SCHRADER IS AGAIN NAMED HEAD OF FAIR

W. E. Fornay, H. H. Hamilton
Are Chosen As Directors of Association

For the eighth consecutive year Nelson C. Schrader was re-elected to the office of president at the annual meeting of the Northville Wayne County Fair association held here last Tuesday. All the directors of the association were also re-elected, with W. E. Fornay named in place of the late Chas. A. Ponsford, and H. H. Hamilton elected to fill the office formerly held by the late Thomas E. Murdoch.

After the stockholders had concluded their business at this meeting President Schrader called the directors together, and the following officers were elected: Nelson C. Schrader, president; Elmer L. Smith, vice-president; Floyd Northrop, secretary; Ernest E. Miller, treasurer.

In responding to the honor shown him by his re-election Mr. Schrader expressed his gratitude for the splendid co-operation of fair executives, but declared that he felt he was not deserving of the honor accorded him. He said that as he had been ill for the duration of last year's fair all the work of that event had been thrust upon their shoulders. Mr. Schrader generously gave full credit to directors and workers for the splendid condition of the association at the end of the year, saying that while others had "gone broke," the Northville Fair association had remained solvent.

Mr. Schrader thanked the directors for their co-operation in granting a 25 per cent expenditure cut two years ago, with an additional cut of 10 per cent in 1932, saying that not only did every man respond to the proposed cut, but some even went further in their efforts to curtail expenses of the association.

In reviewing the fair of previous years, Mr. Schrader expressed his belief that the coming year would also be a successful one, and that the plans for 1933 would produce an even bigger and better fair.

This year's fair will be held Aug. 23 to 28. Careful planning has enabled the board to pay all of last year's expenses leaving a balance with which to start this year's fair.

A. AND P. STORE ADDS EQUIPMENT

A Northville merchant rang up a $25,000 sale on his cash register this week and thereby hangs a tale.

Frazer Staman, proprietor of the local Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store, rang the sum up on his new cash register which is part of the new equipment the store received this week.

George Rattenbury, head of the meat department of the store, stands proudly behind the shining white vitrolite counters, the new meat block, and the new scales, and contemplates the fixtures with satisfaction that a master craftsman takes in the tools of his trade.

Progressing with the times, the A. and P. store has kept its standard of equipment to a high peak, its customers state.

The personnel of the store which includes Harry Sedan, Alex Johnson, Duncan Fry, Alfred Sibley, Manager George Rattenbury, and Manager Frazer Staman, assisted in moving out the old equipment and placing the new, all of which took place within a few hours time.

In this week's Record an extra large advertising space has been taken by the A. and P. company to celebrate the opening of the Depositors State bank here. Many money saving specials are listed for the approval of Northville housewives.

GEORGE A. SMITH TELLS EXCHANGE OF SCHOOL NEEDS

Speaks On Educational Problems Being Met Today

A glimpse of the numerous problems facing school authorities was given to Exchanges at their weekly meeting last Wednesday noon by George A. Smith, superintendent of schools at Plymouth. Chas. A. Döhl was in charge of the meeting.

Stressing the fact that the educational program in the schools of today must cater to the needs of the boys and girls who must learn to work with their hands as well as those who must work with their heads, Mr. Smith defended the extra subjects, such as manual training, which have become a part of the curriculum.

Numerous graduates are taking up post graduate work at the high schools, Mr. Smith pointed out, and this adds to the general expense of school maintenance. However, it is better that the young men and women do this than to remain unemployed. Mr. Smith maintained.

The talk was greatly enjoyed by members of the exchange club, as well as the delicious luncheon preceding it.

Next week the Farmington club will have luncheon with the Northville Exchanges, upon the invitation of President Charles Murphy. At this meeting Roy E. Crowe, manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, will present Stanley R. Manning of the telephone company's engineering department. Mr. Manning will talk on Scientific By-Pass and Side Lights of a telephone laboratory and will demonstrate in several ways the use of the Electric Eye and Photo Electric cell, as it is more correctly named.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BRAE BURN CLUB TO BE HELD JAN. 30

Stockholders and members of the Brae Burn Golf club will hold their annual meeting at the Detroit Island hotel on Jan. 30. Plans for the expansion and the improvement of the club will be thoroughly discussed, said J. M. Hall, manager of the golf club, who will attend the meeting.

According to Mr. Hall every effort will be made this year by club executives to provide a first class golf course where club members and their guests can enjoy a game of golf at a minimum of expense. Dining room service and good food at reasonable prices are part of the program outlined for the coming year, he said.

One of the unique features planned for golf players this year, said Mr. Hall, is the extra tee on all long holes, which will permit beginners and mediocre players to have the option of playing a long or a short course.

Numerous groups of golfers are already making reservations for the coming year, according to Mr. Hall.

MUSEUM IS TO BE ADDED AT HATCHERY

Supt. F. L. Snipes Makes
Plans for Extensive Improvement

When plans originated by Superintendent Frank L. Snipes of the U. S. Fish Hatchery are completed this summer, visitors to the hatchery will see a museum of Michigan outdoor life that will prove an added attraction to the already interesting institution.

In conjunction with the work being done to accommodate the new museum, the entire fish hatchery building is being redecorated and remodeled. All available space in the large structure will be utilized for office space, sleeping rooms for men who work there and their families, and other utility rooms, which have always been a part of the building. One room is being remodeled and will be used as an auxiliary office.

Floors have been sandpapered and will be repainted. Walls will be given a fresh coat of paint. The main hall will be decorated in imitation of a garden. The entire hatchery will present a "new face" when all this work is finished.

As this is the hatching season of trout, workmen at the fish hatchery have been very busy during the past few weeks. 1,250,000 brook trout, 100,000 rainbow trout and 50,000 loach trout are being hatched. These will be distributed, beginning May 10, to the feeding nurseries in Michigan, then being four co-operative nurseries in the state. The fry will be fed at these nurseries until October, when they will be distributed for planting.

At this time of the year, bass is dominant at the hatchery. The season for them not starting until the early part of May. Eight of the hatchery ponds are used exclusively for bass, while another pond is used for raising gold fish which are used as fish food for the bass. The bass are distributed throughout Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

CANDIDATE FOR TOWNSHIP TREASURER

Will be a candidate for the office of township treasurer in the republican caucus to be held this spring.

I have held the office for two years previously and believe I am well qualified by this experience to hold the position.

The earnest support of my friends will be very much appreciated.

Rotarians Eat Inmates' Simple Fare And Afterward See the Inside Life At the Detroit House of Correction

Paying 35 cents each for their meal, the members of the Northville Rotary club and a number of guests, sat down Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock in the immense dining room of the Detroit House of Correction and learned how prisoners' fare tastes.

Filling by the counter with heavy plates and then sitting at the desk-like tables, the visitors learned how it seems to eat baked potatoes with cut gravy, bread without butter and how it feels to drink coffee without cream or sugar. Sitting in the big room, where 1,100 can be accommodated, the Northville people experienced vividly what dinner time means at the institution.

Following the simple meal, the visitors were taken through the various departments of the House of Correction and were amazed at the extent of its activities, the efficient way in which Capt. Denniston's "boys" carry on their work and the neatness and cleanliness of all departments. A visit to the cell block, one of the most modern of its kind in the United States, completed the tour of inspection.

MOCK TRIAL HEARD BY CROWDED HOUSE

An audience that filled the Presbyterian church to capacity Sunday evening followed with the keenest interest the vivid presentation of the dramatic trial "Who Killed Earl Wright?"

A cast of 25 local people took part in the roles of prosecuting attorney and defense attorney were taken by Frank L. Church and Dr. Geo. W. Morrow, of Detroit, both representatives of the Michigan Anti-Slavery league which had charge of the program.

The trial was staged as a union meeting of the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches and the unique event was keenly appreciated by the large audience.

With Capt. Van Valkenburgh taking the part of judge, Justice Wellington Roberts acting as bailiff, Edward J. Douglas impersonating the sheriff, and with a jury of twelve Northville men, the trial took on all the atmosphere of an actual court room. Clifford B. Turnbull, acting as the defendant, who killed his best friend while under the influence of a moonshine whiskey bought from a bootlegger, was exceptionally impressive and during his testimony the audience followed the proceedings with all the tenseness of a real trial. Mrs. Paul W. Alexander was very realistic as Mrs. French, the wife of one of the participants of a drinking party and Mrs. Clarence Whipple as the other of the defendant played her part very well.

Mrs. E. M. Bogart and son, Lawrence, and Helen Dixon faithfully portrayed the role of Mrs. Earl Wright and children. Dr. W. H. Wright and children. Dr. W. H. Wright and children.

MRS. SARAH PARSONS DIES AT HOME HERE

After a long illness of one and one half years at her home on Cady street, Mrs. Sarah Parsons passed away Monday morning, January 23, at the age of nearly 88 years.

In September, 1931, Mrs. Parsons suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never fully recovered. A second stroke followed last October and since then she has been confined to her bed continually with gradually failing strength. For over a year Miss Margaret Stillwell has most conscientiously cared for her patient with the tenderness of a daughter.

Sarah Dunning was born February 13, 1845 in Perry, Mich., where she made her home during her youth, graduating from the local school with high honors and receiving an honorary certificate for teaching because of high scholarship.

When the Civil war broke out Sarah Dunning bade goodbye to her soldier lover, Andrew Parsons, and waited faithfully till his return when they were united in marriage. Thirty-eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Parsons came to Northville where Mr. Parsons engaged in the grocery business which he purchased from Elmer Smith, who in turn bought of the Stark brothers. For years his was a familiar figure in the business district of the village until his death 18 years ago.

In the meantime, Mrs. Parsons threw her ability into the activities of Northville. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church and a thorough Christian woman. One evidence of her stability and loyalty to her church is shown in the fact that one of the earlier pastors of the local Presbyterian church, Rev. J. E. Webb, always sought out her mature counsel and referred to her lovingly as "Mother Parsons."

One of her great interests was the public library on whose board she served intelligently for many terms. She was a wide reader and conversant with her many testifies always left her hearers richer. Even late in life her deep interest in the affairs of her community lay close to her heart.

Another concern of Mrs. Parsons was the Woman's club of which she was an honored past president. Scarcely a Friday afternoon came, even after her illness, that she did not express interest in the club and a wish that she might attend.

No children blessed her home, but Mrs. Parsons extended her natural motherliness to many. The only relatives surviving are a few nephews and aunts among them Rev. Ben Dunning of Detroit, Mrs. R. Brooks, Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Clark, Greenville and Rev. John W. Dunning of Cornua. Although only indirectly related to Mrs. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lyons of Grose Isle have stood in the place of a son and daughter, coming out to see her every week.

The funeral service was held in the Schrader funeral parlors Thursday morning when Rev. H. G. Whitfield spoke feelingly on the life of this worthy woman.

The remains were taken to Cornua to be laid beside Mrs. Parsons' nearest kindred where her nephew, Rev. Mr. Dunning, will officiate at the burial service.

As Northville Sleeps Monday Night E. M. B. Grocery Stock Is Moved; New Store Opening Is Saturday

Those who dropped in at the old familiar stand of the E. M. B. grocery along in the evening Monday were surprised beyond belief next morning to find that while they were sleeping that night all the stock from the shelves of that crowded store had, as it were, "folded their tent like the Arabs, and as silently stole away." Empty as a tomb was the little red store while on the shining shelves of the new quarters next door stood row upon row of neatly arranged goods and over the new counters having been going on as if there had never been a ripple in the sea of bartering.

A tired droop to the shoulders of the "big chief," E. M. B., was all that gave hint of the colossal task that had been accomplished "while their companions slept."

Sales were made in the old stand as late as ten o'clock on the previous night. Real operations of moving did not begin until as late as eight o'clock in the evening then, summoning the following able-bodied crew to supplement the faithful clerks, Francis Sprenger and Miss Marie Shoop, Wm. Roberts and daughter, Miss Lela, Joe Ashley, Jas. Black, Howard Hunt, Martin Summers, Wm. Dingman and Gerald Bartrum, the work began.

From their shelves in groups of their kind came down cans and cans of corn, peas, beans and infumation, it seemed. These were carried in boxes to the new location where other hands in this fine system seized them and placed them in their proper places. On through the night they toiled. Midnight struck. No stopping.

Curious passers-by stopped to question and were unheeded by the movers. If hunger made itself felt, a hasty bite at a banana or a handful of crackers, and the work went on. Some stopped at one a. m. and others plodded on till the first streaks of dawn were seen in the east.

At six-thirty Tuesday morning the store was open again for business and early amazed customers struggled in for cereal or a loaf of bread for breakfast.

One attractive new feature in this new store is the meat department equipped with a modern electric refrigerator. Over this department will preside Robert Greg of Detroit, an expert meat cutter who will move his family out here from the city later.

In the face of present conditions people of Northville are marveling at the optimistic confidence in local retail trade which prompts Mr. Bogart to undertake this enlargement of his headquarters and his many friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

A page advertisement in this week's Record offers a host of attractive bargains obtainable at the E. M. B. Food Market on the occasion of its formal opening tomorrow (Saturday). All Northville is invited to attend this big opening event.

DeKAY SCHOOL PLANS BIG COMMUNITY SING SATURDAY EVENING

The Parent-Teachers association, which has recently been organized at the DeKay school on West Severn mile road, just opposite Maybury sanatorium, is having an evening of music and community singing at 7:30 p. m. Saturday night, Jan. 28, with Miss Nellie Huger of Hartland, Michigan, in charge.

Miss Huger, who is head of the Hartland school of music, a Methodist institution, will speak on "The Place of Music in the Life of a Community." During the evening Miss Huger will give a demonstration of her theories by teaching a group of children who may attend that night, and will at the same time lead a community sing.

The officers of the P. T. A. are Mrs. W. J. Werve, president; Mrs. Ralph Foreman, vice-president; Ralph Foreman, secretary, and Miss Ruth Elden, treasurer. Mrs. Ruth Stage of Northville is the teacher. The organization is affiliated with both state and national P. T. A. H. S. CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN FEB. 3

The first concert of the season will be given by the high school vespella choir, Girls' Glee club, and the Boys' Quartet in the high school auditorium, Friday evening, Feb. 3, at eight o'clock.

Fifty-three members now compose the choir which sings unaccompanied in a smooth "sustained" style. Great care has been taken to secure a beautiful free tone combined with accurate pronunciation, according to Leslie G. Lee, the director.

An unusual feature about the choir is the way in which the pitch is secured at the beginning of each selection. No piano or pitch pipe is sounded; instead Ernest Racz, who has absolute pitch, hears the keynote with each section lightly humming its note in the chord. Then the singing begins.

The Girls' Glee club composed of 27 chosen singers, will be heard in five selections. It will be remembered that this group has done "some very excellent work in the past and they are expected to perform with their usual high grade of artistry. They will be accompanied by Kathleen Rancik.

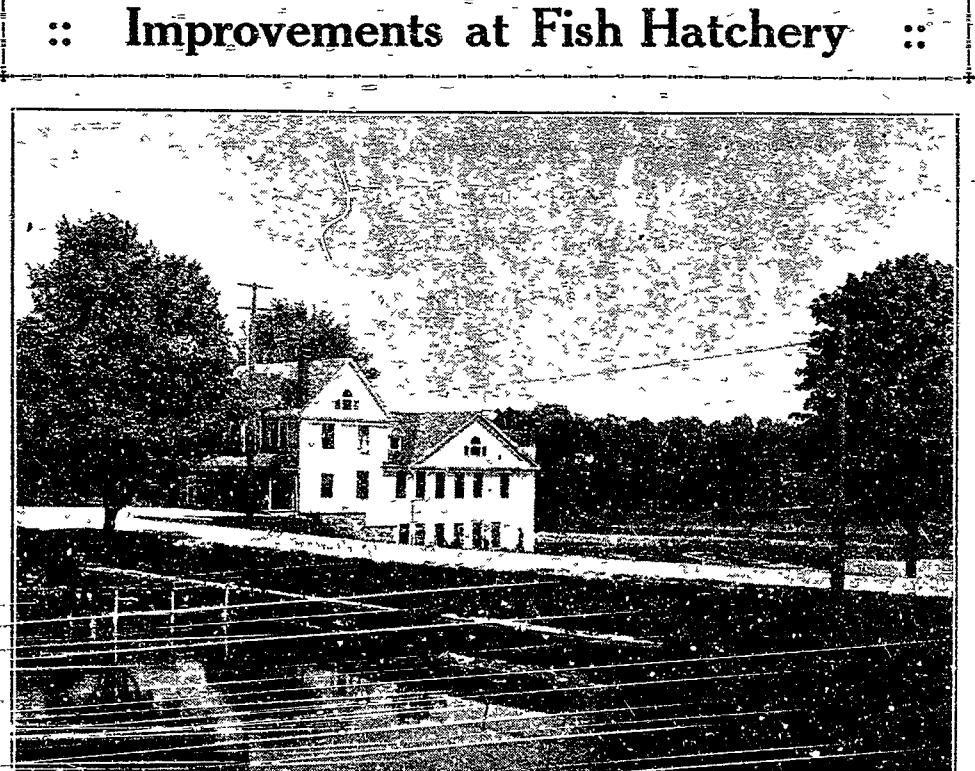

The Boys' Quartet, composed of Maurice Giles, Robert Cousins, Ernest Racz and Merle Fraser, accompanied by Frances Alexander, will also sing a group of three numbers. The program will be varied, containing both popular and classical selections. Works from the great masters Beethoven, Wagner, Gounod, Elgar, and others will be heard. The complete program will be published next week.

No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken. It is hoped that a large audience will fill the auditorium for this event. Remember the date Friday evening, Feb. 3.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Power of Louisville, Ky., spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Power.

It will be good news to the friends of Maurice Lapham to hear that he is making splendid recovery from his serious illness and is beginning to sit up at intervals.

This picture shows the building at the fish hatchery where extensive improvements are being made. A museum of Michigan outdoor life will be added to the plant and by the time summer rolls around this will be an added place of interest for the hundreds of visitors who come to the hatchery every month. Frank L. Snipes is the superintendent in charge at the hatchery.

A TRANSFORMED TOWN

"You would be literally amazed to see how our town has been changed since the bank opened," said a friend who lives in a little city where conditions have been somewhat like those in Northville. "We have a new town, he went on and "everyone is feeling optimistic."

If we all pull together and work for a common purpose, that will be exactly the result in Northville. Our new bank opens tomorrow and with its opening should come the beginning of a new era of good will and prosperity. Why not? We have one of the soundest financial institutions to be found anywhere in the state and there is nothing to prevent our planning for a bigger and better Northville.

The new Northville is ready for us to build. We believe it will be built by a united community.

NO TAX PAYMENTS IN 1933?

Before the Michigan Press association at Lansing a few days ago we heard Frank Sparks, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald (sitting in the seat of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg), predict that he would not be surprised if no taxes would be paid in 1933.

Sparks, a great student of government, made this radical statement because he feels that the recently adopted 15 per cent tax amendment will fill the courts with litigation. The limit of 15 mills on property makes no provision for the division of this amount among the various units, state, county, school, village or city and township. How will it be divided? The $15 per thousand of valuation must cover all the taxes for the several units. The schools will want a big share—and must have a big share. But they will face the competition with the other units. Each must have so much or think it must, and there will come the contest for the division of the $15 and the rush to the courts.

It is a prethetical statement that no taxes will be paid in 1933 but one of the best informed men in Michigan, a man who has covered governmental affairs for many years, made it. It will be interesting to see what develops.

This is one year when no one need envy the members of the Michigan legislature as they face just about the worst tax crisis they have ever had.

A NEW STATE CONSTITUTION

One of the big problems before Governor Comstock and the state legislature is what to do about a new state constitution. To meet the emergencies of government it does seem that we shall before many years have to change from the "home and buggy" constitution to one that will meet the new machine era.

Our tax situation is so desperate that some way must be found to cut the mounting costs of government. It is pretty well agreed that we shall have to revise our archaic system of township government which was designed for the days when the farmer with his horse and buggy could travel only a few miles from his home to transact his business with the government. With the advent of the automobile and good roads, the county must as well be the unit of government as the township.

This is only one example of how our state constitution has been antiquated by shifting conditions. We live in a new era, with new problems and we shall have to adapt our governmental control to the new day.

If and when the new constitution is written, it is probable to be hoped that the new charter can be written, not by our politicians—who are pretty much at sea right now—but by sincere students of government. In addition to the students of government in actual life, the University of Michigan can furnish much real leadership for the revision of our state constitution.

THE ERROR OF TECHNOCRACY

The technocrats are still with us but they are not quite as rampant as they have been. From all sides their high-sounding theories of a new government by the "power of technique" are being assailed by both practical men and by economists of the highest standing. One trouble with technocracy is that it is such a hair-splitting system that only a few of the chosen "highbrows" can get what it is all about. The periodical, Business Week, aptly calls it "rumble-bumble." Someone else well says that it is "scientific jargon." A system that is so devious and mysterious that it cannot be comprehended by the average man is hardly going to come into control.

The technocrats deserve the criticism that they are receiving. Just at the time when the people need steadying and a new confidence in themselves and in our American institutions, the technocrats frighten the people with their prophecies of doom and disaster.

The great error of technocracy is that it has not figured on human nature. Its graphs and diagrams simply cannot take to pieces the human element. Their government by science might work out if men, women and children were automatons that could be pulled by strings. The technocrats make you laugh. They talk about machines as though machines created themselves and kept themselves running. There is plenty of machinery around the office of The Northville Record, for example, but every hour of every day we have occasion to notice that the human element has to come in and master the machine. An eight-hour week in this office would be simply unthinkable unless a lot of miracles come along.

Technocracy has charted some excellent data and given us a lot to think about but its prediction of a new government by science simply won't and can't come true. We do need change in our industrial system but it will come by evolution—not by revolution.

P. S. Tuesday's daily papers tell of the repudiation of Howard Scott, high priest of technocracy, by Columbia university, where the work of the engineering and economists group that has been advancing the new theories, has been going on. The good of technocracy will be retained but its evils will be eliminated. It is well. This development came sooner than was expected. Common sense comes to the top sooner or later.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Only about eight weeks before the golf balls start whizzing around in Northville air.

Good news: President Hoover and President-Elect Roosevelt get together. That is the only way.

Hats-off to the Northville high school basketball team! Their spirit of loyalty and courage is a good example to the rest of us.

If we were a preacher we should some Sunday morning talk on the tremendous value of loyalty. We know of nothing finer in life. The loyalty of a friend often makes life worth living.

For making light of the claims of technocracy one of our good friends calls us a "reckless optimist." We accept the title. And we are in pretty good company for we just read this from Prof. H. L. Sharfman, chairman of the department of economics of the University of Michigan: "Technocracy... carries some truth in its propaganda but also disregards some fundamental aspects of human nature and should have even its scientific claims carefully checked before we accept it as the next step after democracy."

An editor of a paper in a Michigan town of 2,000 told us the other day that a survey showed that only one family in eleven in his town financially supported any church. We suspect that Northville would not make a much better showing. If you doubt this, just run your mind up and down your street and see how many give consistently to any church. Every community needs the leavening power of the Christian church. Is it fair for a whole community to accept the priceless benefits of the church and let a pitiful handful pay the bills? What is your solution?

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

How often do you call on your friends?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

NOT SPILLED RIGHT

(Frank Bryce in Grand Lodge Independent)

Lowell Thomas sprang a pretty good one in his talk on the radio last Monday evening. He named another party who said the only trouble with technocracy is that it is not spelled right. He said the last time should be a z.

THAT $12,500 SALARY

(Al Weber in The Chippewagon Observer)

What did that republican prison commission put over on Gov. Comstock when they chose a democrat would be plenty for all to live in for Ozark of our state prisons and comfort and have all the advantages of a salary of $12,500 a year? The man selected is well qualified for his job but he has been named, but why hang onto him such a salary when every possible effort is being made to bring officials' salaries down to a sensible station.

HAPPY DAYS ARE ON THE WAY

(Theo A. Thompson in The Williamston Enterprise)

The curtailment of consumption cannot go on forever. There will come a time when the last pair of shoes the last suit of clothes, the last old hat will be worn out and when the last machine and implement must go onto the scrap pile. When all these things happen then production will come into the picture and happy days will come again.

AN IDEAL SYSTEM

(Paul Riddick in LaGrange Standard)

Wouldn't this be an ideal system to get rid of all our woes and ills at once—to have the government commission put over on Gov. Comstock when they chose a democrat would be plenty for all to live in for Ozark of our state prisons and comfort and have all the advantages of a salary of $12,500 a year? The man selected is well qualified for his job but he has been named, but why hang onto him such a salary when every possible effort is being made to bring officials' salaries down to a sensible station.

Investing Safely

Money invested in Standard Certificates during 1932 produced normal dividends.

The past three years have been no exception from the thirty-nine that have gone before. The Standard has not lost its punch in earning power.

Final figures for 1932—when it was hard to make money on anything else—will show that dividends of better than $600,000.00 have been paid, which compares excellently with the returns during prosperous times.

While earnings of other investments have dropped, or been entirely cut off, the Standard has kept its investors' money intact, and provided them a steady dependable income from it.

CUP CHANCES ARE AT STAKE THIS EVENING

A Northville Victory Over Farmington Will Keep Team in Race

Tonight in the high school gymnasium Northville's greatly improved basketball team will meet Farmington here, in what will be a dramatic effort to stay in the race for the title of the suburban league. With the second team game beginning at 7:00 p. m., the regulars are expected to come on the floor at about eight.

As it stands now, Northville is in first place, with Farmington second and Northville tied for third, with Trenton. Northville has been defeated by Farmington and Farmington, but if they can defeat them in the return games without losing again, they are practically assured of the cup. The game tonight will determine whether they stay in the race or not.

It is generally believed that Northville has a better team than Farmington. The defeat occurred at Farmington where the court is unusually small. Here on their own floor, the Northville five has at least an even chance to win.

Coach Ruggles said Monday that the team was playing in practice better than he had ever seen them play before. This optimism, which team members say has not developed into over-confidence, may do much to put the team into the game with a good spirit.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Answering the Record Editor.

We must give credit to Editor R. T. Baldwin for his editorial, "A Home Problem," in last week's Record. It certainly caused commotion and excitement, let alone accomplishing its object. Though we wish the editor all the sleep he can get, we do not at all agree with the article.

Less than 24 hours after the Record came off the press, the senior class was informed by school authorities that since "the editorial columns of the Record contained the opinion of the town as a whole," the senior prom would have to be closed at not one or even twelve, but eleven o'clock.

This announcement started not only the senior class, but the whole school. Eleven o'clock, unheard of, they said. And we must surely agree.

"Will you please tell us," the editorial that caused all the excitement states, "why we allow this kind of hours (meaning one, A. M.) for school dances?" Yes, we most certainly will.

To begin with, it was settled once and for all (we supposed) by the P. T. A. two years ago, to allow only the two formal dances, the J-Hop and Senior Prom, to stay open till one, with other senior and junior dances closing at twelve. The agreement also provided for sophomore and freshman dances closing at 10:30.

If high school students are not at chaperoned dances, until one in the morning, no matter how much we hope otherwise, they will be somewhere else until one, where probably there will not be chaperones. Which do we prefer?

If you spoil the prom of the present senior class, and obviously closing it at 11 will spoil it, you hurt many other senior classes to come.

And you close the two big dances at eleven o'clock, the other senior and junior dances would have to stop at ten; and the sophomores and freshmen close theirs anyway at nine. And even Mr. Baldwin will admit that is too early.

Our last reason for disagreeing with the editor is, perhaps, the strongest. We do not believe that in this case, though we admit it usually is, Mr. Baldwin's opinion is that of the majority of Northville people. This the senior class has attempted to prove in an article in the Orange and Black this week. These people they have mentioned have also been requested by the seniors to enlighten the editor over the telephone. We would appreciate an answer or acknowledgment from the gentleman in question next week.

Condition of Our Flag

Our school flag, now at half mast over the period of mourning for Calvin Coolidge, is in a disgraceful condition. The top of it is off and what is left is torn in the middle and in other places. And in fact, Friday night, it was not even hauled down.

This should not be. If the budget cannot afford a new flag, and you can buy them cheaply at least the torn piece of cloth which now the Northville high school has representing the United States, should be taken down and reverently buried.

No flag at all is decidedly better than only half a flag, and that defying nearly every law or custom of respect that has ever been set up.

We strongly urge that the Student Council look into this situation, and if they are not able to afford or to get a flag, at least pay the proper respects to our present storm vanner.

The Editor Sees "Blessed Event"

Attending the picture "Blessed Event" we might open our column thus: Rumors are circulating Main Street (Broadway) that Bob (dog catcher) Power is hard pressed. Is he going or isn't he? And with whom?

And for a punch line, we might add what we know about a certain group of teachers, who went to Detroit last week, but we won't tell 'em if it's a threat.

If this doesn't boost the circulation, one way or the other, we will miss our guess.

Concerning "did you notice?" of last week, Marion T. states that she does not know, she does not have to be careful, and that she does not have high blood pressure. And we were informed that it was Lahn rather than love that bothered Dr. R., whoever that may be.

These defense attorneys, we have found out, as well as matted milk manufacturers, are very peculiar fellows. And still they say the prosecuting attorney needs black hair and a mustache.

A society column states that Nelson Schrader, Jr., and Kenneth Korr spent Sunday playing golf. Some more of these gentlemen, who are way ahead of their times.

We were afraid of it. Our beautiful (referring to music, plus-) vocal trio, has adopted a theme song and choose to call themselves "The Drifters."

Maybe Technocracy could solve the senior dance problem.

SENIOR PROM TIME CHANGED BY EDITORIAL

The Article "A Home Problem" Influences Officials in Changing Time

Last Friday officials of the Senior class were informed that the Senior Prom scheduled for Feb. 10, would have to close at 11:00 p. m. instead of 1:00 p. m., as previously planned.

School officials had read the Editorial "A Home Problem," in the Northville Record. It was supposed that the editorial was directed at the J-Hop and Senior Prom, being held until 1:00 a. m. The Senior class was immediately informed by school officials that they would have to take action to change the decision (that the Senior Prom should close at 11:00 p. m.) and were told to find out if the editorial, "A Home Problem," did express the views of townspeople as a whole.

The Senior class at once obtained the following facts which they say show conclusively that the editorial did not express the people's views. Every faculty member interviewed at school gave the opinion that the dance must certainly should be kept open until 1 a. m. All of the parents of the seniors believe that the Prom should be kept going until 1:00 a. m. The officers of the P. T. A. interviewed, Mrs. E. W. Lester, Mrs. T. R. Carrington, Mrs. P. R. Alexander, Miss Ellen Renck, and Miss Nora Wilson, all made statements to the effect that they believed that it would be all right for the formal dances, J-Hop and Senior Prom, to remain open until 1:00 a. m.

Mrs. E. W. Lester, P. T. A. president, when interviewed stated, "although I believe that the dance should be permitted to run until 1:00 a. m., the students should be advised by their parents to come straight home after the dance." Mrs. T. R. Carrington said she did not see how the Senior Prom could be enjoyed if not kept open until 1:00 a. m. Mrs. P. R. Alexander also stated, "The parents should look out for their own children and if they wish them to come home at a certain time, it is their duty to see to it, done. I do not believe that if one parent should desire their children to be home at a certain time that it should affect the children of another family."

It was believed by the seniors that the opinions of the officers of the P. T. A. would show to a great extent the opinion of the majority of the parents of the school children, whom they represent.

The senior class believed that this was enough evidence to show to the school officials that the popular desire of the people was that the dance be permitted to run until 1:00 a. m.

The Senior President, Richard Shipley, states that "by the following week it is expected that the decision (that the Senior Prom should be closed at 11:00 p. m.) will be reversed."

Committee Is Finally Appointed to Raise $60 By April

Though it may not be definitely decided for some time to come, it looks very much like Northville will have a baseball team this spring.

Meeting last Thursday, the student council listened to arguments from Coach Harold L. Ruggles and Leo Kohler, who is co-captain, with Darrell Eulmon of the 1333 baseball squad. Coach Ruggles presented the expenses and reasons why if any sport was to be abolished, baseball should be the one.

In order to put a team on the field, properly clad, a considerable expenditure would be involved," said the Coach. He was questioned at intervals by Councilman Latta, who is a strong supporter of baseball.

Mr. Ruggles was followed by Capt. Kohler. Dissenting with Coach Ruggles, he said, "We can use much old equipment. Our only big expenditure would be for balls, transportation, and umpires."

Can Have Benefit Concert Presenting a budget whereby baseball could be held without any economic inconvenience, Kohler said, "Mr. Lee, the director of music, has kindly consented to put on a music concert and give the proceeds to the baseball team. This plus our economical budget and other money making activities we might put on would about secure enough funds for the baseball season."

A committee was appointed consisting of Marion Turnbull, Bob Power and Howard Latta, representing the council, Leo Kohler, and Coach Ruggles, to confer with Principal Amerman and decide on a budget, either the one presented by the coach or by Kohler.

Ruggles Submits Plan The committee met and reported to the Council Tuesday. Though they had not been able to agree on a plan, the council finally did take action.

STUDENT COUNCIL IS OUT OF DEBT

It was officially announced Tuesday that the Student Council, for the first time in three years was out of debt.

Three years ago, when the depression first began to affect the school, the council found itself about $300 in the hole. They have worked hard since then to do this, and now, with the money in the treasury at the present time, are able to pay all of it off.

The greater part of the money was made by athletics. The basketball season, this year especially helped, officials say.

The council was greatly pleased when they at last were able to pay off their debt and guarantee they will "run in the red" no more. School officials were also pleased and congratulated the council on their fine work.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT WILL END ON FEBRUARY 3

During the past two weeks, the girls' basketball tournament has rapidly progressed.

Last Monday, Jan. 16, the sophomores defeated the freshmen, 16 to 8. The following Wednesday, the seniors trounced the juniors by a 16 to 10 score, and on Friday, the juniors overwhelmed the freshmen, 20 to 10. The senior team was defeated the same day, 15 to 14, by the sophs.

Monday, January 23, the senior team overcame the freshmen, 20 to 10, and the juniors beat the sophomores, 15-8.

Today, the seniors are scheduled to meet the sophomores again, with the juniors playing the freshmen. Next Monday the seniors play the sophomores; Wednesday, the juniors meet the freshmen, and on Friday, February 3, the last day of the tournament, the seniors play the freshmen, and the junior team meets the sophomores.

The victors will win as spoils, the N sweaters, which are now in possession of the seniors.

NORTHVILLE HOLDS YPSI TEAM TO TIE

Coach Calls Game Without Overtime Period and Prevents Defeat

Though not a league game, Northville, in tying the strong Lincoln Consolidated team, outside Ypsilanti last Friday 20 to 20, proved that they are not to be overlooked in the race for the suburban league basketball title.

In previous years, games ending in a tie were played off in an overtime period of five minutes. However, a new rule adopted this year states that the coach of either team may call the game a tie without deciding the winner in the extra period. Coach Ruggles enforced this rule last Friday, and pulled the game out of what looked like defeat.

The game was close all the way through. Lincoln, with a fast breaking offense, scored four points soon after the game started, and Northville evened the score with four more as the initial period ended. Through out the whole game Northville was unlicked in basket shooting. Lincoln forged ahead in the second quarter and with Northville's defense a little weak brought the score up to 13 before the end of the half. Though performing poorly the first part of the quarter, Northville greatly improved in the last few minutes, and with a fast offense coupled with nice shooting, edged the half, one point ahead of Lincoln Consolidated. During this first half, Hoffman and Deal, the new forward combination, showed nice co-operation.

The dramatic fourth quarter opened with the score 17 to 16 in favor of Lincoln and Northville seemingly unable to stop the fast Lincoln offense. The Northville five was very erratic in shooting and missed many potential points. After every missed Northville shot, the ball appeared to bound into the hands of a Lincoln man. The end of the game drew near with Lincoln leading 20-18. With a beautiful shot Capt. Westphal tied the score after which Northville put up a battle to keep it so.

The second team broke their streak of bad luck by overcoming the Lincoln reserves, 32 to 27. This game was equally as fast and close as the main event.

The Northville line-ups were: first team—Deal and Hoffman, forwards; Baldwin, center; Westphal and Mar-

VAN VALKENBURG IS APPOINTED AS TEAM'S MANAGER

In their Tuesday session, the student council appointed a new basketball manager.

The several names presented for the position were Spencer Van Valkenburg, Arthur Cook, Herbert Ware, and Don Kenney. After some deliberation, the council selected Spencer Van Valkenburg, giving him all but two votes of the five present.

The former manager, Tony Bongiovanni, was forced to drop the post, where he had performed some very excellent work, on account of scholastic pressure.

The question of awarding letters to either or both of these two was put on the table and was to be brought up at the next meeting. There were various opinions on this topic, among council members.

be in charge of a program by which by the first of April, they could show that $60 had been earned. The coach suggested the concert, a show, season tickets and other activities as ways and means for earning the required amount.

A motion was made by Peggy Blake to adopt the Ruggles proposal. It was seconded by Gertrude Deal and carried.

SENIOR PLAY GIVEN AGAIN LAST NIGHT IN H. S. AUDITORIUM

As the Orange and Black went to press, it was not known what kind of an attendance was at the senior play, "The Attorney for the Defense," given Thursday night at the high school, but if the previous performance, last Thursday which was a financial as well as dramatic success was any indication, the auditorium came close to being filled.

At the dress rehearsal Wednesday night, Leslie G. Lee, now in charge of the production, was highly pleased with the results. Members of the cast themselves as well as spectators who were present were also of the opinion that the play would be a great success.

The cast playing last night was as follows. Howard Latta as Jimmy Carlyle, the attorney for the defense, and opposite him, Gertrude Deal as Dorothy Hampden. Warner Neal again portrayed the unscrupulous prosecuting attorney, Joseph Hampden, with John Steencken playing Jackson Mullen, the villainous mated milk magnate. Dorothy Shegbridge, cast in the dramatic role of the defendant, Betty Winters, and Richard Shipley as Mark Nelson, her lover, were expected to act their parts in fine manner. Florence Johnson played the part of the seventeen-year-old Alice with Monroe Weston as Freddie, the Carlyle clerk. Edith Clark took the part of Elsie, the maid.

The Lincoln reserves, 32 to 27. This game was equally as fast and close as the main event.

The Northville line-ups were: first team—Deal and Hoffman, forwards; Baldwin, center; Westphal and Mar-

WHAT SHALL WE READ

It's books, we've been thinking and talking about with friends this week and mighty interesting it has been. To note the wide variety of taste. Some like fiction—a rattling good story, others history or biography and still others revel in philosophy.

Many years ago old Cicero said "Concerning taste there should be no disputing." There are no "best" books—it's all a matter of taste.

Our faith in the unity of home life has been surprisingly strengthened by hearing a number of folks say: "My husband and I enjoy reading together" or "How the children and I did enjoy reading these together!"

There's nothing, we think, draws a family closer together than reading. It's like traveling together in a strange land. Family problems dwindle away in those households where a good book is being read aloud. You can't "shoo" the young folks away from their own fireside as the plot thickens. Lucky that mother who gets the family started in a good story—and she has them at home "for keeps."

We know one husband who will stretch his tired limbs on theavenport and forget all his troubles if his wife will read aloud. "Scatter-good" story—but he "doesn't care for a mushy story."

Among the dearest memories of our own childhood are those Sunday afternoon readings aloud to our younger brothers as they stretched out on a couch comfortably and rubbed at fudge and popcorn. Strange, perhaps, but David Copperfield was our favorite book and all through life since these characters stalk before us in the persons of those we meet.

Family stories are legion and the efficient librarian, Mrs. Ogusins, can tell us just what would suit the whole bunch. Incidentally, it would be good for "Pa and Ma" to go again with their children over the adventures of their youthful favorites.

One family of great readers in Northville is the McLoughlins. Books are everywhere—invitingly within reach and used. Out-of-door stories seem favorites with the youngsters. Nan being a hero worshipper of Albert Payson Terhune from whom she cherishes a personal letter. Her latest favorites are "Gray Dawn" and "The Story of a Dog." "Ratsy for Keeps" is another and they have laughed heartily together over "Men Are Like Street Cars."

The father of the family leans to heavier literature and is enthusiastic over the theories of Warden Lawes of New York in his "20,000 Years in Sing Sing." Anticipating spring, he has been pouring over "Golf" by Morrison.

Mrs. Chas. E. Rogers "just loves" two books, "Glimpses in the Rain" and "The Heart of Happiness." Recently, too, she has read with interest "Ghosts of the Earth" and "Long Knives Walk," the latter an Indian story. Together Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have read "Elli Ludwig's" biographies of Lincoln and Napoleon.

While busy Mrs. W. H. Johnston has darned stockings and sewed for the kiddies the doctor has read aloud evenings the biography of Dostoevsky with interest. A book which Mrs. Johnston recommends as very practical for mothers of young children is "Training the Toddler."

A friend from the south dropped in for a visit the other evening and gives us this list of good books portraying southern conditions: History of the Confederacy, The Outlaw Years, My Daily Bread, The Cabin in the Cotton, The Grand Hotel and Hearts of Hickory.

A busy winter ahead if we read all these good books recommended. This is what a wise man says of good books:

"By studying literature we watch the human soul and its ideals expand and we come to know humanity and how best to serve our own generation."

This is a day when books—the best of the ages—are available as never before. Let us not forget to mingle with those master minds, nor neglect the companionship of the world's greatest thinkers."

Something New

Here is something different that Mrs. R. J. Gibson learned from an English friend who says that these tarts are served for breakfast in England. Mrs. Gibson serves these dainty little tarts with coffee as a light dessert after a hearty dinner or with a cup of tea for afternoon guests.

Butter Tarts

Two eggs, 1/2 cup shortening (part butter and other shortening), 1/2 cup white sugar, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup currants, 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Put the above in a double boiler and let simmer. Roll out piecrust and line very small muffin tins. Put 1 tablespoon of filling in each and bake. This will make about two dozen tarts. They will not keep long—unless you hide them from the kiddies.

THIS WEEK

Petition Business

This business of presenting petitions is contagious.

The following petition was presented to George Rattenbury last Saturday.

Not a chance, George, not a chance.

"Hard!" snorted the gentleman of wealth. "Hard! It is impossible."

NOVI TOWNSHIP WILL GET A LOAN OF $700 FOR WELFARE WORK

George E. Simmons, treasurer of Novi township, sent to Lansing Monday the official papers asking the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of $700 to aid in caring for relief work for the next two months. The township sought $1,400 but the state officials cut this in two.

The township is now "on its own" in the matter of caring for those on its welfare list. Until Jan. 1, 1933, all relief funds had been raised and handled by the county, but now the townships each care for their own cases that need help. Novi township has 36 families that are now dependent on welfare aid. In addition to the loan that is being made, the township spread $3,800 on the tax roll to meet the welfare needs. Township officials state that the new system will cost the township less than the former plan.

Mr. Simmons feels that taxes will come in better this year than in

MILFORD COUNCIL WILL BUY BANK BUILDING

(From The Milford Times)

The Common Council of the village of Milford took action that is expected to prove of lasting importance to the village. This was the adoption of a resolution to purchase the building occupied by the defunct Farmers' State Savings Bank. This building, without remodeling, will afford office space for village clerk and treasurer, room for meetings of the council and for village business in general. Its vault will provide safe storage for village plats and records, a thing that has long been needed.

WOMAN LOST 20 POUNDS IN 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mas West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and further more I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is out a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Mrs. Hubbel of Milford, and Mrs. Yerkes Feared at Luncheon

Honoring her friend, Mrs. Clarence Hubbel of Milford, Mrs. Thad J. Knapp gave a luncheon to a group of women at her home on Dunlap street Friday noon. As a surprise to those present the event was also in honor of the birthday of one of the number, Mrs. Margaret Yerkes. Covers were laid for nine at the beautifully appointed table which was centered with a bowl of snapdragons and gypsophylla. Three courses comprised the delectable luncheon concluding with a pyramid birthday cake in honor of Mrs. Yerkes.

Following the luncheon the ladies attended the Woman's Club where Mrs. Hubbel was the speaker. The guests were the members of the program committee, Mrs. H. S. Willis, Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin, and Mrs. Margaret Yerkes. Mrs. J. P. Brennan, chairman, was out of town. Additional guests were the club president, Mrs. C. M. Chase, Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips, the guest of honor, Mrs. Hubbel, and her daughter.

Woman's Club Goes Back to Study Glassware of Grandmother's Day

In a setting like the days that used to be the period of our grandmothers was represented at the Northville Woman's Club meeting last Friday afternoon Jan. 20. Wearing hoop skirts and quaint dresses several ladies entered upon the scene and took their places in old fashioned chairs around the center table, where the old familiar "casser" held its customary place. While these women, Mrs. H. S. Willis, Mrs. Floyd Northrop and Mrs. F. N. Miner, sat talking and placing quilts, the guest speaker Mrs. Clarence W. Hubbel of Milford, very charmingly and informally talked to the women about the choice old pieces of glass which she has been collecting for years. A fine assortment of these was brought by Mrs. Hubbel and shown to her hearers during her description. At the close of her talk these present were at liberty to look over the interesting collection to which others, including Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips, Mrs. B. H. Douglas, Mrs. E. S. Beard, Mrs. T. J. Knapp, Mrs. Floyd Shafer, and Mrs. M. Starkweather added from their own treasures.

Mrs. Hubbel was introduced by Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, who described the versatility of other friend by saying that she could pause in the midst of her daily dusting to compose an aria or dash off a poem. Mrs. Hubbel was accompanied by her daughter, a graduate of the Michigan State college, who, also in quaint costume, assisted her mother in the demonstration.

Another part of the program which added interest was the songs of old times sung delightfully by Mrs. Gaylord Bates of Detroit. This delightful afternoon was planned by Mrs. Yerkes.

W. H. M. S. Holds Interesting Meeting Tuesday

"One of the most interesting and profitable meetings of the Methodist Woman's Home Missionary society was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Reckie Salow, Dunlap street, when 36 members of this organization, with a few guests, were present.

A very delicious cooperative dinner was served at one o'clock, with a fine spirit of sociability prevailing.

Guests of the day were a group of women from the Methodist church of Ferndale, who contributed to the program of the afternoon. A ladies' quartet, comprised of Mrs. Vernon McClure, Mrs. Wm. O. Moulton, Mrs. Curtis Berryman and Mrs. Glen Sanborn, responded repeatedly to requests from their audience for more music, which was greatly appreciated. This quartet was organized in the missionary society of Ferndale and has come to be in demand outside its own confines.

In an easy conversational manner Mrs. Amy Fee-Lewis reviewed the society text book, treating of the American Indian. Mrs. Lewis summed up the book with such a masterly grasp of the text as a whole that her hearers were held in deep interest throughout. Surprising to learn was it that the American Indian, with his m-bred background of natural worship, is so readily responding to his enlarged opportunities and is gradually being removed from the "problem" class.

Fine tribute was paid to President Hoover in his practical undertaking of the Indian's rights and his giving him a chance to develop that an Indian was the founder of Dartmouth college and that there is still an "Indian building" in Harvard and that there are 88,000 Indian students in American colleges were among the other facts surprising to grasp.

Further study of the Indian was

D. A. R. LUNCHEON HELD HERE JAN. 16 IS NOTABLE EVENT

None of the mid-winter luncheons and musicals of the season has been more delightful than the birthday anniversary luncheon Monday, January 16, of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, D. A. R. Each year at this time the attention of the chapter members centers around this particular affair, when visiting regents from chapters of neighboring cities honor the chapter with their presence and an interchange of ideas, when some particularly outstanding daughter inspires and encourages with a talk on some pertinent question of the day. Of particular interest to this patriotic group of women, the January 16 meeting was very fortunate in this respect, it being also the birthday anniversary of this chapter.

The setting for the luncheon was the spacious church house of the Northville Presbyterian church. The tables were arranged in the form of a hollow square centered by a smaller, bunting-draped table holding a three-tiered, beautifully decorated birthday cake. The patriotic color scheme of red, white and blue being gay with groups of small flags, lighted tapers, and dainty baskets at each place. Gum-drop "trees" in flower pots augmented the colorful scene, and the whole was dominated by the graceful folds of the chapter flag. Covers were laid for about forty members and guests, and the very delicious luncheon was served by the Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary of the Northville Presbyterian church.

After luncheon the Regent, Mrs. Chauncey Baker, with a few well chosen words of greeting, opened the meeting and with their consent of the chapter turned the proceedings over to Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, vice-regent and program chairman. Mrs. Bryan made a gracious, presiding office, and introduced the visiting regents, each of whom extended congratulations to "Sarah Ann Cochran" and whetted our appetites for "good works" by enumerating some of their fine patriotic activities of the past year. The regents present were: Mrs. Clyde Ford, the Ypsilanti chapter; Mrs. Frank Langston of Emma Parker chapter in Royal Oak; Mrs. Russell Allison of Fort Potomac chapter in Highland Park; and Mrs. John Carey of "Aquilla Sturgis" chapter in Dearborn.

Mrs. Dwight I. Randall, past regent of "Sarah Ann Cochran" and graceful representative of the chapter at many important D. A. R. functions, also briefly greeted the company. Letters were read from Mrs. Goddard of the "Louisa St. Clair" chapter, Detroit; from the state regent, Mrs. McDonald, from Mrs. Jerome of the "Sarah Caswell Angell" chapter in Ann Arbor; and a telegram of greetings from our organizing regent, Mrs. Lendrum of Adrian.

A very honored guest was Miss Grace B. Krum, secretary of the Detroit Historical society and chief of staff of the Burton Historical Library. She spoke very briefly of her association with, and friendship for Miss Sarah Ann Cochran—"true American gentlewoman"—for whom the chapter is named, who was largely responsible for the present system of cataloging of historical records and who was associated with Miss Krum in this work.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. E. J. Cobb, president, and the devotionals were led by Mrs. Wm. Wain. The hostess, Mrs. Salow, was assisted in her duties by Mrs. Edward Balke, Mrs. Amelia Ford, Mrs. Minnie Summers and Mrs. Jas. C. Lapham.

ROTARIANS VISIT THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

the big institution, with its 1,200 inmates (the number now there) that it does not cost the tax payers a cent aside from what is paid for the care of prisoners. (At the present time there are 140 federal prisoners there.) The income of the plant is increased in several ways, perhaps the chief of which are the canning of foods and the making of furniture—chairs, tables and stools. Incidentally each month 150,000 pieces of laundry are done for the city departments of Detroit and this brings in considerable revenue.

One of the interesting sidelights of the visit came when the Northville men came to the chapel and heard some impromptu numbers by the male quartet of the prison. With the exception of a comparatively small number in the cell blocks, the whole population of the institution was busy at work in the various shops and departments. It all gave a clear picture of the great effort that is being made to put these men in condition to return to society and become useful citizens. One sad comment made by many of the visitors was the large number of young men who are confined in the institution. The visitors enthusiastically spoke of the great work being done by Capt. Dennis, who has practically built the institution during the past 13 years. Visitors are welcome at the House of Correction from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. every day.

Guests of the Rotary club at the visit were: E. W. Nelson, K. C. Aldrich, A. W. Wilson and Robert Lapworth; all of Lansing, Jas. R. Lyons, Carmel Benton, Rev. Frank N. Miner, Carl R. Ely, John A. Boyce and Capt. J. W. Willwood.

Novi School News

The Student Association decided at a meeting last Friday to present a school play early in March. The entertainment will be given for the purpose of raising money with which to finance athletic activities in the spring. The baseball team is in great need of equipment and the girls would like to have a tennis court constructed.

The customary mid-year examinations will be dispensed with this year because of the shortened school year. The testing generally takes up several days and as there are no mid-year promotions made, the usual examinations at this time are not really necessary. However, in substitution for the exams a thorough testing at the completion of each unit of work in each class has been followed. The tests have been made comprehensive enough to cover all previous work so that each pupil's accomplishments are pretty well understood. The mathematics classes have recently finished important phases of the work and are now checking up.

The County Health Nurse, visited the school last week and found all of the children in good condition. Most of them had a decided gain in weight. With the exception of a number of the primary children, being out of school just before Christmas because of colds, there has not been much sickness in the school.

The school is making an effort this month to again receive the County Health Award. All of the children who bring lunches are furnished with hot soup at least twice a week. The intermediate grades have been doing some special work in a study of the prevention of colds. The biology class has also been doing some work in health study in connection with an experiment of food values in which white rats are being kept on different diets.

BANK OPENING

LOCAL STORES
TO CELEBRATE
ON SATURDAY

Horton's, Lyke's and Owen's
Offer Attractive
Bargains

A page of Bank Opening Specials! Three enterprising merchants of Northville have taken this page advertisement to celebrate the opening of the Depositors State Bank with a splendid array of bargains.

Horton's Rexall Drug Store, owned by C. R. Horton; The Men's Shop, the person of Orlow G. Owen, and Lyke's Hardware Store, located directly across the street from the new bank, guided by Fred Lyke, are the merchants who are welcoming the new bank into existence with a group of money saving specials.

The event, they say, is frankly a money raising proposition. At an extremely conservative estimate there will be circulated up and down Main street tomorrow approximately $10,000 in deposits. Every depositor will be entitled to withdraw up to $10.00 against his or her account. Some of this it is believed, will be used to pay past due accounts.

Money To Buy Needs. Some will be used as the basis for a new account in the Depositors State bank, but the larger part will be used to purchase quality clothing, hardware, drugs, commodities available at extraordinarily low prices owing to the January clearance sales now in progress.

Northville merchants, and especially these three, have decided to make it really worthwhile for shoppers to spend their money in Northville stores. With this idea in mind they have selected their choicest merchandise, priced it as low as possible and placed it on this page for the approval of their customers.

The money they take in on this spectacular one day sale will be kept in circulation. Up and down Main street the dollars will travel, paying hundreds of dollars in debts. A ten dollar bill started on its route during the early morning cap, wipe out of existence nearly a hundred dollars in long standing accounts and return to the original spender, who started it on its way.

Northville, these merchants declare, has earned its right to a place in the shopping sun. Bidding strenuously and with many a tempting bargain, the businessmen are seeking to show prospective customers that only with the return of spending will wages return to a higher level, will employment become more of a fact than a hope.

Stores in Readiness. Stores have been placed in readiness for the morning's business, clerks in their places and the stocks attractively arranged on the counters.

Let us look at Saturday, Jan. 28, from the customer's viewpoint.

Tomorrow we'll have a few dollars in our pockets. Not much. Nothing with which to go on a prolonged spending spree but just enough to enable father to get one or two new shirts and perhaps allow mother to get some new pots and pans. Enough to allow Junior a new pair of shoes with which to make a better appearance in school. Sister would like a new pen and pencil set. We all need little things that we've conscientiously denied ourselves thinking we were doing the right thing when actually we were solidifying the depression and making father's job more precarious every day.

$10.00 To Go Far. Well, we've ended our gospel of fear. We're sensible now. We're not going to spend all of our money but spend we will and we know that today we can make a ten dollar bill go a long way. And when we end up we'll have a dollar or two left with which to start a new account in the Depositors State bank. We live in Northville and we stand by its institutions.

Customer and businessman—they're both thinking things over today—have arrived at the same conclusion. Everytime I fail to purchase the things I need I place my own job in jeopardy, says the customer. Every time I fail to give my customer my lowest price on my best goods I place my business in jeopardy, says the merchant. And they're both right.

Patronize these merchants. They're more than willing to co-operate in cementing friendly relations between Northville businessmen and Northville customers.

of the finest tuna fishing boats in the Pacific waters were necessary to obtain the thrilling scenes that formed the highlights of First National picture Tiger Shark, which is coming to the Penniman-Alben theatre Wednesday, Feb. 15.

In addition to the pains taken to obtain impressive deep-sea action, the company spent days in the Portuguese fishing village at San Diego along the fish docks and in the canneries of the industry, making possible the filming of almost everything in the picture in authentic surroundings.

St. Paul's Lutheran

Leo C. Eckstedt, Pastor
220 Elm Street

Your church is narrow-minded. Oftentimes you have heard such statements. It is true, our church is very narrow-minded on some things. It is very broad-minded and liberal on others. For our church is just as narrow and broad-minded in its teachings and principles as the Bible. The Bible is very narrow on certain questions. It says that there is but ONE way to heaven—namely through faith in Christ Jesus. It declares that all other ways are wrong, that all other ways lead to eternal destruction. Our church is very broad on other questions because the Bible is very broad regarding them. The Bible says that EVERYBODY can be saved, that there is not a man or woman in the world whom Jesus has not redeemed. But the Bible also says, "Neither is there salvation in any other." Acts 4:12.

Regular divine worship and Sunday school on Sunday morning at the usual hour, 10 o'clock. The pastor will deliver the sermon.

The finance committee will meet on Tuesday evening, Jan. 31, at 8 o'clock in the church hall.

Baptist Church

Services at this church next Sunday, the last of the month, will include the following appointments: Morning worship at 10:30 o'clock, and at this hour the pastor, Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, preaches on the theme, "The Sunlit Church." The Sunday school convenes at 11:45 a. m. and the Young People's meeting is at 6:30 p. m. The Union service at 7:30 p. m. is at the Methodist church.

The monthly meeting of the advisory board is Tuesday evening of next week at 7:30 in the prayer room of the church. The monthly business meeting being the last Wednesday before the first Sunday of February, is next Wednesday, Feb. 1st, at 7:30 p. m.

City Rescue Mission to conduct special meetings with us from Feb. 20 to March 5. These meetings are for all and we make this early announcement that people may plan to attend.

Church of Our Lady of Victory

Next Sunday the ladies are substituting a small cash donation for the intended bake sale of January 21.

Thursday, February 2, is Candlemas day, so called because all the wax candles used during the year are officially blessed that day. This ceremony takes place just before the 8 o'clock Mass that morning.

Friday, February 3, is St. Blasius day. This saint of the fourth century is reputed to have been privileged to cure throat trouble. The St. Blasius blessing of throats will be given locally at 7:30 that morning and evening, and again at 4 p. m.

"The fool said in his heart (rather than in his head) there is no God." Psalm 52. Is the world so devoid of wisdom that it persists in ignoring the Master Mind for a solution of its ills? "A fool receiveth not the words of prudence." Proverbs 18:2.

God, the Master Mind, has systematically arranged the entire world from its beginning. Even such theories as technocracy are merely attempts at discovering the workings of this order of things.

The directing committee of the Ladies' Altar society have decided to give another sauer kraut dinner at the church on the evening of Tuesday, February 7, beginning at 5 p. m. Tickets are 20c and 35c.

Salem Federated Church

Worship service is held at 10:30, and the message on January 29 will be, "For Satan or for Christ." The pastor plans to show from the scriptures the reality of Satan and his power, and his way of working. In this age when so many cults based on false optimism are denying the existence of a personal devil, it is of the utmost importance that our boys and girls and young men and young women—as well as we ourselves—should know the tactics of our greatest enemy. This is not a popular subject, but it is a timely one, and you are urged to be faithful in bringing your family and others to this service.

MAKES WOMEN LOSE FAT

Miss Rea M. Haines of Dayton, Ohio writes: "I weighed myself the first week—I lost 7 pounds. I just bought my 3rd jar and am down to 145—am still taking them and never felt better in my life." (June 17, 1932).

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned. Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.

MOCK TRIAL HEARD BY CROWDED HOUSE

Johnston as the coroner, R. T. Baldwin in the role of bootlegger and Miss Alice Barbour as court reporter, completed the cast.

The tragedy that followed in the wake of the illicit liquor traffic, with the bootlegger shown to be a menace to the community, was vividly portrayed as the trial went on. The rule of right by liquor was eloquently shown in the appeals to the jury by both the prosecutor and the attorney for the defense. The big audience followed the trial with the keenest interest and the message that liquor is a menace, that the bootlegger should be held responsible for the evils it causes and that those
