NORTHVILLE DEMOCRATS FEATURE PRIMARY WITH BIGGEST VOTE SINCE '12

M. J. Murphy and Robert G. Yerkes, Local Candidates for Congress, Are Given Strong Support Here.

The shades of Polk, Cleveland, Jackson and other famous democratic standard-bearers gazed down on Northville Tuesday and chuckled as this community cast the largest democratic vote since Wilson went into the presidential chair in 1912.

Although they did not carry Northville, the democrats secured 227 votes out of a total of 553 votes, leaving the republicans with 326 votes and an ominous feeling that they must do plenty of campaigning before the election on November 8 if they wish to keep the community as a republican stronghold.

M. J. Murphy, former executive of the Allied Railway Brotherhood, polled 184 democratic votes to 137 republican votes for Robert G. Yerkes, son of the Yerkes family, now famous for its political history, in the contest for representative in congress from the newly formed 17th district. Early election returns indicated that both men would make a strong bid for the nomination of their respective parties. Both men are members of the Exchange club here and prominent in civic activities.

Although balloting started off briskly during the early morning hours, afternoon rains slowed up the voting and the total of 559 votes represented, according to election officials, only a light vote.

Counting the votes proved to be an all-night job for election officials, and when the last tally was marked at five o'clock Wednesday morning, the 14 clerks who handled the task so competently.

Those who gave out the ballots and counted them in the first precinct were C. A. McCully, Lou Van Valkenburg, Fred Van Alta, Mollie Lawrence, Ed Hinkley, Robert Pickell, and Floyd Lanning.

In the second precinct, Wellington Roberts, Jessie Clark, Celia Richardson, Frederick Hedge, Ernest Miller, Dean Griswold, and Elmer Smith took charge.

NEARLY HALF VILLAGE TAX
STILL UNPAID

Council Continues Effort to Bring About Cut in Gas Rate

Approximately $31,000 of Northville general taxes has been collected according to a report made to the village council Monday evening by John Litsenberger, village treasurer.

This is a little more than half of the required amount, States Mr. Litsenberger, the tax roll calling for $55,000. Delinquent taxes are being received, he said, as fast as those who owe them are able to pay. Mr. Litsenberger will at the village hall on Mondays between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. for the collection of taxes.

A questionnaire, sent by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors to the Northville Central welfare committee, of which Councilman Merrill Sweet is the head, requesting information on the welfare situation was turned over to the committee.

Seeking a reduction of gas rates, representatives of the three towns of Northville, Plymouth, and Wayne have been negotiating with officials of the Michigan Federated Utilities company for some time but no compromise has as yet been effected.

A reduction in the rates of approximately three percent was offered by gas company officials it was disclosed but this was refused by the committee and investigation of the rate situation will be begun soon by Professor Worthy of the University of Michigan.

A motion by Councilman Gregory, supported by Councilman Sweet, that all equipment, use of water, village equipment or the service of village employees be first passed on by a majority of the council was passed following a three to two vote. Councilman Gregory, Sweet and Dusenbury voted affirmatively with Councilmen Burkart and Hicks opposing the motion.

Outside of two arrests, for assault and battery, Northville police were clear last month, and

DISTRICT MEET OF BAPTISTS IS BIG SUCCESS

Splendid Talks Are Given at Two-Day Session Held in Northville

Baptists from the seventeen towns in the Wayne Association convened here at the Baptist church Tuesday and Wednesday for the 92nd annual meeting. Represented in this assembly were delegates from Pontiac, Walled Lake, Wyand, Plymouth, Ypsilanti, High Ridge, Rochester, Farmington, Novi, Farmville, Milford, Highland, Ann Arbor, Holly, Saline, Brighton and Northville.

On Tuesday morning the session opened with Rev. Ralph S. Kearney, moderator, from Howell presiding. Rev. Wm. Shaw conducted a helpful devotional service as he did at three following sessions. Rev. W. Rogers Barber, the pastor, host, welcomed the group heartily.

Outstanding features of the inspirational part of the program were addresses by Dr. E. Edward Sales, a missionary to the Indians and returned from mission work in Africa. His message was very encouraging. This talk was a part of the Woman's Union Missionary program led by the president, Mrs. Chas. Fisher of Pontiac, who will be remembered by Northville friends as the mother of Miss Ernestine Fisher, a missionary to India, who was heard by the King's Daughters last winter.

Two special treats were presented on this program, a vocal solo by Mrs. Levi Owen, who with her accompanist, Miss Vesta Platt, are heard over WJR every Sunday evening from the First Baptist church, Pontiac, in the "Happy Half-Hour of Heaven and Home." Rev. H. H. Savage, pastor of this church, was also present.

Another feature greatly enjoyed was the missionary play given by the Bethany Baptist church of Pontiac.

At the young people's session four very fine talks were made by representatives (Please turn to page 4)

BIG GAME SEPT. 21

The King's Daughters will sponsor a baseball game, Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21, at the fairgrounds, the proceeds of which will go to the Northville Welfare Fund. The Braves made up of local "youngsters" will take the field against the other team, composed of "old timers." The admission will be 25c for adults and 10c for children. The game is called for three o'clock.

The game will not only be good fast baseball, but unusual. The average of the veterans is 30 years, and of the Braves, 19. Age will pit its skill against youth for charity's sake, and the outcome, it is hoped, will be witnessed by a large crowd.

Among the Braves are Alex Johnson, Ted Cavell, Leo Kohler, the Wespall brothers, Keller, Bulman and others. Nearly all of these boys starred on the high school team.

The old timers will choose their ranks from the following: Attorney Joseph Weiss, who played in the days of Don Yerkes, Sr.; Judge Guy Miller, who pitched for the U. of M.; Al Dingwell, old first baseman of the Rison Creamery team; and Harry Pierce, deliveryman, all of Detroit.

Also there are Wm. Curtis, at one time a resident of Wayne and a catcher; Fred Hantz, another catcher from Redford; Fred Blanding, of Lansing, a pitcher formerly with the Cleveland Indians; Ernest Roe of Plymouth, a hard-hitting fielder; Frank Bowerman, of Romeo and once with the New York Giants; Floyd "Bull" Durham, of Duand; and Dick Baslick, of Milan.

Then we have our old home players that are eligible such as Ross Dusenbury, Harry German, Sr., Don Yerkes, Sr., George Hicks, Fred Moffitt, Henry Perry, and Ed Hinkley. There will probably be others who at the time are not known.

It may be remembered that four years ago, practically these same players defeated a Northville team, 8-7. All are older now but can still play ball.

All of these 60-year-olds will have to be in uniform, "or no play," says Captain German.

"It is to be hoped and expected," says Mrs. E. B. Cavell, president of the local King's Daughters, "that everyone will attend this game, not only to see an interesting exhibition of baseball, but in the interests of Northville's needy as well."

How the Bank Can Be Opened

"When will the new bank open in Northville?" That question, asked hundreds of times in this community in the past few weeks, can now be answered.

The Northville Record is authorized to say, on the highest authority, that the new institution, merged from the assets of the Lapham State Savings bank and the Northville State Savings bank, will open its doors just as soon as sufficient back interest is paid on mortgages and notes so that the trust funds of the two banks will be within the limits set by the state banking department.

If these back accounts could be paid now it would be possible for the depositors' committee to file with the banking department by October 1 the petition for opening the new bank. After this petition is filed, there is a certain amount of legal technicalities that have to be worked out but this could all be done in two or three weeks.

The possibility that Northville, sorely stricken by its more than a year as a bankless town, can have a new bank by the latter part of October certainly should rouse us all to action. For months the entire community has suffered greatly. With 4,000 depositors, hit by the closing, only those who are "close to the picture" can realize fully the extent of the loss due to the closed banks.

The state banking department says that the opening is now up to the people whose interest accounts are in arrears. Fortunately these accounts are scattered over a large number of home owners, in many cases on comparatively small mortgages. It will be a hardship for many of these home owners to pay interest now but it will be a far greater loss if the opening of the bank has to be delayed until mortgage foreclosure sales are held and homes lost.

The vast amount of work done by the depositors' committee makes possible the opening of the new bank. Members of this committee have labored incessantly to protect the interests of the depositors and if they are loyally supported now the new bank will be open before November 1. This possibility should stir us all to action. If there are those who cannot possibly pay their back interest in full, if they will see bank representatives or members of the committee and "talk it over" a way out may be found.

With the goal of a new day for Northville just within our reach this community cannot fail to unite now to bring the new bank that means so much to every last man, woman and child in town. Let us all put our shoulder to the wheel in the next two weeks. A new milepost is near. Northville counts on you!

We can change gloom into gladness. We know you'll do it.

Methodist Pastor Pays Tribute to Splendid Feeling of Fraternity Shown by Five Local Churches

In spite of the statement that the past year had been the "hardest time of his ministry," Rev. Frank N. Miner, pastor of the Northville Methodist church, presented a very satisfactory report at the fourth quarterly conference held last Friday evening. The depression, said he, had made the year very difficult for his people who had been unable to keep up their customary finances but had shown a fine spirit of loyalty.

In a summary of the past year, Mr. Miner enumerated the activities undertaken. These included the Summer vacation school, the leadership training school held in the winter, the children's religious education training at the Maybury sanatorium for one quarter, the cleaning of the church, the grading of the church and parsonage lawns. During the past year Mr. Miner has prepared and preached forty-five new sermons, performed eight wedding ceremonies and conducted fourteen funerals. He made over 500 pastoral calls beside numerous other visits.

The pastor expressed appreciation for the work done by the Ladies' Aid society, the W. H. M. S. and the teachers and officers of the Sunday school who had a record of almost perfect attendance. He also paid generous tribute to Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Richards who had preceded him in this field for nine faithful years.

Concluding with a note of optimism for the future, Mr. Miner made the statement that he had especially enjoyed the friendly spirit of fellowship between the five sister churches of the village and their pastors. "Never," said Mr. Miner, "have I enjoyed such a feeling of fraternity between all the pastors of the place where I have served."

A good representation of the membership of the church was present at this conference when other matters of interest were discussed. Reports of the treasurer, E. J. Cobb, the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Bertha Neal, the president of the W. H. M. S., Mrs. E. J. Cobb, Word Service, Mrs. Viola Lockhart and Edgewood League, Miss Wilma Rattenbury, were listened to with interest.

Dr. J. A. Halmburger, superintendent of the Ann Arbor district, president of the Methodist annual conference of the Detroit annual conference of the Methodist church, Bishop Edgar Blake will preside.

Two of the Winners

Gov. W. M. Brucker

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker swamped his opponents by obtaining the republican nomination with a plurality of over 130,000 votes. He will be opposed in the November election by Wm. A. Comstock who gained the democratic nomination.

WJR TO BROADCAST WITH W. VAN DYNE FROM CHURCH HERE

Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, the people of Northville and vicinity will have the opportunity of witnessing a WJR broadcast, featuring an array of talent, from the Presbyterian church house. The trustees of the church have arranged for a two-hour broadcast beginning at eight o'clock in the evening. There will be a small admission charge. The program will include Wayne Van Dyne, well-known Detroit tenor, formerly of Northville, who has promised to bring the following members of the WJR staff here: Muriel Kyle, Elaine and T. J. Frewitt, Billy Rogers, J. J. Golden, Jimmy Quigley, Frances Butterfield, Ann Lohr, Irving Butterfield, Joseph Chasman, Grace Bernan, Ralph Fast, chief announcer, and Ange Lorenze, prominent composer. The entertainment will be exceptionally fine and the entire program promises to be interesting to those who are on hand to view the broadcast.

WOMAN DIES AFTER AUTO HITS A TREE

Two Others Are Injured in Accident on South
Lyon Road

One woman was killed and two men were injured early Wednesday morning when the car in which they were traveling from South Lyon to Detroit skidded, crashing into a telephone pole on the South Lyon road, near the Jacob Fisher farm, two miles northwest of Northville.

The car was driven by Richard Rambo, 3191 Chamberlain avenue, Detroit, who escaped without injury. He is being held by Oakland county authorities.

The dead woman is Mrs. Chas. Shumabarger, 48 years old, Hamilton's stepmother, also of 3191 Chamberlain avenue, Detroit. She was traveling with her husband, who was injured, and a four-year-old son, who miraculously escaped being injured. The car was almost totally demolished.

Mrs. Shumabarger was thrown against the windshield of the car and suffered a concussion of the brain and a broken neck. She died on the way to Sessions hospital. Stanford and Shumabarger, following treatment for their injuries, were taken to Detroit, along with the latter's four-year-old son, who miraculously escaped being injured.

Edwin Andrews, of Walled Lake, regained consciousness Wednesday morning at Sessions hospital, after being struck by a car driven by George Kovack, Novi, Saturday night, while walking on the Novi road just south of the Twelve-Mile road. He suffered concussion of the skull but he is expected to recover.

Mrs. Henrietta Leschinsky, of 4010 Hogarth avenue, Detroit, suffered a badly lacerated scalp as a result of an automobile rear-end collision Sunday afternoon between Novi and Farmington on Grand River. She was treated at Sessions hospital and sent to her home in Detroit.

Mrs. Leschinsky is 36 years old and lost her left leg when she was 24 in an automobile accident and her right leg in another accident when she was 35.

BANK RECEIVERS GIVE 60-DAY GRACE ON MORTGAGE SALES

Hoyt Woodman and Sidney M. Liddell, receivers of the closed Northville banks, have been instructed by the state banking authorities to grant a 60-day respite on mortgage foreclosures on real estate.

This is in keeping with the plan of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to give home owners a chance to save their property. With conditions improving the extension of time in many cases will be a great help.

Sessions Hospital

E. B. Holland of Dearborn was brought to the hospital Sunday suffering from hemorrhage of the throat following tonsilectomy performed in Detroit.

Jas. Thrimbe was discharged from the hospital Sunday.

PETITION FOR NEW BANK FOR NORTHVILLE MAY BE FILED BY OCTOBER 1ST

Opening of the Institution Now Depends Entirely Upon Payment of Back Interest

The Depositors' Committee wishes to report the following progress with reference to the reopening of the two Northville banks.

The committee has been repeatedly asked as to who would manage the new bank. Although unable to give a specific answer as to the particular individual who will head the new institution, the committee can state authoritatively that the new bank will be under the management of a man not heretofore connected in any way with either of the old banks.

Several conferences have been held, the latest on Monday, September 12, with the examiners, and the banking department officials relative to working out the final approval and details of the reopening.

The examination of the two banks revealed a considerable number of mortgages and notes on which no payments or interest have been made during the last twelve months. The reopening is being delayed until this condition is corrected.

The committee and the banks are now working to change this condition and the committee wishes to impress upon those owing the banks any money that it is imperative to go to the banks and arrange for payment on these obligations to put them in good payable condition.

It is hoped that this condition can be corrected by Oct. 1, so that final approval may be secured from the banking department and the petition filed for turning the assets over to the new institution. Following this petition, it would be possible to open the bank in a very short time, possibly two or three weeks.

He Will Discuss Prohibition
At Methodist Church
In Afternoon

Sergeant Alvin C. York, called by General John J. Pershing "the greatest civilian soldier of the war" is coming to Northville.

The noted hero of the World War will appear at the Methodist church here next Thursday afternoon, Sept. 22, at 2:30 o'clock. He will speak on the topic, "Why I am for Prohibition," and following his defense of the Eighteenth amendment, will relate briefly the thrilling story of his experiences in the war.

Northville will have the unusual opportunity to hear this noted hero only because of the fact that he speaks in the evening of Sept. 22 before the Methodist conference at Mt. Clemens and was available for the afternoon date.

Sergeant York, the outstanding individual hero of the world war, is also renowned for his achievements as a citizen in days of peace. With the same courage that won the admiration of the world he now declares his convictions on causes involving the welfare of America. Refusing to capitalize his fame for personal glory or profit, he has devoted himself since the war to the establishment and maintenance of a school for the education of mountain boys and girls in his native Tennessee. With a true Christian spirit, and unflinching determination, he has labored in the interests of those who would otherwise be denied training for useful citizenship.

Since the war Sergeant York has delivered addresses in all parts of the country. His audiences have been deeply impressed by his simple, direct, colorful language, and the clear, forceful logic of his statements.

Answering the call of the Anti-Saloon League for service in the campaign to resist the wet attacks on the eighteenth amendment, Sergeant York has agreed to speak in a number of leading cities. Already he has addressed large audiences under the auspices of the League in Louisville and Indianapolis. He attacks the liquor evil with the same daring with which he faced machine-gun fire in the battle of the Argonne. He answers the arguments of the liquor advocates and makes an appeal for total abstinence that is an inspiration to all who hear him.

The Training School had another outstanding exhibition in the dairy cattle building. Joe Cook, the herdsman, was the boy on the lathe.

He turned out one article after another of varying sizes and varying shapes, all from patterns set up for him. This attracted the attention of the youngsters and the older man alike. Much as the average visitor marveled at the skill, he marvelled still more at the absolute indifference with which these young tradesmen proceeded at their tasks, quite undisturbed by the admiration of the crowd.

This exhibit was assembled under the immediate direction of L. C. Sullivan who is Dr. Robert H. Haskell's assistant, in charge of vocational training.

MICHIGAN'S GEORIOUS FALL

Last week we had a call from one of the best school teachers we ever had. We talked of California where she lived 14 years before coming back to her own Michigan and where we resided for one short, eventful and never-to-be-forgotten year.

"Would you like to go back to California?" we asked her, knowing that it is rare for Californians to forsake that wonderful empire after a very long stay.

"Yes, Richard, I would," she answered. "But Michigan is gorgeous right now."

Isn't she right? If anyone has worries now, let him go out into the open and taste the tang of a Michigan fall day and life will seem sweet again. As we write this editorial we look out on one of the finest days that God ever gave to man. The sky is blue and cloudless—like one of California's fairest days. The sounds of autumn are in the air—and who can say just what they are and from whence they come? Around on every hand are the signs that tell of the completed year of growth and of the rich harvest that has been made. Leaves are not yet gold and brown as they will be soon, but they are saying "Good bye to summer" and one of these nights, when we draw up the blankets a little, the frost will be on the potatoes and the dahlias and then the trees will burst into their symphony of colors and the woods around Northville will become God's great art galleries such as not even California can rival.

Yes, fall in Michigan gives us some of the most glorious days of the year. Wise is he who gets out from town and finds peace in getting lost to nature.

COMMENCING OVER

Not so many months ago we heard a good friend of ours say that he had lost half a million dollars—all he had—and that he was just commencing life over again. Further he went on to say that he never had more fun in his life as he started to "baffle back."

Well, isn't it so that most of us are getting a new "toe hold" and starting up the ladder once more? We all had bitterness and failed to be reconciled to the great collapse that overtook us since that October day in 1929 when the house of cards began to topple, until we began to see that there was just one way out and that was this: "Take your loss and begin over." We know of literally scores of men who have adopted this sensible philosophy of "taking your loss" and of starting anew. They waste no time in thinking of what might have been. They have picked themselves out of the dust of despair into which they were suddenly thrown and are going down the road again with a new spirit of courage and ambition.

There are plenty of signs that the three years of breakdown are about over. A new day dawns. A new faith and hope are written large on the horizon. The period of adjustment is progressing. What a great chance for us all to "start over". Suppose we have lost a lot of money—we can win it back. Has the home been lost? Well, let's go out and win a new one—and one that will be just what we want!

Yes, the past three years have been tough. But the next ten ought to be the best we ever had. You just "can't keep good men down."

On to the new days of rebuilding!

CHURCH UNION IN NORTHVILLE

"Why cannot the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Northville unite and give us one strong, outstanding church?" a prominent resident asks us. "Could any member of either church tell us just why he couldn't belong to the other one?"

"Well, there are some differences of doctrine and government among the older members," we answered him. "and there is always a division of people along lines of conservatism and radicalism and in other ways, but in the main you are right. The average member of either church could join a united Methodist-Presbyterian church and be as happy, if not more so, than he is now."

We understand that nationally there is even now some agitation for union of Methodists and Presbyterians. There has been a merger of some of the Protestant churches of Canada and from all we can hear, the amalgamation has worked out splendidly. Doctrinal differences that once separated neighbors and friends are being set aside, as well they be.

When Theodore Roosevelt was inaugurated president he kissed this verse from the Bible: "... And what doth the Lord require of thee; but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8.) Ask yourself frankly: "Isn't that enough religious platform for the average man?" If we all would do these three things what a wonderful world it would be! Half of our troubles would automatically disappear. Presbyterians, Baptists, and Methodists could certainly all agree on this declaration of faith.

Some day there will be a church union in Northville but we presume it won't come as fast as some of us would like. In the meantime we can be very glad that the feeling of co-operation and harmony among our churches is very fine.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Funny thing happened Sunday. Some Northville friends were out walking and dropped in to see us. Yes, walking—not riding. What strange people!

Hoover has everything, they say, but "showmanship". And Ex-mayor Jimmy Walker of New York has the "showmanship" to fool millions—but what else? But who would want Walker for president?

No matter how we get "bumped" at the office during the day we are always sure that we can go home at night and be greeted by one of the most loyal families in the world. That's worth about a million dollars isn't it?

We have a new paper on our exchange list, a weekly published at Jackson prison. We get it through the kindness of a University of Michigan teacher friend who goes to the prisons (old and new) four times a week to teach English. The paper is very well edited.

Speaking of politics and religion we just read this in one of our exchanges: President Hoover is a Quaker, Governor Roosevelt is an Episcopalian and a Mason, Speaker Garner is a Methodist, and Vice President Curtis is also a Methodist. Let the critics of the church ponder this: The United States almost invariably elects as its president a member of some church. President Wilson was the son of a minister.

As a Methodist layman in fairly good standing, we would just like to protest against the intolerance of such men as Dr. Clarence True Wilson, who denounces Hoover for his position on prohibition and then turns around and says he will support Norman Thomas, the socialist, for president. And Thomas says he is against prohibition and would vote, were he a congressman, to do away with the Volstead act. Can you beat that for sheer inconsistency? P. S. Since the above was written the daily papers carry the news that Dr. Wilson has again changed his mind and says now he will not vote for Thomas. Well we'll just add

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WALKER OBEYS HEARST

(Lois Hisey in Wayne Dispatch)
William Randolph Hearst, publisher, editorially urged Mayor Jimmy Walker to resign from office. The next day Walker did, showing that when the master pulls the strings the puppets perform.

"THEY ALL KNOW ME"

"He enjoyed a good business in a small town and he never advertised," writes Clayton Bess.
"I've lived here forty years," he used to say, "they all know me."
Of good repute, a merchant of the old school, he made many friends, but he, too, is numbered among the business has been and is forgotten.
Younger and more aggressive men that no one knew, but who used the power of print to get acquainted, out-striped him in the struggle.
They forgot the man they all knew because he failed to remind them—often.

FAKE EX-SERVICE MEN

(Eaton Rapids Journal)
It has now become clearly established that in a printing office in a certain eastern city were produced counterfeit discharge papers for the communists that became fake ex-service men in the bonus expedition to Washington. Every true service man should give every aid possible to assist the government in bringing the perpetrators of this fraud to justice. A man with fake discharge papers can bring disgrace upon the entire organization of loyal service men—and they came near doing it at Washington.

GREAT MEN AND THE CHURCH

(M. H. DeFoe in Charlotte Republican-Tribune)
Great men, the greatest our country has known, have universally held a deep and lasting affection for the church. Whether their church was the rudest of colonial shrines or is the most magnificent of today's great cathedrals, great men have invariably held the church close to their hearts. In the greatest cities and smallest villages, the church stands as a sanctuary of rest and a symbol of inspiration. There great men have worshipped and found new courage, new vision, new strength.
Your church offers you, too, this courage, vision and strength. Come to church this Sunday. The church will welcome you.

WHY THIS SPIRIT OF CHANGE?

(Crystal Falls Diamond Drill)
The man on the street is pretty well imbued this year with a spirit of change in politics. He argues that things can't be worse so let's try the Democrats and see what they'll do.
We want to call your attention to the fact that you don't have to make a change to find that out. You another protest. Let the erratic Dr. Wilson find out where he does really stand before he attempts to be the spokesman for millions of Methodists.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Can you "take it on the chin" and come back with a smile?

don't have to elect a Democrat for governor of Michigan to learn if there will be any change industrially because there are a lot of states that have Democrat governors now and have had them through all this industrial slump and not one of them is in better shape than is Michigan. Not even in the State of New York, which has the man who is asking you to change from a Republican to a Democrat administration for its governor, is the condition any better nor as good as right here in Michigan. Roosevelt, if he had that magic to hokus pokus you into prosperity, has had plenty of opportunity to show his talents in New York state but he hasn't done anything of note and his people have suffered just as much as any other people.

He is just as worthy, patriotic and honorable today as he was in that great victory. The Hoover speech was a dignified plea for more discrimination and less destruction. It was a great speech and while he made no direct reference to his own candidacy, every person present left the park with a deeper respect for our great leaders, for government generally and the future outlook of our common country.

LOCAL MEN HAVE CHARGE OF STATE POULTRY SHOW

In the poultry department of the Michigan state fair, held last week in Detroit, five Northville men had a very active part.
E. A. Fuller, who is on the board of directors, was the member-in-charge of the department and did very excellent work. He was ably assisted by Glenn Richardson, Frank Butler, Horace Markham, and Ross Bush. Norman King, Earl Tyler and Earl Baughman were connected with the caviar show.
These Northville poultry experts say that the exhibit at the state fair was better than it has been in many years. An addition to the poultry department was the display of tropical fish which brought forth many excellent compliments from spectators.
Glenn Richardson took two first prizes with his Black Jersey Giants. He had a cockerel and a cockbird. The latter has taken first prize for three successive years.

W. C. T. S. WINS FIRST PRIZE AT THE STATE FAIR

man, although he took down only sixteen animals, brought back seventeen ribbons received as trophies. The seven-year-old animal was a beautiful chair boy, the day following the judging, to one of the leading co-operators. These ribbons represent one second, two thirds and four fifth prizes and the rest straggling after. The cattle competition at the Michigan State fair is very keen. Show herds from all over the country come here regularly to receive the stamp of approval at this fair. Mr. Cook expressed himself as particularly pleased over the fact that the second and third and some of fifth premiums were won by animals which had been bred in the Wacons herd, all of which speaks for better chances even in the future, although old exhibitors were quite surprised that such a list of premiums could be acquired by such a young herd drawn together for purely milking purposes.
In addition to these prizes, the training school also received one hundred and nineteen dollars in cash prizes.

Baptist Ladies' Aid

The Baptist Ladies' Aid meeting will be held Sept. 22 at the home of Mrs. Frank Brown on Cady street. All should come in order to hear the results of the fair.

Secretary.

F. B. AINGER, JR.'S CATTLE WIN HONORS AT THE STATE FAIR

Frank B. Ainger, Jr., proprietor of the Red Rose Farms dairies, won high honors for his cattle at the Michigan State fair when his Holstein-Friesian bull, Sir Hengerveld Persistency, was named the grand champion bull of the fair and the premier breeders award which goes only to breeders who breed and develop their own stock. He won twice on Guernseys and two years on Holsteins.

Mr. Ainger came away from the fair with 22 ribbons for individual class winnings and several beautiful silver platters, which were the awards. In addition to taking the honors at Detroit, Sir Hengerveld Persistency this year won the title of grand champion bull at the Ohio State fair at Columbus. It was the fourth time in the past five years that Mr. Ainger had won the premier breeders award which goes only to breeders who breed and develop their own stock. He won twice on Guernseys and two years on Holsteins.

For this the patients extend a grateful thank-you to every member of the band. The children of the Unit were entertained on Saturday, September 10. No words can express the joy that was written upon all their smiling faces and of course the applause was tremendous. Again thanking the Band on behalf of the patients, I am sincerely yours,

When it is about 1 1/2 miles northeast of town on the Nine-Mile road advertising in a Detroit paper Sunday for a farm to work, the ad, by mistake, read "Help wanted on farm". On Sunday he was deluged with replies beginning as early as six a. m. Sixty calls came on the first day and forty since, from men eager for jobs, showing that it is work, indeed, that folks want. He has also received over 100 letters asking for a job.

A fine illustration of how men stick together in a pinch occurred in our village yesterday afternoon when the tires of the local Ford plant presented one of their number, Geo. Sign, with a fine new bicycle to replace the one that had been stolen during the fair week. For twelve years, George has been riding his bike to and from work and these co-workers just couldn't see him walking that long distance so to show their friendship, they decided to give him something to prove it. Too modest to make a speech, these men asked Mrs. Richard T. Baldwin to be their spokesman, and the presentation took place as a surprise to Mr. Stamp at the Ware hardware store after work yesterday.

DONDERO WINS 17th DISTRICT NOMINATION

In the gubernatorial contest, Gov. Walter M. Bruce (R) scored a sweeping victory with a plurality of approximately 150,000 votes over his nearest opponent, Geo. W. Welsh. Wm. A. Constock (D) will oppose Gov. Bruce in the November election having captured the democratic nomination by a substantial majority. Late returns indicated that Henry Behrendt (R) and Thomas C. Wilcox (D) were nominated in the contest for sheriff; that Herman R. Iau (R) was nominated for county treasurer and that he would be opposed by Jacob P. Sumracki (D); George R. Bushnell appeared probable democratic winner to oppose the republican prosecutor, Harry S. Toy in the November election. Wm. Gutman secured the republican nomination for auditor and will be opposed by either Ray D. Schneider or Wm. J. Nagel on the democratic ticket.

14,000 BUSHELS OF FRUIT PICKED AT THE SIMMONS FARM

Following the completion of the pear and plum harvest at the Fruit Ridge farm of Fred P. Simmons and son George, the big apple yield of late varieties now comes into the limelight.

Monday work was started picking the large crop of Greenings and the grading was started separating this into the different sizes. The entire crop of apples, except the small grades has been sold to a Detroit firm. Fruit Ridge has also been sending out a lot of fine peaches. Over 1,500 bushels of pears were put into cold storage at Detroit and the total of all the pears, plums, early apples, and peaches picked so far would be around 14,000 bushels, one of the biggest yields of fruit ever known in this area.

Nearly 40 men have been at work at Fruit Ridge the past few days. The big orchards and the storage house make an impressive sight.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO SAY HELLO AND GOOD-BYE TONIGHT

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will give tonight (Friday) a "Hello-Good-bye" party in the church house, starting at 7:30. This unique affair will be to welcome new League members and say good-bye to old ones who are leaving to go to college or elsewhere. A good entertainment will be provided and refreshments will be served later in the evening. All members are expected to be present.

Friends of Mrs. Olive Charter will be glad to know that she is making good recovery from a heart attack. She was taken to the Atchison hospital for care a week ago, and her condition is reported much better. Mrs. Charter is 88 years old and has a remarkable record for activity.

American Legion Auxiliary

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM SEEMS GOOD AS SEASON NEARS

Due to the fact that Harold Ruggles, the local athletic coach, has not as yet returned from his vacation, a great deal is not known concerning the coming football season. As this is Northville's first football appearance in the new league, formed last year, her prospects for a championship are in doubt.

The team will be seriously hindered by the loss of eight regulars. They are Memzinger, Weston, Dickerson, Robinson, Tibble, Beach, Biery, and Fry. Of last year's first string men, Captain McCordie, Campbell, and Bender will be back in the backfield, and Ware, Kohler, Schrader, and Reed in the line. These men will help in a great measure to make up for the others' loss, and to assist them will be many more who have not yet worn the coveted "black jerseys".

Allen-all, Northville, it is believed, may look forward to a victorious season with a good hard-fighting team.

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lousy and heavy." Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston.

"This is just one of hundreds of letters we get from people who tell us not only cause you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health. Wonderfulness you lose fat, while fat is most prominent and at the same time keeps stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally."

"C. R. Horton's or any drugstore in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful a glass of hot water every morning—go light on fatty meats, potatoes, and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it."

TENNIS FAN ASKS COURTS FOR HOME PLAYERS

R. T. Baldwin, Editor, Northville Record, Northville, Michigan.

The fact that Northville does not have a tennis court is both unusual and regrettable. It is unusual in that most towns of this size, and even smaller, have courts, and often two of three; and regrettable, because it is either a sign of unprogressiveness or disinterest, since local fans either do not play at all, or have to go all the way to Plymouth. There the town has two concrete courts at the school, and the county two at Riverdale Park.

Realizing, of course, that with times as they are, it would be at best an awfully hard job to raise the money necessary, those interested in benefiting Northville by building a tennis court, are faced with a decided uphill task. However, there are many ways in which determination, plus community spirit, can overcome all obstacles.

Among these, perhaps even the best, is the collecting of a subscription or contribution from the town at large, by an association formed to promote this objective. This could combine or co-operate with the school or county and in a surprisingly short time the fund would be raised.

The county proposition might be stressed and would certainly bear looking into. If the county can build and care for courts at the Plymouth Park, there is apparently no reason why the same cannot be done in Northville or at least in the Case Benton Park nearby. Or maybe Plymouth could give the breaks.

Sincerely,
A Local Tennis Player

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Riddick and daughter, Maryanna, of LaGrange, Ind., were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Baldwin Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Riddick is a brother of Mrs. Baldwin. Another guest at the Baldwin home was Gordon Graham of Jonesville, a sophomore in Hillsdale college.

This Week

By H. H. WHITE

The Wet-Dry question which is looming up in the front ranks of politics in the coming national state and local candidates' platform cannot help but remind the student of politics and national affairs that there remains only a choice between out-and-out repeal on one hand or the continuance of the existing regime on the other. When one asserts that extremes should be averted, and that we should go forward from what has been achieved, it is merely evading the much mooted question.

But this is not so simple an alternative. When the eighteenth amendment was written into our constitution, an extreme measure and remedy was applied to a condition of long standing and, as often happens, while it did some good, it heralded much evil. Some now propose a palliative by restoring the old bad conditions, to replace the present evil.

Such an idea is not necessarily evasion. This writer thinks it to be a "straightforward" recognition of the difficulties of a most complex problem, when the student refuses to go from one extreme to another.

As things are at present, there are most compelling reasons for retaining in a certain measure, a direct federal control, and at the same time making possible adjustments pertinent to local conditions, and respecting local opinions.

At The Theatre

"WHOOPEE" BOYS LAUGH AS THEY RIDE FOR FILMS

Business and pleasure are combined for a group of about 200 Hollywood extras.

They're the fellows who ride horses in mass formation in pictures such as "The Vanishing Frontier", a story of the Old West, which comes to the Peshman-Allyn theatre, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Their skill on horses brings them returns in cash but it also brings them returns in pleasure, for most of them are graduates of the range in the southwest and would rather spend their time in the saddle than anywhere else they can think of.

All are experts and have to be. For they're called upon for extremely hazardous work in "The Vanishing Frontier", for example, they ride in formation at terrific speed through precipitous canyons, across rock-strewn valleys, up and down hills.

Johnny Mack Brown is starred and Evelyn Knapp, Zasu Pitts, Raymond Hutton and J. Farrell MacDonald have featured roles in "The Vanishing Frontier", set in California in the days before organization of civil government, when a harsh martial law was enforced. Brown is in the role of a native, who, infuriated at the injustice of the rule by force, organized a sort of Robin Hood band to prey upon the rich for the benefit of the oppressed.

They're riding at the Peshman-Allyn theatre, between Milford Avenue and Moore Place.

Dated at Detroit, Michigan, September 15, 1932.

MRS. FRANK E. WHIPPLE

Mrs. Frank E. Whipple passed away at the University hospital Friday evening, September 9, at the age of 72 years. Mrs. Whipple had been in failing health for the past five months, though not confined to her bed until the last few days previous to her death, which was due to heart complications.

It is a very unusual circumstance that Mrs. Whipple was born and spent all of her life on the same farm, the one known in earlier years as the old Thompson homestead.

It is of additional interest that Mrs. Whipple's father was a pioneer of this section and the Thompson farm was the center of the community for years. It was he who was instrumental in having the Pere Marquette railroad pass through Northville.

Leon F. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, was born on April 10, 1860. Six sisters have preceded her in death.

As a girl she was very active and athletic, having won distinction as a champion dancer and skater.

She was married to Mr. Murray and followed him to San Francisco, where they lived for many years. In November, 1921, she was married to Frank Whipple of Chicago, who, with three children, Mrs. Leona C. McDonald and Arthur Murray, survive her.

Mrs. Whipple was an industrious worker, having managed the operation of the Thompson farm for a number of years. On the same she was the setting out of an immense apple and peach orchard.

She was devoted to her family's interests and was assisting in her labors for them. Of friends she had many, being a cheerful and kindly nature. She was a member of the Baptist church, and her funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barber, at the home, Monday afternoon. She was laid to rest in Rural Hill cemetery.

Should be averted, and that we should go forward from what has been achieved, it is merely evading the much mooted question.

"WHOOPEE" BOYS LAUGH AS THEY RIDE FOR FILMS

Business and pleasure are combined for a group of about 200 Hollywood extras.

They're the fellows who ride horses in mass formation in pictures such as "The Vanishing Frontier", a story of the Old West, which comes to the Peshman-Allyn theatre, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Their skill on horses brings them returns in cash but it also brings them returns in pleasure, for most of them are graduates of the range in the southwest and would rather spend their time in the saddle than anywhere else they can think of.

All are experts and have to be. For they're called upon for extremely hazardous work in "The Vanishing Frontier", for example, they ride in formation at terrific speed through precipitous canyons, across rock-strewn valleys, up and down hills.

Johnny Mack Brown is starred and Evelyn Knapp, Zasu Pitts, Raymond Hutton and J. Farrell MacDonald have featured roles in "The Vanishing Frontier", set in California in the days before organization of civil government, when a harsh martial law was enforced. Brown is in the role of a native, who, infuriated at the injustice of the rule by force, organized a sort of Robin Hood band to prey upon the rich for the benefit of the oppressed.

They're riding at the Peshman-Allyn theatre, between Milford Avenue and Moore Place.

MRS. FRANK E. WHIPPLE

Mrs. Frank E. Whipple passed away at the University hospital Friday evening, September 9, at the age of 72 years. Mrs. Whipple had been in failing health for the past five months, though not confined to her bed until the last few days previous to her death, which was due to heart complications.

It is a very unusual circumstance that Mrs. Whipple was born and spent all of her life on the same farm, the one known in earlier years as the old Thompson homestead.

It is of additional interest that Mrs. Whipple's father was a pioneer of this section and the Thompson farm was the center of the community for years. It was he who was instrumental in having the Pere Marquette railroad pass through Northville.

Leon F. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, was born on April 10, 1860. Six sisters have preceded her in death.

As a girl she was very active and athletic, having won distinction as a champion dancer and skater.

She was married to Mr. Murray and followed him to San Francisco, where they lived for many years. In November, 1921, she was married to Frank Whipple of Chicago, who, with three children, Mrs. Leona C. McDonald and Arthur Murray, survive her.

Mrs. Whipple was an industrious worker, having managed the operation of the Thompson farm for a number of years. On the same she was the setting out of an immense apple and peach orchard.

She was devoted to her family's interests and was assisting in her labors for them. Of friends she had many, being a cheerful and kindly nature. She was a member of the Baptist church, and her funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barber, at the home, Monday afternoon. She was laid to rest in Rural Hill cemetery.

Should be averted, and that we should go forward from what has been achieved, it is merely evading the much mooted question.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By MRS. EDITOR

Is Calling Old Fashioned?

"No, I haven't had a single caller since I came to Northville," said a new resident in the village lately. In fact, it was not just one certain new comer who said this but a number of them who have wondered if Northville really wanted them for residents.

To each in turn we promptly have said, "Oh, you'll find the finest folks in the world here—that is, when you know them." And then we pondered—yes, when you know them—but how is the modest, home-loving type of woman ever going to know them? Gone forever seem to be the old-fashioned ideas of neighborliness which sent the good woman of the house over to the next door with a bit of something good to eat to the weary, new neighbors who had stopped in the midst of their tugging and lifting of their household goods to peer out the window and wonder what kind of a place they had dropped into.

In the many moves of our "rolling stones," existence the faces of several of these good neighbors have shown like angels when they have saved the day from discouragement by dropping in for a brief call (with emphasis on the brief) saying something like this: "How would a cup of hot tea taste right now? Well, we hope you'll like us for neighbors."

The whole outlook was changed. Why was a fine town of course we would like them!

No, Mrs. Editor has no complaints to make about Northville—not a bit of it. It's her job to hunt folks in and get acquainted, and she has been met with warm cordiality. If she doesn't know them she is supposed to ask them their names boldly. It's business. Not so, modest little Mrs. who must stand properly on formally until folks discover she has come to town and make up their minds deliberately whether to take her in.

How does she know how many fine women there are here in the various church societies, the King's Daughters, the P. T. A., the Women's club, and what not? She is a new comer and unless she is used to breaking into a new community she waits, politely to be given a sign that she is welcomed. And often she waits—and waits. Northville does not really need her nor especially want her. The "Monday club," the "Tuesday club" and all the rest of the nameless clubs are full and quite sufficient unto themselves. They've been running on for years with the same close friends and an outsider would not fit in perhaps. And besides, how do they know whether she was "anybody" back where she came from?

And so they wait. A friendly call might reveal to them a "soul of a friend we've made" and life be the richer always—not to mention extending a hand of friendship to a lonely new comer.

It's not personal, this criticism. We are not in position to judge but we meet so many new people in our rounds who say "Folks in Northville are not very friendly." Is it so, fellow Homemakers?

Mrs. Christy At 85 Cheery and Active

Although Mrs. Lucinda M. Conroy Christy reached the age of 85 years on September 13, she smilingly refuses to be "laid on the shelf." When a young girl her father said to her, "Lucinda, your birthday verse surely applies to you." It was "She does willingly whatsoever her hands find to do," and her friends and her family say this characteristic still holds.

Grandmother's room at the home of her daughter Mrs. Metta Ambler, is the center of activity in that family and when "Grandma" is not doing a bit of mending for one of the three active granddaughters, of the household, she is sewing for distant grandchildren. "No piecing quilts or sewing carpet bags for me," she says, "there are too many useful things to be done."

Mrs. Christy was born in the little village of Olingerville, N. Y., on the Hudson river and it is one of the early recollections of her childhood of making the long trip to Michigan by way of the Erie canal from Albany to Buffalo. "Michigan," she says, "was the land of promise in that day. Gold was supposed to be picked up here."

She married Geo. Conroy in 1883 who died in 1902 and in 1913 she married Robt. Christy who died in 1920. Since then she has made her home with her daughter Mrs. Ambler.

All the experiences of a pioneer mother have been hers but through it all she has maintained a heroic and good humor that have made her beloved by many. Mrs. Christy confides that it has been the secret ambition of her life to write and it is hoped that a contribution from her pen will appear in these columns.

Her birthday, Tuesday, was celebrated on the Sunday previous by a family gathering of sixty-five members of the Conroy family who paid tribute to her with many tokens of their love. The Record joins in hearty congratulations and best wishes for more happy years.

damny one o'clock uncheon which was followed by bridge during the afternoon. Those present from Northville were Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, Mrs. Alton Peters, Mrs. Frank Monroe, Mrs. Jas. Congo, Mrs. Sherrill Ambler, and Mrs. B. E. Larson. Mrs. Wellwood of Detroit was also a guest.

Mrs. Hay Honors Her Father On His Birthday

Honoring her father, Benjamin Longley, of Sarina, Ont., on his seventy-first birthday, the six children of the Longley family gathered at the home of their sister, Mrs. Ralph L. Hay, Saturday, Sept. 1. It had been planned to have this affair out-of-doors on the sightly hill at the Hay home but rain drove the company within and a long table was stretched full length in the recreation room to accommodate the eighteen members of the party.

Yellow and white flowers were effectively used in decoration. At the conclusion of the dinner little seven-year-old Ralph Hay, Jr., carried to his grandfather a large birthday cake with lighted tapers while the whole family joined in singing "Happy Birthday to You." Mrs. Longley will remain for a further visit at the Hay home.

Local Flower Enthusiasts Visit Farmington Gardens

As guests of the Farmington Garden club a number of Northville women who especially love to make flowers grow, were given a treat last Thursday, Sept. 8, when they attended the Flower Show at the neighboring town. A large display of beautiful flowers and miniature gardens was arranged at the Methodist church and visitors were present from far and near. From Northville the party was made up of Mrs. Chas. Dunbar, Mrs. T. R. Carrington, Mrs. Jas. Hoehl, Mrs. Malmberg, and Mrs. A. B. Van Aken.

From the church a tour of inspection was made to some of the lovely gardens of which Farmington boasts. Among them were those of Mrs. Bickling, sister of Carl Ely, Mrs. Hutton, sister of Mrs. Milne, Mrs. Fred Warner, C. F. Smith, the Wards, and, loveliest of all, that of the Goodenow estate. This last garden was described as "the most finished," having been established some years ago. This is the first time these gardens have been open to the public and these Northville visitors felt especially privileged.

Musicians Enjoy Evening Together At Bryan Home

It was a company of music lovers who were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bryan last Friday evening to share together the privilege of meeting Arthur Carr, a graduate student of Yale university who has recently returned from a concert tour in Europe where he was piano accompanist for the Yale-glee club.

Mr. Carr was the house guest of Leslie G. Lee, whose friend he was in student days in Albion college. Included in this congenial group and contributing to the pleasure of the evening with impromptu music selections were Mrs. T. P. Brennan, Pierre Kenyon, Leslie G. Lee, Miss Katherine Rink, all of Northville, and Guy Filkins of Detroit and Alfred Smith of Plymouth. Mrs. Lee, Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Slater, of Delaware, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Ambler and Dr. Brennan were also guests.

One of the features of special interest was a newly organized male quartet composed of Messrs. Bryan, Lee, Smith and Kenyon who "tuned out" their efforts on the critics present who predict for them a promising career. They were accompanied by Mrs. Brennan. Vocal numbers by Mr. Kenyon and piano numbers by the guest of honor, Mr. Carr, Guy Filkins and Miss Rink, were enjoyed. At the close of the evening the hostess served refreshments.

Conroy Family Assemble For Reunion

Sixty-five strong, the Conroy family reunion gathered at the home of Mrs. Metta Ambler on West Cary street last Sunday. There were present members from Detroit, Egan, Farmington, Novi, Hartland and Freeland, Ohio, besides Northville, which was represented by the family of Sherrill W. Ambler, Mrs. Metta Ambler, Mrs. Lucinda Christy, Mrs. Lela Haystead and daughters, Madeline, Lella and Betty.

These "off-shoots" of the Conroy family are proud of the fact that they are descendants of good staunch Irish stock, tracing their ancestry to the hale Dennis Conroy and his blue-eyed bride, Eleanor Moran, who faced the stormy sea for seven weeks when they left Dublin for their new home in America. Fourteen children made up this family who came to Detroit in 1833 when the village was young and the postoffice was a small log cabin.

A happy day of reminiscence was enjoyed by the family, gathering Sunday with a bountiful dinner. The real occasion of the reunion was to celebrate the eighty-fifth birthday of Mrs. Lucinda Conroy, mother of Mrs. Ambler.

The oldest living member of this family is Mrs. Emma Conroy of Farmington who is 90 years old and the youngest is little ten-year-old Jackie Kimbark of Farmington, whose mother, Mrs. Evelyn Kimbark, is the newly elected president. The family has promised to meet again next year with Mrs. Ambler.

Miss Hazel Wood and E. J. Douglas Are Married September 10

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wood, at corner of Beck and Fishery roads, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, when, in the presence of thirty relatives and friends, E. J. Douglas was married to Hazel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Wood.

Before the fireplace, around a white Angora rug, delicately colored large baskets of beautiful flowers, were placed, forming an arch. Preceding the ceremony "I Love You Truly" was sung by Edgie Wood and Ted Watts, brother and cousin of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Blake, on the violin. Then to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, the groom and his attendant, Ted Watts, took their places at the altar, followed by Miss Margaret Norton, the bridesmaid, who wore a pale green eyelet batiste dress and carried yellow roses and maidenhair ferns. As the strains of the violin reached "here comes the bride" a vision of loveliness in white satin carrying a bouquet of white tea roses, baby breath and ferns appeared upon the scene.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend W. Roscoe Barbour, pastor of the Baptist Church. During congratulations "O Promise Me" was played very effectively by Mrs. Blake.

A buffet luncheon was served and later when the bride was becomingly attired in a brown traveling suit, good-byes were said and the young couple left for a motor trip to the home of his parents in Missouri. While there a wedding reception will be tendered the newlyweds to present them to new friends.

Mr. Douglas is a graduate of the Hickman school and Chillicothe Business college of Missouri, and is now connected with the U. S. fishery here. They will make their home in one of the fishery apartments after their return from a month's wedding trip.

Shopper—"Have you anything snappy in rubber bands?" New Clerk—"No, but we have something catchy in fly-paper."

There are 134,000 children in the parochial schools of Michigan. The government figure last year covering the cost of education per child was $108.00. That means that the parochial schools saved the state of Michigan $14,472,000. Is that patriotic or not?

St. Paul's Lutheran

Leo St. Eickstadt, pastor, 220 Elm Street.

Our annual Mission Festival will be held this Sunday, Sept. 18, with two divine services, the first beginning at 10 o'clock and the second at 3 p. m.

The preachers for this occasion will be the Rev. P. Barth from Elkhart, Ind., who will deliver the morning sermon, and the Rev. Otto Turk from Detroit who will address us in the afternoon worship.

The object of celebrating Mission Festival is to acquaint us with the dire need of a world without God and hope.

To fill our hearts with a burning passion for souls, to bring a sacrificial offering before the Lord, it is hoped that we all will do our share by being present for both services, by putting liberal contributions in both Mission collections, and by bringing our friends with us. Blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it.

On this occasion the Ladies Aid of the congregation will serve dinner after the morning service at the nominal charge of 25¢ for adults and 15¢ for children under 12 years of age.

Holy Communion will be celebrated on the last Sunday of this month, Sept. 25th. Announcements to be made at the parsonage on Thursday evening, Sept. 22.

Confirmation instruction will again convene on the first Sunday in October in connection with the service.

To all who mourn and need comfort, to all who are lonely and want companionship, to all who love to sing God's praise to all who are sad and need a Savior, to all who seek salvation, St. Paul's Lutheran Church opens wide her portals and in the name of Jesus Christ bids you welcome.
