K. H. B. WANTS GUNS TO PROTECT CITIZENS

To The Editor:
For the past few years there has been considerable comment on the carrying and owning of concealed weapons. This covers the small arms known as revolvers and pistols. As far back as history dates, our forefathers had them and carried them.

Some people will say, "Yes, back in the early days people carried them for the law had not come, but today, with our laws and advanced government it is not necessary to take a hand in it ourselves. That is up to the police." I do not mean that we should take the law into our own hands, but I do believe "the individual should do all he can to prevent holdups, robberies and murders."

Forty or fifty years ago, if a man was caught stealing even a horse, he was either shot or hanged at once. But today a man can be indicted, tried and sentenced to prison for a few years and then released.

It is my belief that the small arms known as revolvers and pistols should be made legal for all citizens who are of legal age and have a good record.

In this time of depression a man gets hard up and goes into the hold-up business, knowing he has ninety-nine chances out of a hundred of getting away with it, for very few people carry guns. But if he knew the average person were armed he would hesitate before starting out.

If it is my belief that the small arms known as revolvers and pistols should be made legal for all citizens who are of legal age and have a good record.

Once a noted Texas senator said, "A man doesn't need a gun very often, but when he does, he wants it damned bad," and I think, from the present day conditions, that the time comes often.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Sunday guests at the E. J. Cobb home were Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Ballard, daughters, Margaret and Shirley, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballard and children, Nancy and Jimmie, of Dearborn and Mrs. Rose Ballard of Ann Arbor.

BARGAINS SATURDAY

Thrill Bargain fans will have another opportunity to win prizes on Saturday.

The problem this week will be to find a card which will be displayed in the store window of one of the merchants advertising in the Thrill Bargains this week. The card will announce "Thrill Bargain Prizes Awarded Here." Look close fans, and perhaps you will be one of the three lucky winners.

The Thrill Bargains were favorably received by the shopping population of Northville and vicinity and one merchant has decided to lengthen his bargains throughout the week by asking the shoppers to bring his ad in to the store with them.

Several of the bargains offered this week are more than money savers. They are actually "give aways."

The three winners of the Thrill Bargain Prizes last week were Alice Boelen, Jean Marie Lake and Mrs. J. Weston.

W. A. ELY SAVES 1868 FLAG POLE

With a history that takes it back to the torch light parades of political campaigns just after the Civil War, an old hitching post that was once part of a tamarack flag pole, is being carefully treasured by W. A. Ely, supervisor of Northville township, at his home here.

Back in the fall of 1868 before Mr. Ely was born—his father, Narcis Ely, an enthusiastic Republican, lived on a half-acre piece of ground seven miles northeast of Ypsilanti with his neighbors all Democrats.

Hickory was the timber used by the Democrats for their flag poles while tamarack was the choice of the Republicans. Taking up the battle for Grant and Colfax, who later won out against their Democratic rivals, Seymour and Blair, Narcis Ely went into a swamp half a mile from his home and cutting two of the tallest tamaracks, spliced two of them to make a flag pole for Grant and Colfax.

Fearful lest his Democratic neighbors would cut his flag pole, Mr. Ely did not take a chance on running his banner from the ground, but instead ran the ropes into a window of the second floor and from this hoisted his Republican insignia.

"The Ely, homestead burned in 1885 but the old flag pole survived and part of it became a much used hitching post. Fifteen years ago Supervisor Ely was back and saw part of the old pole and planned later to come back and get it. Just recently he was there again and was told that a new road was to be put through and that if he wanted the old flag pole he would have to hurry. So his brother and nephew, Peter and Claud Ely, went to the old 'stamping-ground' and brought back the historic flag pole. Part of this has been broken away by the ravages of time but the bottom is as solid as when it was sunk into the ground back in the days of 1868 when they took their political campaigns seriously.

Now "Bill" Ely is wondering into what kind of shape he can work up his historic treasure.

DR. H. H. BURKART'S COLT, WALMAC, WINS METAMORA RACE

With the ram slashing him in the face, the mud splattering over his rider's silks and the rest of the field trailing through the mud, Dr. H. H. Burkart's colt, Walmac, again showed his superiority over horses of this parts when he won the quarter-mile dash at the Metamora Hunt Race meeting near Oxford, last Saturday.

With his uncanny ability Jockey McHoney got the colt off first and was never headed. King Lehr, brought from Chicago for the meeting, was three lengths behind, while F. M. Alger, Jr.'s Wanderer came wandering in on one length behind the King. The time was 24 1-5.

J. D. Peat's Bertram W. again finished second in the three-quarter mile flat race that concluded the program. Sandy O'Malley was off first and won the race by a length and a half. King Lehr who also was entered in this event finished third. The time was 1:25.

KNAPP WILL SPEAK AT P. T. A. MEETING

The October meeting of the P. T. A. Teachers' Association will take the form of an open meeting for all taxpayers and friends of the school as well as members. Questions on school matters may be asked, answered and discussed. By this round table form of program it is hoped to furnish all interested with information regarding the Northville schools. The latter part of the program will be given over to a short talk by Supt. Knapp on "Ambitions for the Northville Schools."

Penniman-Allen Theatre, with New Equipment, Opens Soon

Here is the best news Northville has had in some weeks—the Penniman Allen theatre is installing new equipment and will re-open in the near future.

The closing of the public schools and the Sunday schools, because of the infantile paralysis, three weeks ago made it advisable to close the Penniman Allen as well. Like the old story of "you never miss the water until the well runs dry," so Northville didn't realize until our theatre doors were darkened just what this remarkable institution means to the community. With no shows in town the village certainly lacked the old time enthusiasm and attraction for outsiders. Now that we are to have the Penniman Allen going again—and better than ever—in two or three weeks, there is a decided feeling of optimism everywhere and it is certain that when the theatre opens again with its new machinery, the management will receive complete and enthusiastic co-operation.

With the theatre closed since the middle of September, our people have had occasion to realize just what this institution has meant to Northville. Not every one knows, but it is the fact, that the Penniman Allen is, as Nelson C. Schrader says, as fine a one as you would find in towns five times the size of Northville. The investment in the building and equipment is very unusual. The Penniman Allen would do credit in every way to a city of 10,000 people. When the theatre was moving along no one gave it a thought and we took as a matter of course its benefits. Now that we have been without them for a little while we appreciate "our mercies." Northville certainly is very grateful to Mrs. Allen and Harry Lush for their splendid contribution to Northville's community life—we all appreciate it deeply.

Not only is the Penniman Allen building one of the finest in this part of the state and the equipment very modern but another outstanding feature is that Northville, through the enterprise of the management, is able to have the same pictures that the big Detroit theatres get at the same time they release them. This is something that movie fans appreciate.

The Record hopes to be able next week to announce when the theatre will open. The new equipment will be placed in the very near future and when the installation is completed the theatre will again draw its old time crowds. With the infantile paralysis worry a thing of the past and with people all free to come and go, Northville will have "one big night" when the Penniman Allen is again going. As will be noticed elsewhere in this issue, the Exchange Club members will have their wives and sweethearts as their guests at a theatre party the night of the big opening.

A very distinguished group of Michigan people has been picked to meet for this important gathering. This conference grows out of the White House conference of 1930 and all of the organizations in Michigan interested in child health and protection are invited to send representatives.

MRS. MARY CADY DIES AT HOME IN WAYNE

After several weeks of gradually declining health Mrs. Mary Cady, well known and beloved by many Northville people, passed away at her home in Wayne Thursday, September 24. Mrs. Cady was the mother of Mrs. Wm. Wain, Cady street and had often visited here. She was taken ill in Northville and wished to be taken to her own home late in August. Beside Mrs. Wain, Mrs. Cady is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Butler in Wayne and a son in Cleveland.

FORMER NORTHVILLE COACH TRAINS TWO LOCAL BOYS

Ray Doekson, coach of Jackson Junior college, who was at one time a teacher in Northville high school, announces that he will coach two of his former Northville students in the varsity football team in Jackson this year. The Jackson, Citizen Patriot states that Bob McCordie will play half back and Harley Wolfram full back in the probable line-up during the first game scheduled this season.

Mr. Doekson will be remembered favorably by a great many Northville people as a coach capable of uniting enthusiasm and ability to bring champion teams to successful finish.

FIVE INJURED IN NOVI ACCIDENTS

Two traffic accidents last week disturbed the serenity of Novi and sounded a note of warning to motorists to be constantly on their guard while driving at night.

Two cars, their drivers asleep at the wheel, crashed together in a head-on collision Sunday morning at 2 o'clock in front of the Leavenworth filling station, one mile west of Novi. Two occupants of one car and the driver of the other car were thrown to the pavement and were severely injured. All three were taken to the Redford Receiving Hospital where they are still staying for treatment of injuries.

It was with much difficulty that an ambulance was obtained after the accident had happened and it is said by those who took care of the injured that they were unconscious for an hour and a half before and was secured.

The other accident occurred one mile east of Novi when a car from Detroit attempted to pass another on a hill and was forced into the ditch by a car coming in the opposite direction. The occupants of the car suffered minor injuries when they were thrown out of the car.

The Record was unable to learn the names of any of those in the accidents but it was ascertained that they were not local residents.

NEW VALUES NEEDED REV. W. R. BARBOUR TELLS ROTARIANS

"We need a philosophy of life that will make us rise above conditions around us—we must get down to basic things," Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour told Northville Rotarians at their Monday luncheon. The large attendance of members—only one member being absent—heard the local Baptist pastor give a stirring talk on the value of spiritual things.

"The real man is not body but soul," said Mr. Barbour as he asked his hearers "Are you growing a soul? One way of rising above our troubles is to cultivate friendship said the speaker. He defined a friend as 'One who knows you and sticks to you.'

The speaker rapped divorce and the breaking up of family ties as one of the greatest menaces of our times. Real prosperity of a nation depends, he emphasized, on the maintaining of marriage on a high level, with "one man for one woman."

"Trial marriage is nothing but infernal nonsense," said Mr. Barbour as he denounced some of the loose living of our times. "If we wish permanent happiness and a lasting prosperity, we must live according to the laws of God," was his closing plea.

President Jos. G. Schuler was in charge of the gathering and Dr. H. Handorf introduced the speaker. E. L. Mills announced details of an "Amos and Andy" attendance contest which will start Oct. 1. The losers will provide entertainment for ladies' night.

Monday, October 12, will be a rural-urban meeting with members of the Exchange club present as guests. Harry B. Clark will be in charge and an outstanding speaker will be heard.

RECEIVER NAMED

In circuit court at Detroit last Saturday Sidney Liddell of Detroit was named as temporary receiver for the Northville State Savings bank which was voluntarily closed by the board of directors on September 15.

It is expected that a permanent receiver will be appointed within the near future.

Mr. Liddell is well known in banking circles. He is the son of the president of the bank at Milford whose depositors saved it from being closed after the other bank at Milford suspended business. For a number of years Sidney Liddell, who now comes to Northville, has been engaged in the real estate business in Detroit.

Nothing definite has been done yet looking toward the securing of a bank for the village but sentiment is strong that some action will be necessary as soon as possible.

PORATH HORSES TAKE 41 PRIZES

Back in their barn with a suit full of ribbons the horses of the Watercrest Farms, owned by Julius Porath and son of Six Mile road, neigh contentedly for they have just returned after a successful season of the fair circuit. Fourteen of them "strutted their stuff" before the horse experts at the fairs in Illinois, Ohio and Michigan, and after making the complete circuit came home with 17 first prizes, 14 seconds, 6 thirds, a senior championship, 3 reserve senior championships and 2 Grand Champions.

The first exhibition of these local prize winners took place at the Illinois State fair held at Springfield during the week of August 22. They were widely advertised both here at Northville and Illinois and of course the name of Northville was to be seen on all of their electric signs.

From Illinois state fair they travelled to the Ohio state fair held at Columbus, Ohio. Statistics show that this year's horse show at the Ohio fair was the largest ever held in America, there being over 500 horses in the competition. The Porath horses came in for a lot of favorable comments by the board of directors and even the governor of Ohio came down to look them over. Here they won the senior and Grand Champion ribbons, the latter being by their imported Belgian stallion, the very elegant name of Elegant du Marais. Incidentally this is the first time 7 years that the championship has left Ohio.

From Ohio the Porath string came back to Michigan for the State fair held at Detroit. Here, as in previous years they shared equal honors, with a few more added to the string to make the display even more attractive. They added the reserve senior championship with the same mare that later won the Grand Championship at Saginaw.

The new officers of the American Legion auxiliary, Lloyd H. Green unit, were installed Tuesday evening by Mrs. Beals, president of the Mrs. H. Beals unit of Plymouth.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Barry and accompanied by Mrs. Beals were the following guests from the Plymouth unit: Mesdames Joffe, Bryn, Barnes, Eckles, Straub, Brockhurst, Springer, Hoyer and Elund.

The hostesses of the evening were Mesdames Ethel, Catherine Velma Freydl, Bessie Blowers and Averil Green.

The Lloyd H. Green unit has just completed a very successful year and submit the following report of expenditures:

Rehabilitation work at Maybury sanatorium, $189.13; rehabilitation work at Battle Creek hospital, $61.65; welfare work at Children's Bldg. (Ottawa Lake), $136.09; local welfare work, $21.57; National, State and District dues, $61.60; miscellaneous, $129.70; total $698.98.

Northville reported the largest rehabilitation work in the 6th district. Every ex-service man at Maybury receives a birthday cake and four times a year they are remembered in a special way. Used magazines are also taken out to them.

GETS ALASKAN POST

Ward T. Bowers, former Northville resident for many years, was recently promoted to a high place in the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Mr. Bowers was employed for five years at the local fish hatchery and was then transferred to Washington. His recent promotion to a position as head of the Alaska division will place him in charge of all sealing activities in the Bering sea.

While a resident of Northville, Mr. Bowers was an active Mason and he still retains his membership in the local lodge.

700 AT NOVI OPPOSE BOOST IN VALUATION

Property Owners Meet With State Tax Commission Members

Nearly 700 property owners of Novi township gathered Tuesday at the Novi town hall to review and discuss the raised property valuations with the representatives of the State Tax Commission.

What the specific raise in the tax rate will be could not be determined and will not be made known until the amounts of the property valuations have been totaled.

The raise in the valuations and assessments is due to an appeal from Pontiac for a reassessment of the tax roll with a view to reducing their own property taxes, it is said. It was stated from a reliable source that the tax commission representatives were more lenient with the property owners of Novi township than they had been with other townships in Oakland county.

Discussion with the raised taxes was a feeling that was dominant among the many farmers and townspeople who had gathered at the town hall for the hearing. What justification it was asked by several of the property owners, could the state find for raising the valuation of real estate during the current depression when properties will not bring anywhere near the same money that they would three years ago?

The question was answered by several of the property owners themselves.

"We voted for improvements and all sorts of expenditures in good times that are not possible to raise during these times," said because we asked for must now pay the bill."

Township Supervisor C. Hamilton declared himself to be absolutely against any further raising of the property taxes.

"There must be some other source of revenue," he said, "than that of raising the property tax for the purpose of raising money to meet outstanding debts. I would suggest that the state place an additional two cent tax on each gallon of gasoline and use the money thus obtained to retire the Covert road bonds and the drain bonds."

Several of the protests made by the property owners were taken under advisement by the tax representatives and it is believed that these property owners will have their valuations lowered. The fact that Novi township has suffered little in comparison with other units of the county did not do much to assuage the feeling of protest which ran high among the property owners who had their assessments raised.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO HOLD THEATRE PARTY AT PENNIMAN ALLEN

Planning for a theatre party the evening that the Penniman Allen theatre opens was the climax of an enthusiastic meeting of the Exchange club Wednesday noon. Wives and friends of the members will be guests.

President Clifford B. Turnbull presided and Sherill IV Ambler, joint election secretary, to succeed Robert Wm. Richards, took up his new duties. There was no formal program but an animated round table brought some splendid short talks in which members pledged their cooperation for a continued work of the Exchange club with a new emphasis on the club motto "Unity for Service." The meeting was one of the best held in months.

LUTHERANS GATHER AT PARK DEDICATION

Between five and six thousand Lutherans gathered last Sunday for the opening of the Lutheran Division of the Glen Eden Memorial Park located on the Eight Mile road, one mile west of Farmington road, last Sunday afternoon.

The Lutheran Cemetery Association of which the local Lutheran church, St. Paul's, is a member, arranged a fine dedication program which included splendid orchestral numbers by the Stephanus Orchestra, Theo. Braun conducting and beautiful hymns sung by the Bethlehem Choir. H. Burger conducting.

The service was in charge of Pastor W. O. Kienhans, of Lincoln Park Calvary church and members of the Lutheran Division board of directors.

Sermons were delivered by Pastor G. M. Krach of the Bethel church, in English, and by Pastor C. J. Engelder of the Nazareth church in German. The dedication was given by Pastor F. A. Hertwig of the Gethsemane church.

ONE WAY TO HELP

This depression business is like a bunch of logs locked up in the ice in the north woods of Michigan. Nothing moves until the warm days of spring break the jam and then the stream of logs starts going down stream.

A lot of us are standing around, wanting to work and unable to do so. We are like the big bunch of logs—all we need is something to break the jam.

Well here is one way to break the jam and start men going to work and start business: Build a house. Build one for yourself or for someone else—one of the biggest complaints we hear is that Northville needs more modest modern homes for rent. Now is a very cheap time to build—the costs have been cut more than perhaps you realize. Whoever would start building a house now would do a great thing for himself and for his community. We'll have to start some time—why not now?

GOING AFTER BUSINESS

If our Northville business places want business we can tell them how to get it, go after it.

The other day there were placed on porches of Northville homes, copies of an Ann Arbor daily newspaper carrying a two-page ad of a business house of the University city. Ann Arbor is 20 miles from Northville, yet here was a firm that spent a good many dollars to draw trade from 20 miles away. This firm would not take out a two-page ad unless it paid them to do it.

In all the daily papers for the last few months have been statements by the dozens from the leaders of our national business life, telling merchants that one of the best ways to get business in these depression times is to advertise wisely and largely.

If every Northville business place worthy of the name would set aside a certain budget for advertising and would stick to it, "like a puppy to a roof" it would be literally amazing what the town could do in the next year. John Wanamaker, who became one of the greatest merchant princes of the world, went into business on a more humble scale than some of the smallest Northville stores and Wanamaker put his entire cash proceeds of his first day's business into advertising. See what Wanamaker became.

Advertising won't work miracles but it is the best friend of the progressive business man.

THE LEGION AND THE BONUS

Northville last week saw history made twenty-five miles from us when the President of the United States, worn with anxiety, came before the American Legion at Detroit to tell it something of the crisis which now faces the country.

In a thirteen-minute talk President Herbert Hoover pointed out the grave danger that might befall our country if greater financial demands were made upon it. As he spoke to the Legionnaires, his solemn words of warning were carried by radio to all corners of the United States.

It was a history making speech that may mark a turning point in our national life.

Three days later, lead by a patriotic, earnest Maryland farmer, the Legionnaires voted 902 to 507, against asking Congress for any bonus aid.

In again heeding the "call to the colors" the American Legion will raise itself immeasurably in the esteem of the people of the United States.

Perhaps an unprecedented trip of a President of the United States to make a thirteen-minute speech before an organization representing one million members was needed to point out to the average citizen the situation in which the United States now finds itself. We had all begun to think that our government can do anything and everything. Like the small boy who asks nickels and dimes of his father, little knowing that the source of nickels and dimes may fail, so we had come to believe that our government at Washington is a perpetual spring of wealth upon which we could call at any time. We had failed to remember that governments gain their financial powers only from the people who make up the country.

It needed a Herbert Hoover—the man whose world wide grasp of events and conditions is exceeded by no human being—to show us the plain dangers the country faces. Even as the President spoke, the British Empire had temporarily abandoned the gold standard, showing to the world that the mighty empire of Britain was not infallible financially. With all our four hundred billions of dollars of wealth, the United States faces problems of taxation, and of indebtedness that are staggering. The time for retrenchment has plainly come. There had to come a stop to vast expenditures of national wealth.

The action of the American Legion in backing its President may be the turning point which will put this country back on the road to prosperity for all. This action of the Legionnaires will bring nearer that glad day predicted by Hoover as he closed his memorable speech in Detroit last Monday.

"With the guidance of the Almighty God, with the same faith, courage and self sacrifice with which you, backed by the Nation, won victory fourteen years ago, so shall we win victory today."

BANK CLOSINGS

We are beginning to think more clearly what bank closings mean.

Northville has had two bank "closings" but we are all finding out now that we have not had two bank "failures."

We have been learning more about banking and we have found out that banks could not have a lot of mortgages and notes tied up and at the same time give to depositors their money. In other words, you cannot borrow and loan the same amount of money at the same time. Our banks had to close because a large part of the depositors' money was "frozen."

Now we are finding out that we have not lost money by bank closings—we have only delayed the time of getting our money out. As the "Michigan Manufacturer" says, "It would appear as if the recent flurry has scared depositors more than hurt them." This paper goes on to point out that it does not know of any bank suspension in this state in recent days in which more than fifteen per cent of the deposits will be lost and very few of these. Indeed, says this very conservative paper, "In most cases, one hundred per cent will be paid depositors, and apparently, most of that within a year or two of the closing."

Rudolph E. Reichert, state banking commissioner, makes practically the same statement. He has declared recently that most of the closed banks of Michigan will liquidate in an orderly fashion. He further says that, where depositors give their whole-hearted cooperation it will be possible to return practically one hundred cents on a dollar. He also states that where banks closed voluntarily (as they were in Northville) these were in much better condition than where they were closed by the banking department as unsound.

For our encouragement in Northville, we can see from the experiences of other places that bank closings do not mean bank failures but may mean the beginning of a new day of readjustment.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION
(Contributed)

Wouldn't it be a fine thing if all the people who talked about loyalty to Northville actually carried it out in practice?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS
ARE THINKING ABOUT

AFTER NEW BANK LAW

(Frank Bryce in Grand Lodge Independent)

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has said a word which should please every American citizen who has dealings with a bank. He proposes that the Federal Reserve Bank shall be empowered to come to the assistance of any solvent bank needing cash. For as he states it, the question so far with the banks has not been one of solvency at all, but one of liquidity. Bonds and mortgages have been frozen and the senator suggests that it is in such an emergency that the federal bank should step in and be of assistance.

THINK THIS OVER

(Bangor Advance)

There is this to be said for newspaper advertising: It doesn't shout at you when you are trying to concentrate on something else, it doesn't obscure the view and mar the landscape, it doesn't interrupt your enjoyment of a good grand opera program, it doesn't clutter up your mail and your waste basket, it doesn't make you turn to page 37 and then shuffle through eighteen pages to finish your story, it doesn't clutter up your front yard or obtrude itself onto the seat of your motor car on Saturday afternoons. It is like a well-trained servant—never intruding or making itself obnoxious, but always quietly at hand ready to give service when called upon.

LOOSE TALK

(C. B. Burbank in The Ionia County News)

The other afternoon we were in conversation with a bank examiner and quite naturally the talk was concerning the closing of banks. Among other things, the examiner made one statement worthy of repeating. He said, "Do you know that more banks are closed because of loose talk and unwarranted hysteria than by any inherently unsound financial condition?"

That was a somewhat startling statement but it would appear to carry considerable weight, coming from a non-partisan source, as it did.

Crises of all kinds call for level-headedness, clear and sane thinking, and careful passing of judgment.

DETROIT'S MAYOR

(Redford Record)

The mayoralty fight begins to straighten out a bit and our super-sensitive ear begins to detect certain sounds. It seems to be pretty generally conceded that Mayor Murphy will be in the November finals, although his vote will be cut down considerably by Sosnowski, who has no more expectation of becoming mayor of Detroit than he has of becoming king of Siam. But Sosnowski is going after the big Polish vote. One-fifth of Detroit is Polish.

John Nagel, it now appears, also will be in the November survival race, although Harold Edmonson, who now is said to have backing of the Ford layout, will run better than expected.

So, the taxpayers' committee's scrap is making some progress but it is no first political race and he is not likely to be among the first four. Hanna, the ex-contractor, is wasting his time and energy; he'll get nowhere. Schmuss, the Communist candidate, won't poll 10,000 votes and Gover, the perennial candidate for some office will not likely be discouraged by the inevitable result.

LAZY TIMES

(Geo. H. Neal in Orion Review)

We're all of us getting too lazy for words. We bought a loaf of bread yesterday and when the thing got home and was untied, dinged it hadn't been shed in the days gone by mother made her own bread. Now when you get a loaf it's already cut into slices, and it probably won't be long before you can buy it buttered. The noble art of reading has been lost in the age of the radio, and the movies; now all you have to do is sit down and without any mental effort at all, you soak up the latest news, music, plays, lectures, sermons and what not. We can't go around the block without getting in to the car and riding. We're getting lazier and lazier. The children once wanted to learn to play the piano, and back in the olden days you would go down the street and hear patient mothers standing over their children while they painfully thumbed the Maiden's Prayer. Then came the musical piano, but you had to sit down to them, and work the pedals. Some of this generation won't ever work the pedals.

OUR ASSISTANCE

(E. R. Eaton in Plymouth Mail)

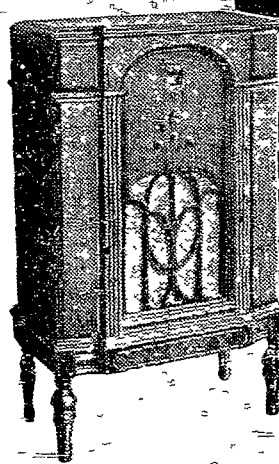

Plymouth regrets greatly that its nearby neighbor to the north has been hit so hard by conditions that several of its business places have been forced to close up. It will be many, many years before the disastrous effects can be overcome, but Plymouth stands ready and willing to assist in every way possible. We offer our resources to Northville for our good will and friendship. The greatest good can be accomplished by Northville residents themselves by forgetting the past and joining in one great force to put the community back in the progressive way that it had been traveling. Rumors can raise havoc and it just seemed that some of the citizens of the place were bound to close up both of the banks which they did. The worst of it all is that those who will suffer the most were the ones who remained loyal to the finish. The wagging tongue boys and girls of Northville have had their day. Let them now join with the other forces and try and undo the damage they have done. Northville can be and should be one of the finest little cities in the state. Its future depends entirely upon what its citizens do now.

Sounds From The Silence

"How's business?" a traveling salesman asked the new barber. "Boy," replied the barber, "it's so quiet here you can hear the notes drawing interest a block away at the First National Bank."

Northville Horses to Compete in Calgary Club of Michigan Autumn Show on October 3rd

The Calgary Club of Michigan, already well known throughout the Detroit area for its horse shows and its activities in stimulating interest in horses and horsemanship, will sponsor an autumn horse show and symposium on the club's own field, SIX Mile and Rinker roads, Saturday afternoon, October 3. The Bound Brook and Oakdale riding clubs are co-operating in the event.

The first class for children under 10 years of age, will be called into the ring at 2:30 p. m. The program of events is expected to fill four hours.

Entries will be accepted from all stables in Detroit and the surrounding area. However, it is the purpose of the show to give the people of Northwest Detroit and the Northville-Plymouth-Farmington area an opportunity to develop their horses in their own district. There are more than 700 horses in Northville Farmington, Plymouth and the northwest Detroit area and it is from this horse center that the entries will be mainly drawn.

Comparatively few people, even including those residing in the northwest section, realize the splendid riding facilities offered locally. Many are, however, taking advantage of the proximity of riding academies and daily enjoying the pleasure of riding across the fields and along the beautiful bridge paths in the district.

The program for the autumn show includes 12 classes.

Following the show a barbecue, Argentine style, will be served and during the evening the club will hold open house with dancing.

Further information regarding the autumn horse show may be obtained from Captain O. D. Keith at the Calgary Club of Michigan, Redford 2847, from Captain V. A. Tarelli at Bound Brook Riding Club, Six Mile and Middlebrook roads, Farmington 244F13, or from Captain Wm. Wellwood at Oakdale Riding Club, Redford 0803.

Boxes or individual seats may be obtained through the above mentioned clubs or from Capt. Dr. Waldo T. Johnson, M.D., Res. 204 Public-Hedford theatre building, 17354 Lahser avenue.

Entries in the various classes may be made up to and including Thursday, October 1.

EASTLAWN EDITOR GETS "LOW-DOWN" ON ILLINOIS MINES

Everytime anyone comes back from a vacation the local newspaper wants them to write a story about it. That is, if they have been away from the old home town for more than ten days. If they've been away ten days or less the story, comes out in the paper reading something like this: Mr. So-and-so spent ten days in Timbuctoo; or wherever he has spent his vacation. But when he has been away for two weeks, well that's where I'm supposed to come in right now.

To say that I have been traveling extensively for the past two weeks would be inaccurate. I'd rather be put on record as saying that I have traveled IN-tensively. Now to say something by way of explanation.

Take for example the day I went down into a small coal mine down there in good old Illinois (have you ever heard of that splendid state?) There was something IN-tensive for you. Before I finish this tale I want to say that the moral is: Don't go down into a coal mine with freshly shined shoes, a clean shirt and the trousers of your best suit. On my way out I vigorously sang the old tune, "I'll never raise my son to be a miner."

In case you don't know what a coal mine looks like let's insert the description that a coal mine is a place where coal is extracted by painful processes, chief of which is stooping in a tunnel anywhere from a few feet to a few more feet. You who have the privilege of walking around in the fresh clean air, straight as a whistle can well thank your stars that such is your station and position in life.

The longer I stayed in the mine the more I realized the benefits to be derived from good old upright walking. And then there were the water covered tracks down which my guide and I plodded slowly and cautiously, guided by the dim glow of the hissing carbon lamp which was fastened to the headgear of the miner. I don't know how far we had walked in our stooped position (the tunnel was never more than about four or five feet high—and here let me pause to describe my own altitude as a good 6 ft. 2 in.) I say, I don't know how far we had ne-

PLYMOUTH-BANKER DIES IN ELEVATOR AT ANN ARBOR

Frank J. Pierce, cashier for many years of the north side branch of the Plymouth United Savings Bank, fell dead in an elevator at University Hospital, at Ann Arbor, Wednesday night, September 15. He suffered a heart attack.

Mr. Pierce had gone to the hospital to see a new grandchild, born to Mrs. Clifford Tait, his daughter. Mrs. Pierce accompanied him. They have three other children, Mrs. Glen Jewell, Mrs. Russell Kirk and Frank J. Pierce, Jr., of Plymouth.

Mr. Pierce was 64-years old. He was born at Mendon, Mich. He was a well known banker and active in community work.

Advertising is the lubricant that keeps the wheels of commerce moving smoothly and without friction.

gotated the water soaked trail when we came to two busy miners digging into a new vein of coal. A nice chair, or better still, a nice bed would have come in handy just about that time but as there was none in sight I knelt as carefully as possible, for I didn't want to get myself "all muddled up," and listened to the talk between my guide and the men. One of the men decided this was a good time to reminisce so started to tell about an experience in the mines of somewhere or other at the tender age of fifteen. Well to tell the truth, although I welcomed the respite I was more anxious about getting back to daylight than I was in personal narrative. But I listened, and then we started back. The warm fresh air at the entrance was never more welcome to me than when I climbed out of that mine.

But this is already getting to be too long. I meant to tell you about a few other things of interest in Illinois, particularly the immense watermelons they get down there for a dime (economical housewives please take note) and about the vast corn fields, and the cozy prison at Joliet, and the channel cut from solid rock near Joliet, and about the smoke of Chicago, etc., but there isn't space (the old alibi for laziness). It is enough to say that it was a fine trip. I thank you.

DON'T be FOOLED by Tricky SALES TALK

DON'T be misled by challenges—guarantees—laboratory analyses—price comparisons—claims of 25% savings—made by distributors of special-brand tires.

A recent example of a grossly misleading and extravagant statement by a distributor of special brand tires is: "Mount one of our tires on one wheel of your car and a tire of any other make on the opposite wheel. If our tire does not give you equal service at a saving up to 25% in price, we will give you a new tire free!"

This statement can be made for only one purpose—a desperate effort to gain your confidence and sell you a tire before you have had time to think about the ridiculousness of their challenge, which asks you to buy one of their tires and go to another store and buy a tire—have it mounted on the opposite wheel—then turn yourself into a tire tester!

Tires don't ask you to run test cars for them—they have twenty-nine test cars of their own, running day and night, on which they test Firestone Tires and other makes, including special-brand tires, and we have the proof of the safety, quality and extra values of Firestone Tires before you buy.

Drive in today—examine sections cut from Firestone Tires and special-brand mail-order tires—see for yourself the two extra plies under the tread which give you extra protection against punctures and blowouts—compare the construction and quality—don't be fooled by misleading advertisements. We will give you safer, more dependable tires at no greater costs.

"CAUGHT PLASTERED"

Some years ago Douglas MacLean, while at the peak of his popularity as a comedian, suddenly retired from the screen.

He sought new worlds to conquer. That he has done so is the unanimous opinion of critics who preview his story, Radio Pictures' comedy "Caught Plastered." The film, with Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Dorothy Lee in the leading roles, will show at the Penniman Allen theatre, Plymouth, Michigan, Sunday and Monday, October 4 and 5.

While the movies rolled on, introducing new luminaries, MacLean quietly labored securing the funniest comedy possibilities of the talking screen. He found it in the ancient theatrical law, that laughter is heartiest when tears are imminent, and that comedy under the surface, is drama.

"Caught Plastered" is a heart-interest story, with humor combined, strange bedfellows, yet so beautifully done that comedy is always stressed while the plot retains audience interest.

The comedians gambol ludicrously into good similitudes, save an odd lady, from the poorhouse put a bankrupt business on its feet, and foil the plot of a suave villain.

"THE SMILING LIEUTENANT"

Floods of fan mail registering emphatic protest, have convinced Paramount studio officials that, in making Maurice Chevalier, a gay singing voice in his two recent pictures, they have gone contrary to public desire.

Convinced by the evidence, Jesse L. Lasky, Paramount production chief, conferred with Ernst Lubitsch, director of Chevalier's new starring picture, "The Smiling Lieutenant," and between them, they arranged for the smiling Frenchman to sing four songs in the picture.

"Primarily Chevalier is a great artist," says Lubitsch. "Where his songs are logically woven into the action of a story, they serve to speed up rather than retard its dramatic action. Realization of that fact, coupled with the public demand prompted us to plan a Chevalier vehicle which would give the star plenty of chances to sing.

"We selected 'The Smiling Lieutenant,' for which Oscar Straus and Clifford Grey prepared the music and songs."

Straus is the popular Continental composer. Grey has written lyrics for Chevalier's previous pictures. They worked in close cooperation with Lubitsch, and with Ernst Vajda and Samson Raphaelson, the screenwriters.

"THE SPIDER"

George F. Stone's amazing emotional acting has made him an outstanding film favorite with screen audiences.

In such films as "Doorway to Hell," "Cimarron," and "The Front Page," he demonstrated conclusively that his art encompasses the ample range necessary to portray widely different characterizations.

In his colorful role in "The Spider," Fox mystery picture to be shown at the "Penniman" Allen theatre in Plymouth, Michigan, on Friday and Saturday, October 3 and 4, Stone draws the attention of Edmund Lowe by refusing to permit the latter featured in the role of magician, to identify the contents of his pockets.

Stone finally succeeds in throwing a shadow of suspicion upon every character in the thrilling drama. Then it is that Lowe's clever use of "black magic" brings about the surprising solution to the mystery.

Lois Moran will be seen opposite Lowe in the feminine lead of the picture. El Brendel has a featured position in the cast. William Cameron Menzies and Kenneth MacKenzie co-directed.

Chief Safford tells this one. An old Northville resident who was getting along in years but who had still retained his magnificent physique was, sensitive concerning the waning of his strength.

In a free for all kidding discussion some of the boys got the old man quite worked up.

"Why dang you ludes," said the elderly gentleman. "I'll bet I can get into a harness and pull that Jones prize ox all over the lot. Sensing some rough sport one of the group of kidders accepted the bet and ever thing was arranged for the contest.

The old pioneer got into the harness and started to pull against the ox. The owner of the animal gave it a muscular crack with his whip and away it went.

Galloping, bumping and racing around the field went the ox with the old gent harnessed on behind. The crowd that had gathered tried to head off the wild animal but they couldn't do it and the situation looked serious.

Finally the ox, exhausted, came to a halt and everyone rushed to the old man.

"Are you hurt?" they asked anxiously.

"H—l," he puffed, unyoked the ox, fellows, I'll stand.

The Detroit papers tell about the incarceration of Miss Bertha Stott, who told Judge Homer Ferguson where to head in.

"Miss Stott was attended by two trained nurses she had hired and who were specially deputized. She remained in bed wearing silken negligee, and had all her meals brought from the Detroit Athletic Club."

Wonder with what sort of celebration the Hay Fever club, composed of Doc Snow, Caretaker Kilken, and our former Methodist minister "Bill" Richards will greet the arrival of cold weather. By the time this gets into print I suppose the mercury will be hovering around 90 again.

Coach Ruggles reports the football squad is not saying much but they're "sawing wood" every night getting into condition and they're going to be a thorn in the sides of many teams this season.

Bang and a couple of more bangs—hunting season opens up. From now on stay out of the thickets lest some Nimrod take a pot-shot at you.

BY THE WAYSIDE

By Chas. M. Armstrong, Hillsdale

'Twas but a plant by the wayside, That grew from a chance seed dropped there,

That raised the heart of a discouraged one To our Father and His wonderful care.

How its flower brought back the story, Of the lilies in the valley, plat As it said to the passerby: Look up and forget-me-not.

And so a chance word of sympathy, Tho' short but from the heart, May lighten the load of a brother And help him to do his part.

And to you the blessing of the Father, May enrich your life while here, Lighten your load, brighten your path And make all life more dear.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

BY MRS. EDITOR

IN THE "ITINERARY"

The smell of ripening grapes and falling leaves! Melancholy days? Not for the little preacher's "kids" for its moving time. Hooray, we're off for unknown shores whither, "the Lord" (in person we've learned since) will lead. Three years used to be the time limit for one "field" and later it was changed to five years and still later removed entirely.

Periodic moving time with all its glorious upheaval. What fun for the children! With our father's carpenter-made sectional book cases strewn all over the room we had an ideal fleet of boats and in them we sat and sang at the top of our voices.

"I'm going to sell peanuts in Egypt. I'll never come back any more."

That was the day of carpets tacked down. Tacks (by the thousands) seemed to be pulled out. True to the teaching of our father we played it was a "revival" meeting and on blistering knees we wrestled with the sassy driver at our task. Especially obstinate tacks were "stubborn souls."

Usually in the height of our confusion the entire congregation dropped in for a farewell surprise. Piles of chairs swathed in newspapers had to be dragged forth from corners to seat the parishioners. Packing boxes and rolls of carpet were pressed into service for the crowd.

Layer cakes were cut and passed by the "Dorcas" of the church. A touching farewell speech was made and the customary "God be with you" still we meet again was sung (it gives us a queer feeling to this day).

After all it was rather sad to leave such good friends and as our motion was weeping quietly in her handkerchief we followed her example and blubbered noisily.

But childhood's tears are soon dried and we were stretching our necks to see what was the gift being presented by "Brother"—in behalf of the congregation? And anyway we remember that there were remains of layer cakes in the kitchen. What was the use of crying? The world was wide and already we had learned that there were so many fine folks in the world and there would be as good friends in the next parish.

Next morning we were off riding to the station on top of a load of furniture waving good-byes to a crowd of envious playmates. Another Christopher Columbus was setting sail on an unknown voyage. Oh, it was glorious to be a preacher's child at moving time!

CONTENTMENT

The following editorial is by Loring A. Schuler, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

We are often warned against being contented. We are told that progress comes only through discontent, and that when either a man or a nation becomes satisfied with what he is or what he has, he is no longer progressing.

St. Paul, who was one of history's revolutionaries, wrote while he was a prisoner at Rome: "I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content. I know how to be abased and I know also how to abound. In everything and in all things have I learned the secret, both to be filled and to be hungry, both to abound and to be in want."

It is one thing to be timid at the thought of disturbing change, quite another to be able to capitalize every situation. There is a divine contentment in life, not waiting for time and seasons, and which with the materials at hand can turn apparent failure into success.

If we would stop bemoaning what we want we might find treasures in what we have.

Husband—Oh, any kind so long as it gives light enough to see by and is too heavy to throw.

A Modern Version

Freddie had just returned from his first attendance. "What did you learn in Sunday school, dear?" grandma asked.

"The Lord is my chauffeur," shall not walk," answered the five year old.

Baptist Church
First Sunday in October in Michigan Baptist churches is Roll Call. With us locally it is Rally Day in the Sunday school and Communion Sunday in the church. At this time those contemplating uniting with the church are requested to present themselves.

The period from October 22 to December 6 will be devoted largely to all forms of evangelism in the churches cooperating with Dr. Anderson, secretary of the Michigan Baptist convention.

The pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, will speak in the morning on "Stewardship" and at the evening hour the theme will be "Mighty to Save."

Hours of service are: Morning worship and Communion at 10:30. Evening service at 7:30. Sunday school at 11:45 a. m. B. Y. P. U. at 5:30 p. m. at which time a very interesting program has been planned for the evening by Miss Grace Angell. We are having a Rally in B. Y. P. U. work Sunday. Everyone is welcome to attend. Will you be there?

Methodist Church
Services next Sunday at 10:30 with Rev. Frank N. Miner preaching. The church school will meet at 12 noon with Boyd Lehning and Otto Tewkesbury superintendents.

The Epworth League for our young people will meet at 7:30. In the evening at 7:30 Rev. F. N. Miner will again preach commencing the evening worship for the Fall and Winter months.

Everybody is welcome to be present at the above services.

Novi Methodist Church
The Rev. Frank N. Miner will preach next Sunday at 9 a. m. It is an opportunity for worship. Let all of Novi come out next Sunday morning.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
The regular Sunday morning worship begins at the usual time, 11 o'clock. The pastor will occupy the pulpit "Blessed are they that hear the Word of God and keep it."

Sunday school will convene at 10 o'clock.

The church officers will meet this Friday evening at 7:45 p. m. in the church hall for their regular quarterly meeting.

The regular quarterly meeting of the voters of the congregation will be held on Monday evening October 5, at 7:30 in the church hall.

The Ladies' Aid of the congregation will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the church hall.

This Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the confirmation instruction for children will begin. A two year course in the chief parts of the Christian doctrine will be given. All parents are urged to send their children to the parsonage.

The service on this Sunday will begin at 10 o'clock as an exception. He is urgently requesting all members to be present on this Sunday.

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life," St. Paul's Lutheran bids all a hearty welcome.

Our Lady of Victory Church
Choir practice tonight at 7:30. Our new director again will be present. We need more adult voices. We were very much encouraged by last week's attendance.

Catechism classes began tomorrow morning (Saturday) at 9:45. The Dominican Sisters from Ypsilanti will again teach these classes. All children of seven years and above who have not finished the 8th grade in school must attend.

Bishop Gallagher will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation at the Wayne County Training school on Sunday afternoon, October 18. Our local class will join with the class of the Training school on that day. Other details will be announced at church next Sunday.

God helps those who help themselves. If that means anything it means at least a 50-50 proposition. In these hard times have we been sensible enough to seek this aid?

The shallow minded leadership of today has exaggerated our own self-sufficiency. Too many of us have tried to work alone. A proud and business disposition has scorned the above mentioned help. Hence, our standard beginning yesterday and lasting throughout the month of October we are having daily church services at 7 a. m. At the very start of the day we are invoking the promised help of God in this crisis. The services consist of congregational recitation of the Rosary during Mass and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. If other things fail why not try this?

Sunday Masses at 8 and 10 a. m.

Presbyterian Church
Service of worship will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday, October 4 at the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Notice, especially the evening service. Let us cooperate to make it attractive and enriching.

The Woman's Union and the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary will hold their annual Harvest Sale in the church house Wednesday, October 7. Jellies, jams, canned fruit and pickles will be for sale, also baked goods. The splendid cooperation in this enterprise is greatly appreciated and a cordial invitation is extended to you to couple with your continued interest that also of your friends. The Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary will conduct the Silver tea in connection with the sale.

The Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, October 6 in the church house. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6:00 p. m. Each member is to bring her own dinner service. Mrs. Mae Babbitt is hostess with Mrs. Margaret Tank assisting. Mrs. Marjorie Coleman has charge of the program.

Salem Federated Church
Cora M. Pennell, pastor.
Service for worship, 10:30 a. m. The theme will be "The Christ Within the Tied Hands."

Bible school at 11:45 a. m. Cottage prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Rally Day will be observed on Sunday and there will be a little souvenir gift for each one attending the church service. Bring the children. Although the message is intended for teen-age people and adults, it will be given in simple language and with the object lesson provided, will be understandable even to young people.

Dr. Bruce Douglas's superintendent of the Mabury sanatorium, took charge of the Men's Bible class on Sunday, conducting the review lesson over the first fifteen chapters of Acts. He did a fine piece of work and the men appreciated the plan and his message.

Well one of the by-products of these days of close economy is the restoration of the almost-forgotten art of baking home made bread. Local grocers say that with the low cost of wheat more people than for years are baking their own bread and other baked goods. Much more flour is being sold and in larger quantities.

West Point Park

The Sunday school was well attended Sunday morning. The hope of the church are the children and young people. Rev. Adams gave a discourse on miracles performed.

Mrs. Earl Gullen was in West Point Park church and visited with friends here. She has been confined to the house with a very sick boy for the past three months.

The junior Sunday school class met with their teacher, Mrs. Andy Hann, at her home. Betty Randall was the hostess to the 16 girls present. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Viola Wolfe. Arrangements were made to have a bake sale on October 10, at Mr. Coolman's store on the corner of Seven Mile and Farmington roads.

Mrs. Panner provided a delicious lunch for the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carey spent a week at Houghton lake fishing.

The school boys divided, one side being the Reds and the other the Blues and played the first game of indoor baseball for the season. The Blues won by a small score.

The fruit was plentiful this year in this district. Housewives are busy canning hundreds of quarts to be used this coming winter.

The high school boys and girls attended the junior citizenship club in Plymouth. It was the sixth annual inauguration of officers in high schools. All those that were eligible from Pierson school were present to receive their badges of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor and sons, Stanley and Earl, spent a day fishing at Indian lake on the Nine Mile road. They report good fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Taylor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crosby of Lansing spent the week-end with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor.

The high school boys are practicing indoor baseball and will be ready for competition in two weeks. Kenneth Schweizer returned to school Monday morning. He still has his hand in a sling.

LOWERED FLOUR PRICES

AT A. & P. STORES
A collapse in flour prices representing a 40 per cent reduction from prices a year ago was revealed today in a flour sale announced by the A. & P. grocery stores.

In a special sale on a low price

While part of the reduction is due to the fact that five trainloads of flour, representing 8,800,000 pounds were purchased for the Detroit area, much of it is due to the general collapse of wheat prices. Flour millers report all flour prices lower today than they have been for years.
