BOXING SHOW FEB. 9, WILL AID WELFARE

Noted Fighters Will Appear at the Zimmer
Garage

A boxing show, the proceeds of which will be donated to local welfare work, will be held over the A. Zimmer garage at 230 Main street on Tuesday, February 9, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

The card will feature Don McLeod, promising Northville lightweight, who will meet Giff Walker, a shift puncher from Trenton in an eight-round bout, and Morris Sherman, state welterweight champion, who will take a six-round fight. Both of these events are attracting more than ordinary interest owing to the fact that promoters consider the arrangement of these two scraps a "natural" and also because charity will be benefited by the proceeds. Morris Sherman is contributing his share of the purse to welfare work.

The program further consists, the committee states, of a semi-final between Jack Horton of Detroit and Tiger McClelland of Dearborn. Horton has won his last 14 fights by knockouts and he is recognized as the coming middleweight champion of Michigan.

Four fast four round preliminary bouts, guaranteed to be full of action, have also been arranged to keep the spectators on the edge of their seats. Red Cesson will meet Carl Denny, both from Detroit; Pop Ewe McCauley and Douglas Yeates will fight at 126 pounds; and Mike McFarland will try to whip the former African amateur bantamweight champion, Henry Gowatch. The show will be opened by Young Reiley of Northville who recently won a bout in Plymouth, fighting "Red" Hall of Milford.

This program, which is worth at least three times the amount asked, may be had for one dollar; the proceeds to go to the Northville welfare. Any extra contribution on purchasing tickets will be appreciated by the committee.

CHEVROLET AGENCY OPENED HERE BY KENNETH RATHBURN

Kenneth Rathburn, former automobile dealer at Wayne, will formally open his new salesroom at 128 West Main street, in the Recreation building, tomorrow where there will be displayed on the floor new models of the 1932 Chevrolet.

Mr. Rathburn comes to Northville with several years of experience in selling automobiles behind him and he believes this field to be a fertile one for the smooth performing, economical Chevrolet.

Affiliated with Mr. Rathburn as a salesman will be Roy Van Atta who is well known here.

The Rathburn-Sales and Service will carry a complete line of parts and the garage will be equipped to handle all kinds of automobile repair work. People of Northville and environs are invited by Mr. Rathburn to attend the opening Saturday when free favors will be distributed and those who are interested in the 1932 Chevrolet may receive all of the information concerning it that they desire.

DIPHTHERIA PREVENTION TREATMENTS WILL BE GIVEN AT THE SCHOOLS

Dr. W. H. Johnston, village health officer, announces that treatments to provide immunization against diphtheria will be given at the public schools Thursday, February 4, to all who wish it. If any mothers wish to bring their pre-school children they will be welcome. Also any others whether their children are in school or not.

Those in a position to do so are asked to pay 75 cents for the three treatments. Dr. Johnston will be assisted in giving the treatments by Mrs. Florence Gray, school nurse, and Miss Georgina Reed, county nurse.

EDGAR FREYDL WRITES OF CALIFORNIA COLD

From "sunny California" comes a letter to Mr. and Mrs. B. Freydl from their son, Edgar, in Escondido, California, stating that weather conditions there have been very "unusual" this winter. Rains have been heavy so that a "wash" near their house, which has been dry for five years, is now full of water. A neighbor's family was obliged to swim from their flooded house to dry land. With the thermometer falling to zero, ice has frozen in the Freydl yard and snow in the nearby mountains has been

TWO LOCAL COMMITTEES UNANIMOUSLY AGREE ON PLAN FOR A NEW BANK

Depositors of Both Closed Institutions Will Meet on Tuesday, February 9 to Discuss Proposition

STATEMENT BY COMMITTEES

At a meeting of the joint committees, representing the depositors of the Northville State Savings Bank and the Lapham State Savings Bank, held January 26, 1932, it was the unanimous opinion that a new bank was the only proper solution of the financial situation in Northville.

The plan to be followed is, that the depositors shall take an interest in the capital structure of the new bank as well as others who may subscribe.

Investment in New Bank
$40,000.00 Capital, $8,000.00 Surplus and $2,000.00 Undivided Profits, making the total Capital structure $50,000.00.

For particulars in detail, see next week's Record.
Depositors' Committee:
Elmer L. Smith,
Ray Richardson,
Lewis Vradenburg,
Thad J. Knapp,
Wm. Yerkes,
Jno. Kalffleisch.
Bank Committee:
E. H. Lapham,
Don Yerkes,
Edward L. Millis.

Northville's two committees, the one representing the depositors and the other named by the directors of the Lapham and the Northville State Savings bank, have unanimously agreed on a plan for a new bank here.

Final and definite action was taken Tuesday afternoon. The plan follows in a broad way suggestions made by Hugh A. McPherson of Pontiac, former state banking commissioner, and will be called the McPherson plan, to differentiate from the others that have been suggested.

Depositors Meet Feb. 9
Depositors of both closed banks will meet Tuesday, February 9, at 2 p. m., at the Presbyterian church house to discuss the plan.

This action was taken after much study of the whole situation, discussion with financial experts and numerous meetings of the two committees. Much hard work has been done since the depositors' committee was named here on Monday, January 18, after a meeting was addressed by Judge Albert J. Lacy of Detroit. Developments of the past week are detailed below.

Much valuable help was given the committees last Thursday forenoon by representatives of the Ypsilanti Savings bank, which re-opened recently after having been closed for a time. H. H. Ferguson, head of the depositors' committee of that bank and Mr. Williams, the cashier, also a former state banking examiner, were here for several hours and went over with the local men their experiences which resulted in the re-opening of their institution. Then Thursday afternoon part of the group went to Pontiac and interviewed Hugh A. McPherson, mentioned above, and gained more help in working out a plan to meet Northville's needs. Friday evening all the members of the committee met with Mr. McPherson and further threshed out plans.

Saturday afternoon was also given over to a complete, and thorough discussion of all the various plans. Then on Tuesday afternoon, January 26, came the final action. At a meeting of the joint committee, representing the depositors and the Northville and the Lapham State Savings banks it was the unanimous opinion that a new bank was the only proper solution of the financial situation in Northville and it was decided to go ahead with the McPherson plan.

Those representing the depositors are: Elmer L. Smith, chairman; W. H. Yerkes, secretary-treasurer; Ray Richardson, Lewis Vradenburg, Thad J. Knapp and John Kalffleisch. The committee appointed by the two banks' directors is: E. H. Lapham, Don Yerkes, Sr., and Edward L. Millis.

The plan calls for aid of the depositors, as well as others, in the capital structure of the new bank. Details will be explained at the meeting of the depositors of both banks at the meeting at the Presbyterian church house Tuesday afternoon, February 9.

STUDENTS PUNISHED FOR "SKIPPING" SCHOOL

"Skipping school does not pay," declared the bunch of local high school students who have been taking time off at their pleasure to attend shows in Detroit. Called "upon the carpet," they were given a plain bit of counsel and are obliged to make up every hour of lost time. Instead of feeling rebellious against the judgment administered one boy admits that "America is a square shooter and we had it coming to us."

KING'S DAUGHTERS

A regular meeting of the King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Ray Casterline, 122 W. Dunlap street, Tuesday afternoon, February 2, at 3 o'clock.

TWO CONFESS ROBBERY AT CASTERLINE'S

One of Local Boys Involved in Theft Disappears
After Arrest

BULLETIN

One of the two boys who confessed Wednesday to robbing the Casterline gasoline station several weeks ago was missing Thursday morning when it was time for Chief Safford to take the two to Detroit to make a statement at the prosecutor's office. The boy took a car from Plymouth, officials say, and left Northville some time Wednesday night. The other boy was at the village hall at the appointed time.

The boys, whose names are withheld because of the suffering and disgrace their disclosure would bring to relatives, were to be taken to Detroit Thursday morning, but one of them disappeared. The other will be held under $200 bond until the March session of the Wayne county circuit court, according to Chief Safford.

Although Wayne county sheriffs have been busy recently fingerprinting a number of suspects from Northville in hopes of locating the thieves who robbed Casterline's service station on the night of Tuesday, January 5, it remained for Chief of Police Wm. Safford of Northville to capture the guilty ones.

Two boys, aged 18 and 19, confessed before Chief Safford and Justice Wellington Roberts that they had broken into the gas station and stolen the automobile accessories, and approximately $10 in cash from the gasoline pump where it had been hidden by the proprietor, Clifford Casterline.

The money has all been spent, the boys say and only one storage battery was recovered. The boys deny that they were implicated in any robbery, but holdup, other than the one to which they confessed.

ELTON R. EATON HONORED

Elton R. Eaton, editor of the Plymouth Mail, was named president of the Michigan Press association, the organization of publishers of weekly newspapers of the state, at its meeting at Michigan State college, at East Lansing, last week. Major Eaton has been vice president of the association for the past year and his advancement was a splendid tribute to his work. He succeeds George R. Averill, publisher of The Birmingham Eclectic.

Mayor Discusses Water

To The Public: The commissioners and myself have been working on the water situation in our village for several weeks. For the past number of years each council has been criticised by the State Health department for not listening to its requests for a more up-to-date water system and water that would stand a better test. Up to this year nothing has been done to remedy this. Councils before us have, undoubtedly, had good reasons for not disturbing that which has supplied our 2,600 souls, who apparently have not suffered any bad effects.

The writer has never failed to express his opinion on any matters that the citizens have left him partly in charge of and now believes it his duty to let the public know the present water situation. At the same time I candidly believe that I am voicing the sentiment of the entire village community.

From time to time, you have had something of what the commissioners are doing in respect to remedying our water system through the columns of The Northville Record. At this time a decision has not been made, that it is necessary for a vote on wells until we find that plenty of good water cannot be obtained from the source that it has come for the past 33 years. In a short time, at a cost not to exceed $600, we will know more about it.

The increase of the supply already has saved the village in electric bills an amount that will be equal to the money ($700) already spent in experimenting. This was accomplished by not having to use as much electricity for pumping from the Fairbrook Spring to the reservoir. We have already increased the water supply at the Hill Spring some 30 gallons per minute flow and our anticipation is that we will have another gallon increased at the Hill and Barnhardt springs saves the pumping from the Fairbrook spring

Made First Plane in Northville

EDWARD A. STINSON

STINSON WON STUNT FEAT MARA TELLS OF STINSON

(From The Detroit Free Press)

Eddie Stinson was one of those men whose acts are picturesque and dramatic and with whom fear never dwelt.

Of the many stories concerning the spirit of this man the one here in Northville will stand out as characteristic.

"Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman," pilot for Ruth Elder, were "gabbing" one day about what they each could do in the way of special flying. The result of their talk was a bet that each could do more loops than the other.

Stinson was the winner and Northville folks were treated to a sky full of circles and heard the roar of planes from the blue above. No one seems to remember accurately how many times he did loop-the-loop. It is variously estimated from 35 to 60.

While his sister, Katherine, continued interest in flying and in 1910 was the second woman in the world to fly, Eddie ran away from home. He went to St. Louis and worked as a mechanic in a garage and later as a chore boy in a roadhouse operated by Max Gumbert, a well-known gambler. Eddie cranked automobiles. The electric starter had not yet been perfected. Eddie frequently got 50 cents and $1 tips and never less than 25 cents.

About that time two men interested Gumbert in airplanes. One said he could build the engine and the other said he could build the body. "All we need is a man to fly it," they told Gumbert. Eddie immediately got into the conference and said that he could fly. He was engaged on the spot and soon the ship was built.

"Eddie flew it around, cracked up in it several times and finally abandoned the plane in East St. Louis after it had cracked up beyond repair."

Blamed Self for Crashes
"Eddie made up his mind he would save $500 and go to the Wright Brothers in Dayton, O., and learn to fly. He figured that because he cracked up so many times he did not know how to fly. He saved $500. His sister, Katherine, learned of his plans. She thought him too awkward to be a pilot and giving him a hard luck story she succeeded in borrowing the $500 so he could not go to Dayton."

"Eddie saved another $500 and again his sister took it away from him with the same kind of story and put it in the bank for him with the other $500. But Eddie persisted. He saved another $500 and this time refused to give it to his sister after he became suspicious."

"Eddie was about 15 years old when he went to Dayton and there took instruction under Walter Brookings and Howard Rheinhart, the first instructors for the Wright Brothers."

Knew as Much as They
"After the instructors had taken Eddie up a few times they smiled and informed him that he knew as much about flying as they did. He realized then that it had been the

"EDDIE" A. STINSON IS KILLED IN AN AIRPLANE ACCIDENT AT CHICAGO

Noted Aviator Started in Northville the Manufacture of Plane That Bears
His Name

Edward A. "Eddie" Stinson, president of the Stinson Aircraft corporation, died on the morning of Tuesday, January 26 as a result of injuries received in an airplane crash in Jackson Park, Chicago.

Known as the dear of American pilots because of his many years as a pilot, Eddie Stinson started his career as a manufacturer here in Northville.

With 15 men forming the nucleus of his organization in 1927 the first Stinson plane was made here and the success with which it was greeted by the aviation world assured Stinson's success in the then pioneering field of cabin planes.

Flying for more than 20 years, Stinson was reputed to have a record of more hours in the air than any other flyer. It is estimated that he flew nearly 15,000 miles.

His ability as a flyer increased his power as a salesman and the ease with which he demonstrated the different Stinson models sold many airplanes for the new corporation which was located in what was formerly the Stinson Scales company. Financing Eddie in his venture were a group of Detroit men among whom was Harry Graham who still owns the now empty factory on Plymouth avenue near Main street which housed the beginnings of the large Stinson Airplane corporation, now located at Wayne.

Associated with Eddie Stinson in his first effort to prove that he could make airplanes as well as fly them, was Wm. Mara, as vice president. Geo. Hopkins who is at present living near Northville, was a test pilot along with the famous "Ranny" Page who dropped dead as a result of heart failure a short time ago in Texas.

Stinson was a friend and idol of the townspeople of Northville who admired his dauntless courage and respected his world wide fame as a pilot.

As one who was close to him while he was here remarked, "His ships clicked right from the start. Evermore liked Eddie and he could make those ships of his do anything he wanted them to. He was human and he was wild. There wasn't anything that he was afraid to do and more than once he would gain an altitude of about 5,000 feet over Northville and do stunts that would make the townspeople's hair stand right on end. That boy had nothing when he started but sheer courage and faith in himself yet when he left here in the spring of 1929 he had an organization of 250 men turning out Stinson planes."

Northville business men banded together to help Stinson when he was first engaged in building up his plant and purchased ground for and leveled off a landing field about two miles out of Northville on the Beck road which was used by the Stinson corporation.

Stinson lived with his wife and family in Orchard Heights and was a familiar figure to the people of Northville. He brought many famous fliers here who purchased Stinson planes among whom were Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, whose transoceanic flight ended when they were miraculously picked up in the middle of the Atlantic by a Dutch freighter.

The Stinson Airplane corporation left Northville in the spring of 1929 to enter the company's new plant at Wayne. Increasing in size and prosperity, the corporation was at last purchased by the Cord company with Stinson retained as president of the organization.

Surviving Stinson are his wife, Mrs. Estelle J. Stinson, 1351 Kingsbury avenue, Dearborn; his sister, Katherine, of Washington, D. C., plane designer for the United States Navy; another sister, Mrs. Katherine Otero, wife of the state treasurer of New Mexico, who was the second woman ever to fly a plane and who was Eddie's first instructor; and his father, Edward A. Stinson, of Aberdeen, Mass.

Eddie Stinson's body lay in state at his home on Kingsbury avenue, Dearborn. It remained there until 9:15 o'clock this morning when funeral services were held from the Sacred Heart church. Interment took place in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, aviators paying a last final tribute to their dead comrade by flying and dipping in wide circles overhead.

NORTHVILLE WEATHER

And still the wonder grows! No real winter in Michigan yet and already a few women are venturing the first spring hats.

On Tuesday some real snow fell and Northville kids were jubilant with plans for getting out unused sleds but no sooner had the snow fallen than it melted on slushy pavements.

LOCAL CITIZENS PAY TRIBUTE TO EDDIE STINSON

The following are some of the tributes paid to Eddie A. Stinson by his Northville friends:

DR. LINWOOD W. SNOW: Eddie Stinson deserves the title, "America's fearless ace."

CLIFF CASTERLINE: Eddie Stinson was one of the best, and most careful pilots I ever flew with. He did more for the promotion of aviation than any single man.

AL ZIMMER: In a certain sense of the word Eddie Stinson and I were neighbors for our business establishments were side by side and in all my contacts with Eddie I knew him to be a fine fellow.

ELMER SMITH: I had the pleasure of going on a couple of flights with Eddie Stinson. His was a general personality, the same on land and in the air.

SAM WILKINSON: If anyone had the pleasure of growing up with him they would feel that he was a true aviator.

DR. A. A. HOLCOMB: Eddie Stinson spent his whole life in aviation, and especially in the safety of aviation. To my mind his achievements in aviation were equal to the achievements of Edison in electricity. The world needed him because aviation was not perfect and he was doing his best to make it so.

ROBERT PICKELL: Eddie Stinson was the wildest fellow I've ever seen. When Haldeman, the fellow that flew with Ruth Elder, was here, he and Eddie put on an exhibition of "stunt flying" that was really good. There wasn't anything they missed doing. Eddie was liked by everyone in town and he was a dandy fellow. I'm sorry to hear of his death.

HARRY S. GERMAN: Eddie Stinson, during his stay here, was to our village what Lindbergh is to the world, a daring but heady man in his hazardous profession and, his death has dealt a severe blow to aviation.

NELSON SCHRADER, President of the Fair Association: Eddie Stinson was a fine fellow. It seems too bad to lose a man of his type.

CLINTON W. WILBER: Eddie Stinson's death was a great shock to me. I knew him as a likeable fellow who was always fair in his business dealings.

GEORGE HOPKINS: As test pilot to Eddie Stinson here in Northville I knew him quite well. He was known and loved by all particularly by those who were his co-workers in aviation.

FRED W. LYKE, hardware dealer: In the several occasions I had of meeting Eddie Stinson I found him a very likeable man.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PLYMOUTH GETS AID OF DEPOSITORS

Depositors of the First National bank of Plymouth met Tuesday night in the Plymouth high school auditorium at the request of bank officials to consider a plan whereby the institution could be placed on a more firm financial basis.

A large withdrawal of funds since last October has jeopardized the bank's position although as Judge Arthur J. Lacy, former jurist and widely recognized student of banking, stated, "The bank is in mighty fine condition when it can stand the steady withdrawal of cash that this bank (First National) did and still not have to close its doors."

The depositors elected a committee composed of the following members: Paul Nutting, Joseph Brunell, Joseph Gunn, James Ford and Wm. Pettigill.

The plan which was presented by Judge Arthur J. Lacy and former state Senator Clarence Gutins, calls for a 40 per cent assessment on the stockholders to be placed in a trust fund, together with part of the bank's assets, the entirety to be used as a revolving fund to keep the bank in liquidity.

The majority of the depositors, whose signatures were necessary to put the plan into action, signed the agreements which were passed around at the meeting.

HELPING THE HOME BUILDER

We are greatly interested in seeing how the new two billion dollar Reconstruction Finance corporation is going to help people build homes. President Hoover, as we understand it, wants this plan to aid just such people as live in Northville to build their own homes.

Northville is "underbuilt" on modern homes. We have often thought that it would be fine to have some finance system worked out for the family that can make a small payment down on a new house, but lacks the big sum to put it all through. It would be a splendid thing for our own business people if a finance plan could be developed so that the building materials and labor could all be bought of our own people. It is possible that the Hoover plan will in some way reach out to Northville and help the folks who have a modest sum to "plank down" for starting a new home. We hope so—we want a new home.

THE MUSKRAT IS "SMART"

If rather looks as though the muskrats down at Monroe who last fall built thin walls for their houses and thus predicted a mild winter, might have been right. The squirrels also have the chance to say: "I told you so." They grew thin fur on their tails and made little plan to "dig in" for a hard winter. Well you know what "winter" has been so far.

We commence to wonder when a weather man really "knows his stuff." Last fall he ridiculed all these signs of a soft winter and said in street parlance that it was the "bunk." Like a lot of other so-called "experts," he might be wrong. Maybe the animals that have spent their lives out in the open and who have friendship with the winds and the open sky may know more than the mere man who looks wise and "draws his little charts."

The weather man still has four or five weeks to make good on his threat to give us some real winter. We remember that one February 14, back in our high school days at Port Huron, was about the coldest day that we ever "stuck our nose outdoors." If we can get by the middle of next month without much real winter, we are going to stick by the muskrats, et al., in this weather predicting.

"CLEAR THE TRACK"

Unless all signs fail, "Old Man Depression" is in for one terrific wallop at the hands of this United States. The two billion dollar Reconstruction Finance Corporation that has been made possible by action of Congress and President Hoover will give the "K O." to the national slump—or General Chas. G. Dawes (picked as its head) will fall down for the first time in his dynamic life.

It really does look as though the time had come to end the hard times and that it would actually be done. Uncle Sam's two billion is enough to do the big task—if our whole population will come out of its shell of fear, timidity and panic. We have all suffered much from the past two years. If we don't want to suffer more, it is up to us—not the other fellow—to follow the leadership of our president, our Congress and General Dawes, the man chosen to lead us out of the Egypt of chaos and ruin, into the promised land of a new prosperity that will affect every home. The way to help is to do our little part. We must show and feel optimism; we must stop our hoarding money; we must send the crooks to jail but still have faith in the vast multitude of decent people who are obeying the Ten Commandments and who will help bring back good business and a good job for every man who wants it. We must quit talking about the other man "co-operating" and do some co-operating ourselves. Those of us who can spend for things we need, must spend if we want to keep on having money to spend. We must snap out of our own selfishness and get a broader outlook. The time has passed when we can save ourselves only. If the other man cannot succeed too, in time he will drag us down. It is the grandest time in the past 50 years to show the Golden Rule.

The means are at hand to get good times back. Literally and absolutely, it is up to the people of Northville and community to do its little part, just as we expect every other place to do its part.

Northville and the United States of America—"Let's go."

THE FUTURE OF NORTHVILLE

Perhaps one in business in Northville thinks more of the future of the town than does the person who has a home here but does not have to depend on the business success of the town for his prosperity. That is one reason why this writer has thought a good deal of what Northville will be in a business way as well as in other aspects, in ten years.

For your and our own encouragement, the outlook seems bright—provided Detroit comes out from the depression and holds its "place in the sun" which it seems almost sure to do, and further provided that we develop the leadership here to keep pace with suburban progress.

One specific piece of optimism for our community growth is found in a speech that Dr. David Friday, economist and former president of Michigan State college, made the other day at Detroit. Briefly, he said that home owners are going to look more and more to the suburban places for "gardens, more breathing space and more home ownership."

"We are going to build new homes and new communities five to 10 miles beyond the country club," predicted Dr. Friday. "Whatever you do, don't invest your money in downtown real estate. The coming boom will see the construction of shopping centers perhaps miles apart, favored because of available parking space."

That prediction means Northville's big chance. Here we are within an hour or less than an hour's drive from the heart of Detroit. That spells a wonderful chance for our community. Here we have an ideal home center. If we can match that with an ideal retail section then our residents are going to find real content here—and after all, content is the big thing in life for all of us.

The writer published a newspaper in a California suburban city of 5,000 people and was greatly impressed with the fine retail sections of the many suburban communities around Los Angeles. In spite of the keen competition of "L. A." which is comparable to that of Detroit with outlying sections, those little cities developed splendid stores with attractive stocks and a fine appeal to the shoppers. We sometimes think that it might do us good to have a good California booster come into our town and tell us how to develop a good business section in our suburban town. The average person has an ingrained sense of loyalty to his home town and will give it the first chance for his business. But he or she will not be content with inferior goods and service. If our business leadership sees its opportunity, there is every chance in the world for our retail section to grow better and more appealing. But we shall have to do the task ourselves. That is our big problem.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What is your plan to reduce taxes?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

LEAVE IT TO POSTERITY

(Grand Lodge Independent)

Alfred E. Smith, would be president of the United States, chief booze advocate of this country, etc., has made a statement of his way of ending the depression. He would bond the United States for five billions and sprinkle the money around. In other words he would take our troubles, multiply them by two or three and then leave them to our children to pay. That's certainly a noble way of disposing of present day difficulties. The right shinker will never fail for any such stuff.

BIG TOWN GOES TO LITTLE ONE

(St. John's Republican News)

Occasionally one hears people tell about the better bargains to be had in the nearby larger city or town. This is seldom true. The real reason for going far afield on shopping is a desire to get "something different" or a desire to explore a larger variety. A young Lansing business man Monday told us that he bought nearly all of his clothing in Moscow—a town of 2,500 south of Lansing. The merchant in a $75-a-month store can and does undersell those who are forced to pay from $500 to $1,000 in the larger cities. This was his explanation. The difference in high overhead costs can only be made up in the cost of the merchandise sold. This is a simple business fact that some people do not seem to understand.

A PRIEST IN PROTESTANT PULPIT

(La Grange, Ind. Standard)

A Catholic priest stood in the La Grange Methodist pulpit Sunday night and voiced the opinion that there is no reason why people of all denominations should not live and work together in harmony and peace.

This is a splendid sentiment and cannot be emphasized too much. In the olden times there were bloody wars over religion when certain rulers of people endeavored to force their religion on others. Now, it is the generally accepted idea that every group has a perfect right to worship as they please without transgressing any laws. The underlying purpose of all churches is to make men better citizens and better brothers. All can agree fully and work together toward this end, though there may be great variance in the manner of worship. That is entirely the business of the individual.

GET READY FOR A CUT, PRESIDENT RUTHVEN

(Walter Kennedy in Albion Evening Recorder)

President Ruthven, in his annual report to the Regents of the University of Michigan, is concerned over the possibility of a cut in appropriations for the university when the legislature next meets. He says: "The unscientific method of reducing the burden of taxation by reducing all budgets would be in reality, of course, only a false economy and is not defensible even as a temporary measure of relief. True economy would consist in an examination of operating expenses, results and relative values of the work of the several state departments and an allocation of the available funds on this basis."

If it is "unscientific" to reduce taxes by cutting down all budgets, we must be unsentimental. What the State of Michigan needs, possibly, is less science and more common sense. Common sense tells us we should cut taxes, and the best way to cut taxes is to reduce budgets. We fear the university budget should be cut with the others. We do not see eye to eye with President Ruthven when he says in his report:

"It is evident that the people of the state realize that education is the most important business of the commonwealth and that nothing short of bankruptcy will be allowed to interfere with the training of its youth. It is evident that everything must be sacrificed to education if our theory of government is correct, and it only lies with the school officials to administer their trust with honesty and wisdom."

Education is undoubtedly important, but not as important as some of those interested in administration of education believe. A more "important business of the commonwealth" right now, it seems to us, concerns the bodily welfare of a large part of our citizens. "Nothing short of bankruptcy will be allowed to interfere with the training of its youth," says the president. Maybe. But how short of bankruptcy are we? Should we continue spending money to train our youth with all the trills of modern education until bankruptcy arrives, or should we cut out some of the trills until we can afford to pay for them?

The taxpayers have not only cut out the trills of their own living, but even some of the essentials. The university, and our entire educational system, will be asked to take a cut, along with every other institution supported by taxes.

CHICAGO REAPS WHIRLWIND

(Emerson Gildart in Utica Sentinel)

Chicago, with forty billion dollars assessed valuation, is "busted." The Queen of the Lakes is asking the legislature for help. A year ago, Chicago, at odds with the state, talked of seceding and becoming a free city! Now how are the mighty fallen. That appeal of Mayor Cermack speaks volumes. If Cermack the utter breakdown of democracy in an American metropolis, and opens the door for martial law. Chicago took gang rule to her bosom. The spake warred and bit her. Now, with nothing to pay her police and teachers with, Chicago's greatest fear is anarchy. Solving to the wind promises its logical fulfillment in the Windy City.

WELL, WHY NOT?

The Northville Record printed the question, "What would happen to Northville if everyone was loyal to his own town in his purchases?" The answer is self-evident. The town's business would be materially improved, and at no particular sacrifice.

No one of us is guiltless of buying some things out of town. Some go for town for clothes; some for meat, some for groceries, some for shoes, and so forth, and so forth. At the same time, some have gone out of town to buy and have learned after that they could have gotten just as good service and just as good articles without leaving Caro. It has been said that Caro stores do not carry as large a selection of dresses, suits shoes and the other items, as do the city stores. That may be true, and yet that very fact is oftentimes the fault of those people who do their buying out of town.

If the merchants could do more business, at a fair profit, and could have a larger business, they could afford to carry larger stocks, and we have faith to believe that they would do so.

The next time you're tempted to buy out of town, won't you first give your own neighbors a chance to show their wares? You'll be pleasantly surprised many times, we have no doubt.

William P. Tristram Coffin has just written a book called the "Portrait of an American," which is about a New Englander of the finger type, well imbued with the old ancestral stock of an early day when the down eastern Yankees spent their good time making farms on a hilly ground and rocky area.

Thus the main character of the story, William Winslow, goes through the book singing, playing and working, wrestling a living from outworn lands and forests. Sowing and reaping his harvests, building a home, begetting children, and in his puritanical environment, finding life good.

An unvarnished account is given of Winslow's adventures in the Civil War, in which he enlisted as a boy. You learn about his reading Shakespeare in camp. You then follow him in his exploits and experiences as fisherman, then farmer, as head of a household. You see him as a lover of books and of nature. Also you find him the genial host of a lobster shop which he made famous as rendezvous for those who loved good food and intellectual talk.

A picturesque background is built up of his relations with his large and lusty family, friends and tenants.

This book which is written in an interesting and readable style has a finish high with color and there is much relish and zest in the fine achievement of William Winslow. The book has just come to the circulation department of our public library and should prove an excellent thing to read.

Taking the editor's place for a little while is one thing but "filling his shoes" to their extreme fullness is quite another thing. It takes more than just a little experience . . . and also work.

At that, it's easier to take over the responsibilities of the editor than to shoulder those of "Mrs. Editor." Her's is a difficult task. Most women would say the caring for three growing children and a husband who is here, there and everywhere like a whiff of wind, together with being a newspaper reporter is a job comparable to that of a woman in the pioneering days of old. But Mrs. Editor manages quite capably. How, I don't know but I suspect that it's on a basis of minimum leisure and maximum work.

Played handball ever at Ann Arbor last Thursday night and my arm still aches from the vim and vigor I put into swatting the ball. H. L. Newman, hairy-chested (I know more secrets about that guy!) football player, has developed a particularly lively competitive spirit.

What're you going to do with an ape who, when you have him on the short end of a 47-50 comes back and hits you in a 21-point game. Ain't he chagrined? Ask me.

Bob Lee, the big lunch man from the west, is having hard work keeping his name out of this column but we've got his number at last. It seems that on a munting trap last deer season Bob took a shot across a river at a fine, big buck, hit him and then tried to get across the river on a narrow log in nothing flat in order to get the deer before another hunter, who had shot at the same time, could claim him. Bob got halfway over before the law of gravity caught up with him and then—splash!

So help me Reginald this story is true and wild horses couldn't drag the name of my informant from me.

But here's the rest. Bob had a mile and a half to go to camp and with a couple of gallons of water inside of him and the rest of the river sloshing around in his boots and clothes, he couldn't carry the deer even if he wanted to.

So, someone is telling his friends about the big deer that he bagged right under another hunter's nose while Bob is frantically trying to keep the whole thing quiet. How're ya, Bob, old boy, old boy, o' boy.

Ah well, having done my weekly "Winchell," I guess I can pass on to less controversial topics.

Latest bulletin on the Cromwell-LeFevre golf feud.

Says Cromwell: "Listen stupid, I can lick you in a winter game of golf. I'll take you out right now when the ground is frozen and beat you by a dozen strokes."

LeFevre retorts: "Gwan, that's the only time they'll let you play around here—when the ground is frozen so hard that you can't dig big holes in the fairways."

We'll keep you in touch with the latest developments.

Alex Johnson, Northville's Ace Builder, just got a contract to erect a building for a fellow named McTavish.

"And can you imagine," Alex was saying the other day, "this Scotchman was telling me that I won't have to charge him for putting on a fire escape. It won't be necessary, he says, because this is Leap year."

This column started out all right but something has happened to it on the way down. The taste of that last paragraph was just terrible so I'd better just quietly fade away until next week. See you then.

AUTO KILLS HORSE ON SEVEN MILE RD.

A three year old colt was killed on the Seven Mile road just opposite of the School farm Monday night as a result of a collision with an automobile driven by John Brooks of Northville.

The horse was owned by Roy Dagenheart of Chicago and was being trained by Frederick Hoffman, owner of a stable in Northville, for saddle driving. The dead horse was the last in a string of three horses being led across the road by Leon Gagner on whose farm the horses were being pastured. Brooks claimed that as it was dark and Gagner did not have a lantern, he could not see the horse and crashed into it before he had time to stop.

The horse had been purchased from the Belleville Stock farm and was valued at $500.

W. C. T. S. TROOP WINS HONORS AT DETROIT

At an assembly of approximately 400 Detroit Metropolitan Boy Scout counselors which met Wednesday evening in the Detroit Leland hotel, Northville troop 1, the Wayne County Training school troop, received high honors and recognition. Out of 424 troops of the metropolitan district, only 26, of which the Northville troop is one, have developed ten or more first class Scouts during the past year. The Northville troop has also the distinction of being among the 15 troops out of 424 metropolitan troops which have earned 100 or more merit badges.

The Order of the Silver Beaver, a new honor created in Scouting circles, was conferred upon ten Detroit citizens for distinguished work in the interest of Boy Scouts.

Plymouth district, which includes Northville, Plymouth, Rossdale Gardens and Newburg, had a representation of 26 members at the banquet.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

BY MRS. EDITOR

FATHER'S LETTER

The day was dark and cloudy and our spirits matched the weather when we came to our desk at the office and there before us lay a letter. No mistaking that hand writing! A cross between script, printing and short hand—no other like it. A letter from Father.

The day was cloudy no longer. The sun burst out in our heart. This is a part of the letter which we read aloud to a friend who said, "Oh, print that! Its too good to keep."

Here it is: "It was a wonderful weather we're having! Have been digging in my garden this morning. Have it almost done. Will not know how I can get exercise when done. Would like to saw wood for widows if they had any wood—I like exercise that counts for something."

"Keep up your good work. Choose the best things and thoughts. Help others to learn the lessons these hard times teach us. Faith, love, industry and economy be devout, not sanctimonious, but cheerful, grateful and sincere. Be patient for a while, a good future is before us. Keep on smiling."

This from a father soon to reach his 80th milestone, who refuses to be an old man and by his cheerfulness and elastic step seems not a day over 70. To all of his children he is still the adored father whose judgment and constant love have guided us through motherless youth to maturity.

In childhood it was "Father" we called to at night when a distant thundering rumble like giant's hoofs coming of the chair by our bed looked like a black bear. It was father who took us to the woods often on Saturday afternoons and taught us to love a wild bird and all nature.

To love a certain wild bird sings the Golden text "we sat under a tree and learned while off at a quiet distance our father mused over the motto of his sermon."

In later youth it was to our father we ran to read aloud our school compositions. Once we found him in the barn and very patiently, he sat down with the pitch fork across his knees and with a correction and suggestion here and there he sent us spinning away down old Maple street on our "bike" with his commendation, "That's good, my little girl," ringing in our ears. With confidence we read it in class. Father had said it was "all right."

Long before the day of motor tours this ingenious father hitched up old "Major" to the two-seated surrey with a "gig" behind loaded with tent and provisions and took four children down to southern Indiana to the scenes of his boyhood.

We were a funny looking procession but father laughingly said, "Do the thing that seems right to you and don't mind what folks say." That trip which seemed to us like going to South America was one of the outstanding memories of our life.

To all the modern changes Father adapts his life with broad minded tolerance, not referring to "the good old days." He believes the present is best.

Refusing to be "laid on the shelf," he frequently ministers to the sorrowing and only recently completed a two-year term as Chaplain of the Michigan Soldier's Home. Now in his little home in Albion, where he was once a college boy, he is reaping the rewards of well-spent years and, as he says in his letter, is doing the things he never had time for in the past.

Now and then his great fatherly heart cues out, "I only regret that I can't leave something to my children." Leave something? What more could father leave than a "good name, rather to be chosen than great riches and a wonderful example."

The women who heard the talk on Food Budgets given at the recent meeting of the F. T. A. were interested in the outline and several have asked for the figures. A workable budget which feeds a family of five for $6.90 is divided as follows:

Milk and cheese. $1.94
Cereals. $1.17

Vegetables and Fruits. $1.41
Meats, eggs and fish. $1.07
Fats, sugar, etc. $1.20

Dr. Sherman's advice for spending the money by fifths was used as a basis. He suggests spending the food dollar in the following manner: one fifth for milk and cheese, one fifth for meats, fish and eggs, one fifth for bread and cereals and one fifth for fats, sugar and other groceries and food adjuncts.

L. A. Beal of Wayne was calling on Northville friends Saturday. He had many kind things to say of Northville and its people, and editorial accuracy and vanity prompt us to add that he said The Northville Record is, in his opinion, one of the outstanding country weeklies of Michigan. "You are getting out a remarkable paper," he said.

F. L. Snipes, superintendent of the Northville fish hatchery, who has charge of the federal hatcheries of Michigan, returned a few days ago from inspecting the plant at Charlevoix. He reports that there was a light "take" of white fish eggs, due to stormy weather at the time the fish were spawning. The catch of lake trout was better. Mr.
Snipes says that the northern part of the state has been having the same kind of mild weather that Northville has been enjoying. Inland lakes are open and the only snow encountered was at Gaylord.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WILL MAKE THEIR GRADUATION GOWNS

The mothers of the high school senior girls met in the sewing room of the school at the invitation of Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman, the instructor, Wednesday afternoon to discuss the problem of dresses for the "sweet girl graduates." It was the consensus of opinion that these gowns should be uniformly inexpensive and appropriate, dresses that might be worn throughout the remainder of the season. Gone is the day of the fussy graduation gown that is rolled up with the diploma and laid away in the bottom of the trunk.

Expressing the choice of their daughters, the mothers decided that white organdie or voile would be both practical and dainty and that the price should not exceed four dollars. Since the girls are to make these dresses themselves the cost will be small.

Wishing to encourage the girls in their thrift, the Woman's club has again offered prizes of $3 for the prettiest dress and $1 each for the next two. The sewing will be done in the class room under supervision of Mrs. Zimmerman.

R. H. Zimmerman, principal, was also present and presented information as to college requirements.

H. S. DEBATORS WIN
THREE OUT OF FOUR FORENSIC MEETS

Northville high school debaters are making a name for themselves by winning three out of four debates of a series. The "unsung heroes" who have upheld the honor of their school are Catherine Stalter, Wilma Rattenbury and Robert Cousins.

The debate held Friday, January 22 at Ypsilanti between Northville and Lincoln Consolidated determined whether Northville or the opposing team would remain in the series.
The question for debate was: Resolved, that the state of Michigan should enact a system of compulsory unemployment insurance. Northville upheld the affirmative.

The elimination series consists of the debate teams that have won three debates out of four. The teams that are represented in the series debate among themselves until two teams remain, these two then debate for state championship. Somewhat worth while award is given them for their fine efforts, usually a gold watch for each member.

The debates are one-hour in length consisting of eight minutes for constructive speeches and six minutes for rebuttal. The next school with whom Northville is to debate is not known as yet.

The schools with whom Northville has debated are Dearborn, Ypsilanti Central high school, Howell and Lincoln Consolidated. Northville won the last three. It might be added that Northville is well informed on its subject and the speakers are worth a lot to Northville high school. Hats off to the team!

ADVERTISED LETTERS

The annual Eastern Star ball will occur on the evening of Friday, February 19, when music will be furnished by the Ole Foersch orchestra. Mr. Foersch himself will direct this popular orchestra.

"Under Italian Skies," is the subject for the program of the Woman's club for February 5th, in charge of the music and art committees, when a treat is promised members who attend. Mrs. Helen Kiddier, head of the art department of the Birmingham school, who spent last summer in Italy visiting the leading galleries of that country so rich in art treasures, is to talk.
Musical talent from Madam Thomas' School of Music in Detroit is to be a feature of the program while other phases of Italian life will also be called to mind. A good attendance is desired.

NEW COMPOUND TO MEND RUBBER GOODS
SAYS SONNENBERG

The introduction of a new compound which now makes it possible to mend any tear in any piece of rubber goods, sponsored by L. V.
Sonnabend of the "Savase" Sales and Shoe Repair shop, will save Northville people money, declared
Mr. Sonnenberg.

The compound can be put on in a few minutes and will last as long as leather will, said Mr. Sonnenberg, and is used to mend auto and bicycle tires, hot water bottles, rubber boots, auto tops, leather goods, raincoats, leather coats, general auto use where rubber connections are desired, etc.

The cost of the compound is nominal, stated Mr. Sonnenberg, a quart can selling for $2.00, half pints for 75 cents. A half sole can be had for 55 cents, ladies' and children's shoes half sole for 45 cents.

Mr. Sonnenberg's place of business is located at 138 N. Center street where he states he will be glad to make a demonstration of the new compound to anyone who desires it.

NOTABLE STINSON
PLANES MADE HERE

The Stinson plane which carried Schitte and Brock in their married trip around the world was made while the Stinson plant was located here.

The "Gracie of Brunswick" that carried Paul Redfern on the way to South America and who was never heard from was also built here.

The plane which carried Ruth Eider on her attempt to fly the Atlantic was made here as was the one that Cramer used to open a new route to Europe. Cramer crashed Greenland in safety.

ship instead of his ignorance of piloting that caused his early crash-ups.

"Leaving Dayton, Eddie went to San Antonio, Tex. There he started his own flying school on the parade ground of Fort Sam Houston. Gen.
Foulous, now chief of the Army Air Corps, had charge of the field. He told Eddie he could not fly his plane while Army ships were in the air.

"Eddie had his own ideas about that, so located a field 15 miles away, now the San Antonio Municipal Airport. He decided to fly his ship to the new field instead of having it hauled there, as was done in those days, about 1912. So Eddie set out afoot with bunches of newspapers and weighted them down to serve as landmarks while he flew to the new field."

At 16 He Taught Army

Mr. Marz told how Eddie was the first man to come out of a tailspin alive.

"He knew the others got killed and when he first got into a spin he tried pushing and pulling the stick in various places until he finally pushed it forward as he neared the ground and got out of it. He climbed again and repeated the trick. He continued coming out of the tailspin every day until Gen.
Foulous learned of it. He wrote a letter to Washington telling about a young boy who was doing stunts.

How One Man
Lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkles of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man."

To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast.
For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drug store in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. C. R. Horton and all good druggists will be glad to supply you.

"Eddie was approached and said he was glad to teach the army fliers. But that they would have to come to his field because they refused to let him fly at Fort Sam Houston. The general was a good sport and he went over and his men got instructions from Eddie, then 16 years old.

"During the war Eddie tried to enlist in the flying corps but the examining doctors told him that he was suffering from tuberculosis. Eddie was determined and enlisted as a private and was sent to Kelly Field. There was no flying detachment there and as a private he taught officers how to fly."

FREQUENT advertisers in newspaper "Want Ad" look up an advertised house or product when they cannot telephone first for information or for an appointment.

Whether or not you have a house, a room, or a garage for rent, the telephone will prove useful daily in many social and business ways. And, in emergencies, it will summon doctor, firemen or police immediately, any hour of the day or night.

Of all the things you buy, probably none gives so much

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Some schools are fortunate enough to have a group of students who always show the real school spirit. They always put the honor of their school before personal glory. They are ever ready to strive to bring honor and glory to their school.

However, some schools are less fortunate. They have a certain few individuals who always put personal glory and honor before team or school glory and honor. Such individuals are very undesirable and invariably bring trouble and dishonor to any school or organization to which they belong. Are we in this class? We decidedly hope not!

In some schools when a person "quits" or "lies down" on the job, a job to which he has been assigned to bring honor to his school or talks disloyally between games, he is considered by some a hero—one who has done a wonderful thing. Is Northville in this class? We decidedly hope not!

Even the idea that anyone belonging to N. H. S. is so selfish and unkind enough to possess, that Northville high school may save as to throw down the school, is repulsive. Therefore, we should all unite and so combat any such conditions as our school may be her integrity and emerge entirely free from dishonor.

NORTHVILLE TO PLAY FOUR NEW CLASSES FOR THE SECOND SEMESTER

Coach Ruggles' hard fighting basketball team is to take on the Lincoln Park team here tonight. The boys have been looking forward to this game and they have better than any chance of winning. All of the team members are expected to be in the best condition and to battle their hardest. Even if they did not show more fight than at Wayne last Friday, it would be a game well worth seeing. However, the team took heart from its display of strength and cooperation last week and will appear with an entirely new front.

A large crowd is expected to turn out at the gymnasium when the teams start the conflict at 7:00 p. m. and there is no doubt that whether win or lose, they will all see Northville put up a good hard fight.

Next Friday, February 5, the Orange and Black plays Dearborn, here, and at the same hour. This, too, will be a very exciting game.

SENIOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TO SING IN PONTIAC

February 14 the Senior Girls' Glee club will sing in the First Methodist church, Pontiac, as a special feature for the Sunday evening service.

The news of the fine work done by this glee club has spread, and as a result this concert has been planned.

Mr. Lee, the director, is also trying to arrange for the club to broadcast over the "Happy Half Hour Service" Sunday evening over radio station WJR.

ASSEMBLY MEETING

The weekly assembly meeting was held on Wednesday. Mr. Amerman read a few announcements and then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Bray, who explained about Toxin Anti-Toxin. This treatment, which consists of three shots in the arm, is given out to the students to be taken home and signed by their parents.

Mr. Amerman then read the schedule for examinations. They were held from Tuesday until Thursday of this week. Ninety minutes was required to write each exam, and no one was excused before the ninety minute period was over.

This Friday afternoon will be reserved for registration purposes. Each student is urged to come to the school building and register for the second semester.

CARD OF THANKS

Members of the orchestra and their director, Mr. Lee, wish to publicly thank Mrs. Blake for assisting the orchestra when it played for the senior play.

Janne DeVault is a new kindergarten student. She comes from Minneapolis.

Tommy Wagner and Milo Bliss from the first graders are making seat work books and covering them. Mrs. Reng's second grade received the P. T. A. picture instead of Mrs. Congo's room as printed last week.

Miss Wilson's second grade have been studying Eskimo life and have made a large poster, showing icebergs, igloos, polar bears, etc. Harold Schoultz made a large Eskimo picture and Louis Babbitt, Constance Brennan and Julius Nagy brought books from home on Eskimo life.

These children have received a star in health inspection every month since September. Louie Babbitt, Philip Baldwin, Louis Herrick, Junior Hallas, Harold Schoultz, Earl Sessions, Constance Brennan, Dorothy Jane Congo, Helen Dixon, Mary Hallas, Margaret Morse, Shirley Musolf and Dorothy Van Valkenburg.

Lowrey Snipe has charge of the opening exercises for this week.

Jackie Holcomb, from Mrs. Congo's room has returned to school. He has been absent a week on account of illness.

The Wayne county library left the third grade 25 new books.

If you have been very observing you will notice that there has been a strange restlessness among the students in the Northville school. They are all walking to classes with very haggard countenances, dark circles under their eyes at times and at other times a strange light in their eyes as though they were expecting something. If you have been wondering just what it is all about, well it is—Semester Exams.

The semester exams started Tuesday, January 26. The whole week will be a nerve-racking one for everyone. Some of the students are going to be pleased at the results and some of them are going to be disappointed. The semester exams as a sort of summary of the first half of the school year's work. Some of the summaries will be short and not sweet, but we hope for the best. And then the poor hardworking students may rest in peace, ease and comfort until next June.

The boys' gym classes have been divided into basketball teams. Each has a captain and is known by the captain's name. Each team plays an equal number of games and the winners of each class meet some time later to determine the champion. The losers also do this.

In the second hour gym class there are three teams: Racz, Baldwin and McLoughlin. There are nine games to be played and so far six have been played. The score stands as follows:

Racz, won 2, lost 2.

Baldwin, won 3, lost 1.

McLoughlin, won 1, lost 3.

In the third hour class the schedule is arranged a little differently. There are eight teams in this class and so it would take quite a long time to play as the second hour class does. The teams are Turnbull, Larkin, Corey, Strautz, Nirder, Christenson and Westphall.

The first round is played by Turnbull vs Larkin, Corey vs Strautz, Nirder vs Christenson, and Bon-giovanni vs Westphall, eliminating four of the teams and playing the second round with Turnbull vs Corey and Nirder vs Westphall, eliminating two more teams and playing the third round with Corey vs Nirder, with the outcome yet in doubt.

Then the losers play off with Larkin vs Strautz and Christenson vs Bongiovanni, eliminating two and playing the second round with Larkin vs Bongiovanni with the outcome yet in doubt.

The fourth hour gym class is run the same as the second and there are four teams: Marburger, Porter, Lanning and Hartner. There are twelve games to be played and seven have been played.

WAYNE DEFEATS NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

The Orange and Black variety quintet went down before Wayne last Friday on unfamiliar floor.

Wayne defeated Northville 34 to 17. The second team also broke their winning streak and lost 16 to 17.

The "Crashy" boys had the bad breaks all through the game and it seemed as if they were sure to lose. Wayne's defense was very effective.

Wayne's offense was very effective. They scored three points besides two long shots. Our pass was also noticeably improved, being more plentiful and accurate.

The boys with the orange and black suits continued their noble play into the last period, but it was not so effective. Wayne's shooting was continuously accurate compared to ours; and their players seemed to understand each other perfectly. Northville also continued their rough tactics and all this resulted in Wayne going way into the lead.

Northville, in this fourth period, only scored four points although the boys never for a minute relaxed their vigorous spirited fighting. The final score being 34-17.

It was in the second quarter that Wayne proved herself the superior team. Northville had more than her share of bad breaks. The result of the second team game came as a surprise, only to the players but everyone else as well. We thought that they had lost. Wayne won. The Wayne second team was unusually light and easily dribbled under our boys. Both teams had "goo" team work and put up a snappy fight. The score was 16-12 in favor of Wayne.

First team line-up: Northville: Dusenbury, RF; Larkin, LF; Robinson, C; Beach, LG; Dickinson, RG. Wayne: Glover, RF; Williams, LF; Fiddis, C; Green, LG; Lawler, RG.

Substitutions: for Northville: Campbell for Hoffman, Westphall for Beach, Porter for Wayne, Hodges, Siebul for Marburger, Reiser for Lucas.

Second team line-up: Northville: Kerr, RF; Lemmon, LF; Ware, C; Kohler, LG; Thompson, RG. Wayne: Glover, RF; Williams, LF; Fiddis, C; Green, LG; Lawler, RG.

Substitutions: for Northville: Deal for Kerr, Bender for Kohler, Kerr for Deal, Marburger for Kerr, Reiser for Deal, Williams for Evans for Green, Shoal for Lawler, Lawler for Glover.

Wayne's fine team work, giving her a snappy offense plus Northville's hard tick and very inaccurate shooting resulted very disastrously for the Orange and Black. Although we opened the scoring with another foul shot by Don Robinson, who handled himself very neatly throughout the game, Wayne scored. Something must be said of the remarkable battle that Northville put up. Everyone was fighting and it is only fair to say that the team did not lack spirit. But even this could not stop Wayne. The half ended 19 to 5 with the unlucky team in the little end of the hole.

Northville opened the second half with a basket right at the tip off. Our defense was considerably better this half and held Wayne to one point in the third quarter although she scored 14 in the fourth. Our offense and team work were apparently better after Coach Ruggles' pep talk at the half. In the third quarter on three fouls Northville scored three points besides two long shots. Our pass was also noticeably improved, being more plentiful and accurate.

HUDSON

BREAKS WITH THE PAST

and gives you in these new cars

A PRE-VIEW OF THE FUTURE!

A word nobly to thrill the spirit and to quicken the pulse—PACEMAKER!

A car richly to deserve the word—the 1932 HUDSON Eight!

BEAUTY—defined in the longer, lower, sweeping "speeds and streams" inspired by the airplane's grace:

FINISH—gem-like clarity and brilliance of color complementing interiors in pastel tones—for the first time artistic unity in the automobile:

CHARACTER—an ingenuity of engineering design and an integrity of materials and construction to justify the industry's admonition: "Watch Hudson!"

POWER—flowing in steadiness and quiet, 101 full horsepower at 3600 r. p. m., from the most able high-speed, high-compression eight on the road today:

PROGRESS—a veritable wealth of equipment innovations of astonishing convenience, and not to be expected on other cars for months to come:

VALUE—to the eye and by demonstration, literally by hundreds of dollars the most motor car for the money that you can buy.

You are not asked unreservedly to accept this estimate of the new Hudson. Indeed, we prefer that you do not, until you have seen and examined with care the cars themselves. When you have done that, you will understand why, with proud confidence, we wish these cars to make their own impression. You will be welcome in any Hudson showroom, whether you intend purchasing a motor car at this time or in time to come.
