C. A. PONSFORD PASSES AWAY ON WEDNESDAY

Prominent Citizen Loses A Valiant Fight Against Pneumonia

Northville has just lost one of her best citizens. It was with genuine sorrow that our village learned of the death of C. A. Ponsford, for 24 years one of her leading merchants, which occurred at the Atchison hospital Wednesday morning, February 10, following a long battle with pneumonia. Mr. Ponsford had suffered a previous illness for a year and with his customary faithfulness to duty had returned to his place of business and pneumonia resulted. He was taken to Atchison hospital on February 2 where the skill of specialists could not save his life.

Chas. A. Ponsford was born in Flint, Michigan, December 3, 1876. In June, 1908 he was married to Miss Julia Ballantyne and to them were born two daughters, Gayle, who died in infancy, and Beth, now Mrs. Morris Lapham, of Detroit.

After a few years in business in Yale, Michigan, Mr. Ponsford came to Northville in 1910 where he purchased the dry goods store of J. J. Perkins which he has continued to run successfully since. Both he and Mrs. Ponsford entered into the community life of Northville. In 1921 they moved to the present country home on the Six Mile Road. On Christmas eve, 1922 this happy home was broken when Mrs. Ponsford passed away and in the years following, the daughter and father have been close companions. Entering sympathetically into the life of his daughter, Mr. Ponsford was heard to say recently that one of the happy periods of his life was his daughter's college days which he followed with such interest that he was up to the time of his death, the president of the "Dad's Club" of the Chr. Omega sorority of which Beth was a member in Hillsdale College.

Mr. Ponsford was a member of the Presbyterian church and a member of the Masonic order. He was active for years in the Exchange club of which he was the fifth president for four years he served well on the local Board of Education when it is said of him by a fellow member, Chas. A. Dolph, "He was a man who had constructive ideas to bring to every problem and with whom you could always work at your best."

Another active interest of Mr. Ponsford was the Northville Wayne County fair which he served as a member of the association since its beginning fourteen years ago. N. C. Schrader, president of the association, makes the statement that, "Chas. A. Ponsford was one of the best members of the board, who was always to be depended upon and who cooperated harmoniously."

For a number of years he was a director of the Lapham State Savings bank. Associated with him for this long period, Edward H. Lapham pays this tribute to Mr. Ponsford: "A gentleman of unusual ability and utmost integrity, always glad to give of his time and means to our community. A loyal friend who will be greatly missed."

"I never met a competitor who was so friendly and so fair," says a fellow merchant here. Of him one of the younger business men of Northville says, "He was one of my best friends, my advisor, and his council was always wise. He was always willing to help the other fellow."

"A four-square man," a thorough gentleman at all times, "generous, yet hiding his generosity," these are some of the tributes paid to a life not fully appreciated except by those who knew him best. To one friend he said shortly before his last illness, "I'm sorry for Northville. I wish so much I could help." There is little doubt in the hearts of his friends that this anxiety over present conditions was a strong factor in his failing health.

Undertaking his own merits, Mr. Ponsford once said to a press representative, "Don't commend things to do now—human nature is so frail. I'm like a tight-rope walker. I might fall before I cross safely. Wait until I'm gone before you praise me."

As evidence of the general high regard in which Mr. Ponsford was held, the business pieces will be closed on Saturday morning from 10:30 until 11:30 during the time of the funeral services which will be held at the Presbyterian church. Interment will be made in the family lot in Flint.

LOVED BY ALL

Chas. A. Ponsford was for 22 years a merchant in Northville. He was respected by all who came in contact with him and his death is a severe loss to this community.

FEB. 12 CONCERT TO BE BIG TREAT

Lincoln's birthday will serve as a fitting day on which to hold the long-anticipated band concert of the Northville High School and Community band. The gymnasium of the high school will reverberate to the music of 50 musicians, and in the hopes of band leader Edwin Head and business manager Fred W. Lyke are realized this concert will be the best of the season.

There are many new players. Some of them are tiny youngsters who will be worth listening to. Also, Pierre Kenyon will sing some well known songs such as the "London-derry Air" and Mrs. Harry Blake will play her violin.

The program for the concert has been completed. There will be several additions to the band's repertoire besides a few vocal selections which will add even greater attraction to the concert.

- Every citizen of Northville is urged to attend this concert and to support the "home talent" which has succeeded in winning two Detroit Metropolitan championships.
- The following is the complete program of the concert:
1. March, "Viscount Nelson"—Helen Ruse.
 2. Overture, "In Sunnyland"—Ruse.
 3. Spanish Overture, "La Sorolla"—Dor Pedro.
 4. Solo, "The Hills of Home"—Fox.
 5. "Just For Today"—Blanche Hart Weaver, by Pierre M. Kenyon.
 6. Violin Solo, "London-derry Air"—Old Irish, by Cecil Head.
 7. March, "Old Comrades"—Theke.
 8. Love Song from "Day in Venice Suite"—Nevin.
 9. Patrol, "American Patrol"—Meecham.

Northville Physicians Rally To Need of School Children By Giving Free Surgical Service

Nearly 50 Northville youngsters are happily rid of obnoxious tonsils and adenoids and are started on the high road toward perfect health through the generous cooperation of our local physicians.

This fine piece of community work was born in the big hearts of two of our physicians who, in turn, proposed it to the other members of the "medical fraternity" in town. Meeting together one Sunday morning recently in the office of Dr. Anderson, these men, Dr. Snow, Dr. Hancock, Dr. Holcomb, Drs. H. I. and Irene Spaulding and Dr. Johnson, all agreed that no Northville child should go through youth with the handicap of bad tonsils and all their attendant ills through lack of financial means during this time of stress.

Working through the public school with the assistance of the school nurse, Mrs. Florence Bray, and Mrs. Martha Ray, nearly 50 children were segregated who needed this operation and whose parents right now were unable to pay for it. Since then, from time to time, cases have been brought to either the Atchison or Sessions hospital where they have been cared for.

Last Friday was the busiest day in Sessions hospital when 17 of these youngsters were brought for tonsillectomy "en masse."

Every local physician was present. In white surgical gowns and with sleeves rolled up these medical men toiled "like Trojans" from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., averaging four cases in an hour. Two operating

DEPOSITORS ELECT NEW COMMITTEE

Action Deferred on Bank Plan Until Meeting Feb. 23

Circumstances surrounding the attempted establishment of a bank at Northville took a new and unexpected turn Tuesday afternoon at the second meeting of the depositors of Northville, two closed banks held at the Presbyterian church house here when the depositors' committee composed of James Smith, Bay Richardson, John Kalb, Lewis Vradenburg and Thad Knapp handed in its resignation. This action followed the motion put forward by some of the depositors that movement be deferred on the plan to open a new bank until a full investigation regarding the feasibility of reopening the two closed banks had been made.

Judge Arthur J. Lacy, bank expert who has been cooperating with Northville depositors and stockholders in the effort to establish a bank here, expressed regret that the committee in which the people have full confidence and which has already done such fine work should see fit to resign.

A new committee composed of the following members: Ralph Horton, Chas. Hamilton, John A. Boyce, Oliver Goldsmith, and Richard T. Baldwin was elected to replace the first committee.

The meeting was opened by Eugene Smith, chairman of the first depositors' committee who reviewed the work accomplished and then turned the meeting over to Judge Lacy.

Judge Lacy explained in detail to the depositors the plan which the first depositors' committee had decided to adopt—the establishment of a new bank, capitalized for $50,000, of which $40,000 was to be subscribed for in capital stock and $10,000 as surplus.

The stock was to be sold in shares, declared Judge Lacy, the par value of each share to be $20 capital stock and $5 to be used as surplus. It was expected, he said, that a cash dividend of approximately $135,000 or 10 per cent of the total deposits of the two closed banks, the Northville State Savings bank and the Lapham Savings bank, would be declared as soon as possible. With merchants and business men of Northville subscribing for approximately $25,000 worth of stock in the new bank, he asserted, depositors of the closed banks whose total net claims totaled $250 or more would be asked to purchase with half of their first dividend only, enough stock in the new bank to make up the remaining $25,000.

No depositor, he affirmed, with a claim of under $250 would be asked to contribute to the stock subscription unless, he added, the depositor wanted to buy the stock. It is entirely a voluntary matter, he emphasized.

Lincoln Writes Old Friend

Northville comes close to a relationship with Abraham Lincoln through the death of H. H. Turham, of South Wing street, whose grandfather, David Turham, loaned the Great Emancipator the first law book he ever studied. This book was the Revised Statutes of Indiana.

David Turham, now sixteen years from Lincoln, was both a longer young man. "I suppose you are a grandfather, and a though married much later in life, have a son nearly grown." "I would much like to visit the old home and old friends of my boyhood, but I fear the chance of doing so soon is not very good." "Your friend and well-wisher," "A. Lincoln."

Springfield, Ill. Oct. 23, 1860 David Turham, Esq.

"My Dear Old Friend: Your kind letter of the 17th is received. I am indeed very glad to hear you are still living and well. I well remember when you and I last met, after a separation of fourteen years at the cross road voting place, in the fall of 1844. It is now sixteen years from Lincoln, and we are both no longer young men.

EXCHANGE CLUB PAYS HONOR TO CHAS. A. PONSFORD

High tribute was paid to Chas. A. Ponsford, whose death this week shocked Northville, at the Wednesday evening of the Exchange club, of which the deceased had been a past president. Members were very full of confidence and which has already done such fine work should see fit to resign.

The meeting was opened by Eugene Smith, chairman of the first depositors' committee who reviewed the work accomplished and then turned the meeting over to Judge Lacy.

Judge Lacy explained in detail to the depositors the plan which the first depositors' committee had decided to adopt—the establishment of a new bank, capitalized for $50,000, of which $40,000 was to be subscribed for in capital stock and $10,000 as surplus.

The stock was to be sold in shares, declared Judge Lacy, the par value of each share to be $20 capital stock and $5 to be used as surplus. MORATORIUM PLAN KEEPS FARMINGTON BANK DOORS OPEN

The doors of the People's State bank at Farmington will remain open under a moratorium plan unanimously agreed upon at a joint meeting of depositors and stockholders held last week.

Under the plan adopted mutual concessions were made "to conserve the assets of the bank and prevent a forced liquidation under receivership."

Judge Arthur J. Lacy and former State Senator Clarence E. Gutins were sponsors of the plan.

CHIROPODIST WILL HOLD CLINIC HERE

Northville is to have a foot specialist. Once a week, beginning Wednesday, February 17, Dr. Ralph E. Fowler of Detroit will give clinical service in John McCully's shoe store. Consultation in regard to "bad feet" will be given free of charge. Office hours will be from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. every Wednesday. Free clinical service will be given the police forces of Northville and Edgemont.

In conjunction with Dr. Fowler's work Mr. McCully will carry a complete line of health shoes.

SCHOOL SEATS EMPTY, PUPILS NURSE COLDS

Winter is reaping her harvest of illness. It seems there is most in evidence in our public schools where prevailing colds are causing the largest number of absences there have been for years, according to the school nurse, Mrs. Florence Bray. On Wednesday she reported at least 30 or 40 absent pupils from the whole school. In one room, it is said that two rows of seats are vacant. Colds, this winter are taking a peculiar form, says Mrs. Bray. Throat affections seem to be most prevalent. So far there are no serious cases and she warns parents to watch closely for early symptoms and keep children in bed who have severe colds. Keep the children's feet dry and be careful to dress according to varying temperatures of weather.

FIRST COMMITTEE OFFERS ITS AID TO NEW COMMITTEE

Northville, Mich., Feb. 10, 1932 To the New Depositors' Committee: In our desire to see that your committee has every facility to accomplish the best possible results in your work, the former committee hereby offers you any or all information or records in its hands if and when you wish to request such aid.

FIRST DEPOSITORS' COMMITTEE, By Elmer L. Smith, Chairman.

Henry Schnute of Monroe was here over Friday night to attend the Father and Son banquet at the St. Paul's Lutheran church and for a visit at the home of his son, Arthur Schnute.

NORTHVILLE CHARITY SHOW CLEARS $300

McLeod Knocks Out Felton in Third Round of the Main Bout

Approximately $300 was cleared on the boxing show held Tuesday night at the Zimmer garage by the Northville welfare association. The money will be distributed to Northville charity organizations, members of the association stated, on an equitable basis to be decided upon by a committee which will be appointed soon.

Extensively advertised, the show was a huge success and was well attended by fight fans from Dearborn, Detroit, Plymouth and neighboring villages while the Northville contingent of ring followers turned out almost in a body.

The feature of the show was the scheduled six round bout between Don McLeod, Northville lightweight, and Eddie Felton, of Chicago, who substituted for Woody Davis. McLeod knocked Felton out in the third round with a series of lefts and rights that bewildered the colored lad and caused him to fall forward, a sign that he was badly hurt, as fighters usually fall backward or to the side. Felton took the count after a strenuous attempt to get back on his feet. "Slim" McLeod, prominent referee, gave McLeod a lesson in going to a neutral corner following a knockdown by stating the count over after one, having reached "eight." Even with the fatal onslaught, Felton was too badly whipped to continue.

McLeod came out from his corner in the first round with the obvious intention of knocking Felton out in as short a time as possible. He left himself open, by the intensity of his effort, to several stiff left jabs but in the second he scouted and punished his dusky opponent severely with body smashes and right crosses to the jaw. Shortly after the opening of the third he connected with a solid right to the jaw and then waded in with lefts and rights that finally proved to be the undoing of Felton. The boys fought at 135 pounds.

Pavy Harris, of Detroit, was knocked for a loop in the seventh round of a scheduled eight round bout with Jack Horton. It was the latter's 15th straight knockout and the colored boy showed plenty of spirit although the crowd disapproved of his chugging and butting tactics. Horton took the first two put him down for a nine count. The subsequent rounds went to Horton although the long, lanky fellow valiantly to stem the tide. A power left that started from somewhere in China finished the fight in the seventh. The boys were light-heavyweights.

Young Reilly, another Northville lightweight, suffered a technical knockout in the third round of his fourth round battle with Al Patterson, of Detroit, a youngster who knows his ring lore well.

Reilly made the mistake of coming into the ring in poor condition and then trying for a knockout in the first round. What Patterson did to him was plenty and it was stopped by "Doc" Casey in the third.

"Red" Cassing's last round struggle for the aggressive Johnny Clark and although the latter scored a knockdown in the last round of their four round bout, if a decision had been given it undoubtedly would have gone to Cassing. Clark weighed 122 and Cassing 126.

P. T. A. WILL HONOR GEORGE WASHINGTON

In honor of George Washington, whose bicentennial we celebrate this year, the Parent-Teachers' Association is offering a particularly interesting program Thursday, February 18, at 8 p. m. in the high school assembly room.

Under the direction of the two high school instructors, Mrs. Wright and Miss McDowell, "Paints and Props," the dramatic club is presenting two one-act George Washington plays in costume. There will also be appropriate colonial music between the plays.

Not only will we pay tribute to our beloved Washington, but the fires of our national pride will be stirred and our acquaintance with some highly important early American ideals will be renewed.

Let's all be there Thursday, February 18, at 8 p. m. in the high school assembly room. There will be no charge for admission.

ANNUAL BALL OF O. E. S. ON FEB. 19

As in years past, the Eastern Star annual ball promises to be one of the high spots in the social affairs of Northville. The date is Friday evening, February 19.

Those in charge of the music feel very fortunate to have been able to secure the services of Ole Forch who will bring an orchestra of six pieces, taken from the "Ozanders," a unit of the Detroit News broadcasting organization.

Novel decorations are being planned by the committee in charge, and will be something entirely new and beautiful.

As usual, the dancers and spectators will be served a light lunch during the evening. In keeping with the times, this will not be a formal dress affair and the bill has also been cut in order that all who enjoy a party of this sort may be free to attend.

PUBLIC SHOWS GENEROSITY IN FOOD BARRELS

Whoever conceived the barrel idea among the Kings' Daughters was very far-sighted for it is working out beyond the fondest hopes of these women. Each merchant cooperating with ready consent and now and then gently hints to a generous-looking customer that "there's a barrel handy to drop in an extra article for someone in need." No need to say that there are plenty of places to carry these supplies and Mrs. W. H. Safford, chairman of the visiting committee, is glad to accept offers from other members to help take these supplies to the homes with which she keeps in touch.

Some of the merchants say their barrels have been emptied a number of times and like the proverbial "widow's oil and meal" still have something in their Only the other day a Ram Cress deliveryman dropped in a good supply of fresh buns. Sacks of flour, canned goods, bread, vegetables and all kinds of things to feel hungry folks find their way quietly into these barrels and many a customer leaves the store with a warmer feeling around his heart.

RELIGIOUS LEADER IS FATHER-SON SPEAKER

The Reverend Marshall B. Reed of Ypsilanti is the speaker at the Father and Son banquet next Wednesday evening, February 17, at the Methodist church house.

Dr. Reed, pastor of the Methodist church of Ypsilanti is one of the young ministers of today rapidly taking his place as an outstanding leader. He is a graduate of Algonquin college, and of the Theological Seminary of Evanston, Ill.

He is a member of the Board of Trustees of Northwestern University, and a delegate to the Methodist general conference which meets at Atlantic City next May.

The subject of Dr. Reed's address will be "A Triple Threat," a theme which will interest the boys and foot ball fans.

Tickets for the banquet will be 50 cents each. The Ladies Aid may make ample provision for those desiring to attend, the tickets should be bought or reserved as far as possible before next Wednesday, the earlier the better. Tickets will be on sale at the Record office, at Orlow Owen's store and at the homes of the several pastors of Northville.

Dr. J. Harold Todd will give a toast to the sons and Eidon Sery will respond to this toast in behalf of the sons. A program of music is being prepared.

Dr. A. B. Wickham of the Eastlawn sanatorium will act as toastmaster.

DAY OF PRAYER

The World Day of Prayer will be observed by the women of the community at the public library this afternoon (Friday) when a program which should be full of interest to all will be carried out under direction of the three ministers' wives, Mrs. E. G. Whitfield, Mrs. F. N. Miner and Mrs. W. Roscoe Barbour. At the meeting a special offering for missions will be taken.

The Eastlawn sanatorium is filled with patients.

STOCKHOLDERS ASKED TO PAY 100 PER CENT

Court Order Affects The Northville State Savings Bank

An assessment of one hundred per cent has been levied against the stockholders of the Northville State Savings bank. The bank is capitalized at $75,000, hence this action calls for the adding of this amount to the assets of the bank. In accordance with the state banking law and by petition of the receiver of the bank, Sidney M. Liddell, an order was issued in circuit court at Detroit Friday, February 5, giving the stockholders an opportunity to appear in court and show cause why the stock assessment should not be levied at this time. Friday, February 10, at Detroit, was set as the date for the stockholders to appear, should they so desire.

The par value of the stock is one hundred dollars per share and the law requires that another one hundred dollars be paid for each and every share in the case of closed banks, whenever called for by the proper authorities.

The total assets on the books of the bank are $308,287.48 and the liabilities $492,508.28, not including the stock assessment, which is now being asked.

The bank has been closed since September 14, 1931.

CITIZEN PRAISES BANK COMMITTEE

Editor Northville Record: I am asking a little space in your paper for this letter. I wish personally to thank publicly the depositors' committee that has been working so faithfully on the plan to organize a new bank in Northville. I know they have given a large amount of time to it and as a depositor and as a citizen of this community I think we owe them a debt of gratitude for what they have done. We all know that they tried not only to help the depositors but the stockholders as well.

Their plan had the approval of the state banking department Judge Arthur Lacy, the former state banking commissioner, Hugh McPheerson and Attorney General Papp Voorhes. It meant that if it had been approved at the depositors' meeting Tuesday we could have had a new bank in Northville within a short time.

I was amazed to think that the depositors of these two banks who gave so much at stake would let an outsider who is not a depositor of either bank or even a resident of Northville, come in and make a motion to lay the plan on the table for two weeks. In fact I do not think this would have been done if the depositors had known that the one who did so much talking against the plan was in no way personally interested.

It is too bad it had to turn out as it did. The old committee worked day after day on it and gave their time and paid their own expenses and I think they should have been given more consideration at the meeting. I wish to thank them personally again for all they did.

Respectfully,
Jewett R. Cranson.

JOHN J. SCHULTE TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

John J. Schulte, Jr., who is connected with the municipal court at Farmington, has this week announced his candidacy for Congress in the newly formed 17th congressional district. Northville is included in this district since the recent reapportionment. Plymouth, Livonia township, Redford township and the 22nd ward of Detroit are also included in this district.

Mr. Schulte has issued a platform of nine plans of which the most important is that he stands for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

ROTARIANS HEAR BANK DISCUSSED

Bank plans had the limelight at the Monday luncheon of the Rotary club and some interesting talks were given. In the absence of Father Jos. G. Schuler, president, Prof. Percy Angove presided.

The speakers were E. L. Mills of the bank committee, Elmer L. Smith, chairman of the first depositors' committee, Supt. Thad J. Knapp, Oliver Goldsmith of Plymouth and Chas. E. Rogers of Northville. Among the guests were: R. E. Flynn of Detroit, Oliver Goldsmith of Plymouth, Frank and Reeman Samulton, Frank Durfee, John Schoulitz, Carl Schoulitz and Chas. E. Rogers.

Wednesday afternoon and night Northville and vicinity were blanketed by a "pea-soup" fog that caused much hardship to motorists.

SLEEP—AND LOTS OF IT

This writer, for a number of months, has been taking from the bank of his physical and mental energies more than he has been depositing so he faced an overdraft. That is poor business so he has had the good sense to start building up the account. And is doing it in just about the way that some of you folks, who think the world hangs on your shoulders, should do. This fashion: By being in bed (sleeping most of the time) for ten hours every night.

Well it seems "kinda funny" to tuck ourselves in "with the chickens" but the plain fact is that we go off into a regular Rip Van Winkle daze, dream pleasant dreams and wake up with that vacation languid feeling of "Let the World Go by." And the old physical bank account looks better and we feel ready to join the war against Japan. Ever try the sleep plan? You might live longer if you try it.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

Well, Al Smith is out with his statement about running for the Democratic nomination for president. It looks as though he were coyly receptive. He is smart enough to realize that it is pretty generally felt that he had his chance in 1928 and that he won't be given a second one. But that someone else who can unite the party will be picked. If we were prophesying, we should say that he had very little chance of being nominated. As for Roosevelt, we are just wondering where he is going to get that two-thirds majority that is necessary for the nomination. We have a little doubt that he can get that many—especially if the Tammany crowd of New York opposes the governor. A lot of good Democrats think it will pay to keep an eagle eye on Newton D. Baker. In the meantime the stock of President Hoover is going up and it seems to us right now that he has just as good a chance of being elected as of being defeated next fall.

IN THE MORNING MAIL

The morning mail of a country editor usually consists of several letters of propaganda (that land pronto in the waste basket), a bill or two or three, a check in the sun, shines, may be a couple of them and some personal letters.

This morning (Tuesday) we get two personal letters that draw a tear or two and soften us towards our fellow-men. A newspaper worker—and a good one—writes to tell of his troubles and to know if we will help him get a job. Well we just wish we could. Then out of the heart of another friend comes this personal paragraph:

"Am not so sure but that from out of these times of national depression will come a more sensible and wholesome community and family life. Hardship and fire burn up the chaff and make solid values recognized as they are not in times of booming and prosperity. Someone wrote recently that for the boys and girls in their teens there is no period of depression—they are looking toward the future and will soon be jolting all of us adults out of the kinks with their enthusiasm and progress."

Well that one paragraph gives us the courage and hope to go into the new day.

CHEATING IN SCHOOL

"Well, I didn't get as good marks as —," said a Northville high school student, "but I didn't cheat to get the marks that I did get."

In every town in which we have lived we hear from the "kids" about the cheating that goes on, especially at examination time. It always makes us feel badly, because no one can build a really successful life on a foundation of deceit or trickery. And after all, the student who cheats in school in the long run robs no one but himself.

We just wonder what influences make students attempt to cheat. Has the home anything to do with it? Or is it just natural for some boys and girls to be dishonest at "exam" time?

It reminds us of a true story we heard the other day about a man in another city. A father was greatly disturbed because his boy had proven to be an incorrigible liar in school and being hopeless, had been expelled. So the man took his son to his private room to talk it all over and find a way out. "Now my boy," he said, in effect, "don't you see how you have disgraced me and our whole family in this terrible way. What makes you lie so? Don't you know that I never tell a lie and that I pride myself on always telling the truth?"

"Yes, Dad," replied the school liar, "I know people say they can count on you always to tell the truth but I was just wondering if you remember the time that you took me with you on the train to California and you told the ticket man that I was only five years old, when you knew I was seven."

Cheating in school is contemptible business, the same as short-weighting by the grocer is mean stuff but we just wonder how much the honesty-atmosphere of the home has to do with the cheating in the Northville schools. Has anyone any idea about it?

A RESERVE AGAINST DEPRESSION

How shall we get ready for the next depression? It is sure to come—in seven years, ten years or something like that, no one knows just when. But come it will, for that is the law of our economic and business life in this great United States of America.

It does seem, after studying the many hundreds of cases all around us, of people who have lost their all, or who have taken very heavy losses, that there should be some way to prevent these terrific losses.

How would it be if more families had some land against the next "hard times"? One thing is sure about the farmer, in all these days of depression, he never has to worry about freezing or starving to death, whereas there are literally thousands in the congested cities who come near the border line. If one had a piece of land for his family, say a few acres, he would be surprised with what peace of mind he could look the next depression in the face. Right around Northville are some wonderful chances to get "little farms" that would be a benefit in more ways than one.

Here's another way to avoid getting hit when the next wallop of no work and all that comes around, as come it will before 1940 or thereabouts. Don't go too heavily in debt. You can't go bankrupt if you don't owe anything. It's all right to go in debt for that is often the way one gets a home, a car or a business—good business men go in debt. But if you want to be ready for the next rough seas (and this is good advice for the next few years of good times that are about to arrive, they say) have some reserve that you can fall back on. In spite of closed banks we should still say: Have some money in the bank. Northville went for one hundred years before without the bank closings we have had and when we get on our feet again we may go for another hundred without banks quitting. In fact we may get a national plan of bank insurance that will avoid bank closings entirely. Certainly money in the bank is a lot better than money invested in vacant lots, in doubtful stocks and shall we say also in the old sock or under a mattress?

Another reserve we should suggest would be life insurance. Here is not only protection for your family, but here is the chance to borrow from yourself to tide yourself over rough seas. We know literally of a dozen cases where men have been kept from business failure and personal wreckage by reason of the fact that they had enough life insurance from which to borrow.

We are now coming slowly out of the depression. It has hit us where we live—every last one of us. If we are "smart" we shall be wise enough to look back and gain some lessons from the depression. We were all deflated—well, let's say they won't have such a big chance next time to deflate us. Let's admit our mistakes and get ready for the good days ahead—and then for the not-so-good days that will be coming along in the next ten years.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Honest now, how do you behave at home?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WHY THEY LIKE GREEN

(M. H. DeFoe in Charlotte Republican Tribune)

It is not difficult to understand why and how Fred W. Green reached the governorship of his native state. One has but to see the smiling Ionian in some such role as the occupant of the annual Country Club dinner at the Tee-Off Monday evening One demonstration is convincing. After coming under the spell and charm of his scintillating personality it is not surprising that men remember him not as an orator or necessarily a scholar but as a man of common touch.

A WORTH WHILE PART OF LIFE

We are impressed with the merit of a statement made by James Kline chief of the VanBuren Economics club as follows:

"Among the sweetest and most wholesome experiences of life are the meetings of friends who esteem each other, who have real affection for each other, who have much in common yet who have rare opportunities to meet and fraternize in a congenial atmosphere."

There is the answer to the critic who scoffs at all fellowship organizations. Here is reason enough for the church, for the luncheon club, for the Farm Bureau, for the Chamber of Commerce and many other organizations which bring people together in a congenial atmosphere to enjoy mingling and to think together worth while thoughts.

HOW TOWNS COMMIT SUICIDE

(Bob Gifford in Eaton Rapids Journal)

Towns do not die, they commit suicide, said a newspaper recently. And it is true.

If grocers would handle only local bakery products the bakeries would hire more clerks and a couple of more vacant houses would fill up.

If the printing offices could have all the work which is sent out of town and to the government printing offices, two or three more printers could have jobs and two empty houses would fill up.

If the housewives did not buy from wagon salesmen and catalogs, many more clerks would be needed in the business district and more empty houses would fill up.

If the townspeople did not go to neighboring cities to trade, many more clerks would be needed, all vacant business buildings would be occupied and numerous empty houses would be filled.

If a home laundry could be supported here a half dozen girls and a truck driver would be employed and two or three houses would be built.

If everybody who makes his money in this community would spend his money in this community the home town would double in population in a few years and everybody in and around it would be prosperous. Why are filling stations out of proportion to every other line of business in number? Because people buy almost all of their gas and oil at home.

NEXT LEAGUE DEBATE AT PLYMOUTH

On Wednesday, the 17th, a debate will be held at Plymouth between Plymouth and Northville, with Northville defending the negative side. The subject for debate will be "Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." This is the first debate in the state eliminations. The debate team of Northville has already won a plaque for the school and they hope to do very well in the state eliminations.

brushed my teeth every morning, obeyed my parents, etc.

Despite Bob-sleds, long trip, and the excitement of meeting people, I put in a night's sleep Thursday that would have made hoary old Rip Van Winkle step. When I really put my mind to it, I can pound a mean log.

Friday A. M.—skating. The very best kind!

When skating is in the offing, Depression, Business, Money, to me, are merely words without any meaning.

Ice just like glass, hundreds of skaters, old and young, the majority of them in gay, colored costumes, tumbles and spills Olympic ragers, friends everywhere, a general air of frolicking, skaters in couples, pulsing racing, healthy red cheeks—you just know that everyone was having a grand time.

In the afternoon, sking. And am I a skier? Believe me, I go so fast that I leave my skis far behind.

They told me that skiers NEVER fall forward. But—

They're wrong! I got half way down a ninety degree hill, looked straight down, said a brief prayer, left my skis and with arms spread—a la flying goose, I did a swan dive—the rest of the way.

A friend, whose knickers I had borrowed for the occasion yelled with laughter. I'd bet him a quarter I could make it standing up.

"You can pay, fellow," he hollered. "I won."

"Yeah," I feebly replied with the little strength I could get together. "You won but take a look at your pants."

From the knee half way up the hip there was a long black earth-mark that didn't do those drawers one bit of good. He won—and he lost.

Following the sking—more skating.

Friday night—Big dance given for the Governor and Mrs. Brucker.

You know, the Big Fellow pleaded that he had to go home early in order to reach Lansing by the following A. M. but I wouldn't be a bit surprised that the bump I gave him half way around the dance floor had something to do with his leaving. It's a cunch! I didn't do his corns any good either.

I've got to get over the rest, the best part of it all in a hurry as lack of space prevents a detailed account.

Saturday—Speed racing with olympic champions whirling around at a dizzy pace, a graceful figure skating by Michigan champions, barrel jumping and believe me THAT'S a job for a single man.

Saturday night—a masked carnival on the rink, hundreds of fancy costumes, fireworks, and the entire crowd sking in formation.

Great big lazy snowflakes, gently drifting down in whirling fantasy. After a few minutes of skating your hair became covered with a thick covering of soft, feathery crystals. Millions of dollars can't buy genuine "good times" like that. You either have them or you don't.

We left regretfully Sunday afternoon and covered the first 200 miles in a rip-roaring pace of three hours and a half. From Saginaw in, a distance of about 100 miles, we crawled along at 25 miles per hour. Wrecks and smashed cars galore lined the ditches as a result of the icy road.

To bed after assuring the family that their wandering son had returned safe if not completely sound. And if my grandchildren ever want to have a dandy time I'll take them to a winter carnival at Potoskey.

A fire which destroyed the Nogar garage in Dundee early this week will be of interest to Northville since Mrs. Nogar was a former local girl, Miss Gertrude Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Brown who once lived on Dunlap street.

This Week

By H. H. White

Miss Sackville-West has recently written a book about a period which is most remote to our times. It is the Victorian era. She probably has no peer when writing about the modes and manners of a delightfully gleaming world that has gone the way of all things, not just in history.

Her characters are Lady Slane, a sprightly Mr. Bucktrout, a reclusive millionaire collector Mr. Fitzgeorge, and a gentle old soul Mr. Gocheron. The story has to do with the winter of their life, and is told in a fantastically beautiful and light-hearted style. These rare old souls have lived a life so that they are just all been feeling competition, circumventing and strenuous action.

They move, one might say, to the accompaniment of the gracious old measures of a minute. They knew about life so well and having experienced it could well afford to express it in symbols and lend a glow to the living of life.

There are many high lights in the story and my limited space forbids mentioning only one and that is the scene where the great grand-niece of Lady Slane comes to her and talks about a career she is desirous of having. Lady Slane in her younger days, had wished for one of the events to which she became a part of robbed her of it. In retrospect she titled old Lady in her Hampstead home in which she has retired after the death of her distinguished husband, looks back on her own life and lives in the desire of her niece, what she might have been but for circumstances which controlled her.

Miss Sackville-West is one of the most brilliant members of the Bloomsbury group that have collected about the Hogarth Press. She has written about her ancestral home in that monumental effort of hers, "Knole and the Sackvilles."

Something about her might be of interest to her readers. She is married to Harold Nicolson, a diplomat and writer. Their home is in Long Barn, Weald, Sevenoaks, near her birthplace, Knole. Here is where they live when not in travel to some remote part of the earth in pursuit of Mr. Nicolson's diplomatic errands.

Let me conclude by quoting the Spectator. "When a novelist writes as Miss Sackville-West does, there is nothing to do but read and be thankful."

This admirable and readable book may be found in our own library.

Woman's Club Listens to Program Of Italian Art and Music

While February bias blew without the Woman's club enjoyed the pleasant kind of an afternoon in their club room in the library. Under Italian skies. Especially favored is the club by having friends who have extraordinary talent and who are generous enough to share this talent. Among these is Madame Hughes Thomas, of the Thomas School of Music, Detroit, a friend of Mrs. E. A. Shafer, who graciously brought with her two of her students who sang in Italian two lovely songs. Mrs. Pitney, contralto, and Mrs. Hinch, soprano, sang with Mme. Thomas accompanying. Rounding out the study of Italian music, Miss Leonard, instructor of music in Grosse Ile, sketched briefly the history of music in Italy.

Northville Women Entertained By Detroit Friend

Mrs. E. C. Hinkley, Mrs. Summer Power and Mrs. Scott Lovewell "sat in the lap of luxury" for two days last week when they were house guests of a friend, Mrs. Mary Curtis, on Bedford road, Grosse Pointe. On Tuesday a bridge party was given in their honor at the Curtis home and on the following day they were guests at a large bridge party at the Colony club when 22 tables of bridge were played. A theatre party concluded the festivities and Mrs. Lovewell and Mrs. Hinkley returned to their homes here, saying after all, "East-west, home's best."

Friends Enjoy the Brennen Fireside Sunday Evening

On Sunday evening the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Brennen, at the Wayne County Training school, was the scene of a happy gathering of congenial friends who gathered around the hospitable table for Sunday evening supper and spent the remainder of the evening with

Presbyterian Primaries Play Together at Party

Ten little primary children romped with their mothers as guests and with their Sunday school teacher, Mrs. Francis Larson, who gave them a party in their church room in the Presbyterian church's house last Saturday afternoon. Since St. Valentine's day being so near, the games were heart contests and all entered heartily into a good time. It was pleasant to see mothers joining with their little ones in the fun. At the conclusion of the games refreshments carrying out the Valentine motif were served. Mrs. Larson being assisted by her mother and her aunt, Mrs. W. G. Yeikes and Mrs. R. B. Dusepourey.

In a talk on Italian art, Mrs. Kilder, head of the art department of the Birmingham high school, a friend of Mrs. J. N. McCullough, took her hearers through a fascinating tour of Italy, visiting all the famous art galleries enroute. Her talk was enlivened with many pictures and reproductions of great paintings.

A concluding feature of less dignity in the program was the enactment of a street scene in Italy when three children took part. While Eugene Carman played the accordion, little Marilyn Cavell appeared with her pet monkey, "Elmer" followed by Louie Babbitt. Tea was served during a social hour which followed, with Mrs. Freyd and Mrs. Chase pouring. Miss Mable Douglas and "Tom" McCullough served the guests in Italian costumes.

THE LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

There are several famous birthdays and anniversaries this month. Among the better known are George Washington, the father of our country, and Abraham Lincoln who was his savior.

Abraham Lincoln was born in Kentucky in 1809. He was an anti-slavery statesman, and the sixteenth president of the United States. He moved with his family in 1816 to Spencer county, Indiana, and for the next ten years he was engaged in laborious work of various kinds. He had only about a year's schooling at intervals.

At the outbreak of the Black Hawk war in 1832 he joined a volunteer company and, as captain, he served three months in this campaign. He next opened a country store, and was appointed the postmaster of New Salem, Illinois. He began to study law and at the same time turned an amateur surveyor.

In 1834 he was elected a member of the Illinois legislature, to which he was again returned at the three following biennial elections. In 1836 he was licensed to practice law.

In 1846 he was elected a representative in congress from Illinois, and voted steadily in congress with the anti-slavery party. He was nominated as a candidate for the presidency at the Republican national convention. The southern states were alarmed at the anti-slavery policy which many of the leading Republicans had proclaimed their determination to follow.

The election of Lincoln took place in November, 1860, and he took office on the 4th of March, in 1861. It was the intention of Lincoln to use every means of conciliation, consistent with the policy he deemed it essential to the national interest to pursue. On the 4th of February the southern confederacy had been constituted, and on the 14th of April the first blow in the Civil war was struck by the capture of Fort Sumter by the confederates.

The events of the Civil war during the next four years in Lincoln's career belong to the history of the United States. Lincoln's persistence in raising and pouring in fresh troops after every disaster finally enabled the Federal government to subdue the secession. The toleration of slavery was always, in Lincoln's opinion, an unhappy necessity. Lincoln soon issued his Emancipation Proclamation which freed the slaves.

The determination of the northern states to pursue the war to its conclusion, on the original issue led to the reelection of Lincoln as president in 1864. The decisive victory of Grant over Lee on April 2, 1865, speedily followed by the surrender of the latter, had just afforded the prospect of an immediate termination of his long struggle, when, on the 14th of the same month, President Lincoln was shot in Ford's theatre, Washington, by a half-crazed actor, John Wilkes Booth, and died on the following day.

In the affection of America, Lincoln holds a place second to Washington.

DEARBORN DEFEATS NORTHVILLE

The Dearborn five defeated Northville here last Friday, 26 to 10. The first half was all Dearborn, ending 19 to 5, but in the latter two periods, Northville rallied, to score 11 points and hold the class A school to 7.

Dearborn early went into the lead and held it throughout the game. Though Northville tried hard, she could not pierce her opponents' defense. Dearborn swept out the Orange and Black quintet gallantly defended their own basket, but in vain.

Northville seemed careless, committing 10 fouls, from which 8 points resulted. Dearborn's passing, and shooting, too, appeared more accurate than that of Northville's, especially in the first half, after which our boys seemed to pick up considerably.

Dearborn opened the second half with practically a new team. Robinson started the scoring by sinking three foul shots and a basket. They Dearborn took time out. After play was resumed, Dearborn both scored and missed several foul shots, although nothing of any great importance occurred.

The last quarter went very quickly. Two baskets were scored for Northville by Rittenburg and Robinson. Dearborn missed a couple of foul shots, sank a basket, and the game was over.

Dearborn has a team that any class A school should be proud of and one that is only found in that class of school. Northville gave them a surprise when she came back in the second half and played ball that was of real class caliber.

The second team also lost to Dearborn 9 to 4. The team as usual put up a good battle, but was overwhelmed.

The boys go to Farmington tonight for another game. We wish them luck and victory.

First team line-up:
Northville: Hoffman, Campbell, Robinson, Beach, Dickinson.
Dearborn: LF, Hutchinson, C, Keppitsek, RG, Laird, LG, Black.

Substitutions for Northville: Rittenburg for Campbell, Lemmon for Rittenburg, Westphal for Beach. For Dearborn: Smith for Lucas, Malby for Hutchinson, Evans for Keppitsek, Eistrom for Evans.

Second team line-up:
Northville: Hoffman, Campbell, Robinson, Beach, Dickinson.
Dearborn: LF, Hutchinson, C, Keppitsek, RG, Laird, LG, Black.

Substitutions for Northville: Deal for Kerr, Bray for Thompson, Marburger for Kohler. For Dearborn: Afar for Forester, Peterson for Parkhurst, Kanet for Schroeder, Soferquist for Champeny.

Faculty who's who:
Miss Caroline McDowell is the next person to shed some light on her past (whether dark or light we cannot say). As everyone knows, up here in school at least, Miss McDowell teaches English and Latin. It must take someone's father to keep French straight from Latin, and all three grammars straight (sounds like work doesn't it?).

New York City was where she first saw the dawn. At the age of three or four months (says she "can't remember which") she moved to New Jersey. When six years old, Miss McDowell again moved, this time to Maryland. At the age of twelve years she attended a private school in Baltimore, and from there her next education was received in the high school of Sumnerville, South Carolina.

The family then came to live in Wayne, Michigan where they now reside. Miss McDowell received her college education at the Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti.

While in college she belonged to the Y. W. C. A. and to the St. Joe, a scholarship organization. Kappa Delta Pi, was a reporter on the Normal News and secretary of an educational club. (There were more of these, but we didn't have time to get them all).

For two years Miss McDowell taught French, Latin and library in Morenci.

The winter of 1930 she spent at Sarbonne, the University of Paris (probably perfecting her "oo-lah-lah") There in Paris she received two degrees. Miss McDowell spent one summer in summer school at Western Reserve university in Cleveland.

Now she is here in Northville and we hope she continues her success here.

Schroeder for Eistrom, Stotter for Laird, Summers for Black.
Second team line-up:
Northville: Hoffman, Campbell, Robinson, Beach, Dickinson.
Dearborn: LF, Hutchinson, C, Keppitsek, RG, Laird, LG, Black.

Substitutions for Northville: Deal for Kerr, Bray for Thompson, Marburger for Kohler. For Dearborn: Afar for Forester, Peterson for Parkhurst, Kanet for Schroeder, Soferquist for Champeny.

Senior activities:
A meeting of the senior class was called to order by the class president, Ward Van Atta, Wednesday, 4. The secretary's report was read.

The following committees for the Senior Prom were appointed:
"Orchestra": Charles Rittenburg (chairman), Ward Van Atta, Helen Fleischman and Ruth Mary Baldwin.
"Decorations": Catherine Stalter (chairman), Thelma Ninder, Arthur Hills, Herbert Berendt, Bernice Clark.
"Tickets": Donald Robinson and Charles Meininger.
"Advertising and Invitations": Geraldine Ferguson, Frances Bacon and Jane Lawrence.
"Chaperons": Arlene Richardson and Isadore Keeney.

The date for the senior prom has been set for April 1.

Tickets were given out to sell for the band concert to be given in the gymnasium on February 12.

Mr. American said he had several good propositions to present to the activities committee.

Donald Robinson gave each senior three "Chamos" and a box of "Wonder Paper," a material which dusters, cleans and polishes furniture all at the same time. These household accessories are very inexpensive and give wonderful results.

Mrs. Chapman gave out the report cards for the first semester's work and then the meeting was adjourned.

MOVING PICTURES FOR STUDENTS

Mrs. Cobb, along with the help of two or three other factions, has done something nice for many history students. This "something nice" is showing moving pictures to these particular classes.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Hill, Base Lane road, it was possible to have a moving picture machine while the films were obtained through the Ford Educational Library. Yes sir, all we had to pay was the freight! Isn't that getting off easily? Through the Marz Motor Sales it was possible to obtain the films.

Approximately two hundred and twenty-five students enjoyed these films and much thankfulness and appreciation is extended to Mr. Hill and to the Ford Libraries for making this "educational pleasure" possible.

The different films shown were:
"Early Landmarks of the American Revolution"
"Civil War"
"New Orleans"—Vacations carried on.
"Yosemite National Park"
Beauty.

SEMESTER PROJECTS FOR HISTORY

These things called "semester projects" are always of interest to people, especially students. Why students? Because they are the ones who must do them and consequently know how much more they mean in the line of work than those who see only the finished product.

The projects for Mrs. Cobb's history classes run in many different lines, and the students can choose their own subjects and method of preparing their special choice. Projects, such as these, reflect the person by whom they are made, and the many different lines in which they were done will prove this.

A very good semester project is that of a relief map of Europe made by Ruth Angell. This consists of the map done with white material on glass with a blue background. We may truthfully say that this is one of the neatest and best projects done in the past semester. You should all "copy in" and see for yourselves.

Another unique bit of work is a spinning-jenny made by Alfred Parmenter. This is a miniature of a real one and has every detail that a large one has even down to string for thread (at least that's what we suppose it to be). This was made from a picture in a book and is really very good.

Albert Vradenburg had another bright idea when he made a fleet of tiny airplanes of all different types and planes. These show a real mastery of the many designs of aeronautical conveyances. It surely must have been taken many months

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

5 YEARS AGO

Northville is the healthiest piece in the state, says Dr. Schuyler. There is not a single case of contagious disease in town.

Dr. T. H. Turner is having his annual attack of pneumonia but is doing well.

The recital given by Miss Cuntiss was a success from the tiniest pupil, Frances Alexander, to the pipe organ number by Mrs. Ward Mastels Friday afternoon. The debating team—Carlyle Lovewell, Margaret Safford and Russell Atchison will go to Howell accompanied by Miss Larlums.

The high school basketball line-up is: Watts, Dickerson, Le Ferre, Lovewell, Goodale, Ware and Smith.

10 YEARS AGO

A broken water pipe turned the American Legion room into the "Buff building" into a swimming pool one day last week.

Little Gerald Greer is very ill at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. John Greer. Mrs. Greer is ill with quinsy at her father's home.

While motoring to Detroit one day last week Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simmons' machine skidded into the ditch and one wheel was broken.

The Foresters will present a minstrel show Monday evening.

25 YEARS AGO

Slights of all kinds flying in all directions.

Chas. A. Rogers of Detroit spent Thursday night with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thornton. Chas. graduated from Central High January 24 and his grandparents gave him a present of a fine set of histories.

A picture of Mrs. Jud Chapman and her fine matched pair of bays appears in this issue.

Mrs. Chas. Dubiar, Mrs. Ed. Thompson, Mrs. Will Hutton and Mrs. Marvin Sloan and Mrs. Frank Clark will be guests of the Revue Club in Detroit Monday.

Church News

Presbyterian Church
 Services in the First Presbyterian church on Sunday, February 14 at the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The minister will preach at both services. To all an invitation is extended and a welcome assured.

Sunday school meets at 12 noon. Our attendance is keeping up splendidly. We are anxious that no one fails. Plan to attend and remind others lest they forget.

The regular meeting of the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary will be held in the church house Tuesday evening, February 16 at 7:45. Mrs. Florence McClosky and Mrs. Helen Sweet are hostesses for the evening. Mrs. Myrtle Sears will have charge of the devotional period while the stewardship program will be under the direction of Mrs. Louise Steele.

See fuller announcements in this issue.

1. Father and Son Banquet.
2. School of Religious Training.
3. World Day of Prayer.

Our Lady of Victory Church
 Next Sunday is Holy Name Sunday. Will any Sisters Catholic mothers be present during Lent? Meeting of the officers tonight (Friday) after church services.

The Lenten schedule for next week is: Daily Mass at 8:00; Holy Hour, Tuesday at 7:30. Stations of the Cross on Friday at 7:30.

Today, February 12, is Lincoln's birthday. From "Recollections of Abraham Lincoln" by Lamont, we read Lincoln's words "when it comes to this in our nation that all men are created equal except negroes, foreigners and Catholics. I should prefer emigrating to some country where they make no pretense of loving liberty—whose despotism can be taken pure and without the base alloy of hypocrisy."

Baptist Church
 The Advisory board of the church meets next Tuesday evening in the prayer room. Important and vital matters regarding the work will be presented and a full meeting is desired.

Church night has been fixed for the next covenant meeting, Wednesday evening, February 24. Dr. Howard Chapman is guest pastor at Ann Arbor will be out of town.

Speaker next Sunday, February 14, the pastor, Rev. W. Bosses Barnum, speaks in the morning on the subject, "Reflection of the Cross to Light our Life's Problems," and at night on the theme, "God's True Israel."

As we now enter the period of Lent shall we not make the prayer service next Wednesday the occasion of much true prayer on the part of many?

St. Paul's Lutheran
LENTENIDE
 The English word, "Lent" like the German word, "Lentz" means Spring. It is the time of the year when the days lengthen. It was during this time of the year that Christ suffered and died. During Lent, Christians probably more than at any other time meditate on the holy Passion of their Savior and so it became customary to use the word Lentenide for Passiontide.

Lent is that season of the church year which has been set aside for the special consideration of our Savior's Passion. The observance of Lent goes back to the earliest period of the Christian church. As first in the early Christian church the forty hours between the death and resurrection of the Savior were observed as a period of fasting and mourning. Later, the hours were lengthened to days, and their number, no doubt determined by the duration of the fasts of Moses, Elias and our Lord's Sundays, however, because of their special festival character. And so today, the season of Lent comprises the forty-six days preceding Easter.

Long before it came to pass, His sufferings and death were in the Lord's mind. Matt. 16, 21 we read: "For that time forth began Jesus to show unto his disciples, how that He must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day." The details of His Passion stood out vividly before His eyes. And these considerations weighed heavily upon His pure soul. At the fiery threshold of the approaching agony He cried out: Father, if Thou be willing, remove this cup from me; nevertheless not My will, but Thine be done.

And yet He was willing to the utmost to sacrifice His life. He said: "My delight do to Thy will, O my God, Thy law as written in my heart." In the beginning of His public ministry, He said to Nicodemus: "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up." Three years later, at the end of His earthly sojourn: He prayed: "I have glorified Thee on the earth; I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." Christ willingly suffered and died.

Why? There must be an unmeasurable reason for God's eternal Son coming into our flesh—not in order to spend some decades here in pleasure, comfort, and happiness, but in poverty, trials and vexations, and finally to die the ignominious death of a slave. Jesus Himself stated the reason for His Passion to Nicodemus, saying: "That whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." Because no sinner can bring himself to heaven, therefore, the Son of God became the Substitute to take away the sin of the world. He plainly stated: "I am the living bread which came down from heaven; if any man shall eat of this bread, he shall live forever; and the bread that I give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world."

What a glorious and comforting message of the Lentenide! Let us make the best of it! Unbelievers scorn the Word and work of Christ; they will think differently when it is too late. The law and unconcerned by their apathy endanger their eternal salvation and may open their eyes in fear and despair in hell. A lover and disciple of Christ, however, makes the proper use of the Lentenide by diligently attending the public services, by partaking of the Lord's Supper, by faithful Bible reading and daily prayers. Thus having strengthened his faith in his sweet Redeemer, he is always willing and ready to prove the soundness of his faith by his works.

Divine services and Sunday school on the first Sunday in Lent, February 14th, at the usual time, 10 o'clock Text: Matt. 1-3. Theme of discourse: "The threefold Temptation of Christ and the Christian."

The second mid-week Lenten service will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock Text: Luke 23:33-43. Theme of sermon: "Our crucified Redeemer's Second Word From the Cross."

Confirmation instruction Saturday morning from 9 to 11 o'clock in the church hall.

The half hour of Faith and Fellowship, broadcast by the Lutheran church of the Missouri Synod every Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 2 p. m. over station WXYZ.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us. We at all times preach Christ and Him crucified.

AMERICAN LEGION
 (By Lisle Alexander in Legion News)
 Did you miss this column last week? I hope you did just to prove that it is being read, but the reason it did not appear is because I did not have enough news to pay for taking up the space. It was a good excuse for a vacation and so I laid off and let someone else take our allowance.

At the last meeting, the membership committee met and made a list of all unpaid members. Then the post voted to pay the 25 cents subscription for the LEGION NEWS for each unpaid member who was expected to pay us within the near future, such money to be paid back to the post as those dues were paid. The two captains then buckled on their guns and went out prepared to see all unpaid members as soon as possible.

Please pay up as soon and when you can, but under no circumstances should you consider yourselves any less welcome to all meetings and functions just because you cannot pay now. We all know that money is scarce and the fellow who has it to meet his obligations is just lucky and should realize that the fellow who hasn't got it is only down for the moment. He will be up again and will be bigger for his present hardship.

Not any too many out for the last meeting and supper. I don't know how many there were, but I have been there. The check was $10.00 and the meeting was an interesting one. One thing happened to break the prepared program. Demarcus Sweet was booked to give a five-minute talk on his own closed subject, but he lost his notes somewhere and had to be excused until a later date. I wonder now did he lose them? Maybe we will find out next meeting.

A check for $10.00 was voted to be donated for the purchase of a memorial to local comrades who died in France. This to be placed in Pershing Hall in Paris. Also received a $15.00 rebate from the Northville school board which represents the gym rental for the Armistice Day dance. I am fine of the board, don't you think?

Save Monday evening, February 15 for the Auxiliary box social which will be thrown in the underground portion of my hut on Mill street, Plymouth. It is promised that a good old fashioned time will be had by all. The Plymouth Post and Auxiliary have been asked to come and celebrate with us.

A $25,000 subscription by depositors and $25,000 raised by men of substantial resources in the community, he declared, would enable the plan to be put into action.

Judge Lacy then read the triple action form which the committee had prepared which, I. Delegated to the Depositors' Committee the power

Obituary

THE DEATH OF RALPH HOGLE
 (By Ralph Hogle)
 The death of Ralph Hogle, a former Northville boy, occurred at his home in Farmington following a brief illness with pneumonia last Sunday, February 7, at the age of 43 years. Mr. Hogle, when a boy, lived with his parents on the present Greer farm on the Base Line road and attended the Northville high school where he graduated. Most of his life has been spent in Farmington where he has for years been district manager of the Grand River Lumber and Coal company of Farmington, Northville, and Bedford. The widow and a son of two years survive him. Mr. Hogle was a brother of Mrs. Geo. Simmons of this place and brother-in-law of Carl Hly and Mrs. John Meliwe. He was a member of Northville Commandery, No. 32 and of Union Chapter, No. 35 of Farmington.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in Farmington and was attended by a large number of Northville friends.

er of attorney. Allowed for the purchase of stock in the new Depositors' Savings bank, to the extent of whatever the depositor wished to subscribe. 3. Receipt for the receiver who would turn the amount of money designated over to the new bank.

Judge Lacy explained to the depositors that in keeping with his policy of putting forth every good feature of the plan, he must also feature to break the prepared program. Demarcus Sweet was booked to give a five-minute talk on his own closed subject, but he lost his notes somewhere and had to be excused until a later date. I wonder now did he lose them? MOTION PICTURE PROGRAMS

"NICE WOMEN"
 Beware of the innocent, wide-eyed girl who protests that she "doesn't know anything about love!" Sidney Fox illustrates just what may happen to the unwary male who places too much faith in the artless statements in "Nice Women," the Universal comedy-drama of tangled hearts which will be played at the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday, February 14. For the demure Miss Fox, after convincing a sophisticated bachelor in the person of Alan Mowbray that she is just a helpless little girl, suddenly captures his heart by a well directed attack that literally sweeps him off his feet.

In addition to Miss Fox and Mowbray, this captivating screen play presents as members of its cast such popular screen players as Frances Dee, Russell Gleason, Carmel Myers and Lucille Webster. "Nice Women" was directed by Edwin H. Knipp.

"MEN OF CHANCE"
 For the third time within a few months that popular romantic film team, Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez, appears in a picture. They played together the first time in KO-Radio Pictures' "Behind Office Doors," directed by Melville Brown. Next, they were in "White Shoulders," also directed by Brown for the same studio.

According to George Archambaud, director of the current Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez vehicle, "Men of Chance," to be shown Saturday, February 20 at the Penniman Allen theatre, the team is growing in popularity.

"These players are perfectly suited for teamwork," he said. In the first place they are exact opposites—she is fair-skinned—he is a distinctly Latin type. They are both from three to five years.

The resignations were accepted, a new committee was elected and a date, February 23, was set for the next depositors' meeting at which time the new committee was asked to make its report on the feasibility of reopening the two closed banks.

A vote of thanks to the first Depositors' Committee was passed and a unanimous rising vote of thanks was tendered to Judge Lacy for his efforts in behalf of the depositors of Northville. The final action concluded the meeting.
