JUDGE GILLIS IS ARMISTICE DAY SPEAKER

Jurist Praises Work of the American Legion at Exchange Club.

No organization in the world desires peace more than the American Legion, yet we who have known the horrors of war realize that the best preparation for peace is preparedness, said Judge Jos. A. Gillis of Detroit, speaking to members of the Exchange club and guests Wednesday. The Detroit jurist spoke on the "Significance of Armistice Day" in an eloquent and thoughtful way.

President C. E. Turnbull presided and presented Commander Joseph Blake of Lloyd H. Green post, who in turn presented the speaker.

"The American Legion," said Judge Gillis, "is composed of God-fearing men; there are few atheists among them and the organization stands as a bulwark against those who strike at the foundations of our country." The Judge told of the plans of the Legion to work for a bill that would provide for a universal draft for both materials and men, if war ever comes again. No millionaires will be made in the next war, if such a bill is passed.

Judge Gillis spoke at some length on the great work the Legion is doing for the disabled veterans. The Legionnaires have never, he said, fostered one selfish bill in Congress for the able bodied but they have dedicated themselves to the cause of the disabled buddies to whom "Armistice day brings no relief to broken bodies and shell shocked minds." The "bonus" has been misnamed said the speaker. It is not that but is "adjusted compensation" which simply adjusts some of the inequalities of the service during the war period. The speaker, at those who have been mentally affected because of their war experiences is the increase, said Judge Gillis, and the peak will not be reached until 1946. Such is the horror of war that many who came out, apparently untouched, have after a number of years had something "snap" in their minds and for these splendid men whose minds are now blank the war still goes on.

A number of members of the Lloyd H. Green post were present as guests of individual members of the Exchange club.

Next Wednesday the Exchangeites will entertain the Northville Rotary club.

MOTHER ASKS RETURN OF HER SON'S HAT

To the public:
Who took a hat off a hook last Thursday evening, November 5 in the hall of the high school? Is there really a boy or young man that would do it and know it doesn't belong to him?
Well, that is what happened.
Surely you know it did not belong to you when you took it, can you wear it and know how you got it?
And is there a mother that would see her son bring home a good hat and not look into the matter to see where and how he got it?
It will be greatly appreciated, if you will return the hat to school.
You can be honest to yourself.
—Mother.

Forty-One Veterans at Eastlawn and Maybury "San" Remembered by Auxiliary on Armistice Day

Wasn't it just like the women of the American Legion auxiliary to observe Armistice day by bringing cheer to 41 boys here who are still paying the price of their service to their country? Each member of the auxiliary—which always stands by the Legion in doing the big sister acts—filled a box with the kind of things all boys like no matter how big they grow. Into these boxes went fruit, candy, gum, puzzles, homemade cookies and other homely little knick knacks. Each box was neatly wrapped in white and tied with a big splashy bright ribbon—most of them tied, remembering that every man likes "any color so's it's red." Some were tied with red and blue making a patriotic combination.

Just to make them that much prettier, a sprig of "mums" was fastened into each box and each boy's card was attached to his box. It was a pretty sight—that array of 41 boxes all ready to go.

MICHIGAN STATE GAME STIRS FANS

Being of a curious nature anyhow, we attempted to ascertain what the sentiment is in regard to the Michigan-Michigan State football game which will be held tomorrow afternoon at Ann Arbor.

Here are the results of our inquiries:
Coach Harold Ruess: Michigan will win by reason of its reserve strength. I predict a score of 14 to 0 favoring the Wolverines. Michigan State lost to Syracuse because they didn't have sufficient number of reserves and they will lose to Michigan for exactly the same reason.

Superintendent Thad J. Knapp: I don't know how strong Michigan State is but I do know that Michigan has a good team and I think they'll win.

Chief of Police Wm. Safford: I undoubtedly will be a close and interesting game. I don't think that Michigan will score as easily as they think they will—in fact, it'll be anybody's game.

R. T. Baldwin: The Michigan State-Michigan game will be a replica of the North-western-Minnesota game Michigan should win. The Kipke boys will take the lead in the second half and will win with their reserves.

Postmaster T. R. Carrington: Michigan will win by a score of 21 to 0.

Don Miller: Michigan will win. Why? Because they have a better team.

Orlow G. Owen: Michigan will win because Newman will be out and State won't be able to intercept any passes. Look at the new Boy Scout chart we're going to put on the wall.

Andy Anderson: Don't know who'll win the game because I haven't been following the teams in action.

Irving Ulrick: Michigan State will win 13 to 7. If that little fellow Monnett gets away, it's going to be too bad for Michigan.

Fred W. Lyke: If that Michigan team plays tomorrow like they played last Saturday, they'll whip State.

A. R. Marz: Michigan should win easily. They'll stop Monnett and Elbowitz, then they'll throw in reserves who will score against a tired State team.

Elmer Perrin: The game will be very close and I think that State is likely to win if they can stand up four of these boxes to boys at Eastlawn and the other thirty-seven to Maybury sanatorium, where all the boys who were up and around had a "date" to meet these "girls" in the lobby. It was almost like Christmas to see these boxes handed out to the eager boys for their names were called off. Such enthusiastic reception as they had! And the bright little nosegay was stuck jauntily into the lapel of many a coat.

It is really a question which was made happier—the boys who received this bit of reminder of the fact that their sacrifice has not been forgotten or the girls who had the pleasure of carrying out this pretty autumn custom.

"I wish I were a member of the Legion Auxiliary" was said an onlooker. Well, she can't be but there are innumerable little ways to help bring cheer to the boys, among them save your magazines for the girls to carry to the boys—there are never enough to go around when the new periodicals arrive.

LEGION DANCE IS BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT

H. S. Gym Transformed Into a French Village for 100 Couples

The Legion scored another triumph Wednesday night when their annual Armistice Day dance held at the Northville high school was attended by approximately 100 couples.

Despite a "downpour" of rain, a large turnout of approximately 200 celebrities from Northville, Plymouth, Dearborn, Detroit and surrounding towns attended the sparkling event which is one of the highlights of the social season in Northville.

Every member of the Lloyd Green post, approximately 400 of them, labored to make the dance a success. The committee in charge of the preparations was headed by Merrill Sweet assisted by Morton Kalesky, Charles Murphy, Charles Scholtz, Fred Rieger, Raymond Desautels and Harold White.

The high school gymnasium was beautifully decorated as a French village with ten high school girls acting as hostesses and several girls pointing the way to the "Cafe de Maitre Garcon." Legion members translated the sign to mean "The Cafe for Bad Boys." The "Cafe du Commerce" and an attractive booth where cider, labelled champagne, was served to the thirsty dancers, of whom there were many by the hostesses.

Members of the entertainment committee expressed their appreciation for the enthusiastic manner in which townspeople cooperated with the Legion in putting on the dance. The music was by Sergeant "Chuck" Miller's orchestra, an organization of musicians, the majority of whom served together in the same outfit overseas.

HUGH BABBITT GETS BEAR ON TRIP NORTH

"I was more impressed by the beautiful scenery up in Northern Michigan than by anything else on the entire trip."

Thus did Hugh Babbitt summarize his hunting trip last week north along with Clyde Merritt.

Hugh mentioned in the course of his conversation concerning the trip that he bagged a full grown bear and a beautiful buck deer but these events paled beside the grandeur of Michigan forests clothed in a riot of red and gold foliage.

"They told me that the forests were even more beautiful last month," Hugh said, "but they were pretty enough during the time I was there."

To get to the high spots in order to see these sights, Hugh related, it was necessary to do some strenuous climbing and hiking. Being unaccustomed to the life, he said, the evenings found him extremely tired and always ready for the bunk.

Hugh's ambition to get a moose was not realized as the region in which they camped, called Echo Bay, enticed only a few straggling members of the moose family. The bear was caught just as he was about to enter his den in an old cedar log. One shot lodged in a horn leg and another in the shoulder served to bring the animal low.

The deer and several stags from the bear were brought back by the hunters and the bear skin will eventually become a trophy of which Hugh may be justly proud. The ambition to get a moose has not been lessened any, Hugh said, and if possible he is going to return to the north and bring one home.

CHAS. A. SESSIONS IMPROVING AFTER CRITICAL OPERATIONS

The many friends of Chas. A. Sessions will be glad to know that he is finally on the road to recovery after a long siege with three operations in succession at the St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. With a record of seventy-eight rugged years behind him Mr. Sessions' good general health helped him through this crisis and he is now able to be up a part of the time at the hospital and will be glad to see his friends.

Mr. Sessions knows Northville better than perhaps any other citizen of this place having lived here all of his life. The hills of our village were his boyhood playground and he knows every foot of them well. For the past thirty-five years he has been village assessor.

Under the banner of the Michigan regulars and reserves, Monnett and Elbowitz will be real threats to Michigan's highly praised defense. If there are never enough to go around when the new periodicals arrive.

Oatmeal But No Milk

A little chap up at our Northville grade schools was taken ill the other morning. "My stomach hurts," said the lad when the teacher tried to find out where the trouble was.

"What did you have for breakfast?" the teacher asked.

"Some oatmeal," the boy replied. "Did you have any milk and sugar on it?" questioned the teacher. "No," replied the boy, "that's all I had. You see father hasn't worked for months and we don't have much to eat."

Northville looks like a happy and prosperous community, with lots of fine looking homes. But in some of these homes the folks actually don't have enough to eat. The children in some of these homes sit down at the table for meals and come away hungry. That's tragedy that comes close home. Here was a lad from one of our homes—sick at school, not because he ate too much, but because he didn't have enough to eat.

Northville still has a million and a half dollars tied up in two banks that are closed but this community still has enough money and enough credit so that not one boy or one girl or any man or any woman is going to go hungry.

Several Northville agencies are at work to see that no single child goes hungry or goes without sufficient clothes. Yet there is pride among these homes that never before had to think about hunger and want and as in the case just mentioned the hunger and want may be hidden. But for the comfort and peace of us all, such cases must be given sympathetic help. There must be no breakfast without milk or bread for Northville children. The P. T. A. is providing milk for some kiddies but they cannot care for all. All agencies will have to work together for a common cause. None must be left to battle alone against too heavy odds.

GORDON CONDENSERY PLANT TO BE MOVED TO LA GRANGE, IND.

Within the next few months the milk condensing plant of the Gordon Baking Co. located in Northville, will be moved to LaGrange, Ind., where the concern is expanding its local plant. The move will be made because of the fact that milk can be bought much cheaper at LaGrange prices being paid up here due to nearness of the Michigan area. Complete details of the plan are found in the following article taken from the LaGrange, Ind. Standard.

W. F. Colbert, manager of the LaGrange condensing of the Gordon Baking company, has made it known that executives of his company have reached the decision to expand the LaGrange institution to perhaps three times its present size as soon as possible, to handle the maximum amount of milk that can be bought in this territory. The condensing equipment from the plant at Northville, Michigan, will be moved to LaGrange and this will be the only condensing of the Gordon company, except one in New York state to supply condensed milk for the New York city bakery. The LaGrange plant will supply, as nearly as possible, condensed milk for the Gordon bakers at Chicago, Detroit, Flint and Toledo.

"E. Solomon of Detroit, general superintendent of the Gordon company, and C. T. Thornton of Northville, superintendent of the milk department, were in LaGrange this latter part of last week and looked over the local property before approving the expansion plans. Blue prints are prepared for the enlarged building and it is expected that construction work will be under way as soon as could be reasonably expected.

Manager W. F. Colbert will move to LaGrange with his family from Northville shortly.

In the meantime there has been a steady gain in the volume of milk handled at the LaGrange plant. Two tank loads of milk are being trucked to Michigan daily. Additional trucking lines are being started from time to time and at present there are about 200 patrons supplying milk to the Gordon company here. One of the considerations in favor of the LaGrange field was the excellent test in this locality. The average test is 3.4 per cent, which is pleasing to the company officials. Patrons were paid $1.25 per hundred for four per cent milk for the last period. The operations of the Gordon company are entirely independent of the condensed milk market as the entire product is to be used in bread and other baked goods. Well toward 100,000 pounds of a milk a day can be used."

Estimates will be accepted up until 6 o'clock of Saturday evening and approximately 160 names are recorded as possible winners for the ton of coal.

Judges for the contest will be Miss Irene Kahrl, Mrs. Vance Masters and Ed Hinkley. The pieces of coal will be counted in the presence of the judges and it is not necessary for those who entered the contest to be present when the winner is determined. He or she will be notified.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock some fortunate person will be richer by one ton of coal which will be given by the Ely Coal and Ice company to whoever comes the closest to guessing how many pieces of coal there are in the glass jar in their office windows.

Judges for the contest will be Miss Irene Kahrl, Mrs. Vance Masters and Ed Hinkley. The pieces of coal will be counted in the presence of the judges and it is not necessary for those who entered the contest to be present when the winner is determined. He or she will be notified.

DR. HASKELL IS HEARD AT CHILD MEET

Training School Head Says One in 22 Will Become Mentally Ill

Dr. Robert H. Haskell, medical superintendent of the Wayne County Training School, was one of the speakers Tuesday at the Governor's Conference on Child Health and Protection at Lansing.

"Speaking on the needs of the mentally handicapped child," Dr. Haskell declared that one out of every 22 persons alive today will become so mentally diseased as to require the care of a State hospital. Of the 900,000 children enrolled in Michigan's schools today, he said, 45,000 will eventually require such treatment.

"We have in the past been too largely concerned with what this type of handicapped person could not do or what he did that was objectionable socially, rather than what he could be trained to do and how completely acceptable to the spheres of a decent community he could be trained to become," Dr. Haskell said.

"The mentally handicapped child has a right to as vigorous a body as a human skill can give him; to an education so adapted to his handicap that he can be economically independent and have the chance for the fullest life of which he is capable; to be taught up and educated by those who understand the nature of his burden, to grow up in a world that does not set him apart and to a life of which his handicap casts no shadow."

S. L. BRADER STORE STARTS BIG SALE

Patrons of the S. L. Brader Department store will be pleased to know that the week-end starts the start of one of their famous sales. The Stock Reducing Sale is being held said Mr. Brader primarily for the purpose of raising money with which to meet outstanding debts and because of the fact that a late winter season has delayed the turnover of a large stock of goods. The Stock Reducing Sale is merely one phase, Mr. Brader declared, of a period of readjustment. The low prices, he said, are the result of an economic change which is forcing the merchant to mark down his prices.

"We have faith in the community of Northville," said Mr. Brader, "and despite the fact that our town has suffered several hard blows we believe the town will progress. However, we are facing the facts as they stand and we realize that progress will not come without a certain amount of sacrifice on our part."

MARZ APPOINTED AS GOODYEAR DEALER

Joining with the Goodyear Rubber company, the Marz Ford Motor Sales and Service is now offering an additional service to its patrons in Northville.

The Goodyear Tires and Tubes are famous for their low prices and their quality value is known by motorists everywhere.

In addition to this new service offered by the Marz Sales room, they carry a complete line of Ford automobiles and trucks which have found high favor with Northville people and the farmers of the surrounding countryside. With the approach of winter, Mr. Marz has offered a bargain in preparing Ford cars for cold weather-driving which includes a thorough cleaning of spark plugs and carburetor systems adjusting and lining up brakes and wheels filling and checking condition of the battery, change to winter grease in the transmission change to winter grease in steering column and rear axle, change oil, and spraying the springs—the complete job to cost only $4.95.

The Marz Sales and Service offers an expert staff of mechanics capable of doing any repair work on Ford cars at a reasonable charge. Besides the new models of Ford cars that the sales room has displayed on their floors, they also have several used cars which can be had at extremely low prices.

Mrs. Chas. Fleischman of the Beck road underwent a minor operation at the Aitchison hospital last Tuesday.

Harley Cole, First street, accompanied by Ernest Fisher of New Hudson, will leave Saturday for a hunting trip to Lewiston.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR W. H. MAYBURY

Northville was largely represented at the funeral rites of William H. Maybury held at the church of the Most Holy Rosary, in Detroit last Saturday.

The funeral procession left the home at 635 Ferry avenue west escorted by a large delegation of fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus in uniform, led by motorcycle officers and the casket was followed into the church by 50 public health nurses in uniform.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. James P. Thornton, pastor of Holy Rosary church, assisted by the Rev. Fr. Fabian, the Pastoral chaplain of the William H. Maybury sanatorium, as deacon Fr. Edward De Kester as sub-deacon, and Fr. Ernest Wier as master of ceremonies. In the sanctuary were a number of other priests, including Msgr. John J. Hunt, Fr. William P. Schulte, department chaplain of the American Legion and Fr. William D. Henggan of St. Martin's church.

Rev. Fr. Thomas R. Carey of St. Thomas church, Ann Arbor, presided at a funeral service which was largely a eulogy of the life of Mr. Maybury and the old familiar lyrics of Cardinal Newman, "Lead Kindly Light," was sung by Carl Some.

The casket was borne by fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus, Eugene F. Ball, W. T. Bannan, Vincent P. Dacey, Frank De Zella, Edmund Gool, Maurice Griffin, Norman Labadie and George D. O'Brien.

Burial took place in the family lot in Mt. Elliott cemetery.

Fr. Carey took as the basis of his sermon the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew where the Lord is made to say, "Verily, I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me," said he, drew a parallel between the words of the Lord and the life of William H. Maybury, the man who went about doing good.

Friends at the home and at the church services represented all creeds, and numbered youths as well as grayheads.

In addition to members from the various departments of the Maybury sanatorium the following from this village were in attendance: Don P. Verkes, Sr., N. C. Schrader, C. W. Wilber, S. Wilkinson, Clifford D. Turnbull, Floyd Northrop, Beccan Northrop, Chas. A. Fonsfara, A. E. Fuller, Ed Starkweather, Dr. Robt. H. Haskell, Chas. A. Dolph, Carmi Benton and Harry B. Clark.

Science and Religion in Accord, Dr. B. H. Douglas Says in Address at Presbyterian Church Sunday

Continuing the special features introduced by Rev. H. G. Whitfield, pastor, at the Sunday evening services of the Presbyterian church, Dr. B. H. Douglas, superintendent of the Maybury sanatorium spoke last Sunday evening on the subject, "Is There Conflict Between Science and Religion?"

A fine audience was present, giving evidence of appreciation of the opportunity afforded to hear the speaker and upon so interesting a subject.

He presented the subject in a very clearly understandable way and convincing to the lay mind, noting important facts of scientific discovery and results following therefrom, as related to our conception of religion. Reference was made to some outstanding and startling facts that science has gained knowledge of and which carry convincing evidence of the existence of a supreme

NEW PLAN IN SCHOOL CUTS DOWN COSTS

Changes in Administration Make a Saving of $4,900

A saving of approximately $4,900 without decreasing the enrollment has been effected in the operation of Northville public schools, members of the school board announced at a recent meeting.

The members are Dr. E. B. Cavell, president; Sheriff W. Ambler, secretary; Dr. P. R. Alexander, treasurer; Fred W. Lyke, trustee; and John Kaibfleisch, trustee.

The per capita cost of educating a pupil for one year has been reduced from about $119 to less than $85, it is said; and this saving has been accomplished despite the fact that an additional force of three people has been added to the organization, their combined salaries totaling $3,400. This sum, it is pointed out, must be taken from the general salaries fund.

The total expense of operating Northville public schools from the first of July, 1930 to June 1, 1931 was $62,528.00, members of the board explained as compared with an expense of over $70,000 the year before.

The savings in the cost of operation has been accomplished. It was explained through elimination of several wasteful processes including meagerly attended classes, extra teachers and too large a force of janitors.

The appointment of an office clerk the board pointed out, has obtained all haphazard bookkeeping besides allowing Superintendent Thad J. Knapp sufficient time and power to act as a general business manager. Hereafter, it was explained, the superintendent attended to much of the detail and routine work which an efficient office clerk can handle. This is an important factor, said the board members, declared when allows for greater economy of operation, the value of which the schools' book will clearly demonstrate.

As business manager of the schools as well as superintendent, Mr. Knapp was questioned as to why school taxes have not been lowered if the cost of operation has been decreased.

"The answer to that question," said Mr. Knapp, "lies in the delinquent tax situation. As far as we build up a theoretical surplus we find that delinquent taxes have wiped out our surplus and we must borrow against our December taxes in order to continue meeting current obligations."

"We have made every concession to the existing situation. Certain classes attended by too small a number of pupils have been held only every two years thus lifting to save. Verily, I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me," said he, drew a parallel between the words of the Lord and the life of William H. A YEAR OF POLITICS

Just about a year from now we shall be electing a President of the United States and Congressmen and all that. A year of hectic talking and campaigning is already under way. Elections of last week showed that the Republicans are on the "defensive." The Hoover administration apparently has been "rebuked" in many places. Even the eighth district of Michigan joins in the outburst and elects a Democratic congressman. It is a time of upset.

With all signs pointing to a return of better conditions, there is much speculation as to what will happen to Hoover and the Republican ticket next fall. People forget very easily and if the "full dinner pail" is with us a year from now it will be hard to beat the president. On the other hand, if conditions don't improve as rapidly as expected, a resentful electorate will turn against the administration and oust it. Democrats in Congress can either obstruct the administration or work with it. There are a lot of things that can happen in the next twelve months. "We shall see what we shall see."

NOW ALL TOGETHER

Unquestionably, Old Man Depression, if not on the run, is being pushed backward. From every side come indications that the turning point is here and that business has started to improve. Farmers, business people and industrial heads are all talking in a more optimistic mood.

With the outlook better, it is now up to all of us to do our little part in keeping the ball rolling and in making the return to prosperity general and complete. We must not look for a boom—that would be bad for us—but for a gradual pick-up that will gather momentum as the months go by. If we all loosen what purse strings we have (there is still a lot of money in Northville that is not tied up) we can help by buying judiciously. Anything bought now will help put men to work and when men go to work, they start to buy and that helps more men to get jobs. Anyone who buys an automobile now really does a splendid thing to put men to work. If you need a new car it is not a sign that you are better off than your neighbor if you buy one but it may work out to help those very neighbors.

Another way to help is to forget depression talk and to look for the bright side of things. Fear has cost us all very much—it has closed two of our banks here in Northville and brought a vast amount of inconvenience, not to say grief. If we will cast out this fear bogie and get to talking confidence and faith in each other we shall do something real and vital to bring on the new day, the dawn of which is now moving the eastern hills with the glorious colors we have been waiting so long to see.

Buy, build, boost—doesn't that appeal to you? Make the bitter years of 1929-31 just a memory. Bring in a new 1932 that will be the best year the world ever saw.

FIVE MONTHS OF IT

Here we sit on Friday afternoon, November 6, writing for this column. Just chanced to look out of the window and were just a little shocked to see the town clock up in the Methodist church tower. All summer long the leaves on the trees have hidden it from this particular view. Now the limbs are bare and the leaves go whistling down the street, tumbled over by a stiff November wind.

That town clock set us thinking.

For the next five months we can sit here and see that clock—there won't be any leaves to hide it. In some ways we dread the winter, yet in lots of ways we glory in it. The next five months should do a lot of things for us. For the first time in years we are without a fireplace and if any good friend (we have a few) wants us to have a good winter, he can send along a fireplace for a Christmas present. With a fire in the fireplace, a plate of apples nearby, a pile of papers and magazines, a winter night at home has charms that are priceless. But fireplace or no fireplace, we have a cozy home and in the five months ahead we can do a lot of reading that summer never lets you do. There was some wonderful radio music the other evening and there will be a lot more of it. Then some good friends will drop in and we'll visit as you can only in the wintertime. Then there will be some wonderful views from these Northville hills when the diamond-studded snow coats the whole world and that makes winter a wonderful time. Yes, five months of winter have great possibilities if you only have the sense to make the most of them. So we are glad we can see the town clock, through the leafless trees. We are going to have a great time before next April.

THE ELECTION OF MR. HART

The unexpected victory of Michael J. Hart, Democrat, of Saginaw in defeating Foss O. Eldred, Republican, of Ionia, for a seat in Congress, is one of the biggest sensations in the political field for many years. For the first time since 1898 the eighth district has elected a Democrat. The breaking of a 32-year Republican rule has set the state and nation talking. Democrats are jubilant; Republicans are trying to figure it all out.

Several reasons are given for Hart's victory. He ran on a "wet" platform but he also said little of this during the campaign and stressed more the idea of relief for the farmers. He rapped the Republicans for all the trouble that is abroad in the land and promised a new day. Editorials from several papers in the district or nearby indicated that the feeling of resentment that is rampant everywhere brought Hart more votes than did the fact that he is opposed to prohibition. All seem to agree that he is a phenomenally good campaigner with a personality that wins admiration—and votes.

Congressman Hart was probably elected because of the wave of resentment that is running over the country because of the depression. A world war brought on the depression, that has ruled for two years but a fickle public would rather blame the administration in power than try to find the cause of all the trouble. One thing is sure, the Democrats and Mr. Hart, who will now control the house, will have the chance to see what they can do to better things. They have gotten one "break"—they are going to power just as the tide seems to have turned. Who will get the credit when prosperity returns—President Hoover or the Democratic House?

WILLIAM H. MAYBURY

The passing of William H. Maybury takes from Northville one of the men whose names will be indelibly linked with the progress of this community. He put something into the lives of thousands and men who do that are not forgotten. He left a memorial out on those rolling hills west of town that will continue through many years.

Last week in this village, a speaker at Exchange club said that the person who "gives and serves will find both success and happiness." Mr. Maybury was a sick man when the writer came to Northville a few months ago but from what his friends tell us of him, he gave and served to the limit of his capacity. That he found a lasting satisfaction cannot be doubted. That he found real success is certain, from the tributes that are paid him. The influence of such a man will live on to bless uncounted others.

Lessons that we can all take from the life of William H. Maybury are several but nothing stands out any more resplendent than the mighty power of friendship. Here was a man who loved humanity and who sacrificed to help those around him. Of dominating and perhaps brusque personality, he had the kindly heart of a little child and indeed it was the little children who called out his greatest efforts and his finest acts of kindness. He was loyal to his friends—and here is a trait of pure gold. He was what men like to call a "square shooter." Honesty and downright integrity were the foundation of his character and his fellowmen trusted him to do big things, such as the building of the sanatorium that bears his name, for they knew that he would be true to every trust.

Mr. Maybury loved Northville. He believed in the future of this community and backed his belief with a great loyalty and sincerity. This place will long remember him as one of the best friends it ever had. He was one of our builders and such men are not forgotten.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

EIGHTH DISTRICT UPSET

(Charlotte Republican-Tribune)

The election of M. J. Hart, democratic, Catholic, and yet in the 8th district is a tremendous personal victory for him. The Republican candidate, Foss O. Eldred, was unusually high class. We had thought if Hart had been either Catholic or wet he might have an outside chance to defeat the dry Methodist Eldred. The fact that Hart is both Catholic and wet shows how desperate this overwhelmingly Republican district is feeling toward the economic situation. It only goes to show that any party that takes credit for the sunshine must by the same reasoning accept the blame for the rain. This means that the Republicans must find a strong man in an attempt to redeem the district next year. It is hardly to be expected that anyone in the recent field—although Hagen of Owosso made a good run—can hope to win next time. S. L. Marshall, talented editor of the Clinton County Republican-News, will bear watching in 1932.

WHISKY VS. MILK

(Cheboygan Observer)
Fred Keaster, who writes things for the Ionia News said in his "Seasoned Hickory" column in the News last week a lot of unkind remarks about the fellow that in these times would spend eight dollars for a quart of so called bonded whiskey,

Every Monday Morning

By "AD" SCHWENGER

I see where the impetuous Major Eaton rushed into print last week declaring that "Northville's Scotch barber and prophet has right hunch and plays it for free front-page advertising."

Probably by this time the football team and Brother Baldwin realize how he kidded the team and worked him for a free front-page ad. Etc., etc.

From a journalistic point of view the Major made several errors in that article.

In the first place, he doesn't know positively whether that "free advertising" was paid for and in the second place, if anyone was being kidded it wasn't "Brother Baldwin," it was me.

And in the next three or four places—any merchant decides that it is up to him as a good citizen to back up the team and give them all the support that he can—then he should receive a vote of thanks from the rest of the merchants for being public-spirited enough to back the team and help bring more people into town.

Again, Charley Conklin is not when those eight dollars would buy gallons and gallons of pure milk for undernourished children. And closing he says: "I do say that spending eight dollars for a quart of whiskey at a time like this is an act against God and humanity."

GEORGE SAYS A MOUTHFUL

(Puscola Co. Advertiser-Caro)

George Ford, tax expert, speaking before a 500-audience this first of the week, first called attention to the fact that Michigan state and municipal debts had grown to the staggering total of 800 million dollars in the last 10 years and then remarked, "The time has come to practice economy until it hurts."

Mr. Ford said a mouthful on those few words.

RADIO SERMONS

(M. H. DePue in The Chatlotte Republican-Tribune)

The writer listened to two remarkable radio talks Sunday Dr. F. B. Fisher of Ann Arbor in the morning and Father C. B. Coughlin of Royal Oak in the afternoon. Both were splendidly helpful despite the fact that the Coughlin address was given over largely to a vigorous denunciation of the prohibition act as it was being observed in this country. The Fisher address was inspirational and replete with sincere and sound philosophy. In some ways we regard these men as the outstanding clergymen in this state. Both are scholars, orators and men of high and holy courage.

Despite the intellectual brilliance of these men and the inestimable value of their teaching and preaching, we have heard for the last time the distinguished Dr. Fisher for the last time on Sunday morning—that is so long as a kindly God keeps us in our present state of health. It is not fair for a perfectly healthy and normal person to sit at home on a Sunday morning when a half dozen local churches are holding services of precisely the same character. It may be that Dr. Fisher or Father Coughlin entertains or instructs beyond the local talent the same as a Detroit News editorial surpasses anything ever appearing in this column, but that does not change the fact that our local societies for the promotion of religion are teaching and preaching the same fundamental truths. Cheating the radio collection in our own case no qualms comparable to the pyramiding sense of shame that you are stealing under the tent, as it were, in buying your religion. The writer has never joined the church and beyond that he does not expect to but as long as he has an idea of eventually wanting a Christian burial, requiring some form of localized religion, he is not going to longer depend upon vicarious radio information. So long, Dr. Fisher, and may the Lord bless you and keep you through coming Sunday mornings while we are having and seeing some equally high minded, clean living, decent, Christian gentlemen pleading the common cause of our common God.

Scotch in either actual or facetious fact. "As far back as I can remember," quoth Charley, "my parents have always been Yankees and back of them their parents were Yankees and back of them again—well, why go on, I'm a Yankee."

Al Major, the way of the transgressor is said to be hard. Naughty, naughty! Shouldn't poke fun at earnest people trying to get along in a cruel, cold world. S'bad business. One gets into suits, quarrels and all sorts of trouble.

And the Lord knows that we all have enough troubles on our hands nowadays without going out of our way to find some more.

Oh yes, I almost forgot—Charley wants to thank you for giving him all that free front-page publicity in Plymouth. Charley gained a couple of new customers by that ad and every little bit helps you know.

I'm almost afraid to say that business has shown improvement for fear that these words will break the charm. But nevertheless, facts are facts and now that cold weather is definitely here we may expect a gradual increase in that elusive thing called "business."

Restaurants, garages and clothing merchants report a slight, but nevertheless noticeable increase in their volume of trade. Old Man Winter may be a little harsh at times but he's a good friend of the merchant.

Bucephalus, my beloved puggle-jumper, was taken suddenly ill Saturday with stomach trouble. An immediate operation was indicated and we removed an infected battery. And I don't that I am; I sat on a lonely road for an hour and a half after the new battery had been installed before I discovered that the cable to the so-and-so thing had slipped off.

Live and learn—the next time the lousy engine will probably drop out and I'll be examining the tires for trouble.

News, brothers, live news Editor R. T. B. is heading for Canada this Monday morning. But just imagine, he's going on a very proper errand—the Windsor Rotary club is holding a big Armistice day program and practically the entire Northville club will be present. Be good boys, and let who will be gay.

Just glancing through the paper this week, I see any number of bargains on anything and everything. Look through yourself and see if you are not right.

Short tragedy—Two scalpers had a couple of ducats on the 50 yard line for the Michigan-Indiana embargo which they wanted to unload. Elmer Perrin trailed the alleged scalpers all Saturday morning trying to get one of the tickets but the boys wanted to get rid of both of them.

Along walked Orlov G. Owen and yours very truly, produced the necessary lucre, grabbed the two tickets and left Mr. Perrin saying things to himself that no church going Presbyterian has any right to say.

Despite the fact that State took Ripon into camp 100 to 1 I put some dough down that Michigan would beat them and also that State would not score.

Either I'm crazy or I've got too much money. I dunno.

But Michigan has given but two first downs in the last three games and one of them was by means of the aerial route. Who knows? Maybe I'll be a rich man Saturday night. And then again I may have to beg the loan of a substantial barrel.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Leonardson's second grade pupils wrote a health chart and also drew a picture to illustrate it. Rayeta Noble's picture was chosen as the best one. Virginia Mass passed health inspection every day but one during October. These items passed every day but two.

Miss Reincke's room has a new pupil from Detroit. Her name is Delmar Kirby. The people in Miss Hawkin's sixth grade room have been selling the Farm Journal and they sold enough subscriptions to win a basket ball. The losers of the contest entertained the winners Thursday afternoon with a party.

130 PUPILS TAKE PART IN GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Music lovers of Northville have a real treat in store Friday evening, November 20 when the three high school glee clubs and girls' chorus of one hundred voices under the direction of Leslie G. Lee, presents its first program of the season in the high school auditorium.

The program will be varied enough so that several of the better types of choral music will be presented.

This will be Northville's first opportunity to hear the newly organized Boys' Glee club of twenty-three voices and the Girls' Chorus. The high school mixed chorus of 48 voices will be heard in two numbers. The Senior Girls' Glee club and the Junior Girls' Glee club will also sing several numbers during the program.

An added feature will be the appearance of Mr. Syver Thungstad, a well-known baritone and intimate friend of Mr. Lee, in a group of operatic and classic songs.

It is hoped that the auditorium will be filled to capacity for this event. No admission fee is charged but a collection will be taken.

WHY STOP LEARNING?

Unless the mind or the hand is occupied at some worthwhile task, life becomes monotonous and dreary. In this age of machinery man finds more and more of his waking hours unoccupied with duties. How shall he use this time?

Our schools point to the answer to the above question. They create worthy interests and appreciations in early youth that should be of decided advantage in adult life. They teach games which will be enjoyed through life. They elevate one's taste in music, the arts, the sciences, in fact the world around us. The schools should and do instill a lifelong spirit of learning.

One can readily see that our schools supply the incentive for adult life to keep on learning when school days are ended. Then as leisure time increases adults can pursue any life of study which is of interest to them.

When this avenue of continued study and learning is opened up to people of all classes it becomes a very certain safeguard against the dreariness of middle age and hopeless despondency of helpless old age.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

November 8 to 14 will be observed as American Education Week throughout the United States.

Various teachers have been asked to write on topics relative to this subject.

Below is a short history of American Education Week and a review of its purpose:

The first American Education Week was observed in 1921. The idea of a nation-wide observance of a program planned to interpret the needs, aims and achievements of the schools to the American public grew out of a series of conferences which began in 1919 between the Americanism Commission of the American Legion and officers and committees of the National Education Association.

The Great War disclosed the extent to which the human resources of the nation were handicapped by lack of knowledge and skill to serve the country adequately in a crisis. Citizens were appalled at the number of young men, selected for military service from some of our states, who were illiterate. Soldiers particularly were impressed by the large number of their comrades who could not understand commands given in the English language, read a newspaper, or write a letter home. Immediately following the War, the returned soldiers themselves took the initial steps in proposing a plan for stimulating interest in the work of the schools. The American Legion provided in its charter for the Americanism Commission to pay particular attention to the education of the foreign born and the elimination of illiteracy in the nation. This Commission sought the assistance of the National Education Association in establishing an annual event which would become a great nation-wide festival in which the American people might rededicate themselves to the ideal of self-government based upon an enlightened citizenry. Thus American Education Week began. In this project, the American Legion and the National Education Association invited the cooperation of the United States Office of Education, which is now one of the sponsors of the event.

Through the decade since the first observance of American Education Week, interest has grown rapidly. Effective plans are carried out each year in an increasing number of communities. State departments of education and state education associations plan programs for their respective states. Most of the large cities and many of the smaller towns and villages of the United States observe the week. Rural schools are beginning to take advantage of this opportunity to direct the attention of the public to the pressing needs of rural education.

ARMISTICE DAY

What did the war mean? It meant that seven and one-half million lives were lost. We had 417,000 killed and wounded, more than five million of our boys were away from home for two years either from study or from work. We spent twenty-three billions of dollars and lost eleven billions. We still have to pay nearly two billion a year towards the expenses of the war.

Germany was almost crushed. Austria was ruined, and in France and Belgium millions of lives were lost, and many cities having beautiful churches and libraries were destroyed. Business in all countries was disturbed. This resulted in high cost of living, profiteering, unemployment and general dissatisfaction and discontent. Can we not find a better way to settle our disputes than by causing world wide unhappiness?

One hundred girls to sing in high school chorus.

New things are happening around us all the time, and I thought I'd let you in on the secret of one of them. A girls' chorus has been organized under the direction of Mr. Lee. This chorus is composed of one hundred voices including the girls' classes that meet twice a week and the Senior Girls' Glee club.

The first appearance of the chorus will be at a music concert to be given Friday evening, November 20, at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium. The girls will sing the three closing numbers of the concert. They are as follows: "Nepoleon Nights," by Zamecnik; "Little Blue Bird of my Heart," by Gray; "Prayer Perfect," by Stenson. Geraldine Ferguson will be the accompanist. The girls have been working faithfully towards their first appearance, and a large crowd is expected.

WHAT THE SCHOOLS ARE HELPING AMERICA TO ACHIEVE IN ECONOMIC PROGRESS

The wants of the ignorant savage are few and easily supplied. Educated people want more and better things. Supplying these things is what makes business and industry. Educated people are good customers. Education has increased and refined their wants. It has also increased their skill and earning power. They are able to buy the things they need. It is always the ignorant and unskilled workman whose buying power ceases first in times of depression.

It is easy to think of wealth in material terms alone. It is easy to see only the machine, the factory, the field, the marketplace, and to forget that educated minds have provided the knowledge and skill which make these things.

Modern prosperity is a condition growing out of many activities that can thrive only in a favorable environment. Business cannot be successfully conducted in a country which lacks a stable government. Business cannot be successfully transacted between those who differ fundamentally in their concepts of right and wrong, justice and equity. Business cannot thrive in an atmosphere of indifference, thriftlessness, or strife. It is the unifying influence of the schools which welds the diverse peoples of America into an environment favorable to prosperous business and industry.

The schools train the leaders and experts who successfully staff and manage large-scale production and the rapid distribution of produced goods. A nation's wealth of mineral and soil and forest is limited in quantity and quality. It does not increase in value, except as it is effectively employed by man. No generous bounty of nature can make a nation prosperous unless it educates its human resources. It is the increased wants and increased skill of intelligent minds that give value to material things.

The schools themselves are among the nation's biggest business enterprises. They employ nearly 1,000,000 teachers. They represent a capital investment of five-and-one-half billion dollars. They enroll 30,000,000 pupils. They are heavy purchasers of building material, books, apparatus and supplies. The $165,000,000 paid teachers in annual salaries is a substantial item in the buying power of our people.

But the greatest contribution of the schools to American business and industrial prosperity is not what they use up, but what they give. Their contribution is a permanent one. It is the guarantee of increasing prosperity through the years. Because of education, human resources become more valuable through greater skill and sounder health. Because of education, wants increase and require greater production. Through education men are enabled to produce rapidly enough to supply their greater demands. Because of educated minds and trained hands, men are able to earn enough money with which to purchase their wants. Because of a stable democratic government made possible by education, business and industry thrive. The schools are an indispensable part of business.

SCHOOL HEALTH

A vitally important and deeply interesting subject. To the children of today it is a part of the regular school program, while in the school days of their parents it was a thing unheard of.

Once an entirely neglected subject, it is now one of the most important. Education has been the force behind this change. Health education is now being taught in the kindergarten and where possible before that. With pictures and talks the children are taught the proper foods necessary to good health.

Care of the teeth is emphasized. Cleanliness and the importance of right amount of sleep are subjects of daily instruction. Health inspection is a part of the regular school routine.

The watchful care of school nurse and school physicians prevents the spread of contagion to a great extent. One of the aims of health education is that we learn to keep well. Health, the foundation of individual human happiness, is rising to its rightful place in our educational system.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving day is a civil holiday observed annually in the United States of America, on the last Thursday in November. The president issues a proclamation calling on the citizens, all federal officials and others subject to Federal authority to observe the day as one of national thanksgiving and prayer. The governors of states occur in the president's proclamation and also recommend the citizens to observe the holiday, and all public business is suspended.

The custom originated in 1621, when Governor Bradford of the Plymouth colony appointed a day for public praise and prayer after the first harvest, and the practice spread throughout the other New England colonies. The first national observance was when President Washington, at the request of Congress, recommended Thursday, November 26, 1789 to the people of the United States as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God.

This proclamation exhorted the people to "beseech him to pardon our national and other transgressions, to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as he alone knows to be best." It was the first observance of the day on the date that present custom holds it. In 1817 Thanksgiving Day was first officially noticed in New York state, and by 1859 its observance had spread to twenty-eight states and two territories. In 1863 President Lincoln made his first proclamation, naming the last Thursday of November as a day of national observance, which day President Johnson also selected in 1867 and President Grant in 1870. Since then there has been no change, the last Thursday in November being named in each year's proclamation.

Historians of the day attempt to trace the origin of Governor Bradford's idea in 1621, back to the old Hebrew Feast of the Tabernacles and through the ages to the ancient Greek Harvest Feast, Thesmophoria, the Roman Caralia and the English Harvest Home. In the Dominion of Canada the governor-general by proclamation sets aside the last Monday in October as a legal holiday for the purpose of acknowledging God's providence and expressing the nation's dependence on His bounty.

Today most people think of Thanksgiving in a different light. To them it is a day of feasting and a good time. The fun is generally headed off by a good Thanksgiving feast topped off by turkey, etc. After they have had their "fill", as it usually is called they take in the amusements of the day not giving a single thought to the real meaning or origin of Thanksgiving. It is a day that everyone should rejoice for the good harvest, previous to this day and to give praise and thanks to the Lord who is responsible for this and whom our praise and prayers are due.

PRISCILLA CLUB

Wednesday, October 28, all of the various clubs of Northville high school met.

The Priscilla club, under the instruction of Mrs. Zimmerman, is striving to get new members.

At the meeting they voted for officers, but being such a small club they thought it only necessary to have a president and secretary and treasurer.

The president is Winifred McCord and the secretary and treasurer is Violet Johnson.

As vote was taken for the color and flower. The color is blue and white. The flower is a yellow tea-rose.

A meeting will be called every two weeks and every third week tea will be served. Each member is requested to bring a few pennies to each meeting so there may be enough money in the treasury to buy food for the teas.

They are planning on a very successful club and hope all pupils interested in hand work will join.

SCHOOLS, THE IDEAL PROMOTERS OF IDEAL CITIZENSHIP

If anyone should ask you just what is the most unifying force of America today, what would you answer? Probably the suggestions would differ about as much as a does from a.

The answer to this question for this article is the school. Schools, as they tell us, are doing more for people in regard to citizenship and obedience of law than any other institution in the world. America, we have no "mighty ruler" or "mighty majesty" to bow down to or neither have we a unity of blood for as you've heard before, "America is a melting pot."

In this country of ours schools are as plentiful as, oh, what should we say? maybe "fleas" on a dog's back. There are means of education in the smallest parlor district of New York. These two extremes of schools (in size) have one large goal in common. This looked forward to point is to promote the love of our country in every generation. In all places of education the respect for laws, the constitution, the admiration of our national heroes and the knowledge of the struggles of our nation are taught. A loyal school teacher may be a far greater asset to the feeling of loyalty in a child's mind, and heart, than one who would teach a certain set rule of procedure if the powers of education were centralized and standardized.

School is the substitute or democracy for the power of kings and dictators or for other methods of rulings of the past.

A responsible citizen has his beginning in an education which teaches him to follow and promote the higher ideals of law.

Our nation's permanency depends on the influence of unified schools so let everyone take heed and follow this example for better schools and a better nation.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Frances Bacon was born in Detroit on August 2, 1915. She attended the first and second grades in Ridgewood school in Ferndale; third, fourth and fifth grades at Washington school, sixth at Wilson; seventh, eighth and ninth at Lincoln high. Then she moved to Northville high school in the summer of 1929, to complete her high school course. Frances is a member of the J.C. club and Travel club. She intends to attend Oliver college for two years and after that to take up nursing for her occupation.

FACULTY WHO'S WHO

The high school English teacher is our new "victim". You've heard of the three "R's"? Well, we're going to tell you about one who teaches the first one, and the many other branches of this particular "R".

Elizabeth Lapham was born and raised in Northville, Oh. But before we tell you this we have something to say to you of her ancestors and their descendants. The first forefather on her maternal side came to America from England in 1621. The descendants of this ancestor served in the Colonial and Revolutionary wars, and one was a general in the war of 1812. We also add that the earlier members of the Lapham family have always been active in professional and business affairs of our little city of Northville. A great-grandfather was the first preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church and another was pastor of the Presbyterian church for twenty-five years.

Mrs. Chapman attended grammar school and also graduated from high school in Northville of which she was the valedictorian of her class. Having completed her course at the University of Michigan in 1925 from which she graduated with a "Cum laude" diploma. (Do you realize what that means? Whew, how was she with her sweat?) But then some people do have brains, too! she changed her occupation to teaching in Detroit for one year. From then on Mrs. Chapman has taught in Northville.

E. A. Chapman, her husband, was a Northville boy and so we gather that she met him here. If I'm not wrong the date of their marriage was 1927.

Mrs. Chapman spends her vacation traveling with Mr. Chapman whose business takes him east, west, north and south in other words all over the United States.

We must say Mrs. Chapman deserves much praise. Anyone who receives special diploma and is a valedictorian is to be honored and so now we can see why our English teacher knows so much and is so full of her subject. Isn't that so?

MY FIRST EXPERIENCE IN SWIMMING

(By Avis Perry, 9th English)

It was four years ago that I spent my vacation at my cousin's house in Hand Station, a little town seven miles from Dearborn.

There was a good sized lake a few yards from the house so every morning before breakfast we would go swimming with the others. I couldn't swim but I did use a lot of energy in trying.

One morning, Ruth, my cousin, woke me up earlier than usual. "What's the idea?" I asked. "I can't swim so what's the idea of trying to teach me?"

"We're going over by the new diving board, and we'll have to 'over'!" Sleepy as I was I got up and went out with the gang.

The new board was by the deepest part of the lake and it dropped off in many places. The water was very still. It reminded me of a large mirror.

While the older girls were diving I tried to swim again. Ruth stopped diving and ran over to play tag with me. She went away out and of course I followed. I struck some clay and went under. I must have been swimming but I was too frightened to give that a thought. I just went for shore as fast as I could.

Ruth saw me and laughed as she jumped on the raft that was floating.

"Bet you can't swim out here yet," she said mockingly.

"I'll be seeing you!" was my defensive answer, and I proudly demonstrated to the small audience that I could swim. Ruth later said that she went out there just to see if I could swim.

NORTHVILLE WHIPS FARMINGTON IN FINAL 7-6

Northville came through Friday, November 8 when the local boys came from behind to defeat Farmington 7-6.

The game was full of thrills from start to finish. Farmington scored her touchdown in the third period when Fendt, the versatile quarterback, plunged over the line and over the goal. The try for point was unsuccessful.

In the late minutes of the last period Menzinger threw a long pass to Lemmon who was brought down on the three yard line. Dickinson took a lateral pass and skirted his own right end for the touchdown. Menzinger plunged through the line for the extra point which decided the game in Northville's favor, 7-6.

Lemmon, who was playing his first game this year, was the star in the offense with Dickinson sharing. The Northville line was at its best and staved off any threatening scores.

It was Northville's last victory. Lady Caller is the manager in the office boy. No. He just went to the game with his wife.

The game was the last one for the following players. Captain Toole, Howard Beach, Charles Menzinger, Don Robinson, Dendell Dickinson, Lady Caller, "I see. When he comes back with his stenographer, tell him his wife called."

J. W. Perkins Celebrates Birthday At Family Gathering

J. W. Perkins was pleasantly surprised last Sunday when his children and grandchildren gave a birthday dinner for him at the parental home on First street. The delicious birthday cake was made by his eldest grandchild, Mary Louise Boyden, and at the conclusion of the dinner Mrs. Perkins was presented with a copy sweater from the family, with other gifts from Mrs. Virginia Palmer and son, Junior, who were also guests at this happy occasion.

It's always fair weather when the Married Folks club gets together as they did last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Alexander. Each member brought a generous contribution to the bountiful co-operative dinner served buffet style at small tables.

Five hundred occupied the remainder of the happy evening when the games resulted in first ladies prize going to Mrs. Eural Clark and first men's to Dayton Bunn. The ladies consolation prize was won by Mrs. Glenn Jewell of Plymouth and the men's by Leo Lawrence.

Miss Florence Johnson, Miss Gertrude Deal and Miss Madeline Haystead. They were accompanied on the piano by Miss Geraldine Ferguson.

Home Economics Class demonstrates a Proper Lunch.

Luncheon, that most baffling meal of the day, was happily settled at the meeting of the class in Home Economics at the home of Mrs. Arthur Schnute, Thayer boulevard, last Monday. An appetizing, well-balanced luncheon was prepared and enjoyed at noon by these enthusiastic Home economists. It was said to have the proper number of calories for nourishment and the ladies say it was very good to taste. It has been thought advisable to explain this in more detail in the Homemakers' corner of next week.

In the morning the instructor, Miss Emma DuBord, of Dearborn demonstrated some practical Christmas gifts from the kitchen, which appealed to the observers. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Chas. Doelker, Orchard drive, when all who are interested may attend.

NEW BUICK EIGHT WILL BE SHOWN AT PLYMOUTH SATURDAY

Buick's new line of straight eights for 1932 will be formally presented to the public on Saturday next, November 14, at the Plymouth Buick Sales Co., it is announced by E. T. Strong, president and general manager of the Buick Motor company.

With the presentation, the mystique of "Wizard Control," declared to be a startling innovation in motor car operation, will be fully revealed.

While the preliminary announcement contains no details about the new Buick development, it is estimated that an entirely new method of car control is introduced, one that represents the longest step forward in this phase of automotive engineering that has been made in recent years.

Since the close of the inventory period, made in mid-summer by Buick for the first time in many years, little information has been obtainable from the plant at Flint. This has been taken to indicate preparations of unusual importance for the new car that is to succeed the original straight eight, which represented Buick for almost six years.

It was not enemies, but ease,
It was not poverty, but gold,
For hearts grown greedy soon grow cold.

When wealth is honored more than worth.

MOTION PICTURE PROGRAM

"THE BRAT"

In keeping with the popular demand for novelty on the screen, something new in the way of film entertainment is promised with "The Brat," which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre on Sunday, November 15, with Sally O'Neil in the title role.

Whether this picture should be classified as a romantic comedy, or a comedy drama, or a dramatic romance, is hard to say. It has plenty of action, a joyous and "different" sort of love story, bits of sheer pathos and dozens of hilariously funny situations—a melange that makes it thoroughly enjoyable, whatever difficulties it offers to classification.

A penniless underdog from the Bowery is taken to the home of a wealthy author, who is looking for a heroine for his next novel. The girl's dual romance with the writer and his younger brother, the jealous her coming arouses in the two society girls who have already marked the author as their matrimonial prey, and the resulting complications all keep the interest at a high pitch.

Allan Dinehart, noted Broadway stage star who makes his screen debut in the film, enacts the role of the author and Frank Albertson that of the brother. While June Collier and Virginia Cherrill play the two society girls. William Collier, Sr., is also featured while Farrell Macdonald, Mary Forbes, Albert Gran, Louise Mackintosh and Margaret Mann complete a distinguished supporting cast. John Ford directed this Fox Film version of the original stage play by Maude Fulton. In addition to his role in the picture Collier also acted as stage director.

"SMART WOMAN"

The old proverb, "By thine works ye shall be known," is particularly applicable to players of the screen. "What has she or he done?" is of first importance to the producer who contemplates signing an artist. "Who's in it?" people ask before they trek to the box office to purchase a seat in a movie.

These tests were rigorously applied when RKO Radio Pictures "Smart Woman," to be shown Wednesday, November 18 at the Penniman Allen theatre, was cast.

Mary Astor, in the leading female role, once won a beauty contest. She was a celebrated artist's model. She starred in silent films. Her talkie record includes outstanding roles in "Holiday," "Two Arabian Knights," "Dressed to Kill," "RKO Radio Pictures' Runaway Passer," with Gloria Swanson, "Behind Office Doors."

Robert Ames was featured in silent films under Cecil B. DeMille. He played the featured male role in "Queens of Broadway" plays "His talkie record includes "The Trespasser" with Gloria Swanson, "Behind Office Doors" opposite Mary Astor, "Confessions," "Holiday" and many others.

Edward Everett Horton was star of his own stage productions, star of silent films and featured in more talkies than probably any other light comedian.

Noel Francis came from Ziegfeld's "Follies." Ruth Weston is a celebrated society beauty of New York and has been featured in eight RKO Radio films within the past two months. John Halliday is a former Broadway star.

"HEARTBREAK"

Triangles may mean one thing in a geometry class, but they are of unlimited variety in motion picture plots. This will be convincingly demonstrated Saturday, November 21, at the Penniman Allen theatre when "Heartbreak," Fox romantic drama starring Charles Farrell and Madge Evans with Hardie Albright and John Arledge and Paul Cavanagh featured will show to pleased audiences.

Hardie Albright is seen as the twin brother of Madge Evans whose love is desired by both Farrell and Cavanagh.

Director Alfred L. Werker has shown rare dramatic skill in weaving the elements of the plot into an ordered sequence of events which transpire in ascending tempo until the thrilling climax in which Albright dies through Farrell's error. How he atones, although the price he pays includes the forfeit of fame and honor, and succeeds in winning the forgiveness of Miss Evans, comprises the height of Farrell's splendid performance.

Miss Evans proves herself a grand emotional actress. John Arledge, as Farrell's friend and fellow flak, Claude King as the genial old father of Albright and John St. Polis as the American ambassador to Austria have been splendidly cast. "Heartbreak" is the film version

SCHOOL NOTES

WHAT YOU READ DETERMINES WHAT YOU ARE

The books people read are a good indication of their characters, and Mrs. Cousins, our librarian, has made some interesting observations regarding the types of literature most popular in this community.

Apparently the topic of greatest interest is Russia. "Red Bread" and "Uprooted Humanity," which discuss this country, are in great demand. Travel stories are also good circulators and the library wishes it had greater funds to be expended in this field. Regarding fiction, which is also popular, it is encouraging to note that the desire of most is for the better type; the more sensational and modern novels are not as well received as those that tend to life one above the humdrum of life. Children prefer mystery and adventure and have an aversion for historical novels.

For many years our library was one of the few self-supported institutions of its kind in this area. Recently it has been given township aid. It is doing a great service to the community by circulating about three hundred books in the three days it is open each week.

Legion Notes

(By Lisle Alexander in The "Legion News")

This is the week we hold the news. A good turnout at the last meeting, considering that I failed to mention it in this column.

Comrade Fred Rieger had a bunch out last week to try out for the Post bowling team. If you are a bowler, get in touch with him.

Comrade Norton Greene is going to raise some smoke with plans for some "rifle shoots" just as soon as the dance is over. If you are interested see Norton.

The dues are not coming in very fast. Some members find it hard to kick in right now, we know. But if you can pay, please pay now. And don't forget about those discharges. They must be inspected and registered.

Comrade Dr. Todd has been appointed as a committee to work with the Auxiliary on some future joint meetings. Watch for the dates.

"THE WORMS ARE THERE AS ALWAYS"

Said the little red rooster, "Gosh all hemlock, things are tough. Seems that worms are getting scarcer, and I cannot find enough. What's become of all those fat ones is a mystery to me. There were thousands through the rainy spell—but now where can they be?"

The old black hen who heard him didn't grumble or complain. She had gone through lots of dry spells, she had lived through floods of rain—

So she flew up on the groundstone, and she gave her claws a whet. As she said, "I've never seen the time there weren't worms to get."

She picked a new and undug spot; the earth was hard and firm. The little rooster peered: "New ground—that's no place for a worm." The old black hen just spread her feet, she dug both fast and free; "I must go to the worms," she said; "the worms won't come to me."

The rooster vainly spent his day—through habit, by the way—round worms had passed in and back in the rainy day. When nightfall found him supperless he growled in accents rough: "I'm hungry as a fowl can be—conditions sure are tough."

He turned then to the old black hen and said, "It's worse with you. For you're not only hungry but you're tired, too. I rested while I watched the worms, so I feel fairly perk; But how are you without worms, and after all that work?"

The old black hen hopped to her perch, and dropped her eyes to sleep. And murmured in a drowsy tone, "Young man, hear this and weep: I'm full of worms and happy, for I've dined both long and well; The worms are there as always, but I had to dig like hell!"

Oh, here and there red roosters still are holding sales positions. They cannot do much business now, because of poor conditions. But soon as things get tight again they'll sell a hundred firms. Meanwhile the old black hens are out and gobbling up the worms.

THE GREATEST UNKNOWN
As this Armistice Day passes, pause to think and reflect about the Unknown Soldier who has there at Arlington—selected from four unidentified black boxes by a Corporal who walked past what was left of their mortal bodies and dropped white roses upon the one whose namelessness was to go down in history as the Greatest Unknown and become immortal—no one knows from whence he came or anything about him but somewhere in this great land of ours this lad wanted to become a great athlete because he loved games and sports and he perhaps he wanted to become a great lawyer to right wrongs for the oppressed.

Perhaps he wished to become a great minister of the gospel to lead a soul tossed world to peace and happiness—perhaps to capture a great industry that many might find employment and thereby have the necessities and some of the luxuries of life—perhaps to become a great statesman and be of service to his country—but in stead he went over the top and his youth was caught up into that great Unknown, where there are no sick hearts—no grief—and in dying he became a gift rare than gold for he became our great Unknown Soldier and left behind a great heritage and contribution to a lasting peace, which God helping we can always have, and so keep the faith with him, always the greatest Unknown.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

BY MRS. EDITOR

A DAUGHTER HAS HER SAY

Northville mothers are not the only ones interested in the hours their children should keep during high school. Much interest is being shown in a letter written to Ruth Alden in the "Personal Problems" column of the Detroit Free Press in which a mother inquired how late a girl in her teens should be allowed to stay out evenings. Instead of replying, directly Miss Alden wisely side-stepped and is letting others send their own answers to this question.

A Northville mother brought to us the following wholesome letter from a daughter who wrote to this column. Here it is:

"About this staying out at night business, I am older than 15, but I was once that age and so I feel able to discuss the question from experience. I am now 21. My parents were and still are, quite strict. I used to rebel against that but now I'm all for it. After all, parents who really care for their children have to be fairly strict. What do youngsters know about life? Well, I thought I knew more than my parents did about most things. One night I stayed out awfully late and mother was so worried that she was ill for two weeks. That sort of brought me to my senses. When she got better, she, dad and I went over everything thoroughly and it was agreed that I was to try their way for six months and if at the end of that time I couldn't see the wisdom of their rule, I was to go to the 'wild' of my own. I have never had another meeting of the Big Three, and see what other arrangements could be made. I was to go to bed every school night at 9 o'clock, except Friday I could go to a show or a party that night, or Saturday, but had to be in by 12. I couldn't be out until midnight both nights."

You'll be surprised, perhaps, when I tell you that I began to feel so much better, physically, and my marks in school were so much higher that it didn't take me long to see how absolutely right my parents were. I followed that regime from my sophomore through my senior year in high school. During my vacations there was, of course, an easing up of the rules but I didn't take undue advantage because I found that I felt so much better when I got regular sleep.

I am now a junior in the University of Michigan. I have perfect health, am good in athletics, manage to get excellent marks in all my studies—and can still say that I'm glad my parents made me keep early hours all through my high school days.

GRACE CARMAN AND DOROTHY RICHARDSON WIN ESSAY PRIZES

Fully two hundred pupils in the Northville school have been busy writing 150-word themes on the meaning of Armistice day in commemoration for the prizes offered by the American Legion auxiliary.

Two groups competed, the 6th, 7th and 8th, and the 9th, 10th and 11th grades. By three processes of elimination first prizes of $2.50 gold pieces were awarded at the P. T. A. yesterday afternoon to Grace Carman in the 10th grade and Dorothy Richardson in the second.

We are proud to publish the prize essays of these two young Americans who have caught the spirit of the day.

What Armistice Day Means To Me
The dictionary says Armistice means "to stand still. A brief suspension of hostilities by agreement; a truce."

To me Armistice Day means the day of peace, it is the next thing to Thanksgiving.

When I think of so many men leaving their homes and loved ones to fight for our safety and how so many died and so many were left wounded and crippled, I am thankful the war is over.

I think Armistice should be a holiday like the 30th of May. A holiday which we should realize the awful war.

On the eleventh day of the eleventh month at eleven o'clock in the morning the Armistice was signed and the war was ended. The message was sent all over the world and there was great rejoicing wherever the message was received.

There was a great joy when the war was over, because it was one of the largest wars.

Armistice Day is a day when we should turn children to think of peace and not of war.

Armistice Day
Thirteen years ago on November 11, 1918, the Armistice was signed which released not only our country but nearly all other countries from a dreadful never-to-be-forgotten war; a war which claimed in death thousands of men each day permanently disabling many others, terrorizing and perishing the lives of women and children, devastating cities and destroying rural communities.

The peaceful ending of such a devastating menace surely merits commemoration in the hearts of all countrymen. Can we ever forget that ecstasy the glorious, hilarious, panicky celebration that swayed the masses?

COURT OF HONOR AT TRAINING SCHOOL OCCURS THIS EVENING

Extensive preparations have been made for the Court of Honor to be held tonight at the Wayne County Training school, announced Orlo G. Owen, local scoutmaster.

The Court of Honor is the formal occasion during which awards for merit are made to the Boy Scouts. This event tonight will include troops from Roseville, Garrettsville, Newburg, Plymouth, Northville and the Wayne County Training school.

Announcement of the awards to local Boy Scouts who have been working for some time on their tests will be made next week.

Scouts from the Plymouth district, which includes those troops just named will be guests of the University of Michigan at the Michigan-Michigan State football game at Ann Arbor tomorrow.

Scouts mingled with deepest sorrow and sadness for the mothers bereft of their loyal sons, the infinite joy which swelled our thanksgiving hearts.

Ah, no! That memorable day shall never be forgotten! It lives in the hearts of our true and noble countrymen always.

Armistice Day, like Independence Day, is explicitly worthy of commemoration and should be accepted as a legal holiday.

He spoke of the great day when fifty thousand boys and leaders representing forty-two nations gathered together in England two years ago and by their signs they could tell one another what they stood for. A new shining dinner was prepared by the ladies of the church. This is the second time these Scouts have visited us. They received a hearty invitation to come again.
