Crowds Throng Northville Churches Easter, and Glory of Resurrection Makes a Spirit of Glad Worship

Standing out impressively in the religious calendar of each year is the period of Lent, with its Palm Sunday, Passion Week with its Good Friday's hours of sorrow, followed by significant Easter with its glad songs of "Alleluia" which came as a joyful contrast to the previous days of sad memories.

The service of Our Lady of the Victory was marked with the glad songs of "Alleluia" which came as a joyful contrast to the previous days of sad memories.

The Rev. Leo Eckstedt proclaimed Easter as a "day of thanksgiving" and a note of triumph was evident throughout his service.

The Rev. Harold G. Whitfield in his thoughtful sermon on this occasion dwelt upon the people. "The Power of His Resurrection," emphasizing the impressiveness of power itself and thus to more fully comprehend the significance of the word when associated with "His Name."

An added impressive feature of the day was the reception into the church of thirty-two persons, who made profession of faith or were received on certificate from other churches.

At the previous Sunday service, April 16, the parents of six children presented them to receive baptism.

At this service, Dr. B. H. Douglas, recently chosen to the ruling elder'ship was ordained and installed.

At the Baptist church an impressive service was held by the pastor, Rev. Wm. Roscoe Barbour, followed by the baptism of several members.

At the Methodist church a brief memorial service prefaced the regular morning service when Easter lilies and other spring flowers were evidence of the loving thought for those departed.

A SENSE OF HUMOR

These are still good days to see the bright side. Now is a glorious time to have a sense of humor and brighten the pathway for someone who is just a little worse off than we are. There is one man who comes to our office once-in-awhile who has had about all the bumps a man could have and still keep out of the hospital and jail and yet he always comes in with a smile and goes out the same way. If you feel like kicking the dog, don't do it but see if you can't see the funny side of your troubles.

MAYOR MURPHY GOES AWAY

Mayor Frank Murphy will leave the financial troubles of Detroit far behind him and soon go to the Philippines to be the governor general for those dark skinned people. It is a high honor.

We like Mayor Murphy for his qualities of idealism. He is a devout Christian who reads his Bible every day, we are told, and who has a real human sympathy for his fellowmen. He is sincere and that means a lot when a man gets thrown in with a host of politicians and self-seekers. He has made good by his qualities of perseverance and high ideals. We must respect a man for that. We need far more idealism in public life.

Frank Murphy, so the daily papers say, does not smoke or drink. He thought that to acquire either of these habits would slow his progress toward success. It is refreshing to find a man in high office with such ideals. It would seem reasonable to think that it would make him a better public servant. He is at his best, physically, mentally and spiritually.

As Mayor Murphy goes to his new task he will be followed by the best wishes of many who never saw him but who have respected him for the ideals that are his.

THE CALL OF THE SOIL

We happened to be in Detroit one day last week and were impressed by this. The large number of people who were crowded around places selling plants and flowers. These folks were carrying away shrubs, plants and seeds.

What does all that mean? Just this: There is an inborn instinct in us all—except those who have become over-haughty—to see things grow and to watch the coming of the flowers. The average man likes to get out and feel the earth—we have always thought that the man who plows and goes around and around the field gets an infinite amount of enjoyment in watching clean earth fall over and break up into bits, ready to be made into a seed bed. We have just been out watching a man dig around bushes and wished that we had the time to do the same thing.

The people in the cities like Detroit crowd the green-houses and the stands on the streets with their potted plants and all that because they are starved for growing things. Half of these city folks, if they told you what was down deep in their hearts, would be mighty glad to get out in a community like Northville where they could plant their own garden, raise their own strawberries, pick their own lilacs and sit in the cool of the evening under the shade of their own trees.

Yes, we here in Northville are favored folk. We are near the advantages of the city, we have the privileges of the suburban town and we are next to the joys of the "good earth." Soon ten thousands of tulips, iris and other early flowers will be calling us out to a new season in the great outdoors, next to the joys that come only to those who get away from the artificial.

WHAT HAVE WE LEARNED?

Now that we are starting up after having reached bottom, most of us have begun to ask ourselves:

"Well, now that the worst is over and we have lost so much, what does life mean after all? And what we have left? And what are we going to live for now?"

Good questions.

The "social revolution," as some call it and perhaps rightly, has shown us that the mere possession of too many material things doesn't make life. Things aren't life. The rich men who had only money—and no inside resources—are now mostly very poor men.

As we start to re-build, there are still left a lot of things that we can all have. Most of us, if we have lost our homes, can plan to start and get another—and perhaps one more become adapted to our scale of living and not one built to imitate our neighbor who built too richly. Yes, with the new era that is starting, all can plan for a home—a good home. If we had been more satisfied with our comfortable homes and had not aimed at things beyond our reach we should all have avoided many of the losses of material things we have taken.

As we begin re-building we need to inventory life. We have found the chase for riches has left pretty much ashes in our hands. Why do we need to start that chase all over again? There is still left to every last one of us a simple way to live that will bring real content. If every man who had followed selfish motives and tried to make a lot of money would now turn around and use the same energy and time to serve his fellow men, he would find a new joy in living.

What have we left? About everything that is worth while. Health, character, friends, the good world around us, the laughter of children, our loved ones. The sun still shines, the rain comes down, music still is sweet and it will soon be time for the Michigan strawberry.

What are we going to live for? For the things that an economic crash can't take from us.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

Ever try going a whole day without saying a mean thing against anyone?

The Washington politicians don't like it because college professors and not they themselves are "running" President Roosevelt. Why not give the "brain trust" (the president's advisors) a chance? The politicians have messed things up pretty badly.

We showed the door Saturday to a caller who didn't know us well enough to know that we would not sit by and listen to an outburst of profanity and indecent talk. "Good for you, Mr. Baldwin," said one of our "boys." "You know," he went on, "I am a Catholic and don't swear." We had always thought very well of this young man but after he said that our respect for him went up a notch higher. There is no defense of profanity. The man with a real vocabulary doesn't need to swear and the man of refinement doesn't care.

For one full hour Sunday evening we lived again the days of our boyhood as we "told stories" to our nearly nine-year-old Phil as he went to bed. Some of them we had almost forgotten—the time we saw the fox in our farm woods; how our Uncle Joe shot the last wildcat seen in one part of Monroe county; of the narrow escape we had taking cows to pasture back in Addison, Mich., years ago when we foolishly tied the lead rope of a strong-necked cow around our boyish waist and then went wildly flying through the street as the cow took fright and ran crazily for home. And of the newspaper-carrying experiences when a harsh word from some customer stung our boyish heart for days and of how the kindly word kept a modest boy going. Well, it did us good to bathe our soul in the beautiful waters of those days that are gone forever. How far away they are! And how life has changed since! Our boyhood had no telephone, no bathtub, no automobile, no radio, no golf, no Sunday comics, no airplanes. Yet we dare say that the currents of real life ran as deeply and swiftly then as they do now in these days that we call so marvelous. Things don't make life.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you like children and dogs?

COACHES WILL NOTE

(Dr. W. H. Phelps in the Michigan Christian Advocate)

In some communities, the high school coaches wield more influence than the minister. Everybody will welcome these declarations, via the Detroit News.

David Holmes, athletic director at the College of the City of Detroit said: "Our men won't tam or beer. They may drink it if they like but not while they are members of any of our teams. Most experts on physical condition taboo beer and we will continue to do so."

Ralph Young, athletic director at Michigan State College, said: "Beer was barred at Michigan State before the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect and it will continue to be barred."

Felding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, said: "We do not consider the return of beer a problem at Michigan. If a man is not willing to give up booze for athletics, then he is no good to his team. We prohibited beer before the country went dry, while it was dry and will continue to do so. The legal return of beer will make absolutely no difference in Michigan athletics."

STOLEN OUTRIGHT

(Malcolm W. Binyay, in the Detroit Free Press)

"Long after Coughlin has passed out of the picture, the problem of the insidious radio will still be before the people."

"It steals into the home with its whispered words, coming from a man knows where. It is a voice and it is gone. There is no record. There is no permanent printed word. The poison of the demagog, of the atheist, the Communist, and the lecherous fills the air of the home and is gone, leaving its stain. Vile and suggestive songs, words of double meanings, pour forth to be subconsciously accepted. And there is no written record to prove the injury, no way of combating the evil that is done."

"One of the great problems before our civilization today is the sinister insidiousness of the radio."

U. S. People consumed 30 dozen eggs per capita in 1931.

"BRAD" SENT US THIS

C. C. Bradner, well known news-caster of The Detroit News, who was the "big" speaker at the recent American Legion community banquet here, sent the following editorial to us, clipped from The St. Cloud Sentinel of St. Cloud, Minn. It is worth reading:

The Home-Town Newspaper
The country paper is still the favorite paper with the women in the Big City, according to the questionnaire that has been answered by college women members of the Panhellenic Association, at the Panhellenic Hotel in New York City of twenty-one national fraternities.

The questionnaire showed that the novelists are right when they call New York City a big place where the small town people meet. Members of the Panhellenic Association were asked a number of questions about their favorite papers, their favorite news writers. After giving their answers to these queries they remarked that their favorite paper was still their home-town one.

One woman answered: "I read every item in the paper the family sends me because it gives me news about all the neighbors that my family never write me about. My family's weekly letter tells me the news about themselves and that's about all. The paper gives me all the facts about the friends I have known since I was knee-high."

Another successful woman in New York City wrote: "After all the news we care the most about is the news about the people that mean the most to us, and they are at home."

"AND SO IT IS"

(Robert D. Gifford in the Eaton Rapids Journal)

Many of the fellows who are making the most noise these days over the dishonest banker, rotten investments, the stock market and Wall street, are the same guys who thought everything was all right just as long as they were able to make a little easy money. It's like the man who got a corner on wheat several years ago in Chicago, when the people demanded a government investigation. On the stand he remarked: "Yes, I made four millions on wheat, but last year I lost four millions—the dear public didn't ask for an investigation when I lost money." And so it is.

Folks Thought Him Fustish

Instructor: "What was Columbus' motto?"
Sophomore: "More miles to the galleon."

One million dollars a year is spent in Hollywood to give newcomers screen tests—each test averaging about $300.

LOST 40 POUNDS ON DOCTOR'S ADVICE

"I'm a user of Kruschen Salts as a reducing remedy and can say they are fine. Have lost more than 40 lbs. in the past year. Am gradually reducing as my doctor advises." Miss Bertha Waldo, Haman, N. Dak. (October 30, 1932.)

Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides: losing ugly fat SAFELY you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes. A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

Fruit Growers — SAVE MONEY 3 Ways with NuREXFORM

1 Because of its perfect suspension qualities, every ounce put in the tanks reaches the tree. None settles to the bottom of the tank to be scraped out as waste. Waste is costly. With NuREXFORM there is no waste, therefore it saves you money.

2 NuREXFORM spreads evenly over foliage and fruit and sticks, yet the spray residue may be easily removed at harvest time. It does not clog up, leaving unprotected spaces where insects may attack. Tests have proven trees that are protected with NuREXFORM give a higher percentage of sound unblemished fruit. It prevents culls and saves you money.

3 NuREXFORM has a record of saving many hours of labor. It does not clog up nozzles and screens, thus preventing wasted time. Eliminates respraying, often necessary because of rain. NuREXFORM has extraordinary adhesive qualities.

Each year NuREXFORM wins new users and keeps old ones. The special, protective sprays are made with smooth surfaces. These stay in perfect suspension in liquid and give maximum even coverage on foliage and fruit.

By MRS. EDITOR

At the close of her annual president's address last Friday, Mrs. C. M. Chase read these verses which we know many other women will want to clip and pin up over their sinks to ponder over as they wash their dishes.

A Litany For Club Women

By Roselle Mercier Montgomery
Let there be light upon our woman's way.

Give us the vision of the newer day,
Grant us, each one, to see beyond
her door;
Attune our ears to catch, above the roar
Of life beyond the threshold, each new cry
Of anguish, need, wrung from humanity.

Oh, grant us strength and courage;
make us bold
To face and help to right the wrongs
of old;
To hold our dream, our vision, in the press
Of crowded living, turn from little-ness.

Enlarge our radius of mind and heart;
Enlighten us to play a larger part;
But grant us wisdom, in our newfound power,
To keep our womanhood the world's sweet dower.

Though further vistas beckon us today
To new paths which our daring feet essay
Though we have earth for our circumference,
Let home still hold its dear pre-
-eminence,
And be our centre. Let the hearth-
stone fire
Remain the beacon of our heart's desire!

With the approach of Mother's Day one of our readers was inspired to send in the following thoughts about motherhood. In every woman's heart her words find an echo. The writer is well equipped to write on this subject for she is not only a mother but a step-mother and a foster mother—and if she keeps on some day she will be a mother-in-law. Modesty makes her withhold her name.

We are glad to have this contribution and wish other readers would send in their own thoughts.

"Mother! Mother where are you?"
How my mind reverts to childhood at the thought of those words.

"When I ran from school and could not see her my first steps were to her room to see if 'Sunday clothes' were gone or the 'house dress' hanging there, (which was rarely the case for she was the mother of eight and very domestic) then I would think, 'Oh, I could never or would ever want to do without my mother.'"

Today countless homes are bereft of a mother's love and care and countless children wander in vain with unfulfilled longing what their mother was like.

Perhaps these reflections are what have made two words echo and re-echo in my heart and mind, "Other mother."

"What a world of comfort and satisfaction, a boy or girl could receive from some Other Mother who might take them into her heart, and also what a heart ease for some mother who has had to lose her very own."

"It is in loving, not in being loved."

The heart is bliss;
It is in giving not in receiving gifts.

We find our guest.
A thrill that money could not buy was mine upon the receipt of a card last Mother's Day entitled "Other Mother" from one who cannot remember her own mother's face.

Love is an expensive thing. It cannot be purchased with the mercenary dollar, but in it is a wealth of joy and comfort. It lifts one out of himself, is conducive to unselfish and sacrificial living, and what more could one want!

"What ever be thy longing or thy need
That do thou give;
So shalt thou soul be fed,
And thou shalt truly live."

I heard a Northville woman say—
"One fine thing about the recent campaign was that some of the men who used to have a grouse on yere so very nice and pleasant."

I work jig-saws until I have a headache and then I take an aspirin and go to it again.

Said a Northville woman who had just returned from an overland trip to another part of the state:

"After going through a great many towns on my trip I come back realizing that Northville is a pretty fine place. I did not see a small town that could compare with it for real attractiveness. So many of the houses in other towns looked dingy and lonely. Many of my visitors remark 'What a homey-looking town Northville is!'"

A new-comer to the village "We like Northville so well as a home that we have decided to settle here and get into things."

CHAS. A. DOLPH CAPTURES SPIRIT OF RURAL HILL

By Chas. A. Dolph

Fresh breezes blow softly over the dwellers in Rural Hill.

The rustling leaves and the call of the birds join with the wind in a symphony that never ceases to echo through God's acres.

The pioneers of our town have ended their strenuous journey and left the toil of making a forest home for their families.

These sons and daughters, for the most part, have ceased the day's work and they too have taken their place in the city of the dead.

Many of the grandchildren are enrolled among those who sleep away the hours after the call to cease from labor.

The march of time has even led some of the great-grandchildren to this given shadowy land.

All those generations dwell beyond that door which opens so silently and closes again without granting a glimpse of the other room of life.

As you wander along the roadways of Rural Hill, memory brings again those who once frequented the homes and streets and public places of the village and sees them transacting their affairs in stores, shops and offices. The smile, the frown and the joy of achievement are still with us.

The silent markers testify to the friendly folks that once trod the pathway with us. Resting there they hold no resentments. Their ears are quelled. Their hopes are nearer fruition. Their way leads outward to greater realms for the use of their abilities.

Viewing the beautiful location for a Remembrance City ought not the roads to be cared for? Ought the neglected spots to be left to accumulate? A little attention now as spring opens will restore Rural Hill to all the beauties that its location entitles it. Will those in charge give heed?

Mr. Schwenger's column this week sounds more like the verbal chatter of a Rubenoff than it does like ADOLPH!

Seems that Mr. Schwenger instead of answering the questions of the "Comeback" has resorted to making a "scandal sheet" of his column. Is my face red.

If we could have a lady friend in the North woods (Petoskey) maybe we could keep all that we do a secret, too.

AT RANDOM
The Northville Braves have been busy getting in condition for the coming season. They have a practice game at Salem April 23, and then on April 30 comes their annual skirmish with their old rivals, South Lyon.

Neal and Latta are on the war-path. Unforseen cooperation must be due soon or nothing but a "Battle of the Ages" can result.

Detroit doesn't seem to be there with the goods as yet this season again. Let's hope that they show some real baseball knowledge this year. We think that it is about time.

Guess they have forgotten that there is such a thing as a pennant to be won.

The 5% payment of dividend, though it sounds small, has a significant reaction upon the community. It promotes a little stauncher feeling of security, and the money released has helped in our financial uplifting.

We noticed that some of our Northville merchants are going to cooperate to the extent that they will accept Detroit scrip. This is the kind of spirit that helps the present situation. More power to these merchants.

There is a very noticeable decrease in traffic on our highways since the whole or half license has had to be purchased. It is more noticeable on the main trunk lines than in the villages.

Spring vacation is over and the school children are now back at their desks. They are looking forward to the summer vacation. Quite a few weeks lie ahead of them yet. Cheer up, students!

Spring rains are upon us. It has been a little aggravating to the "early golf bird." Lots of time later though when the sun will pour down upon our troubled heads.

Resorters are now spending their week-ends at the lakes getting their cottages and boats ready for the summer months.

The fact that tennis is one of the best recreational factors of the summer months has been overlooked in Northville, and those who wish to play must journey to Plymouth.

This being my first summer in Northville I am anxiously awaiting the time when the hills and vales of Northville are arrayed in nature's best to see if it is really as beautiful here as the natives claim.

Drop In
Well, here we are at the bottom of the page again. We are reminded of a come-thither phrase made immortal by a movie star, "Come see me sometime—that's what my time's for."

"THE COMEBACK"

Guess "Ad" must have plenty on our "Old Lady" Gossiper" at the Den. He refuses to be a contributor and help the cause of his townsmen. Ask him someday about Evla-o-o-o and the taxi service.

We wonder why Ad. is always slowing down when he comes to the Bell telephone office stairway. Maybe Mrs. Watts could answer this query for us. She says all the girls are in line and have his number.

Our "Little column" last week, no matter how humble, had its effect. Ad. was seen in the back room of the Record office with his coat off, sleeves rolled up, sweating over the task of mailing the paper.

Ask the Every Monday Morning wholesaler what he means by an "Afterglow Party." We don't think he even had a spark left.

Orlow Owen thinks we should run one article of last week's column every week. We guess it is the first time that he has had the liberty of using his desk without finding someone else in the way for some time.

Lost one of our best henchmen when Geo. Rattenbury went to Ann Arbor. Seems as though everything is against us. Even the shy little Murdock boy, at whose home I live, has joined the rebel forces.

Another one whom "Adeline" has under his wing. We wonder why?

Guess we'll have to make a special trip to Detroit to get the "inside dope" on our friend. Seems that he has a terrible hold on all the local donators.

Even though it is against myself that the tide has turned, we have been successful in our attempt to convert the "Every Monday Morning" column to something new and different. How long this meek representative of the people may be able to hold the interest of such a superior person is not known.

Mr. Schwenger's column this week sounds more like the verbal chatter of a Rubenoff than it does like ADOLPH!

Seems that Mr. Schwenger instead of answering the questions of the "Comeback" has resorted to making a "scandal sheet" of his column. Is my face red.

R. P. BENTON LIKES QUAKE EDITORIAL IN THE RECORD

The following is an interesting letter received by Chief of Police Safford from Richmond P. Benton, now of Los Angeles and formerly a resident of Northville:

April 13, 1933

Mr. William H. Safford,
Chief of Police,
Northville, Michigan.
Dear Bill:

I noticed in the Northville Record some time ago that you received a card from Arthur Brooks, formerly of Northville, from Santa Ana, California. I thought I would like to call on Art and wish you would send me his address if you have it. I was down there recently but could not find his name in the telephone book, directory, or in the gas company's office. Just wondered whether he was there for the winter or lives there permanently.

I notice that you are again appointed Chief of Police which, if my memory serves me right, you have held for a number of years with the exception of a short term.

I enjoy reading the Record which is on my desk every Monday morning when I arrive at the office. I especially enjoy the "Do You Remember?" column and the "30 and 45 Years Ago" columns. However, the news in regard to the old timers is getting rather scarce.

I am glad that you have your new bank opened and I hope that 1933 is surely the opportunity year.

I wish to congratulate the editor of your paper, Mr. Baldwin, for his editorial in last week's issue relative to our recent earthquake here. I recently made a complete survey of the whole district and I find that most of the damage was to cheaply constructed buildings. Most of our homes are built without any thought of the severe elements of the weather. Hardly any one of the one-story houses here would stand a severe windstorm of the East and our one and two story brick buildings have not been built in the past with any thought of earthquakes or wind storms. Everything is being cleaned up very rapidly in the entire area and in some business streets in Long Beach you would not know that there had been any trouble. As far as the downtown section of the City of Los Angeles, and in fact a major portion of the city, there was not any damage done whatever.

Please let me know Art's address with kindest regards and, as Kate Smith says, Hello to everybody. I am

Yours very truly,
R. P. Benton.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

(Hastings Banner)
If out-state Michigan is to prevent political control from becoming concentrated in a few populous counties such as Wayne and Genesee, there will have to be closer co-operation between out-state Republicans and Democrats; possibly a coalition. This is the consensus of opinion of a large number of editors throughout the state who realize that control by these counties really means political domination by a few bosses who are interested in either party only as a means of advancing their personal fortunes and power.

"THE VELVET HAMMER"

(Ray S. Corliss in the Parma News)
Will Rogers, popular comedian and writer, who generally classes himself as a Democrat, writes: "Some sort of handclapping is due the Republican newspapers for their generous support of the administration. This is a lesson in generosity to Democratic papers."

We submit as our entry in the meanest man contest the fellow who bought two big saw-puzzles, mixed them and sent them to his mother-in-law, who is a great fan.

And the handbill adds this note: "TERMS will be made known on the day of the sale. The auctioneer's name is D. Mordiant."

Everybody has seen an auction handbill, but who has seen one that was printed at the Northville Record in the year 1877? Not many, for this is about the only one of its kind in the state. Frank Boyle of Salem sent the old handbill to the Record office last week.

In huge block letters it heralds the fact that an auction will be held by one William F. Wilder, who "will sell at public auction at my residence on the farm of John Starks, on Base Line road, four and a half miles west of Northville, the following property on Thursday, Feb. 15th, 1877 at 10 o'clock: One pair work horses 'double harness', lumber wagon, one plow, one drag, one cultivator, one single horse, one one-horse wagon, two single harnesses, light bob sleigh, hand, cider mill, milch cow, a quantity of hay and corn and other things too numerous to mention."

Mrs. White Celebrates Birthday With Many Greetings

When the mail arrived it was heavy with piles of greetings from friends far and near. Flowers and other gifts brought their messages of love and good cheer and friends dropped in to bring personal greetings.

As a climax to the day, Mrs. White accepted the invitation of her daughter, Mrs. Dean Griswold, to a dinner when just the family entered into the festivities with Mrs. Minnie Parker of Detroit, and Mrs. Mary Yerkes of this place as additional guests. Mrs. White proved that 93 years do not prevent one from enjoying a birthday cake with candles.

The Laphams Are Welcomed Home After Sojourn in South

To celebrate their glad reunion after a long absence a party of friends had a pleasant get-together to honor the return home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Lapham who have been spending several weeks in the south. Previous to their going Mr. Lapham had passed through a serious illness so it was with double pleasure that he was welcomed back. The party met at Streng's tavern in Plymouth for dinner at six-thirty Tuesday evening and lingered visiting about varied experiences since their last meeting. Those comprising the group were the guests of honor Mr. and Mrs. Lapham, and their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stalker, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bloom.

After dinner the men enjoyed an evening together at the Taylor home while their wives attended either the Nellie Yerkes auxiliary or the service League.

A very interesting meeting of the Service League was held at the home of Mrs. John Boyd when her two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Irene Boyd and Mrs. Emma Boyd were hostesses.

Miss Ione Palmer was leader of the study period with a review of the text book, "Lady Fourth Daughter of China." Mrs. Eklaria Stalker led the devotion.

Much interest was added to the subject by a realistic reading "When We Make a Call in China" by Mrs. Miner. As the young women listened to this program they pledged their needles industriously on garments for a needy family under their care.

Refreshments were served during a social time. Guests of the League were Mrs. Chas. E. Rogers, Mrs. Bertha Neal and Mrs. Chas. T. Thornton. Several new members were welcomed to the society.

Mrs. Beryl Boyle Entertains Salem Home Economics Club

The Salem Home Economics club was entertained by Mrs. Beryl Boyle at her home on Six Mile road, Wednesday, April 12. A delightful luncheon was served to 23 members and four guests. The club was instructed to make bound buttonholes and tailored pockets. The house dresses which the members have been making for the several meetings during the winter received their final criticism. Under the careful guidance of two faithful leaders very efficient work was done.

A "dress parade" brought out much merit as each lady attributed in her new gown proudly displayed her finished product. The class chose two garments, as the most satisfactory—with a combination of suitable material and fast color—to represent the workmanship of the club on Achievement day and compete with other clubs who have enjoyed the same work. Mrs. Bender and Mrs. Rex were the accomplished seamstresses.

The final meeting of this past winter series will be held in Ann Arbor, Tuesday, April 25, at the Masonic Temple.

This is Achievement day when all club members gather there on this splendid occasion testifying to the interest and cooperation of the urban women of Washtenaw county in this extension work.

Woman's Club Holds Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

The Northville Woman's club held its final meeting of the year on Friday afternoon at the conclusion of the Good Friday services. It was voted at this meeting to postpone the club meeting next year until the following Friday if it chances to fall on the same day as this service.

Reports of the various officers and committees showed that the year had been a very successful one with a well-worked-out program of miscellaneous nature carried out, including outside speakers, drama, book reviews and discussion of civic affairs. Twenty-six meetings have been held, eleven of these open to guests.

The "pet charity" of the club has been the baby clinic which has been proven well worthwhile. Nine clinics have been held with 91 little patients examined. To this work Mrs. L. F. Busby, a trained nurse, gives her services gratis.

In her annual address the president, Mrs. C. M. Chase, reported a pleasant year "carried on with very little creaking of the wheels."

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. C. M. Chase; vice-president, Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin; recording secretary, Mrs. H. F. Wagenschultz; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Percy Angove. The new program committee for next year will be Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. L. M. Eaton, Mrs. Wilbur H. Johnston, Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Sr., and Mrs. Harold Bloom.

Delegate to the State Federation will be Mrs. Floyd Northrop with Mrs. J. H. Bolton as alternate.

Directors appointed were Mrs. B. Freydl, Mrs. Chas. Murphy, Mrs. W. H. Yerkes, Mrs. Wm. H. Stark, and Mrs. H. A. Boyden.

A rather radical change was introduced in the club arrangements when, after some discussion, it was voted to hold the club on alternate Fridays. In keeping with the times it was also decided to reduce the dues so as to prohibit no one from membership on account of financial embarrassment.

Twelve new members have added their names to the club roll. They are: Mrs. Ralph Ayers, Mrs. John S. Luccock, Mrs. Jos. Hoehl, Mrs. Pearl Conroy, Mrs. Ray Casterline, Mrs. Sam Gerald, Mrs. E. M. Starkweather, Mrs. C. B. Washburne, Mrs. Harvey Whipple, Mrs. Robert G. Yerkes, Mrs. Orlow G. Owen, and Mrs. E. W. Lester.

Feudalism to Modernism Marks Japanese Attitude

The spirit of the Japanese people tends toward extreme realism; a skeptical, "debunking" attitude has taken the place of the former estheticism and idealism. Writes Diane O'Connell in Current History.

The whole national interest is concentrated upon social and economic survival. Hitherto the highest conception of virtue in the old morality—in fact, the fabric of the whole national life—was based on filial piety, culminating in devotion to the semi-divine person of the emperor and the divine ancestors. This tends to explain the intense patriotism and loyalty of the Japanese nation.

The change from feudalism to modernism is reflected in the country's literature. A vogue for Russian proletarian and socialist literature has been sweeping over Japan, invading even the pages of the women's and general family magazines. At the same time came a wave of eroticism, and new ideas of morality have weakened the old virtues and caused much confusion.

THE LEAN DOG

As I look over this fair green earth, as I smell spring coming on, sunshine, birds—it is hard to realize that we are in the midst of cataclysm, of chaos. But walk in Detroit, talk to the majority of its people—what do they know but ended hopes, despair, suffering, ancient and honorable names ground into the mud of invective, sudden hatred of once beloved classes of upright citizens? Their brains are whirling with facts, fancies, billions of loss, frantic statistics ground out by those who are as bewildered as the ones that read them, economic theories, unemployment, taxes—it any wonder they have no time to live?

Out of all this—some good will come. People will once more be able to grasp the fundamentals of life. A great many people will stop trying to keep up with the Joneses, a great many more will listen no longer to the creed of greed—but will come once again to the forgotten status of neighbors. Life is too short to spend much time in quarreling with your fellowmen. Life in Northville is too good to lose a minute of it, too rich in friends, in ready smiles, in just living to better with those who would have us worry and figure, and curse, the so-called malefactors and tussle with gigantic theories and looms and welfare relief. To be alive on a spring day—to live in Northville—is enough. I would far rather skimp and save in Northville than starve mentally and spiritually in Detroit on five times the salary.

Years ago we had painting bees. Every one came to his neighbors with ladder and brush and his house was painted in no time at a cost of the paint, a meal and a party for the painters. Barn raising bees, too, were a sign of the good old type of neighbors. Have we lost all this? Is the hurry and worry of modern life completely submerging all cooperative spirit?

Northville itself has its problems. Northville, too, has its bond issues to carry, and it's going to carry them. But compared to most other villages its load is easy to bear. A sane, quiet development had already started, and will once more begin when the smoke has cleared away. Peace, quiet, content. Life in Northville is good.

R. C. Yerkes.

PHYSICIANS GIVE GENEROUS SERVICE

The tonsils of twelve school children were removed entirely without charge by two Northville physicians who deserve the appreciation of the community. Dr. L. W. Snow and Dr. A. A. Holcomb performed these operations at Sessions hospital where the arrangement was made that parents may meet this hospital cost by contributing labor. Many of the cases were most urgent and the general health of these children will no doubt be improved.

In June the school children will be given the benefit of the dental clinic operated under the Michigan Children's fund of the Sen. Couzens' foundation. Further announcement will be made about this.

Marked improvement in health has been noted throughout the grades since the serving of nutritious lunches has been begun during the past winter.

Many have gained not only in weight but in vitality and interest in school work. Under the capable management of Mrs. Claude Zimmerman of the Home Economics department, the enterprise has been self supporting in spite of the very low cost of lunches.

THIS WEEK

By H. H. WHITE

The other day an executive who is at the head of a large manufacturing firm that is nation wide in its scope and under normal times employs about 100,000 people throughout the United States, made this statement: "There are too many people in each occupation." This may all be true, but it seems to me that this statement was made upon the basis of a finding of an occupation that needs more people.

It is quite true and obvious that if one investigates any or all of the important occupations found in the United States he would find plenty of material and therefore good reason for thinking what the executive said in my first paragraph, and if one should ask anyone if there are too many people in whatever occupation they are in, the questioned one would immediately answer, "Yes."

But this seems a little far fetched and ridiculous, for this writer greatly doubts if any occupation would be any better served there be less people in any particular job. There has always been and will be the serious problem of unemployment. It even existed when the population of this country was smaller. It seems incredible to think the situation would be any better if we had only half of the population we have today.

The trouble really lies in maladjustments, and not according to numbers or population, for naturally if there are too many people in any one occupation then there are too many people.

West Point Park

Homer Middlewood is gaining after a long siege of sickness.

Miss Mary Jameson, assistant supervisor, gave Stanford achievement tests Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bond and son, Floyd, called on Mrs. Bond's mother, Mrs. C. Wolfe, Friday.

Miss Gladys Smith of Detroit is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Irene Wolfe, and family for a few weeks.

The epidemic of measles is over. Fifty per cent of the pupils were absent in the youngest pupils' room.

Mrs. Ethel Middlewood is laid up with rheumatism at her home. Her son, George, is taking care of her mail route.

Callers at the home of Harry Wolfe were James and William Greer, Charles Wilson, Raymond Milbourn, Gordon Way and son, Lawrence, and William Dodds.

Mrs. Emerson Ault entertained the senior Bible class Thursday. A goodly number was present. Members from Detroit were present and enjoyed a sociable evening together.

Through the courtesy of the Rev. Whitfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pierpont and daughter, Marjory, enjoyed with us the service in our church Tuesday evening, Holy Week.

James F. Guilen, father of George, Lloyd and Earl Guilen, died Tuesday at his home in Brantford, Ontario. He was 72 years old. Burial took place Thursday. The three families attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nacker of West Point Park and Mr. and Mrs. George Nacker of Clarenceville celebrated their wedding anniversary on Sunday with a dinner at Mrs. George Nacker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Ault, Mrs. Margaret Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Addis, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Coolman attended the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stromsky of Northville, Saturday evening.

On Thursday evening the Rev. Nichols of Plymouth gave a good address in the Presbyterian church here. His words were well chosen and delivered. Each one present enjoyed the service and hope to hear him again.

Honor to whom honor is due. Dyes in West Point Park give honor to the one lone man that dared to stand alone before congressmen and vote no. And to give his reasons on the beer bill. If we had a majority like him this world would be a better and much happier and safer place to live in.

A beautiful description was given of the Risen Lord by the Sunday school pupils Sunday morning, and a cantata, by the choir. Rev. Roy Miller, pastor of the church, read the verses of scripture between the singing. A large number was present at the morning breakfast in the dining room at half past eight.

On Tuesday evening the members of the West Point Park Presbyterian church held a service sponsored by the pastor, Roy Miller, the Rev. Harold G. Whitfield, pastor of the Northville Presbyterian church gave a wonderful description of the invitations and miracles that Jesus gave and did for the crowds that heard him. It was an inspiring service and we felt it was good to be there.

PLYMOUTH UNIT'D BANK IS EXPECTED TO OPEN ON MAY 1

According to last week's issue of The Plymouth Mail, the state banking department has given its approval of May 1 as the opening day of the Plymouth United Savings bank.

The Mail further stated that "all that remains is the formal permission of Judge Theodore Richter and April 29 is the date which has been fixed for such legal steps as the statutes of the state required."

The bank will re-open under the moratorium agreement and great care will be exercised to safeguard the interests of depositors.

KING'S DAUGHTERS GIVE BENEFIT PARTY

Too many counter attractions interfered with the success of the benefit card party given by the King's Daughters at the high school gym Tuesday. Nine tables were played and a prize was awarded to each. The proceeds were $15, which will be used for the purchase of shoes for school children. The committee in charge of this affair was Mrs. Marie Stewart, Mrs. Jerry Schrader, Mrs. Stella Stark and Mrs. Mary Stewart, who wish to thank all who helped with their patronage and generous donations of material for refreshments. Fried cakes and coffee were served at the close of the evening's entertainment.

RED CROSS STILL BUSY

After a week of inactivity on account of limited supplies, the Red Cross chairman, Mrs. H. F. Wagenschutz, was again on the job Wednesday afternoon, called out by a few insistent demands for clothing.

No small amount of ingenuity is required to dole out wisely the material on hand yet Mrs. Wagenschutz is managing with skill and is eager that no case of real need will be overlooked.

A new supply of goods have been promised from headquarters but have not yet been received. With the coming of milder weather the urgent demands have lessened somewhat. A few new families have been added each week to those asking for help.

Baptist Church

Post-Easter services may well reflect the glories of The Resurrection. The pastor of the Baptist church, the Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour, will preach next Sunday morning on the theme, "The Permanence of Christ's Church." At night the subject will be "The Call of Matthew."

Kindly note the morning hour of worship is 10:30 o'clock and the evening 7:30 o'clock, also that we return to our regular evening service with the thought of Union meetings again during the hot months.

Next Monday afternoon and evening this church entertains the Fundamental Fellowship Group of Detroit and vicinity. Supper will be served for all who desire it at 2:30 by the Philathea class. At night there will be an evangelistic address to which the public is cordially invited.

Church of Our Lady of Victory

Ladies' Communion Sunday is always the fourth Sunday of each month. At the 8 o'clock mass this Sunday they will receive Communion.

The men's choir will sing at the 10 o'clock Mass next Sunday.

The young people of the parish will sponsor a dance at the New Casino at Walled Lake on Tuesday, May 2. Local dancers can enjoy the exquisite floor of the casino at this pre-summer affair.

At the close of the nine week novena last Tuesday it was announced that another nine week prayer period will begin next Tuesday, April 25.

We must pray and pray much, to preserve courage and hope during these hard times. Mere complaining and condemning is foolish. We can at least ask and pray. Sully intellectual pride and ignorance has kept people from seeking the Lord's counsel and help. Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you. (Matt. 7-7)

This novena will be carried on for the above reasons, and the service will be held three times on each Tuesday for the convenience of the people. It will last but 25 minutes, and will be given at 7:30 and 8:30 a. m., and again at 7:30 p. m.

Salem Federated Church

With new responsibilities resting upon us, let us remember that, as Christ was the word sent to a needy world, because God loved the world, so are we His "epistles known and read of all men." There are many who will not read the Bible who do read the lives of Christians. May God make us to be His "love letters" to the sick, discouraged, and needy about us.

"The Soul's Cry" will be the subject "the subject for morning worship on April 23, at 10:30 o'clock. The Bible school lesson is found in Mark 9:33-43 and the theme, "Jesus Rebukes Self-Seeking," will continue the thought of the church service Sunday's memory verse is, "Love worketh all ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." Romans 13:10.

The Washburn County Brotherhood, representing the men of the various churches of the county will meet in the Federated church Sunday afternoon and evening on April 23, the first meeting commencing at four o'clock. The general public is invited and our pastor urges a good attendance of our men and boys to act as hosts to the Brotherhood.

Our ladies will serve a light lunch between sessions. The Rev. Fairchild of Whitaker, Mich., will speak in the evening and there will be special music by the men.

On Friday evening, April 21, the ladies of the South circle will have another Penny Cafeteria supper in the church dining room. They will commence serving at six o'clock. The ladies are repeating the Penny Cafeteria because of a general request. If the visibility is good, the young people plan to go from the supper to Bloomfield Hills to the observatory.

Mrs. E. C. Curtis presented to the church on Easter Sunday a beautiful silver baptismal bowl. The gift was in memory of her mother, Mary Burns VanSickle.

CROWDS THROG CHURCHES EASTER

(Continued from page 1). Many of the appreciation of this timely presentation. Mrs. Miner was assisted by the members of her class in religious pageantry in the making of costumes and in the rehearsals. These women are:

Mrs. H. G. Whitfield, Mrs. B. H. Douglas, Miss Elizabeth Beard, Mrs. C. H. Bryan, Mrs. E. M. Bogart, Mrs. W. A. Liebetreu, Mrs. R. E. Alchison, Mrs. Leslie G. Lee, Mrs. Ray M. Groomer, Mrs. H. S. Wilks, Mrs. P. E. Larson and Miss Eleanor Westphal.

Introducing each episode and affording a musical background were the appropriate numbers rendered effectively by a trio of young musicians who frequently play together as an organization: Miss Eunice Cousins, piano, Miss Frances Cousins, violin, and Ernest Racz, cello.

It is an interesting fact that the pageant was written by Mrs. Miner with its details of setting worked out originally. Several requests have come from other towns for this program and it is probable that it may be repeated here.

PRESBYTERIANS NAME THEIR NEW OFFICERS

On Monday evening, April 17, the annual meeting of the Presbyterian church and congregation took place in the church house preceded by the usual tempering supper, served by the ladies. Attention was then given to presentation of reports of the various organizations and to other affairs of the church.

D. P. Yerkes, Sr., was chosen a ruling elder for three years' term of re-election. Dillman Duguid was re-elected as a trustee, while James Congo and Merrill Sweet were also elected as such—all for a three years' period.

T. R. Carrington, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presided at the congregational meeting and the Rev. Whitfield and C. R. VanValkenburgh at the church meeting.

The pastor in a talk dwelt upon important phases of the work of the church and voiced optimism as to the outcome.

Mr. VanValkenburgh, at the close, expressed the feeling and appreciation of the church and congregation, highly commended Rev. Whitfield for his devotion and deep interest in the work of his pastorate.

O. Henry Wrote Stories While He Was in Prison

O. Henry whose real name was William Sydney Porter, was born in 1862 in Greensboro, N. C. He was a studious boy who became a pharmacist, worked in a home town drug store, and then, still a youth, went to Texas where he worked as a druggist, cowboy and sheep herder before he began his journalistic career on the Houston Post. Later he bought out Brand's Iconoclast, at Austin, Texas for $250. Brand soon wanted the name back again, and Porter surrendered it, naming his paper "The Rolling Stone." It was a humorous publication which did not long survive.

O. Henry was employed for a time by the First National bank of Austin. He was accused of embezzling funds of this bank and indicted by a federal jury. He fled to Central America, where he was safe from extradition and where he lived for a time. Later he surrendered and was sentenced and served a term in the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus, federal prisoners being received at that institution at that time. Porter had written magazine stories before his penitentiary term, some of them under the name of O. Henry, and he continued writing while he was a prisoner.

Not long after his release he made New York his home, and there the brightest part of his career was lived. He died in New York June 5, 1910.

Caliph of Bagdad Killed on Order of His Mother

Hadi was the second of the three sons of Mansur to become caliph of Bagdad. He succeeded his brother Mehdi in 785 and was murdered in 786. Hadi was detested by his mother, Kheizran, who made him a present of two beautiful slave girls whom she instructed to kill him. Kheizran was then instrumental in securing the succession of her favorite younger son, Harun, the caliph of the "Arabian Nights," a mighty ruler and a famous patron of learning.

Yahya, the son of Khalid, was a member of the great Barmecide family, which supplied the caliphate with three generations of illustrious soldiers and statesmen. Yahya had been vizier under the caliph Mehdi and was the tutor and valued adviser of Harun al-Rashid, but he was distrusted by Hadi and would probably have been executed had not mother Kheizran and the slave girls acted opportunely. Yahya had two sons, Fadl and Jafar. Yahya was Harun's vizier; Fadl was the caliph's foster brother and statesman of commanding ability; Jafar (the "Ghafer" of the "Arabian Nights") was Harun's closest friend and inseparable companion. In 803, seventeen years after his accession, Harun al-Rashid, without an hour's warning, caused Jafar to be beheaded and cast Yahya and Fadl into prison, where they soon died of poison or starvation. This was the end of the Barmecides.

Compulsory Voting

Several countries of the world have passed laws for the purpose of compelling qualified persons to vote. These include Australia, Switzerland, Spain, Argentina, Bulgaria, Austria, New Zealand, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Holland and Belgium. In some of these countries there is some penalty for failure to vote, ranging from disfranchisement to fine. The Belgian law inflicts the fine with each omission, the fourth offense carrying the removal of the elector's name from the register for ten years, during which he may receive from the state no promotion, distinction or nomination to public office.

The Road That Walked. The province of Kansu, China, was visited by a catastrophic earthquake in 1922, resulting in more than 100,000 deaths. The Chinese have no word for landslide, for which they substitute the ideograph signifying "The Mountains Walked." The most singular freak of the Kansu cataclysm occurred when a quarter-mile section of the road near Tsingning was lifted from its bed and carried over the bed of a stream, coming to rest intact on the top of a hill. In this extraordinary sweep of the road the poplars lining it were carried along, and even crows' nests in the trees were carried undisturbed to the road's new site.

English Girls Pay for Ring. The Jewelers' Association of Liverpool states that the custom of the man paying for the ring has changed and the girl now pays for her engagement ring, her wedding ring, and even for her husband-to-be's wedding ring.

Alleged Holy Grail. Fahim Kouchakli, owner of the so-called chapel of Antioch, which many believe to be the Holy Grail of Arthurian legend—the cup out of which Christ drank at the last supper—has placed the sacred relic on exhibition in the Louvre, Kouchakli, who has kept the chalice in a safety deposit box, bought the chalice years ago in Syria. Later antiquarians identified it as a relic which disappeared 600 A. D. when Julian the Apostate destroyed the churches of Antioch.

Yellowstone Lake drains 1,010 square miles. In June the melting snow on the Absaroka range makes roaring torrents of the streams flowing into the lake. With the lake, having an area of 139 square miles, the only effect of this increased flow is to raise the lake very slowly and store up this flood water.—Washington Star.

The former Russian empire extended from the Baltic sea to the Pacific ocean and from the Black sea to the Arctic ocean, stretching nearly half-way around the globe and including an area of 8,500,000 square miles. The area has been decreased by 300,000 square miles to Finland, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, which have been recognized as independent countries. The official name of Russia is now Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and is a federation of seven Soviet republics. Russia is mostly a plain and nowhere does it rise to heights exceeding 1,200 feet. It produces quantities of grain, skins, hides, furs, flax, hemp, timber, wood pulp, pitch and turpentine. Coal is mined west of the Urals. Also south of Moscow and in the valley of the Donetz; iron is mined in the first two coal fields, in the neighborhood of Krivoy-Rog, 100 miles northeast of Kherson and near Kertch in the Crimea.

Still Unknown. Many kinds of animals as yet unknown to science are believed to be hiding away in obscure corners of the earth. They lurk in the spots unvisited by man—dense jungles, high mountains, isolated islands, or in burrows under the ground. Only when they come into collections do they attract the attention of systematic biologists. Several new types of animals have been found in the collections of the Smithsonian Institution. In most cases they are close relatives of known animals, yet differing sufficiently to merit independent classification.—Montreal Herald.

From Eskimo to Pom. Strange as it may seem, it is said on good authority that the nearest relative of the tiny pet pomelian is the stalwart Eskimo dog, the wolf-like pack animal of the frozen north. One noteworthy characteristic that these two have in common with each other and with other northern breeds of dogs is their habit of carrying their tails curved over their backs. It is thought that the northern dogs developed this trait to keep their tails from dragging in and becoming caked with snow.—Detroit News.

That Was Different. Doris and Maud were discussing an eligible young man. "He's all right, I suppose," said Maud, "but I don't think I could stand him for long. He's so flat." Doris looked horrified. "But, my dear," she said, "you don't know all about him. Why, he's got three cars and 5,000 pounds a year." Maud changed her expression. "Really," she exclaimed with eagerness; "that alters things. A flat with all modern improvements."—Answers.

Geranium Not a Geranium

When you speak of a geranium it is well to specify whether you are speaking botanically or from the home-gardener's point of view. The word describes two entirely different types of plants, depending on whether the botanical or common usage is intended. The common geranium is known in botany as the pelargonium, the most popular of which was brought to England and cultivated in 1690.

What the botanist knows as a geranium is the plant sometimes known as the cranebill, a number of varieties of which are found in the United States. Its stem is about two feet high, and each branch, of which there are many, carries two light purple flowers about an inch across.

The root of the botanical geranium produces a bitter fluid used for a drug and commonly referred to as alumnroot.—Washington Star.

REV. F. N. MINER GIVES BALL'S TALK BEFORE ROTARIANS

(Continued from page 1). buy two or three suits of clothes a year. I could use six. Name for me a man, woman or child from the lowest slums of your city, now actually hungry even for food, who does not have equal or greater ambitions and desires and then try and sell yourself on the "evils" of the machine age or the "glories" of the six-hour-day and five-day-week proposal.

"Any man with fifteen minutes and only half an imagination can enumerate enough things which he and his fellowmen WANT and NEED and enough projects which the world needs to make it a better place in which to live, and of natures so colossal that our present population is incapable of supplying them. In this generation or the next, working twenty-four hours a day and with the maximum utilization of all known or still to come. The job of the labor-saving machinery now making a world is not yet finished. It is hardly started."

The Rev. Mr. Miner held the closest attention of the group for fifty minutes.

The guests were Carl Capell of Ashville, N. C.; the Rev. Walter Nichol and E. R. Eaton of Plymouth, and the following Northville men: R. H. Lapham, L. J. Schmidt, Herbert D. Dean and Mr. Miner.
