BOTH PARTIES IN TOWNSHIP NAME TICKET

W. A. Ely, Dr. E. B. Cavell
Head the Lists of Nominees

Unusually active interest in the forthcoming township election to be held Monday, April 3, is anticipated in consequence of the results of both democratic and republican caucuses held in Northville last week. Both parties offer highly qualified candidates.

Democrats Are Unanimous
At the democratic caucus, held Friday evening, March 10, there was a limited field of candidates seeking nomination. All names suggested at the caucus were unanimously placed on the ballot, there being no competition for any office. Those seeking election on April 3 are: Dr. E. B. Cavell, supervisor; Miss Ruth Gillis, clerk; Mrs. Catherine Johnston, treasurer; Lester Stage, highway commissioner; Chas. F. Knight, overseer of highway; Harry Blake, justice of the peace, long term; Fred Hicks, justice of the peace, short term; E. C. Bryan, board of review, long term; Bert C. Stark, board of review, short term; W. L. Lanning, Willard Cole and Harvey Van Valkenburg, constables. The total number of votes given every candidate was 44.

Republicans Meet
Half the symposium at the Northville High school was filled on Saturday afternoon, March 11, when approximately 300 Republicans met to nominate candidates for the April election of township officers. Eight nominees, including the four constables, were given a unanimous ballot. Three offices were contested. Willard A. Ely, incumbent township supervisor, received 205 votes out of 208 cast, the remaining five being a scattered vote. Elmer L. Smith, incumbent township clerk, was unanimously nominated.

E. A. Kohler won the nomination for highway commissioner, by a final vote of Kohler 121, Guy Martin 30, and William Dugman 14. A second vote was necessary in this contest because Kohler failed to get a majority on the first ballot. A unanimous ballot carried Guy Martin into the nomination for highway overseer, and the same occurred when the names of Joseph Blake and Wellington Roberts were placed on the ballot for nomination as Justices of the Peace, long term (4 years) and short term (1 year) respectively.

In a vote of 105 cast for the nomination of member of the Board of Review, Chas. E. Dubuar received 74 and Samuel J. Knapp the remaining 31 votes. The four incumbent constables, Frank Perrin, Elmer Perrin, Ulie Tibbitts and James Black, were unanimously renominated.

GARY DEAL MOVES
Gary Deal, formerly head of the service department of the Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, has moved to Zimmer's garage at 279 Park Place.

MRS. HARPER GIVES BOOKS TO LIBRARY
Northville Library is the fortunate recipient of several books from the library of Mrs. George Harper among which are: "The Itinerary of a Breakfast," "$30,000 Bequest," "Astronomy," "Many Minds," "Friendly Stars" and "Great Masters." Some of these books are fiction and some are essays, while others are more technical. This was a most generous act on Mrs. Harper's part.

Hear Them Play Friday Evening, March 24

Look 'em over! Northville is proud of its High School Community Band. These youngsters have won fame abroad as well as popularity at home, and the free concert they will give on March 24 at the high school gym promises to be another feather in their "spiffy" red caps. Manager Fred W. Lyke, who stands to the left of the group, deserves much credit for his work with the band. It is largely through his untiring interest and effort that the band has reached its present proportions. Edwin Head, band director, deserves great praise for leading the band.

BRADNER COMING FOR BIG BANQUET

Food for thought, as well as food for the well-known tummy is going to be dished-out in generous portions at the third annual American Legion Community banquet scheduled for Thursday, April 6, at the Methodist church house. That's the promise held out by members of the Legion committee in charge of this grand event. The committee consists of Merrill Sweet, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston and Harry Bolton.

C. C. Bradner, whose name has become a household word because of his daily news reports over WWJ, is booked as guest-speaker of the evening. Known to Detroit newspaper readers several years ago as a columnist of exceptional wit and shrewdness, Bradner has spent the past several years as a radio reporter. No better speaker could have been chosen for the Legion banquet than this charming personality.

Several short talks by army officers are also billed for the Legion affair, all of which will be interesting not only to Legionnaires but to every man and woman who attends the feast.

Plans have been made by the committee to bring a high class orchestra to the Methodist church house, where the banquet will be held, so that the best of music will be furnished throughout the entire evening.

The Legion banquet is open to the entire community. Tickets are on sale at the Den Lunch, at both the Northville Drug and Horton's Drug store and at the Record office. Tickets can also be obtained from any Legionnaire.

VILLAGE SCRIP EXPLAINED

Why does the village of Northville have scrip? With all of the economies that have been effected in the administration of the village affairs, how does it happen that the village must pay its employees with paper money? What will happen if all of the merchants and citizens refuse to accept scrip?

These are questions that every resident of Northville is asking himself today and with the idea in mind of clarifying the situation Dr. L. W. Snow, president of the village council, replies to the endless number of queries put to him every day in the following article.

Why Have Scrip?
"Why is it necessary to issue scrip?" Dr. Snow was asked. "Because," he said, "although the 1932-33 budget called for an outlay of $35,000—a thousand dollars less than the budget called for in the previous year, we were unable to obtain that amount through our banks. We have operated on a strict economy program, we find ourselves out of funds."

"This is due to the fact that we have at present $16,782.00 coming to us in delinquent taxes; because our revenue from water bills and other minor sources has been greatly reduced; because we paid out from $2,500 to $3,000 necessary water supply improvements and because the $7,000 surplus we should have in our bank bonded-off course, along with approximately $30,000 of other village money which was to be used in paying off bond payments and other debts."

WADSWORTH KILLED BY FALL ON STAIRS
Harry Wadsworth, aged 52, died from a broken neck suffered when he fell down the stairs leading to his apartment over the Den luncheon on Main street. His body was found by Harold Sonnenberg at the foot of the stairs at 7:00 Sunday morning.

LYLE M. KESTELL DIES ON SUNDAY
Lyle McDougall Kestell, son of the late Dr. John R. Kestell and Kate Kestell, died at the home of his mother on Carpenter street, Sunday, March 12, at the age of 28 years. Death was caused by a chronic ailment from which he had suffered for eight years.

EXCHANGITES MEET WITH FARMINGTON

Farmington Exchanges were hosts Wednesday noon to fellow members and their guests from Northville and Brighton at a luncheon held there at the Methodist church house.

A delegation of 20 men represented Northville at the congenial meeting and the entire audience which listened attentively to an address by George Gullen, assistant Wayne County prosecuting attorney, was composed of approximately 60 men. "It isn't laws that keep our valuables safe even in safety deposit boxes or in vaults," said Mr. Gullen, "but character. Somewhere there is a man guarding those vaults and safety deposit boxes and this man must be a character."

VEGETABLES TO SPARE? SEND IN TO HUNGRY
Is your cellar still pretty well supplied with vegetables and fruit? Spring is coming, and perhaps you will not use all of the carrots, turnips or potatoes before they begin to sprout. Why not pass some of them to families who would be glad for these supplies now when cash is scarce.

TEACHERS GET 80 PER CENT OF THEIR PAY

Use of Scrip for Future Is, However, Being Discussed

That Northville school teachers are not suffering the fate of instructors in many communities in the state is revealed by payment of 80 per cent of their wages by the school board. Earlier in the month 90 per cent of the payroll had been discharged, and last week the remaining 30 per cent was paid.

Although it is believed by school authorities that scrip may have to be used in the near future, no definite plans for its use have been issued.

BUSINESS ETHICS IS TOPIC FOR DEBATE AT ROTARY CLUB
"Is the customer always right?" This was the question up for discussion at the Rotary club of Northville Tuesday noon following the weekly luncheon.

MEN'S CLUB HEARS STUDENTS DEBATE BANK GUARANTEE
It was the turn of the elders to listen as a debating team from the local high school debated before a dinner-meeting of the Men's club of the Presbyterian church at their gathering at the church house Wednesday evening.

Northville Battles Bank Holiday
Bravely and Her Citizens Believe That Prosperity Is Not Far Off
The scarcity of "ready money" unquestionably is effecting the people of Northville, but to listen to the optimistic viewpoint of the business men and citizens in general is to gain a fresh slant on human patience and courage. Caught in the maelstrom of successive bank moratoriums and holidays, Northville has still contrived to keep its head above water, waiting for the first chance to swim to safer regions.

COMING SUNDAY

A man who has "made a name for himself" in the highest sense of the phrase will close the Methodist week which began on Sunday, March 12, and has continued throughout the past week. He is Rev. William H. Phelps D. D., of Detroit, editor of the Michigan-Christian Advocate, and known far and wide as a keen thinker who has acquired the art of "untangling" all of his thoughts with that sensible kind of humor found in a kindly man.

$400 IN GOLD IS TURNED IN TO BANK HERE

Local Institution Will Not Be Open Saturday Evenings

The Depositors State bank is "sitting tight" awaiting national and state developments in the banking situation, according to officials here this week. Orders to turn in all gold and certificates to the Federal Reserve bank in Detroit have been received by officials here and this is being carried out. Approximately $400 in gold has been turned into the bank by depositors of the Depositors State bank since the order to conserve gold was declared, stated an official.

The Depositors State bank will close on Saturday evenings. It was decided at a meeting of the board of directors recently, owing to the fact that only a small amount of business is coming into the institution at that time and the risk of a robbery or hold-up is quite large. Saturday banking hours will be from nine a. m. to three p. m.

The Depositors State bank is still doing a normal local business. No restrictions have been placed on withdrawals of savings accounts or on checking accounts and all local checks are being honored.

Questioned as to what effect the entrance of the Federal government into the banking situation would have on the local institution, officials stated that their instructions were still being received through the state banking department which was in turn being directed by orders from the Federal government.

The First National Bank of Plymouth, which has been on a moratorium plan similar to the one in operation here was given permission Wednesday morning to reopen under the Federal Reserve regulations.

FAITH IN OUR PRESIDENT

A united people is back of President Roosevelt as he takes over the destinies of this great nation. All partisanship disappeared on Saturday, March 4, when, standing amid the collapse of our banking system, our executive sent out his clarion call to the millions who make up this mighty country.

As he spoke these words: "All we have to fear is fear itself, unreasoning fear," a new faith, a new courage, a new vision seemed simultaneously to take hold of the people everywhere from coast to coast. A friend writes us: "President Roosevelt is growing on me—that was a great speech he gave." That is a typical sentiment.

Now that our wild fear, our unreasoning panic, our unthinking terror, are slinking away in the sunshine of a new day we are seeing that after all we had nothing to fear. We have lost an inflated, greedy, grasping prosperity that would have wrecked us sooner or later. Now we see that we have lost nothing of our real national wealth. We have the same 125 millions of fine people, with health, vigor, vision and resourcefulness—no plague has ravaged the land. We have the same marvelous climate to suit all tastes—from Maine to California. (A Michigan spring with its glory will soon be here and no depression robs us of the song of birds and the smell of roses.) We have the same resources of land, woods, mines and waters—we are rich beyond measure. We have the same fertile farms, the same progressive cities, the same homes, the same boys and girls going to the best schools and colleges in the world—yes, what is there to fear "except fear."

We like the spirit of our president in calling us from selfishness to service. Is anything any truer than this: "These dark days, my friends, will be worth all they cost us if they teach us that our true destiny is not to be ministered unto but to minister to ourselves and to our fellow men."

We have a greater destiny than making money. If we "lose our life" in service we shall find it. That is the appeal of President Roosevelt. The people of the United States will respond to that appeal.

The new day is here. We back our president.

THREE MEN WHO PUT OUT TO SEA

On the front page of The Record for last week were the faces of three men who have made a real success in life—even though one is just on the threshold of maturity. These men are a bishop, a butcher, and a ball player—Blake, Balden and Newman.

These faces made an impression on us. Probably three more dissimilar men could hardly be found in Northville or in Michigan. Try to name three men whose activities would lie along more widely diversified lines.

These three men have made life "go"—otherwise their faces would not look out at you from the front page of this paper. (It takes good men to get their pictures in this newspaper.) The three have put out to sea and so far have made a success of the journey. We wonder what was the "continental divide" of life that made one a bishop, one a business man and the youngest an All-America football player. What little thing was it that sent the life current flowing that way instead of this way? What influences of home, friends and school sent their lives flowing the way they did, instead of down another slope? Getting personal, it was a telegram offering us a newspaper place that changed our own life current from school teaching to country newspaper work. We have often wondered what would have happened had not the telegram come. So with the lives of us all—the streams have gone down various slopes perhaps because of small happenings, the import of which no one could judge at the time.

How strange this journey of life anyway! We put out to sea and the number of ports we visit is often "up to us" and often we seem to have little control of the destiny of our little ship. Yet it is a grand good voyage, through the storms and winds and the soft nights when a great host of stars overhead look down and say: "Thou art traveling well and will arrive."

DEFENDING BANKERS

The father of Dr. Wm. H. Phelps, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate of Detroit, was a banker in Kalamazoo for many years. So it was with keen interest that we sat down the other evening and read an editorial in The Advocate in which the man who speaks here Sunday defended bankers as a class. We must not condemn a lot of them because of the sins of a very few, he argued. Editor Phelps is right.

The great majority of bankers are outstanding men who in almost all cases have been great assets to their communities. Just because our economic system has broken down is no reason to condemn bankers wholesale because very rarely a minister runs away with his choir leader. (And a majority of these cases are of men who are not entitled to the name "minister.")

We must admit that there has been much selfishness among a certain type of bankers—but that same selfishness has been found among a lot of directors of banks and that same selfishness has been found among a great many depositors of banks. We also know a lot of business and professional men, school teachers and farmers who tried to "get rich quick" during those hectic days before 1929, yet we should not condemn all these classes of men as being unduly selfish and grasping.

The greed of men—whether bankers or business men or farmers or school teachers or clerks—has been pretty much responsible for our present trouble. The World War is to blame for the world collapse and certainly we shall have to say that human greed was back of that hideous four years. So we have no more right to condemn bankers than we have to blame any other class of men—we have been pretty much all stricken with the same mania for riches.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

"How's chances to borrow a little scrip?"

Now we are climbing up—the only way to go. Excelsior!

There were a few days last week when the "sweetest words in the language," "Enclosed please find check,"—didn't mean a darn thing.

In the midst of the collapse of the nation's banks, our people were all calmer than we could have expected. We have seen more frenzy at a football game than we have the past two weeks when something really went wrong.

"Well there's nothing like system," said our boy Paul the other night at ten o'clock, after he hopped down stairs with a flashlight, grabbed out a new fuse to replace one just burned out and let us go on reading the day's news.

Nelson C. Schradler has the habit of dropping in at Northville business places for just a few minutes once in awhile just for a little visit. And when he goes out the front door, some way or other, you just feel better. Pretty good habit, we'd say.

Editor "Bill" Canfield of the county seat paper at Howell says this: "We stand in need of prayer, in need of divine guidance, and inspiration found in the Book of the Ages. March to church, folks, rest-your burden upon the God of Our Fathers. Join in singing 'God of Our Fathers Living Still.' Find courage in song, strength in inspiration and faith in the everlasting arms."

THIS-WEEK'S QUESTION

If Northville didn't have a newspaper, what would you give to bring one to town?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

CAN'T BLAME THE BOSS

(La Grange, Ind Standard) How's this for a "touching story"? A worker dragged himself home the other evening and appeared before his wife with a funereal expression on his countenance. "Another pay cut?" ventured the wife. "No, the boss turned the business over to me."

DISAGREEING SWEETLY

(Regford Record) Disagreeing agreeably is an art civilized people should acquire. To mistrust the person who believes something contrary to what you believe is merely bigotry and intolerance. People should be able to discuss their diverse opinions, faiths and hopes without rancor, with no personal feeling except that of respect for the other's viewpoint.

AN UNPRECEDENTED PRESIDENT

(Emerson C. Gilkarr in Utica Sentinel) Roosevelt started out royally. He made an inauguration speech that was a ringer. Next day was Sunday, in the morning he knelt in an Episcopal church and took the sacrament; later he turned a practical dictator—without doing violence to a single law. Such is the astounding elasticity of the American Constitution. Surely, in electing him the people have established an unprecedented President.

OUR COLORFUL PRESIDENT

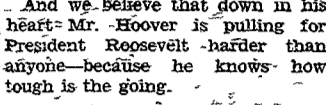

(M H DeFoe in Charlotte Republican Tribune) The primary election system is responsible for the changed attitude of the people toward its public men. Since this idea has been in vogue the people in the main have switched in their political thinking from conservative to colorful.

This explains the psychological upturn of the country which began during the inaugural address of President Roosevelt and is steadily growing. The people fully understand that President Roosevelt is not a super man and is perhaps no better equipped in intelligence and political science than Mr. Hoover but the new executive better typifies what the people feel has been lacking during the past three years—action, courage and color.

The people are fickle. The fans boo Babe Ruth when he fails to smash out a home run. The same psychosis controls our politics. No President ever faced a more difficult task and no President ever started a job with more profound and loyal support. Today the nation has no politics—the personality of one man, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, represents the hopes and prayers of every American worthy of the name.

GOODBYE MR. HOOVER MAY YOU ENJOY YOUR REST

(Chet Howell in Chesaning Argus) A great man, to our way of thinking, an earnest, painstaking, thinking man stepped out of the White House Saturday noon and is now on a fishing trip. How typically Yankee. Gone fishing! "We" cannot help but see the earnest man and hear the sincere voice of Mr. Hoover as he talked to a group of us little weekly newspaper fellers from Michigan, back in September—talked to us in the Lincoln room and our thoughts and we believe, the well wishes of all the people of this U. S., go with Mr. Hoover now that the tremendous burden has been lifted from his shoulders. He did the best he could in a time when anybody's best was not enough and couldn't in no way satisfy the folks—the way things have been drifting. And we believe that down in his heart Mr. Hoover is pulling for President Roosevelt harder than anyone—because he knows how tough is the going.

Yes, We Did Getting out this column is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we get things from other columns, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff. If we stick too close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting news. If we do get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius; and if we do print them, the column is filled with junk. If we make a change in the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical. If we don't, we are asleep. Now, like as not some guy will come along and say that we swiped this from some other column—WE DID!

ANNOUNCEMENT STANDARD SAVINGS AND LOAN INVESTORS are to be congratulated on our having been elected to membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank, thus adding to your security and our usefulness. We quote from a letter received announcing our entrance. Quotation—"We feel that you should be congratulated, because it means that your institution is of such quality and condition as to be eligible and acceptable, and to pass the scrutiny of the examiners for the Federal Home Loan Bank at Washington, as well as those of our own bank." The establishing of this Federal connection greatly adds to our usefulness, in that we are now eligible to draw on the resources of the Federal Bank when our directors find it profitable and occasion should arise. Say No Bull It happened in council meeting. A salesman was trying to sell his product to the skeptical, hard-boiled commissioners. He trotted out statistics by the score. Big numbers, saving in thousands, hundreds of thousands, and the live-wire salesman even inferred that millions might be saved. Each time he presented an argument—he translated it in terms of numbers to the bewildered village sôlons. Finally, Bill Gregory leaned back in his chair with a helpless look of resignation. "How," he said, "How can you refuse a bird with so many figures as that?"

A brilliant one. Details will be published as fast as learned. A committee has been appointed to handle the post's spring furniture sale, and the details of this new venture are being perfected. Another committee was appointed to deal with the Fair Association on a concession for this year. We have been offered one of the best money makers there is—and will be fortunate if we can close negotiations with the Fair board. A profit of $15.00 was realized from the Boy Scout show and turned over to the Scout committee to apply on drum payments for the bugle corps. Miss Rera Schrader was hostess to her bridge club at her home Tuesday afternoon when two tables of bridge were played. The following guests participated: Mrs. H. P. W. Schmitz, Mrs. Arthur A. Steele, Mrs. Robt. Goodman, Mrs. Harold Bloom, Mrs. Ward Masters, and Mrs. Sterling Paine. Mrs. Geo. Kahrl was a substitute guest.

Board of Education and Teachers Dine and Discuss

Under the benign influence of a good meal enjoyed together, the members of the Board of Education and the entire teaching staff showed their chairs back comfortably and talked over affairs of mutual interest. After asking and answering questions with utter freedom it was gratifying to come to the conclusion that there were, after all, so few to ask.

The object of the gathering was to promote better understanding and the supper was cooperative, served in the high school cafeteria.

Get-Together Club Meets With Miss Ruth Krumm

Forty-one persons of the Get-Together Club gathered at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. John Krumm, March 9th, when their elder daughter, Miss Ruth, was hostess. An excellent coffee service was served. Progressive radio provided the entertainment.

Mrs. Clara E. Sherole, a ladies' night sponsor while her husband was confined in Dickinson hospital, was honored and, as happened, his wife was sojourned. The ladies of the club are invited to meet in one room on Thursday afternoon and Celia Herrick to make up the plans for club activities.

White Shrine Members Are Entertained at the Hay Home Saturday

A congenial company of 27 members of Trinity Shrine No. 44 gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hay on the high hill of North Rogers street, Saturday evening, March 11. Mrs. Hay is a past worthy High Priestess of this order.

In the recreation room a bountiful cooperative dinner was spread and the guests were seated informally at seven o'clock. Among the number were friends from Detroit, Redford, Farmington and Northville, all of whom had joined the White Shrine in Northville.

A jolly time was spent during the remainder of the evening at various games and jigsaw puzzles.

Friends of Mrs. Dolph Help Celebrate Her Birthday Monday

In a spirit of good fellowship and neighborliness a few friends of Mrs. A. K. Dolph walked in on her at her home on Randolph street Monday afternoon and spent a delightful afternoon together in honor of her birthday. Those comprising this group with Mrs. Dolph and her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. M. Whitehead, were Mrs. E. S. Stettin, Miss Ethel Seel, Mrs. Margaret Payne and Mrs. A. E. Whitehead.

A birthday cake beautifully decorated was enjoyed together with other light refreshments.

Basketball Boys Dine Together Friday Evening

The basketball season is over and the entire squad had supper together with one of their number, Paul Baldwin, at his home Friday evening. Places were set for 19, including the senior host.

Two boys, Paul McLoughlin and Herman Hartner, were kept away from the table because of illness, otherwise the squad was complete. It was a fine sight all those wholesome-looking boys who have kept in line during the past months. At the end of the long table, which extended the length of the dining room and living room sat Coach Harold L. Ruggles and Principal R. H. Amerman.

Much regret was expressed at the prospect of the coach's leaving and the boys were glad to have this chance for a final visit with him.

In keeping with the nearness to county leader, has arranged for groups to be conducted through the furnished rooms of the model home in J. L. Hudson's.

Of additional interest at this meeting were the hand made rugs brought by the members which were displayed and admired. Some had made two rugs and colors were discussed by the leaders.

To improve the moments during the lesson the women sewed for the welfare work and accomplished much.

Beside the eight members present two visitors, Mrs. Chas. L. Dubuar and Mrs. Adella Brock, were present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Howard Atwood April 24, at 1:30 p. m.

Chinese Art Discussed by Mrs. Brede At Woman's Club

In the quiet garb of a dainty Chinese woman, Mrs. Alex Brede of Royal Oak appeared before the Northville Woman's club and their guests, the Farmington Woman's club, Friday afternoon. With straight black hair closely bobbed Mrs. Brede might well have been a modern Chinese woman. Having lived for five years among these people she had acquired much of the delicate sentiment of this race.

Chinese art was presented to her hearers with Mrs. Brede's own inimitable charm. Even those with only a slight appreciation of real art caught from her descriptions the spirit of Chinese art, that mysticism and expression of the soul's ideals.

In answer to the criticism that Chinese art is "too thin," Mrs. Brede replied that the object of their art was to express "how much with how little." With an attempt at realism they leave much to imagination. There is a dreamy element in their art, "with dripping brush the Chinese artist, who is always a scholar, catches his inspiration upon the canvas with a few skilled strokes while the mood of poetry is upon him." Preliminary sketches would crowd out his impulse.

Mrs. Brede added to the interest of her talk by showing specimens of Chinese art with a number of rare curios brought from China. Northville friends who had been privileged to hear Mrs. Brede previously were glad to again greet her at this time. She was introduced by Mrs. H. S. Willis, whose guest she was.

Following the program the screens were removed from the front of the room and a beautifully arranged table was seen with a lovely pyramid birthday cake sparkling with 40 lighted tapers. This is the fortieth year since the club was founded and a former member of the club (whose modesty makes her wish her name suppressed) made this cake and decorated it with roses in icing.

Mrs. Margaret Yerkes and Mrs. Clarence Davis poured tea and the women chatted sociably.

Past Matrons Enjoy Luncheon Together Tuesday

One of the most enthusiastically enjoyed afternoons in their history was enjoyed by twelve members of the Past Matrons of Eastern Star when they dined together at the home of one of their number, Mrs. Chas. F. Murphy, with Mrs. B. Fredy, assisting hostess, Tuesday.

Just an even dozen sat down to a delicious luncheon at one o'clock with pink tapers shedding a glow of cheer over the group.

The afternoon was spent profitably sewing on little garments for a young charge of the club visiting sociably as they sewed.

Thirteen high school girls of the Presbyterian church, members of the Sunday school class of Mrs. Sherwin A. Hill, met at the home of Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Sr. Thursday afternoon to complete the organization of a chapter of the Westminster Guild. This is a national organization and the local chapter will choose its own name later.

Mrs. Ralph Ayers, who has been connected with this guild previously, assisted the girls in the formation of this chapter. Their sponsors will be Mrs. Harold Bloom and Mrs. Carl Bryner.

The newly elected officers are: President, Marjorie Pierpont; Vice-President, Margaret Hay; secretary, Gertrude Deal; treasurer, Jane Lester. The object of this society is three fold; devotional, social and for service. The plan is to meet on the first and third Saturday afternoons at various homes or at the church house. The girls are enthusiastic over their plans.

At the close of the meeting the most invited her young guests to the dining room where a dainty tea was served. Further pleasure was given when hot maple sugar was stirred out.

W. R. C. MEETING

On Wednesday afternoon, March 22, the W. R. C. will meet in the Legion hall to sew for the Red Cross. As this is the annual birthday of the W. R. C. there will be a political supper at 6:30. Bring dishes and something good.

Holden with their family were callers at the parental home and Miss Marjorie accompanied them home. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Smith of Grosse Pointe were also visitors at the Yerkes home.

In the columns of past years an interesting coincidence is observed. Forty-five years ago on this date "Joe Berry," one-time editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, came out from Detroit to address Northville people. On this coming Sunday the present editor, Dr. Wm. H. Phelps, will speak to folks here at the Methodist church. Berry, it will be recalled became a bishop of the church.

A large group of apple trees on the west side of the S. Center street road leading to Plymouth, near the Wayne County Training school, have been cut down recently. It is believed that a road widening project for this highway is being planned.

RED CROSS BRINGS CHEER TO MANY

With biting March winds still blowing, the demand for clothing from the Red Cross headquarters goes steadily on.

The room upstairs in the village hall is open they come, men, women, boys and girls, for much-needed supplies.

Under the vigilant eye of the chairman, Mrs. Eliza Wagenschutz, with a capable corps of assistants, the clothing has been dispensed wisely. The shelves, which early in the season were piled high with bolts of outing and other wash goods and with stacks of underwear, hose, sweaters and trousers, are gradually dwindling down.

Looking back over the past winter the chairman reviews with genuine satisfaction the needs filled. Most of those who call for supplies do so with appreciation.

To many it is an experience of acute humiliation, thus uninvited asking for help, which unavoidable circumstances have brought about.

For the sake of her children, Mrs. Mary Lanning has "swallowed her pride" and asked for help from this "Great Mother of the World," the Red Cross.

It is interesting to know that those who take home yardage goods are required to bring back the garments made to prove that the material was used, as requested.

To date 110 local families have been supplied. Two thousand yards of material have been given out to those who could do their own sewing and 75 dozen garments, trousers, stockings and sweaters, have been handed out.

Garments beyond number have been cut out and taken home to sew by individuals and societies. Mrs. Wagenschutz thinks that mention should be made of the faithful women who have "stood by the ship." Not all of these can be enumerated but among these sewing "Dorcas" are Mrs. Norman Denne, "Aunt Ida" Hendry, Mrs. A. K. Dolph, Mrs. Louise Coffey, Mrs. F. S. Harmon, Mrs. John Hanna, Mrs. L. A. Babbitt.

Many groups of women have laid aside their cards and jig-saws and have gloried in an afternoon of something - accomplished. Among these, a number of bridge clubs, Past Matrons club, the W. R. C. Woman's club, the Home Economics class, the Service League, the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary.

When all of these women know that one Northville mother said to her child: "I wish I was a little girl so I could go to school and keep warm" and another little child in our own village said wistfully to a caller: "My mother says she wishes we had a nice smoke coming out of our chimney like you-have," they will not regret the hours they have spent in this work of relieving suffering.

Three hours, three times a week at the Red Cross room is no small sacrifice to make, but Chairman Wagenschutz smiles heartily and says "It's worth it all."

YERKES TO SPEAK ON RECENT JOURNEY

Robert G. Yerkes, Northville Exchangeite, will show several reels of motion pictures taken by himself on his recent trip with Mrs. Yerkes to the South Sea Islands at the Exchange Club Ladies' Night program, the date for which will be announced soon.

Mrs. Hay Welcomes O. E. S. Officers at Her Home Tuesday

At a very delightful occasion Tuesday at her home on North Rogers street, Mrs. Ralph Hay, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Boyden, entertained a party of 20 officers of Orient chapter of O. E. S. honoring Mrs. Dean Griswold and Mrs. Wilbur H. Johnston, whose birthdays occurred on that day.

Each of the honored guests was bidden to the party to celebrate the birthday of the other and each, in turn, was heartily surprised to find herself included in the honors.

A long table was stretched hospitably in the recreation room and the color scheme of green and white was effectively carried out. In the center of the tables stood a pyramid birthday cake gay with candles and with tall green tapers at each side.

With appropriate remarks Mrs. Griswold, for a number of years a former chaplain of the order, and Mrs. Johnston, worthy matron, were presented with lovely pots of flowering plants as a token of the affectionate regard in which they are held. These gifts were received with feeling gratitude and the evening's pleasure together cemented closer the bonds of friendship in this group.

Salem Home Economics Club Entertains Large Group

The fourth meeting of the Salem Home Economics club was held in the beautiful country home of Mrs. Ruth Clay, west Six Mile road Twenty-two, members and eleven guests gathered for the noon-day luncheon. The first feature was learning a lock stitch for hemming light-weight materials and another stitch for heavier materials. The ladies then continued cutting and fitting the dresses for which they had already drafted the pattern.

The spacious living room proved a very interesting place indeed; one in which were scattered groups with smiling faces busy with needle and thread, making suggestions and fitting one another; and finally from the subdued chatter emerged each member with her new gown, entirely original; she having designed her own style, drafted her own pattern and cut out and finished the garment.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 12, with Mrs. Jane Meloy, 5325 West Eight Mile road.

A feature of the work there will be bound button holes and pockets.

The committee in charge, including the hostess, are Ella Bauman, Cora Penzell, Betty Boyle and Mrs. Rex.

Several new pieces have been added to the repertoire of the 50-piece band, according to Manager Fred W. Lyke, and some real entertainment is promised to music lovers. A carefully selected program of popular airs and classical music will be offered.

During the school year many lost and found articles are turned into the office of Principal R. H. Amerman.

Among the things lost by students are purses, bracelets, earrings, pencils, fountain pens, brooches, a pair of silver-rimmed glasses, rings, several of leather gloves, and a brown pocketbook.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

Affected "Awecent" - Last week we heard an article by an eminent professor of English which argued against the use of affected accents. High school is a bit early for speech affectations, but even now we know of several, in school and out, who are already beginning to sound their f's like ah's and to adopt other accents of the so-called intellectuals.

No Sense of Gratitude - At times petty personal grudges influence us in making decisions, which are entirely wrong. Some people are big enough when it is pointed out to them, to recognize their mistake and make amends.

Did you notice? - That lucky Leo Kohler escaped from the "landscape gardening" article last week. However, there is no need for worry as he will not escape the work.

We're wondering whether, in the popularity contest students will vote strictly along party lines or will occasionally split their tickets here and there.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Do you favor more assembly programs? Why? Gertrude Sedan - Yes - it makes the school more interesting for the students. Catherine Duguid - Yes. It makes school more interesting, as well as being educational. Harold McCordie - Yes. It breaks the monotony of the regular routine, and gives interest to students. Eleanor Booth - Yes. We need more entertainment. Assembly programs are educational and very beneficial.

DID YOU NOTICE

Helen Christensen's face? Well, Helen, you'll learn. Blanche and Marie trying to look grown-up by doing up their hair? The effect that a certain type of look has upon two high school girls? Dick Shipley trying to look like Paderewski? He's even wearing his hair like Ignace. The weary appearance of Catherine Duguid? Is it weekly news reviews or love affairs? How embarrassed two senior boys appeared after being "excused" from French class Monday? Sally Richardson trying to learn about "type locs" at the Record office? That Paul Baldwin just can't stay away from the library? Rumor has it that he's a very welcome guest, though.

USE FOR SHOW CASES IN HALL IS SUGGESTED

Classes Could Improve The Lower Corridor With Exhibits

If a visitor were to enter our lower hall this is what he or she would see. First on one side would be lots of coat hangers and well-ordered rows, but on the other side guess what? Our visitor would see on each side of the wall show cases. Of course this visitor would want to see what projects, etc. the various classes are carrying out. In gazes the visitor, but for shame; all that could be seen is empty shelves, covered with dust.
