holding onto "all this land for himself Miller encouraged the coming of new residents and the building up of the community.

From this tale the speaker drew the moral of co-operation and the value of speaking a good word for one's own town.

Five happy pupils will now endeavor to carry out the wishes of the Northville grade school.

GYMNASIUM SCHEDULE FOR THE YEAR

Under the direction of Mrs. Wright, the new gymnasium teacher, the Northville girls look for a very busy season. The outline of work provides a variety of activities.

There will be no high school girls basketball team as in the past years but there will be class teams. These will provide plenty of excitement for the students.

The fall program of gymnasium work provides for much outdoor work. There will be soccer, football and relay races.

During the winter months the students will be provided with plenty of indoor work such as basketball and indoor baseball. Everything indicates a very successful year.

FOOTBALL

Northville's football season was officially launched Tuesday afternoon, September 14 when Coach Fugate called for candidates. A squad of 29 reported. No time was wasted as the first game is but a week away.

The senior class last year took a total of eight of our first team men. They are: Capt. Cavell, W. Preston, I. Ely, K. Christensen, E. Hinchman, P. Kerr, G. Greenlee and A. Johnson.

IMPRESSIONS OF A SOPHOMORE

The shuffle of feet, excited greetings and friendly glances all mean the beginning of another school year. A student watches the scene with an amused smile on her face. How queer it seems to see the "Freshies" running around, trying to find out everything at once, and yet it is so queer. Everyone has to be a "freshie" and the observer was one of them herself just last year.

One surely can't notice the improvements, around the building. The typing room has been moved from the first floor to the second. Thus most of the senior high classes are on the second floor. Everyone likes the change, so I've heard.

This year the seventh and eighth graders decided to have a study hall by themselves. They said the high school stuff is rather hard, so they called for candidates. A squad of 29 reported. No time was wasted as the first game is but a week away.

The senior class last year took a total of eight of our first team men. They are: Capt. Cavell, W. Preston, I. Ely, K. Christensen, E. Hinchman, P. Kerr, G. Greenlee and A. Johnson.

An enjoyable birthday dinner was given at Cass Benton park Sunday in honor of Mrs. Arthur Humphries.
Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willis and son of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stenberg and two children and Roy Naylor of Redford, Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys and children, Mr. and Mrs.
Ralph Willis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Lapham, Mrs. Annie
Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs.
James Van Dyne.

Little Miss Joan Montgomery Celebrates Fourth Birthday

Little Joan Montgomery reached her fourth birthday Monday, September 14, and her mother, Mrs.
Earl Montgomery, invited her sister, Mrs. L. W. Fall and two little daughters, Ruth and Barbara, and Miss Livingston to help celebrate.
Mrs. Montgomery had previously planned to have a number of little children invited for the celebration but in view of fear of the epidemic it was decided better to change the plan and limit the number of guests. A happy time was enjoyed by the little cousins and adults with a birthday cake and four lighted candles topping off the supper.

Get-Together Club Elects Officers

The Get-Together Club met at the home of Mrs. Gladys Eberole on Thursday, September 10, with nine ladies and four children present.
New officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Edith Eberole, president; Mrs. Grace Hunt, vice president; Mrs. Carrie Dickinson, secretary; Mrs. Kate Waterman, treasurer; Mrs. Celia Herrick in charge of the flower committee, Mrs. Helen Bowring—news reporter.

Mrs. Elmer Perkins invited the club to meet at her home on Thursday, September 24. The invitation was accepted. The business meeting adjourned promptly at four o'clock.

A light lunch was served directly after the business meeting.

Sisterhood Honors Miss Dubar At Happy Reunion in Detroit

It will be a happy group of young women who expect to gather today (Friday) at the home of Mrs. H. R.
Smith (nee Aletha Yerkes) of Cranford Lane in Grosse Pointe to honor the return from the west of their sister, Miss Dorothy Du-bar, recently back from Seattle, Wash. This is Miss Dubar's first visit home for four years and her welcome is most hearty.

Miss Dubar, it will be recalled, has a very unusual position in Seattle, doing secretarial work for the Lomen Reindeer corporation which owns herds of reindeer in Alaska around the Arctic circle. Reindeer meat is shipped to many parts of the United States as well as to foreign lands. Miss Dubar was given the responsibility of being sent to the Nome, Alaska, office for six months last summer and from this point sent very interesting letters to the Record.

The guests include members of Beta Delta chapter of Kappa Gamma sorority of the University of Michigan and the whole occasion will be delightfully informal and pleasant as these old friends talk over school days.

A one o'clock luncheon is to be served by the hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Dorothy Whipple of Detroit.

Young Folks Make Merry At Turnbull Home

Two dozen boys and girls joined with Miss Marjorie Turnbull in celebrating her fourteenth birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Turnbull, Fairbrook Ave., last Saturday evening. The evening was informally spent with games, music and dancing concluding with a delicious two-course lunch served by Mrs. Turnbull and her sister, Mrs. Cora Lancaster of Plymouth, who had made a lovely birthday cake for her niece.

Miss Hester Keller of Detroit who graduated recently from Northville high school, was among the guests.
Miss Marjorie was the happy recipient of many tokens of her friends regard.

Miss Doris Teschke of Northville Becomes Bride of Aubrey A. Gates

The Methodist parsonage was the scene of a second wedding on Saturday when Miss Doris Teschke became the bride of Aubrey A. Gates of Plymouth. The impressive ring-giving ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Richards and the young couple were attended by their immediate friends, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kulett, Jr., of Plymouth. The bride was charming in a gown of second satin while her bridesmaid wore bug taffeta.

Mrs. Gates is well known to many Northville friends being a graduate of the class of '29 of our local high school. For one year she was in the employ of the Northville Bell Telephone company and it was while occupying this position that she became acquainted with Mr. Gates who has been for a number of years on the staff of the Bell Telephone company of Plymouth and is favorably known in Northville. Mrs.

Gates will continue her position as saleslady in the Sally Bell bakery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Edward Teschke, a well-known family of this village.

Following the ceremony the newly weds and their attendants left for Detroit where they enjoyed a wedding dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Gates have begun housekeeping in a cosy home on Walnut street and their Northville friends join in wishing them all happiness.

Miss Norma Brown Weds Claude Truesdell of Wayne

On Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Claude Truesdell of Wayne brought his bride, Miss Norma Brown, of Bellefonte to be united in marriage by Rev. Wm. Richards.
The double ring ceremony was used to unite the happy couple.

The bride was becomingly gowned in blue chiffon and velvet hat to match and carried a beautiful bou-quet of roses. Mr. and Mrs. Deak Goebel of Plymouth were in attendance at the ceremony of their friends.

The bride is well known in this community having been engaged in laboratory work in the Northville Laboratories. Following the ceremony the young couple left to spend their honeymoon at a lakeside cottage in Oakland county. The best wishes of their friends are extended.

Austin Eaton Nuptials At Hillcrest Saturday

One of Northville's loveliest autumn events was the wedding of Miss Dolores Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Eaton of Northville to Robert Vaughn Austin, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Austin of Elyria, Ohio, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents on Hillcrest drive Saturday, September 12 at high noon.

This happy event was the culmination of a romance begun when both bride and groom were students in the University of Michigan.

In the living room a profusion of flowers, baskets of pink roses, unmuffled with gypsophila and gladioli made a beautiful setting for the occasion. Over the arch of the stairway hung festoons of ferns sprinkled with sprigs of anytha. Another cluster of ferns and delicate pink asters filled the alcove over the fireplace.

At one end of the living room was arranged a beautiful improvised alter where, on a carpet of white stood banks of palms and ferns interspersed with baskets of pink roses. On each side candelabra with five tall white candles shed an effective glow during the ceremony which was performed in the presence of forty relatives and intimate friends.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs.
Sterling Eaton, sister-in-law of the bride, sang "Oh, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Isabelle Nyeau of Calumet, then as she changed to the familiar chords of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played upon a quantum little organ produced for the occasion, the bride party came down the stairway—the bride entering the room on the arm of her father who gave her away at the altar where she was met by the groom who awaited her. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Whitfield, pastor of the Presbyterian church, with Miss Theo. Fulton of Lansing, as bridesmaid and Dr. Walter Scott, a former University classmate of the groom, now of Toledo, as best man.

Miss Eaton was lovely in a princess gown of pink tulle, over a pink dress. She wore a long veil trimmed with a long plume of pale blue. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and gardenias. Miss Fulton wore pink taffeta and a small pink felt hat with white plume and carried pink and white roses. The bride's mother wore a red velvet gown. Mrs. Austin, mother of the groom, was gowned in wisteria silk lace over satin with hat and slippers of burling-hues.

Miss Nadeau who played the wedding march, was a roommate of Miss Eaton while she was a student in the Michigan State Normal.

The bride is a graduate of Lansing high school in the class of 1927 and continued her education at the University of Michigan and at the State Normal at Ypsilanti from which she received her diploma in 1928. Since then she has taught school the past year at Galesburg, Ill.

The groom is a graduate of the engineering department of the University of Michigan and has for four years been employed as an engineer of the Detroit Edison company in Ann Arbor.

Following the ceremony the bride-party made its way to the Meadow-brook country club where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at tables festive with white roses, swansons and white tapers. Small tables surrounded the large bridal table where covers were laid for twelve.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin left immediately for a two-weeks motor trip to Quebec, Canada, and on down through the Adirondack mountains.
The bride's traveling suit was of black boucle with red fox collar and a small black hat. Following their return they will be at home at 6 Elm street, Ypsilanti where a newly furnished home awaits them.

The Record and Northville friends of these young people extend congratulations and hearty good wishes.

pend on a steady flow of customers

MOTION PICTURE PROGRAMS

"TOO MANY COOKS"

"Too Many Cooks," Radio Pictures' entertaining film, will show Sunday, September 20 at the Penniman Allen theatre, Plymouth, Mich.

The story is designed for laughing purposes only and revolves about the antics of thirteen members of the Cook family, who take an active interest in the courtship affairs of a young couple, played by Bert Wheeler and Dorothy Lee.

From the beginning to the end the film is a whirlwind of funny situations, snappy dialogue, humorous character work and bizarre camera action.

William Selzer, the director, has moved straight to his objective, developed the full possibilities of his farcical situations and delivered an extremely well rounded story.

"Bert Wheeler, in the whimsical role of a hard-working citizen, with the urge to get married and settle down in a love nest, is a new Bert Wheeler, romantic and convincing."

Dorothy Lee is undoubtedly starring material, if her work in "Too Many Cooks" is a criterion.

Contributing highly amusing roles to the picture are Roscoe Ates, Florence Roberts, Robert McWade, Sharon Lynn, Hallam Conley and several others.

"Too Many Cooks" is a smashing hit, distinctly and without reservations it was adapted from the Frank Craven stage play by Jane Murnin and was supervised by Douglas MacLean.

"MURDER BY THE CLOCK"

Those who read Rufus King's gripping murder mystery tale, "Murder by the Clock," will recall that the action took place within a day and time—and that most of it was centered in New York City.

In filming this story Paramount decided to alter the plot so as to provide a greater number of possible suspects in the case. The change from the original not only does this but also provides an entirely different person as the culprit in the case.

Those who have read the book cannot guess the solution to the screen play until they have seen it played through in the film.

Arrests in Fire Case

As a result of the fire of mysterious origin which brought the fire department to the home of Mrs. Dora Donelson last week, Wednesday evening, a Mr. Park and a tired man who had been living in the home were taken into custody.

The fire breaking out in several different parts of the house when the inmates of the home were away, made it difficult for the fire department to proceed. Considerable damage was done by breaking windows and doors and excited people trampling rugs and otherwise damaging the property.

The film story is briefly as follows:

"Old Mrs. Julia Endicott, an eccentric and crabby woman, lives in a luxurious mansion near a cemetery, with her idiot son, Philip Endicott, and her servants, Roberts, the housekeeper and Jane the maid."

One person whom the old lady hates more than any other is Herbert Endicott, her nephew. When Herbert and his wife, Laura, plan a visit to the old lady's house, Laura declares to go in, urging Herbert to go alone. The old lady greets Herbert cordially. But when she sees Philip, evidencing a criminal hatred for his cousin she alters her feelings and decides that she will designate Herbert as the recipient of all her wealth. She writes out the will that evening. Later on she is found murdered. The police suspect Herbert.

Meanwhile, Laura has been visiting to ask him to marry her, Tom Hollander.

Lieutenant Valcour, of the police, is assigned to the case. Meanwhile, Philip, who had been imprisoned, escapes. Valcour goes to the Endicott mansion. There he finds Herbert, who had been in a closet, strangled to death.

The family doctor injects adrenalin into the dead Herbert's veins. He urges that Herbert's best friend be present when the dead man revives. Hollander, whose flirtations with Laura were never known to Herbert, is called in. As Herbert slowly comes back to life, Valcour prepares to ask him who committed the "murder." But before Herbert can summon strength to use his voice, two bullets crash into the room. One wounds Hollander, the other kills Herbert.

Everyone in the house is suspected. Valcour, who has a tangled problem to solve. Then the face of the deceased old Mrs. Endicott appears at a window. But it is this strange event which serves to bring the real murderer to justice.

"Murder by the Clock" presents a cast of seven favorites which includes William Boyd, Lillian Tashman, Regis Toomey, Irving Pichel, Sally O'Neil, Lester Vail, Walter McGrath, Charles D. Brown, Blanche Frederici and Martha Mattox.

Real help in times of need but are desirous that people know that the old saying is applicable at such a time, "that their room is more needed than their company," and being thoughtful of the rights of workers and another's personal belongings to only polite and just. A word to the wise is sufficient.

By "AD" SCHWENGER

The time will soon be here when it is advisable that all good men come to the aid of their party—said party being one or another of the various football teams of the county.

Practically all football fans are rabid and to start a rough and tumble, knock-down and drag-out discussion during football season all you have to do is mention that you think one team is better than another.

If there are any fans in the group who have opposite views you will immediately hear aspersions cast on your thinking apparatus; you will be told that so-and-so team is composed of 12 mentally ill cripples and that every member of the team is being subsidized by rich alumni.

Fans will get in a huddle and argue scores back to 1880 and bring up famous names that still live in the football hall of honor. Jim Thorpe will be compared as an all-around player with Benny Friedman.

Loyal adherents to the Yellow and the Blue will hark back to the days when the long drawn-out yell of "Run da ball to Molenda," or "Giff da ball to Ben-na, da-maw-n Ben-na," resounded over the field arousing the moleskin-clad warriors to herculean efforts.

Trick plays, old "88" will be warmly discussed and strategy of all types will be rated as being good or bad or mediocre.

An anecdote related by players with much pleasure concerns the day during a game between two teams of opposing teams who had been brought up in the same small town.

They played opposite each other on the line and the right tackle became a crafty soul, decided to engage his friend in conversation at crucial moments and "take him out" of the play.

He would ask questions as to how the left tackle's young brother was getting along in high school and as the left tackle would answer, the ball would be snapped and the latter player, being more engaged in conversation than in the play, would be neatly deposited in the mud.

This performance was repeated several times before left tackle finally found out that he was being gaped. He remembered the name of right tackle's girl friend and as they went to the line he smiled—a beguiling smile and just as the center shot the ball back he remarked, "There's Mabel in the box waving at you."

Right tackle craned his neck in the direction of the stands and was immediately hit by 220 pounds of a vengeance football player's weight. The halfback went through the wide gap in the line for a gain of thirty yards and the score was evened.

Right tackle spit out a mouthful of sod as he knelt down on the line and gazed into the eyes of his opponent.

"And how," asked left tackle with just the trace of a smile, "is your aunt Emma?"

Football—bands playing, drum-major strutting, players heaving passes or booting the pugilist high into the air, vigorous crowds jamming the stadium shrieking and yelling their heads off and just letting loose in general.

Well—when the roll is called up yonder in Ann Arbor—we'll be there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McKee who left Labor day for a leisurely trip to Florida, have sent word back that they are having an enjoyable trip, making fairly good time, and have avoided any accidents.

Approaching from afar, The glories of His grace Hold, son, my hand; Guide me along the path, that coming,

I may stumble not, nor roam, Nor fail to show us the way Which leads us Home.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

BY MRS. EDITOR

ON "PRINCESS EUGENIE"

To wear or not to wear—that is the question in most every woman's mind these days as autumn draws near. Can't hang onto our shabby summer hats much longer—but how under the sun will we look in one of these lopp-sided derbies with a feather stuck in an at crazy angle? True, we have in a pinch put on an old hat of the Man-Of-The-House to go out into the back yard to hang up clothes—but we always stick to the back yard.

The other day we went to a small town to a Homecoming. Most of the time we were content to hear him comfortably in a friend's car and watch the people elbow their way along in crowded procession. Such a motley array of human nature! There were kindly old folks greeting long-time acquaintances, young folks clinging fondly to each other's hands as they strolled along, fat folks who shouldn't, but were, making their way into ice cream parlors and folks with a "clean and hungry" look.

Many were "dressed up" with elaborate sashes and other "finery." Some frankly rustic, some in the height of fashion. Why? A fashion show would be tame beside this actual procession of humanity. Real folks—these, not idealistic models, conscious of being observed and cheerfully munching cracker, pack and ice cream cones or chewed their gum and whether they carried balloons or babies they did it naturally—not for show.

And we in the audience, commented As each "Princess Eugenie" move in sight an unusual exclamation was uttered: "Oh, look at this one coming!" and "This one looks pretty nice—now really that isn't half-bad, is it?" And so it went but our conclusion was that this extreme type of head gear could be worn only by the very good looking who would look well in anything, in spite of the hat. To our mind ran the words of the poet

"But seen too oft, familiar with her face We first abhor, then pity, then embrace"

"I suppose we'll get used to their guerdness and before we know it we'll be 'embracing' what we declare now we never will. What 'copy cats' we women are! Before long we can almost hear ourselves saying, 'Dear me this old pompadour is shabby. I really must get a new 'Eugenie'."

WHEN YOU BUY FOUR BONNET

And this is the way we women "bute"

"It makes you look small," says the saleslady to the big woman, who is trying on the hat. Sold

"It makes you look plump," she says to the slender woman. Sold

"It makes you look young," she says to the obviously middle-aged woman. Sold

"It makes you look tall," she says to the short woman. Sold

"It makes you look short," she says to the tall woman. Sold

"It brightens your face," she says to the dark woman. Sold

"It brings out your color," she says to the pale woman. Sold

And all the hats were alike

The garden grows when we are asleep; so does the baby—but the Church, the Club and the Business will grow better if we are awake

ON "PRINCESS EUGENIE"

With engine and blocks I shall see him no more

At the call of the school bell he passed from my side

With the step of a man and his eyes showing pride

My six-year-old soldier, they've marched you away!

My baby's a schoolboy today.

Good Teacher, I've sent you my treasure of gold;

Carefully, prayerfully, willingly hold

And polish one gem I have placed in your hand.

For the making or marring is yours to command.

But the house is so still—only pussy comes mewling;

I sit idly dreaming, my work waits the doing.

My strong little man has gone forth to the fray—

My baby's a schoolboy today.

Any wishing to unite with the church, whether by certificate or on profession of faith, are asked to confer with any member of session or the minister.

Our Lady of Victory Church

The topic at church next Sunday will be a discussion of parish affairs of much interest to the members of the congregation. Two Masses at 7:30 and 10 o'clock.

The Altar society meets for a pot luck luncheon next Tuesday, September 22, at the home of Miss M. Mayze at Wolverson lake on the Connersee road.

Autos will leave the post office at 12 noon. Please make reservations for transportation next Sunday.

Spare time occupations usually are not considered the most important of our lives. In our regular business hours we demand promptness and attention. The great American sin is the making of religion a spare time occupation with its consequent secondary importance and efficiency. This perhaps explains the indifference and apathy of so many of our religious opinions and actions.

Methodist Church

Next Sunday we will have the privilege to hear a Conference preacher the Rev. F. H. Townsend being assigned to Northville by the Conference committee.

The service will be at 10:30 and the pastor will return to be present. There will be no church school due to the precaution now taken to prevent the scourge of infantile paralysis.

The Junior choir will be dispensed with until we are satisfied all danger is past.

The parents need not be alarmed as this is only a precaution.

Let us lift our hearts to the Throne of Grace so that which is best may be our lot.

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble and the Lord heard them and delivered them out of all their troubles. (Book of Psalms)

Let us pray for a gracious Conference being in session this week when four hundred and fifty Methodist ministers in the eastern half of the state of Michigan will assemble at the Detroit Conference at Central church, Detroit, until next Tuesday. An equal number of laymen will meet in joint session on Friday.

The Methodist Evangelistic fires are needed this present day in every town and city. God forbid we should lose the power for this Pray Praise and Preach a full Gospel of Salvation.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

OUR MISSION FESTIVAL THIS SUNDAY

Mission work is the life of the church. The Savior's command was to preach the Gospel to every creature and make disciples of all nations. A minister is unfaithful to his trust when he fails to impress upon his people this paramount task. Every sermon ought to point to the lamb that was slain for the sins of the world. And happy is that pastor and people who manifest an active and continued interest in the salvation of those outside the pale of the Christian church.

Mission work, too, ought to begin at home. The home church is the center from which every kind of missionary work should radiate. It was so in the early church, when the apostles began to preach the Gospel first at Jerusalem, then in all Judea, and Samaria and finally reaching out into surrounding countries. America offers a most fertile field for home mission work. Our country has been called the melting pot of the world, and the thousands who come to our shores are to be cared for by the church. In fact, unless the church of America continues to take vigorous steps to bring these people under the regenerating influence of the Gospel, many of them will become forever lost to their Savior and the church. And home mission work means more than "social regeneration" or "Americanization." It means Gospel regeneration. It means making Christians of non-Christians. In short, the task of the church of America is the Christianization of America.

This home mission task ought to sound forth from the pulpits of America in unmistakable tones. But the blessing to be derived from a special service devoted entirely to the consideration of missions, is by no means to be overlooked. St. Paul's Lutheran church of Northville has for many years celebrated its annual Mission Sunday. This year's Festival will be held this Sunday, September 20th, with two divine services. The regular morning service at 11 o'clock will be in English. The Rev. John Schmeckel, president of the Michigan District of the Missouri Synod, delivering the pulpit. He will speak on the text, Matthew 3, 12-16, choosing as the theme of his discourse being, "The Lord came to tell us in calling us the Son of the Lord and the Light of the World." The afternoon service beginning at 3 o'clock will be in charge of the Rev. Lorenz Gungel, pastor of Mount Hope Lutheran church, Melvindale. Mich. He will speak on the text, Jonah 3, 1-2, the theme of his discourse being, "Mission Work a Christian's Solemn and Sacred Obligation." Both of these services will surely rouse our people's attention.

If this year's Mission Festival is to bring you the proper blessing my friend, prepare for it. In fervent prayers for the mission cause. Two out of three people on earth are not yet Christians and most of them probably never once heard of the Christian way to heaven by faith in Christ. To meditate on their awakening after death is an awful thought. The only way to help these blood-bought souls to life eternal is to bring them to Gospel during their life on earth. Pray, ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth laborers into His harvest.

Contribute your gift to the mission cause according to your faith and means. That is the second requisite for a blessed Mission Festival. We need pastors for established congregations and teachers for the Christian Day Schools. We must have itinerant preachers who bring the Gospel of salvation to the lonely and forsaken in urban and rural communities, healthy and courageous messengers of Christ, how shall the pagans ever hear and know, or their redemption by the God-man. Colleges and seminaries must be built and kept in repair, professors must be called and salaried, students must be gathered and supported—and all of this costs money. Therefore contribute cheerfully and liberally.

But by all means be present at the Festival. It is arranged for you, for your education and spiritual benefit. Unless God insert prevents you from coming there is nothing more important for you to attend on that Sunday than your attendance at the Mission Festival. And see to it that you do not come alone. Each member of your family is expected to be present. In your automobile there should not be a vacant seat. Notify your neighbors and acquaintances in time of our activities, and invite and bring them. They are welcome.

Thus our Mission Festival will redound to the glory of God and the salvation of many redeemed. Let St. Paul's spirit govern us. Christ is preached and I therein do rejoice. (Paul 1, 18 God grant it!)

There will be no Sunday school this Sunday morning due to the prevailing epidemic of infantile paralysis. May the gracious Lord spare our children and may we not forget to call upon Him for help and deliverance.

The venerable Ladies Aid of our congregation will serve a dinner after the morning's Mission Festival to all people present. A small charge of 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children will be taken. Let us all remain and be present for both services.

The Lutheran Cemetery association extends a cordial invitation to our congregation to be present at the dedication of the Lutheran division of Glen Eden Memorial park on Sunday afternoon, September 27, at three o'clock. Glen Eden is situated on Base Line road near Farmington road.

On the first Saturday in October, October 3, the confirmation instruction for children will begin. A two years' course in the chief doctrines of the Christian religion will be given. All parents are urged to remember the date and send their children at 9 a. m. at the parsonage.

To all who mourn and need comfort; to all who are lonely and want companionship; to all who love to

JOBS, NOT DOLES IN GRAND RAPIDS

Jobs instead of doles is the order in Grand Rapids; for every dollar the city spends in public relief Grand Rapids gets 80 cents in labor on public improvements.

All the physically able unemployed men in the city, paradoxically speaking, are at work on projects that have accumulated over a period of years, projects that have not required the purchase of more material than the city has on hand or can acquire easily out of funds regularly budgeted to the various city departments.

The finding of jobs in Grand Rapids was an easy matter for, as have all cities Grand Rapids has shelved numerous projects in years gone by largely because of lack of funds. The chief item of expense connected with most of these projects was labor. But since the supply of labor is all too plentiful and the city is faced with the task of providing food and clothing for an unusually large number, the decision was made to beautify and improve the city, both to the benefit of the city and the unemployed.

Some 2,000 men, most of them heads of families, are now busy building many of the things that Grand Rapids has wanted for a long time. The Grand Rapids method, which has been in operation since December, 1929, has been so successful in eliminating the financial dig that now only about three per cent of the cases receive direct relief. But this direct relief goes only to families without any able-bodied bread-winner or to families too large for any part time efforts of the father to support.

Every able-bodied unemployed man in Grand Rapids who is in need of assistance is working under a system which enables him to get along satisfactorily without losing his self-respect. These men are creating a new park widening and extending streets building new sidewalks, rounding off street corners, for the convenience and safety of motorists, laying water mains and sewer lines, welding axes for the city water pipe, filling in city lots, painting city buildings, and a hundred and one other things which various city officials have on their books. Already these men have finished the foundations of the site for the new municipal auditorium on which many unemployed will soon be at work. A fine swimming pool, a city park has also been constructed, whose utility demonstrates the soundness of the Grand Rapids plan.

Men being given jobs by the city receive their compensation almost entirely in scrip. Scrip is merely paper money, good for trade only at the city's store. Workmen are paid at the rate of 40 cents an hour, but at the city store the prices of food, clothing and other necessities are so low that the workman's salary goes a long way. The scrip plan was adopted largely for the reason that it simplified the transference of food and clothing to workmen and lessened the danger of mis-spending and fraud. At first the Grand Rapids merchants felt that the establishment of a city store was discriminatory; however, the efficiency of this method has been proved and now local merchants have changed their opinions.

The men work only in half-day shifts. The number of half-days the individual works during the week is determined by his needs and the number of dependents. Men with large families may work every day while the man with one or two dependents may work two, three or four half-days per week. Single men naturally work less than married men and for the most part the single men are taken care of in the city's Social Center, which is housed in an old church. When an individual makes application for assistance from the city, he is given a thorough medical examination regardless of his physical condition. City doctors determine whether or sing God's praise; to all who sin and need a Savior; to all who seek salvation. St. Paul's Lutheran church opens wide her portals and in the name of Jesus Christ bids you welcome.

WAYNE CO. BUILDS 31 MILES OF NEW ROADS PAST YEAR

The fiscal year of the Board of County Road Commissioners of Wayne County came to a close August 31. During this one year period 1,987,580 square yards of concrete pavement has been added to the County's total staved Road Commission. Edward N. Hines, recently, this yardage of concrete represents 31 miles of new roads and 16 miles of widening of old roads and brings the total yardage of concrete roadways in Wayne County just short of 12,000,000.

This approximates 1,000 miles of 20-foot concrete roads. However, our ultimate minimum width of concrete is 40 feet and we have many miles of roads that are 40, 50, 60, 72 and 80 feet wide, so that the actual mileage of improved roads approximates 652 miles, stated Mr. Hines.

During the month of August the total yardage of concrete laid was 146,954.

NOTICE TO BAND MEMBERS. All members of the Community High School band who haven't brought their instruments or cases are asked by Director Edna Head to leave them at the high school on Saturday, September 19, between 11 and 4 o'clock.

Not a man is capable of work and whether or not he is fit for heavy or light duty. Those who have been residents of Grand Rapids a year or more are eligible for assistance. The scrip labor plan has the surprising advantage of keeping away the scabs—those men who are willing to take something for nothing even if they don't need it. Grand Rapids prides herself on the elimination of the pauper status from the lives of her hundreds and hundreds of suffering workmen. Grand Rapids feels that the retention of pride in these workmen will react decidedly to the city's advantage in the future. Further, Grand Rapids, always a city of pleasing appearance is rapidly becoming one of the most attractive cities in the country, a city free from rabble.

Grand Rapids is doing all this work through a simple financing process. Finances for relief are obtained through bond issues, based on a special assessment of one-fourth of one per cent of the assessed valuation of property. This requires only a small outlay from the taxpayer and eliminates the guess work that goes with voluntary contributions.

But the most striking thing of all is that as one saunters down the streets of Grand Rapids, dozens of dozens of signs will be seen reading, "Danger—Men at Work."

Obituary

Mrs. Wm. W. Smith. After an illness of several weeks with heart complications Mrs. Wm. W. Smith died at her home on Randolph street at the age of fifty-six years.

Although she had been in failing health for several months Mrs. Smith kept up her activity long after becoming physically incapable and was loath to give up her habits of industry.

Malie May Rollet was born in Meritt, Ont., in 1875. Her girlhood was spent in Canada where she met Wm. Smith whom she married in 1901. Soon after their marriage they came to Detroit where they lived for seven years and then came to Northville where they have since home ever since. To them were born three children, who with their father survive their mother. Mrs. Virginia Palmer, Richard and Alfred. One grandchild, Geo. W. Palmer, Jr. and six brothers and two sisters also survive. Arvid, Arthur and Clarence Rollet of Detroit and Theodore, Orlando and Percival Rollet and Mrs. Jack McGowan and Mrs. Wilton Detzel of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Smith was a real mother, the kind you could tell anything, her children say of her. Those who called her "Mother Smith" remembered many boys outside her own family circle who loved to come to the Smith home. Her sense of humor was very keen and lightened many a serious situation. She was the life of every group she joined and frequently outsiders appreciated her hospitable welcome.

When stricken with her last illness Mrs. Smith was not content until all her children were gathered about her and awaited eagerly for her soul. Alfred, who came from distant Texas to be with his mother during her last hours. Her satisfaction in his presence was strong evidence of her mother-love.

While she walked through the valley and shadow of death her courage and faith never wavered and when an old friend also fought a losing battle, sent a message of cheer to her. "You tell him that I love him," "You tell him that I won't miss him on the other side and I'm prepared to go." With customary courage she sang several songs with her intimate friend, Mrs. Geo.
