KELLY SPEAKS AT MEMORIAL DAY SERVICE

Northville Pays Tribute to Its Soldier Dead
Monday

With blue skies overhead, occasionally broken by scattered clouds, Northville on Monday, May 30, for the 64th time since the Civil war, paid tribute to its soldier and sailor dead.

The observance was impressive when old and young joined in the homage to those who have given their lives in five wars for their country.

The Memorial day services were given an auspicious beginning Sunday evening when a memorial service to the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary was presided over by Father J. G. Schuler at Our Lady of Victory church.

The formal observance of the holiday was carried out Monday afternoon, beginning at two o'clock at the Penniman Allen theatre in the forenoon the Legionnaires and the members of the Auxiliary decorated the graves of the honored dead in our two cemeteries.

Led by their director, Edwin Head, the Northville Community School band lent color and impressiveness to the afternoon program. While many on the street looked on, the parade to the theatre went down Main street from the high school, led by the youthful musicians in their brilliant costumes.

Marvin Bogart is present. Only one member of the G. A. R. was able to take his place on the platform and afterward to ride in the parade. Marvin Bogart, standing erect, mind alert and body still strong in spite of his 92 years, sat beside the speaker of the day and then rode in the automobile of Luther Latham to the cemetery.

Next in the parade came the Spanish war veterans, the W. R. C., the Legion and the Auxiliary, then the Boy Scouts and last the school children with their flags. A patriotic and thrilling sight it was indeed.

The theatre was well filled for the observance. Commander Jos. Blake of the Lloyd H. Green post of the American Legion was in charge and Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, past commander of the department of Michigan of the Legion, was the speaker.

The program got under way in stirring fashion as the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," with the audience standing. The invocation was given by Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, pastor of the Baptist church and Warner Neal recited effectively, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," without which no Memorial day program is complete.

Vocal solos by Edwin Campbell and Pierre Kenyon and the impressive recitation of "In Flanders Field," by Fred Casterline preceded the address of Mr. Kelly who was presented by Commander Blake.

Communism Denounced. A plea for universal service that would take the profit out of war, if there ever is another war, a scathing denunciation of the propagandists who are spreading the seeds of Communism throughout the nation and an appeal for adequate preparation were high lights of the speech of Mr. Kelly.

"Do you want your Northville band to play the 'Internationale,' the anthem written in Moscow, or do you want them to keep on playing 'The Star Spangled Banner'?" asked Mr. Kelly as he told of the work of Communists in trying to undermine American institutions.

"The American Legion doesn't want war but it does believe that an adequate defense is the best preparation for peace," Mr. Kelly urged. "Take the profit out of war," he said as he appealed for a universal service, and it will be insurance against another war."

Touching on the program of the Legion, first for the aid of the disabled soldier for whom the war still goes on, and second for the help of the widows and orphans of the service men, Mr. Kelly stated: "The Legion has not asked for a thing it hasn't earned."

"We have a hand out—yes a hand for the widow and the orphan and the disabled and a clenched fist for the enemies of America. Let us stick to the principles of the pioneers who have made our nation great—we can stand a little suffering as it is much less than they endured."

The Legion has taken from "the hand of the holy dead the torch of service" and will carry forth their ideals, dramatically concluded Mr. Kelly.

A song by the Boy Scout quartet, Ernest Racz, Merle Fraser, Otis Tewksbury and Alfred Parmenter was beautifully rendered.

MEMORIAL SPEAKER

Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, former state commander of the American Legion, urged adequate preparation in his Memorial day address at the Penniman Allen theatre Monday afternoon.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS AID IN INSTALLATION AT COUNTY MEETING

The local Royal Neighbors camp attended an all day meeting of the Wayne County Royal Neighbors on Wednesday, May 25, at the Hotel Detroit in Detroit. Twenty three officers and members from the local organization went in a body.

The officers of this camp did the initial work for the county and three ladies from here were initiated. They are Mrs. Emma Damon, Mrs. Mable Crawford and Mrs. Margaret Martin, all of Farmington.

At 8:00 p. m. two hundred people sat down to the banquet table with Judge J. A. Monihan as the toastmaster. Among notables of this fraternal society in attendance were State Supreme Manager Miss Jessie Mitchell of Brighton, State Supreme Supervisor and Deputy Miss Emma Richardson of Detroit and Supreme Recorder Mrs. Erna Berthel. City and county deputies were also in attendance.

Mrs. George Pickell of the local group of Wayne County was announced and she gave the local camp officers did very excellent work in the initiation of candidates.

The annual convention of the Royal Neighbors for 1933 will be held in Belleville.

KING'S DAUGHTERS TO MEET WITH MRS. STEWART

The next regular meeting of the King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Stewart, 547 Main street, West, on Tuesday afternoon, June 7. Come at one o'clock to sew and kindly bring all finished work for the hospital.

FORESTERS' AID.

The regular meeting of the Foresters' Aid will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pickell, 129 Eaton drive, Tuesday evening, June 7. Members are urged to be present.

Scout Troop Given Colors

The presentation of colors to the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Lloyd H. Green post of the Legion came as a climax to the program. Then came the fervent singing of "America," by the audience and the parade to the cemetery followed. The line-up followed the order in going to the theatre.

While the trees were stirred gently by a summer breeze the military salute and taps were given at Oakwood cemetery over the grave of Allen M. Harmon for whom the post of the G. A. R. here was named. Then to Rural Hill cemetery went the line of old and young alike where a shot rang out over the last resting place of Lloyd H. Green, Northville's only soldier to fall in action in France and for whom the local post of the Legion is named. In memory of the sailor dead the salute was fired over the creek nearby.

Thus again, as befits the memory of these honored dead, Northville impressively commemorated its 1932 tribute to those who gave their "last full measure of devotion."

Northville's Cities of the Dead Are Lovely Spots on Memorial Day As Hundreds Honor Loved Ones

The cemeteries presented a well groomed appearance Memorial Day. Hundreds of people had come from town and abroad to place flowers of memory upon the family lots. Baskets of cut flowers were in evidence everywhere and nature had co-operated to present a picture of loveliness never surpassed.

Oakwood is a small plot but the names of early settlers abound. Some of the names mean little to the throngs that passed through the gates when the salute to the soldiers at the grave of Allen M. Harmon was given.

Rural Hill is a picturesque spot. The hills and the arrangement of drives make for beauty. The approach ever ascending and winding here and there visions the ascent of Mt. Zion into the Holy City. Within the borders of these two cities of the dead is a population fully equal to the living on the streets and avenues of town and it will increase.

Memorial days are not wasted. We enjoy what those silent figures provided for us.

NORTHVILLE IN BILL FOR P. O. BUILDING

$70,000 Item Is Included in Garner Bill in Congress

Seventy thousand dollars for a proposed post office building in Northville for a post office is one of the items in a bill which Speaker Garner pushed vigorously at Washington this week.

This bill is one of the bitterly denounced by President Hoover as the most vicious "pork barrel" legislation in his history.

The idea is not new because Congressman Grant M. Hudson was very favorable to the plan of building here, and was widely seconded by former Postmaster General Brown.

Mrs. Brown believed that the smaller places as well as those which had greater political power should have government owned facilities.

The present time, it is generally believed, is hardly a period for a new building except to satisfy local pride.

If Congress determines to build a post office building here, Northville would be glad for the larger income to help the partial return of the constant stream of taxes which go Washingtonward year by year.

FACING DIFFICULTIES BRINGS BLESSINGS, SAYS REV. F. N. MINER

In memory of the fine manhood of 1861 who went out to their country's call, Rev. Frank N. Miner delivered his Memorial Day address Sunday morning at the Methodist church.

In presenting the relationship of values it was suggested that a new nation was born out of the conflict of 1861-5.

While there was sincerity on both sides it is not for us to fight over the old battles but rather to try for the "best-let" the difficulties then and now instruct us—seek for helps that strife and turmoil have thrown to us.

"There is always difficulty to meet," cautioned the speaker, but out of it will grow blessings. What others did should encourage us to reproduce in our own lives the best that others have done."

CHILDREN PRESENT PLAY AND OPERETTA

With a record attendance of over two hundred parents and friends the Parent-Teachers Association closed a very successful year. The children this time furnished the entertainment which always draws a good crowd. A two-act play, Seth Parker, and an operetta, The Shut-up Posy, were the attractions of the evening, Friday, May 27.

The curtain went up first on a home scene with Seth Parker and his wife before their friends. In trooped a company of neighbors in quaint costumes and the usual evening of community singing brought out a number of amusing situations among the more serious features.

Junior Cole as Seth Parker was very realistic and at ease. His wife, Miss Frances German, took her part well and played the organ by the light of a kerosene lamp as the party sang Helen Johnson brought down the audience by assuming the part of a would-be aristocrat and sang with "Seth" a pleasing duet. Jean Robinson and Helen Johnson sang with the chorus "In the Garden." This play was given by the 7A English class and was worked out originally by the class from their observation of the movie play. They were directed by Miss Van Vleet.

The operetta was a dainty little spring story very appropriate to the season. (Continued on last page)

Spirit of Sacrifice Now Needed, Father J. G. Schuler Tells Legion in Memorial Sermon Sunday Evening

Our Lady of Victory church was filled to capacity Sunday evening for the Memorial sermon by Father Joseph G. Schuler. Members of the American Legion and the Legion auxiliary were present in good numbers. The church was beautifully decorated with the American flag, Legion emblems and spring flowers. Many members of other congregations were present.

That these times call for a spirit of sacrifice was the underlying thought of the address of Father Schuler who took as his theme, "Acknowledgement and Sacrifice."

The following is a synopsis of the address: "The motto of every good citizen is God and Country. Hence this service in a church has a two-fold acknowledgement; that of a supreme God above us and that of our appreciation of the soldiers living and dead."

"It is well that in this day we still acknowledge God. It is our neglect of Him and our indifference towards Him that might explain our present difficulties. In large numbers did many snatch and grab the things from Providence, without so much as a thank you or further thought. Is it too much of a stretch of imagination or logic to feel that the above methods have been turned back and used upon some of our people?"

"The admirable course of nature suggests an Intelligent Mind creating and keeping it. Lack of logic suggests an indifferent God, unless we are admitting that our indifference towards Him should be used against us! If God supervises the world then His attitude towards it means something."

"We acknowledge the sacrifices of the soldiers. The dead have shown the greater love. They gave us their best possession, their life! The living sacrificed, home and comfort. The loving hands of Auxiliaries, W. R. C.'s and people endeavor to show their appreciation. Today the soldiers are the honored guests of the rest of us."

"But why Memorial services? Merely for kindly glances and thoughtful reminders? No. That would not be enough. It is the silent placing before us of the very potent question, 'Will you be willing to make similar sacrifices when called upon?' We are called upon in these present times? We are making sacrifices. Are we, however, willing to go far enough? Are there not some unnecessary comforts even now that we will not forego. Have we the needed stamina and stability to hold out? Would our pioneer forefathers have given up today? Just as we have, they had plenty of everything but money. Instead they used integrity and originality. Have progress and science made us less so?"

"The battle proves the soldier. It is the climax of all preparation. All armament and preparedness point to it. It is the test. The answer to the question is—lost battles. The suggestion of an attack reflects the genius of its prolonged demands the managing of emergencies, and produces the master. Will memorial services help to teach us this? If that can be accomplished, then we can say with the immortal Lincoln, 'These soldiers will not have died in vain.'"

BRING MONEY TO NORTHVILLE URGES LOYAL RESIDENT

To Record Editor: "Bring as many dollars as you can into Northville." To do this takes thought translated into hard work. You must have something—goods, service or property—that others want badly.

Styles of goods five years old will not suit the folks of today. There are too many fashion shows and style sheets to compete with. The slow, deliberate movements of the wooden awning day when horses remained hitched on Main street nearly all day, will not serve this "here and there, all over in a minute" age. Bring your service up to the minute. Act as though you really wanted to be of service.

The old run down property, ill kept and unattractive, will not have many buyers. Do all you can by your own effort, encouragement of those who are doing something and good impressions upon those who may have a notion to dwell with us.

Bringing money into Northville cannot be a spasmodic effort but a 24 hour proposition. The attempt must not be governed by hot and cold moods, nor by school boy tantrums. Everybody benefits by the coming of money into Northville, so get out your invitation to this elusive commodity. —Northville Home Owner.

TEACHERS DO NOT RECEIVE PAY CHECKS

School Board Makes a Loan to Meet the June
Pay Roll

Northville school teachers did not receive their customary pay checks Wednesday, June 1, for the first time within the history of the educational system here.

Following a hurried trip to Detroit to confer with officials of the Peoples-Wayne National Bank, J. J. Knapp, superintendent of the public schools here, and Sherrill Ambler, treasurer of the school board, stated Wednesday evening that they had negotiated for a loan of $4,500 which, they believed, would be forthcoming either today or tomorrow. The loan, if completed, will be more than sufficient with which to pay off the May pay roll.

A conversation with one of the teachers who asked that his name be withheld, revealed that the teachers have confidence in the school board and officials to deal with the emergency.

Northville officials have eked out the school funds in order to make them last through the school year but failing this, they must take rank with Detroit, Chicago and many larger towns who are struggling at the present time to meet the demands of school pay rolls.

Delinquent taxes were given as the cause for the unpaid salaries by school board officials, approximately 64 per cent of the township taxes being collected according to the report handed in by Township Supervisor W. A. Ely last April.

There is $27,000 in delinquent taxes to be collected, according to officials, which is paid would be enough to cut next year's budget in two.

Officials of the school board announced Thursday morning that an open public meeting will be held within two weeks, the tentative date being Monday evening, June 13, at the Northville high school auditorium. This date is not final and will be passed on by the school board at their meeting on Monday, June 6.

At the open meeting there will be an opportunity for all to discuss the operation of Northville schools, the financial situation with regard to next year and anything pertaining to school affairs that anyone wishes to discuss.

EATON CAPTURES FISHING HONORS

Eight Northville fishermen—Dr. P. R. Alexander, Nelson C. Schrader, Elton R. Eaton, Sherrill Ambler, L. C. Stewart, E. L. Mills, Dr. E. B. Cavell and Dayton Bunn have returned from their annual fishing trip to Burt lake which event took place last week-end.

These eight followers of the rod and reel take this trip each year and manifold and hair-raising are the mysterious rumors indicating that the troupe invariably has a good time on each trip.

Leaving in three cars on the morning of Thursday, May 26, the eight Isaac Waltons headed for Burt lake, approximately 25 miles from Cheboygan where they arrived without any mishap at 2 o'clock the same afternoon.

The weather was cold, states a member of the party, and the low hanging grey clouds augured ill for any fishing that day, so the party spent the afternoon acclimating themselves to the woodland home.

Friday, continued the narrator, following much discussion and with the thermometer still hovering around the bottom of the glass tube, only two of the fishermen dared brave the high winds and waves—Elton R. Eaton and Nelson C. Schrader.

H. S. COMMENCEMENT WILL BE DIFFERENT

Plans are under way for a very original commencement program to be given on the evening of June 23, which will include events pertaining to school work. There may be a student round table on vocational matters and a brief debate on an important school problem. A one-act play is another attraction with a variety of musical features directed by Leslie G. Lee. Brown in on the program. Mrs. Chapman is working on a feature of living representations of books. Other plans are not yet ready for announcement.

Altogether this program will be most interesting and quite out of the ordinary.

ALUMNI BANQUET WILL DRAW CROWD

One of the features of unusual interest in the approaching commencement season will be the annual alumni reunion to be held at the high school gym on Friday evening, June 24. At this time a goodly number of former "grads" and the present year's class are to sit down to a fine banquet which will be served by the Eastern Star ladies.

Invitations are being issued and reservations are expected to be in by June 16. Including the programs and dancing, the bill will be only fifty cents. Following is the delicious menu:

Fruit cocktail	Roils

CHIEF SAFFORD USES LADDER BUT RESCUES CHILDREN

Girl answers in the negative.

Irving J. Ulrich Is Among First Veterans in State to Receive the Decoration of "Purple Heart"

Irving J. Ulrich, well known business man and leader in American Legion circles, has the honor of being one of the very first service men in Michigan to receive the Order of the Purple Heart, the decoration being sent from the war department to those men who were wounded in action while fighting for the United States.

Mr. Ulrich, who was wounded at Chateau-Thierry during the World War, received this honored tribute this week. He was at that time a member of Company G, 125th Infantry.

There are other World War veterans in and around Northville who will also be eligible for the Purple Heart. Among them is Bob Lee.

The Purple Heart is the decoration originally issued by General George Washington in the war of the Revolution and has been revived this year by the war department in observance of the Washington Bicentennial.

Mr. Ulrich is prominent in affairs of the Lloyd H. Green post of the American Legion and recently was honored by being made acting commander of the Myron H. Beals post of Plymouth.

NORTHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL GETS HONOR

Ernest Racz and Golf Team
Are Entered in Big Events

Along with debating honors, spelling honors and similar laurels, the Northville high school is sending one boy, Ernest Racz, to Camp Inter-lachen, where the finest juvenile musical talent in the country is gathered each summer to receive special instruction, and the golf team is on its way to Grand Rapids to battle for state championship, as a result of its victory in the Ann Arbor regional meet last week.

Out of a tournament of eight games, the Northville high school golf team has carried off the honor as all but one. In this series the team has met Dearborn, Berley, University high, Ann Arbor, Plymouth, and the regional tournament at Huron Hills, Ann Arbor.

This winning team is composed of the following quartet of boys: Charles Rittenburg, Lewis Campbell, Kenneth Kerr and Jack McLoughlin. One remaining contest will be held and that is the state tournament to be held in Grand Rapids at the Masonic Country Club on June 4.

All the boys have received bronze medals for being on the winning team in this region. Jack McLoughlin received the second low medal in the tournament and Lewis Campbell the third.

Honoring this champion team, Mrs. Archie Kerr, mother of one of the members of the team, gave a fine chicken dinner at the Kerr home on Yerkes avenue last evening to put the boys in fine spirits for the coming meet. Paul Thompson, of the high school staff, has been the coach of this golf team and was included as a guest on this pleasant occasion.

Ernest Racz, 15 year old son of Emil Racz, Clement road, Northville has won the signal honor of a scholarship to Camp Interlachen, located 14 miles from Traverse City.

The camp is famous the world over as a meeting place during the summer of the best high school musicians of each state. Special instruction is offered by the best conductors and musicians of the country.

Ernest has received instruction from his father, himself a talented musician, since he was a little boy and by assiduous practice he has made the best use of his talents.

The elder Racz formerly played in the Boston Symphony orchestra and has studied in Europe for many years.

Ernest will leave for camp during the latter part of June and will stay there for eight weeks. The scholarship which he has won is for $250 and the small sum of $50 which will make up the amount necessary to send him to camp will be collected by Northville people.

MORATORIUM PLAN PROGRESS IS SLOW

Progress in completing the moratorium plan to open a new bank in Northville continues to be slow. In the meantime business men are taking losses and many others are suffering inconvenience and loss.

Two groups are blocking the completion of the agreement, which needs eighty-five per cent of signatures. One of these is a group of thirteen people who have signed a "round robin" that they would not sign the moratorium agreement.

This group represents about $75,000 of deposits. Their agreement apparently was inspired by three or four men who have been opposed to the moratorium plan. The other group that delays the signing of the necessary 85 per cent is composed of those who feel that certain officials of the former banks should have no part in forming the new bank.

One pleasing feature yesterday was that the Lapham State Savings bank received from California agreements representing several thousands of dollars.

The whole situation is most serious, enough so that The Record understands that local business men are considering ways and means to complete the agreement so that an end may come to the great loss the community is suffering.

All that is needed now for the success of the plan devised by the banking department is eight or nine per cent more for each bank.

Chief makes graceful (?) retreat from room and unlocks front door so children may enter. Children and girl are united. Chief yawns and goes back to his home to "knock off forty winks."

"All in a day's work," he says as curtain drops.

DON'T BELIEVE IT

"I just don't think that half the things they say about people are true," said one of our children at breakfast the other morning.

You are right, we said.

It is good to see the young people have a philosophy of life that has faith in the folks around you. Their minds are not embittered like some of their elders' are.

For the past few weeks we haven't been believing anything we hear. We know without investigating that most of these stories are not true.

If we can't have faith in each other, what a sad world we should have.

THE SAME OLD COUNTRY

"Why do we complain so much about hard times?" asks a friend of ours. "The country isn't going to the dogs. We have everything we ever had—the same good country, the same marvelous highways, the same automobiles that everyone seems to keep on running, the same old friends, the same good Michigan climate that puts joy and zip into the heart, the same resources of field, forest and mines."

Say, if our fathers and grandfathers had half what we have, they would think they were rolling in wealth.

We think the brother is right.

We wouldn't swap the spiritual values that surround our own little home and life for all the money you could stack up in the Record office. And we don't mean maybe.

IMPERFECT FOLKS

We sometimes think folks are "funny." Anyone meeting the public every day in business probably has this same thought. Some one of whom you expect more, will show some little trait of selfishness or thoughtlessness that makes you feel badly, then along will come someone else and turn the whole day into pleasure by a little unexpected kindness. And yet, when the day's doings are all totalled the balance is all on the side of the fine folks—the ones who don't carry around a chip on their shoulders, the ones who haven't an "axe to grind," the ones who would rather help you than take too much for themselves, the ones who are big hearted and not "small potatoes."

Yes, the world's work is done by imperfect people but it is a good world after all and we like it—and we like our job even though we get bumped every so often.

THE NOBLE JIMMY WALKER

Probably if Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City stole two hundred thousand dollars from a bank there would be some chance to send him to jail—Tammany or no Tammany.

But the dapper Jimmy can get up in court at New York—as he did last week—and admit getting profits of over two hundred thousand dollars without investing a nickel and the throngs in the court room cheer him to the echo. What's two hundred thousand dollars among friends, anyway?

Verily Tammany is no Sunday-school crew in New York.

And if you want to know one thing that is the matter with the country, you have a cross section of it at New York where the people rise up and cheer at the smart grafters.

As long as people stand for this sort of political corruption, just so long will the tax burden weigh down on the backs of the willing people that seem to enjoy idolizing the very people that "rim" them.

GREED BRINGS GRIEF

Part of the trouble of the world right now is due to greedy men. Selfishness has run wild in many places and men have tried to get rich over night. Some of them are men who hold office and who have prostituted their trust to make dishonest money. Some of them are "big bankers" of the big cities who have used other people's money for stock speculation so that they might live in luxury. Some of them are business men who have thought more of profits than of service to their fellow men.

Time always levels the haughtiness of human kind and a lot of these greedy people are getting plenty of harvest from their overwhelming selfishness. They have overreached themselves and trouble is upon them. Some have lost all they had in their desire to get more and others have gone to jail.

But whether punished or not, the greedy, selfish person gets his own reward. He loses the joy of living that comes in big measure to the one who thinks of his fellowmen not as stepping stones to more money but as the opportunity for real service.

JUST A PREDICTION

Right or wrong, here's a little prediction:

Times are going to get better, starting in a few weeks. Why do we dare predict this? For this reason: The people of the United States, wearing shoes through which you can feel the pavement, running cars that are near falling to pieces, sitting on furniture that has seen its best days, wearing clothes that are ready for the rag bag, are ready to start buying new shoes, new automobiles, new furniture and new clothes. And say, when they start to buying, there is going to be one scramble for the stuff. It would not be surprising to see prices start up and when they go up that means that better times are not far off.

The buying public is about ready to "bust" its strike and when the buying starts a lot of people are going to be able to go to work again. The shelves of the country need re-stocking badly and when the merchants start filling them up, the wheels will start to moving. Then men will go to work and the happy circle will get to rotating for better times.

Right here in Northville there was a striking example the past two weeks of this need of people to start buying.

We know of two automobiles that were bought, purely and simply because their owners had to "junk" their old machines—they had served their time.

And if Congress will just adjourn after balancing the budget, there isn't a reason in the world why we can't quit talking about our troubled times.

Northville and the whole U. S. A.—let's go.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

How's your insurance?

"I like folks to disagree with me once in a while," says Wellington Roberts. So do we—in fact a lot of the time we have been numbered with the minority.

Editor A. L. Anderson of The Eastlawn Stethoscope gets a tribute from some paper down in Oklahoma. Well we don't know of anyone more entitled to it than "Andy."

Just wrote a brief note to Charley Schoultz at the U. S. naval hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. Hospitals are great stuff but they are pretty lonesome places when you are there alone.

Just about a year ago the Record was moving into its new home in the Neal building. What a year! As a matter of fact, about three years rolled into one. And yet a year with some very pleasant memories, mixed up with the ups and downs that have come to us. "Too much sunshine makes the desert," Dr. J. L. Seaton, president of Albion college, used to say.

Our boy Paul offered to build us a rock garden for five dollars—he wants to get a license for his 1918 flivver. So we took him to see Mrs. T. R. Carrington's marvelous garden for just a few minutes. Well when he looked over the two or three hundred varieties of flowers and plants that she has spent seven years in getting he had a new idea of rock gardens.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

How can we get a plan for financing new homes in Northville?

"THE VELVET HAMMER"

(Rae Corliss in The Parma News)

In a statement to the press a few days ago, urging some relief measure, President Hoover spoke about "frozen confidence." This is a sermon in two words.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, is dead right when he says the civilization which pauperizes agriculture commits suicide. He's not running this year, either.

THE FARMER LOSES

(Delta Reporter, Gladstone)

Many farmers in this section have been compelled to buy feed for their live stock. The other day we watched a farmer place a half ton of hay on his truck. It cost him $8.00. He said he had to feed this to his cows whose production of milk would bring less than the cost of the hay and other feed. He will lose money, just as he would if he failed to feed his cattle properly.

The farmer has the one big advantage that he can consume that which he produces. In that case the market price matters little, for he can trade for the items he lacks by disposing of those he has in abundance.

BRUCKER TRIED TO HELP

(Ionia County News)

Credit should be given Governor Brucker for his attempt to do something for the small borrower when he sent a proposal to the legislators during the special session asking them to reduce the legal rate of small loan companies to a point around 25 per cent instead of the 42 per cent now collectable by law. As usual the "forgotten man" had neither friends or influence at court and the old confiscatory rate still prevails, although the legal rate for other forms of loans is but seven per cent. Right now most of the newspaper boys in the state are checking up on the actual results of the special session and are prepared to tell the entire story without fear or favor. There seems to be quite a bit of sentiment prevailing that it is the legislators and not the governor who will suffer for the sins of omission in the recent attempt to do something for a harassed people.

A LITTLE MORE MODESTY, PLEASE

(Ingham County News, Mason, Mich.)

Modesty is a virtue that many politicians are prone to overlook. From present indications it appears that the dear public is going to be shown some horrible examples of self-advertisement. Just last week a case came to light where an official donated 10 per cent of his salary to the city. It seems reasonable to suppose that other politicians will now become avid for a little of the same publicity.

But a little thought upon the subject should convince every candidate that these five and 10 per cent donations seem trifling in comparison to losses sustained by business men. What is a five or 10 per cent reduction in a fancy salary to losses ranging from 25 to 100 per cent suffered by men in private life?

Most of us like to keep our charitable acts from the headlines. A touch of this modesty would seem becoming in those who run for office. Otherwise some of the candidates will appear to be seeking fancy salaries merely to enable them to give greater alms.

HURRY UP, CONGRESS

(Clinton County, St. Johns, Republican News)

Congress continues to wrangle. To a greater extent than the average person realizes the channels of commerce and natural trend of business is being held up. The uncertainty that is the result of pending legislation is a direct brake upon the actions of the business of this country. No one knows what to expect. They do not wish to plunge blindly into something that may prove disastrous because of some new tax or new law.

The higher income tax proposals, the sales tax advocates, the inability of Congress to agree on a plan to cut federal expenses, and the apprehension shown in attacking the ever-present prohibition agitation are all elements. Being an election year, every another's son-in-law is being held in the ground for they all want to be required. There is much jockeying and delay in order to get credit for individuals and party for anything that may reflect credit, also to place discredit for the inevitable but necessary increase of taxes.

The sooner that Congress makes a sensible disposal of its affairs the sooner the country will breathe a sigh of relief. In some respects the situation is more critical than in 1916-17. Then the momentous decision had been a clear and understandable course. We declared war and there was nothing left to do but get ready and fight. Today even the leaders seem to be more or less uncertain. They are unwilling to take responsibility themselves and they refuse to follow President Hoover's lead.

Frank Plantard family are moving this week from their home on Six Mile road to 9134 Newburg road, Plymouth.

WHO SENT RECORD

"JACKASS" POETRY?

Ordinarily The Record puts in the good old wastebasket all anonymous communications but we break our rule to run a piece of poetry which some one sends in. He (or she) must think it may have some local application, so we give it below:

Two fool jackasses—now get this Hope—
Were tied together with a piece of rope.

Said one to the other; "You come my way.

While I take a nicker at this new-mown hay."

"I won't," said the other, "You come with me.

For I, too, have some hay you see."

So they got nowhere, just pawed up dirt.

And oh, by golly, how that rope did hurt.

Then they faced about, those stubborn mules.

And said, "We are just like human fools.

Let's pull together, I'll go your way."

Then come with me, and we'll both eat hay!"

Well, they ate their hay and liked it too.

And swore to be comrades' good add true.

As the sun went down they were heard to say,

"Ah, this is the end of a perfect day."

Now get this lesson—don't let it pass:

Learn this one thing from the fool jackass.

We must pull together—'tis the only way.

To put business on the map and put it to stay.

WATERFORD LAKE ATTRACTS THROGS ON MEMORIAL DAY

Let's go fishing. Where? Well, you won't have to go far. The place is just across from the Cass Benton Park, on the other side of the railroad grading. You can't see the lake from the paved road leading to Plymouth but if you drive up as far as the Six Mile road and climb that steep incline across the tracks, and then drive Northville-ward for a few hundred yards, you will come to one of the most pleasant fishing spots in these parts.

Some call it Waterford lake and others call it Ford's lake, presumably because Henry Ford built the dam at the lower end of the lake. At any rate, hundreds of people have come to think of this little body of water (it's about a quarter mile in area) as a fine place to catch perch, bass, pike and bluegills.

Last Sunday and Monday, Escapade Day, scores of people fished there and many fished for it. It's a fine picnic grounds, they tell you. Old men, young men and boys, and the women-folk too, could be seen casting their hookline and sinker into the untrodden waters.

That they were successful could be deduced by the shouts of delight of the fishermen heard at frequent intervals during the day.

Willow branches, nicely peeled, ranked along with the "boughten" casting rods as a part of the fishing equipment used by the many indulging in the piscatorial sport.

There's a lot of swimming going on at this lake too, and the bright, hued costumes of young men and women were much in evidence.

The dam at the lower end of the lake is one of its finest features. With a span of nearly fifty feet it has a drop of ten feet or more, presenting as pretty a waterfall as can be seen in this vicinity. In beauty it equals, even surpasses the falls at Phoenix lake. A part of it can be seen under the viaduct but to get a full view of its beauty you must cross the grading.

Fishermen catch large fish in the rapids below the dam, standing in the water or fishing from the bridge just below the fishing cateract.

Perhaps Northville has not fully awakened to the fact that they have such a fine place at their very door. The land surrounding the lake is picturesque, with rolling hills and tall trees.

ORANGE AND BLACK AGAIN DOWNS COUNTRY DAY

For the second time this year, Detroit Country Day school fell heavily before the Northville sluggers when they were beaten here last Tuesday, May 24, 12 to 4. For the first two innings, Meininger, pitching for Northville, allowed Country Day to feel gay, but in the third, Northville changed that smile by sending two well earned runs across the plate, taking the lead 2-1.

From then on one Northville run followed another, until, the grand climax in the sixth inning in which N. H. S. talked six times to win the game by the 12-4 score. It was unnecessary for the Orange and Black squad to play out their half of the seventh.

The Northville runs were made by Lemmon, Dickenson, Meininger, who made two each, and Berend, Deal, Westphal, Kohler, Beasley and Ware scored one each.

I INTENDED to have my telephone taken out. But when I was told of many actual cases in which

I decided to keep mine for a month or so.

JUST 3 DAYS LATER, one of the employers with DIFFERENT from the stove

you had when YOU were a bride!"

When you were married, only wealthy families could afford an electric range. Wouldn't you have been thrilled with a brand new Electrochef like mine? Not even the most expensive homes, in your day, ever had a stove like this! I can't believe that such a lovely range can cost so little to buy and operate. Brides today are lucky—even with a modest budget, they can afford an Electrochef.

"There are so many superior features about electric cooking that I wouldn't be without it. The cleanliness, the convenience, the coolness, the better flavor and healthfulness—all these things are reasons why electric cooking is the finest flowing lines and distinctive appear-

I'm prouder of my Electrochef

CASTERLINE TELLS OF THE FIREFSTONE TRIUMPH IN RACE

A graphic story of the remarkable part played by tires in the 500-mile international sweepstakes on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Decoration Day, was told today by Chiff Casterline, Firestone dealer in Northville. It was the thirteenth consecutive triumph for Firestone in this great motor racing classic.

"There is no more severe test of automobile tires than that to which they were put at Indianapolis," said Mr. Casterline.

The cars, darted along the straightaway at close to 150 miles an hour and swept into the embanked curves at an appalling pace. It was on these turns that the stress and strain was the hardest. As the cars dived into the turns their momentum caused them to climb the embankment from the lower rim to the outer rim. This was an uncontrollable action by the car and it is called "drifting." In these perilous moments it was necessary that there be a perfect coordination between the skill of man and the strength of steel and rubber to avoid disaster.

At these terrific speeds one would expect to find great holes burned in the tread and the rubber worn entirely away. But nothing of the sort happened. An inspection of Firestone tires after they had traveled the full 500 miles revealed an amazing state of preservation. Very little wear was discernible.

"It is the patented construction features of Firestone tires which have made it possible for them to hold a supreme mastery for thirteen years in the 500-mile contest. Gumbo-tapping is one of these features. By this process the innermost fibers of the cord body are coated with rubber and protected against the fierce heat which in other tires is developed by friction at high speeds. At 100 miles an hour the centrifugal force in a tire increases its circumference by more than ten per cent, which would throw off the tread of ordinary tires. Firestone engineers solved this problem by means of a construction principle known as a gum-dipped cord which places under the tread, by this patented method of construction, the tread and body are held together in a perfect unit.

"The life of a racing driver is dependent at all times on the performance of his tires. It is not surprising that the majority choose Firestone."

FREDDIE'S FIRST SPEECH

No one would have known that it was Freddie Casterline's first public appearance as a speaker when he recited in splendid fashion, "In Flanders Field," at the Memorial exercises Monday. "I noticed that he was rolling his coat tails at the last just a little," said his dad, Ray Casterline, but no one else was that critical.

WAL FORNEY CATCHES EIGHT POUND PICKEREL

A record catch of from 60 to 65 pounds rewarded the efforts of Wm. Forney, Samuel Strengh, Donald van Aka, John Walker and Fred Hicks on their fishing trip to Algonac on Thursday, May 26.

Although it rained six times the spirits of the fishermen remained undampened and "Bill" Forney, with a hefty eight and a quarter pound pickerel resting in his basket, won the honors for the day.

"STATE'S ATTORNEY"

John Barrymore, as a dashing lover and courageous fighter, in the role of a criminal lawyer, is the attraction at the Penman Allen theatre Wednesday, June 8 in RKO Radio Pictures "State's Attorney." Helen Twelvetrees, a star in her own right, and other notable screen players including William Boyd, Jill Eustice, Mary Duncan, Raoul Rouven, Oscar Apfel, Ralph Ince and C. Henry Gordon support him in the production.

Barrymore plays the role of a brilliant attorney who turns from defending criminals to prosecuting them. A romantic figure who wins feminine hearts with the same ease that he does juries, he becomes involved in serious complications which reach their climax in the closing moments of a dramatic murder trial.

George Archambault, who directed RKO Radio's aviation hit, "The Lost Squadron," megaphoned the picture. Gene Fowler, author of "The Great Mouthpiece," wrote the screen play based upon an original story by Louis Stevens.

NO ACCIDENTS HERE ON MEMORIAL DAY

All was well, with Northville on Memorial Day as far as traffic was concerned, according to Chief of Police Bill Safford, who reports no accidents on that day.

Traffic was rerouted for the big parade and no inconvenience was experienced by Chief Safford and Officer Bob Pickel in handling the situation.

On Sunday two slight collisions between Detroiters, whose names were not ascertained occurred at Randolph and at Rutton streets.

EXCHANGITES HEAR SIX LIFE HISTORIES

Six exchanges gave their "life histories" before their fellow members at the weekly meeting of the Exchange club held Wednesday at the Methodist church.

The six were: P. L. Salpe, Fraser Steiman, Geo. Fackelburg, Robert G. Verkes, Kenneth Bathburn and Ad. Schweitzer.

A short talk by Dr. P. R. Alexander on the fishing trip taken by some of the members of the club, a more complete description is given elsewhere in these columns.

The full 500 miles revealed an amazing state of preservation. Very little wear was discernible.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BEST FRIEND OF STORES SAYS MACY'S EXECUTIVE

The newspaper of today is the best friend the retail store advertising business has, and always has been the best advertising medium such stores can possibly employ, writes Kenneth Collins, executive vice-president and publicity director of R. H. Mac & Company in his book called "The Road to Good Advertising." The book has just been published by Greenberg.

"I am constantly being attacked by direct-mail advertisers and others for this point of view," Collins says. "If I am wrong then nearly every store in America is wrong. With hardly an exception, they all spend by far the greatest portion of their advertising money in the newspaper. And a quarter of a century ago the same was true in the United States and all over the world."

Collins declares that advertisers are misinformed, newspaper advertising is frequently placed in the wrong newspaper, he points out, and advertisers have an insane desire to "follow the leader."

When one large store for example, selects a certain paper for an advertising campaign, other stores usually "fall in line."

"Millions of dollars are spent annually," he writes, "with the competitor's schedule as the only guide. A newspaper, after all, is a moving van—moving goods from stores to customers. Some of these vans go 20 miles an hour, some 40. Some cost $25 a day to operate, some $35.

In selecting a newspaper it is vital to look under the hood and make the body, to ascertain how fast it can travel and what it can carry in large volume."

Discussing the status of advertising under the depression, Collins criticizes merchants for not strengthening their campaigns.

This idea then reveals to us the attitude of science towards religion. There was a time when men without a knowledge of nature, or rather science, had an emotional attitude of fear towards the universe, and as we read about civilizations during that time we find it was reflected in their culture, ethics, economics and politics. Men sought to win the universe by the using of sacrificial rites and mystical ceremonies.

But men of science brought a new technique of religion into our world. Their conception of God was one of friendliness in that they began discovering his laws and learning how to apply them to the needs of man's every day life. Without science men lived lives that were exalted, but they seemed to placate God. But with science religion becomes an effort to co-work with God.

With such a change new religious values and objectives become a part of the social order. There are also new modes of worship, and finally ing of the real universe in which he actually does live.

If such a thing be true, the more that man is able to delve into the real universe through science, the more readily can he win his forces whereby he can have friendly intercourse with his own individual life, the deeper then it seems to me will be his religious reverence for a universe he can understand. He then will not be afraid of law and order, in the presence of God. For he will not then consider God as a force of caprice. With this idea in mind there should be no controversy between religion and science.

DR. CHESTERFIELD ONCE DENTIST HERE DIES IN THE RIVER

The death of Dr. A. P. Chesterfield in the Au Sable river last Friday recalls the fact that he practiced dentistry in Northville following his graduation from the U. of M. in 1907. He went to Detroit about two years later and had become very prominent as a specialist in dental surgery. He was a sportsman and loved big game hunting. He visited Africa three times on hunting expeditions.

Dr. Chesterfield was unmarried. He went to the Au Sable river to fish and was found in the water dead. Heart disease was the supposed cause of death.

SCOUT DISTRICT MEETING AND COURT OF HONOR TO BE HELD ON JUNE 10

A district committee meeting and court of honor for the Scouts of the Plymouth district will be held Friday, June 10, at the Methodist church at Newburgh.

At the business meeting of the Scout executive committee of the district, the possibility of allowing Scoutmasters to participate as members of the district committee will be discussed.

EDGEWATER PARK BALLROOM ADDS CLASSIC FEATURE

To really enjoy dancing these things are essential. First comes a microphone floor. The music must be loud. And the surroundings add so much to the occasion if they are delightful.

Jean Goldkette's Edgewater Park ballroom supplies the first essential with a brand new microphone floor. The Southland Shufflers, director from New Orleans, have certainly scored a hit with Edgewater Park dancers, so the music is all that could be desired. Never before has the ballroom appeared so beautiful. Thousands of flowers add to the striking appearance of the new together with its rainbow dance. Artistic touches throughout the ballroom live up to the promises of the gorgeous entrance.

It is readily apparent that Jean Goldkette has combined many features to make every dance at Edgewater Park, Seven Mile road, West, a distinct pleasure. This classic ballroom is open every evening.

MERCHANTS' FREE SHOW ON WEDNESDAY CONTINUES TO PLAY TO CAPACITY HOUSES

The "Sin of Madame Claudette," which was the main attraction at the Penman Allen theatre Wednesday night for the free Merchants' show, filled the house to capacity at both performances.

This is the most remarkable talkie Northville has witnessed for a long time. While the plot and construction was weak, the excellent cast headed by Helen Hayes, with such seasoned players as Lewis Stone and Jean Harlow in the supporting roles and a list of other good character actors assisting with such capable direction made the talkie a triumphed production.

Charlie Wilson and three sons visited with the former's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Wolfe.

Floyd Lapham and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Lapham of South Lyon were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. Witte.

On Sunday the annual visit of troop No. 189 from the Nardin Park M. E. church of Detroit, occurred. Their Scoutmaster, E. Bart Connelly, local preacher, gave a good talk on the good life in times like these. The ladies of the congregation served them with a good, hot dinner.

The board of review sessions in Livonia township will be held in Rosedale Gardens. They will meet on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 7 and 8, and Monday and Tuesday, June 13 and 14 and all of the boards will be in session from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. Requests for changes in assessments must be made at these sessions to receive consideration.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Chapin will leave Saturday for Hillman where they have a cottage on Lake Avalon, to spend the summer. Hugh says he is going fishing and after that he will fish awhile and intersperse these activities with fishing and swimming. Hugh has been employed as linotype operator with the Record for the past three years.

Printing that pleases at the Northville Record.

What to this writer's mind is of great importance, there are new conceptions of righteousness.

OAKLAND AREA COUNCIL OF SCOUTS TO HOLD RALLY AT FARMINGTON JUNE 10

Northville people living beyond Base-Line road in Oakland county are invited to attend one of the most beautiful spectacles as well as one of the largest gatherings of the year in this part of the state, at Farmington on Friday evening of next week, June 10. The event will be the annual Rally and Jamboree of the Oakland Area Council comprising 30 troops, and will be attended by Gov. Brucker, who will assist in flag-raising and dedication ceremonies, giving a brief dedication address.

The Council Court of Honor will provide one of the most striking outdoor scenes ever witnessed in the county. Scout executives found an ideal spot for the pageant, a natural amphitheatre formed by a sloping hillside overlooking Rouge river, which is spanned by a narrow bridge. The hillside will accommodate thousands and it is expected that many not connected with Scouting will attend because of the attractiveness of the event. There is no cost or charge of any kind.

Events preceding the Court of Honor will be equally worth seeing. A parade beginning at 7:00 p. m. sharp, will include many Scouts dressed as Indians in full war-paint and regalia. Two or more bands will furnish music.

The parade on Grand River will halt at the log cabin, Farmington's famous log cabin recently given to the Scouts for their use by the City. Gov. Brucker will give a short dedication address and raise the flag. Mayor Lamb will present the keys of the cabin. Amplifiers will be installed so that all may be sure of hearing Traffic. Will be barred from Grand River and ample parking space provided.

The parade will start at 7:00 o'clock sharp.

PROF. LOEFFLER, FORMER EDUCATOR HERE, RECEIVES MENTION IN DETROIT NEWS

A fine write-up of Prof. John Loeffler, principal of the Cary school, Detroit, appeared in Wednesday's News in his discussion of his teaching in Northville. The News says he was here in 1927. The records of the district disclose that he was appointed in charge of the school here in September, 1929, following the death of Mr. B. Gilbert, now of the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint.

The account was given as a tribute to the seven sons of the Loeffler family.

Mrs. Mandana Kellog

The funeral of Mrs. Mandana Kellog, 91 years old, occurred at the Schrad's funeral parlors Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Kellog's parents, the Maccombers, were Northville residents and she spent her girlhood here. She was a sister of the late Wm. and Frank Macomber. Her past forty years Mrs. Kellog has been a patient in the Pontiac state hospital. Lee Macomber and his son from Cleveland attended the funeral. Interment was made in the Plymouth cemetery.

The production was directed by John Blystone, from William Anthony McGuire's story. Una Merkel, James Kirkwood and Dorothy Peterson are excellent in other important roles.

Not only is the production a tribute to the memory of the diminutive blonde actress, for it is reported that she mounted the same horse after her recovery to complete the picture, but it is also a great credit to her remarkable dramatic ability.

As the winner of the "Atlantic City Beauty Contest," who married a wealthy founder for his money, Miss Bennett gives a performance that is genuine, scintillating and outstanding.

After five or six hours they'll carry the body away and the swimming will go on.

I don't know why I feel so pessimistic but each year when I think of how many are drowned in the lakes throughout the country, I pause to do a little cogitating.

And it isn't "the pause that refreshes" either!

When you're out for a good time this coming summer—take all the precautions you can—it'll pay.

Many of the businessmen are not exactly satisfied with the way that the Night Hawk celebration was run out and are planning to run one of their own shortly.

I still claim that the "Twilight Hummer," which brought 3,000 people here last summer, winding up with a dance on North Center street in the evening, was the best celebration Northville has seen for some time.

For those who know them: George Noland's beard grows longer every day; Bill Forney has more fun on Main street than anyone else; John McCully out walking between the raindrops—and don't ask "why"; Sam Brader, not saying much but he's still "sawing wood"; Bill Safford, "smiling, looks like a very cheeked cherub such as Michael Angelo painted on wall frescoes; "Dad" Saxton, other than whom no one has a more cheerful greeting or contagious smile; Teckle Owen, whose charm and personality have won her legions and multitudes of friends, says we put her name in the paper too often.

Re-hum, wish I was a fisherman. I'm not but I'd have to have some excuse for knocking off a few days. I'm only half here today, the other half of me is loitering on the sand of Menomona Beach near Petoskey. 'Twon't be long now.

"STATE'S ATTORNEY"

John Barrymore, as a cashing lover and courageous fighter, in the role of a criminal lawyer, is the attraction at the Penniman Allen Radio Pictures "State's Attorney."

Helen Twelveteens, a star in her own right, and other notable screen players including William Boyd, Jill Esmond, Mary Duncan, Raoul Roulien, Oscar Apfel, Ralph Ince and the Henry Gordon support him in the production.

Barrymore plays the role of a brilliant attorney who turns from defending criminals to prosecuting them. A romantic figure who wins feminine hearts with the same ease that he does juries, he becomes involved in serious complications which reach their climax in the closing moments of a dramatic murder trial.

George Archambaud, who directed RKO Radio's aviation hit, "The Lost Squadron," megaphoned the picture. Gene Fowler, author of "The Great Mountain," wrote the screen play based upon an original story by Louis Stevens.

WOMEN'S PAGE

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By MRS. EDITOR

Last week we discussed the domestic type of mother. In direct contrast we turn to another woman who has been able to keep her sparkling individuality and at the same time be a devoted mother. Now this is no easy task. Isn't it noticeable that women are usually divided into two classes—the woman who gives herself up entirely to the job of motherhood, who goes about all day in a house dress with that everlasting safety pin stuck "haadily" in the front, and her hours measured by the baby's bottle time, or else the pendulum swings to the opposite extreme—the woman who would not miss a bridge party for anything?

This is why we marvelled at the Northville woman whose children are notoriously happy, courteous and well-cared-for yet who manages to keep alert in church and school affairs and society. "How do you do it?" we wondered. And this is what she told us:

Children are the most important part of a home. If I have to neglect anything, it's the housework—not the children. They must be brought up in a happy atmosphere and must not think of mother as an everlasting tattle who gets cross because she is tired. Their early impressions are lasting and they will not admire nor love mother so much if she allows herself to become a dull drudge. Moreover, her disposition becomes bedraggled if she allows herself to stay on the job too constantly.

Children like to have their mothers do other things. They like to be proud of her and see her dressed up to meet "dear teacher" and taking a part in affairs. We owe it to our children, said she, to develop ourselves all around it as important to attend to our social duties as to mend their stockings.

Children love to see mother put on a pretty dress and step out to a party. They will be glad to hustle around and help a little extra so she can go when they find out that mother needs to "unbend the bow" now and then and that she will come back a "jollyer, better mother" after a pleasant time with her friends. Mother, they must remember, is an individual as much as their own little important selves. It is up to mother—

And how do you manage to go to one o'clock luncheons? We ask this well-balanced woman. "I have their lunch all ready when they come home from school and I am already dressed to go. They are proud to see me dressed up and share in the fun of my going. They are glad to wash the dishes and surprise me by having everything in order when I come home. It is good for them to realize that mother was not meant to be a maid."

This woman is an important factor in her church, in school life and in society, in fact the whole community is refreshed by her stimulating personality—and her children adore her. Lucky woman!

Another "pearl of wisdom" this woman dropped we will tell about later. (Mr. Editor is a bit stingy with space!)

4 egg yolks, 4 tablespoonsful vinegar, 1 tablespoonful water, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1/2 pint whipping cream. Put 4 eggs in double boiler, add vinegar and water. Stir. Mix sugar and mustard and add to first mixture. Cook until thick, stirring. Remove and chill. Add to whipped cream.

ICING

Two thirds cup sugar, water enough to dissolve. Boil till it spins a thread when dropped from a spoon. Beat white of 1 egg. Stir into it boiled syrup and beat. Flavor.

MRS. N. C. SCHRAEDER'S SPICE CAKE (DELICIOUS)

1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon lard, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon allspice, pinch of salt, 1 cup sour milk, 2 cups of flour, 1 teaspoon soda. Add raisins and nuts.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN—

Hoyt Woodman pumped the organ at the Methodist church—oh, half a century ago or less?

Nels Schrader steered one of those wobbly electric cars along the tracks between Northville and Wayne about 1901?

Milo Johnson handed out mail and wise cracks to each and sundry customers before the delivery system two score years ago?

Will Yerkes bestrode a 60 inch Columbia high wheel bicycle in the good old days of dirt roads and dusty streets in the gay nineties?

Sam Knapp was the leading rooster for the home team in the days of bare handed catching and unprotected shambles when the century was young?

The Thompkins woods covered Hill Crest and came to the very doors of the Bloom residence—oh, long, long ago?

Main street only went west as far as the present city hall?

NORTHVILLE HORSEMEN BURST INTO PUBLICITY

Northville broke into the brown section of the Detroit News Sunday when there appeared riding on their mounts Dr. and Mrs. Burkart, Phil H. Gremman and Harry Clark. The horses all look very spirited and their riders at with accustomed grace. The likenesses are all good, the only flaw being that one horse's ear had most of the doctor's face. Northville is proud of this favorable publicity given, which will draw city folks out here to enjoy the riding privileges of this district.

Pictures also appeared of a party of horsemen and women returning from a ride to enjoy a barbecue at Arrowhead, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rawle Brown. Recognized among these are pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Phil Gremman and Robert G. Yerkes.

Gwendolyn Jones Celebrates Birthday With Friends

Tuesday was the twelfth birthday of Gwendolyn Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jones, and she was made happy by inviting twelve girl friends to enjoy with her an outing in Cass-Benton park. The girls feasted on waffles around a camp stove and lunched on the feast off with a birthday cake.

Mrs. Martin Entertains For Out-of-town Guests

Mrs. Martha Martin of 559 North Capitol street invited guests Monday night for two tables of 800. Afterwards light refreshments were served. Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. John Miller from Green Bay, Wisconsin, Mrs. Don Martin of Detroit and Mrs. Michael Wiesse of Grosse Pointe. The Northville guests were Mrs. Glenn Richardson and Mrs. Ed Balko.

Mrs. Schrader and Miss Reva Give Breakfast

Mrs. N. C. Schrader and daughter Miss Reva, entertained a party of friends at a delightful breakfast at their home Friday morning. The tables were decorated with baskets of dogwood and spirea. Most of the company were "fishy widows" while their husbands were trying their luck up in the Au Sable river. After breakfast bridge was played.

Mrs. Knapp Receives Friends At Luncheon

Mrs. Thad J. Knapp extended hospitality to a group of Detroit friends and a few from Northville at her home Wednesday afternoon. A luncheon was served at one o'clock, followed by a delightful social time during the hours of the afternoon. Those from this village included in this occasion were Mrs. Margaret Yerkes, Mrs. Wm H. Yerkes, Mrs. T. P. Brennan and Mrs. R. B. Dusenbury. Mrs. E. J. Frost, sister of Mrs. Yerkes, of Boston, was also among the guests.

Miss Yerkes Honored On Her Birthday

The birthday anniversary of Miss Ruth Yerkes was happily celebrated at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Sr., on May 30 when the family gathered around the "festive board" to enjoy a dinner together. A big birthday cake crowned the occasion.

Included in the party, beside the family in Northville were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Holden and children of Detroit, John C. Burkman of Birmingham, Miss Rose Blondell and Mrs. Mary Yerkes of this place. Callers who came during the day were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rawson and Chas. Norton of Ann Arbor.

Miss Leona Gitt, Nov, Weds Cyrus Rippy of Detroit

In the presence of about fifty friends a very pretty church wedding occurred on Saturday, May 21, when Miss Leona Gitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Gitt of Novi, became the bride of Cyrus D. Rippy of Detroit. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Wm. Witt.

The bride was gown in lovely cream chiffon and attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Martha Lay, Frank Bird, a friend of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony the wedding party went to the home of the bride's parents where an elaborate wedding dinner was served. The young couple left immediately by train on a trip to Washington, D. C., and after a short stay in the East will return and make their home in Detroit where Mr. Rippy is employed as an electrician by the Michigan Central railroad.

Rotarians Fete Their Wives On Tuesday Evening

Again the Rotary Anns were entertained delightfully by their husbands at a dinner at the Presbyterian church house on Tuesday evening. A little additional act of courtesy to their wives was the presenting of a beautiful American beauty rose to each (which quite touched the hearts of said wives). A delicious menu was served at long tables brightened by bowls of flowers. Singing in unison during the dinner was heartily enjoyed.

Following dinner Pierre Kenyon, a guest of the evening, favored the season. With Evelyn Ambler as Spring lying cold and sleeping, and Mother, Barth, Jean Robinson, brooding over her wistfully, the scene began. With vain attempts to awaken her there trooped in one by one an angel, Betty Haystead, the south wind, Roy Groomer, the north wind, Richard Ambler, daisy, Vivian Grosvenor, violet, Ruth Mary Mills, Easter Rabbit, Charles Hill, Jack-in-the-pulpit, Bob Boyden, "Dutch boy," Harry Porter, Shepard, Douglas McCuskie, Sun maiden, Fatsy MacLaughlin, Forget-me-not, "Ballet Dancer" finally arrives the Shut-up Pigeon, little Marilyn Cavell, who succeeds in awakening Spring so that she may unfold her pink petals.

The operetta was full of songs, solos and choruses, and the pretty costumes in their many hues made a colorful picture.

Especially appreciated was the closing number well rendered by the ensemble, "To Spring," by Grieg, in which an orchestra accompanied the young singers. The credit for this fine production goes to Leslie G. Lee and Miss McDonald who trained the children.

At the close of the program the retiring president, Mrs. P. R. Alexander, invited the company to the gymnasium where the efficient refreshment committee arose to the emergency and fed twice as many as had been expected. This committee was composed of Mrs. C. B. Russell, Mrs. Fred Strauss, Mrs. L. A. Spranger, Mrs. C. W. Westphal and Mrs. W. A. Liebetren. A number of loaves of bread were rapidly sliced and spread, more coffee and hot water were added to the boiling pot and everyone partook of the P. T. A. hospitality amid the merry noise and play of the youngsters. Someone aptly pronounced the affair a "howling success."

Miss Catherine is a graduate of the Sparta high school and has lived in this village for the past seven or eight years. Mr. Dixon is in the employ of the River Rouge Ford plant. Both bride and groom are well known here and the best wishes of their friends go with them.

Two showers in honor of the bride have been given recently. Mrs. Clyde Casterline entertained last Thursday evening and the bride's sister, Mrs. Briggs, gave a shower on Saturday evening. Many lovely gifts were presented to the bride.

CHAS. A. SCHOULTZ LEAVES GREAT LAKES FOR CHICAGO, ILL.

The many friends of Chas. Schoultz, Base Line road, well known business man, and Legionnaire, will be interested in the following letter he sends the Record editor: Charley has been at the U. S. naval hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. He writes

Monday evening 5-30-32

Dear Dick: Just a line to let you know that I do appreciate the kind words and letters of my friends. I am glad that I have a few friends left. I received your welcome letter this noon. And also want to thank you for sending the Record Box after this week's issue. I am in hopes I will be home to read it. I expect to be discharged from here some time the first of the week.

The sun has been shining nice today and I have given a great deal of thought to what was taking place in Northville today and regretted very much that I could not take part.

The wife is right when she says that I am still getting "observed." I have never been before so many doctors as I have here and tomorrow they are taking me to Chicago to be examined by some clinic. I just don't know when yet. Orders are to leave here at seven in the morning. I am taking a few notes of things here so that maybe you can make an article for your paper out of it.

Well, Dick, remember me to all and if things go as I expect them to I will be seeing you next week.

Yours sincerely,
Chas. Schoultz.

MISS KAY JULE IS SAVED FROM RIVER AS BOAT CAPSIZES

Three Detroiters, one of whom is a former Northville girl, Miss Kay Jule, who lives at Alden Park Manor, 8100 Jefferson avenue, were rescued from Detroit River last Sunday from what might have proved a watery grave.

While cruising along the Detroit river their speedboat capsized in the wake of a cabin cruiser which preceded them. The members of the cruiser rescued Miss Jule and her companions, and towed their boat to the Canadian side of the river.

Miss Jule is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Calhoun who live on the Eight Mile road and was a graduate of the Northville high school class of 1923. Her many friends will be glad to know that she suffered nothing serious, aside from some slight bruises about the head.

E. A. Merritt

The many friends of E. A. Merritt, formerly of Northville, will regret to learn of his recent death in Pasadena, California, where he conducted a jewelry store for a period of years.

Mr. Merritt formerly occupied the store that houses the McCully shoe store, where he began his jewelry business.

LIVING EPISTLES

In the business world great importance is placed upon letters of recommendation. Yet how worthless such a letter would be if it were illegible! Have you ever seen an illegible letter of recommendation in the Christian life? The Holy Spirit tells us in 2 Cor. 3, 3 that we are "letters of Christ-written, not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God."

A speaker of America's Keswick in New Jersey said: "Some folks are illegible letters. You can't make out whether they are Christians or not. Their names are on the church record, but so much writing of the world is on them that you can't quite be sure of them."

It is a blessed thing in this day, when Christ is disowned by so many in the visible church, to have those who will let the Lord Jesus Christ cleanse their hearts from every stain and then permit Him to write plainly and clearly upon their lives that they belong to Him and serve Him.
