

GUESTS VISIT LEGION HOME ON MONDAY

Many View the Splendid
New Headquarters of Service Groups

The new American Legion home threw open its doors to welcome the public last Monday evening. With its new oak floors polished and shining, its freshly decorated walls and woodwork, it was all epic and span for company. Baskets of flowers, gifts from friends, added to the festive air. Even the Legionnaires wore white collars, in spite of the heat, and received the company in their best attire, with their wives and mothers, the auxiliary, standing by them.

Commander Joe Blake of the Lloyd H. Green post and Mrs. J. H. Todd, president of the auxiliary, were official host and hostess.

It is estimated that fully one hundred guests called during the evening and were conducted through the house by the boys and their wives who pointed with pride to the radical changes that had been wrought. Those who remember the old "Smith Boarding House" of past years would scarcely recognize this as the place where factory hands occupied the eight tiny upstairs bedrooms and ate at long tables where the plates were turned carefully inside down over the knives and forks at each place and the ceiling stood upright like a bouquet in a vase.

What a contrast now! On entering the house a long hall with fine open stairways, opening hospitably. Along the wall is ample space for the Legionnaires to hang their hats and coats. A door to the left leads to the Legion room and distinctly man-like it is with its polished floor, rugless and its walls hung with the trophies of the late war—helmets from German heads, guns and canisters. Prominent in this room is a large portrait of the first Northville to fall in battle, Lloyd H. Green, for whom the post is named. This picture was a gift of the mother of the boy on Army Day, April 6, 1931.

Across the hall the auxiliary room is recognized as the ladies' domain with comfortable davenport, harmonizing rugs, lamps and pictures. A large American flag significant as having been draped over the casket of Lloyd Green, hangs upon the wall. Adjoining is another room to be furnished "daintily for lady to dispose of her wraps and powder her nose."

The kitchen is to be shared in common by the Legion and its sister organization.

If "Mother Smith" of boarding-house fame should return, she would look in vain for her pots and pans in the old chimney cupboard behind the wood cook stove. Come even is the chimney. A range stands where the old cook stove once smoked. The walls are gleaming white and a porcelain sink with drain board and ample cupboard and table space would delight the heart of the late Mother Smith. An ideal spot to prepare Legion "feeds."

After viewing the house the guests were refreshed with iced tea and home made cookies. Mrs. Mabel Wilkinson and Mrs. Margaret Vroman pouring. In the kitchen were their assistants, Floyd Lanning and Martin Kalesky.

As is appropriate at a house warming a number of generous gifts were presented by friends.

All of these were appreciated and will add to the "hominess" of the place. A unique gift from Charles A. Dolph will be cherished by the Legion and the generations after them. In a large scrap book Mr. Dolph has placed clippings concerning the Legion since its origin. In it are pictures of fallen heroes, among them Joe Yerkes and Jim and Frank Hall, names of those earliest enlisted in service and much valuable data that will be kept and continued as history is made.

Another gift on display was the beautiful "Dresden plate" quilt-piece by Mrs. Florence Van Valkenburgh, mother of two ex-soldier boys, Franklin and Ross.

Not only Northville friends but those from other towns came to congratulate the Legion on their new quarters. Among these were district committeeman, E. E. Ogden and his wife from Pontiac, district committeeman, Mike Corrigan, of Farmington, and Schweng Eckland of Plymouth.

Great credit for the successful remodeling of this house is due to Luther Lapham who had charge of the entire undertaking.

Phillips Is Candidate

Earl L. Phillips, of Pontiac, has filed with the county clerk nominating petitions as candidate for the office of Circuit Court Commissioner in Oakland County, at the Republican Primary to be held September 13th next.

Mr. Phillips was born in Marlette township, Sanilac county, Michigan and received his early education in the rural schools of that community and high-school education at Marlette. Thereafter he taught in the public schools of Lapeer county until he entered the literary department of the University of Michigan in 1912. He afterwards took up the study of law in the law department in the same university, where he graduated in 1916.

In 1917, Mr. Phillips entered the United States Army, where he served until after the close of the World War. He then located in Pontiac and established himself in the practice of law, which profession he has followed ever since. Mr. Phillips is now serving his second term as Circuit Court Commissioner of Oakland county.

Fraternally, Mr. Phillips is a member of F. & A. M., Pontiac Lodge No. 21, B. P. O. E., No. 810; Pontiac Lodge No. 19 K. of P., Lions Club of Pontiac, and Cook-Nelson Post of the American Legion. He is a member of Central Methodist Church of Pontiac. Mr. Phillips is married and lives on Cherokee Road, Pontiac.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Phillips says:—"I have always recognized the right of Southern Oakland County to one of the two offices of Circuit Court Commissioner, and shall expect the voters of Southern Oakland County to support their candidate. I shall appreciate their support for the other office."

HUMAN FLY AMUSES CROWD WITH FEATS ON TOP OF BUILDING

A man, known as the human fly, gave a spectacular performance on top of the Babbut Hardware building, last Friday evening.

He first allowed six of "Northville's huskies" to strap him in a safety jacket and then, tied by his feet with head down, he was pulled, almost to the top of the building. Hanging there, he released himself from the jacket and was hoisted to the roof. After resting a minute the "fly" climaxed his feats by standing on his head.

The performer was compensated by a collection taken up among the large crowd that gathered to watch him, before he began his act.

BOELEN ANSWERS RECORD QUESTION

Mr. Editor:

Last week you asked in your paper, "What is your biggest ambition?" I have no idea if you expect all your readers to answer it. But I for one will tell you mine. My biggest ambition is, to go to work every day. So I can provide for my wife and three children of school age.

My ambition is to find a place where I could work and earn enough to make a living for them to pay my taxes and pay for all the necessities of life. I know there are many others like me but as long as you asked your readers that question, I take the liberty of sending you my biggest ambition—which is a job so I can provide for my family.

Yours truly,
M. J. Boelen,

FAIR FEATURES AUTO POLO AS DRAWING CARD

Officials Working Tirelessly
To Make Event
Successful

Polo on horses is familiar to many in Northville but the Northville Wayne County Fair, August 24 to 27, is offering something new to its patrons this year by putting on a complete auto polo game.

Automobiles instead of horses are used and the cars have iron hoops around them to protect the drivers when they crash together and roll over.

Extra cars are ready to take the place of those knocked out of commission and each car contains a driver and a player with a mallet, such as is used in ordinary polo, states Floyd Northrop, fair association secretary.

The auto polo feature is new to Northville fair patrons but it has attracted wide-spread attention in larger fairs all over the country.

Preparations for making this year's fair finer than ever despite the fact that the admission has been reduced to twenty-five cents have been in progress since the fair association president of the fair association in the addition of many new and more expensive features which in previous years could not be included because of the prohibitive cost.

Governor's Day, Friday, August 26, the chief executive of the state, Wilbur M. Bruce, will visit the fair and lend his presence to the many festivities.

Officials of the fair are sparing neither time or energy to make Northville's annual fair unmemorably attractive to the thousands who each year attend.

SIMMONS MARKETS LOAD OF APPLES

Home grown apples are ripe. The first big load of fairly applies from the Simmons orchard made its way to the Eastern market in Detroit last Tuesday. A second load followed Wednesday. These apples were Duchesse and yellow transparents and the orchard promises to produce a fine crop this year.

LADY MACCABEES HOLD BAKE SALE SATURDAY

The Lady Maccabees will hold a bake sale tomorrow (Saturday) July 30, in the Palace Market beginning at ten a. m. A fine array of baked goods will be on hand and a large attendance is expected.

FOUR TOWNS TOGETHER

By HYMAN LEVINSON, Farmington Enterprise

Small towns have their problems, just as much as the big cities, although the difficulties are of a different kind and are not displayed on the front pages of daily newspapers. The cities meet up with sudden drastic situations, such as caring for armies of the unemployed when prosperity flies the coop. The small town has the slower, but incessant battle to maintain its entity and identity, against the attractions of the big city nearby.

There are many and various ways by which any small town can build and maintain itself, and there is one excellent method, when small towns are close together as in this area, by which they can all benefit, that is by cooperation; and a splendid instance of it is arranging of the "Four-Square-Firemen's Day" for Plymouth, Wayne, Northville and Farmington, planned by some "live-wires" in this section, to be held at Northville fair grounds Friday of this week. From all advance reports, the program is going to be the best quarter's worth of entertainment that has been seen in this part of the State in a long time. In addition, everyone who attends helps his home community, because the profits, if any, are to be divided between the four towns.

We do not need to drive down to Detroit each summer to be button-holed by Detroit firemen to "buy a ticket" and help along their annual field days. We don't need to because they come out here and solicit among us. Now we have one of our own, and happily we may say, one may buy a ticket on the basis of getting one's money's worth of fun in a home-sponsored endeavor rather than for the purpose of "supporting" an outside program, however worthy the purpose.

Let us hope that despite the short time taken for preparation, the event will be so successful that it will be repeated every year.

New Merged Bank for Northville Comes Nearer with the Selling Of Stock for Closed Institutions

BULLETIN
After 500 copies of The Record had been printed yesterday telephone word came from Detroit that the last legal barrier preventing the merger of the two Northville banks had been removed. Judge Jos A Moynihan, in circuit court, Thursday issued an order vacating one previously made, calling for a dividend by the Lapham State Bank. This means that quick progress can now be made in securing the new bank.

Northville's new bank, to be merged from the Northville State Savings and the Lapham State Savings banks, drew nearer with the announcement yesterday that the Northville State bank stock of $40,000 had been oversubscribed.

The next step in the procedure for a new financial institution for Northville will be the raising of the $50,000 of stock required for the Lapham bank before it may go into the merger. Good progress has been made on securing this.

After the stock is all-subscribed, the state banking department will take over the arrangements for the merger of the two banks. Stock will then be issued for the new institution.

EXCHANGITES HEAR DR. ROBERT HASKEEL

Speaking informally before Exchangers at their weekly luncheon held Wednesday in the Methodist church, Dr. Robert H. Haskeel, head of the Wayne County Training school told briefly of some of the work accomplished by that institution and related some interesting facts concerning the boys enrolled in the training school.

"During the six years that the Wayne County Training school has been active," said Dr. Haskeel, "we have enrolled 1,150 children. At present we have 700 on our records of which approximately 75 are on vacation. This means we have turned back into homes, schools and into fifty different trades which are taught at the school about 450 citizens."

"Of the 450 paroled from the school 37 have been in trouble with the juvenile courts and of these, 26 were there because of truancy. These figures indicate a remarkably high percentage of former training school students who are now back in their own homes returned to school, or are gainfully employed as a result of the specialized training received at the school."

Dr. Haskeel illustrated his remarks with stories about students of the school and passed around for ex-amination a loaf of the bread baked by students of the school. The bread which is sent in 700 pound loads to welfare stations in Detroit, is prepared by those whom the stations provide relief, said Dr. Haskeel, and is a further mark of approval upon the work of the pupils of the schools.

Dr. H. H. Burkhardt, school dentist, who was a guest of the Exchangers club and Dr. Arthur Siegle, resident physician of the school and Exchangers president, were paid high tribute by Dr. Haskeel for the work in which they are engaged at the institution.

WELFARE LABORERS BUILD PARKING LOT

The village is making a parking lot out of the back of the property owned by E. A. Shafer on the downtown corner of Main and Center streets. The rubbish is being cleared away and the ground fixed up by welfare labor so as to permit the parking of automobiles.

By using welfare labor, the village will save money as well as provide a means of employing Northville's jobless. There will be no charge for parking.

The work is in charge of Street Commissioner Earl Montgomery.

NORTHVILLE FARENTS RETURN FROM NORTH

Tanned and refreshed after a week's outing in the northern out of doors near Interlochen the Lees, Turnbulls, Tevskubys and Frasers have returned home. Occupying tents near the International Music Camp this party of ten Northville friends, including the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tevskuby, Isabelle and Doris, loved the simple life and enjoyed their meals were cooked together in the open and eaten with relish. They attended the concerts and rehearsals of the young musicians camp and on the side enjoyed swimming and boating.

During their parents' vacation little Miss Mary Louise Lee spent the week in the care of her maternal grandmother in Flint.

Twelve young girls from Northville attended the Music camp, Gertrude Deyel, Florence Johnson, Madeline Haystack, Winifred McCord, Mary Louise Boyden, Mary Jane Denne, Marion Turnbull, Marie Fraser, Otis Tevskuby, John Steenchen, Morris Giles and Ernest Racz. Ernest will remain for further study on the violin and cello.

HARRY GERMAN, JR. WILL PITCH FOR PLYMOUTH TEAM

Harry German Jr., local star baseball player, has joined the Haggerty and Schrader-baseball team of Plymouth and pitched for them last Sunday, when he lost his first game of the year to the colored Inkster Travelers, 3-0.

Harry Jr. has a remarkable baseball record. During his four years of local high school he pitched four successful seasons. From then until now he has acted only as a relief pitcher for the Northville Chiefs and Carlton, pulling many a game out of the fire with his fine relief work in the box. For the past nine years he has played exclusively under the management of his father, "Grandpa German."

Now that he is with the Plymouth team it is expected that much will be heard of him and that his presence will greatly boost the team.

SUPERVISOR ELY AGAIN IN HOSPITAL

Supervisor Will A. Ely who has been in ill health for over a month following an operation, was taken to Deaconess hospital, Detroit, Friday, July 22, by Dr. H. Handorf for treatment and observation.

At last reports he was resting comfortably and it is hoped that he will soon be able to return home. Mrs. Ely has been staying in Detroit during the last week to be near her husband.

FIREMEN OF FOUR TOWNS WILL HOLD FIELD MEET TODAY AT FAIR GROUNDS

Proceeds to be Given to Welfare Work in Communities of Northville, Wayne,
Farmington and Plymouth

The stage is set! Firemen from Northville, Wayne, Plymouth and Farmington are flocking from their towns to the Northville fair grounds where this afternoon (Friday) the first annual Four Square Firemen's Field Day will be held commencing at 1:30 p. m.

Field events including sprint races, weight events, together with ball games, a tug of war, cane scone and a bicycle race around the track will give the patrons more to watch than a three ring circus. Promoters of the events state:

The climax of the program will be reached with the water fight in which teams representing the firemen of each town will turn high pressure hose on one another and attempt to "wash" their opponents "right off the map."

Children of the firemen are offered their part in the activities of the day when they engage in a pony race around the track. Ponies to be furnished, although the winners of the event will not add points to the final score.

The winner of the meet will receive thirty per cent of the gate receipts the rest being divided among the runners-up in the order in which they finish.

The admission will be twenty-five cents for adults and children under ten will be admitted free of charge. A crowd of approximately 4,000 is expected to be present.

In the evening a boxing card of 34 rounds will be presented at the fair grounds—the main bout featuring Don McLean of Northville and Ed Koppy of Detroit in a ten round embolism.

Koppy, the hardest hitting lightweight in Michigan, is a top notcher and has already defeated Don in an extremely close battle but the latter, who has proved his mettle in many a championship ring is confident that tonight he can get the referees' nod over his opponent.

In the semi-final first Frankie Murphy meets Johnny Mitchell. Three other good preliminary fights have been scheduled in one of which, Young Reiley of Northville will meet against the man who defeated him on Northville's last Charity boxing show, Don Henderson.

Admission will be cut to fifty cents and a dollar for ringside seats the proceeds going to charity.

SCHRADERS, BUNNS AND EATONS RETURN FROM FISHING TRIP

Many titles might be placed over the story of a fishing trip taken by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson C. Schrader, Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Eaton and Mr. and Mrs. Davon Bunn to Thessalon, Canada, this last week said titles taking the form of "Fishing Without Bait," or "How to Change American Money into Canadian Money in Three Easy Lessons," but probably no one title could describe the entire trip and do it complete justice.

Leaving the night of Tuesday, July 19, the three famines left Northville in two cars at 10:30 p. m. and avoiding the sweltering heat of the day journeyed all night to reach Sault Ste. Marie early the next morning. Resting at this point for a day after crossing the locks into Canada, the party travelled on to Thessalon near Georgian Bay and thence to Bass Lake ten miles beyond where a cabin was secured.

With little delay the enthusiastic fishermen chartered a boat and were soon out on the lake trolling for some of the big ones. Major Eaton, by landing a 26 pound gray salmon trout, won the fishing honors for the trip, the rest of the party having but little luck.

Returning from their trip by way of Sudbury, North Bay, and Toronto the party arrived back in Northville Tuesday evening. The ladies are extremely reluctant to tell of their part in the trip but one and all, the journey was voted a complete success.

THE PEOPLE'S IGNORANCE

What part of the population is just "plain dumb?" Well you commence to wonder when you hear of hundreds of people writing to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, congratulating her on the fact that her "son," Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been named as the democratic candidate for president.

Of course everyone should know by this time that the New York governor is not the son of the famous "Teddy" but only a distant cousin. There has been only one President Theodore Roosevelt and there will not be another for probably a long while.

ENJOYING THE HEAT

We thought it was hot in Northville last week and talked a lot about it. Well, we don't know anything about suffering from the hot weather out here on the heights of this lovely community. It is your big city—with its stuffy apartments, its congested slums, its crowded houses, set row on row where you can reach out and touch the next house—that suffers from the heat. There is no heat like that which comes up from red-hot pavements, from grassless stretches where the flowers never grow. Instead of complaining about the heat, we should say we enjoy it. We do, as compared to people in less-favored spots.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

This cheers the heart. A new resident of Northville, who likes our town in spite of all the grief that we have had in recent months and who overlooks our long delay in getting together on the bank proposition, says to the Record: "I am going to take out a little stock in your new bank. I believe that Northville will be hampered beyond measure without a bank and I feel that I have a personal responsibility, as long as I get the benefits of the community, to help you get the new bank."

Now doesn't that kind of loyalty from a newcomer appeal to you?

THE LEGION IN NORTHVILLE

"Has the American Legion overplayed its hand?" is the question that is being asked in some Michigan towns. The people of the United States in general are not in the mood, many papers point out, to "approve Bonus Armies or special aid to any class that is as able to take for itself as are others." In some places the Legionnaires have allowed politics to play too much part in their activities.

In reply to the question asked above, all we can say is that in Northville the American Legion has done, and is doing a splendid piece of community service. And when we say that, we want to include the Legion Auxiliary. Now that both groups have gone into their new home given by the Ford company, it is the timely and fair thing to say that the Legion and the Auxiliary have given Northville splendid, patriotic service. They have done a great deal of welfare work in these trying times; they have helped the disabled veterans in our local institution; they have worked unselfishly for the children at the billet at Otter Lake; they have brought cheer to many a home where the wage owner has gone; they have paid the last rites of respect to some who would otherwise have been the "forgotten man"; they have helped in every public enterprise in the community.

By reason of the outstanding work that both the Legion and the Auxiliary have done in Northville, they have merited the support and confidence of the public of this community. It is a pleasure to be able to say these things about our service people and their allied group. Northville is proud of the members of the Lloyd H. Green post and these of the Auxiliary. They are splendid American citizens who do our community great credit.

THE TURNING TIDE

There are real reasons to think that business is actually better and going to improve. The cynic who insists there is no business and acts as though he wanted none, probably won't agree, but he is outnumbered by the alert business man who is on his toes for the "turn of the tide."

Here are some signs that things are really better:

Within the past few weeks the price of hogs has increased 60 per cent. Oil is 200 per cent higher than it was quoted a year ago.

Retail sales are increasing in New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities. Business in the East is reported better and the old theory is that better business works westward so we should be due for the advance in the near future.

Bradstreet reports that its weekly food index "continued its upward trend of the last several weeks."

And the best sign of all: Congress has adjourned and now business, big and little, can know what it faces in the way of taxes (we are getting them right now) and laws. That ought to cheer anyone up after following the pathetic exhibitions of statesmanship our congressmen have been showing for weeks.

Travelling men tell The Record that business signs are better here and there and these boys are supposed to know some of the portents of the business sky.

A week ago Sunday we drove fifty miles in the southern part of the state and part of the way we met the biggest parades of automobiles that we ever saw on Sunday afternoon on these roads. If there is a depression still, there are thousands of motorists who are not greatly worried by it.

Yes sir, we believe business is going to be better. The tide is turning—so say the signs.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

We say it again: Hoover has an excellent chance to be re-elected.

"Just what fun do some of these Northville people get out of saying mean things about each other?" asks a friend. You tell us. This very question has given us a lot of worry for months. How much more satisfying to boost for each other.

We were touched the other day to get this note from one of the "big" officials of a big corporation: "I like your editorials—they are newsy, chatty and full of homely good sense." Well that offsets a few of the "knocks" from folks that probably are not as well qualified to pass judgment as the writer of the above.

The other fellow has his troubles. A prominent man in a nearby city had to put up $20,000 for bank stock assessment. To do it he had to take losses on a lot of good properties. He is said to have left his old car and his home. Just why are some people so "hard" on holders of bank stock? We can't figure it out.

The biggest thrill of the summer came Sunday morning when Ruth Mary and her dad went into Detroit to meet Mrs. Baldwin and Phil, back from their trip East. There is something about meeting folks "at the station" that gives you a real heart throb. In our ten years at Albion we never tired of watching the Michigan Central limited trains go rumbling through the city—sometimes one rolling east and the other west, on parallel tracks. Used to have two thoughts as the cars rolled by: Who are all the people sitting in those cars and what do they do and (2) who thought up the names on the Pullman cars.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

THE PRICE OF PLEASURE

(Muri DePoe in Charlotte Republican-Tribune)

The tragic end of young Reynolds, son of the well known South Carolina tobacco family, is another justification for a more inclusive federal control of great fortunes at the passing of the owner of these riches.

The career of this boy of 20 was the same old story. Too little attention to fundamentals and too much to the fictitious sources of pleasure. Young Reynolds had been twice married, the last time in Monte Carlo, to a Broadway dancer, flew his own plane, displaying entirely the age old philosophy that "too much of anything is bad."

His death from a pistol shot—the source and course of the bullet is still a mystery—following a wild party at his magnificent estate, named the old, old story. Sure as night follows day, Death treads in Pleasure's footsteps round the world. When Pleasure treads the paths which Reason shuns.

WONT QUARREL WITH COUZENS

(LaGrange, Ind., Standard)

Senator James E. Watson, republican leader of the senate, never displayed his patience and kindly nature to better advantage than he did when Senator Couzens, the multi-millionaire republican insurgent, displayed his wrath in the senate in his failure to defeat the Watson Home Loan Bill at the closing hours of the session.

Senator Couzens had fought the bill savagely and bitterly at every point and was snarling and ugly in his attitude toward Senator Watson, the victor.

Senator Watson said: "I'm not going to get into a personal encounter with the senator. Never in my political experience as a campaigner or on this floor have I said anything derogatory to the character of any man. I do not believe in the argument of slander or in the logic of vilification. I try to keep above the low miasmic swamps of personal defamation and conduct my argument from the high plateau of principle and logic; and I have never at any time indulged in slander of any of my colleagues or of any of my opponents, and I do not intend now to indulge in anything of that character."

A WAVE OF PROTEST

(Tonia County News)

Business men, manufacturers, property owners of every class and kind are joining in the wave of protest against increasing governmental expenditures and mounting taxes.

Marshall Field & Company, the largest department store in the world we believe, has issued a circular to their wholesale customers in which they point that while, last year, Federal, State and local taxes took almost 22 cents out of every dollar of private income, the proportion will be higher this year because of the steadily reduced income.

Expenses have not been reduced; they have been increased. According to the Field tabulation since 1927 our Federal costs have increased 63 per cent, from $1,264,000,000 to $3,193,100,000 a year. And as this is written Congress is still in session and is trying to spend another couple billion of tax money, though where it is to come from nobody knows.

This is all wrong. It is time to call a halt. We see only one way to do that, and that is to make economy the watchword of the coming campaign. No man should be supported for election to any office in which he will have anything to say about taxation or the spending of tax money who will not pledge himself to reduce expenses and taxes, even at the cost of losing a few votes when he comes up for election.

We think that nine-tenths of the Governmental extravagance is due to the desire of legislators to please groups and individuals whose votes they desire. It is nothing short of robbery, in our opinion, for a man in public office to impose taxes upon one class of the public in order to spend the money for the benefit of another class, whose votes he hopes will perpetuate him in power.

It is time to stop.

A "SMALL TOWN" SMILES

(Hymon Levison in Farmington Enterprise)

Farmington will be pardoned a gentle horse laugh in the direction of Detroit these days. The little "haha" passes right over Redford to rest on our big-city neighbor. We exempt Redford, since that community is the cause of the chuckles.

Five or six years ago, when Detroit was desperately trying to keep ahead of Los Angeles as the fourth City of the United States, both were utilizing the simple method of swallowing the whole surrounding in elephantine gulps. Redford and environs was part of the biggest gulp Detroit got that big bite down all right.

Redford Greenfield Township, Brightmoor and what-have-you, but on that bite doesn't want to stay there.

NORTHVILLE HAS TWO AMATEUR BALL TEAMS
The Northville Juniors the baseball team composed of young local talent defeated South Lyon last Sunday 10 to 3 at South Lyon.

The picking of another team was effective as the batters of both sides went on a rampage. The result of the game was the batting of Kohler the Juniors' catcher, who had four hits out of four trips to the plate.

Manager Alex Johnson announced last 1e has changed the name of his team from Juniors to the Braves and that they will after this play under that name. Smokey the Newburg team will play the newly named Braves here at 3:00 p. m.

Besides this amateur team, Northville will shortly have another group of base ball players Donald Hynes of Yerkes avenue and his father are going to organize a team to be composed mostly of local players, that will play this Sunday on the Golden road in Plymouth with Carr's team.

MERCHANTS' WEDNESDAY NIGHT FREE PICTURE
The Wednesday night merchants' show at the local Pennington-Allyn theatre was witnessed by well-filled houses at both performances when they saw Helen Twelvetrees and Ricardo Cortez in "Is My Face Red" and, proved again that Cortez is a gain making a good comeback and becoming popular.

The dialogue was spicy and humorous and recounted the difficulties that a newspaper reporter encounters when he tries to write up the scandal of the community, wherein he becomes entrapped in his own doings.

Saturday night's entertainment deals with a western thriller "Mystery Ranch" with George O'Brien in the lead.

GOOD UNDERSTANDING IS BASIS OF PROGRESS, PASTOR SAYS SUNDAY

Humanity loses immensely through lack of understanding, said Rev. Mr. Whitfield in his sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning, "and it denies benefits to others by misunderstanding what is said and done."

Choosing Ezekiel from the story of the Jewish captivity, the speaker presented this leader of the people in his anxiety to know what the rank and file of captives thought and felt about their own land and rent.

To know facts Ezekiel went among the people and "sat where they sat" and thus heard the satisfactions, complaints and faiths of the average man.

Two things were urged upon the audience—that they try to understand national and world problems and that personal relationships be judged by things we could admire.

FARMERS KEEPING GRAIN FOR FEEDING
According to reports from the D. P. Yerkes and Son mill, the grain situation around the vicinity of Northville is "not so good." So far not a single bushel of grain from the new crop has been taken in. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that grain prices are so exceptionally low at this time that farmers are using their grain for feed. Besides, this section of the country is more adapted to dairying and fruit raising than it is to raising grain. The farmers say that wheat, which is very scarce, barley and oats, are in bad shape. The oats, which are especially poor, were attacked by a disease known as "trips" that affects the development of the heads.

However, the hay and alfalfa are in as good condition as they have been in quite a few years and a big crop of each has been taken in with more alfalfa expected.

AT THE THEATRE

EACH GIRL GETS A HAT

No moving picture heroine who rides with Tom Mix finishes a picture without getting a piece of head gear of which she can well be proud.

The head gear is a feminine copy of the ten-gallon white Stetson sombrero that is as much a part of Tom Mix as his boots, his lariat and his dearly beloved horse, Tony.

The latest Mix leading lady is beautiful Claudia Dell, ex-Ziegfeld Follies beauty, who supports him in "Destry Rides Again," playing at the Penniman-Allyn theatre Wednesday, August 3.

These beautiful Stetsons set Tom Mix back $55 each. It would be impossible to imitate them, because they have woven into the felt the famous Tom Mix monogram which Mix himself designed. Tom has given away over a hundred of them. A few of the proud possessors who are still in Hollywood are Billie Dove, Dorothy Sebastian, Marceline Day, Helen Twelvetrees, Jane Novak and Helen Foster.

With George O'Brien, one of the most popular stars in motion pictures, playing the leading role, with a company of 200 carefully selected players to support him, and outdoor scenes that are said to stand out in picturesque beauty, "Mystery Ranch" a Fox production, comes to the Penniman-Allyn theatre next Saturday, July 30.

The film, based on the novel, "The Killers," by Stewart Edward White, was directed by David Howard.

Geodila Parker, who made her screen debut with O'Brien in "The Rainbow Trail," enacts the leading feminine role and others in the cast include Charles Middleton, Noble Johnson, Forrestor Harvey, Russ Powell, Roy Stewart and Charles Stevens.

"Mystery Ranch" tells the story of a handsome young ranger who attempts the rescue of a beautiful girl held captive by a half mad rancher and cattle thief.

To accomplish this, he becomes involved in a series of exciting adventures that are said to provide many thrills new to the screen. The role is reported as the best ever played by O'Brien.

TAKE BANK STOCK

URGES MR. WEDOW

To the Editor of the Record:
Well, now Hurrah, let's go. Is Northville big enough to subscribe the required amount for the one strong bank? Certainly she is and with the help of the outlying districts there ought to be no difficulty in getting the required amount subscribed in ten days. This is our opportunity, we want our bank, we must have our bank. We are going to have our bank, so let's hurry. To get behind it and boost, means a complete success. Northville and the surrounding community can do this easily and not be financially distressed.

If all will think alike, do alike and co-operate, we will get our much needed Strong Bank. Let us walk right in and subscribe for a little stock, some at least.

Signed, CHARLES C. WEDOW

This Week

By H. H. White

Recently I have been reading books on the history of culture and philosophy as interpreted with the history of civilization and came to the conclusion that one of the common fallacies and delusions is that the great periods of culture have been ages of hereditary aristocracy.

But when one thinks of the periods of Pericles and the Medici, the Elizabethan and Romantic ages which were nourished and stimulated by the flourishing bourgeoisie, one cannot help but reach conclusions to the contrary. Creative work in this period of literature and art was not done by genius born of aristocratic origin as far as social strata is concerned, but by those born within the middle classes, by men such as Shakespeare, son of a butcher.

Cultural creation is stimulated by ages of movement and constant change. Ages when a few and altogether vigorous class is rising to power and pride.

We also find this true in politics for it would be nothing short of suicide to exclude from statesmanship such genius as lacked aristocratic pedigree or heredity, and we have only to look within the history of our American Civilization to dispel the idea that statesmanship must be of an aristocratic flavor. For aristocracy of mind, of soul, of education, of culture, and of intellect is not limited to any particular source.

Surely it is logical to conclude that "career is open to genius" no matter where it is born, for according to history "genius" seems to have a faculty of being born in singular and unusual places.

We should forever be ruled by all that is best and what is best.

There is no aristocracy that is of any benefit to society unless it is an eloquent body of men whose patent or right lies entirely in their ability and not in station of birth—and such aristocracy should be continually selected and scooped out of a democracy of open and equal opportunity to all.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By MRS. EDITOR

Seeing New York.

Dear Fellow Homemakers
Hasn't life a happy way of springing surprises in the midst of our work-a-day world? Here we were, planning at all on a pleasure trip and along comes a wonderful day when we snuffed salt sea breezes on the bosom of the Atlantic while we gazed in wonder at New York's marvelous sky line.

Under the escort of our brother-in-law, who knows exactly how to show one the "high spots" of New York with minimum effort we made our way by bus, elevated, surface and subway to 125th St on Manhattan near Grant's farms where we took a steamer which followed the coast line down to the Battery, at the extreme point of the island. Oh, for a hundred eyes to see it all—that panorama of New York with buildings rising to dizzy heights, the palatial apartments lining Riverside drive, the busy ferries puffing back and forth to the Jersey shore, the sparkling coast police craft and the mighty leviathans of the sea lying at anchor all along the coast or puffing out, or coming in from foreign lands. It made one feel so in touch with the whole big world.

Oh, look, Philip, at the Empire State building—the highest in the world! We cry. But the child is leaning over the rail watching the boat being pulled into dock by a tough-looking fellow who is catching the rope with a strapping hook. Feeding the sea gulls peanuts interests him far more than the sights and while the gulls dive for the peas, the great steamer, Europa, sails majestically by, "unnoticed by the boy." (This steaming ship that way is the one which brought Mrs. Handorf and young Milton and Barbara back from Hamburg last summer.) We were fortunate to see the greatest English boat, the Levantian, lying in her port. At one time we counted seven outgoing or incoming ocean liners making their way through the world's greatest gateway of commerce where, at her vantage point, the Goddess of Liberty raises her welcoming torch. On past Staten Island and Governors Island where at sundown the gulls boom out through the gateway into the real ocean while, to our surprise, the water was deep green instead of the "deep blue sea" we have always sung about. With a deep breath we try to drink it all in and long to sail on toward those happy outlines of ships on the horizon. (Perhaps some day when the "tide turns")

Instead of toward those radiant lands of sweeter we walked to find our boat headed for the long dock of Coney Island. Coney Island the playground of New York where the beach swam, with its wicker lounge either playing in the surf or lying lazily in the hot sands. With their many colored bathing suits it is a gay picture and we wonder as we tread on it, an orange, then if they are bronzed by bath or by the sun.

Not only on the beach but up and down its Board walk and even on the main streets folk parade in the funniest costumes without a blush—bathing suits, pajamas and bath robes. A short pause while young Phil took a dip in the ocean and we are glad to literally shake the sand out of our shoes on Coney Island which has commercialized its beautiful location and made the streets reek with the smells of "hot-dog" stands and scream with giddy amusements. To the disgust of the boy the "senior railway" proved to be a subway back to Manhattan, (what one man called a worm's eye view). Surprising as it may seem the population of this island with its immense apartments and really lovely homes, is larger than that of Grand Rapids. More and more folks are leaving the crowded sections of New York and coming muting to homes farther out.

Back to the Battery park we pause for a final look across the harbor. In the scant shade of the sycamores in the park sit the oesolite unem-ployed.

Through foggy, shaded canyons between lofty buildings we walk with averted glances at Wall street. The money barometer of the nation. We note the names of firms we have seen advertised. The climax is capped for the little fellow by stopping in an "auto-mat" where the drop of a nickel in the slot over the top of one of the many little post office boxes opens the door for you and you help yourself to a sandwich or piece of pie as you choose.

And here our space is gone and, like a woman were, not half through talking. As we write we are spinning homeward on the "Detroit". Our little traveling companion is already asleep tired of watching the sights along the Hudson which we follow all the way to Albany. Behind us the "sky scraper" have faded from view, with their crowded parts. How peaceful is the open country, on one side the steep rocky hillsides and on the other the Hudson who ebbs pass up and down. Far from town, the home of Washington Irving, Sing Sing prison, West Point and Poughkeepsie the seat of Vassar college are passed with now and then a glimpse at a mansion high on the hills which a companion told us was the home of either a Vanderbilt or a Gould.

DeKress has settled down. There's nothing more to see and while we sit curled up at the foot of our berth we get this copy ready for the Record which like time waits for no man. In the background of our thoughts we hear the singing of birds. They are singing Godee home, going home. "P. S. Later. We didn't know it until we reached Detroit that the distinguished man who stood with us on the observation car for an hour watching the boats on the Hudson was Gal Wood of nautical fame.

mother's call when she first came to the house. At the second time Miss Virginia heard her mother and went to the door.

Together they started to find grandmother and came upon her lifeless body on the kitchen floor. Apparently the woman had partly dressed and started to wash her face when the summons came.

Mrs. Constance Baksis, aged 67, was a native of Kalamata, Greece. Her husband died in 1906. She came to America in 1921 intending to visit her daughter and son, who had been in America for some time. She never returned but came to Northville in the fall of that year.

Besides two sons, who are still living in Greece, she leaves a son, James Baksis and a daughter, Mrs. Christ Burgess of this place and a daughter, Mrs. Georgia Balalla of Detroit.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the home and the burial at Evergreen cemetery, Detroit.
