FAIR ELECTS SCHRAMMER AS '32 PRESIDENT

Back in Office; '31 Fair Successful

Nelson C. Schrammer and Floyd North were re-elected to the offices of president and secretary respectively of the Northville County Fair Association at the annual meeting of the board of directors here Monday. Mr. Miller was re-elected as treasurer.

Thomas A. Mordock was re-elected vice-president and Harry C. Robinson of Plymouth was elected to the board of directors to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James Huff as chairman of directors.

Other directors elected for the two year term follow: E. M. Starkweather, H. B. Clark, N. C. Schrader, T. E. Mordock, E. R. Eaton, M.
H. Sloan, A. C. Balden, A. E. Puler and G. C. Benton.

James Huff, who was made honorary director, received a vote of thanks from the board for the years of efficient work and faithful service he has given to the development of the Northville Wayne County Fair association.

At the meeting of the stockholders just previous to that of the directors, the secretary's report showed the Northville fair was one of the few that had lost money last year. The books showed a balance of more than $400 after all bills were paid.

The 1932 Northville fair will, in all probability, last for only four days instead of five as has been the custom. Tentative dates for the 1932 fair were placed at August 24 to 27.

A committee was appointed to attend the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Fairs in Detroit January 20 at which time acts will be considered for show in the fairs of this year.

TROIT WOMAN IS VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT AT NOVI

Miss Bruce A. Granger, 4382 West Philadelphia avenue, Detroit, was seriously injured when the car in which she and her husband were riding was struck by another auto mobile proceeding south on Grand River near Novi Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 p. m.

The accident occurred on the Novi road. The car which struck the Granger automobile was driven by P. J. Fallon, 4704, 16th street, Detroit, with R. M. Joyce, 4812 Avery street, Detroit, as a companion.

In a statement to police officials the Grangers declared that the driver of the car which ran into them apparently jammed on his brakes, the car slowing around and striking them broadside. Chief of Police Wm. Safford was called to the scene of the accident but he immediately turned the case over to Oakland county officials, within whose jurisdiction the accident occurred.

Mrs. Granger was taken to the Sessions hospital here where 40 stitches were taken to close the scalp injury she suffered. Mr. Granger was shaken up and bruised but not otherwise injured.

BEE SWARMING

Along with the stories of butterflies and angeworms being called forth by this unprecedented spring weather in January, comes a story of bees swarming.
At the farm home of C. W. Hamilton on the South-Lyon road, five miles just west of town, a swarm of bees were lured forth from their hives by the warm sunshine one day last week and migrated to the sunny side of the house where they clung all day, finally going back to their hives.

Mrs. Hamilton says to her knowledge this never has happened before, bees usually choosing summer time for swarming.

THREE BANDITS ROB KING'S GAS STATION

Hold-up men took approximately $20 from Mr. and Mrs. Glen King as they were sitting in their chairs in their gas station located on the Six Mile road and Plymouth avenue Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

One of the trio held a gun on the Kings, another acted as look-out and the third member of the gang scooped the money from the cash drawer. Neither Mr. or Mrs. King obtained a description of the bandits.

A car owned by Geo. Kahrl was stolen from in front of his house at 542 W. Dunlap street at about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening. The car was later discovered on Griswold street uncoupled and unharmed by Chief of Police Wm.
Safford and Mr. Kahrl.

Approximately 150 couples gathered in the gymnasium which was decorated with evergreen trees and colored lights, the men dressed the part of hunters and although one of two of the women came in costume, the majority were gowned in their finest.

Music by Patton's orchestra kept the dancers busily engaged in following the intricate steps of old time schottisches, polkas and Virginia reels with an occasional modern air mixed in for the sake of variety.

The Harold Todd post of the American Legion provided entertainment in the person of three singers who as a trio sang four numbers which were enjoyed by all.

A quilt was raffled off and the winner was Miss Grace Angell, of Northville.

Members of the King's Daughters in charge of the Hunters' Club were considering the possibility of making the dance a yearly event.

REV. H. G. WHITFIELD SPEAKS ON FAITH

"Fight the good fight of faith" was the theme of the sermon at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning. "We must fight to keep our faith," said Rev. H. G. Whitfield, "not acquiescence with what we do not understand. No supersti-tiousness would have aimed at the conclusion that a God of love behind the whole march of things."

Mr. Whitfield's whole sermon rang with hope and inspiration.

At the evening service the theme was, "That which we leave behind," when the members of the Order of the White Shrine were guests.

LEGION NOTES

(Lisle Alexander in Legion News) Well, here we are up to bat with a new pitcher in the box. He has the number "1932" spread across his young chest and he is here to give us battle.

Every member who has his dues paid up should receive his Legion News and American Legion Monthly.
Your subscription cards and money have been sent in and you should be on the list. If you fail to receive either paper, let me know and I will give it a check. Of course if you haven't paid, you are out of the mailing list and your names will be put back on just as soon as you allow me to sell you a card.

The Winter-Sports Carnival which is to be sponsored by the Wayne County Council will require a lot of men and work. This post is represented by a committee of three members but the commander will be glad to hear from any others who can donate some of their time for this purpose.

The membership contest is to be continued for another month. Both captains agreed to add many points to their score if given some more time so the fight is still on and may the best team win. You can help your side to victory by paying your dues or collecting some other fellow's dough.

ture of 54 degrees; Mrs. Merrill

Return to Basic Honesty Will Bring Prosperity Back to Us, Supt. Keyworth Tells Rotarians

A return to "basic honesty" is the first solution of the present depression, M. R. Keyworth, superintendent of schools at Hamtramck, told Northville Rotarians at their weekly luncheon Monday noon at the Presbyterian church house.

There has been enough dishonesty in business and politics alone, the past ten years, said the educator, to have brought about the economic distress that has seized the entire country. "We are bound to reap the whirlwind," emphasized Supt. Key-worth, as long as such dishonesty remains rampant. He cited one case of graft in the large cities, telling that it had been a common practice for purchasing agents for large corporations to get a five per cent commission before they would approve sales. These men lived in luxurious homes, far beyond the range of their salary alone.

One basic reason, said the speaker, that "honesty is the best policy," is that it is workable, while in the long run dishonesty proves to be unworkable. "We can succeed by honesty because it is the only way we can do our work," he maintained.

Along with honesty must go efficiency, reified by intelligence and an appreciation of values, continued the school man. Further, we must have courage—if we have honesty it will be easy to be courageous, since "right makes might." If we are honest, have courage and have re-sourcesfulness there will be real success ahead, even in such times as these.

In opening his address Supt. Key-worth paid a fine tribute to Supt.
Thad J. Knapp for his outstanding work in the educational world.

Father Jos G. Schiller, club president, was in charge and the Rotary quartet added zest to the program with some good music.

TREASURER TO FILE VILLAGE TAX REPORT

Village Treasurer John Lisenberger has completed the collection of Northville village taxes and will soon have a complete report to file with the council.

Having taxes, a special assessment, are being collected now and the treasurer reports an encouraging influx of money to the tax fund. Paying taxes which are not paid, officials say, are reassessed on the general roll and returned to the county treasurer for collection. After a period of time has elapsed and the taxes are not paid, it is said, the county treasurer puts the property assessed up for public auction at the tax title sale.

Deeds on kind of property returned for unpaid taxes, officials say, cannot be recorded until the back taxes are all paid.

McCullough, will reach the sixty-fourth milestone of their wedded their home. Their many friends here extend to them hearty congratulations and best wishes for continued joy in the remaining years as they

NEW CARS

A Zimmer of Zimmer Motor Sales is displaying the new Hudson and Essex cars this weekend at his showroom on Plymouth avenue. The cars are an entirely new line of cars, the Hudson, eight in three wheelbase lengths and a new Essex six.
Bodies are completely modernized, streamlined and radically new rigid frame construction is used. The power plant, transmission system, equipment and fittings are all new and the cars are said to be lower, more powerful, faster, better in appearance and better equipped than ever before.

H. S. WILLIS SPEAKS TO WOMAN'S CLUB ON NEGRO PROBLEM

Speaking from years of experience while living in the south, Dr.
H. S. Willis presented the problem of the colored race to the Woman's club last Friday afternoon. Those listening were impressed with the fact that Dr. Willis spoke with authority and unusual fairness in his discussion of the black man's readjustment to society after his liberation.

"The problem," said Dr. Willis, "is how to have the two races live side by side. Denying the prevailing idea that the southern white man despises his black neighbor, he asserted that the picture drawn by Harriet Beecher Stowe in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is very much overdrawn. "There never was a Simon Legree," he said. "Most of the southerners were kind to their slaves."

Dr. Willis treated the problem from the viewpoint of the negro, playing up his reaction through the steps of his progress from dire misery to the position of a real citizen with equal rights with his white brother. He faced his remarkable advancement. "No race has made such rapid strides in so short a time. In his development of racial pride, integrity, in business progress, even in the professions he is taking his place, following along in the path of the white man."

On the whole, Dr. Willis' analysis of the problem was very optimistic.
Mrs. Walter H. Johnston, also a southerner, sang with characteristic sweetness, several negro spirituals.
She was accompanied by Mrs. Reva Schneider.

Another interesting feature of this program was a treatise on the present situation in China, reviewed by Mrs. Marvin Sloan.

TURNBULL GETS PIN AS PAST PRESIDENT

Presentation of a past president's pin to Clifford B. Turnbull, who returned as head of the Exchange club at the close of the year, featured the Wednesday meeting of the club.
Eulogizing Mr. Turnbull as the "most dignified" president of years and also one of the most cheerful and efficient, John Kallbuesch made a happy little talk as he gave the emblem to the past president.

The usual program time was given over to a consideration of business matters. Secretary Sherrill W. Ambler gave a report showing the finances of Exchange were still in good condition, with a balance on hand as well as money held in closed bonds. President Orlow G. Owen named the following committees, the first named being chairman in each case.

Program—Dr. Arthur H. Steele
Elmer Smith.

Entertainment—Chas. F. Murphy, Dr. P. R. Alexander.

Membership—Dr. T. P. Brennan, Clifford B. Turnbull.

Community service—M. J. Murphy, Dr. B. E. Douglas.

Publicity—Richard T. Baldwin.

Rev. Frank N. Muner will be the speaker next week.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Continuing down the list of seniors we have next two girls, Geraldine Ferguson and Helen Fleischmann.

Geraldine was born in Detroit.
Her first four grades of schooling were spent at South Lyon and the rest here at Northville.

She has been secretary of the Student Council for three years, on the debate team in her sophomore year and the baseball team in her freshman year. She also has been accompanist for the Girls' Glee club for three years and for the pageants, "Pandora" and "Anderei-la." In her freshman year she was with the high school orchestra and in her junior year she was on the J-Hop committee. Geraldine has been a member of the Orange and Black staff for three years. She is a member of the Jug club and Travel club, and is in the senior play cast.

After graduating she expects to attend Michigan State college for a course in music and foreign languages.

Helen Fleischmann was born at Worden, Michigan, April 12, 1914.

Her first and second grades were spent at Northville, third and fourth grades at Plymouth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth at DeKay school, and the remainder again at Northville.

Helen was treasurer of the junior class and was on the J-Hop committee in her junior year. She belonged to the Travel club. She has won an O. G. A. certificate in shorthand and an O. A. T. certificate in typing.

After graduating she would like to take a nursing course, although she has not decided definitely.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

A vote of confidence was given Mr. Schrammer by the board of directors of the Northville Fair association by its action in reappointing him president for the 1932 fair.

BEATRICE GRIFFIN WILL APPEAR HERE

A real "star" is coming to Northville next Wednesday evening, January 20, when Miss Beatrice Griffin, violinist, of Detroit who has charmed audiences in some of America's large cities, will appear in the Presbyterian church. It is through her friendship for Mrs. J. N. Mc-Loughlin that Miss Griffin has gratuitously offered her services gratuitously to Northville in the interest of philanthropy before returning to Chicago to continue a series of concert engagements.

Miss Griffin is staff artist of the WWJ orchestra where she is official violinist and is soloist of the Detroit Symphony orchestra whose guest artist she has been on a number of occasions. To a large circle of the feminine population of the state she will be remembered as the "Experience" column violinist. Last winter Miss Griffin was guest artist at a concert given by the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra in that city when she was received with a great ovation. At another time she appeared in a New York concert hall where musical critics gave her great praise. The chance to hear such an artist does not often come to Northville and all who appreciate the best music will be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Mrs. T. P. Brennan, whose ability as a pianist is known, will accompany Miss Griffin and Pierre Kenyon, tenor, who has sung for two years with the Keith Orpheum company, will sing several numbers.

The proceeds of this concert will go to maintain the Baby Clinic which, in the stress of other demands of local need, has been crowded out. Everyone recognizes the worthiness of this cause which has administered to the welfare of a large number of Northville babies who have been brought sometimes as many as twenty at one time, to the clinic where a specialist gave expert care. This year a resident graduate nurse has volunteered her services at this clinic.
Northville will without doubt be glad to support so worthy a cause and by patronizing this fine concert may do their bit.

Tickets will be on sale for the nominal sum of fifty cents.

"THE WOMAN BETWEEN"

How does it happen that the fascinating, flirtatious Lily Damita was chosen for the featured role of the Parisian modiste in "The Woman Between?"

What was the process of selection that brought O. P. Heggie into the part of the middle-aged millionaire who found that his young wife was unwittingly in love with his own son, her step-son?

These were the questions of casting which arose at the Radio Pictures studio for "The Woman Between," which will appear at the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday, January 17.

When the script of "The Woman Between" called for a French far-cuse, a charming person with IT—eyes and alluring features, the name of Lily Damita immediately flew to the director's mind. In the same way O. P. Heggie was thought of for the financier's role.

Her first and second grades were
spent at Northville, third and
fourth grades at Plymouth, fifth,
sixth, seventh and eighth at DeKay
school, and the remainder again at Northville.

RADIO ADVERTISING

Senator Couzens starts a movement to do away with some of the objectionable radio advertising. The senator is right. False teeth for breakfast, ballyhoo for rheumatism cure for lunch and cut rate on women's coats for dinner is just too much. The present-day radio program collection, from seven in the morning until ten at night, is a strange and wonderful array of everything and nothing. No wonder that the radio in some homes is getting turned off a good bit of the time.

A PAT ON THE BACK

Say, friends, isn't now one of the best times in the history of this generation, to start giving each other a "pat on the back," instead of passing around some new criticism?

None of us gets any fun out of being criticised. Not one of us thrives on unkind words. Even the most "hard-boiled" doesn't do his best work when he is criticised too keenly or unfairly. In other words, we all like a "pat on the back" and we put forth our best efforts when we get a little appreciation. Even though we all differ in our opinions on a lot of things, there are many points on which we all agree. Let's send a few flowers where we do agree.

CHURCH GOING

We may be wrong but it seems to us that, if every Northville church could be filled full of people every Sunday for the next few months that this town would fake on such a new spirit of optimism, of hope and faith in each other that you wouldn't know the old town.

The past few months have shown us the futility of material things, they have seen the collapse of dollars and more dollars. These months ought also to show us that if we cultivate the idealistic side of our lives then we shall not lean too heavily on dollars and things and furthermore, we shall really find a few satisfactions out of living. If we could all—regardless of our creedal beliefs—gather together Sunday morning for an hour and a half of quiet, of reverential thinking, of listening to restful and inspiring music and to words of comfort and hope, we should fill the reservoirs of our lives with new streams of power.

WHY BANK ACTION IS SLOW

"Why can't Northville get a bank?" "Why are they so slow in starting a bank or in opening the old ones?"

These are questions that you hear every day in Northville, on the streets and in places of business. These questions are asked of The Record every few days.

These are fair questions. But the fact is, that the answers to these questions cannot be made in a few words. There are so many things involved that the answers have to be delayed or left unanswered. No one—not even the highest authorities of Michigan—know when certain banks in Michigan can be re-opened. For example, we have just read a letter of protest in The Birmingham Eccentric that the First State Savings bank there has not been re-opened. The writer points out that as far back as July 21, 1931, the depositors, at a public meeting, went on record as being in favor of a co-operative movement to open the bank. Then the stockholders agreed to their part of the co-operative agreement. After stating some of these facts, the writer asks: "How can this endless delay in Birmingham be explained?" We just mention this to show that conditions in towns are pretty much the same, when it comes to opening closed banks. It is a very difficult problem.

In Birmingham, as in Northville, the paper has been criticised because the people don't find in the home newspaper more news of the prospective opening of the bank. Some even suggest that the paper is "holding something back." The plain truth is that the newspaper tells the news—what happens—and can't put in what doesn't happen. The Record knows what is going on with regard to the new bank and this paper has told the public the developments as they have happened from time to time. We have tried to be just as fair as we know how. In fact, it has been as painful for us to have so little constructive news to offer as it has been for the public to look for good news about the bank in The Record and find none—nothing but "hope deferred," which also "maketh the heart sick."

Now, just when shall we have our new bank in Northville?

No one knows. When we get it depends a good deal on what happens to the world, the nation and our own state in the next few weeks and months. Another plain fact is that a lot of folks don't realize what a serious financial situation faces just about the whole world. To expect Northville to be able to do things as they used to be done, is to be blind to conditions of depression and unrest that are world-wide.

It has been—and still is—the sincere opinion of this newspaper that Northville will find some way within a few months to get a bank that will save the assets of our two closed ones. But the way won't be easy. Never in the past fifty years at least has there been such a situation about banking as there is now. Big bankers are baffled; so-called experts have had to revise a lot of their opinions. Even state bank departments have been at sea as how best to proceed.

Northville is making progress toward a new bank. Put that down. Actual advance has been made, although it looks as though we had moved like snails. The morale, if you want to use that word, is much better than it was a few weeks ago. Stockholders of both banks are agreed on the plan of trying to merge. That's a distinct step forward. Depositors, we sincerely believe, when they can hear the whole story of what will have to be done, to get a bank back and to protect their million and half of deposits, will get back of some plan with a whole heart. Our community knows a lot more about banking than it did a few months ago. It is also ready to put its shoulder to the wheel. In other words, all forces that are needed to get the new bank are being drawn together for the crusade for the new financial institution that is needed to keep Northville from going backward.

The first big thing to realize in getting the bank doors open again is to realize that we have a big task ahead and that it will be a man-sized job to get the new bank. When we all understand that, we shall be ready to go ahead slowly but surely. The challenge is one that should appeal to every man and woman who loves his home community.

Favorable signs now are several: Our local committee thinks that a workable plan can be gotten ready within 30 days so we can approach the actual task of getting the bank.

The state banking department is working hard at the problem of opening banks in such situations as Northville and will give every possible aid.

Other communities have re-opened their banks and are going ahead favorably. What they can do, we can do. As the capital of Kansas used to say: "Topeka, Kan.; Topeka will."

When will Northville have a bank? You are one of those who will help answer that question.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

BOOZE AND BALL PLAYERS

(Charlotte Republican)

"Old man booze has put more meat out of the game than all the umpires put together—Connie Mack"

THE PEOPLE ARE URGING

(Chet Howell in Chesaning Argus)

Washington dispatches state that returning congressmen home for the holidays are imbued with a "whirlwind of sentiment in favor of reducing salaries and cutting out bureaus, etc., instead of raising any more taxes to care for the federal deficit." Great, more power to 'em and if they haven't heard the voice of the folks back home they will. And there are bureaus not in Washington but right here in Michigan which could be eliminated without stepping on any one's toes—except the fellow that lost the job. One way to save tax money is to cut expense.

ONE CENT DIFFERENCE

(Clinton Co. Republican News)

Big corporations often operate upon a very low margin of profit, although the aggregate profits mount up into millions of dollars. One year ago Swift & Company showed a net profit of about $12,000,000. Had they paid one cent per pound more for the livestock they bought this twelve million profit would have been a loss of twice that amount. This seems strange at first until one realizes that they annually buy about 3,000,000 cattle, 8,000,000 hogs, 5,000,000 sheep and 1,000,000 calves. These 17,000,000 animals represent many millions of pounds and a fraction of a cent on each pound would make a tremendous difference in the receipt's of one concern handling that amount.

ETERNALLY RIGHT

(Paul Biddick in The La Grange, Ind. Standard)

The public mind is badly unsettled on the wet and dry matter with the wave of propaganda sweeping the country. It was expected that prohibition would accomplish much more than has been accomplished and there is disappointment. There are some bad results, the greatest one of which is the breeding of more and larger bootlegging organizations than would exist with saloon competition. The usual wave of public feeling goes back and forth. Right now the curse of the saloon system is not apparent and the bad features of prohibition are apparent. The wave is against prohibition and most people go with the tide a few years hence the wave will be sweeping back the other way again.

The Standard firmly holds to the proposition that prohibition, with its faults and difficulties, is the best solution of one of the hardest problems the nation has ever faced. We urge the people to think for themselves on this matter and not be stampeded. Sincere men differ on this question as they did on the slavery question a generation ago. There was a great fundamental principle involved in the slavery question which made its ultimate outcome quite clear to Abraham Lincoln. The Standard feels that there is a great principle underlying the wet and dry question which makes prohibition eternally right. Here are some considerations upon which we base our conclusions:

1. A nation with drunkenness reduced to the minimum outdistances others in family life, in health and in industrial and economic progress.
2. We are confident that in due time prohibition will win more general support as new generations become educated to the wisdom of temperance and that the difficulties of enforcement will greatly decrease. If individuals and city newspapers would cease scoffing at the law this would be hastened.
3. We see no advantage in a profit to the government of $250,000,000 a year at an added public burden of a couple of billions.
4. Canada, with government distribution, shows a vast increase of alcoholism over her prohibition period.
5. Insurance statistics show that there has been a great decrease in alcoholism in America since prohibition went into effect.

ARM ALL CITIZENS SAYS K. H. BABBITT

I wonder if the Anti-firearms clan fully realize the part that firearms have played in the development of the greatest country in the world. Do the Anti's know that the inherent love for firearms of the American boy has made it possible for this country to exist with a small army and is and has been one of the greatest assets in time of war.

The present restrictions on revolvers and pistols have made the law-abiding citizen helpless in the hands of a vicious army of thugs and to prohibit the manufacture of revolvers and pistols would make our police and the law enforcement organizations defenseless and the country would be run by the public enemy crowd.

"Well," some thin-skinned patriot murmurs, "if firearms were not manufactured the thugs could not go armed."

Lasten Mr. Prohibitionist, "our bootleg machine shop and a chemist could turn out enough arms and

AN EDITOR TELLS A STORY

(Rae Corliss in The Parma News)

Editor, Donald Rude of The Concord News tells the following story, which might interest several of the Parma merchants.

A business man refused to advertise in the newspaper, stating that he used a billboard because more people saw it. Recently his wife died and after the funeral he took an obituary into the news office. When the paper came out he looked for the story on his deceased wife, and not finding it believed he had gotten it into the office too late for that week's paper. The second week he searched the paper through in vain for the obituary and then called on the editor.

"Where is that obituary on my wife?" he asked.

"Oh, that?" replied the editor. "Why you said few people read the paper but that everybody saw the paper so I took the obituary down and tacked it on the billboard on the corner."

amunition in 90 days to arm all of the vice crowd in Michigan and Chicago and that isn't all of the story. If all of the firearms in the country were destroyed tomorrow, within 90 days the underworld would arrive with a more silent and deadly weapon than they are using today.

Take off restrictions on firearms, teach people the use and to carry them and your robberies and stock-ups will decrease 90 per cent. The writer has listened to the anti-aggregation for 25 years and as yet they have not proved their case. No city, state or country where the use of firearms is restricted can show a decrease in crime so why not try arming and instructing the law-abiding citizen and see what effect it will have on the situation.

In all probability the young man mentioned in your paper would not have stepped into the range of a revolver held in the hands of an inexperienced girl had he been instructed in the art of revolver shooting.

Why not discontinue the manufacture of automobiles—an army of people were killed by them in the last year and quite frequently people blow out the gas but the automobiles go on forever.

Please Mr. Editor give us fellows who enjoy the art of shooting a rest. Watch your speedometer, don't run any red lights, put on your red flannels November 1, stop, look and listen at railroad crossings and we will promise not to shoot you.

—K. H. Babbitt.

This Week

By H. H. White

It has been said by experts who know that the most beautiful of turquoise are flecked in their flawless blue by spots of lustrous brown, the matrix, a link with common soil. Thus what would be an imperfection in another stone, in this becomes an enrichment. And that is just the impression one feels and gains as they read one of Willa Cather's books, and one also finds in her work the most cunning art, in which she is a gifted and clever genius. And this is perceptibly true in her latest book, "Shadows on the Rock" which is in our local library. This novel deals with Quebec in a time when that city was not more than a thriving village of two or three thousand inhabitants. For its primary existence it depended upon fur trading and such with the Indians. It is history when we say that vast domains were discovered and explored for continental France and called New France.

Miss Cather's purpose in her book is to tell us about the people and their life on the rock, on which the city of Quebec rests. She dwells at quite a length upon the mentality of the immigrants in their new home but weaves it so cleverly into her book that it is far unpleasantly obvious, yet there is no study of any single character in her story. She clearly brings out the well ordered existence of their lives which had become indelibly fixed in their minds by the teachings of the Roman church, and thus they were able to adapt themselves to their new environment without any tragedy in their lives, which they experienced, was kept well into the background of their humble and primitive existence.

All through the book one is impressed with a subdued tone of poetic expression of which Miss Cather is so capable. Her sketches here and there in the book are like some delicate pastel that a Latour or Wateau might have done.

Just enough political history is evident to coordinate time and scene. Her characters come and go and glimpses which are unmistakably deftly portrayed with this artist's clever pen pictures.

I might go on for several paragraphs raving about this book, but if what I have already said makes the reader restless and ill content until they have gone to bed, I am willing to conclude by saying that few writers have succeeded as has Miss Cather in telling a historical story with such consummate art, and can so subtly reveal a character in a hand gesture or movement of the face as this superb artist can, and has done in this novel.
