GUARANTEED BANK DEPOSITS

If we are correctly informed, Canada has such a safe banking system that bank failures there are practically unknown. The system is a national one and every bank in the country, no matter in how small a town it is located, is part of the national system.

The United States will have to come, sooner or later, to some such system of guarantee of bank deposits. Give the people the assurance that their own great government is back of them and will not let them lose a dollar of their money in the banks and the people will return to their old-time confidence in banks.

Our new congress could do no greater service to the country than to establish some sort of a guarantee system that will insure the last dollar of every depositor no matter in what bank it is deposited. Here, President-elect Roosevelt, is a challenge!

JUST A PREDICTION

It may not come true but we think it will: Northville in the next two or three years will have one or two or three more little factories, with contented workers. These factories may come from Detroit, where the manufacturer faces years of heavy taxes, no matter what happens, and where labor costs are high, or from some eastern city where manufacturers are trying to get away from the same condition.

Northville will probably never be a complete industrial town with a lot of factories but certainly its location and advantages are such that there will be located here within a few years new industries that will employ from 25 to 100 men or more.

In the meantime we shall continue to have attraction as one of the most picturesque areas located within easy reach of Detroit. Northville will be one of the finest home centers of the state, easily accessible to two of America's most significant cities, Detroit and Ann Arbor. "Keep your eye on Northville."

THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET

President-elect Roosevelt has announced his cabinet. We read and hear of few people who are greatly impressed by it. Where are the great names that we hoped to see in it? Newton D. Baker's name is not there; neither is that of Owen D. Young. Nor is that of Alfred E. Smith. True, there is one real statesman on the list, Senator Thos. J. Walsh, but he stands pretty much alone.

For months many thoughtful men have predicted that Roosevelt would be a "political" president. That is, he will be a shrewd president who "keeps his fences" up and has the "boys lined up." He will dominate his cabinet and with its varied line-up it is hoped that he will be able to secure some measure of unity. It is to be regretted that we have to have a political president when we need so badly a statesman president.

There is this to be said, however, the new cabinet may be a happy surprise. The members may rise to greater heights of usefulness than we think. If they do, all will be glad to give them the credit due.

PROHIBITION MAY GO

After thirteen years of constitutional prohibition, the country is apparently ready to take the 18th amendment from the basic law of our land. Both the senate and house have voted to put the repeal of the amendment up to the several states. Conventions will be called to vote on whether or not it shall be repealed. Thirty-six states can make the country wet.

It is best for dries to face the facts. Sentiment against prohibition has increased rapidly in the past two or three years. Here in Michigan we saw the swing-back when such ardent dry congressmen as Grant Hudson and Louis C. Cramton were defeated on the wet and dry issue. The state referendum last fall showed that the great mass of the people feel that prohibition has been a failure. There is no arguing with the voice of the people. Their will is our supreme law even though they may be mistaken.

Our own personal idea is that the country will swing back wet and then become so disgusted with the flow of liquor that the people will again become aroused against the liquor domination and will rise up and bring in a new dry era.

Time will also probably show that many of the benefits of prohibition have been underestimated. We have looked at its flaws and forgotten some of the hideous evils of the saloon days. We have not completely understood how prohibition has saved many homes and uncounted women and children from degradation, poverty and shame.

No matter how we are surrounded by law or no law on the matter of drinking liquor, the repeal of the 18th amendment will not change the fact that liquor is one of man's worst enemies. The man who leaves it alone can never send a 160 acre farm down his throat or send out his wife and children to face the world in disgrace. The man who does not drink has a far better chance of business success than the one who fools with liquor.

Once we stood with a successful business friend, looking at a glass of whisky—this was some time ago. "Dick," he said, "half a glass is master of me—I leave it alone." Then he told of how he tried drinking, realized the hold it was getting on him and of how he had the will power to quit it for life. Today he is well established in a fine town with a beautiful home and a happy family. There is no controversy in that home about prohibition. It is not an issue.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Now the folks in Detroit know what life was in Northville for about a year and a half.

Game fish swing upstream: the suckers are found in the quiet waters. Game men and women are taking this little flurry of no-money with "heads-up."

We did get a break last week. We had three inquiries about renting a little farm we have at Albion—all from fine folks who want to get out on the land and away from the hazardous city job.

"I'll stand by you," said Friend Wife as we started to work Saturday after talking over moneyless days. "So will I," said little Phil. "Count on me," said big Paul. No wonder we returned to work with a grin.

At Detroit last week we heard Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, say that the depression had caused an increase of 25% in the reading of good books at Chicago. "Isn't that fine?" The best things of life still aren't checked out on the bank stub.

True story: A Northville business man told us Friday that he was doing very well and had not a fault to find with conditions as they are working out. Another one was full of gloom and discouragement. The first one is a consistent advertiser: the second one does not have an advertising budget at all. Write your own editorial.

Happy the man who has stuck to his life insurance. It is the one asset that has "come through." It is still worth a hundred cents on the dollar while other values have dropped in some cases as low as one per cent of their former values. We hear that many thoughtful men are adding to their life insurance to make up for the loss they have taken in other holdings.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Did you know that it is an actual fact that the considerable majority of Americans do not use or crave liquor? (Come in and we will show you our authority.)

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

NO FIVE CENT BEER

(M. H. De Foe in Charlotte Republican Press)

Speaking of Ionia residents, Fred D. Keister, here for "Uncle Henry's Wedding," says the public is going to be disappointed in any solution of prohibition. As a member of Governor Comstock's liquor commission, Keister declares that, in his opinion, it is not going to be possible, on account of the urgent need for new sources of taxes, to restore the five cent glass of beer and that the suggested content is not going to be of sufficient strength to do away with the present home brew, much of which is likely to excel the fast approaching legal beer as a popular beverage. He foresees a constant political battle on the subject regardless of legislation.

WHERE'S THE BOY?

(Geo. H. Neal in Orion Review)

Where does your boy "hang out"? Know all about his friends, and how he spends his time? Is he out of a job? Does he seem to have money?

This is a shoe—don't wear it if it's the wrong size.

Boys can get into plenty of trouble these days. And, my, how long it will take to get out if that trouble is serious.

Take the case of Leo Fogert, who worked at the Conoco Oil Station here. Through an evil companion he got into the bandit business and obtained a few dollars from the Clarkston Bank. Not much for the chance he took. Then there is the jail sentence to anticipate.

Plenty of reason here to offer a boy, to prove how foolish he would be to turn bandit or sneak thief. Reason never has stopped them.

But watchful parents could stop many of them.

THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE

(Redford Record)

Governor Comstock was elected on an economy program. Folks were tired of Republican extravagance and wanted lower taxes. Comstock went up and down the state, pledging that he would lop off millions of dollars from local and state tax bills.

But actions speak louder than words used in extravagant campaign promises. The governor has come forward with a sales tax bill for raising more funds. And what the people expected from the new governor was a bill or two showing how we could get along, and possibly pay some of our debts, with less taxes. What a twist to things!

The program Governor Comstock should be carrying out would lead the way to drastic cuts in all branches of government in Michigan, so that it would be possible to get along with less government, effectively demonstrating how Democrats can rule without expensive bureaucracy.

"We should first determine why we have so much government expense and where it can be eliminated the most rapidly. That done, there would be no need for sales taxation or any other form of revenue raising."

Gov. Comstock, remember your campaign pledge to economy!

New taxes are not the need of the hour. But drastic economy in government costs is imperative.

COMSTOCK AND THE BANKS

(Geo. Averill in The Birmingham Eccectric)

Wednesday night, Feb. 15, I was invited down to the fourth floor of the Detroit Federal Reserve Bank branch in Detroit, to be present when Governor Comstock completed his interview with the bankers. It was midnight.

The chief executive (always a good sport with the newspaper boys—since they had always treated him well, too), stood in the same room where he had met with the bankers, and withstood for a while, the many questions thrown his way by the men who are merely ambassadors of curiosity for the great public that buys their collective journals. It was next to impossible to get from the Governor, at that meeting, anything like a clear picture of the coherent plans he had in mind to restore order in Michigan's banking circles. He would generalize, saying that "the details will be worked out later." To me he rather sharply declared, "That's a trick question!" Whereupon I denied it thrice, to which he replied, "Well, I won't retract what I said, either." Every newspaper reporter at that meeting was of this common opinion: "To date, the Governor is as bewildered as most people about the whole banking situation."

At that time, you will remember, he had followed his fear-creating proclamation (and please do not think that I believe such a holiday was not necessary), by declaring that "out-state banks can pay out any amount they think advisable—they don't need to follow the proclamation, if they are able to do business." It was then that I asked, "How can any out-state bank know what percentage of its deposits to pay out?" that the Governor referred to "trick questions." I am not impugning the sincerity of Mr. Comstock at all; but I am joining with increasing hundreds and thousands of Michigan citizens who are alarmed over the degree of irresponsibility that Michi-

The English are two generations ahead of us; for they face life realistically.

Gov. Comstock is revealing toward his high office.

In discussing Lansing affairs with Melvin Rose of Royal Oak, one of our Oakland County representatives in the Legislature, he said that "Governor Comstock is now very sorry that he issued the banking holiday proclamation." If this be true, then Governor Comstock in one fell swoop, did an almost irreparable damage to his state. I admire certain characteristics of Mr. Comstock, and believe that considerable "militancy" and aggressiveness "to upset the old order of things" is necessary in times like these; but I agree with those who argue for intelligence and calmness and high courage in the dispatch of high and low public duty. As I exclaimed to Governor Comstock that Wednesday at midnight: "What we need at this time is a guy on a white horse who will show us where to go—and you, sir, you are the one to find the horse!"

ANNOUNCEMENT

STANDARD SAVINGS AND LOAN INVESTORS are to be congratulated on our having been elected to membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank, thus adding to your security and our usefulness. We quote from a letter received announcing our entrance.

Quotation—"We feel that you should be congratulated, because it means that your institution is of such quality and condition as to be eligible and acceptable, and to pass the scrutiny of the examiners for the Federal Home Loan Bank at Washington, as well as those of our own bank."

The establishing of this Federal connection greatly adds to our usefulness, in that we are now eligible to draw on the resources of the Federal Bank when our directors find it profitable and occasion should arise.

Nine Northville Women Sew Together With Sociability

A group of nine women comprising an informal club met Thursday evening, Feb. 23, at the home of Mrs. Anna Staman. On this occasion the women brought out their fancy work of all kinds and visited sociably over their needle work. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Shafer is Hostess to Club Thursday Afternoon

The Merry Bidders spent a delightful afternoon with one of their number, Mrs. E. A. Shafer, yesterday (Thursday). Two tables played a round of bridge and dainty refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Schaefer-knocker was a substituting guest.

Olette Club Spends Evening At Babbitt Home

The Olette club was welcomed hospitably Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Hugh K. Babbitt, who was assisted as hostess by Miss Helen Leonardson. After an evening at bridge the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Babbitt and Mrs. Bob Lee. A dainty lunch concluded the evening.

Merry-Go-Round Club Guests Of Mrs. Stark

The Merry-Go-Round girls spent another delightful afternoon together at the home of one of their number, Mrs. W. H. Stark, Wednesday, Feb. 22. Mrs. Ida Ambler was the only Detroit member to join the ranks that day. After the good dinner the afternoon was spent sewing and visiting.

Sunday Evening Club Enjoys Evening With Plymouth Friends

The Sunday evening group of eight young married folks who enjoy regularly this evening together were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor in Plymouth Sunday evening. Supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stalker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Zimmerman were the guests.

Birthday of Melvin Mitchell Celebrated by Gathering at His Home

Twenty-eight relatives and friends from Detroit met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mitchell, South Wing street, Sunday to join in a pleasant celebration of the nineteenth birthday of their son, Melvin. A sumptuous dinner and a sociable time together made the day outstanding. Melvin, who is a senior in high school, received a number of appropriate gifts.

Mrs. Washburne Honors Her Husband on His Birthday

Planning a surprise for her husband on the occasion of his birthday and carrying out her surprise were two different matters Mrs. C. B. Washburne discovered when she could not keep her secret. A very happy evening was enjoyed by a small company of friends invited to celebrate Mr. Washburne last evening (Thursday).

Guests were Mrs. Gertrude Stahl of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Larsen and Frederick Kreuger of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Stewart of this place.

Legion and Auxiliary Hold Joint Gathering

The American Legion and Auxiliary seated 41 at their joint potluck dinner, Feb. 28, at their home. After dinner the girls and boys retired to their separate rooms and held their business meetings.

Three Birthdays Celebrated At The Fuller Home

Following a pleasant custom of sharing the pleasures of their birthday together for many years, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fuller of the Fishery road were hosts to a "jolly bunch" Friday evening, Feb. 24. The dinner, which was Bohemian, was very delicious and the dining table attractive with lighted tapers and a centerpiece, a plant full of red blossoms.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Schoultz, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. Josephine Carr and Mrs. Ida Putnam, mother and sister of the hostess. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parmenter were unable to be present.

The honored guests were John Schoultz, Glen Richardson and Mrs. Fuller, whose birthdays all occurred during this month of notable anniversaries.

Contract Club Guests of Blakes Monday Evening

Forgetting for the time all their cares, twelve members of the Contract club gathered and enjoyed the hospitality of the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Blake Monday evening. Lunch was served late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Orlov G. Owen were substituting guests.

Mrs. Lockwood, District President Is Attraction at W. H. M. S.

The presence of the Ann Arbor district president, Mrs. Geo. B. Lockwood, of Ypsilanti, drew a very good attendance of members of the W. H. M. S. at the home of Mrs. Otis Tewksbury on Grand View Tuesday afternoon. The usual good cooperative dinner was enjoyed together with such hearty good humor that the guest of honor remarked "No one would guess from the fine dinner and gay spirits of the women here that the banks are not functioning normally and that there was a depression whatever."

The devotional service was impressively led by Miss Ethel Seelye with Mrs. E. N. Miner responding. In her informal talk to this group, Mrs. Lockwood gave a survey of the work of the Home Missionary society in general, summing up the accomplishments which she concluded, were so well worth while. There are in all 265 institutions ministering to the cause, she said.

Mrs. Lockwood was accompanied by Mrs. Hathaway, a friend of Mrs. A. E. Whitehead. Mrs. Putnam of Williamston was another visitor.

Mrs. Stewart Gives Bridge Party In Honor of Lansing Guest

Honoring Mrs. Gertrude Stahl of Lansing, guest of Mrs. C. B. Washburne, Mrs. L. C. Stewart entertained a group of eight at her home on Orchard drive Tuesday afternoon. A dainty luncheon was served at one o'clock with the guests seated at one large table. Bridge occupied the afternoon when Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin won high honors.

Those present were Mrs. Washburne and her house guest, Mrs. Stahl, Mrs. N. C. Schrader, Mrs. E. R. Eaton, Mrs. Elmer L. Smith, Mrs. H. H. Burkart and Mrs. McLoughlin.

Methodist Official Board and Wives Dine at the Parsonage

Rev. and Mrs. F. N. Miner welcomed the members of the official board of their church with their wives. Like a big family this company sat down sociably to a cooperative dinner at 6:30.

This time it was the men who courteously waited upon the ladies as the dinner was served buffet style from the dining room, the guests being seated at small tables. Mrs. Bertha Neal assisted the hostess.

Following dinner a merry time at a close spelling game was entered into heartily when Geo. H. Stalker came out victor.

Turning then to affairs of a serious nature the future welfare of the church was considered and plans were freely discussed for the coming week of special activity beginning March 12. Willing cooperation was expressed. A devotional service led by the pastor dismissed the gathering with renewed purpose.

Get-Together Club Has Warm Welcome on Cold Night

The Get-Together club met with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Dickerson at their home on Duñlap street in Northville on Feb. 23. There were thirty-six people present to partake of the cooperative supper and play progressive pedro.

Unless someone can proclaim to the contrary, we will have to give Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merikew the honor of entertaining the club on the coldest evening, Feb. 9, when the thermometer registered several degrees below zero. We will not say exactly how many as opinions differ but all agree it was cold. Miss Ruth Krumm will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on Six Mile road.

Camp Fire Girls Enjoy Activities With Enthusiasm

An enthusiastic bunch of Camp Fire Girls gathered at the home of their guardian, Mrs. Orlov G. Owen, Tuesday afternoon and held a business meeting, making plans for further activities. They are soon to start their head bands and are looking forward to a demonstration some time in April. The American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring this Camp Fire troop.

Last evening a merry group of these girls roasted wienies around the out-door fireplace at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Northrop. There are about twenty girls in this troop. (More society news on local page)

The following committee is working on the plans for an interesting evening: Mrs. Vance Masters, Mrs. Ruth Denne, Mrs. Nellie Freydl, Orlo Owen, Chubb Smith, Elmer DeKay. An unusual coincidence is that the Worshipful Master of the Masonic Lodge and the Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star chapter are Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Johnston.

Society Notes

Woman's Club Yields to Charm of Old Shawls in a Pageant.
Unless one witnessed the unique shawl pageant at the Woman's club Friday afternoon, one would never realize the wide range of sentiment wrapped up in a shawl. Around the association with a great variety of shawls the afternoon program played.

The walls of the library were draped with a colorful array of shawls which members of the club and their friends had brought from their chests of cherished treasuries. There were silk shawls, lace shawls, embroidered shawls, paisley shawls, daisy party shawls and ample shawls designed for warmth. Shawls that came from Egypt, China, India, Japan, Poland and other far countries. In all it is estimated that there were nearly seventy shawls on display. Some were more than 100 years old, some were worn by happy brides; one was the shawl of an aged man.

Previous to the pageant, Mrs. F. N. Miner, who with Mrs. H. S. Willis had charge of the event, presented her audience for the coming program by an appreciation of the sentiment linked with the shawl. "Created by necessity, developed into beauty and finally becoming a fashionable accessory," she said, "the shawl has come to hold close association with real life." This sentiment the pageant carried out. While Mrs. N. F. McKinney at the piano played appropriate selections the pageant continued.

As an Irish lassie, Mrs. Sherrill sang "Believe Me, It's All Those Evening Young Charms," then Mrs. H. G. Whitfield, wearing the black silk shawl of a dignified Canadian matron, repeated "An Ode to Canada," and Mrs. McCluskie in Scottish plaid sang with spirit "Loch Lomond." As a charming Spanish dancer in flowered shawl and mantilla, Mrs. W. H. Johnston sang "La Paloma."

First among those representing the periods of history came Mrs. Ida Hendryx, a pioneer woman, who muffled to the chun, read a selection describing rugged farm life from Whitler's "Snowbound." As a demure little Quakeress, Mrs. B. H. Douglas in quaint, severe garb spoke of the customs of this sect. In direct contrast followed four little "Indians" in vari-colored blankets, who danced to the monotone of the drum. These were Vivian Grosvenor, Patsy McLaughlin, Louise Alexander and Catherine Marburger.

The final chapter in the pageant represented the ages of woman. Little one-year-old Mary Louise Lee captivated her audience when she sat wrapped in a white baby shawl as her mother, Mrs. Leslie G. Lee, sang a lullaby. A modern debutant was Miss Isabel Tibble, who danced gracefully onto the scene in a party gown and white silk evening shawl. In a quaint paisley shawl and bonnet, Mrs. R. T. Baldwin read "My Mother's Shawl." Mrs. Cass Benton's representation of "Old Age" as she sat in her rocker wearing white-face cap and shawl, reminding many a woman present of her own mother Mrs. Benton read "The Close of Day" and in final tribute to her all the characters in the pageant appeared in turn, curtysing as they passed. With the entire cast present the pageant closed with the song "Auld Lang Syne."

At the close of the program, the shawls on display were examined with interest. This program was said by many to have been one of the most interesting of the year. A number of guests were present. Upon request we print "My Mother's Shawl" from the deep recess of an old oak chest.
I drew it forth today with trembling hands
For I lived anew the hour it was laid away
Side by side with her woolsey frock she loved
And her long-sleeved basque of blue
And I smiled at fashion's strange decree
As I fondled her hoop skirts, too.

They recalled the days of a happy youth
Of a mother's love and care
And her spirit seemed to commune with mine
O'er the things she used to wear
Each garment lay like an open book
And I gloated o'er every line
And thrilled with almost girlish pride
That her paisley shawl was mine.

For well I knew that each time-worn thread
If blessed with the gift of tongue
Could tell a litany of mother love
And sacrifice unsung.
In its folds her first born babe found warmth
And it played, through many years, a vital part
For it shared her joys and tears
There are wondrous things in that old oak chest
Treasures from far and near
But mother's shawl, tho' frayed and worn
To me is by far most dear.
Beloved of my forbears, now mine to love.
Oh would that I might recall
The happy hours of days long dead
That are linked with this paisley shawl.

Mrs. Gladys Smith of Detroit is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Irene Wolfe.

Mr. and Mrs. August Burgher were visitors at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heichman.

The Bible class was to meet at the home of the pastor, Rev. Roy Miller, at 4086 Monterey, Detroit, Thursday, March 2.

Mrs. C. Wolfe enjoyed a few days last week with her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bond of North Farmington.

Miss Josephine Milburn from Clariceville was a welcome visitor at the home of Ruth Taylor, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. L. Mansfield attended the association meeting Thursday afternoon and enjoyed with us the visitors and their program.

Miss Barbara Middlewood returned to school in Caro. She is living with her sister, Esker, who is a teacher in the school there.

The Dramatic club, under the leadership of the principal of the high school, will sponsor a play entitled "Oh! Susan" on March tenth in the community hall.

The Parent-Teachers' association met Thursday evening with thirty-five members present. After the business meeting luncheon was the game for the evening's entertainment.

Sunday Rev. Miller gave a splendid discourse from the twelfth chapter of Hebrews and twenty-seventh verse. And this word yet once made significant the removing of those things that are made that those things which cannot be shaken may remain.

The Pedro club met in the community Saturday evening with a large number present. Those who won prizes were: Ladies: 1st, Mrs. E. Greshover; 2nd, Mrs. Wegert; 3rd, Mrs. E. Ault. Gentlemen: 1st, J. Miller; 2nd, Gordon Way; 3rd, L. Douglas. House prize, Mrs. Jess Ziegler. The prizes given were sugar, flour, ham, eggs, etc. They will meet again March 11th.

Rev. Roy Miller held a meeting to start a Boy Scout troop in West Point Park. A Scoutmaster with two Scouts from Northville was assisting, also two Scouts from Plymouth.

Mr. Heavener, county Scoutmaster was here. Fathers interested are Thomas Gillespie, Elder Heichman, Albert Owen, Horner Cookman, G. Ham. Seventeen boys joined. They will meet Thursday to elect officers. A good many citizens are interested in the Scouts' success.

The West Point Park association of the West Point Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon in the community hall and were hostesses to thirty ladies from the Redford Presbyterian church, twenty ladies from the Women's Union, Northville Presbyterian church and three ladies from Nellie Yerkes Auxiliary. Twenty ladies represented Farmington. A delightful program was given by the following: A reading by Mrs. Ida Hendrix; a group of Scottish songs by Mrs. McCuskie, three songs by Joseph Hemmick, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Burns. Mrs. Lillian Cregg, visiting nurse from the Nurses' Association of Detroit, gave an excellent talk of the work done by her associates. A missionary drama, "Two Masters" by the Redford ladies. A self-served lunch was served. Rev. Roy Miller gave the welcome address.

Rudeness "Clarence" said his wife, "the maid has given notice because of the rude way you spoke to her over the phone yesterday."

Homemaker's Corner By MRS. EDITOR

Two years in Northville! An anniversary always brings back a flood of memories. Two years since we rode hopefully (and blissfully ignorant) into our "Land of Promise" that cold February day to begin a new chapter. An old song goes: "Better far to live unknowning and without a question how, else the future would be throwing all its shadows on us now."

METHODIST CHURCH AT FARMINGTON TO BURN ITS MORTGAGE

(From Farmington Enterprise) One of the happiest events in the community in years is being planned for the week of March 19 to 26, a week of celebration which will have as its climax the burning of the mortgage on the property of Farmington Methodist church. Arrangements completed by church officials and the Receiver of Farmington State Savings bank whereby mutual advantages could be realized through the generosity of church members, have made possible the satisfaction of the church indebtedness.

Mrs. J. B. Brownley Makes Plea for Opportunity for Recreation for Northville Boys Out of Work

The following letter from Mrs. J. B. Brownley is a happy indication that folks in Northville are interested in their boys. Other communications will be welcome in this effort to "get the ball rolling" as Mrs. Brownley suggests.

Dear Editor:—Two weeks ago I read an article in your paper by Mrs. John R. Nelson, asking that something be done for our young boys who are out of school and out of work too, to keep them occupied and out of mischief. I thought the suggestions made were as good as one could think of and work-out in this town.

Some have said that our taxes are high enough now without further taxes to keep open the school for entertaining budding young manhood, but these are the ones who forget that our taxes also keep up places like the nearby House of Correction for youths who have gone astray.

Why can't we use our school for the two things proposed by Mrs. Nelson, and keep the classes solely for young boys of near 20 years of age or a little over? Give it a try-out anyway. The Plymouth gym is packed to the doors on the two nights of the free basketball games and many of our own townpeople are enjoying these games.

Spectacular Train Takes Movie Stars Across Nation

Two-score film stars travel on this special train; (upper left) Bebe Daniels; (upper right) G-E kitchen where famous chefs prepare stars' meals en route.

A spectacular special train, covered with gleaming gold and silver and equipped with all conceivable electrical devices, as well as a replica of moviedom's famed Majestic Beach, will carry two-score movie celebrities from the Pacific to Atlantic seaboard, stopping at various cities en route, including Washington, D. C., where they attend the Roosevelt inaugural ceremonies. The special train will resemble a flying meteor as it flashes through the nights. Exteriors will be electrically lighted—the first time in railroad history that such a feat has been accomplished. Huge sun arcs or Hollywood lights, installed in the baggage cars, will cast powerful beams into the night skies. Special equipment has been installed to furnish current for the unusual lighting and for the all-electric kitchen which General Electric was asked to construct in the train. The kitchen was installed because "temperamental stars insisted that food be properly preserved and prepared. All the chefs have to do, after receiving orders for meals, is to press a button and the food is cooked automatically. After the meal is served, he presses a button and the dishes are washed. Electricity even preserves the food automatically. On the observation car, a small edition of Malibu Beach, the movie colony's bathing resort, has been built, with palm trees, sand and electric sun-lamps to lend added realism. In each city where stops are made, stars will participate in a parade and later will make personal appearances at a Warner Brothers' theater. Many of them played in "42nd Street," Warner's newest movie extravaganza. The train is scheduled to leave Los Angeles Feb. 21; in Denver Feb. 23; Kansas City, Feb. 24; St. Louis, Feb. 25; Indianapolis, Feb. 27; Chicago, Feb. 28; Detroit, March 1; Cleveland, March 2; Pittsburgh, March 3; Washington, D. C., March 4; Baltimore, March 6; Philadelphia, March 7; Boston, March 8, and New York, March 9.

LINCOLN WINS FROM N. H. S. IN LAST GAME

Van Dyke's Speed Gives Them 27 to 19 Victory; Reserves Win

Northville went down in defeat before the Lincoln five of Van Dyke Friday evening in the high school gymnasium with a score of 19 to 27. The second team, trounced its opponents 16-11.

Lincoln appeared to have the edge slightly over Northville throughout the game. They had the lead at the end of every period.

In the first quarter the teams played quite evenly, with neither side doing anything spectacular or speedy. The second quarter opened with some good passing and shooting, resulting in wild scrambles. The score at the end of the first half was Lincoln 12-Northville 8.

The last half was not overly exciting. The Lincoln team did very well offensively, however, and the final score was Lincoln 27, Northville 19.

The reserve team game was faster than the varsity game. There were some good passes and fast plays on both teams. The Orange and Black "B" cagers were victorious, 16-11.

SENIOR GIRLS DEFEAT FRESHMEN FOR 2ND PLACE

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

History in the Making

History is being made. And we are fortunate to witness it with reserved seats. All around us events are changing. Our whole social, economic, and political structures are being rebuilt.

Never before has our financial condition, local, state and national, been in a more uncertain state. The same is true with our educational system.

We doubt if the majority of people young or old realize what a tremendously important event is being enacted before them. In years to come, this present period will be one of the most notable in American history.

The Use of Permits

The use of permits in high schools is absolutely necessary. It is not entirely that the students cannot be trusted, but permits greatly aid in creating a more uniform and orderly system.

This use of permits can, however, be overdone. Time is valuable and often when a student comes from across the hall one minute late, he is required to spend often as much time as ten minutes getting a permit to allow him to enter class.

LIBRARY RULES ARE STRICTLY ENFORCED BY GIRLS IN CHARGE

The rules of the library are being strictly enforced this semester in the high school.

N. H. S. ENTERS THE DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

Five Plays Thursday With Roosevelt High At Ypsilanti

Thursday night, the Northville basketball squad played their first game in the tournament at Ypsilanti with Roosevelt high of Ypsilanti.

Coach Ruggles journeyed to Ypsilanti Monday afternoon to draw for the initial game. Northville's opponents in the tournament will be Bellvue or University high of Ann Arbor.

Both this and last week the local quintet has been practicing in the large gymnasium at the Wayne County Training school in order to prepare themselves for the tournament.

MOST POPULAR TWO IN H. S. TO BE FOUND

Popularity Contest Will Be Sponsored By The Palladium Staff

Important among the developments of the Palladium, comes the announcement from the staff yesterday that they will sponsor a popularity contest in the high school.

A popularity contest, has been talked of for some time, during which members of the annual staff have endeavored to find the opinion of the students on the question: It was found by their investigation that no one had serious objections to the contest if it could be held in such a way that no one's feelings could be hurt.

The election, which will be held as close to the actual publishing of the book as possible, will be absolutely popular. Ballots will be printed and passed out among the students. They will write the name of the boy and girl whom they believe most popular on the ballot and some one will collect them. Their ballots will be counted by the editor and two faculty members.

N. H. S. GIRLS HAVE PLAY DAY AT PLYMOUTH

Thursday, March 2, Northville school girls journeyed to Plymouth to have a friendly battle in basketball. The grades which were represented there were the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, and the 12th Play-day with Plymouth has been a tradition for the past two years and both schools have been victorious once.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Do you think that self-government in the assembly would prove better than the present plan of having a teacher in charge?

Gertrude Deal—No. Even the teachers some times have difficulty in keeping order.

Winifred McCardle—No. I don't. Many of us are too irresponsible and need some one to watch over us.

Beverly Stamann—I think it would because if students are left alone they feel more responsibility.

Junior Dundas—I think it would prove satisfactory because the students would feel that it was their duty to maintain silence.

Harold Booth—I don't think so because there are a few who have no self control. Those few would disturb the whole assembly.

Mary Bennett—Yes, I do. I believe that students "on their own" would conduct themselves better than those who are watched constantly.

Merle Fraser—I most certainly believe it would. It would place the pupils in a responsible position, and also give the teachers more time to do other things.

Evelyn Kimmel—I hardly believe it would be successful. Some do not know how to conduct themselves properly. A certain few persist in disturbing in some way or another.

COUNCIL TO RATIFY ALL APPOINTMENTS OF SCHOOL EDITOR

O and B Head's Assistants Must Be Submitted To Group

In a meeting of the student council Thursday, a resolution was passed making it necessary for the council to ratify all appointments made by the editor of the Orange and Black.

The resolution, made in form of a motion by Councilman Howard Latta, was as follows: That hereafter it shall be necessary for the student council to ratify all appointments made by the Orange and Black editor. This does not include any previous appointments. The resolution will affect next year's editor who has not been appointed as yet.

NORTHVILLE IS TIED FOR SECOND PLACE

Melvindale and Local Five Are Second in The League Race

Northville, by tying for second place with Melvindale in the Suburban league, has ended a basketball season that has been more successful than any in several years.

Farrington won the Suburban league title, finishing first, with Northville and Melvindale a close second. Trenton came third, and the unfortunate Berkley team last.

Coach Ruggles' team has defeated every opponent except Plymouth and Lincoln Consolidated at least once and sometimes twice. Plymouth is a B class school while Northville and other members of the Suburban league are class C. The game with Lincoln Consolidated was a tie.

The second team was also very successful dropping only five out of twelve games, and all by close scores.

The members of Northville's varsity court squad are Capt. Raymond Westphal, Henry Hoffman, Dayton Deal, Irvin Marburger, Paul Baldwin, Leo Kohler, and Donald Bray.

The personnel of the second team is: Duguid, Lys, Nirider, Schrader, Moose, Tewksbury, Hartner, and McLoughlin.

Coach Ruggles says: "I believe that everyone of these boys should be congratulated on their fine work and spirit during the basketball season."

VAN DYKE STUDENTS ADMITTED FOR A DIME

An agreement between the Lincoln school of Van Dyke, which played basketball here last Friday, and Northville, was passed by the student council last week.

The agreement provided that the Lincoln students should be let into the game for ten cents, and Northville would be admitted for the same price when the local school plays at Van Dyke next year.

The Van Dyke students were accordingly admitted for a dime on presentation of an identification card. There were quite a large number of them here Friday night.

MRS. HENRY'S "LONE PINE TEA ROOM" IS MAKING FRIENDS

The popularity of the "Lone Pine Tea Room" has steadily increased during its recent establishment by the proprietor, Mrs. T. B. Henry. Mrs. Henry needs no introduction to Northville, being the widow of the well beloved "Dr. Tom," who served this community for many years. Always delighting in cooking, when occasion came for self-support Mrs. Henry turned her hand to the thing she loved to do and felt confident in "beginning" on a small scale by serving lunches to a few, the fame of her cooking served tastefully in attractive surroundings has gone forth until now a good business is being conducted by this thrifty woman. A number of dinner parties have been served in this tea room by hostesses, who were glad to be relieved of all responsibility that every detail would be carried out with nicety. Such fluffy rolls, artistic salads and cakes beautifully decorated. Not only in her home but at parties for others does Mrs. Henry serve her patrons as a caterer and Northville women are glad to have this professional help.

CHAS. L. BLACKBURN LEAVES CO. OFFICE AFTER 14 YEARS

Due to the unwritten rules of political life which have gone practically all of the Wayne county office to the democrats resulting in a complete change of employees, Chas. L. Blackburn of Northville, who has been in the office of the county clerk at Detroit for fourteen years, has had to relinquish his place. On his return to civilian life, Mr. Blackburn is being given many sincere words of praise for his faithful and efficient work in the county building. His many Northville friends will regret keenly that the "breaks" of political life have taken him from his post.

FOUR BOYS STEAL COAL FROM P. M.

Wednesday night there appeared before Justice Wellington Roberts four boys about 13 and 14 charged with stealing coal from the P. M. railroad. Because of their youth the judge placed their fathers on probation for six months.

Last Wednesday night Penman-Alton theatre had two full houses to witness the Merchants' mid-week show which still maintains its high standard of good entertainment.

Warren William and Joan Blondell appear Saturday night in "The Match King," which is an inside story of a fascinating figure as has appeared in this roaring age.

FIVE BOYS RELEASED BY JUDGE GORDON

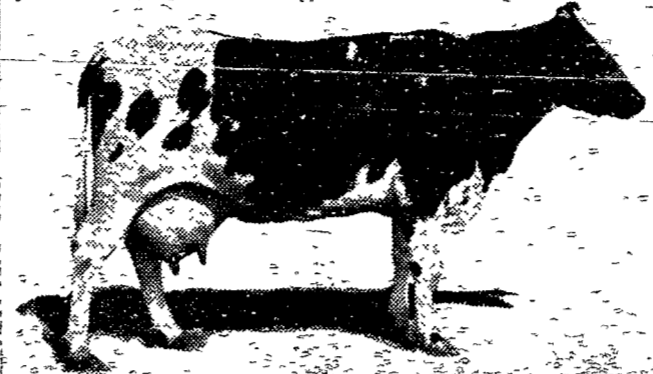

The five boys who were held in Detroit on charges brought by a Detroit speakery proprietor were released by Judge Arthur Gordon of the Wayne County Circuit Court, Friday, Feb. 28.

Judge Gordon directed the jury to render a verdict of not guilty. He placed responsibility for the boys' predicament, declared an observer who was present, directly upon the parents. Of the five boys, one had been unconditionally released previous to the hearing.

The speakery the boys were supposed to have held up is still in operation it is said.

Training School's Noted Holstein, Ionia Aaggie Pauline, Duplicates Her High Record Made a Year Ago

Ionia Aaggie Pauline, a 5-year-old registered Holstein owned by the Wayne County Training School here, has completed a yearly Class A record of 847.9 pounds of fat and 29,199.2 pounds milk, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This is almost an exact duplicate of her record made the previous year as a junior 4-year-old. The butterfat yields for the two years were exactly the same, namely 847.9 pounds-fat and the milk yields were almost identical as she made 29,376.4 pounds the first year and only fell short by 177.2 pounds of the same mark in the test just finished.

ERWIN H. SIBLEY SAYS PUBLIC WORKS PLAN IS ILLUSION

The usual suggestion for the relief of prosperity is a large scale public works program which would put millions to work, and with the buying power of these people restored the wheels of industry would start turning again. A very sensible suggestion until we stop for a moment and consider that in any building program, whether it be needed or not, that a way must be sought to pay for the work done. Of course the logical solution to this problem would be to create a surplus in times of prosperity to take us over the critical periods of readjustment. But as it is now we are faced with an enormous deficit that is daily increasing to staggering proportions. To create more work is only to make more debt, and the taxing power of the government has been about drained of its ability to make John Citizen pay without a warring squawk. Two ways have been suggested as a means of the Federal Government to obtain sufficient funds for the carrying on of this giant proposal. The first is the flotation of a five billion or more bond issue. The second, the printing of additional paper money, not backed by gold, or the inflation of currency. The question to be asked when any bond issue is to be put before the public is, "What security have I for the investment of my money?" "But," you answer, "the security of the entire United States Government." What is the United States Government? Nothing more or less than the representation of the American people. There is only one source of public credit and that is the taxing power of the government. Already this taxing power has reached an unendurable measure and there is clamoring on all sides for relief from the taxation burden; and yet, with each cry for relief there is an additional cry for government to put men to work with public money. Still other items must be considered. The interest payments on this borrowed money, and the nature of the work for which the money is used. Will the work so created be justified by the expenditure of the sum or will it merely add further burdens later on. Any project to

Baptist Church Services tonight (Friday) and next Sunday will complete the series of most helpful meetings now in progress at the Baptist church. This church can strongly advise people to hear the Gospel messages by the evangelist, G. W. Stucky of Detroit. The regular appointments of the church will be carried out Sunday at 10:30 the morning worship will be conducted by the pastors Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, after which Mr. Stucky will preach on the subject "Security." Instead of the Communion, the board has directed that a baptismal service be held after this sermon and the March communion will be observed one week later. Mr. Stucky's evening subject will be "Calvary's Dividing Cross." As this is the closing service of the series and is also by concession a second union meeting at this church in succession, all are invited to cooperate in making this service one of power.

St. Paul's Lutheran Leo C. On Wednesday evening at 7:30, the second of our mid-week Lenten services will be held. Theme of discourse: "Jesus manifests His redeeming Love to His enemies." The half hour of Faith and Fellowship is broadcast every Sunday afternoon, 1:30 to 2 o'clock over station WXYZ. "Behold the Lamb of God which fakes away the sin of the world." A cordial welcome is extended to all. St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies' Aid will meet at Mrs. James Copeland's home on Cady street on Thursday, March 9, at 2:00 p. m.

Church of Our Lady of Victory Catechism classes at 9:30 each Saturday morning. The teachers for March will report at 9 o'clock. We shall appreciate it to have the various youth agencies of Northville to remember that we are quite insistent in having the hours of 9:30 to 11 a. m. reserved for the above classes for all Catholic children who have not finished the eighth grade. The St. Grocery Party was well patronized last Tuesday night. The devotion of the Stations of the Cross will be held tonight and every Friday night during Lent at 7:30.

BAPTIST CHURCH REVIVAL AROUSES MUCH INTEREST

Since there has been a continued increase of attendance and interest in the services at the Baptist church and at least 28 persons have come forward signifying either a new life in Christ or the renewal of that life, we can report these services as a revival. There is much of real value even when additions to organized Christianity cannot be reported, such as the quickening and cleansing of the life of the church. In this case, however, new members will be added to the body of Christ. Can anyone doubt the statement of Calvin Coolidge, "Just before his death: 'Only religion is certain or sure.' Yet many are indifferent to the one great certainty, religion or better, God. How much more will we have to experience of disillusionment, before we return to the God of our fathers?" Wm. Roscoe Barbour. The ladies are reminded of the regular monthly cash donation that will be taken up after the Masses next Sunday.

New Does the Average Man Make A Good Cook? No! Says Food Economics Expert. By Sarah Blackwell THE average man, seeing his wife quickly and easily preparing breakfast, dinner, and supper—that is, if the can opener isn't the chief utensil in her kitchen—thinks that he can do likewise. It is true that he may be able to wrangle some sort of a meal together, but if he hasn't had the experience, it is apt to be the type of meal fit only for cast iron stomachs. Take, for example, even as apparently simple a task as preparing coffee. To a man coffee is just coffee. He can tell by the taste whether it is good or bad, but he doesn't realize that there is an art in its preparation. When his wife sets a cup of fragrant, freshly roasted and ground coffee before him, he'll exclaim "That's a good cup of coffee!" But tell him that when you bought that coffee at your corner grocery, the grocer asked you whether you wanted coarsely ground coffee for the old-fashioned coffee pot, medium ground for the percolator, finely ground for the drip pot and you get the poor man all confused. Why I'll wager the average man doesn't even know what kind of a coffee pot he has in his own kitchen!

WHAT DO YOU THINK? Can your husband prepare a meal as well as you can? Maybe he's "hiding his light under a bushel" and secretly disapproving of your cooking because he can do better! On the other hand, maybe he's all thumbs when it comes to putting around in the kitchen. It's something that you should find out when you finish reading these two opposing views! You Bet! Says Outdoor Writer By Doc Schnurmacher THE average man can cook an appetizing meal without resorting to the use of the can opener. Not only that, but when it comes to steaks, chops or fish, he's a far better cook than a woman. Did you ever know a woman who could catch a delicious brook trout and broil it over a wood fire so that it became a veritable feast for the gods? And how about bacon and eggs fried over a thin blue camp fire at break of dawn? Why, if a woman would get up at dawn she'd probably beat the campfire smoke in her eyes! Take flapjacks, too. There's a knack in making 'em and a knack in flipping 'em no woman can master as well as a man. Why I know one that sprained her wrist trying! As for coffee! Coffee is a man's drink. And the outdoorsman not only appreciates a good cup of coffee but he knows how to make one. While you can't take a coffee grinder up into the big woods, you can and do have your coffee coarsely ground for your big old-fashioned coffee pot, the very last thing before packing in. A man can cook as well as a woman. But in the home, why should he?
