C. C. BRADNER TO SPEAK AT LEGION DINNER

Big Community Event Will Be Held Thursday, April 6

Ref. drink (coffee) and be merry say those in charge of the annual American Legion Community banquet to take place in the Methodist church house on Thursday evening, April 6, at 6:30. A program that will please everyone has been arranged by the committee.

Mr. Bradner, who has been in charge of the annual American Legion Community banquet to take place in the Methodist church house on Thursday evening, April 6, at 6:30. A program that will please everyone has been arranged by the committee.

Several short talks by members of the Legion, including an army officer whose name has not been ascertained, will be interesting features in the oratorical phase of the program.

Robert G. Yerkes, prominent community activities, will act as toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Yerkes volunteered to show a reel of war pictures and the committee accepted this generous offer with eagerness.

Chuck Miller, Detroit musician, will bring an orchestra of four or five pieces to furnish music throughout the entire evening. Another musical feature will be several numbers by the Northville male quartet, led by Carl H. Brynn.

Tickets for this grand affair can be obtained from any Legionnaire, and at the Northville Drug Store, 222 Church street.

APRIL 15 LAST DAY FOR THE PAYMENT OF TOWNSHIP TAXES

Notice is being issued by Helen A. Morris, township treasurer, to those who have not paid their township taxes that collections from her office ends April 15. After that date the tax rolls will be turned over to the treasurer's office in the Wayne county building, Detroit.

Citizens are urged to pay their taxes before that date to save themselves the penalties imposed upon delinquent taxes. The office of Mrs. Morris is at her home on 222 Church street.

CHAS. LEFEBVE MANAGES THE MEAT DEPARTMENT IN E. M. B. FOOD MARKET

Charles Lefebvre, employed in the Palace Meat Market for 22 years, up to the date of its closing a few weeks ago, is now manager of the meat department in the E. M. B. Food Market.

Mr. Lefebvre has won many friends during his many years in business, and it is with pleasure that they see him "back in the harness" after his brief vacation.

NOTICE

To the Voters of Northville Twp. Having received the nomination for township clerk, at the recent caucus, I am asking your support at the spring election to be held Monday, April 3, 1933.

You are all aware that my office is centrally located, always open and I am always willing to give you any information at any time relative to township affairs.

If you feel that the duties of the township clerk have been properly looked after in the past, your vote will be appreciated at the coming election.

Very truly yours,
ELMER SMITH, Township Clerk.

TO BE TOASTMASTER

Robert G. Yerkes will be the toastmaster at the Legion Army Day banquet to be held here on Thursday, April 6.

CAVELL PROMISES TO AID WELFARE

By reason of my many trips around the country I think I am exceedingly familiar with the welfare situation in Northville township, states Dr. E. B. Cavell, democratic candidate for the office of Northville township supervisor.

"The situation," he says, "is critical and with the large amount of people either totally or partially dependent on public welfare I think something will have to be done to relieve them soon. The best solution lies in a program of work relief whereby welfare subjects would repay their benefactors by providing labor for public projects.

"If I am elected I promise to look after their interests faithfully and to see that they get a New Deal all around."

Dr. Cavell states that with the large number of democrats holding county offices which will probably be increased Monday, the cause of the poor will be greatly aided and other relief will be greatly increased if they have a democratic supervisor.

BERNHARDT ASKS SUPPORT

Novi township road taxes were cut from 50 to 60 percent last year under his administration, states Henry Bernhardt, republican incumbent who is a candidate for re-election as highway commissioner on a sticker platform.

According to Mr. Bernhardt, $1,200 less was expended on the Novi township roads last year during his administration than was spent the previous year.

Close to 2,000 yards of gravel were spread on Novi township roads, says Mr. Bernhardt, and he has given efficient service in every way.

Mr. Bernhardt is campaigning for re-election on a platform of keeping the tax rate down, he says, and he will appreciate the support of his friends.

Phil H. Grennan Is Developing Typical Ranch, With Buildings, on 320 Acres Near Northville

By A. L. Anderson
Within the next year the hills lying a few miles southwest of Northville will undoubtedly raise the question: "Are we still a part of dear old Michigan, or have we been transplanted to the regions of our great cousins in Montana, Wyoming, or Nevada?"

And the cause of this query will be the 320 acre ranch now being developed in that territory lying between Six Mile and Fishery roads, just east of Beck road, by Phil H. Grennan, who hopes to create there a typical western ranch house.

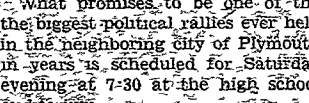

A ranch house completed, a bunk house well under way, and water and lighting facilities provided, the project planned by Mr. Grennan and directed by Joseph Denton, superintendent of the Grennan farms, and Alex Johnston, Northville building contractor, has made a fine beginning. The ranch will be used by the friends and family of Phil Grennan as a recreation spot.

Among the many features under consideration in the development of the ranch is a miniature farm, in which domestic animals will be well represented. Horses, of course, will be pretty much in evidence at the ranch.

The ranch house, built in the low, broad style peculiar to western architecture, stands on a spot ingeniously strategical. It cannot be seen until one has traveled far along the road leading to it from the Six Mile road, and yet it stands conspicuously on a low hill overlooking a broad meadow or valley through which a spring-fed stream winds its tortuous course. One would think that the sole purpose in selecting this particular spot was for the sake of protection, because from no angle can it be approached without exposing the "invader."

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE A RALLY AT PLYMOUTH

Gov. W. A. Comstock Will Be Among List of Speakers

What promises to be one of the biggest political rallies ever held in the neighboring city of Plymouth in years is scheduled for Saturday evening at 7:30 at the high school auditorium.

The meeting is held under the auspices of the Northville-Plymouth Democratic club.

The chief speaker will be Governor William A. Comstock, who has announced that he will be in Plymouth exactly at 8 o'clock and speak at that hour. He will leave Detroit at 7 o'clock, coming direct to Plymouth.

Not only has Governor Comstock announced that he will be a Plymouth visitor Saturday evening, but Plymouth and Northville democrats have secured for the big rally Saturday evening, attorney George Bushnell of Detroit, candidate for the supreme bench on the Democratic ticket, and four other prominent Democratic leaders of the state and Wayne county. Among the other speakers will be Judge Arthur Lacy, who was urged to become a candidate for governor a year ago.

Charles S. Hemans of Detroit, son of Lawton T. Hemans, for years one of Michigan's outstanding Democratic leaders; Murray D. Van Waggoner, candidate for state highway commissioner; and Edward H. Williams, candidate for county auditor, will be the other speakers.

Their addresses will follow that of Governor Comstock. The Plymouth high school band has been secured for the evening and will play a brief concert preceding the introduction of the speakers.

The Democratic committee, composed of Edward J. Spilly and Frank Leonard of Plymouth and A. J. Murphy of Northville are putting forth every effort to make the event a real success.

MISS BEN-OLIEL WILL SPEAK HERE

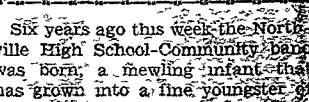

It will be the good fortune of Northville to hear Miss Ben-Oliel of Jerusalem, at a union service at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. Miss Ben-Oliel is the daughter of a Christian Hebrew scholar and having lived in the Holy Land many years she brings to her hearers a rare insight into desert life which is the background of Old Testament worship.

Nineteen times has Miss Ben-Oliel appeared before Methodist conferences. Of her, Bishop Oldham said: "I sincerely believe that her presence and utterance to encourage that recognition of the symbolism of the Old Testament from the absence of which the American people is the poorer. I believe in her enterprise and high intelligence."

DON'T FORGET!

The Northville Braves' Dance to night at the High School. Come!

BAND REACHES SIXTH BIRTHDAY

Six years ago this week the Northville High School Community Band was born, a mewling infant that has grown into a fine youngster of whom Northville is justly proud.

And mighty proud too are its "Daddy" and all those who have contributed something to its growth and development.

In 1928 E. C. Langfield, who attended a Rotary convention in Denver, Colorado, brought back the idea of forming a band similar to those found in that city, where not merely one but a dozen bands were supported by the citizens.

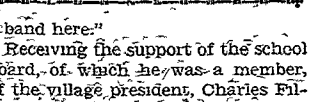

"So impressed was I with these bands, and with their real purpose, which was to keep the children off the streets," said Mr. Langfield, "that I resolved to try to organize a band here."

Receiving the support of the school board, of which he was a member, of the village president, Charles Filkins, of the village council, and prominent citizens, among them the late Frank S. Harmon, Mr. Langfield set about to realize his plan.

Two important steps were taken that gave the band a "good start." The council voted, to furnish the thirty-piece band with instruments, the first of paying an outside band for Saturday night concerts; and the Fair association furnished the entire group with uniforms. As the expense of the instruments was easily made up within the first two summers, and as the band has furnished music for the annual fairs during the last five years, the faith evinced in the embryonic organization has been more than justified.

R. F. C. AID MAY BE GIVEN NORTHVILLE

Township Board Will Make Application; Funds to Furnish Work

Work relief instead of dole relief! With this as its slogan the Northville township board plans to be among the first to make application for a share of the $8,000,000, said to be granted by the state highway department by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the purpose of putting to work men who are now on the public welfare rolls.

Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner and republican candidate for re-election, is said to have been instrumental in arranging for the loan which will spread relief throughout the state, two millions going to the upper peninsula, two millions to the northern part of the lower peninsula above town line 12, and four millions to the southern part of the state.

The Northville township board, composed of Willard A. Ely, supervisor, Elmer L. Smith, clerk, Joseph Blake and Wellington Roberts, justices of the peace, has formerly applied at the Plymouth branch of the state highway department for a sum of money to be spent on local trunk lines, namely, the "Haggerty highway."

The money, according to H. G. Oakes, division engineer of the highway department stationed at Plymouth, is available only to those counties or townships whose needs have exceeded their resources. Each political unit, states Mr. Oakes, must make individual application for its loan which must be ascertained by filing a complete report of welfare expenditures over a given period of time. The applications will be approved at Washington, he said, subject to the recommendations of the state highway department.

The entire loan of $8,000,000, he said, will be repaid to the federal government out of the highway subsidy of $2,500,000 which the state highway department receives each year.

Money over and above what can be expended by each township or county, on labor may be used to relieve acute welfare needs, said Mr. Oakes, but the sum must be repaid to the highway department.

Salaries for work in Northville township, he said, will be paid for by the Wayne county roads organization which will be reimbursed by the state highway department in paying off its debt for materials and rental of equipment said Mr. Oakes, each township or county will be required to provide labor for the state highway department equivalent to the debt incurred. The only stipulation the R. F. C. places on its loan, he declared, is that it all be used for the payment of labor.

The wage scale he said, would be determined by the prevailing rate in the vicinity where the work was carried on.

Work planned in Northville township according to local officials, will include improvements on the Haggerty highway, widening roads, grade reconstruction work and tree trimming. All local labor will be employed, they said.

EXCHANGITES HEAR CAPT. DENNISTON

An old friend of local Exchangers, "Cap" Edwin Denniston, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction on the Phoenix road, greeted members and guests with a short talk Wednesday noon at their weekly meeting held at the Methodist church house.

Charging that penal institutions throughout the country do not fulfill the purpose for which they were intended, Capt. Denniston stated that only the "indefinite sentence," discharging the prisoner when he is deemed cured and proper segregation of the younger criminals in prison would prevent the huge expense incurred by caring for repeat offenders.

The object for which prisons and penal institutions were built is to rehabilitate their members so that they can once more enter society and be an asset to the community in which they live. No prison does this," he said.

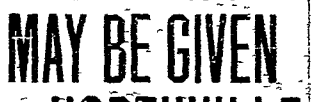

What are the obstacles preventing this? The prisoners are thrown haphazardly into the prison system. No attempt at segregation or proper care is given and what is the result? The youthful criminal and the short term offender come into contact with the old-timers, whom they look upon as something of a god. When they are released from prison at the expiration of their term they are soured on the world and they follow the hardened criminal's teachings. They then become chronic repeaters."

Capt. Denniston spoke emphatically in favor of the indefinite sentence. We do not sentence our insane to three months or six months in prison, he said. We put them in an institution, he declared, to be released when they are cured. They are given an indefinite sentence, he said, and wanted to know why this method isn't just as applicable in criminal cases. A criminal is merely a normal man convicted of abnormal actions, he stated, and when he is turned into an asset "turn him loose."

Exchangers will hear a winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor speak next week, said President Chas. Murphy.

Guests at the meeting were Lee Taylor, Edison lighting expert and Sam Stremich, connected with the Penman Allen theatre of Northville.

SEELKS RE-ELECTION

Webster H. Pearce, state superintendent of education, is the republican candidate for re-election.

ALWAYS ROOM FOR THE INDEPENDENT

SAYS E. M. BOGART

Over 1,200 items of various food products are carried on the shelves of the E. M. B. Food Market, its proprietor E. M. Bogart, told Northville Rotarians and guests at their weekly meeting Tuesday at the Presbyterian church house. That grocers have their troubles as well as others was clearly shown in Mr. Bogart's craft talk.

"Grocers have to have a wide knowledge," said the local business man. For example, he has to know accurately the 20 kinds of tea that are on the market. He has also to learn the difficult art of dealing with an exacting public. Then there are the long hours which are necessary properly to serve the public.

There will always be room for the independent dealer," said Mr. Bogart, no matter what he says. However, in order to meet the keen competition of the present day, he must be alert and progressive. For eight per cent of all the commerce of the world, said the speaker, is in foodstuffs. Because of this tremendous amount of business there are more "misfits" in the grocery business than in any other enterprise.

Two valuable assets for making a success of the grocery and its allied meat business, said Mr. Bogart are these:

Treat all your customers in the way that you would like to be treated.

Don't have too much capital invested, but be alert to make a quick and constant "turn-over" of all goods on your shelves.

NORTHVILLIANS FISH

While Northville shivers in the late winter winds of March, good comes from sunny Florida that Dayton B. Lapham, Ed Sessions and Maurice Lapham have been deep sea fishing off the warm shores of the Gulf of Mexico at St. Petersburg. While the men were fishing their wives amused themselves with the favorite and sport, shuffle board. Maurice writes that he has gained in weight and is blown by the summer sun, fully recovered from his late illness.

Mrs. Sarah Leadbeater Is Given Unique Honors by Friends and Relatives on 80th Birthday

When Mother Leadbeater, 80, crowned the meal with a large birthday cake on which they had inscribed "Happy Birthday, Mother."

On Sunday another celebration was held when fourteen other friends came who were not able to be present Saturday. On Tuesday still others continued the birthday party who were kept at home by the storm of Saturday. Altogether Mrs. Leadbeater is well aware that she has reached this memorable milestone in life.

Considering her advanced age, she is in excellent health and takes pride in being able to do the housework and care for the flowers in the large garden.

Sarah Cook Leadbeater is a native of Canada, coming to the United States when a child. Her husband, James Leadbeater, died 37 years ago, and since then she has divided her time among her children. For a number of years she was in Detroit. Four children "rise up and call her blessed," Mrs. E. L. Burnett, Detroit; Mrs. Nell Stegmeyer, Traverse City; Joe, of Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Max Kator of this village.

Northville friends join in wishing Mrs. Leadbeater many more useful and happy years.

BOTH PARTIES FIGHT TO WIN IN TOWNSHIP

Republicans and Democrats Carry on Lively Campaign

For the first time in approximately 27 years the Northville democrats are making an imposing bid for election on their candidates to township offices on Monday, April 3.

Close races are anticipated in contests for supervisor, clerk and treasurer with hardly less interest shown in the struggle of the democrats to place their candidates in the offices of highway commissioner, overseer of highways, two justices of the peace, and a member of the board of review.

Combining length with strength, the democrats have chosen from a large field of applicants the following list of candidates: Dr. Edwin B. Cavell for supervisor; Ruth E. Gillis for clerk; Catherine Johnston for treasurer; Fred Hicks and Harry F. Blake, the former for short term and the latter for long term, as justices of the peace; Charles E. Knight for overseer of highways; Lester D. Stage, Sr., for highway commissioner; Edwin C. Bryan as member of the board of review, and for four constables, Wellington L. Lanning, Willard Cole, Harvey Valkenburg, and Louis Lanning.

Campaigning diligently the democrats speak frequently of the new deal. They are not quite convinced that a grand slam will be scored for them by the voters, but they are using every card forcefully.

Republicans, accustomed to winning game and rubber over a long period of years, are playing their trump cards—experience in the field of politics and records of qualified terms in office. The incumbents are candidates who have been successful in performing the duties of their offices and they are confident that their labors will not go unrewarded.

Their ticket is composed of: Willard A. Ely for supervisor; Elmer L. Smith for clerk; Jennie Cousins for treasurer; Ernest A. Kohler (replacing Herman Kreger on the ticket) for highway commissioner; Wellington Roberts for long term and Joseph A. Blake for short term as justices of the peace; Guy Martin as overseer of highways; C. L. Dunbar for member of the board of review and as constables, Frank Perrin, James Black, The Tibbits, and E. E. Perrin.

Leaving the kings out of the deck each party is playing 12 cards for the approval of the voters on April 3 and the score will be determined when the last trick has been taken and the ballots are counted.

In Novi a three cornered race for the office of Novi township highway commissioner is engaging the interest of voters. The contest has been enlivened by the entrance of Henry Bernhardt, defeated in the republican primary as a candidate on a sticker ticket opposing Wm. Affairs, republican nominee, and Ford S. Brooks, democratic candidate.

Voters everywhere throughout the state will cast their ballots on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment which prohibits the sale and transportation of alcoholic beverages. The procedure will be to mark a cross opposite the name of either one of the two delegates, whose names are on the ballot.

Elmer R. Eaton, editor of the Plymouth Mail, is the delegate for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and for the ratification of the twenty-first amendment which provides for the sale of beer.

Evered V. Joliffe, also of Plymouth, is the delegate against the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and against the ratification of the twenty-first amendment.

The Northville polls located under the Horton Drug store at Main and Center streets and at the city hall, corner of S. Wing and Main streets, will be open for voting from seven o'clock a. m. to eight o'clock p. m.

NORTHVILLE BRAVES PLAN APRIL FOOL'S DANCE IN H. S. GYM

The Northville Braves Baseball club will hold an "April Fool's" Dance tonight, March 31, in the Northville high school gymnasium. This dance is being given for the purpose of obtaining money to purchase new uniforms and equipment. A well known orchestra from Detroit will furnish the music. Admission is 25 cents per person. Dancing from 9:00 to 1:00.

"Let's all turn out" says the committee in charge of the event, and put this dance over in a big way."

THE COMING OF BEER

The editor of this newspaper is personally dry. He has many wet friends who through the years have respected him for his consistent attitude.

One of the big reasons why he is dry in habit is because of his at-times impetuous temperament. Had Dick Baldwin ever started drinking he would not have been a half-way drinker—he would have gone sled-length to be a "good fellow." And so, had he started drinking he would have drunk himself into an early grave—as he has seen so many do throughout the years. So he has been consistently and constantly dry—when away from home as well as when with his family. And he has never been seriously embarrassed at being a strict dry.

As a personal dry we agree pretty much with the view of a good editor-friend of ours, Muri H. DeBoe of Charlotte, whom we quote in another column of this paper. (Read what he says.) We feel that prohibition has been a great disappointment. We have seen the nullification of the eighteenth amendment and we have witnessed the growing disrespect for all law. That condition is dangerous. We have felt for the past two or three years that there would have to be made some radical change in the prohibition law. Well, that change has come faster than we thought it would. Sentiment has changed rapidly in the past year or so and the coming of beer is now through the action of Congress—right at our front door.

On April 3 the voters of Northville—along with the rest of the state—will vote on candidates for the state convention which will consider the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. We have two sets of delegates—one pledged to vote dry and one to vote wet. As a personal dry we shall not change our voting habits, although granting that many former conscientious dries will vote wet on April 3. We shall vote for 21 dry candidates. We expect the wets to carry the state, probably, however, by a reduced majority over last November's vote.

What will happen when we get beer back? We rather expect that we shall have something that will save or of the old saloon days—and those who never saw the old-time saloon will be due for a rude shock. As even the Detroit Free Press pointed out in an editorial Saturday, this new beer is going to be intoxicating. People are going to get drunk around in public places. And that won't be a pretty sight. We predict that it will become so "soupy wet" that there will be an intense reaction against the whole liquor business. Then we hope that our dry leaders will fall back on the best way to bring about real temperance—viz., education of the young people. Legislation will not make us a sober nation. Then it will go back dry but even then, the liquor question will not be settled for all time. It will still be with us. As we have said before, the best way for one who wishes to make the most of life, the best solution of the liquor issue is this: Leave liquor alone.

A GOOD "NEW DEAL" AND A POOR ONE

Thoughtful people who have any idea of what is going on at Washington, D. C. and at our own state capital at Lansing are getting some vivid impressions of "new deals" of which we heard so much last fall during the campaign.

It develops that there are two kinds of "new deals." The first is good—the other is bad.

Our "new deal" at Washington is working out well—we are for it and so are all good Americans. At Lansing the "new deal" promised us is in many ways pitiful.

A look at the facts is interesting.

President Roosevelt in his promises for a new day is doing great things for the United States. With the co-operation of democrats and republicans alike, he has accomplished much for our country in the short time he has been in office. Our president has shown great courage, vision and outstanding ability. With his dynamic leadership at a time of great crisis, he has risen to great heights of usefulness and apparently has started the nation back on the way to a normal prosperity. The Roosevelt "new deal" has been all that he promised and all fair-minded people give him credit for his achievements and for all his program for better days for the people of this great nation.

The situation at Lansing is quite the opposite. According to many thoughtful men who have been at our capital and studied the situation, the "new deal" there is a miscarriage of justice. This slogan of a "new deal" so glibly used last fall by many men unfitted for public office put into power in our state legislature a considerable number of men who are unqualified for public service—certainly at a time of emergency like this.

We find the "new deal" at Lansing arraying our sincere and courageous governor against our ambitious attorney-general, Patrick O'Brien. They are already differing radically on matters of public policy, with the result that after weeks in session our state legislature is becoming known as a "do nothing" body. O'Brien, said to be ambitious for political power, was defeated in his efforts to be named one of the bank dictators of the state and also in his efforts to "put over" a beer bill against the wishes of the governor. As the result of a lack of confidence in his attorney-general, the governor is said to take his legal counsel from his friend and attorney, Mr. Fitch. The legislature has about as much faith in the attorney general as has the governor so we have the spectacle of a "leaderless confusion" as some observer at Lansing has called it. Anyone who reads in the last issue of The Record the article by Schuyler L. Marshall of St. Johns, "What Is Wrong at Lansing," certainly must have been impressed by the array of facts that he presented in a fair fashion. What Marshall says is corroborated by many, many others. The situation at Lansing is in many ways pitiful. And the tragedy is that the people are the sufferers. They suffered in the way the bank situation was tangled up by the ambitions of Mr. O'Brien and they will suffer if some of the freak legislation being proposed by inexperienced men goes through.

Yes, it can hardly be denied that our "new deal" at Lansing is a lot worse than the "old deals." This "new deal" promised us last fall is a travesty, made by the number of incompetent public servants at Lansing. Our governor is trying hard but he can make little headway with the cooperation he is getting.

Michigan should be glad to forget "new deals" for a while. The Lansing one has gone sour. In fact, it is absurd to elect men to office on slogans and promises, unless we know whom we are voting for. In Wayne county, for example, we have seen campaign promises of last fall made a tragic and costly joke.

A movement is on foot now by some of the "new deal" advocates to turn out of office such good men as Webster H. Pearce, superintendent of public instruction, and Grover C. Dillman, highway commissioner, trained for 20 years in one of the most important offices in the whole state and opposed by a "new deal" candidate whose training has been along different lines. Certainly the state of Michigan will suffer if those now in office shall be turned out just to give someone else a job.

If "new deals" are offered us now, let's be sure that the pack isn't stacked against us.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Spring is here! A good friend comes in to show us his new golf sticks. "Fore!"

"He who says there is no such thing as an honest man, is himself a knave"—Berkeley.

Every time we hear that Northville band we get enthusiastic. Certainly you would travel far and wide to get any better bunch of musicians. Director Head, Manager Fred W. Lyke and young folks, we salute you all. Northville is mighty proud of you.

Page the democrats! Andrew W. Mellon, favorite target of theirs, is home from London, where he was American ambassador to Great Britain under Hoover. And this is what he says: "President Roosevelt is 'very favorably' regarded in London and Europe." We are all glad to hear that.

A prominent Northville man got to reminiscing and told us how he quit drinking. Years and years ago, in another town, he was up at the bar of the saloon, drinking with friends. The saloon keeper's wife, dressed in furs with big flashy rings on her fingers, came in to see her husband. Our friend "looked her over." Indignation flashed over him. Saying to himself, "I'm paying for that," he left the saloon and, according to his own word, never drank again.

Every business and professional man can learn something by getting away from his own workshop and going to see how the other fellow does it. Friday afternoon the writer, Ad. Schwenger and George Siloac of The Record crew took off half the afternoon and looked over the Royal Oak Tribune plant, where Floyd and Lynn Miller have one of the finest small city dailies in the state. Floyd Miller at one time had an important place on the library staff of The Detroit News. We came home with several good ideas.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

WHOSE EARTHQUAKE?

(Upland News, Upland)

The first great catastrophe to be laid to the Roosevelt administration was the earthquake which struck Southern California. Anyhow—it would have been a Hoover earthquake if the Republican administration had been in power.

HELPING THE BANK

(Scarsh Inglis in Galesburg Argus)

Remember, no bank or business institution can exist unless it makes a profit for out of profit comes wages, rent, interest, overhead. If we are to have a good strong bank it must make money. All of us can help; instead of a money order buy a bank draft; instead of a dollar at home put it to work in our reopened bank.

WILL SALOON COME BACK?

(W. H. Berkeley in Cassopolis Vigilant)

We remember all too well that a few short months ago everybody was being told, before the November election, that a way was going to be provided for the sale of beer, and possibly wines and liquors, without the return of the saloon, but we are now of the opinion that the saloon is coming back, provided the eighteenth amendment is repealed, and that it may come back anyway as a place for selling beer and light wines, and what splendid places the latter will make as a cover for the sale of illegal hard liquors by the lawless. Even the Chicago Tribune is now proclaiming that the prohibition saloon wasn't so bad. What short memories some people have! And right here in Michigan men are now going about looking for good places which they can lease for saloon purposes. It is our sincere hope that Michigan will not vote to repeal the eighteenth amendment and thus help to bring back the saloons.

DRY EDITOR WILL VOTE WET

(Muri H. DeBoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune)

Prohibition has proven a failure. The return of beer, wines, etc., will also prove a failure. We are going to vote, however, for the repeal of the 18th amendment in order to give the millions of young Americans who have never seen a saloon a chance to see the old order of things reestablished. After this great group of Americans has a chance to compare the repeal program with ten years of prohibition, with which they are all familiar, it will be time to ascertain the judgment of the country on the two plans. The country has voted decisively for a new plan. The people are entitled to get what they ask for. In that sense—and that only—we are going to vote for Rev. Ewert (wet) of Grand Lodge as Eaton county's member of the constitutional convention to pass on the federal question for the state at large.

As a teetotaler under any and all programs we would, if we had the power, do away forever with every form of intoxicating liquor. It not being possible to carry out such a program the prohibition question, to persons in the same category as the writer, becomes a problem as to which plan best promotes temperance. Prohibition as we have come to know it exceeds the old saloon as a crime breeder. The repealist program may improve conditions. We doubt it but are willing to ride along with present majority opinion. We wholeheartedly endorse the following indisputable logic earned in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor.

When a thing is found to be valueless, it is abandoned by the consensus of intelligent, informed ed opinion. It lapses into the limbo of rejected fallacies and becomes obsolete. To those who look beneath the surface of human experiences, this fact becomes very evident with regard to the question of the use of alcoholic beverages. Voice after voice joins in the verdict which advancing humanism has raised against the claim that intoxicating liquor in any form is needed or useful. This is attested by many of the most influential groups among the world's workers today. Among industrialists, the medical faculty, dietitians, and wherever the skilled use of mechanism is required, the use of alcohol is increasingly regarded as a menace or, at least, unnecessary. And whatever impairs safety and saving should, naturally, be given up.

So evident is this that he who observes the irresistible trend of progress can scarcely fail of the conviction that in due course whatever represents a loss rather than an asset in the human economy will come to be no longer desired or discussed in the centers of civilization.

We have referred the Father Coughlin-Free Press duel to our department for keeping politics out of religion, or vice versa.

Maybe this bank holiday is all just an April Fool's Day joke and tomorrow we'll be pleasantly surprised—Maybe!

We heard the other day of a printer down in Kentucky who became immensely wealthy and returned to a life of ease and luxury.

He inherited a million dollars.

Now for the township election. If a candidate could count all of the promises of support he receives as votes, he'd elect himself without any trouble.

What makes the sun shine brighter in newspaper offices are the typographical errors culled from weekly proofs.

Here are some good ones.

Miss D. Stoffer's natal day occurred Friday and her relatives sent greetings and flowers through John Litsberger, of Northville, in the afternoon.

Every contestant will write an essay on whatever he pleases, as long as it is in the museum after he reads a booklet entitled "Six Great Painters," which he may bury or borrow.

There will be a splendid program of music and an address by Rev. Whitefish and lake trout will be served, beside many other delicious dishes that are on the menu.

The annual World's Day of Prayer will be observed . . . it is interdenominational and will in charge of three wives local pastors.

We also remember a rush Christmas advertisement that almost came out.

LAST MINUTE SUGGESTIONS:
Piques — Vases — Eric-a-Brac

And long after every paper goes to press we can scan proofs anxiously for "cuts" upside down and harrowing headlines. Because once it's in black and white it is as permanent as the copy that comes from the linotype operator every week.

Of the high-school pupils Charlie Dolph and Willie Hart have been neither tardy nor absent during the winter term. Grace Leham, Bert Bradley, Lida Starkweather, Jennie Blair, Eddie Lapham, and Eva Bryant have been neither absent nor tardy during the past month.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

This "writer" was quite interested to note in one of our important city dailies that a great mass meeting was held just recently in Geneva of 6,000 men, representing 8,000,000 soldiers who either fought together or against each other in the World War.

Their cry was, "Peace, peace, at any price, peace by every means, a peace above all!" Here were eight thousand men who actually knew about the realities and the dehumanizing of war. They full well knew there was no pretty side for there is none. As Lord John Fisher, who was the former commander-in-chief of the British Admiralty once said: "The humanizing of war! You might just as well talk about the humanizing of hell. When a silly ass at the Hague Conference got up and talked about the amenities of civilized warfare, my reply was considered unfit for publication. As if war could be civilized. I shall issue my orders: The essence of war is violence. Moderation in war is imbecility. Hit first and hit everywhere."

Here was the bleeding heart of all Europe speaking in that demagogic strain. Here were men who were survivors of that terrible holocaust which made Europe a scene of carnage just a few short years ago.

Just at this moment we read advice from the European press that delegates and statesmen of the world are a little alarmed fearing the disarmament conference might prove in vain and hopeless. One wonders if they might not bow their head in shame, and return to their task in more humble and prayerful consideration of what lies before them.

Is it necessary to carry on civilization in our enfeebled and intelligent age by the processes of war that murder and killing might be appeased and that we might hand on to posterity a system of culture, education and ideals that "murder, carnage, blood spilling be perpetuated?"

What thoughts, feelings and emotions that were burned in convictions of these delegates were best expressed by Hans Hirsch, an Austrian delegate, who said, "Statesmen have learned nothing, or if they learned, they have forgotten. We who were at the front have learned much, and forgotten nothing."

Hans Hirsch was led by the speaker's table by the hand because he was blind and his face was scarred and seared.

Here were men who were once enemies and now were brothers in one great common cause of peace pleading that our civilization might not have to sacrifice itself again on the hellish altar of war, but rather that it might continue on those of a common brotherhood of love, friendliness and goodwill.

Why Ask?

Aunt Eliza came up the walk and said to her small nephew: "Good-morning, Willie. Is your mother in?"

"Sure she's in," replied Willie triumphantly. "D'you s'pose I'd be workin' in the garden on Saturday morning if she wasn't?"

Wake Up Your Liver Bile

Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

Rarin' to Go

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Recent a substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. C.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

Contract Club Meets with Mrs. Wagenschutz Tuesday

Mrs. H. F. Wagenschutz was hostess to her contract bridge club at her home Tuesday afternoon when two tables played. A dainty dessert luncheon preceded the games. Mrs. Geo. Stalker and Mrs. Robert Coolman carried off high honors.

Mrs. Wm. H. Yerkes Again Entertains Her Contract Club

The Contract club was welcomed Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Yerkes after her return from an extended visit in Caro. The usual pleasant time was spent at contract with Mrs. Mae Eklund and Mrs. Ernest Miller winning high honors. Dessert luncheon was served by the hostess.

Little Miss Busby Celebrates Fifth Birthday Saturday

In celebration of the fifth birthday of her little daughter Irma, Mrs. Jas. F. Busby invited six little girls to make merry with her Saturday, March 25. The afternoon was happily spent with games, concluding with refreshments when a lovely cake lighted with candles made the children's eyes sparkle. Miss Irma Jane received a number of pretty gifts.

Legion and Auxiliary See Pictures Of Yerkes Trip South

On Tuesday, March 28, the American Legion and the Auxiliary met in their Legion home for a pot-luck dinner. Afterward each returned to their separate rooms for their business meetings.

Mrs. Helen Rieger reported taking a box to Maybury Sanatorium containing articles for the service basket and sending a box to Otter Lake. Mrs. Rieger also took five birthday cakes and 75 magazines to the Sanatorium.

Mrs. Lida Murphy reported a very interesting district meeting at Hazel Park. The next district meeting, she announced, will be on the fourth day of May at Birmingham.

At the conclusion of their meeting the "boys" invited the "girls" into their rooms to enjoy with them a trip to the West Indies, as shown in moving pictures by Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Yerkes. As the pictures were shown Mr. Yerkes described their recent voyage down through the southern waters. All were deeply interested and appreciation was expressed.

There was a good attendance of forty-one at this meeting

Miss Alice Masters Honored On Her Birthday

Mrs. Edwin Wagner, Mrs. I. B. Cooke, the Misses Edith Bailey, Doris Beasley, Norene and Velma Blake, Wanda Bender, Thyrza Lister, Marianne Nelson, and Pauline Masters gave Miss Alice Masters a very delightful surprise party at her home in honor of her 14th birthday, March 28th. The evening was spent in working jig-saws. A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Wagner.

Rev. of Girls Take Long Spring Hike to Plymouth

Hints of springtime called out a bunch of eight girls who called themselves by the mysterious name, "the L. I. L. club," who started off gaily clad in knickerbockers or overalls for a long, cross-country hike. Cass Bennett park lured them to stop and rest their steak around a charcoal fire and then, with appeased hunger they made their way on foot to Plymouth, where they attended the theatre. Later they were escorted home by Mrs. E. R. Eaton.

Mrs. Whitehead is Surprised Pleasantly on Her Birthday

On March 28th Mrs. A. E. Whitehead was reminded of her birthday by seventeen of her nieces and nephews arriving at different times during the day. They were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Taylor of Brighton, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Draper of Mooresville, Mr. Geo. Bailey and son Donald and wife and children of Pontiac, and Mrs. J. R. Chamberlain and family, of Detroit.

A birthday dinner with the customary festive cake was enjoyed together.

W. H. M. S. Hears Life Story of Deaconess by Mrs. Butler of Wayne

One of the very impressive meetings of the Woman's Home Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Fuller on the Fishery road Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Fuller, the Lenten secretary, led the program, the feature of which was a very sincere message by Mrs. Nelson Butler of Wayne.

Mrs. Butler is a sister of Mrs. Wm. Wain of this place and brought to the women the life story of a deaconess who awoke to her calling when a little girl. As she faced the progress of her preparation for her work through her training and early experiences, on through her service in the halls of the Ozarks, in the wastes of Texas and in the far West, her hearers detected unusual understanding of the heart-processes of this young woman and before Mrs. Butler had concluded her talk they recognized her as the heroine of her story. The appeal of her talk was the stronger for this natural approach. In her special reference to the Lenten season, Mrs. Butler pleaded for more unselfish devotion by the women.

The devotional services were led by Mrs. Fuller with scripture readings by the members and prayer by Mrs. Minner.

A very good number attended and the meeting was preceded by a delicious pot-luck luncheon.

Masons and Stars Honor Dr. and Mrs. Johnston at Dinner

Unique among the social affairs of Northville was the gathering of the Masons with their wives, the members of the Eastern Star and their husbands at a dinner in the Masonic hall Monday evening. This pleasant affair was planned to honor Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Johnston, who by chance occupy the positions of Worshipful Master of Blue Lodge No. 186 of the Masonic order and Worthy Matron of Orient Chapter of Eastern Star respectively.

This is the first time in the history of these two orders in Northville that it has occurred that husband and wife occupied these major offices at the same time and the members of both organizations felt that it was worthy of some demonstration.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston, as host and hostess, greeted the guests and a spirit of utmost friendliness and informality prevailed.

Mrs. Frederick Hedge was the "moving spirit" of the kitchen, as usual.

Following dinner the chairs were taken to the lodge room where a program full of interest was heard.

John Kalbfleisch, as chairman, presented Worshipful Master, Wilbur Johnston and Worthy Matron Catherine Johnston to the gathering who were greeted with applause. Appropriate tribute was paid to these officers and each in turn responded.

With pride in her associates Worthy Matron Johnston presented her officers who rose and made their bows. They were: Past Matrons, Kinue Harmon, Ruth Gillis, Nellie Freydl, Celeste Kohler, Lydella Ely, Lida Murphy and Hazel Boyden.

Past patrons, Norman Dénne, Claude Ely, and Dean Griswold. Present officers: Worthy Patron, Horace Boyden, Associate matron, Vance Masters, associate patron, Chas. Murphy, conductress, Ruth Dénne, Secretary, Merrienna Hay, organist, Florence Ross, marshal, Margaret Bryan, chaplain, Bertha Kerr, Ada Helen Smith, Ruth, Emmeline Silver, Esther, Marie Schoof, Martha, Ina Linsenberger, Electa, Zona May Harris, warder, Edith Strout, sentinel, Dean Griswold.

Speaking for Dr. Johnston, Mr. Kalbfleisch called upon the following past masters and officers of the Blue Lodge to rise and be presented: Past masters, Ralph Hay, Claude Ely, Floyd Northrop, Dean Griswold, C. R. Van Valkenburg.

The other officers of the Masonic lodge who were present and were presented were:

Senior Warden, Chubb Smith; Junior Warden, Orlow G. Owen; Treasurer, Herbert F. Dean; Secretary, Fredk. Hedge; Steward, E. M. Bogart; Tyler, Dean Griswold.

Chaplain, Rev. H. G. Whitfield; Organist, Roy Clark.

In pleasing vein of humor, Mr. Kalbfleisch put his audience in good spirit and prepared them for the program to follow. Two vocal solos by Pierre Kenyon, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Sherrill Ambler, were enjoyed.

Proving that "folks like to be fooled," W. F. Ren of Detroit "pulled" some slight-of-hand tricks that were different and gave great amusement.

Moving pictures illustrating a travelogue by W. L. Reeves Blakely of Detroit held the audience rapt in interest. During a period of four years spent in the murky, mucky Amazon region of Brazil, Mr. Blakely took these pictures while engaged in locating a rubber plantation for the Ford Co. He was the only white man in the jungle and his hair-raising experiences were so interesting to his hearers that many of them lingered on to a late hour asking questions.

Mrs. Booth Honored By Friends On 90th Birthday

Honoring Mrs. Geo. Booth on her 90th birthday, her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Cöcaydi, gave a large reception and open house at her home in Detroit, Friday, March 24.

Mrs. Booth was made very happy by the presence of all of those relatives and friends who came and she greeted them all very cheerfully. She is in excellent health for her years and enjoys life.

Mrs. Booth points with pride to her six children; 20 grand children, and 37 great grand-children. Among her sons is W. N. Booth, well known manufacturer in the Kelsey Hayes Wheel Co. of Detroit. Roy Booth on the homestead on the 7 mile road is a grandson.

Members will please bring their dishes, rolls and one passing dish. Come prepared to sew for the University hospital.

IS IT NOTHING TO US?

Editor Record.
Just recently we heard several people say, when asked their opinion on the liquor question, "It makes no difference to me, what they do about it—I never touch the stuff."

They seemed perfectly indifferent. Is it nothing to us if the poison which diminishes strength and expels reason is brought back? Is it nothing to us if the vile saloon is brought back with its blighting influence?

We like the attitude of the unknown author of the following poem. The Bridge Builder.

An old man going a lone highway
Came to the evening, cold and gray.
To a chasm vast, and deep, and wide
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fear for him,
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near
"You are wasting your strength with building here—
Your journey will end with the ending day.
You never again will pass this way.
You've crossed the chasm deep and wide:
Why build you this bridge at even-tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head
"Good friend, in the path I have come," he said.
There followeth after me today
A youth, whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been as naught to me;
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim—
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

The men and women who can think of others as taking something very fine from life, and passing it on to the world.

We are sure that on Monday, April 3, clear thinking and righteous men and women will prove to the world, that they are solicitors for the welfare of others. They will vote against liquor, and they will see to it that the Eighteenth Amendment remains in the Constitution.

Obituary

MISS LOUISE BUTLER

Funeral services for Miss Louise Butler were held in the Unit funeral parlors at Wayne, Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, pastor of the Congregational church officiated.

Miss Butler was born in New Boston, January 11th, 1902. Most of her life was spent around Salem, Northville township.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her father, grandfather, three sisters, Mrs. Shannon, Mrs. Bafner, Mrs. Moore of Detroit and Plymouth, and two brothers Warren and Eugene.

Revelations 21:1-4. Behold the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them and they shall be his people and God himself shall be with them and be their God and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pains, for the former things are passed away."

Interment was made at Riverside cemetery at Plymouth. Miss Butler was called out of this life last Saturday, March 25th to join her mother in heaven who preceded her a few years ago.

Mrs. JENNIE McCULLOUGH
At seven o'clock Wednesday morning, March 22, Mrs. Jennie McCullough, one of the oldest residents of Northville, passed away at the age of 81 years at her home on Cady street after four days' illness with pneumonia.

Jennie Hoyer, daughter of Mary and Seth Hoyer, was born at Lyons, O., March 12, 1852. On January 16, 1868 she was united in marriage with Alexander B. McCullough and these two travelled happily through a long life-journey of 65 years with unfailing devotion.

Two sons were born to them, Celon A. and William D. To these sons Mrs. McCullough was a devoted and loving mother. It was her good fortune to have her son, Celon, living next door for the last 14 years and the relation between mother and son has been ideal.

While especially gifted as a homemaker, Mrs. McCullough reached out her interest to the whole community. No case of need was heard of that did not appeal to her sympathetic help.

In return for this motherly spirit everyone loved her. To all of the younger women of the neighborhood she was affectionately "Ma Cully."

and she liked the name. "Cheerful and full of life, she was welcomed in every group.

Mrs. McCullough was an active member of the W. R. C. for a number of years, a commander of the L. O. T. M. and one of the charter members of Orient chapter of Eastern Star. In all of these activities she maintained her interest until advanced age obliged her to retire.

Although confined to her home for the past year and a sufferer, Mrs. McCullough maintained her patient cheerfulness and welcomed her friends to her home.

Only two months ago Mr. and Mrs. McCullough celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary quietly at their home.

The funeral service was held at the Schrader funeral home Friday afternoon with Rev. Wm. Richards of Belleville officiating. Interment was made in Rural Hill.

Her life-companion, A. B. McCullough, two sons, Celon A. of Northville and William D. of Plymouth, two daughters-in-law, one granddaughter Dorothy, and a host of friends and acquaintances are left to mourn her passing.

MANY CHURCH FOLKS
DINE AND DISCUSS

It is estimated that at least three hundred people, members of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, sat down at the same time in various homes for their "group suppers" on Thursday evening of last week. Last evening (Thursday) the Baptist church was to begin its series of similar gatherings with the village divided into four quarters with Main and Center streets as the divisions. Homes in these various sections where hospitality was to be extended were those of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Horsfall, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Beuthe, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Beuthe. Leaders of the informal discussion to follow were L. Q. Carman, Wm. Beuthe and Wm. Horsfall.

The results of the two churches who held these supper-meetings were declared most successful. It was discovered that when folks have dined sociably together as one large family it is very easy to throw aside embarrassed restraint and talk over with freedom common problems.

In one instance a young man who was present introduced some phases which had been overlooked by his elders and which were "eye-openers" to them. At other gatherings those, as it were, "on the edges" of the churches could advance helpful criticism. All of the leaders report very profitable results not the least of these being a better mutual understanding.

At one home the old hymn book was taken out after the discussion and racy memories of youthful days in the "old village choir" were brightened as song after song was sung heartily.

In every case the verdict was "This is worth while. Let's do it again."

At a general gathering of the church body the findings of these smaller groups will be assembled and definite steps taken toward progress. Already a note of unified effort is being noted.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. EDITOR

Oh, for some leisure! What is life if we have no leisure? Over and over these words have rung in our ears as we bustle from one duty to another. Leisure, what's leisure?

It was in a recent talk on Chinese Art at the Woman's club that we heard Mrs. Brede say that the Chinese rate leisure as a very precious part of life. They say, "What is life for if not to do the things you love to do?" Rather a smaller income, they believe, so that one may have time to express himself by painting a beautiful picture or pouring out the poetry of his soul playing the flute in the moonlight.

At first it sounded very silly. There's so much to be done. Then we thought of what Wordsworth said:

"The world is too much with us, late and soon,
Getting and spending we lay waste
Our hours;

Little we see in nature that is ours."
Why should the demand of "things" crowd out natural expression? Is there really a rush to get that washing hung on the line that we can't pause a bit to drink in the song of that cardinal in the distant woods?

Is that committee meeting, that club program, that bridge party, yes, or even that philanthropy so important that we have to be curt to our families to "make the grade?" Little eight-year-old at our house said wistfully the other day, "I like to go to the B-s. They play with their children every night, and then he added, "and she always has cookies."

A woman who had raised her family made this wise remark to us once: "There are periods for various duties in every woman's life. While you are raising your children, that's your family period. Let old maids and women who have raised their children do the public things. There will be lots of time for that when your birds have flown."

It takes strong character not to be a "joiner" these days. Each cause in turn sounds so very worthy. Yet we wonder if every mother took time to train her own children would there be the need of a lot of these "worthy" organizations?

Sometimes we sigh for the days of primitive simplicity when a mother sat calmly spinning for hours with their little ones about them with time to live naturally.

Deep in the heart of many of us are little secret ambitions that we are almost ashamed to admit now. But in girlhood they illuminated our lives with glorious glamour. Do we pause lovingly at the piano keys as we give them a hasty dusting? (Tomorrow we'll get out that old music and brush up on it, time today.)

Some of us have a box of water colors tucked away and our fingers itch to try to catch that sunset scene—but Johnny's sweater just must be darned.

The plot of a story, the bit of real rhyme comes to us with surprised inspiration—but our fingers are dripping with dish water—and when they are dry the thought has fled.

"And friendships—there they are like rich, unexplored gold mines waiting—ours for the taking—and there isn't time."

Ha!

Why hurry so, why hurry so? Why lead a life of stress? Can any gains deserve our pains? Let's stop and smile, and play awhile.

And to ourselves confess
That naught on earth is any worth
If we miss happiness!

Ham loaf

There are meat loaves and meat loaves. Here's Mrs. Frederick Hedge's rule for delicious ham loaf that was served at the big Masonic Star dinner Monday evening:

1 lb. smoked ham, 2 lbs. lean pork (ground), 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cup milk. Season to taste. A cup of tomato soup may be poured over after it is in the tin. Bake slowly 1 1/2 hours.

always Mrs. Kysor, of a deep, home-loving nature, had longed for a place to settle down, plant her garden and be at home.

Over on Rayson avenue they established this home where her soul revelled in the delights of a lovely flower garden and the quiet rusticity of the scene. Long hours of peaceful content she had reading beneath the giant maple in her front yard and glories in the restful beauty of her home.

Not alone a lover of nature, Mrs. Kysor loved people. Friendships meant much to her and were worth the effort of cultivation. Friends here say "She used to walk a long distance to share our friendship."

In affairs of the village she took an active interest, identifying herself with the Presbyterian church and the Northville Woman's club. In both of these organizations was she honored for her intelligent judgment and outstanding ability. Mrs. Kysor was a real leader in the community, and a figure of dignity.

When ill health compelled her to give up her home here she found a ready welcome with her daughter, Miss Dana, who holds the position of administrative executrix of the girls' high school of Brooklyn, Miss Kysor took her apartment so that she might minister to her mother's comfort. During the past eight months Mrs. Kysor has been confined to her bed with two special nurses in charge. Through it all she maintained her courage and cheerful faith.

On Thursday previous to her death she conversed and smiled at her six children, expressing joy in having them with her.

Accompanied by three children the remains were borne to the home of her youth in Hornell, near Buffalo, where the funeral service was held Thursday, March 23, and she was laid to rest beside her husband.

WILLIAM PROMISES ECONOMY PROGRAM IF ELECTED APRIL 3

The following article has been contributed to The Record by loyal democratic supporters of Edward H. Williams, candidate for the office of Wayne County auditor.

"Extravagance and waste have characterized the Republican administration of the Wayne County Auditor's office," Edward H. Williams, Democratic candidate for County Auditor, charges and challenges the Republican incumbent to explain many expenditures which were exorbitant and ill-advised.

"He demanded an explanation of the expenditure of $25,102.42 for the construction of a concession stand in Elizabeth Park and the building of a palatial home with eight bathrooms and costing in excess of $50,000 for the Superintendent of the Wayne County Training School, at Northville, both of which he declared were out of all proportion to the uses for which they were intended.

"How is it that the architect which the county favored for many years neglected to include plumbing equipment in the sheriff's residence, which is a part of the new county jail and caused to be expended after the jail was completed, $46,641.46 to install necessary sanitary fixtures?"

"Why is it that it cost the people of Wayne county $92,500.79 to repair the floors of the county building when the cost of the materials involved totaled but $7,972.72? There is a spread here of some $84,000 which has never been properly explained to the taxpayers. On top of these evidences of waste and extravagance why did the Republican aud-

Do State's Needy Need 'Holiday?' Institutions Save; O'Brien Spends

STATE SENATE LEADING CANDIDATE FOR JOB IN THE "SLOW MOTION" MOVIES

By S. L. Marshall
(Editor of Clinton County Republican News.)

"Cut $50,000 out of your budget." That was the import of a letter received by the Board of Trustees of Howell Sanatorium. It came from Senator Henry Glasner, of Charlotte, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. It came after the board had spent hours rummaging here, cutting there, and eliminating this and that.

It was a discouraging prospect for men who serve the state without a cent of pay. Three of these men are outstanding specialists in tubercular work. We refer to Dr. E. J. O'Brien, famous Detroit surgeon; Dr. Chadwick, brought from the East to head Detroit's Herman Kiefer Sanatorium; and Dr. Vanderslice of Lansing. It was a discouraging outlook for 480 tubercular patients.

Already the costs at the Howell institution are among the lowest in the whole United States. The average salary of the 211 people employed is exactly $663.37 a year (about $55 a month)—that includes doctors, nurses and on down to the scrub women.

There seemed to be but one solution to Senator Glasner's demand. That was to close the children's wing, send 80 TUBERCULAR CHILDREN AWAY. The Board debated the matter.

The Board wanted economy, but they didn't have the heart to TURN OUT THE CHILDREN. Also there are 400 adults living in beds at Howell. Some of them are mothers and fathers.

Economy! Economy at ANY PRICE! Let's see how some of the new departments at Lansing are saving the taxpayer's money. Let's take a peek into the Attorney General's department and examine the pay roll.

Here are some figures:
Payroll for first 16 days of March, 1935 (Dem.) $5,280.04
Payroll for last 16 days of Dec., 1932 (Rep.) $3,809.96
Increase under Attorney General O'Brien $1,470.08

That isn't much. No, not for 16 days, but multiply it by 24 pay days in a year and you have an increase in this department of $35,281.92.

Add to it the $4,000 salary that Gov. Constock feels it necessary to pay his Special Attorney Ferris, and add to it the $4,000 salary for Attorney Young on the Public Debt Commission and you have a total increased cost of the State of Michigan's legislators.

Here we have a true picture," he said, "of the condition of affairs in county government. Here it is shown, despite three years of the worst depression this city and county have ever experienced the cost of government kept increasing and your republican administrators of the county auditor's office gaily went on their way until the figure of government constantly increased by millions of dollars.

Control of County Government must be taken out of the hands of the present political bosses and returned to the people," said Mr. Williams.

In 1918, just fifteen years ago, he said, the cost of county government was but $2,105,684. Today, the cost is $19,500,000. In other words, he stated, in a period of 15 years the cost of county government increased until it is ten times what it was then and in 1929, the cost of government increased $3,435,682.

In 1930 another $2,500,000 was added, he said, and in 1931 the increase was a quarter of a million, but in 1932, $2,000,000 more was added bringing the cost to the astounding total today of $19,500,000.

Several weeks ago a bill providing for the election of delegates on April 3, was introduced in the legislature by Senator Adolph Heidkamp of Lake Linden. This bill was passed.

The Heidkamp act provides that one delegate to the ratification convention be elected from each district which elects a member of the House of Representatives. To make sure that voters have an opportunity of clearly expressing their views the Heidkamp act required county officials to nominate two delegates for each district.

One of the delegates is pledged to vote for ratification of the new amendment. The other delegate is pledged to vote against ratification. Under this system, voters have an opportunity of expressing their views as the convention to be held in Lansing April 10, will vote in accordance with the results of the election. Whether Michigan will ratify or reject the proposed amendment, can be determined as soon as the ballots are counted April 3.

Under the law, the ratification ballot will be separate from the ballots containing the names of candidates for state and local offices.

al advice of $43,281.92 for a year. Is this economy? Is this why $50,000 must be lopped off the care of 480 tubercular patients at the Howell Sanatorium?

Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, suggested to the Administrative Board that a surplus of army clothes be taken to the needy people in the Upper Peninsula in state highway trucks. The suggestion was made at the meeting Tuesday, March 14.

That sounded sensible. There were underclothes, overcoats, suits and shoes—old to be sure—but warm. Why not give them to poor people who needed them? Fine. Everything was set. Senator Doyle, of Menominee, and Senator Dehman, of Marquette, were interested in this.

But was the clothing sent up promptly? It was not.

Why? Bill Carpenter, state welfare director, suggested that he was the proper person to transport that clothing. It might reflect some political credit on Mr. Dillman's candidacy if state highway trucks carried the clothing.

Result? Delay! Needy people suffering in cold weather. Reason? Politics.

No state officer, be he republican or democrat, was ever more strictly honest or more uncompromisingly square than Grover C. Dillman. No engineer, draftsman or other employee of this department was asked if he were a democrat or republican when he applied for a job.

If he could do the work he was hired to do, fine. If he failed, or if he was guilty of unbecoming conduct, he was FIRED. If he showed outstanding ability, he was promoted. That's Dillman's way of doing things.

During 1931-32 the State Highway Department under Mr. Dillman paid $12,000,000 to Michigan workmen and relieved counties of welfare relief and saved poor funds from bankruptcy.

This year, 1932-33, the Highway Department is distributing $18,000,000 highway and P. C. funds throughout Michigan—the only source of income that thousands of needy Michigan families have.

Yet, in the face of these facts, Mr. Dillman's opponent is accusing him of extravagance. His opponent says he would declare a "road holiday."

That word holiday is getting to be too darn popular, it seems to us. We have had a bank holiday.

This proposed "road holiday" by the democratic candidate would mean about the same thing to thousands of Michigan's poor that the bank holiday meant to most of us.

"Here we have a true picture," he said, "of the condition of affairs in county government. Here it is shown, despite three years of the worst depression this city and county have ever experienced the cost of government kept increasing and your republican administrators of the county auditor's office gaily went on their way until the figure of government constantly increased by millions of dollars.

We mentioned the State Senate last week.

It is still there.

It emends us of a fat first baseman who used to play on a St. Johns baseball team. One of the little kids at a game with Belding one day yelled, "Hey, you run too long in one place."

Leut. Gov. Stebbins discovered that a bill had not been in the Senate the required five days after the roll was half called the other day. Just a little oversight. "Just strike out all reference to the vote from the record," he instructed the clerk.

One member of the House says that he heard the employees in the stock room at the state garage have been increased from one to nine. This will be investigated. The facts will come out.

The state garage is a sort of "quarantine" for job-seekers who must be hired for political reasons, we are told. Later we'll cover it and its "quarantine" environment.

Gov. Constock came to Howell Sanatorium Wednesday evening, March 22. He looked over the institution, visited a number of patients. When confronted with the problem the Board had considered of cutting $50,000 from the budget, he shook his head. "We can't send these people back home to endanger the lives of others," he said. "That isn't economy."

The governor took dinner with the board that evening.

Dr. O'Brien, the famous Detroit surgeon, and the winter had seats directly across the table from the governor. For an hour we talked about everything—banks, banking, conservators, welfare, deficits, and what have you.

The governor is easy to visit with. He talks interestingly and listens carefully. He has a world of everyday commonsense. We believe he is entirely honest.

One thing he said that particularly interested us.

"We must get rid of this present Constitution of Michigan," he said, and then added "You know today Michigan cannot borrow money unless we go to the people and they vote on it."

We wondered how Clinton county taxpayers would like to give the legislature power to borrow money and bond the state without first having a chance to vote.

Not on your nifty, Governor! Lurking in the background is that "reapportionment" skeleton, too. Change the Constitution so that Wayne, Oakland, Genesee would have a majority vote in the legislature?

Not in a thousand years.

How long would it be before the entire State of Michigan would be bankrupt as are some of these counties today?

Treasurer's Report For 1st Semester Shows Balance Of $29.32

The financial report of the student council for the first semester, beginning October 1, 1932 and continuing until February 10, was issued last Wednesday, March 22 by the treasurer, Gertrude Deal, showing a balance of $29.32 on hand.

The report, which was read and explained before the assembly by Principal R. H. Ahernman, was checked and the council books audited by Charlotte Lester and Ronald Beasley, of the commercial department of the high school. They expressed themselves as follows:

We, the undersigned, audited the books and financial statement of student council, as submitted by Gertrude Deal, treasurer, on the 22nd day of March, 1933, and found them to be accurate.

Ronald Beasley, C. E. Lester, All in all school officials, both student and faculty, regard the report favorably. As the treasurer, Miss Deal, put it, "in times like these, we cannot expect to make much profit. In fact, we are very fortunate not to be in debt."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

What would you do to raise money if you were on the baseball committee commissioned to make fifty dollars? Here are the opinions of a few of our future financiers:

Catherine McKenna, Junior—I'd drop off the committee.

Paul Baldwin—Dances would get more support from the student body than anything else.

Harold McCardle, Senior—I believe dances would attract more people than anything else.

Foster Bacon, Junior—I believe money could be made by a carnival. They are unusual and lots of fun.

Miriam Dundas, Senior—I believe they should have something that appeals most to the students, and that is dances.

Keneth Eichen, Junior President—Bake sales are something on which it is almost impossible to lose. The profit is not very large but every little bit counts.

'ROUND THE SCHOOL

The Council's Selection of a Manager

The position of athletic manager should be reserved for a person who will not have another chance, to otherwise earn a letter and who will earnestly and faithfully carry out his duties none too light. It is an important position, and the student filling it should be selected with the utmost care.

We are reluctant to admit that a recent student council election of athletic manager was carried off seemingly without any regard to the qualifications of the candidates.

The majority of students and faculty members are unanimous in their opinion that at least one of every pair of managers should be a senior, especially when one wants the job.

And even those who do not agree admit that the guiding hand of a senior is always very helpful.

In the above-mentioned election, two seniors were contesting for the position, both boys who had not yet earned their "N" and who could be relied upon to carry their important tasks. In spite of this however, the council selected two sophomores, one of whom had already been given a chance as manager and failed. The election was carried on regardless of merit and it is to which we and a great many other students object.

And that is just as strange as this unwise selection of managers is the fact that senior members of the council who when it is also for the good of the school, are supposed to act in behalf of their class, failed to support these capable and deserving twelfth graders.

Many students in voicing their displeasure at this selection by their representatives, say that they are not done with the matter yet. And who knows, maybe they aren't. A system of government in which the wish of the electorate is not carried out, as hardly representative, whether it be student councils or congresses.

Ruggles Leaves

Today is the last day that Coach Harold L. Ruggles will be a teacher in the Northville high school. His resignation, accepted by the board some weeks ago, goes into effect today.

morning. We look upon his departure as the loss of a good coach and a good friend.

During his three years at Northville Coach Ruggles has initiated many improvements among them the forming of the N-Club and the new suburban league. He has also been capable headed the Teachers' Association during his two years of teaching. As far as athletics are concerned, he has had many victories and defeats. The victories of his teams have been hard fought, and many of his defeats resulted from bad luck which unfortunately seemed to follow him, especially on the gridiron.

While the director of athletics at Northville, he strove for playing the game hard, but clean. He endeavored to show no partiality and played no favorites.

Now that he has deemed it necessary to enter another field, we wish "Rug" all the luck in the world.

Our recent Japanese speaker says the girls in this country neither kiss nor chew gum. All of which undoubtedly saves them from catching colds and getting kicked out of classes.

Our ambition is to be a principal and attend dinners given for football and basketball teams. One we know, even got himself invited to the girls' banquet.

Not much comment was heard on the five-cent charge for Palladium pictures, as money, compared to publicity, means nothing to some people.

We doubt even Eddie Cantor when he says students will have good report cards when he's in Washington. But then, he is a comedian.

Last week's edition did not surprise us as we always suspected senior presidents and golf captains as being "a little off."

As a news item says U. S. senators throw paper wads at a job.

Who is this Bob Poyer person anyway?

Divisions Of Palladium Staff Have Argument Over Whose Department Will Make Book Most Interesting

The popularity contest, the photograph page, and the joke section will be the most interesting features of the Palladium, say those in charge of those items. The remainder of the staff hardly agree to this, as they say that their departments are just as good, but statements from the three divisions are given below.

The popularity contest which is to be an exceptional feature of the Palladium this year will have its plans in detail disclosed before the assembly Wednesday.

The next activity of this baseball committee will be the sale of season tickets, which will be put on next week.

As the Orange and Black went to press, it was not known whether or not the committee would have the required $60 by tomorrow, April 1.

Senior's Who's Who

Walter Irvin Ware

Walter Irvin Ware, better known as "Irv," was born in Northville on the memorable day of Feb. 6, 1914. He has attended the Northville schools all of his school days.

Irvin is the president of the "N" club, earning this honor and also his letter by participating in football, basketball track and baseball.

His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

He hasn't made any definite plans about what he will do and perhaps will take a post-graduate course.

"The snapshots," says the assistant editor, Peggy Blake, "must be in by Monday, April 3. Many have already been turned in and promise to make an interesting page for the annual."

"Even though the editor wants the story about the three Irishmen in the Palladium," says Joke Editor Richard Shupler. "These will be on various members of the school and faculty and whether they, personally, will laugh or not, we can't say."

This week, since Easter vacation has begun in several of the colleges, many alumni of Northville have been revisiting the high school. They have attended classes and taken an active interest in the work going on there.

Miss Gladys Ludwig, a graduate of '29, says, "I see many changes and improvements in the school."

Those who had not been absent so long stated that not much difference was apparent, and that it was still the "good old place" they had known.

TROPHIES AWARDED TO COURT WINNERS

As a part of the assembly program last Wednesday, the trophies were awarded to the winners of the boys' and girls' intramural basketball tournament.

The senior team won in the boys' tournament and the sophomores in the girls'.

The trophies, silver cups, were awarded by Principal Ahernman to Louis Campbell and Donna Ferguson. Louis was manager of the winning team, Captain Harold McCardle being absent, and Donna, the captain of hers.

STUDENT COUNCIL ARGUES STATUS OF BASEBALL MANAGER

Defended By Latta; Decide To Sell Season Tickets For 25 Cents

Mayor Robert Christensen spoke to the council, Tuesday afternoon, saying that he had heard much criticism on the recent selection of Tony Bongiavonni as baseball manager.

Every council member said they had heard similar objections voiced by various members of the school. At this point a spirited defense of Tony was made by Senior Representative Howard Latta. On his conclusion, he made a motion that Tony be continued in his present capacity as baseball manager. This was seconded and passed.

The criticism on the part of students appeared to be provoked by the fact that Tony had already been manager for a time of the basketball team and that two able seniors, Richard Nash and Jack Harper, were also contesting. These boys, the council's critics argue, will never have another chance to earn a letter, while the present managers will.

The other manager, Spencer Van Valkenburg, who like his present colleague is a sophomore.

After a report on the activities of the baseball committee by Kohler, in which he said he was not certain of the amount already taken in by the baseball fund, the council moved to have 150 season baseball tickets printed. These will cost 25 cents for students and 40 cents for town-people. The gate price will be 15 cents for all adults and students above the fifth grade. Below the fifth, the charge will be five cents and there will be no season tickets sold.

The council also agreed that the school was not responsible for a sweat shirt belonging to Eddie Bender, torn during football practice, and therefore could not pay for it.

Editor's note: The above description of the N-Club banquet was written before the event occurred, according to the program planned. If there is any slip in the schedule it will be explained next week.

GRADE NOTES

Friday afternoon Miss Leonard, son's I-A's had a surprise program in the gym as a reward for keeping their books clean last semester.

Among the features were piano solos, two dramatizations of stories, a comic book match, a tap dance, a jollaby and other solos. This grade won the second P. T. A. prize for having the second largest number of parents at the meeting.

Herbert Brown from Detroit is a new boy in Miss Jarvis' grade.

In Mrs. Congo's grade they held a practice speeddown and Marilyn Cavell was winner. Billy Widmer and Marilyn Cavell are captains for the next one.

Margaret Williams was the winner of the practice speeddown in Miss Hawkins' sixth grade.

The following children in Mrs. Eaton's kindergarten have not been absent during the month of March: Margaret Elting, Peggy Ely, Perry Graham, Jane Ann Lanning, Shirley Lyke, Eleanor Mitchell, Shirley Sheller, Betty Snow, Linwood Snow and John Stark.

MERLE FRASER IS AUTHOR OF POEM

Who knows but some day Northville may point with pride to a "rising young poet" who as a junior attending the public schools, Merle Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fraser, North Rogers is the author of these lines and the Record is always glad to encourage budding genius by printing contributions.

Two Friends

Two friends have parted on pathways of life,
Two friends are going through bitterest strife.

The world holds nothing for them but decay,
But yet they go on their bitterest way.

Our life on earth is not lightly taken,
If it is, we are badly mistaken.

Though I have not lived long through poverty
And strife, my heart doth beat with sympathy

For those who are wandering by the way
And forgetting God in prosperity

God shall have his way in this drastic world,
Soon his golden banner shall be unfurled.

These two friends shall be united again,
And live in prosperity to the end.

N-CLUB BANQUET THURSDAY IS A FINE SUCCESS

Ruggles Makes "Farewell Address," Newman Is Interviewed

Over 60 boys, accompanied by their fathers and friends, enjoyed the second annual N-Club banquet held in the gymnasium Thursday night.

Following a splendid meal prepared by mothers of N-Club members, the toastmaster, Orlow G. Owen, introduced the speakers, including many exceedingly humorous anecdotes. Supt. T. J. Knapp gave a short talk after which came a solo by Perry Canyon.

Principal R. H. Ahernman then spoke a few words and was followed by Elmer Reed and Wayne Keller, who playing the violin and baritone furnished the music for the evening.

Coach Harold L. Ruggles, who leaves Northville Saturday, April 1, then delivered his farewell address. Mr. Ruggles told how he enjoyed working with the boys and expressed appreciation for all the friendships he had made during his three years at Northville. He said he was sorry to leave.

Following the coach, came short talks by each of the captains-elect. These include Nelson C. Schrader, Jr., football; Paul Baldwin, basketball; Louis Campbell, golf; co-captains Leo Kohler and Darrell Bullock, baseball; and Albert Vradenburg, track.

Then came the main event of the evening, an interview with Harry Newman by "Ad" Schwenger of the Northville Record. Mr. Schwenger asked the All-American quarter back such questions as: "What is your age? Your weight? Prospects for next year's team?" etc. These and many other questions suggested by the diners themselves, ended up the evening in an extremely interesting fashion.

Editor's note: The above description of the N-Club banquet was written before the event occurred, according to the program planned. If there is any slip in the schedule it will be explained next week.

HENRY HOFFMAN HAS OPERATION

Due to the injury of a muscle in his abdomen, Henry Hoffman was taken on Tuesday to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor for an operation which was performed yesterday.

This injury, which was received during one of the numerous games in which Henry played as right forward, though painful, was not at the time considered serious. Later, however, it was found necessary to have the operation.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman, expect Henry to return some time next week.

MRS. SCHOULTZ HAS GAS STOLEN FROM PARKED CAR

After the ladies' gymnasium class was dismissed Monday night, Mrs. Charles Schoultz got in a car, which was parked in front of the school building, and drove away. Before she had gone far she heard a peculiar rattling sound. Upon investigating, a siphon was discovered dangling from the gasoline tank. Practically all of the fuel had been drained out.

BASEBALL SQUAD HAS FIRST WORK-OUT IN THE OPEN

Little, Bray, Latta, Kohler, And Hartner Are Out For Battery Positions

Actual outside practice in baseball began Tuesday when the boys took to the open spaces behind the high school for a short workout.

They have been working in the gymnasium but practice has been hampered to a great extent. All have been anxiously waiting for the time when the weather would permit outside practice. The players showed much enthusiasm and the ball was hurled back and forth unimpeded by muscles.

Those who have turned out for baseball are: Eddie Bender, Darrell Bullock, David Martin, Warner Neal, Harold Myers, Norwood Dickinson, Earl Rosgate, Clowdy Myers, Dayton Deal, Raymond Westphal, Joe Little, Donald Bray, Howard Latta, Leo Kohler, Herman Hartner, Irvin Marjester.

Those above have not made known what position they will try out and the position of the battery which includes Joe Latta, Donald Bray, and Howard Latta, Frank Potter, and Leo Kohler, and Herman Hartner trying for catcher.

Coach Thompson states, "We have some very promising material this year in addition to those who have returned from last year. Last year it will be remembered, Northville received second place in the league championship, losing first place by one game. This year Northville should be able to do as well or better."

Thursday the golf candidates were expected to have an elimination match which would determine the four members to represent Northville in golf this year. Three of the last year members have reported again this year, plus a number of new golfers.

SENIOR ALGEBRA REVIEW HELD; SOME EXCUSED

The senior review test in algebra was held last Friday, March 24, under the direction of Paul B. Thompson, and resulted in the passing of about 15 boys and one girl. The girls were Blanche Tomaszewski.

Word was given out by the Superintendent's office to the effect that commercial students and those who will not use it after graduation, will not be required to continue in the class. The same will hold true for the geometry test, to be given soon, which will be taken only by those who will later use it.

Senior review tests in English and Arithmetic will be held today, authorities said. No one will be excused from them. No test will be given in history.

The system used is that all students who do not pass the first test, must take the class until they are able to pass similar tests.

TEACHERS GIVE A FAREWELL PARTY FOR THE RUGGLES

The Teacher's club entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Ruggles at a farewell party Wednesday night at the home of Supt. and Mrs. T. J. Knapp. Coach Ruggles leaves the school today.

Following a delicious dinner prepared by a committee of teachers, headed by Mrs. May Babbit, Supt. Knapp, speaking for the Northville faculty, gave farewell to Mr. Ruggles. He spoke of the many friendships and said he was sorry to see Coach Ruggles leave.

After several games and puzzles, the teachers said good-bye to the Ruggles and the party ended.

GROUP PICTURES FOR PALLADIUM TAKEN TUESDAY

Photographer, Faculty, and Grades Tend to Disrupt Schedule

Amid hurried hustle and bustle, the group pictures for the Palladium were taken Tuesday.

The carefully planned schedule starting at nine o'clock, was thrown off at the start when the photographer was 45 minutes late. The three groups were worked in however before the day ended.

The next hitch in the plans came when the faculty "baked" at having their picture taken without all being present. One teacher preferred not to be included in the group and another phoned in that she could not be there.

The teachers, speaking through their superintendent, T. J. Knapp, indicated a preference to wait until all could be included. The picture was postponed until the afternoon, further "bawling up" the program. The editor of the Palladium said, "Finally however, the picture was taken, with all present except Rev. P. N. Miner, whose absence was not noted until after the picture was taken."

The seventh and eighth grades, who had their pictures taken together, presented a hard nut to crack but we finally got them quiet, and officials in charge of the group pictures, "the work for the day ended" with the orchestra picture at four o'clock. The photographer used up his last film.

Each student having his picture taken paid five cents to Miss Peggy Blake, assistant editor. Besides the editor, Wilma Hattenbury, senior reporter, was on the job as stenographer. Various others also assisted.

The staff, however, appeared to be pleased with the conduct and attitude both teachers and faculty members as a whole.

Worth the Money

A newly married couple and friend were traveling by train, when they were suddenly plunged into the darkness of a tunnel. There was no light in the car and when they abruptly returned to daylight the bride and the bridegroom were caught kissing furtively.

The friend was embarrassed. He said the first thing that came into his head: "That—ah—the tunnel cost two million dollars!"

The bridegroom nodded his head wisely. "Well," he said judiciously, "was worth it" wall, and a hat rack made of a small tree. In spite of its mammoth size the living room is a study in coziness. Lining its walls, which are made of smoothly planed knotted-pine, are the heads and skins of various animals, pictures of western life, Mexican curios and other objects of great interest. The floor, made of random-width oak, is partially covered by Mexican rugs. Wooden pegs, instead of nails, were used in the floor. Huge rafters support the roof.

On the south side of the room is the fireplace, which rises in a solid mass of stone, 12 feet across from floor to ceiling. Thirty tons of stone were required to finish this colossal piece of masonry. A unique feature of this fireplace is the heatolator which draws the cold air from the floor, heats it and sends it forth again laden with warmth.

In the center of this fireplace looms the gigantic head of a moose, its antlers four feet from tip to tip and spreading like palm fronds. Two old muskets point downward toward the hearth.

In the center of the room, suspended from the ceiling, hangs a chandelier made of an old wagon wheel. On the floor of this old wheel rest six oil lamps which have been converted into electric lights by placing bulbs within their chimneys or globes.

Throughout the spacious room are comfortable chairs and lounges, and mounted birds and smaller animals are placed with unusual effectiveness. A radio and a piano add to the aspect of comfort.

Out on the grounds several of the old western buggies have been placed for effect. Among them are the "Democrat" once a familiar vehicle in the West, and two covered wagons. There is also a cutter in this group.

To provide adequate sanitation a septic tank has been installed and the water pump insures a plentiful supply of the clear spring water to be found so abundantly in this region. Although a well 100 feet deep was dug in the search for water it immediately rose to a level of 90 feet and six inches and has remained there ever since. Springs are known to abound on the ranch grounds.

Birds will be encouraged to make their homes about the ranch said Superintendent, Denton, and grain will be scattered freely.

BAND ENTERTAINS AUDIENCE OF 400 IN FINE PROGRAM

About 400 music lovers and critics gathered in the high school gym last Friday night to hear the concert given by the school and community band, assisted by the capella choir and Pierre Kenyon.

A few minutes after eight the band members took their places, looking slick and smart in their uniforms and opened their program with "On the Quarter Deck," "Princess of India" and "The Bells of Saint Mary's," under the leadership of Director Edward Head.

Continuing with their program they played "Cooland" and the serenade "O Sol Mio," with Mr. Head playing the obligato on the cornet in his own inimitable style.

Following this they played the lively rhythmic waltz, "Straussiana." Next came the capella choir under the direction of Leslie G. Lee with two numbers, "Tannhauser," from the Plegm's Chorus and "The Reavers' Resound," by Beethoven.

The choir has already established itself as an organization of unusual musical merit and the phrasing and shading of these numbers with such fine feeling and emotion were well brought-out under the artistic direction of Mr. Lee.

The band then finished their program with three numbers, among the best being "Scenes from Opera-land," and "Blossom Time," which displayed their skill and ability, especially in the last number.

All through the program of band numbers there was plenty of evidence of the intensive training and precise work of Director Head.

During the program Pierre Kenyon sang as he always does in his enjoyable way and generously responded when the audience asked for more. His sister, Mrs. S. W. Ambler, accompanied him at the piano.

Assisting Mr. Head in directing the band were his two sons, Gladney and Sam.

To Manager F. W. Lyke a word of praise and appreciation must go for all the time and effort he gives to the band.

BAPTISTS HOLD SUPPER FOR 28 BOYS AND GIRLS

Last Monday night, 28 boys and girls greeted the pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, for a fellowship supper and teaching in the doctrine of the church.

Next Monday evening the subject will be the third in the series, viz: "The Church's Work." This topic will include the subject of Missions. Great interest in the part of these young people is shown. The fellowship song and prayer around the table has been most helpful. Last Monday, the hosts were, Madames Barbour, Larson and Beuthen and Messrs. Beuthen and Safford.

The Call of the Cross

The entire Lenten season comes to us with a stirring appeal—the call of the Cross.

The call of the Cross was first answered by Christ. The whole passion story is the record of His response. See Him finally affixed to the accursed tree; behold the agonies of death; hear the cry, "It is finished," echoing down the ages and know that Christ thus atoned for our guilt.

The call of the Cross comes to us, forever a summons to our faith and devotion. Like a mighty magnet it draws us to Him by whose stripes we are healed. The call of the Cross is always a call to be no more our own, but Christ's self-renewed men, always a charge to bring men into abiding relationship with Him who hangs thereon.

All down through the centuries, in this blessed season—changeless, misty and strong, is the call of the Cross.

The regular hour for worship and Sunday school is 10 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening, 7:30 the last mid-week Lenten service will be held. Theme of discourse: "Jesus manifests His redeeming Love to the dying sinner."

On Palm Sunday, April 9th, children will be received into communion membership by the act of confirmation. In connection with this service the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. Announcement for the Sacrament to be made at the parsonage on Thursday, April 8th.

Catechism instruction this Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

The church board will meet on April 7th at 8 o'clock.

The quarterly meeting of the elders will be held on Monday evening, April 10th at 8 o'clock.

Our Good Friday service will be held on said day at 7:30 p.m.

The half hour of Faith and Fellowship is broadcast every Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 2 o'clock over station WXYZ.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us: "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world."

Baptist Church

Services next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. for morning worship and 11:45 a. m. for church (or Sunday) school and at 7:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church for the union meeting.

Last Monday evening 28 boys and girls again listened to the pastor's instruction in Christian doctrine.

Tuesday evening the advisory board advised the adoption of the schedule for community services, such as baccalaureate services, Good Friday services, etc., as adopted and arranged by the Northville Council of churches. Other matters of routine and special interest were discussed.

The group meetings as arranged last week at church-night were held at three homes. W. J. Beuthen, W. B. Horsfall and Mrs. Earl Montgomery.

A pot-luck supper at 6:30 started the evening and discussions were led by Leon Safford, W. J. Beuthen and L. Q. Carman.

Methodist Church

Rev. Frank N. Miner, Pastor

Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and the Sunday school at 12:00 noon and the young people's devotional meeting at 6:30 p. m.

The pastor preaches Sunday morning and the sermon will be appropriate to the pre-Easter season.

The union evening service this week is at the Presbyterian church at 7:30 and Methodist members and friends are earnestly invited to attend.

The service league will meet next Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Raymond Watts, 214 North Wing street.

The next Communion service will be Thursday evening, preceding Good Friday, at 7:45 o'clock, April 13. It is hoped that all members of the church will reserve this date for this service.

The Good Friday service will be held in the Methodist church from 1:30 to 3:00 p. m. The service will be in charge of the pastor of the three co-operating churches.

The Easter pageant will be on Easter Sunday evening at the Methodist church. Leaders and participants from the three co-operating churches are now preparing the pageant, which is entitled "Golgotha."

Church of Our Lady of Victory

Twenty-four children will "preach" the sermon at both Masses next Sunday. They will answer questions on what the Mass really is.

Confessions will be heard this week-end on Friday evening after the devotions, on Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock, and Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:00. They will NOT be heard this Saturday evening.

BAND REACHES ITS SIXTH BIRTHDAY

The band was fortunate in obtaining such an able leader as Edwin C. Head, to direct during its whole career. "In rain or shine," said Mr. Langfield in recalling the early history of the band, "Mr. Head came out from Redford to teach these youngsters, none of whom could play an instrument, how to play. He put his whole heart and soul into this work."

Practice began in April, and so great was the progress made that when Mr. Langfield returned from a three months tour of Europe that summer he was greeted by a wonderful serenade. "I was astonished with the way they played," he said.

Tom Carrington and his Altman were the youngest players of the group, being only seven years old. Charles, Tom's brother is now a member of the U. of M. band, and Ida is regarded as an expert drummer. Others who received their first musical training in the organization have become associated with other bands and orchestras.

When Mr. Langfield resigned from the school board two years after the band got under way, his place was taken by Ernest Miller who, during his one year in office, continued the work with intense interest. He was succeeded by Fred W. Lyke, who has been with the band ever since.

The Northville band has played in several nearby towns, and has two tips to its credit. One was acquired in a Detroit competitive concert and the other at Redford; both were won in 1931.

WALLED LAKE CHOIR PLANS SPECIAL MUSIC FOR EASTER SEASON

The regular monthly vesper service of the Walled Lake Methodist church will be postponed from Sunday, April 2, to a tentative date of April 9, which is Palm Sunday.

A program of music will be provided, as well as a special speaker who will give an address appropriate to Palm Sunday and Holy Week.

Accompaniment at face your problems with a new faith and a new courage.

At 1:00 o'clock on Saturday, April 1, the children will meet at the church, when Mrs. Olaf and Miss Nelson will give them their parts for the Easter program. The young people will meet to sing at 2:00 o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

The Detroit Presbyterian meeting will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4 and 5 in Westminster Presbyterian church, Detroit, corner of Hamilton avenue and Glyn St. Luncheon will be served for 20 cents. Reservations must be in by Saturday, April 1.

Salem Congregational Church

Rev. Lydia M. Strick, Minister

Services next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sermon subject will be "The Beatitudes in the Book of Revelations." Sunday school follows divine worship. Mrs. Nellie Corwin will entertain the "Silver Tea" Wednesday afternoon at her home at Seven mile road from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kehrl in Salem.

The Ladies' Auxiliary society will give a delicious "ham and egg" supper in the Town hall next Friday, April 7th. Serving will begin at 6:00 p. m. All are most cordially invited. An Easter bazaar will also be held and most useful articles sold.

Salem Federated Church

"The Day of Christ" will be the theme for the worship service at 10:30 o'clock on April 2.

Bible school commences at 11:45, and we continue our study of Mark's gospel with a lesson in world friendship. Memorize the golden text: "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold; then also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." John 10:16.
