

WATER BONDS UNNECESSARY, SAYS SNOW

Hill, Barnhart Springs Can Produce Safe Water Supply

By Dr. L. W. Snow
I wish to say a few words regarding the problem of Northville's water supply. In the first place, Northville water is no different now than it has been for the past forty years. This, however, is not an argument in favor of allowing it to remain so, if it were dangerous to health.

Northville water contains, and has always contained, a non-pathogenic organism, known as Bacillus Gail. By non-pathogenic I mean not a disease forming germ, and it may be of interest to know that every individual in Northville has millions in his intestinal tract.

The statement that our water is potentially dangerous, merely means that, if B. Gail are present in our supply, it is possible for other germs, such as typhoid, to get into it. That is true with open springs and reservoirs.

The village procures its water supply from three sources, namely: The Barnhart and Hill Springs, located two miles west of Northville, and Fairbrook Springs, in our village, at Eaton drive.

Below is an outline of the same:

(1) Barnhart Springs:
A-Covered. (Protected from contamination.)

B-Supply, 60 gallons per minute.
C-Carried to reservoir by gravity. (No expense.)

D-O. K. by Michigan Department of Health.

(2) Hill Springs:
A-Uncovered. (Open to contamination.)

B-Supply, 30 gallons per minute; up to January 1, 1932, now supplying 120 gallons per minute.
C-Carried to reservoir by gravity. (No expense.)

D-O. K. 50 per cent of the time by Michigan Department of Health.

(3) Fairbrook Springs:
A-Uncovered. (Impossible to cover.)

B-Supplies balance of water.
C-Continually contaminated.
D-Pumped to reservoir at big expense.

The direct source of supply, of the Barnhart and Hill Springs, according to our engineer, is the same; namely, the ground water. However, that the ground water is giving a safe supply, and is the one uncovered showing contamination.

The problem thus presenting itself, to develop the two above mentioned sources to a point of supplying the village with a safe and continuous supply to prevent surface contamination.

This can be accomplished, according to our engineer, by a program that has already been tried, and accepted by the Michigan Department of Health, at an expense slightly above that spent in pumping water, and in a few years will pay for the compulsory program that must be made in our village.

In conclusion, allow me to state that the Hill Springs are covered, and the supply increased, and it is possible to do, Northville water is safe and during these times of drought it is unwise for the village to be concerned with another source of water.

There is a large pumping station located in the neighborhood of Eaton drive.

My views on the water problem, in my opinion, are in sympathy with Mayor German's and other members of the council and the only answer can be "No" on wells.

SEASON'S LAST GAME AT H. S. GYM TONIGHT

The Northville high school basketball team will get its last chance to win itself when it meets the Trenton high school quintet in the last game of the season on the night of Friday, February 25 (today).

The local high school basketball team will have to work hard and fast for the Trenton boys have remained undefeated throughout this year's playing. This is the first time that the Trenton team has been to Northville.

Every Northville fan should be in the high school gymnasium to give the local boys the best possible send off in a battle that promises to be the hardest they have fought this season.

The reserve team will keep the crowd interested from seven o'clock until eight, when the big game starts. Be there with the best encouragement you can give "our boys."

LEGION ASKS JOBS FOR MILLION MEN

The war is over. But it isn't a war concerned with bloodshed and gunshot. It's the great "War on Depression" started by the American Legion, whose purpose it is to give one million men jobs within as short a time as possible.

In a speech before the local exchange club, Irving Ulrich, chairman of the Northville committee appointed to take part in this important drive, outlined the program begun by the American Legion on February 15. He appealed to the exchange club to take part in the drive for "jobs for the jobless," urging them to appoint a committee, which they immediately did, selecting L. C. Stewart, Chas. Dolph, and R. T. Baldwin.

Mr. Ulrich said, "Every city and town in the country has been asked to organize to do its part in finding jobs for a million workers now unemployed. The first day of this 'War on Depression' resulted in obtaining 7,295 jobs. We want to make our point clear and that is, this drive is to be participated in by everyone, and that it is not intended as a Legion project only."

"We have on our hands," further declared Mr. Ulrich, "a real fight. This is a war. We call it a War on Depression, but it is really something different. It is war in defense of our ideals, our institutions and our homes. No nation can have an army of unemployed within its borders for very long without being in danger."

"The American Legion, in accepting the responsibility for this drive," declared Mr. Ulrich, "did so without any thought of gain in fame or political importance. It is merely trying to use its experienced legions and auxiliaries in every state in the Union to get employment for one million men and women, and this great work must be just as close to your hearts as it is to ours."

Other members of the Legion committee are Ray Casteline, Dr. Wilbur Johnson and Harold White. Offices for the new War on Depression drive will be opened in Mr. Ulrich's office on Main street, in the Northville Shoe Repair building. All unemployed men and women are asked to register, and all who can give employment, if only for a few hours, are asked to co-operate. The charitable organizations are invited to give the Legion their complete lists of the unemployed and to co-operate with the Legion's efforts.

HARRY GERMAN WILL NOT RUN FOR OFFICE

Dr. L. W. Snow Circulating Petitions for Mayoralty Nomination

Harry S. German, president of the Village of Northville for the past two years, has definitely announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the office on Monday, March 14.

I have recently been elected as cashier of the State Savings Bank of the Village of Carleton and I do not know just how much of my time will be needed in that capacity. For this reason I have decided not to be a candidate for the coming village election.

The mayor stated that he had enjoyed the past year immensely with his associates in office, that he had found the commission not only congenial but ambitious and in control of municipal affairs.

While in office Mayor German has seen the tax rate drop from $22.40 per thousand assessed value to $17.40. The village is in good financial condition and the commission is still adjusting the problem of securing good water.

Petitions are being circulated for the nomination of Dr. L. W. Snow as a candidate for village president. Dr. Snow has the support of Mr. German who paid high praise to the former's efforts as a commissioner. To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Snow as commissioner to run for the presidency, it is believed that W. T. Gregory, associated with the Ford factory here, will be a candidate for commissioner.

It was learned from an authentic source that Ross B. Dusenbury and Merrill Sweet, present commissioners, whose terms of office have expired, will be candidates for re-election.

Mayor Harry S. German made this statement on his retirement from office, "I am very grateful to have fulfilled their expectations of my administration. Further, that many who have never supported me in my election volunteered to support this year should I have been a candidate. To their debt I express my gratitude and I am sorry that circumstances will not permit their well intentioned offers. Such things are restful to my mind whether I have been a failure or a success."

Notice of Depositors' Meeting

Next meeting of the depositors of the Northville State Savings Bank and the Lapham State Savings Bank will be held on Wednesday, March 9, at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Presbyterian Church House in Northville.

Owing to the large number of depositors and the limited amount of space admission will be by pass book.

THEATRE TO CLOSE

MANAGER ANNOUNCES

Once more this community will be without a theatre for Harry Lush, manager of the Penniman Allen Theatre of this city and Plymouth, has announced that the Northville theatre will be closed until conditions are more favorable than at the present time.

Mr. Lush made the following announcement: "Penniman Allen Theatre, Northville: Under existing conditions it is impossible for the management to continue with our programs and maintain a high class of entertainment. Just as soon as we think it possible to re-open you may be assured of us doing our best. Northville theatre will therefore be closed until further notice."

MORE BOYS HELD

Two more boys have been picked up as being members of the gang which held up gas stations in the vicinity of Northville and Plymouth during the month of January.

One of the boys was caught by Chief of Police Wm. Safford in Northville and another is believed to have been caught in Farmington. The boys were arrested, authorities say, as a result of confessions by the first group of boys who were arrested a few weeks ago and now are being held by the Wayne County sheriffs. Both of the boys who were picked up were taken to Pontiac, it is said.

ROBERT G. YERKES ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR 17th DISTRICT

Robert G. Yerkes, of Braeside, at Griswold and Eight Mile roads, has announced his candidacy for the Republican congressional nomination in the seventeenth district.

Mr. Yerkes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Yerkes, of this place and is a U. of M. law graduate and now practicing with Yerkes, Goddard and McClintock of Detroit.

The district is a new one and comprises Northville, Plymouth and Redford townships together with the twenty-second ward of Detroit and Oakland county.

CHURCH SCHOOL GAINS INTEREST

In spite of a number of vacant chairs on account of illness the interest in the study at the school of religious training was not at all lagging at the regular session last Monday evening. Nearly forty members were present and greater freedom in participation seems to come with the advance in the course. It is with great regret that the lessons will be concluded with the next meeting. At this time it is planned to conclude the study hour with a brief social time when light refreshments will add to the pleasure of the hour.

SMITH TO BE CANDIDATE AT TOWNSHIP CAUCUS

Elmer Smith, prominent real estate dealer and insurance agent of Northville, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the office of township clerk, a position which he has held for the past four years. Mr. Smith will earnestly appreciate the support of his friends at the March township caucus, a more definite date for which will be announced later.

WILL ELECT THREE VILLAGE COMMISSIONERS

There will be three commissioners' offices to be filled instead of two as announced in the election advertisement in this week's paper owing to the fact that Dr. L. W. Snow resigned his office as commissioner to run for president after the election notice had been printed.

Watch for the date of another of the King's Daughters suppers.

U. OF M. STUDENTS FILL LOCAL PULPIT

Last Sunday evening, at the Presbyterian church, a group of five (two young women and three young men), students of the University of Michigan, had charge of the service.

Pastor Harold G. Whitfield has, at frequent intervals of late, avoided himself of conspicuous local or outside talent for the evening service. This variation from the usual order has proven interesting and of value.

The students mentioned, as well as others, are affiliated with the Presbyterian organization at Ann Arbor and go out to neighboring towns on request, and conduct church worship.

The principal student speaker took for consideration the subject, "The Approach of the Church to the Student Body at the University," showing what the situation is there and in what way it is being handled.

It is an encouraging sign that at our great centers of collegiate and university education so many of the students are interested in the work of the Christian church and things spiritual.

After worship a social time for all present was enjoyed in the church house with the serving of light refreshments.

GIRLS GET MEDALS FROM AUTO CLUB

Awarded to Irene Modos and Helen Arvey Thursday, of the Eleventh fractional school, by the Detroit Automobile club, were a bronze medal each for heroism in averting what might have been a fatal traffic accident.

On Thursday, February 11, the two, seeing a car bearing down on Mathilda Arvey while the three were on their way home from school, dashed ahead and pushed her out of harm's way. A fourth girl, Julia Modos, was a safe distance away from the car which did not stop.

The award was made by H. O. Rounds of the Automobile club.

DES AUTELS WRITES TO BANKING COMMISSIONER

The following letter was brought into The Record office by E. C. Des Autels and is self-explanatory. Mr. Des Autels is well known in Northville and is a member of the guard squadron of the Michigan National Guard.

The reply, Mr. Des Autels assures us, will be available for publication. State Banking Commission Lansing, Michigan. Gentlemen:

As a depositor of the Lapham State Savings bank of Northville, Michigan, I am requesting your advice regarding the present status of this bank.

This bank closed June 30, 1931, and while a meeting of the depositors has been held since that time and a committee appointed to arrive at a re-organization, there seems to be no headway made. There seems to be some reason known only to the stockholders and possible Banking Committee, but the main body of the depositors know nothing, but I am sure the depositors are willing to agree to any plan which will, in the end, permit no loss of any of their deposits.

Kindly advise the writer the progress made to date, and all the possibilities of re-organization, together with what your Commission Report shows the depositors of this bank may expect.

Yours truly, R. C. Des Autels.

JOINT PEDRO PARTY IS POSTPONED

Due to the many cases of illness around town, the joint Pedro party to be given March 3, by the Macca bees, Royal Neighbors and Foresters, will be postponed two weeks, to Thursday evening, March 17. It will be held at the Foresters' hall.

F. KREEGER LOSES BARNS, SILOS BY FIRE

Blaze of Unknown Origin Causes $6,000 Loss Monday

Fire of mysterious origin completely destroyed two barns, two silos and a milk house on the 120-acre farm of Ferdinand Kreeger, on the Base Line (Eight Mile) road, two miles west of the village limits on Monday evening between nine and ten o'clock. The loss is variously estimated at from $6,000 to $8,000. Insurance was carried in a mutual company on both the buildings and the contents.

The fire was a spectacular one that could be seen for miles around. John Folk and Howard Whipple were the first to see it. Folk was driving by and saw the flames while Whipple, from his farm home a mile distant, saw the flames leaping from the cupolas of the barns. Neighbors were summoned and the Northville fire department was called but the blaze had such a start that nothing could be done to prevent the complete ruin of the five buildings. Although the two barns were separated, the flames seemed to break out in both at the same time. Flames were coming from three cupolas at one time. The main barn was 36x70 feet, the cow barn 30x50 and the two silos were 12x30 and 14x30. The barns were built 60 years ago and the silos were of white pine and some of its beams, of white oak, were 36 feet long and were heaved by hand when the barn went up.

Included in the loss were 15 loads of hay which had just been placed in the barns by Chas. Kreeger, son of the owner of the farm who was about to move to the farm and run it for his father, Ferdinand Kreeger, who had sold the farm but had taken it back a few weeks ago on default of contact Chas. Kreeger, who has been on the old Barnhart farm, two miles south of the one that burned, also lost a hay fork and other tools but his main supply of tools which he had moved to the nearby garage were saved. Only the fact that the wind was in the right direction saved the house and other buildings from destruction. Chas. Kreeger also lost a large quantity of corn stalks which he had moved to the barns. He had his contents insured separately from the buildings.

The cause of the fire is baffling. The farm had been unoccupied since the former occupant had gone and, although the barns and silos were, the electric current had been cut off for some time.

Mr. Kreeger is making plans for building one large barn to replace those destroyed by the fire. Insurance adjusters were expected yesterday or today.

KING'S DAUGHTERS

A regular meeting of the King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Florence Alexander, 128 Beal avenue on Tuesday, March 1, at 3 o'clock.

THROWN FROM HORSE

Mrs. Tweed is Hurt

While riding her mount on the Six Mile road last Sunday morning, Mrs. Naomi Tweed of Detroit had the misfortune to be thrown from her horse when it slipped upon the pavement. The animal fell upon Mrs. Tweed with such force that a deep cut was made just below the eye. She was taken to the Sessions hospital where eight stitches were taken. The accident occurred near the Phil Graman farm.

Stark Brothers Will Move Into New Location After 35 Years Doing Business At One Stand

Forty-three years of business in Northville, thirty-five of it in one place! That's the record of the Stark Brothers, Wilbur H. and Bert C. local merchants.

Starting in business in the year 1888 the Stark Brothers are still going strong in their place of business on Main street, and March the first will see them in new quarters in the store next to their present location.

The Stark brothers came to Northville from Hartland, Livingston county, in 1888 and set up in the shoe and grocery business in the site now occupied by the Schrader Bros. building. Those were the days when Center street was a gravel road and hitching posts were as common as marked off parking spaces are today. Wooden awnings were another feature of that far off date, say the Stark brothers, and there were several to be seen on both Main and Center streets. They were the old canopy type of awning built of boards.

Some years after the Stark brothers came to town the gravel streets were "honored" with cobblestone gutters, which extended six or eight feet out into the street.

In recalling the attractions of those early days, the Stark brothers remember the opera house and the skating rink, which was located in back of the Penniman Allen theatre. The opera house was an important civic center and many plays having been presented there.

NORTHVILLE'S FLAGS IMPRESS A VISITOR

Some visitors from a neighboring town had parked their car in the business district of Northville on Washington's birthday. One said, "Well, you surely have a patriotic town here. Look at all the flags on display today. Why, in our town only one lone flag floats in front of a business place." Then this man continued as he glanced up and down Main street, "I don't know how business conditions are here but your merchants surely are keeping up appearances—your windows look progressive and these flags alone show that your town is up on its toes."

STOCKHOLDERS GET ASSESSMENT STAY

A committee composed of Clinton Wilbur, Don Yerkes, Jr., Carmi Benton, Bruno Frey, Chas. Hamilton and Dr. Clark appeared before Judge De Witt Merriam Friday, February 19 and asked the latter to issue an order postponing the payment for three weeks of the 100 per cent assessment on the stockholders of the Northville State Savings Bank, asked for recently by the receiver of the bank, Sidney J. Kiddle.

The reason given by the committee for requesting the postponement was that given a few weeks' time they believed that a suitable plan for either a new bank or reorganization of the Lapham and the Northville banks would be put into effect by the Second Depositors' committee which is working toward that end at the present. Judge Merriam granted the postponement until March 11 when another hearing will be held.

At a meeting of members of the Depositors' committee Wednesday night, it was decided to hold another depositors' meeting on Wednesday, March 9.

CHARLES THORNTON HAS PERFECT ROTARY RECORD FOR 6 YEARS

At the meeting of the Northville Rotary club Monday Chas. Thornton completed the six years since the founding of the local club with a perfect attendance record. That means that he has either attended the club here each week or "made up" at some other Rotary. This is a remarkable record probably equalled by few Rotarians in Michigan.

BENEFIT SHOW NETS CHARITY OVER $100

Full House Applauds Local Talent; Charity Shoot Announced

Netting well over $100, the benefit show held Wednesday evening under the sponsorship of the Northville Community Fund association at the Penniman Allen theatre was voted by approximately 700 people who attended to be a fine evening's entertainment.

The show also brought in approximately a truckload of food and clothing, which will be distributed to the needy by the organized welfare agencies of Northville.

The show opened with a fine concert by the Northville High School and Community band which played several selections. Following this a comedy was flashed on the screen and then Dr. Henry Handorf spoke briefly on the aims of the Welfare association and what they have accomplished thus far. He then turned the evening's entertainment

SPEAKING ABOUT THE DEPRESSION

Who said depression?

Jack Dempsey appeared at Flint the other day and people were turned away. The former heavyweight champion took in over $60,000 for his share in his appearances in three cities inside of a week. Some of the folks have money in the old sock.

SWEARING AND HEALTH

Some men swear to "show off," others to display temper and still others because they don't know any better.

Here is something for the swearer to think about—the effect of swearing on his health. A preacher didn't say this but Dr. John P. Koehler, Milwaukee, Wisconsin health officer, did: "The emotional stress incident to swearing often leads to serious diseases."

For his own and others' sakes the profane man ought to learn a vocabulary.

TAXES AND THE SPECIAL SESSION

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker has changed his mind and will call the legislature in special session to consider some way to meet the peril of Covert road tax confiscation and also to tackle the whole tax situation. With some of the farmers in Oakland and nearby counties facing the loss of all they have because of terrific Covert assessments, some way should be found to lift the intolerable burden.

As for the state tax itself, we must not expect too much, since Governor Brucker himself makes the statement that if we could wipe out the entire state tax of Michigan we should do away with only 11 per cent of the whole tax that is paid by all governmental units of Michigan. But this 11 per cent makes a big total and some of it can be and must be cut down.

The way to cut taxes is to reduce costs and not try to find new ways of revenue. The folks who are getting the benefit of much of our tax expenditure are well entrenched and it will take a lot of shelling to bring them out of their trenches. All those who have jobs will fight to keep them. The legislature and the governor have a tremendous task set out. It will be a test of Governor Brucker's ability to work out a tax program and his success at the polls this fall may be determined by the quality of his leadership. "Go to it," gentlemen.

THE HOARDED DOLLAR

The hoarded dollars are coming out into the open, taking off their coats and going to work. What a sight!

Our people have sense and fair play after all—when they understand things. We are being told that when one hoarded dollar comes out of hiding and is put into circulation, that it does the work of ten dollars. If one dollar does the work of ten, isn't it the chance of a lifetime for us to start them all rolling?

Take this newspaper for example. Every dollar we'll welcome the hoarded ones or any other kind—that comes in for subscription or job-work is out of our hands in a day or two, paying some of the folks we owe. We are not hoarding a nickel of it—just trying to keep out of the hands of the credit man. The dollar that comes in over the Record counter rolls around more than ten times in ten days in some cases we are sure—and you can be certain of this, the home folks get the first chance at it, everything else being equal.

When the slacker dollars all get back at work, the hard times will be sneaking over the hill, into a blissful oblivion, we hope.

Northville, we must admit, hasn't many loose dollars now, but we can do our part with what we have.

SMITH AND THE ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

The Detroit News puts a rather unusual angle on the chances of Alfred E. Smith being nominated for the presidency by the Democrats when it states that his intense opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway plan will bar him from the White House.

This argument against Smith is something probably very few have thought about, yet no part of the United States has more reason to be interested in the favorable outcome of the St. Lawrence waterways project than Detroit and the community around it. If Detroit is made a seaport, when steamers can come right here from the ocean, then it takes little imagination to picture the transformation of this whole southern Michigan area—or at least a belt of it stretching from Detroit to Chicago. The News goes so far as to state that the completion of the deep water seaway through the St. Lawrence will bring a "boundless prosperity to the interior of the continent." It also states that Smith is "provincial" because he has failed to grasp the tremendous significance of the waterways. If Smith is narrowminded about this project, then he has lots of company in the great state of New York, since from that eastern area has come great opposition to the plan and the New York canal plan has been put forward in its stead. New York probably fears that its present dominance will be weakened. Well, the rest of the United States must prosper as well as the East and hence the St. Lawrence waterways scheme, with its possibilities of a new industrial empire for this section of the Middle West, is bound to succeed.

Incidentally, speaking of the coming campaign, the fact that President Hoover has been a consistent friend of the waterways is bound to make him many friends next fall.

Detroit and Los Angeles have been in the last decade or two the wonder cities of the United States. The automobile industry has "made" Detroit a city of a million and a half while the California Southland capital has relied pretty much on climate for its amazing growth.

If the United States and Canada co-operate to make a seaway of the St. Lawrence and our Great Lakes, who can predict what the new Detroit (and the new Northville) will be in the next twenty years? The whole possibility is something to intrigue one of thoughtful mind.

WASHINGTON, THE FARMER

Reading some of the things that are being said about George Washington, in this, the bi-centennial year celebration, we got to thinking about Washington as a farmer. Years ago we gave a little speech on "Washington, the Gentleman Farmer" and wish we could remember the number of acres of land that he presided over in the years after he left political life. As we recall, it was a great area of which Mt. Vernon was the center.

At the close of a life as a scientist, statesman, discoverer and author, Benjamin Franklin wrote his name, "B. Franklin, Printer." So, we are told, in the same way, George Washington liked at the close of his honored career to be known simply as George Washington, farmer. Twice have we visited Mt. Vernon and each time we try to imagine the real joy in living that our first president must have gotten out of that rural life along the Potomac. There is something about kinship with the land that stirs the soul of men and brings out the best in them. Tramping those broad acres at Mt. Vernon and planning the farming operations must have given Washington some of the best content of his life. And we couldn't help but think, as we walked through Martha Washington's flower garden, what a fine thing it would be if a lot of women would drop their artificialities of social life, about which they make so much "adieu" and go to raising flowers. They would find new interest in life.

This would be a thrilling year to go to visit Washington and Mt. Vernon. But look out for the summer heat along late in the summer. You won't be able to sit long on the porch of the old mansion as Washington did when it got too warm to stir around in the fields.

WE NEED THESE GALAHADS

(Birmingham Eccentric)

George H. Whittlesey, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew B. Whittlesey, of Bloomfield Hills, this week will go to far-off Port Yukon, Alaska, to begin a year of missionary service for the Episcopal church. The young man, unwaveringly determined upon the unknown, says of life, will leave "the parental fireside to begin battling for the victory of spiritual forces in this world of men and women. There is no lonelier task in this world than that of winning victories for the moral and spiritual growth of mankind; and there is no greater or more soul-thrilling achievement than that of helping to make people better. The Eccentric congratulates 21-year-old Whittlesey, his parents, and Mr. Robert C. Hargraves, who conceived the plan of sending a youth annually to Alaska. May the missionary be imbued with the zeal and the capacity of a Galahad! The world needs more of his kind.

MY LADY'S HANDS

(Schuyler-Marshall in Clinton Co News)

It went something like this: "They met after ten years. There were a hundred things that both women wanted to say and a hundred questions to ask. They had not seen each other since they left Vassar. Finally, seated on opposite sides of a table in a cozy nook of the Ambassador dining room, Clara told how Tom had progressed—he was now manager of the new factory. Then she saw Neil looking at her hands. They were not the hands of a successful man's wife—rough and red from dish washing."

This is some smart Aleck's idea of how to bulldoze American womanhood into buying about 7 cents worth of perturbed glycerine and water and paying $1.00 for it. Have you noticed how many of the luxury products manufacturers are using this contemptible form of advertising to sell their stuff?

It may be excusable to educate some people through advertising to avoid "B. O." or "malitose." Generally just common ordinary old-fashioned soap and water and the kind of scrubbing grandmother used to demonstrate behind the ears and other areas of the anatomy will do the trick equally well. However, when an advertiser ridicules the marks of honest toil and the badge of thrifty homemaking; when he spends $5,000 a page in a nationally circulated magazine in an attempt to make women ashamed of the hands which have ministered to the needs of their children and performed well the tasks of the home, he—well, we'd like to take a good swift kick at the pants of the effeminate dude who wrote the copy and three kicks at the millionaire manufacturer who paid to have it circulated.

HERMAN E. LAKE WAS ONCE R. R. AGENT HERE

This Week

By H. H. White

The origin of man is an ever moot and interesting question which still appears at all scientific and theological meetings. But in the final analysis of science with its immutable laws there is but little radical difference of opinion as to what is debatable regarding organic evolution. Man has unquestionably his avowed place with the rest of the animal kingdom; but while he has evolved highest among that realm, the story as to details of his evolution is not as yet entirely clear.

But since the time that science has accepted the theory of evolution it has placed an entirely different change on our sense of values, and has made a distinct change on the outlook of the universe as to the mysteries of mankind. Thus the student of evolution has had to reconstruct the story of creation so closely and intimately associated as the groundwork of all religions, which has at its best been most bewildering according to the light of the laws of nature. When the unity and inter-connections of all life in its manifold forms are clearly recognized man comes down from his benighted place with the angels and takes his rightful place in this our universe as a proper part in the order of things as related to nature.

The antiquity of man can be traced by scientists back to about a million years ago according to paleontological records, as for instance some six kinds of ancient man have been discovered.

Some of the famous fossil men are the Eoanthropus, the Sinanthropus, the Pithecanthropus and the Neanderthal man. The Neanderthal man's bones have been found in Europe and Western Asia, but is not considered the predecessor of modern man. The Sinanthropus man, represented by bones and skulls discovered in China during recent years are considered important evidences of human antiquity. The Dawn-man or Eoanthropus was found near Pitdown, England just before the war, while the Pithecanthropus man was found in Java by a Dutch physician in the 1890's.

These are a few interesting facts in the study of ancient man that are an integral part of the fascinating and may I say encouraging story of the rise of man to his present leadership and first place in the animal kingdom. This is being read in rock records and then written into the annals of science.

The scientists who are making a study of anthropology are thus not debasing man, but leading to his antiquity a story that is one of hope and encouragement.

E. E. Brown certainly must have made an indelible record as editor of the Northville Record. Although he preceded Elton R. Eaton, who was the publisher of this paper for four years, and although the present publisher has been here for over a year, still one of our good subscribers in the state of New York sends her subscription check direct to Mr. Brown and the latter, now living at Ann Arbor, "shoots it" over to The Record. And the subscriber also gives Mr. Brown credit for the good paper we are getting out. Nothing like getting a reputation.

Miss Casterline Entertains The C. W. Club

Miss Esther Casterline entertained the members of the C. W. club at her home Saturday evening with 500 as the game of the evening. Messrs. Howard Dixon and George Lockhart won prizes. A dainty lunch concluded a very pleasant evening.

W. H. M. S. Meets At Neal Home

The Neal homestead was the scene of an active meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society Tuesday noon when Mrs. Bertha Neal was hostess to 30 ladies who came for luncheon.

Those who arranged and supervised the meeting were Mrs. George Lockhart, Mrs. John Litsenberger, Mrs. E. J. Stark and Mrs. James Busby.

Mrs. William Richards of Belleville was honor guest of the day and she was accompanied by Mrs. Ruthruft and Mrs. Savage.

The subject of the day was Stewardship and Evangelism which was presented by Mrs. Richards. The music for the day was under the direction of Mrs. John Tusham.

The work of the Missionary society this year is under the care of Mrs. Ervin Cobb as president.

Mrs. Margaret Yerkes Entertains At Washington Parly.

On the evening of Monday, February 22, Mrs. Margaret Yerkes and her son, Edmund, welcomed hospitably at six o'clock dinner, a company of friends and relatives at their home on the Base Line road. Vases of red and white carnations with blue tapers stood on each small table and these patriotic colors were skillfully carried out in the three-course menu. Bridge pleasantly occupied the remainder of the evening with high honors won by O. O. Frost, Harold Smith, and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Jr. and Mrs. Winfield Holden. Those comprising this congenial group were Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Holden, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Frost and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barron of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams and Miss Mildred Williams of Pleasant Ridge, John Burkan of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yerkes, Jr. and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Yerkes, Miss Ruth Yerkes and Miss Cecil Elder of Northville.

Chas. Riffenburg Honored By Young Friends

A jolly party of nineteen boys and girls helped Chas. Riffenburg (famously known as "Bus") celebrate his nineteenth birthday last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin. Two other good friends of "Bus" joined with the hostesses in giving this party, Mrs. Howard Hall and Miss Lida Colman.

The young folks entered heartily into "Keno" and other games with music and dancing thrown in for good measure. Later in the evening the young folks were invited to the dining room where a delightful buffet lunch was served. Of greatest interest was the pyramid birthday cake iced with white, decorated with blue flowers in icing and lighted red tapers. It was a very patriotic looking cake for the boy whose birthday fell so close to that of the "Father of his country."

The party broke up reluctantly at eleven o'clock after leaving their best wishes with the guest of honor and a fine sweater and tie as a token of their high regard.

Eastern Star Annual Ball Proves a Pleasant Affair

One of Northville's brilliant social affairs of the winter was the annual Eastern Star ball given at the high school gym last Friday evening, February 19, by Orient chapter. Ninety couples danced to the strains of Ole Foesch's orchestra of Detroit, directed by the leader himself.

The setting for this occasion was most pleasing, arranged by Mrs. Blanche Masters and her committee. Drop curtains representing the blue sky were sprinkled with stars while from the center hung a large revolving star of crystal upon which spotlights of various colors played. The whole was a very effective background for the "stars" who danced gracefully in their formal gowns of dainty colors.

A buffet lunch was served during the course of the event with Mrs. Frederick Hedge presiding. A number of guests were present from nearby towns.

Welcoming the guests in a receiving line were Mrs. and Mrs. E. A. Kohlen, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lawrence and Mrs. B. E. Ryd, the three women being past presidents of the chapter.

Miss Catherine Keller, who was Edgar from Saturday.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller, 116 Randolph street, last Saturday evening when their daughter, Miss Catherine, became the bride of Edgar Prom, son of Timothy Prom of Detroit.

The house was prettily decorated with festoons of crepe paper in blue and gold with flowers on the table. At nine o'clock the bridal party took their places and the impressive wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank N. Miller, pastor of the Methodist church. The bride and groom were attended by the brother and sister of the bride, Miss Mary Keller and Wayne Keller.

A wedding lunch followed the ceremony. The newlyweds will make their home with the bride's mother for a time while Mrs. Prom is in the employ of Gerald Taft. The bride attended high school here and both are well known. Best wishes are extended to them. Many attractive gifts were presented to the bride.

Attending the wedding were the following guests from out of town: T. Prom, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt of Toledo, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. C. Huber, Mr. and Mrs. B. Cuddings of Whitmore Lake, Mr. and Mrs. A. Helmer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hockenbury, Mr. and Mrs. Rora-bacher of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Polczynski of Wyandotte. From this place there were present Mr. and Mrs. E. Austin, C. Keller, G. Hurrelbrink and L. Raiser.

Woman's Club Attends Balkan Program

A special treat was enjoyed by the Woman's club last Friday when at their program at the village library a colorful bevy of ten maidens in foreign costumes danced gracefully and sang in native tongue. Trained by Miss June Callahan and Mrs. T. F. Brennan these girls of the Wayne County Training school brought the characteristics of the women of the Balkans very realistically to the club.

Five of these girls were of Polish birth and reflected the ardor of these spirited countries. Four dances and four songs comprised this part of the program with Mrs. Brennan accompanying on the piano.

Mrs. Florence Sprague of Toledo was the guest speaker of the women this day and brought to them a vivid account of the Balkan states where she has toured several times. Her talk was greatly appreciated.

At the next meeting the club will be guests of Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips at her beautiful country home when Alexander, Schuster, of East Lansing, a fellow of note, will play Mr. Schuster played in an orchestra in Norway with a brother of Dr. Hegge of the Training school. Rev. W. H. Aulenbach of Bloomfield Hills, an authority on Russia, will be the speaker. Mrs. S. I. McCall and Mrs. Grace Shurtliffe of Milford will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin S. Sherman of Detroit.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Phyllis Saley, the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Helen Bolton Tuesday evening. After the business meeting, a very pretty cake adorned with lighted candles was placed on the dining room table and Mrs. A. Foss was asked to step forward to blow out the candles, it being her birthday. We all wish Mrs. Foss many more birthdays.

At the business meeting Mrs. Chas. Murphy gave a very interesting report of the district meeting held in Flint last Sunday.

(It acted like it) but since no more "whoops" are forthcoming physicians are deciding that an anxious mother was a bit "previous." In the meantime this young hunk is having a grand vacation from school.

Work on his house on the Beck road recently purchased by Edgar B. Kuemmel of Detroit is going on well. The rear of the house has been torn off and this will be rebuilt. It is the plan of Mr. Kuemmel to later on tear off the front and build quite extensively. Geo. Hicks is in charge of the carpenter work and Arthur P. Mitchell has the contract for the plumbing. Fred W. Lyke will install a steam heating plant. Mr. Kuemmel expects to go into the chicken business quite extensively and will build a series of houses to accommodate 3,000 chickens.

Mrs. Ernest Miller was hostess to the "Contract Bridge" club at her home on High street Tuesday afternoon. These groups have been meeting together at intervals for the past two or three years and have great enthusiasm over these friendly "bouts." Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook and their "team" came from Ypsilanti and their local opponents are Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hinkley, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lovewell and Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Jr.

Every Monday Morning

By "AD" SCHWENGER

Next Monday being the 29th of February, and we won't have another day like it for another four years, something ought to be said regarding the day and the custom (A' gwan, ya did too know it's Leap Year).

According to history, 1,567 years ago, plump Julius Caesar decided that he'd give the boys and girls something to talk about and Julius, being a lad that didn't fool, called all of his Yes men together and laid down the law. Whether he got his idea from the stars, or some one of the flappers he used to throw parties with I don't know, but the fact remains he decided that 365 days and 6 hours would henceforth make one year. There were some who heeded at this of course but Julius had 'em all knocking down and so every fourth year we have one day too many—which we call February 29.

"I suspect that we can blame Julius for that darned fiddle. Thirty days hath September, April, June and Yom Kippur." Or sumpin'.

Somewhere in the long and tangled path of history, the ladies stepped in and grabbed off the fourth year. They called it Leap Year and it gave all of the old maids and spinners a chance to play North-west Mounted Police and get their man.

When they "middle-aged it" (thank you, Walter) the ladies kept a tight hold on the man, deep into a bunch of Lullies of the Valley and in a few minutes it's all over it; the man that pays, every time, ask any minister.

To get back to this Leap Year question in Scotland it was a woman asked a man to marry her during Leap Year and he refused, the poor devil had to kick in with a lot of money. That kept bachelorhood at a premium and he who enjoyed the luxury of celibacy was envied all over the land.

Well, there are lots more months to this year and about next December we'll be able to tell about how many of the boys are going the "hard way." I know several that are on the verge right now. "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

If I were shipwrecked on a desert island I'd want Thomas Murdoch along with me. His quiet serenity in the face of all mishaps would be a tremendous help. I'd want Bob Lee and Eugene Babbitt along because they'd be sure to have a gun somewhere around their persons and guns would come in mighty handy on a desert isle. Besides that, Bob is a swell cook and Hugh is a swell feller.

I'd want M. J. Murphy. He has an inexhaustible fund of stories and he could harangue the natives into keeping us out of the local soup pot. We'd have to have Lew Stewart. Without his conservative common-sense we'd all probably wreck the island.

And Al Heatley. Somewhere and somehow this student of current events would find out what the outside world and President Hoover were doing and he'd be able to keep us posted.

I'd take Ned Jumbo and Gordie Moffitt along on probation. If they could stay away from the feminine population long enough, they could form the nucleus of a Boy Scout troop and Orlow Owen could be the Scoutmaster. And if Sam Eraser were with us, his business acumen would probably work up a nice trade for us and we'd all leave the island as rich as millionaires.

It'll probably never happen but it's a swell idea. No depression, no worries no nothing—just letting the rest of the world go by, bye. Ready to go, boys?

You can ask Chief Safford if he's cured the husky voice he had during the earlier part of the week. Ask him how he's coming along with his husky lessons and how he got the husky voice; there's a definite connection between the two.

During this session I'm having with my old friend the habit of using those new paper handkerchiefs that you can use once and then throw away thus saving on the laundry bills. Hoot Mon!

The ones the clerk handed me in exchange for my quarter are a lagoon, sea-green color and extremely la de dah. The last three customers who have entered the office and caught me sniffling with a pale green handkerchief have raised suspicious eyebrows. Whoops-E-Daisy!

Friends will be pleased to learn that Will Ely, formerly of Northville township, is planning on returning to Michigan from his home in Mesa, Arizona. He writes that he hopes to either buy or rent a farm north or west of Northville.

EASY, PLEASANT WAY TO LOSE FAT

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too proud hump and abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts that costs less than a nickel and which will last you 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water in the morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

But refuse imitations—safeguard your health—you lose fat SAFELY with Kruschen.

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at the C. R. Horton Drug store.

Church News

Baptist Church

The services, conducted last Sunday morning and evening by the young people were excellent and most helpful. Next Sunday the pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, speaks at the morning hour of worship on the theme, "Three Stages of Christian Living." Next Sunday evening the subject will be in keeping with Lent and will be, "The Death of Christ." The earnest desire of this church is that these services above announced may furnish an opportunity for the sincere worship of God. If you are a non-church-goer we cordially invite you to worship with us and we are sure the other churches would be happy for your presence.

Methodist Church

At the morning worship service at 10:30 Mr. Miner continues the series of sermons on the Lord's Prayer, the subject this week being, "Obeying the Divine Will."

At the evening service at 7:30 the young people of the church will be in charge, and there will be no Epworth League meeting at the 6:30 hour. Fathers and mothers and our young people are invited for this evening worship at 7:30, and all others are invited.

The Leadership Training School on Monday evenings is a fine success. Next Monday evening is the last of this term. Visitors will be welcome. Come and see what this work is.

Wednesday evening, March 2 will be the next church Family Night. This is for all the families of the Methodist church and parish. The stranger and the newcomer are welcome.

Plenty of copies of the little book, "The Prayer That Helps Us Live," are on hand. See Mr. Miner if you wish a copy of this little book for your Pre-Easter devotional reading.

Our Lady of Victory Church
The talks at both the 8 and 10 o'clock Masses next Sunday will be of vital importance to all the members of the congregation. They will be concerned with points of radical change in the management of the parish.

The Lenten schedule for next week will be: Daily Mass at 7:15 a. m., devotions Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., and "The Way of the Cross," Friday at 7:30 p. m.

The Altar Society discussed various ways for sociability and fund raising at their meeting last Tuesday. One group of ladies is preparing a card party to be held at the church on St. Patrick's day.

Mrs. F. J. Schmidt, Mrs. Jno. Nelson and Mrs. Jos. Jeanotte are in charge of the baked sale tomorrow (Saturday) at the Palace meat market.

The men's and boys' social gathering will take place at the church of Sunday, March 6, at 5 p. m. The names of all who plan to attend must be handed in next Sunday, February 28.

Presbyterian Church
On Sunday, February 28 the services in the First Presbyterian church are at the following hours:

Morning service at 10:30 o'clock. The pastor will preach.

Sunday school at 12 noon, superintendent, E. S. Beard.

Evening service at 7:30 o'clock. Professor Percy Angove will speak.

We are depending on the wholehearted support of the members in these services. Strangers and visitors are always welcome.

The final study group of the Community School of Religious Education will be held Monday evening, February 29 in the Presbyterian church house. A social time is being provided at the close; refreshments will be served.

THE CROSS OF JESUS
Do Christians dwell too much upon the death of Christ and not enough upon His life? Some people think so. They accept Jesus primarily as their teacher, as their leader in life, as their example in moral virtue, they admire His matchless character, His words of wisdom, and for these they call Him Saviour.

BUT HOW DOES THE BIBLE VIEW THE CROSS OF JESUS?
Any fair minded reader of the New Testament Scriptures cannot but admit that from Matthew's Gospel to the book of Revelation the death of Jesus is the central message, the dominating theme, the pivotal truth upon which our salvation is founded. Christ, through the shedding of His blood, takes away our sins; secures forgiveness for sinners; effects a reconciliation between God and man; is empowered for us the Holy Spirit, and is Himself exalted above the highest heavens. Read Philippians, Chapter two, for a New Testament summation of the significance of His death. HOW DID JESUS HIMSELF VIEW HIS DEATH?

Jesus did not regard His approaching cross as a disaster and a tragedy. He came with patience and resignation, but that His heart was set upon it, that to Him His cross was His crown. Take His own words; which He said to the two disciples who were going to Emmaus, as recorded by St. Luke, Ch. 24. Jesus assured them that it was His predestined path to glory, foretold in the Old Testament. "Ought not Christ to have suffered these things?"

But that was after His death and resurrection. Did He realize the significance of His death even before it occurred? Most assuredly! Read His words John 3, 14. "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." Or ponder John 12, 32. "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." Or meditate on John 6, 51. "The bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world." Read Luke 12, 50. Matthew 16, 21-23. Matthew 20, 28 and many like passages.

Take the events in the Garden of Gethsemane as recorded by St. Matthew, ch. 26. When three times He prayed, "It is possible let this cup pass from me," where His soul "was exceedingly sorrowful, even unto death." Surely this was not the prospect of physical agony, and painful death which caused His profound sorrow. His deadly fear. No, indeed! He "knew the sins of many" upon Him was "laid the iniquity of us all." He is "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Therefore His agony, His sorrow, the drops of blood, the prayer. The hour of the Cross was the hour in which there shone forth in glory the spirit, purpose and passion of His life.

HOW DOES GOD VIEW THE CROSS?

Let us remember, before answering the question, that the cross was not needed because of God's unwillingness to pardon. The cross did not turn an unwilling God into a willing one. The New Testament nowhere indicates that. It always pictures the cross as the consequence, not as the cause, of God's love. That is so often forgotten by doubting men.

Remember also that man did not provide the sacrifice on Calvary. God provided it. God "gave," not man. The cross is the gift of His love. Read John 3, 16. God is love. He sent His Son to die as "the propitiation for our sins." That is the plain teaching of the Scriptures.

But why was it necessary that God should do this? Why was the cross needed to express God's love to sinners? The old answer is the only answer: Because God is the moral, just, holy ruler of the universe. A father may freely forgive his penitent child. A judge, though the criminal be his child, cannot forgive like that. He must uphold and administer the law. This is for him an unescapable duty. Justice imposes it upon him. This is perhaps an imperfect illustration, but it suggests the problem of God. How to forgive as He yearns to do, and at the same time to be the "Judge of all the earth," how to pardon, and yet to maintain the law, that "justice and judgment are the habitation of His throne."

This was God's "problem," and the Scriptures tell us that God solved it by giving His only begotten Son to die for sin. Truly when God gave His Son to die for sin, then, and then only, could it be said that "righteousness and peace have kissed each other." That is how God views the cross of Jesus.

HOW THEN MUST MAN VIEW THE CROSS OF JESUS?

In the Epistles of the New Testament, the cross is always viewed in its relationship to man. And that relationship is always, and everywhere the same relationship. It is this, that "Christ died for all."

Now to die for another is not an infrequent thing among men. Men have done that in every age of history, in times of war and in times of peace. Did Jesus merely do the same thing many others have done before and after His time? Was His death merely a heroic sacrifice for the benefit of one man or more men?

No, indeed, the Scriptures declare with united voice that "God made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin," that he "bore our sins in His own body on the cross," that "He died for our sins." Christ died in our stead. The "wages of sin is death," and Christ, as our Substitute, had these wages paid in full upon His head. Now we are free. There is nothing now left for us but to accept, in faith, that wonderful gift of forgiveness, of freedom presented to us by the cross of Jesus. Thus man must view the cross of Jesus as the solution of the problem created by his sin, as the full satisfaction for his sin, as his only hope for forgiveness, for life, for salvation.

Viewing the cross of Jesus in this light, man will no longer think lightly of his sins, but he will realize that sin is a awful, tremendous, destructive reality in the sight of God. If Christ "died for our sins," according to the Scriptures, "if God gave His only begotten Son" into this fate because of sin, then sin is not a mere frailty, a mere absence of goodness, a mere blemish in man, which no man can help and God can easily overlook, then sin is an awful, horrible, damnable reality.

But "God is love." That is nowhere so clearly demonstrated to believing men as upon Calvary. St. Paul says, "God commendeth His love towards us, that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." St. John says, "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins." It is then, not the historical fact of the cross that assures man of the love of God. It is the fact that God gave His Son to die for man's sin that assures man that God's love is "founded on a rock." As long as the cross remains, man may never doubt the love of God.

And finally, viewing the cross as His salvation, man will find in it the motive power for a new life. (Continued on Supplement)
