NORTHVILLE WILL REPEAT STREET DANCE

Carnival Tomorrow Begins
At 7:30, Closes
10:30 P. M.

Another street dance will be held tomorrow evening (Saturday) and will begin earlier than did last week's event.

The dance, according to Chairman Irving J. Ulrich, will begin at 7:30 and will last until 10:30 in the evening. Scott Montgomery's Rhythm Kings, which were enthusiastically received at the inaugural dance, will again function tomorrow evening.

The first street dance of the summer was held Saturday night from 9:00 p. m. to 12:00 and was a big success.

Judging from the large crowd which joined in the dancing and from the crowd looking on, this event is one which should remain popular during the remainder of the summer.

A section of North Center street between Main and DuPont streets was roped off and sprinkled with cornmeal to make dancing easier. Scott Montgomery and his "Rhythm Kings" furnished the music for the evening. There were both modern dances and the ever-popular square dances. At the beginning of the dance and during the intermission entertainment was provided by the Girard brothers, Dud, Phil and Howard. These young men who are on the broadcasting program of radio station WWJ sang many popular songs and played the piano, accordion and banjo. Their entertainment was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

Through the efforts of George Ulrich, chairman of the dance, and the cooperation of the Northville merchants, the dance was carried out to the highest expectations of everyone.

Tomorrow night there will be another free dance with Scott Montgomery and his orchestra again, furnishing the music. The dance will start promptly at 7:30 p. m. and there will be some excellent entertainment during the intermission.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS RECEIVE FIRST AID AT HOSPITAL HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Battel of Adlonette street, Detroit, were treated at Sessions hospital Sunday evening for bruises and slight injuries suffered when their car was struck by another on the Plymouth road in front of Cass Benton park.

Friday afternoon, three women traveling to Detroit, were injured when their car overturned in front of the Northville Golf Club on the Seven Mile road. According to the driver the wheels of the car had locked. The three were treated at Sessions hospital and sent to the Receiving hospital at Redford where one is believed to have a concussion of the brain.

NORTHVILLE ROOKIES ARE NOW UP NORTH

They're off! After one round of preparation in the reforestation camp Port Wayne, the 18 Northville boys, together with the other boys of the township, entrained for the north woods Sunday morning. Going by the Michigan Central railroad via Chicago, they went up through Wisconsin to the northern peninsula to their destination, Keweenaw, near Iron Mountain.

Walter Ware says this camp is only 21 miles north of the deer-hunting camp where he goes with a party of men annually. The country is very wild and interesting and the boys who have never ventured that far from home have some real experience before them.

All were eager to get off having wearied of the long weeks of waiting to get "down to brass tacks." They will complete the six months of service and will probably not return home until Nov. 28.

To see the boys off Sunday morning were the following from Northville: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ware, Miss Madeline Lemon, Mrs. Harry Chrysler and Melvin, Mrs. Alfie Raymond, Mrs. Joe Weston and Perry Allen.

NO EXTENSION ON HALF PRICE TAGS

Chief Wm. Safford announces that there will be no extension of time for the half price license stickers upon which many motorists are now operating their cars. August 1 will be the final date for using the old tags.

VILLAGE RELIEVED FROM DRY SPELL BY HEAVY SHOWER

Gardens Are Soaked With Rainfall Wednesday Afternoon

Wednesday afternoon Northville was drenched in a sudden downpour which broke the city of the intense heat with which it has suffered for the past two weeks. However, the benefit was only local as the border of the rain extended only as far as the House of the Good Shepherd on the Fishery road and to the same extent in other directions. For the remainder of the day and night citizens enjoyed the refreshing coolness and a good sleep after several nights of trying in vain to find a stray breeze.

The relief was only temporary. Thursday the sun blazed out again with merciless heat with the thermometer rising to the near 100 mark.

PETER KELLER DIES IN PLANE ACCIDENT

A tragedy that closely touched this community occurred near Frankfort, Mich., Thursday, June 22, when Peter Keller, one-time Northville boy, lost his life with two other passengers of a plane which was wrecked off the coast of northern Michigan.

Keller was mechanic of a plane owned by Jas. Gillett of Traverse City. The party of four had just taken off from that place when dense fog caused the plane to lose its direction and plunge into the lake.

One by one the three men lost their hold on the improvised raft, a wing of the plane, Keller being the first to slip off into the deep. The one woman of the party, Mrs. Chas. Renne, was rescued by a passing steamer and reported to the family the details of the accident.

Keller, who was 30 years old, leaves a widow and two young children at Traverse City. Mrs. Keller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Troost, live on the old Curtis place on the Baseline road, near Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Payne of Salem, with Mr. and Roy Laney and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pickard, all relatives, went to Frankfort Friday, where memorial services were held on the water near the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Payne is an aunt of Keller and Mrs. Laney and Mrs. Pickard are sisters. Peter Keller was a brave, fine man and leaves many friends in this community. He was at one time employed in the Sinson Aircraft factory when it was located in Northville.

NORTHVILLE FOLKS ATTEND HORSE SHOW

On Saturday some of the horse enthusiasts of this locality, including Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walker, and Mrs. Wm. Raleigh Brown and her house guest, Mrs. Ruth McGee, of Dayton, Beach, Fla., attended the Lansing Horse Show at that place Friday and Saturday. A point of interest to local readers is the fact that a number of the most distinguished shows are being saved for entries in the Northville Fair instead of being shown in Lansing. While in Lansing Mrs. Harry Nichols and son, Bob, were dinner guests of Mrs. Brown at the Olds hotel, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hettche and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Crowley were also in attendance at the horse show.

Correction

J. B. Cook asks the Record to correct the name of the school attended by the late Mrs. Cook which was Wheelock instead of Wheeler as stated in the obituary.

After several days' illness Mrs. Thad J. Knapp is better.

Royal Ann Cafe Is Kept Busy Giving Out Ice Cream Saturday To Swarms of Grateful Children

Saturday was a big day for the Royal Ann cafe when free samples of their homemade ice cream were offered to the public.

Fred Fry never knew that Northville had so many children. By the scores they came from all directions until he felt like the "Pied Piper of Hamelin."

As early as seven o'clock some youngsters parked on the door step and when told that the ice cream would not be ready until ten o'clock replied complacently "Oh well, we'll wait." And wait they did. Until the scoop began dipping the delicious coolness from the containers.

Steadily the cones were filled hour after hour until when the last of

24 SENIORS TO LEAVE SUNDAY FOR THE FAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Lee
Are Chapérons On Trip

Twenty-four seniors are busy packing their grips and traveling bags for the annual trip which they have been looking forward to the past year. For a while it was doubtful if the trip could be arranged but with cooperation and the guidance of the class officers the goal was reached. Those seniors who have been of the greatest help to the class in the earning of its money and making its different projects successful are the ones privileged to go.

Sunday evening at approximately eleven o'clock this group of graduates with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Lee as chapérons will board the chartered bus at the school house and start on their journey to Chicago. Upon reaching the city they will be taken to the Norwood hotel, situated just outside the Loop. This will be the headquarters of the class during their stay in Chicago.

The seniors expect to see not only the World's Fair, but Chicago, as well. One senior believes that the class as a whole will be most interested in the exhibits of the different manufacturing corporations and concerns.

Money for all expense of the trip except meals has been earned by the class during this past year. This includes the fee for entrance to the World's Fair.

After seeing the city, and all of the wonders of the "Century of Progress," the group will again board the bus and arrive back in Northville either late Wednesday or early Thursday morning.

Those seniors who are to make the trip are as follows: Charlotte Lester, Howard Latta, Warner Neal, Richard Shiple, John Steeneken, Richard Nash, Florence Johnson, Margaret Hay, Gertrude Deal, Marie Humphries, Leo Kohler, Miriam Dugdas, Blanche Tomaszewski, Edith Clark, Robert Christensen, Robert Power, Mary Bennett, Jack Harper, Wilma Rattenbury, Ronald Beasley, Gertrude Sedan, Roy Warner, and Melvin Steiner.

These last four are paying their own way. Miss Velma Blake and Fred Steeneken, former Northville graduates, are also to accompany the class.

NORTHVILLE TEAMS LOSE HERE AND AT WEST POINT PARK

Northville two baseball teams each took a lapping Sunday, the Pointers being on the small grid of the score in a double header played at the Fair grounds, and the Braves journeyed to West Point Park to lose to Northview by the score of 7-2.

"At the Fair grounds two weird contests, featuring a total of 38 runs, gave the customers plenty of action. The first game was a pitching bee which ended 20 to 15, the second contest closed with a score of 10 to 3, both in favor of the Dearborn team; a weak sister of the league which was not expected to take Northville into camp.

All of the Pointers' pitchers saw action, plenty of it in fact, and they hope to do much better next Sunday at the Fair grounds when they play.

"Grandpa" German's team from Carleton took the Pointers Thursday, June 22, by the close score of four to two. "Grandpa" Harry and son, Harry, Jr., were on the winning side while another son, Loyde, caught for the losers.

South Lyon Fire RAZES BUILDINGS

Northville's fire department provided the reinforcements which stopped a disastrous fire in the South Lyon business district early Monday morning.

Three frame two-story buildings were destroyed with a loss of approximately $10,000, and 17 persons made homeless by the blaze which threatened for a time to sweep through the town. Grateful to the Northville department, headed by Gary Deal, for their aid, South Lyon citizens expressed their appreciation to members of the department by treating them to a hearty early morning breakfast when the fire was at last under control.

The fire apparently started in the Drayton Barber Shop. Mr. and Mrs. Drayton and roomers on the second floor escaped injury. Mrs. Eva Sheppard and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Klingner, who with their children occupied the second floor of the building in which Klingner's shoe repair shop was located, lost their homes.

The ground floor of the third building was vacant, but Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzen Hutchinson and their two children lived on the second floor. Calvin Sheppard, living nearby, smelled smoke and sounded the alarm. All of the buildings were on East Lake street.

Northville To Have Quiet Fourth

Vacation celebration instead of fireworks celebrations will be the theme of this year's fourth of July, Tuesday, according to townspeople and merchants of Northville.

Drug stores will be open all day and groceries have indicated that they will remain open during the morning hours but in the afternoon they will pack their families into the car and take a long ride somewhere to a nice, cool spot to either swim or picnic or both, whichever they choose.

The state safety ban on explosive fireworks is still in effect, and anyone caught by Police Wm. H. Safford. Their sale is not allowed in the state, and they cannot be taken into town.

No public celebration of any kind has been planned and Northville folks will have the entire day to themselves to spend in whatever manner they wish.

Warner Neal, Home From Taking Examinations At The West Point Military Academy, Tells Of Trip

By Warner Neal
News came three weeks ago from Rep. George A. Dondero, informing me of the fact that I must take an entrance examination at West Point, New York, for the United States Military Academy. I left late last Tuesday afternoon and arrived at West Point Wednesday morning.

My original appointment was by competitive civil service examination, which means that should the principal and first alternate fail to enter the physical examination and I should pass, I would enter the academy. Roy Burgess, Jr., the first alternate then was appointed by Rep. Dondero to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and I was automatically placed in the first alternate position.

Arriving at the military academy, I was impressed with the stately beauty of the place. The great stone academic buildings stood out like castles from the huge rocky cliffs forming the sides of the Hudson river.

Altogether there were about 75 boys from all over the country taking the examinations. After reporting, the candidates, as we were called, were assigned rooms in the Old Barracks. This is a very beautiful and historic building. Erected about 1850, it has sheltered under its roof such famous soldiers as Generals Grant, Sherman, Lee, and Pershing. The living quarters were very fine. The candidates were paired off, I having as my roommate, my principal, John Weikel, of Berkley.

Nearly all candidates present were taking the validating examination. This is given to those who, with a high school diploma, have met certain other scholastic requirements. The first examination was

POSTAL RATE CUT EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Postal rates for first class mail addressed to points within the distribution area of the Northville post office have been cut from three cents to two cents announced Postmaster T. R. Carrington this week. The cut will take effect on July 1.

It is believed that the former rate of two cents per ounce of first class mail may become effective a little later in the year pending action by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Employees at the local post office will take a compulsory three day vacation each month without pay beginning July 1, according to orders recently received, in addition to the 15% cut in pay which they received one year ago.

Rural route carriers have had their equipment rates cut from four cents per mile to one cent per mile. They are required to furnish their own cars.

THANK YOU ALEX!

Alexander Sanislow brought into the Record office Monday a beautiful basket of larkspur, baby breath and mixed garden flowers, which have been duly appreciated. The office force cannot decide whether it was to help bear the intense heat of the past week or the absence of the editor. At any rate the flowers brought cheer.

BOY DROWNS AT WATERFORD DAM TUESDAY

Waterford Lake Closed
As Result Of
Tragedy

Jerry Gidas, 19 years old, of Detroit, drowned just above Waterford dam Wednesday evening about 8:30 o'clock when two companions, according to witnesses, attempted to teach him how to swim but left him when he became panicky and started to go down.

The three, according to an unidentified woman, who stated that she saw the entire affair, were sitting on the dam in their bathing suits talking.

"Let's teach him how to swim," said one of the youths sitting at Gidas' side. Gidas consented and with an arm on the shoulders of his friends the unfortunate man entered the water, which is approximately 15 feet deep.

At this point the stories of witnesses differ, but it is believed that Gidas became afraid the instant he attempted to swim and floundered so much that his friends were forced to swim away from him in order to avoid being pulled down themselves.

A bather pulled Gidas' body from the water within a few minutes after he went down. Artificial resuscitation was resorted to and a pullmotor was brought from Plymouth, but to no avail.

Two of the drowned man's brothers were swimming at the dam when the tragedy occurred.

Thursday morning Chief of Police Wm. H. Safford phoned to the department of health authorities at Lansing and asked if it were not feasible to close the Waterford lake to bathers owing to the fact that it is nearer to a source of pollution than Phoenix lake, which was closed on that account last week. He was informed that signs stating that the water was unfit in which to swim would be posted as soon as possible and he was given full authority by the department of health and officials of the Ford Motor company, to whom the lake belongs, to keep bathers from risking their lives there.

Residents of Northville and Plymouth, knowing well the dangers and the pollution at both Phoenix and Waterford lake, seldom use either place as a bathing beach. Thousands from Detroit and the surrounding countryside have visited there each summer. The toll in lives, officials estimate, at these two places has amounted from three to a dozen each year.

SEVENTH GRADERS WIN D. A. R. PRIZES

Alice, twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Eaton, has the honor of winning the first prize of $3 in the historical essay contest sponsored by the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D. A. R. Her subject was "Conservation in the United States," a rather weighty topic for a twelve-year-old, but handled so well as to receive commendation of the D. A. R. judges who considered historical material, originality, composition and neatness.

Louis Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Chapman, was the next lucky girl who won the second prize of $2 on "The Struggle for a Continent." Both girls are in the seventh grade.

Band practice at school house Thursday evening at 7:30.

Six Local Men Are Employed At New Industry, Twin Pines Dairy, On The Outskirts of Northville

During the past two months another new industry has quietly grown up just at the edge of our village. On August 15th of last year, the Twin Pines Farm Dairy located on the Base Line and Beck roads, started with only one hundred quarts of milk a day, and now in less than a year the sales have increased to nearly thirty-five hundred points operated by eighteen trucks, all with "Northville" on them covering the entire City of Detroit.

The reason for the sales increase is that Detroiters, the dairy operators say, have accepted the Twin Pines Dairy products enthusiastically because of the high quality offered.

Milk is received pasteurized and bottled immediately to insure fresh wholesome milk. It is then delivered the following morning which enables the customers to receive the products at their best. The staff of local men includes

CHILDREN FLOCK TO BIBLE SCHOOL IN SPITE OF HEAT

Vacation School Ends With Increased Interest
Saturday

The class Saturday morning, July 1st closes an exceptionally fine Vacation Church School for another year. With greatly increased numbers and very keen interest, the school has carried on during its ten-day session despite the extreme heat. Great credit is due the administration and teaching force.

Parents of the community and all well-wishers are reminded that the several participating churches provide no item in their budget to care for the expense of the school, and because of this, the school depends entirely upon the free will offering of the people. Whether you are directly benefitting or not, we feel your support is assured.

The closing exercises of the school will be held in the Methodist church Sunday evening, July 2 at 7:30. This service will be brief and we hope very impressive. The various departments will be represented on the program. A silver offering will be received. The public is invited.

Donations in sums large or small will be greatly appreciated and may be given to Rev. F. N. Miner, Rev. W. R. Harbour or the dean, H. G. Whitfield not later than Thursday, July 6.

H. G. Whitfield
Dean of the school.

ANDERSON ATTENDS T. B. CONVENTION AT TORONTO, CANADA

By A. L. Anderson
Strange as it may seem, a convention intended primarily for the medical profession and health workers can be intensely interesting to the layman. That was my experience during the two days spent at the annual convention of the National Tuberculosis Association and the American Sanatorium Association being held in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, this week, upon the invitation of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association and the Ontario Leucemia Society.

To see a thousand physicians and their lay associates gathered in one place and to hear their serious discussions on methods of preventing and treating tuberculosis, and of providing for the strictly social welfare of patients is to feel the very impact of energy expended in the interests of the sick. And do not think for a moment that all are men; it seemed to me that nearly half the number attending the convention were women.

Some of the distinguished physicians at the convention were Sir Humphrey Rolleston of Surrey, England, retired professor of medicine, Cambridge University, and physician-in-ordinary to the King; Dr. John H. Peck, president of the National Tuberculosis Association; Professor S. Lyle Cummings of Cardiff, Wales, adviser and consultant of the South African Institute for Medical Research; and Dr. W. J. Dobbie, president of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. The addresses and papers of these men were of great importance, treating as they did the more advanced problems in tuberculosis work.

Although I attended only a small part of the complete program I carried away a newer and deeper appreciation of what our medical men are trying to do, and what is more important, what they are succeeding in doing for patients.

THE FUN BEGINS!

All interested in the community recreation meet at the school grounds at 10:00 a. m. July 5.

FORD FACTORY NOW EMPLOYS 170 WORKMEN

Night Shift of 20 Started
At The Plant
Sunday

A total of 170 men working in three shifts are now working at the Northville branch of the Ford plant which is located at Main and Grunwald streets.

The night shift of 20 men started to work Sunday and according to officials, the three-eight hour shifts will be kept working indefinitely. Although all of the employees who formerly worked at the plant are not now back at work, the group of 170 forms a substantial portion. Only former employees are being put back to work.

PRIZES FOR PRETTIEST GOWNS ARE AWARDED

The high school commencement having occurred a few hours after the publication of the previous issue of the Record, there were a number of features which it was impossible to report.

A large number of relatives and friends of the graduating class filled the entire auditorium, including the gallery. The invocation was given by Rev. Fr. Jos. Schuler.

In his speech of presentation of the diplomas, Supt. R. H. Amerman paid fitting tribute to his predecessor, the late Thad J. Knapp, who had been superintendent of this school for the past three years.

One name, that of Harold Myers, was omitted from the list of graduates because of his recent coming to Northville. Harold received his diploma with the rest.

Perhaps the prettiest feature on the program was the style show when a formal tea was served on the stage with colored lighting effects enhancing the charm of the group of girl graduates who came upon the scene by twos and threes to take tea together.

All of the gowns were of sheer white organdie made on full flowing lines and each was bound around the waist with a girdle of gay color. Many of the girls wore corsages and sashers in shades to match their girdles.

As these young ladies moved gracefully about the stage their dresses were displayed to the audience who were puzzled to guess which would be given the prettiest gown.

At the close of the evening's program Mrs. C. M. Chase, representing the Northville Woman's club, announced that the first prize of five dollars should go to Miss Wilma Rattenbury, the valedictorian. The second, three dollars, was awarded to Miss Genevieve Neely, and the third, two dollars, to Miss Marie Humphries.

The graduation gowns were made under the instruction of Mrs. Claude Zimmerman in the class as sewing and none of them exceeded $4 in cost.

One teacher was overheard to whisper as the girls left the platform in the fluffy white dresses: "It seems to me that each class is nicer than any before."

A reception held in the gym of the Training school was attended by a large number of friends and visiting relatives from out of town, who greeted the graduates and congratulated them on arriving at their goal.

DRS. DOUGLAS, WILLIS HEARD AT CONVENTION

Dr. B. H. Douglas and Dr. H. S. Willis accompanied by Dr. H. D. Chadwick, head of the Detroit tuberculosis work, have been attending the National Tuberculosis Association held in Toronto, Ont. this week. Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Nalbant, also attended this convention. Maybury Sanatorium was represented on this program when Dr. Douglas and Dr. Willis, both of whom are considered national authorities in prevention and the treatment of tuberculosis, addressed the assembly. The convention is concluded Saturday.

ALUMNI BANQUET TONIGHT

Plans for the annual banquet of the Northville High School Alumni association to be given this evening in the gym are going ahead as planned and reservations for 125 people have been made.

The officers of the association are in charge of the program which will be held after the dinner. After the program, Patterson's orchestra from Plymouth will furnish music for dancing.

A VACATION ON AN ISLAND

Portage Entry
(near Houghton)

Here, on his birthday, is the Record editor 593 miles away from Northville, ready to go tomorrow to Isle Royale where he will come Sunday from Duluth.

There are twelve in our party which is sponsored by E. T. May, area Y. M. C. A. secretary at Lansing, who is one of the best friends the writer ever had. We have a physician, D. H. B. Weinburg and his son Harry, and P. A. Johnson, an insurance man, all of Lansing. The only attorney in the party is A. J. Rosenberg of Jackson, whom I knew when he was a student in Albion college and I was on the newspaper there.

We have three Howell folks, Winfield Lines, a business man, his wife, and Livingston county's notorious editor and expostmaster, "Bill" Cansfield. From Charlotte comes E. H. Chapelle, superintendent of schools of the Eaton county Capital for ten years.

The musician of the party is Prof. Alexander Schuster of Michigan State college.

Tonight, after eight hours of driving Monday and ten hours today, we abandon our automobiles and start "roughing it." Tomorrow we pack ourselves and paraphernalia into Capt. Arthur Tormale's launch and head for Isle Royale—50 miles from Houghton. They tell us we'll all be seasick by noon when we reach the island. All right, I'm ready.

We have a guide, A. Edd Ackley, a cultured man who knows the island by heart and will help us amateurs catch fish, show us moose in their own habitat, take us to an ancient copper mine and guide us around all the natural wonders of the island. They say it is marvelous.

We made 258 miles from Howell to Cheboygan from 5:00 p. m. to 10:45 Monday. They told us at Grayling it had been 190 degrees during the day.

This morning we had a glorious ride from Mackinac City to St. Ignace on the state ferry. It was my first boat ride in years.

Then I put my feet for the first time on upper peninsula soil. My brother Paul is a banker at Manistiquette, but we have never been able to get there to visit him.

Today we saw Henry Ford's big hardwood forests near L'Anse—and you should see those wonderful trees. Elsewhere we passed thousands upon thousands of evergreens and pine trees—but much of the land we passed is worthless for farming—it made you feel sorry for the folks fighting nature there.

Due to tire trouble we missed part of our party and the chance to see the prison at Marquette. We did drive into the yard and looked at the big stone front—it seemed as hard and cold as some of the hardened criminals who are said to be back of those forbidding walls. It gave me a sad feeling.

Just before reaching the straits I laughed out loud and thought of my "kids" at home when a young deer ran across the road and with a leap like a diver jumped over the railroad tracks alongside the highway. This afternoon we saw a fox. On Isle Royale we will try to take pictures of moose. Wish I had Bob Yerkes' moving picture outfit. Incidentally there are three moving picture outfits in the party.

We sleep tonight in this little fishing village. The people are nearly all Finish and we just met the sister of the captain of our boat. She was one of eleven children born right here but now lives in Chicago.

I want to do two things on the trip around the island; catch a real fish and get a picture of a moose.

A trip like this makes you realize what a big state Michigan is—Northville seems like another country as I look out over the water and listen to these Finns jabbering in their native tongue.

Tomorrow I mail this letter in Houghton and if it reaches Northville by Monday, as it should, I shall keep my record of not having missed "my column" since I came to town.

Good by and good luck.

AFRAID TO TRUST IT?

The following excerpt from the Detroit Free Press of Monday, June 27, would indicate that authorities are a bit "leery" of 3.2 when it comes to entrusting the safety of the public to officers who use it.

3.2 For the Police, Is An Intoxicant

In theory 3.2 beer may not be intoxicating, but because of what it does to Detroit's policemen it now has been classed with the other high-powered liquors group under Police Rule 129. As far as the Police Department is concerned 3.2 beer henceforth is classed among the intoxicating beverages and may not be absorbed by officers while on duty.

Commissioner James K. Watkins laid down the ruling Saturday, but pointed out that the blame may not belong entirely to 3.2. There was some likelihood, he said, that officers may have quaffed beer with a different decimal point but, since the fragrance is much the same, placed the blame for their reactions on 3.2. Many of the officers hailed before the trial board of the department for intoxication had claimed that they innocently drank 3.2 and were mighty surprised at what happened.

In view of the frequent use of 3.2 as an alibi, Commissioner Watkins said, it was necessary to rule it out as a beverage for policemen on duty and in future officers on their rounds may not even have the odor of beer on their breaths.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you impose on your friends by making unreasonable demands on their time?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

PLAY BALL

(Paul M. Riddick in the La Grange, Ind., Standard)

The only time the old G. O. P. elephant has had a chance to do any honking for quite some time was when the Republican congressional ball team licked the Democrats the other day.

SOLDIERS ARE MARS' SONS

(Geo. R. Averill in the Birmingham Eclectic)

You see many, many pictures of soldiers of various European countries, each bearing arms as they stage this or that celebration. Those soldiers and their muskets can mean only one thing: DEATH. The numbers of those Men of Mars is ever on the increase in Europe. Those soldiers will like driven cattle, be pushed into some conflict if SELFISHNESS and HATE become uncontrolled in some portion of some nation's affairs. "How long, Oh Lord, how long?"

MR. WOODIN'S VISIT

(The Dearborn Press)

The chances are that Secretary of the Treasury Woodin will NOT appear in Detroit. It is believed that the Administration does not wish to mess up the banking situation there by more meddling. Mr. Woodin has at all times shown himself unwilling to be informed of the situation here. He indulged in the hope that Detroiters would not take stock in the so-called "government bank" in Detroit and of course that hope was pure folly. Bank stock these days is like mortgages—who wants it? If the Administration's banking policy is to be judged by the results obtained in Detroit even Washington cannot be blind to the fact that it needs revision. A boy like Mr. Woodin talking freely in Detroit would not sit well just now. At least that is what a personal agent of the President's from Washington has been told.

IF WE FALL BEHIND...

(W. H. Berkeley in the Cassopolis Vigilant)

Indicative of the growth of education is the fact that during the period from 1910 to 1929 there was a sixty-seven per cent increase in the enrollment in Michigan's schools, growth since 1920 not being so marked. This increase attendance in the schools was followed by a large increase in attendance in our university, colleges and normals, which account in a large measure for the heavy increase in education expense in our state. Drastic cuts in educational expense have been made all the way up from our primary schools to our colleges and the university, and yet the burden seems too heavy for the taxpayer to carry. It does seem, however, that if some of the functions of government must be sacrificed in times like the present it would be better to sacrifice on functions other than that of education. If we fall behind on road building or construction of public buildings, those things can wait, but if we fall behind in educating our children, these years of childhood are passing and the damage cannot be repaired.

UNOFFICIAL SPORTSMEN

(Joseph A. Sturgeon in the Delta Reporter)

The Really regrettable thing about the state setup is the absence of a leader with sufficient strength to deal with the conditions. Gov. Cocksack has delegated some of his power to friends, some of them claiming to be working without compensation. It is very fine to see citizens willing to work for friendship's sake but there is always the suspicion that something ulterior remains in the background.

This is especially so when one of the principals turns out to be a New York lawyer who had made his money defending criminal leaders, and now interested among other things in Michigan's new oil fields. "I do not request, but I demand a complete vindication," says Isaiah Leebow when confronted by legislative investigators. The legislators seem impressed by the bluster. They postpone until July 10, any further investigation. Yet, regardless of what they do or say, public opinion is already formed. And it broods no good for the future.

TRAGEDY

(Fred D. Kester in the Ionia County News)

There has been tragedy in this section of birdville this week. A few days ago we noticed that the last bird nest of the season was peopled with its little feathered tribe. And many times during the day we passed to watch Mr. and Mrs. Robin proudly ministering to their young. But all that was turned into mourning when a neighboring cat crept through the thick foliage of the hidden tree and brought swift death to the little mother and her young. The father bird, returning from his quest for food for his family could not seem to sense what had happened. For four or five days almost without ceasing, he has kept wandering around the neighborhood, singing his love call. "I can hear him outside as I write. Up until now I always had the impression that when one of them fell by the wayside, that that was all there was all there was to it, that bird life went on with never a thought of the missing one. I am beginning to change my mind—the constant fall of that robin has really given me the queerest kind of a feeling—a feeling that I ought to go out and try to explain to him just what has happened.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

(Geo. Meade in the Orion Weekly Review)

Michigan now has an old age pension law, which will be available in 1934 for relief to persons over 70 years of age, who have been citizens for 15 years and who have resided continuously in the state for 10 years or more.

To provide funds for the administration of the law a head tax of $2.00 for each adult person in the state will be levied. This tax is payable between October 1 and March 1 and is expected to bring in an annual amount in excess of $4,000,000. Each citizen of 21 years or over is required to register with the clerk in the county in which he resides before October 1 this year. Staff penalties are provided in the law for those evading payment of the tax.

Refund to the amount of $30 a month for each individual eligible under the law will be possible. Homesteads not to exceed $3,500 valuation and incomes of $150 will be disregarded in administering the fund, except that, on the death of the beneficiary, the total payments he has received, plus 3 1/2 per cent interest will be deducted from the estate. The administration of the law will be under the direction of the state welfare department, supplemented by a welfare board in each county.

TIME WILL TELL

(Wm. E. Beebe in the Flushing Observer)

The 1933 session of the Michigan legislature is now history. The closing day presented a scene of madness as the solons labored frantically to clean up as much pending legislation as possible before the final hour for adjournment arrived.

Before passing judgement on the work of our lawmakers it will be the decent thing to do, to withhold our opinions until a clear and adequate analysis of their work may be obtained. The situation at Lansing was most unusual this year, and for months it seemed impossible for either lawmaking body to agree on any definite program. This fact alone caused them to remain in session for a longer period than any other legislature in the history of the state.

Whether this long period of inactivity has meant for better legislation is yet to be determined. To an unbiased observer it would seem that the greatest handicap the legislators encountered was lack of leadership. Had leadership of the right kind been supplied many misunderstandings and delays might have been eliminated. But in spite of this, some good legislation has resulted and as good citizens we will await the verdict which only time and experience can render.

Banks Again! 500 banks in this country are still closed. Although the government refuses to give out any data as to the amount of money and credit tied up, it has been conservatively estimated at $5,000,000,000. This is nearly twice as much purchasing power as will be released by the $3,300,000,000 public works program, on which soon the government must pay interest. Our own "Michigan plan" sponsored by the senator Vandenberg was ignored. Says "Business Week": Secretary Woodin threw the Michigan plan right out the window. Proponents never were given any good reason. Reinforcing the angry senators, the National Debtors' Committee, headed by Mr. Schrenk, with Vincent Bendix participating as representative of the Committee for the Nation, has just appeared on the scene. Its plan is for the R. F. C. to take over the sound assets of closed banks and pay depositors at once. So far it has been greeted no more cordially in official quarters than advocate of the Michigan plan. Why?

The Question of the Week

Just what is a bank?

Secretary of the Interior Ickes must be giving the President a large pain. After Ickes jumped all over the cement-manufacturers as unpatriotic, etc., etc., he signed a contract for 400,000 barrels at a 2 cents reduction, a total of $800,000 on a job the size of the Boulder Dam. Tempest in a Teapot, Ickes!

Best Phrase of the Week

Cooperation. I think it would be a very excellent idea to have an exhibition of Pewabic pottery in Northville. I agree with everything Mrs. Harper has said concerning it and its origin. It is perfectly marvelous pottery and those of us here who have not yet seen more than one or two pieces of it would, I know, be delighted at an opportunity of close examination. It is, unfortunately, perhaps, that I chose Pewabic as an example to help prove a point. That's my mistake and I admit it freely, but it has also been beneficial in that it has brought to light for me someone who I know has sound ideas of the place of art in our lives. My suggestions of an exhibition of Pewabic needs cooperation. I can't arrange it alone. I offer to help Mrs. Harper or the Woman's club in any way possible to procure such an exhibition. I will give the use of my office with display window lights etc., or will secure the transportation of the various objects of the exhibition if the loan of them can be arranged. The showing can be held wherever it can be housed. I sincerely believe that Northville should be given the opportunity not only of seeing Pewabic but of buying it.

Harry Newman, whom we had not mentioned in a long time, is perched high on the counter before us. We envy him his summer program.

August 24 to 31 attending World's Fair at Chicago where he will participate in the All Star football games there as captain of one team.

September, the start of his professional football career. A series of from ten to fifteen games in all of the larger cities of the United States travelling de luxe, meeting people in fact doing the things that every young fellow aspires to do. To most of us the aspiration is as far as it goes.

Dog-Go!

An employe who was late to work one of our business-houses told the head man that she "had to sell a bull dog" and that's why she was late.

Now as a confessed alibi concocter we bow to the supreme genius of that story. We've heard of having to see a man about an arduous but this is the first occasion when a bull dog has been dragged in to bolster a weak story.

Our hat is off lady, our hat is off!

Old Stuff!

Now that the old age pension has arrived there is an added incentive to reaching the ripe old age of 70 years.

Let's see, if we pay $2.00 a year for 25 years that amounts to $50.00. Then if we live to be 70 years and three months, receiving $30 a month after 70, we'll just break even on the deal. All over 70 years and three months will be clear profit.

We'll have to go to bed nights and cut out tobacco and a lot of other habits of which we've grown fond if we want to hit the 70 mark. Guess it isn't worth while.

As the Greeks have it: "Early to bed and early to rise. Make one healthy and wealthy but not wise."

Mrs. Robert Fredericks took four first class prizes and one second at the flower show held at the Evangelical Lutheran church in Farmington Friday, June 16. Her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Tamm, was successful in winning prizes.

A very strong wind and sand storm struck West Point Park, Sunday. Windows were broken in Lucian Gilbert's greenhouse. Fruit trees were blown down and limbs were broken from large trees, but we missed the much-needed shower.

Harry Wolfe pitched his first game with two-league teams, Pittenger, and Faust teams, of Detroit, on St. Clair field. Harry Wolfe held the Faust team scoreless until the sixth inning. The game ended 11-6 in favor of Pittenger.

Dorothy Ash and Marion Lewis of West Point Park were among the graduates who received their diplomas at the Wayne County Training school Thursday evening, June 22. A number of relatives and friends were present to hear the program.

Northville and West Point Park's new baseball teams met on the diamond here Sunday. Some of West Point's players were absent. The score was 6-2 in favor of Northville. A double game was played. Northville and North View from Garden City. The latter won 7-2.

William Millard, who was born in Livonia, township and received his education here, died in Detroit Friday. The Massons from Farmington took charge of his remains. Funeral services were held in the Methodist church, Rev. Floyd Johnson officiating. His body was laid to rest in Livonia, Center cemetery.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilcox in honor of their daughter, June Marie. Twelve friends were the invited guests who enjoyed a lovely time and dainty lunch with a birthday cake made by her grandmother, Mrs. McGee. She received some gifts in remembrance of her seventh birthday.

The bride-elect, Miss Viola Nacker, was honored Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Albert Nacker, who entertained at a noon luncheon. Sixteen guests were the guests. The table centerpiece was a bouquet of white peonies and white cantenbury bells over a white wedding veil. The bride-to-be received many useful and beautiful gifts. The wedding will occur in July.

IDEAS

Gleaned by a Northville Idealist

"No ideal that has ever been held has gone unchallenged."

"Self control, self guidance, and self discipline are moral fundamentals."

"There is nothing so undemocratic as the mass of the people."—George Sands.

"It is impossible for the majority to withhold its consent from a rule that really serves."—Ferguson.

"The formulation of a life plan is the construction of an hypothesis to be tested by the experiments of daily life."

"The real control of social forces is in the hands of those who have the initiative of measures and projects."—Ferguson.

"Would that men and women who have been aliens in a foreign land out of spirit with the family life of God, might return and declare themselves as citizens of this wonderfully promising kingdom of a larger life, and begin the training of the new generation to live always within this family fellowship."

"Out of the fierce struggle and turmoil of contending systems and powers I see a brighter spiritual era slowly emerge—an era in which there shall be no England, no Germany, no France, no America, no this people or that, but one family, the human race; one law, peace; one need, harmony; one means, labor; one taskmaster, God."—Helen Keller.

In friendship something passes from heart to heart. Thus in a crisis fellowship with true friends is indispensable to the suffering soul. Strong friendship creates morale in the hour of crisis. It prevents the man who is bewildered and panic stricken from losing his bearings in the storm about to wreck him; and it enables him to follow sane direction. Such a morale for the confused, lacerated soul, is the condition of healing and health.

Breathe on me, Breath of God, Fill me with thy life anew; That I may love what thou dost love, And do what thou wouldst do.

Breathe on me, Breath of God, Until my heart is pure, Until with thee I will one will, To do or to endure.

Breathe on me, Breath of God, Till I am wholly thine; Till all this earthly part of me Glows with thy fire divine.

Breathe on me, Breath of God, So shall I never die. But live with thee the perfect life Of thine eternity.

Edwin Hatch.

The daily papers carried the news this last week of the death of Rose Pastor Stokes, who was known throughout the world as opposed to the ruling and the establishment of the accepted social order. She hated it with all the venom she could command and was forever fighting the world's injustices and was diametrically opposed to any government which favored the ruling or upper classes.

She was always hunting for a freedom that would be a leveler for and mankind in general and a liberator for the working classes commensurate with the more privileged classes.

But as one reflects on such a life lived for such a cause one wonders just what Rose Pastor Stokes had in mind concerning freedom and liberty and how she defined it and just how she would have applied it should the opportunity of authority have been hers.

Liberty means so many things and so many books have been published concerning this most question that after reading a few of them one is almost inclined to think liberty has no meaning at all. Rose Pastor Stokes conceived the idea that liberty was an innocent and oppressed humanity exclaiming itself from such a tyrannical foe, and once having gained this right, it was her assumption that the victors persisting in their efforts sought only to secure blessings in the future.

This has always been the view of most Americans, and is the result of the "heroic" feats of our ancestors, but there lies the danger of confusing patriotic emotion with clear rational concept.

But we really as a nation have little of the genuine philosophy of freedom and even our professed liberals, such as Rose Pastor Stokes, was a little confused, striving as she always did to reconcile liberty as a classical understanding with the romantic blash such as those who wore the uniform during the World war had doled out to them in training camps.

But we as a nation and a race should not despair in our love for liberty, for it is the friends of culture, intellectual honesty, and skepticism of popular slogans, who keep the cause of liberty alive, and such a cause is the means for the best development of the individual and the advancement of civilization.

Rose Pastor Stokes' life and love of the cause she fought for was not in vain, even though opposed to the established accepted concept of law, order, and liberty, for it is such as she with their intellectual discrimination and achieved honesty that keep the cause of liberty alive.

DELINQUENT TAXES PAYABLE YEARLY IN TEN INSTALLMENTS

Probably one of the most important bills passed by the Michigan State legislature is Senate Bill No. 27, File No. 212, referred to as the Moore bill which gives delinquent taxpayers previous to the year 1931 an opportunity to pay off in ten installments.

The salient facts of the bill are that it provides that all taxes delinquent for 1931 and prior years, shall be returned by the Auditor General to the County Treasurer and beginning with September 1, 1935, may be paid in ten equal annual installments without penalty and without collection fee and without interest. Interest after September 1, 1935 shall be paid at the rate of four per cent per annum.

There are several other provisions in the bill but the essential fact is that the delinquent taxes for 1931 and prior years are moved forward for payment, that penalties and collection fees are removed and the tax is spread over this period of years.

This will enable every person delinquent for taxes for any year beginning with 1931 and prior thereto, to have an extension of time in which to pay such taxes and if possible, save their property.

The 1932 and 1933 tax is not covered by this bill and every property owner, who is tax delinquent must pay his 1932 tax before July first of this year, if possible, which he may do without the payment of any penalties, collection fees or interest. If the 1932 tax is paid and the delinquent tax is moved forward for its collection, then the property owner has no delinquent tax that is drawing interest, his property is up to date and his tax collections are all in the future. This, according to economists, should make it possible for thousands of people throughout the state to save their homes and farms from sale for delinquent taxes. The bill has been passed by the legislature and recently signed by Governor Comstock.

The Art of Being a Mother-in-Law

"She was the best woman that ever lived," and then he added by way of apology, "if she was my mother-in-law."

"Twice recently we have heard men grown-up men in this locality speak in highest praise and with real affection of their mother-in-laws. Very unfairly this relation is always treated as a joke, as 'excess baggage' that come along with a wife or husband."

Why not father-in-law? Just because he is not so much interested. Father was never quite so "wrapped up" in his child. He had other business. For most mothers the marriage of a son or daughter is like giving up the care of a cherished child and the giving-up process is painful. That is the secret of the whole difficulty with mother-in-laws. They are so much interested.

"What made you love your mother-in-law?" we asked one of these men. (We'd like to know the secret. Our turn is coming!)

"Well," he replied thoughtfully, "She always treated me like a son."

"It's no easy trick to be a mother-in-law," said a Northville woman not long ago. "We led her on to discuss this. We listened and salted down these pointers for future reference.

A mother-in-law should like her "in-laws" as her own. If she can't she should at least not criticize them to her own children. It will not only make them lose some respect for husband or wife but will react in a feeling of resentment to ward the mother.

The new home should be regarded as a separate unit and the mother-in-law should treat it as such without interference but with an attitude of faith in the outcome of adjustments.

Never take sides—even though you see mistakes.

Let the young folks live alone if possible. Keep your own individual home if it is only one room. You will be glad to be alone at times and your absence at intervals will be appreciated.

Be a "good sport" and enter into the good times suggested (and don't tell them about your rheumatism!)

Do not interfere with the discipline of the children.

Do not refer often to "the way I used to do it." There might be better methods now. Anyway brides-like to make their own mistakes and learn by them.

If you live with them don't accept the attitude of maid-of-all-work. They might get to consider you that.

Have interests of your own. Don't let them feel that they must furnish amusement for "poor lonely mother."

Had His Sea Legs

"Hi, there," bellowed a policeman to an inebriated citizen, "you can't stand there in the street."

"Yes, I can, orfsher," retorted the citizen proudly. "Don't you worry 'bout me. I been standin' here an hour an' aint fell off yet."—Washington Labor.

Big Game

The train came to a sudden grinding stop, causing the passengers to jump. "What has happened, conductor?" cried a nervous old lady.

"Nothing much—We ran over a cow."

"Was it on the track?"

"No," replied the disgusted conductor, "We chased it into a barn."

Rotarians Are Hosts to Wives At Dinner Tuesday Evening

The Rotary Annus were given a "warm welcome" Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church house when their husbands again did the duties of "hosts" and took them out to dinner.

In spite of a soaring thermometer, everyone did ample justice to a delicious chicken dinner served by the Presbyterian ladies. Arthur Marz and Leslie G. Lee took charge of a very informal program when goodnatured fun and apt sallies brought hearty laughs at each other's expense.

This was the close of an attendance contest, warmly waged, between the "Wasps and Hornets" and resulted in the victory of the Hornets. The local Rotary club boasts of the enviable record of having the highest percentage of attendance for the month of April of 56 clubs in the district.

St. Paul's Cathedral Choir Sing at Davis Home

On Saturday evening the echoes around the rolling hills of the Clarence Davis home on Cambridge drive rang with the songs of the St. Paul's Cathedral choir which made its annual pilgrimage to this beautiful spot. Since their last year's picnic, Mr. Davis has erected a rustic picnic house just over the hill from his residence and, here the large company cooked hot hamburgers over a charcoal fire in the great fireplace and ate supper on a long table set in the open retreat.

Then in the early evening this famed choir staged their usual impromptu outdoor program while the company sat about the yard informally. Real music it was, solos by trained artists like "Tommy" Evans and Mrs. Betty Wilson, sister of Clarence Davis. Now and then a quartet, quickly arranged, sang from some unexpected quarter of the yard and often the whole company burst forth heartily in an old favorite song.

As listeners in on this program were Mrs. H. B. Clark, a neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Lee, Mrs. R. T. Baldwin and Miss Ruth Mary. Mr. Lee and Mr. Bryan could not resist joining in the refrain and took their places with the rest upon the porch-platform and contributed some Northville talent to that of the big city.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN?

Benito park was one of the fine sugar camps?
The Ford plant lawn was a pasture
lot for many years?
Buckner's Hill (not Eastlawn) was a great picnic ground?
All of Bealtown was farm land and yielded many fine crops?
You could find hickory nut trees apiently in the Yerkes lake region?

Shoppers in many varieties were made in the building back of the ice

Thompson's woods at the head of Main street was a mystery to most Northville kids?

A team of horses and a hay wagon going through Main street on a hot day stirred clouds of dust?

A lot of people spent a day in the huckleberry marshes, northwest of town before the season ended?

Sunday school and Day school pic-

CROWE ANNOUNCES CONFERENCE PHONE PLAN NOW IN USE

One of the latest contributions to the swift transaction of business is the "Telephone Conference" plan, whereby a group of men seated at their desks in different cities can confer as intimately, one with another and with the entire group, as if gathered about the same table.

With business again stepping into high gear, Roy E. Crowe, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, today announced the telephone conference plan as a new and important tool of industry.
Following a definite demand for such a setup, it was developed to aid in the speedier, more efficient and more economical transaction of business, particularly from the executive standpoint.

In the past, he said, if a number of executives or a sales manager and his branch representatives in different cities, wanted to hold a discussion, it was necessary for them to gather in conference at some one point. Hours, and sometimes days of travel, at considerable expense, were required. Most of the group were taken away from their duties for a considerable period, and the time of executives and supervisors is costly.

Now it is possible to hold such conferences by long distance telephone, with each participant in his own office. Each participant can talk with and listen to any or all of the others. As many as six can take part in a long distance telephone conference.

Through the utilization of special switching equipment in the long distance office, the connections are set up a few minutes in advance of the conference. The rates are inexpensive.

HOW WAS YOUR SHAVE THIS MORNING

Democratic Presidential Candidates in 1860-1864

Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois and Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia were the Democratic candidates for President and Vice President in 1860. Douglas, had broken with President Buchanan and the southern Democrats and consequently lost the support of the South. He carried only the states of Missouri and New Jersey, receiving 12 electoral votes, 9 from Missouri and 3 from New Jersey.

The Democrats of the South organized the Independent Democratic party and named John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky as their candidate for President and Joseph Lane of Oregon for Vice President. Breckinridge received 72 electoral votes, as follows: Alabama 9, Arkansas 4, Delaware 3, Florida 3, Georgia 10, Louisiana 8, Maryland 8, Mississippi 7, North Carolina 10, South Carolina 8, and Texas 4. George B. McClellan of New Jersey was the Democratic candidate for President in 1864. His running mate was George H. Pendleton of Ohio. McClellan carried Delaware, which gave him 3 votes; Kentucky, which gave him 11, and New Jersey, 7 votes.

Pilgrims Established "Washday"

The fact that December 20, 1920, fell on Sunday made Monday washday for the whole United States. The Pilgrims established Monday as the traditional day of the American household for washing the clothes and linens. The day they landed on Cape Cod was Sunday. In their long voyage their supplies of clean clothing ran low. Fresh water aboard the Mayflower had been reserved for a few barrels for drinking and cooking. Consequently it is easy to see why the God-fearing newcomers seized the first opportunity after the Sabbath to freshen their wardrobes. —Washington Post.

Agits Carry Earth to Trees

Spherical masses of earth from which various forms of vegetation grow are frequently found in the branches of tropical trees, and sometimes these reach remarkable size. They are the nests of certain species of ants that carry the earth up the trunks of the trees particle by particle. It is believed by some that the plants found growing in these nests are actually planted by the ants, but this is open to doubt. Suspended masses of earth in a humid tropical forest might easily become seeded without the aid of the ant.

Getting It Over With

"Junior," mother said sternly to the small culprit, "I hate to do it, but I'm going to whip you—not because you broke the windshield, but because you didn't mind me when I told you to go somewhere else to play."

"Please, mother," begged the boy tearfully, "can't you whip me for breaking the windshield, too, while you're about it? Dad'll be so mad when he comes in that he'll want to give somebody a licking for that."

Some Fellows Have Style That Keeps You Guessing

Among the people you meet, you now and then run across one that puzzles you. He doesn't seem to fit into the average run of human beings, and you are at your wit's end about this newcomer. This is a critical moment in the ordinary run of human affairs, a critical moment for you.

Did you ever think of this? Those who turn out to be puzzles are, after all, worth puzzling with. The individual who has so many sides to his nature that you cannot see them all at once is likely to be a somebody. In other words, he has personality plus. To say the least, he is interesting. He keeps you guessing.

The next time you meet a fellow who is continually displaying unexpected traits, don't be discouraged. Stick by him. You may learn something. And the thing that you are likely to learn is that you are not only the puzzled, but also the puzzler.

It is something of a puzzle how and why the majority of human beings get into a rut and finally have no sides to them at all. The man with only a few sides is totally unable to get the most out of his human surroundings. If you can't recognize and account for the many-sidedness of human nature, you have simply lost your own personality. —Washington Star.

Citizenship Requirements Affecting Wives, Children

It requires either birth in this country for full rights of citizenship or naturalization of parents before children are twenty-one years of age as required by "Act of Congress." In the latter case the children do not require naturalization by the court nor are they required to take out citizenship papers.

Children of parents who are citizens, but born in foreign countries, are on the same basis as those born in this country.

Since 1922 a foreign-born woman, marrying a citizen of this country, is automatically a citizen. A woman shall not become a citizen if she marries a man who has been naturalized after September 22, 1922.

A woman citizen of the United States does not lose her citizenship by marriage to a man of foreign birth if married after September 22, 1922, unless she renounces her citizenship before a court having jurisdiction over the naturalization of aliens. —The New Era.

New Member of Wren Family

An entirely new type of marsh wren has been identified at Charles town, S. C., through the research of two Charleston naturalists. It has been named "telmatodytes palustris waynei" in honor of Arthur T. Wayne, now dead, who discovered several new species about 1900. It is exceptionally dark, has a head and nape a sooty black, the flanks brown, the tail heavily barred, and the sides of the breast barred. It frequents the rice fields.

Farm Tractor With Air Balloons Makes New Record

Frank Brisko, noted racing driver at wheel of tractor with which he set an official world speed record of 35.4 m.p.h. for five miles. The other helmeted racing driver is Chet Gardner, and beside the big tire are Bill Cummings, left and Shorty Cantlon, right—all famous race drivers. Behind the driver is Albert Schroeder, farmer who gave a glowing demonstration with this Firestone air-tired Allis-Chalmers tractor. At the left is the $30,000 F.W.D. racing car Brisko drove after the tractor run.

Knowledge, Intelligence Have Different Meanings

A great many people confuse knowledge with intelligence, both in the use and the meaning of these terms. There is a distinction, however, that is worth consideration. Knowledge is something you acquire. There are as many sorts of knowledge as there are things to learn. In other words, knowledge is the thing you require before you use your intelligence.

Intelligence is of two kinds—native and acquired. When a psychologist uses the term intelligence, he usually has in mind that inherited ability which amounts to a power to use knowledge. Acquired intelligence is the kind you have in mind when you say, "Knowledge is power."

For practical purposes one need not distinguish between knowledge and acquired intelligence. One might make the distinction in another way. Knowledge is the raw material of mental life. Intelligence is the machinery that puts this raw material to work. The really intelligent person is the one who knows the uses of knowledge. In still other words, knowledge is the stuff out of which achievement is made, while intelligence is the ability to make achievement possible. —Washington Star.

Wood Used by Indians for Bows

The wood used by American Indians for making bows was ash, birch, cedar, cottonwood, elm, hickory, oak, walnut, willow, with hazel and yew, depending on the wood available and the custom in various tribes. The Indians in sections of the country preferred seed and growth hickory. The wood must be seasoned at least three years before it is suitable for this purpose. Yew imported from Spain or Italy now is favored for bows.

A GLORIOUS FOURTH

If you haven't had a real glorious good time on the Fourth of July since the days when you—up at sunrise to shoot off the first firecracker and stayed up till all hours to shoot off that last sky-rocket—why not plan a Fourth-of-July picnic supper and a large evening to follow?

The recipe for this sort of party is something like this: Take along sufficient people to mix well, add picnic basket heaping with good food, sit in a generous supply of fireworks, pack all into three or four cars, and step on the gas.

Food, Flags and Fun

And first, there arises the question of the picnic basket contents. Be sure to select foods which can be prepared at home, or quickly put together on the spot, which will be as inviting as if they were served in your own dining-room. Choose a red, white and blue color-scheme of course, for your picnic accessories—white paper plates, blue napkins and red paper cups are appropriate—and you can buy large paper table cloths which are patriotic in color and design. If there are woodland flowers to gather for your table centerpiece, so much the better. If not, have on hand a plentiful supply of tiny American flags, and place a cake with white icing in the center of the feast, sticking up a border of these small flags in the top of the cake.

"What to do" isn't a heavy problem if your gang is congenial, but in case you feel a dull moment coming on, have some game in mind that is lively fun. For example, Capture the Colors. Take along with you plenty of balloons—red, white and blue ones—and give each player a balloon.

Divide the group into two opposing sides and give each side a goal line. The players stand on their goal lines and keep batting their balloons into the air with their hands. At a secret signal from the leader of the opposing side, that side dashes to the other side's goal line and can capture any balloon that is in mid-air. Each side is allowed three attacks on the enemy's colors, and the side which comes out with the largest number of balloons captured—they must be whole balloons—wins the contest.

After the picnic supper, have your fireworks so planned that each one will have a chance to "send off" some of the splendor. And here is a delicious menu of tested recipes which will prove to be a refreshing supper for a warm evening. Each recipe serves eight persons.

Deviled Eggs • Potato Chips • Watermelon Pickles • Chicken and Vegetable Salad • Sandwiches

Nut Bread, Cheese and Fig Sandwiches • Melba Mold • Coconut Kisses • Small Iced Cakes • Coffee • Fruit Nectar

Chicken and Vegetable Salad Sandwiches: Cut up the chicken from a 6-ounce can of chicken, add the contents of an 8-ounce can of peas, which have been drained, one-fourth cup chopped celery and one-fourth cup chopped pimiento. Moisten well with mayonnaise. Spread on buttered bread, cover with lettuce leaf and top with second slice of battered bread.

Melba Mold: Bring one-third cup sugar and one-third cup milk to boiling, pour slowly over two slightly-beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add one cup beaten cream and two tablespoons cherry flavoring. Drain contents of one No. 2 can of halved and pack one on each of the other in the center of a tall cookie can, or a small coffee can. Fill around the peaches with the cream mixture, cover and pack in ice and salt for four hours. Slice on a platter.

Cigarettes Have Been Used Over One Hundred Years

The cigarette is 100 years old, but the conditions of its birth are so obscure that the world is not celebrating its centennial.

Like many another famous invention, the cigarette's creation was due to an accident. The generally accepted story is that it was born in 1882, during the siege of Saint Jean d'Arc by the soldiers of Ibrahim Pasha, viceroy of Egypt.

Legend says that the Egyptian soldiers were faced by an emergency. A camel caravan had brought a great quantity of Turkish tobacco, but another caravan loaded with pipes had been captured by the Turks. The soldiers had plenty of tobacco and wanted to smoke, but in the absence of pipes, were obliged to find a substitute.

An officer solved the problem by rolling a pinch of tobacco in a piece of tissue paper and enjoyed the smoke. The news spread over the camp and those who could not find tobacco used a type of "India paper."

The Spanish tobacco monopoly administration without verifying that picturesque legend admits that the cigarette came to Europe from the Near East, carried back by navigators.

As late as France is concerned, the oldest official document is an order signed by Louis-Philippe on October 22, 1843, which authorizes the royal factory to manufacture cigarettes. —Detroit Free Press.

Scenic Ecuador Smallest South American Republic

Travelers are discovering that Ecuador, lying on the Equator, along the west coast of South America, is one of the most unspoiled places in the Western Hemisphere. This country was inhabited, long before Columbus ever dreamed that the world was round, by prehistoric races whose origin is shrouded in mystery.

Although it is the smallest of South American republics, Ecuador boasts the most startling scenic contrast of any place of its size on the continent; two of the highest peaks of the Andes, Chimborazo and Cotopaxi about 20,000 feet high; and fertile valleys and coastal plains yielding sugar, coffee, tobacco, cotton and vegetable ivory.

From Guayaquil a spectacular railroad route leads through dense jungles and magnificent mountain scenery to Quito, the capital, which rests almost 10,000 feet above sea level. Quito—along with Mexico City and Cuzco, ancient capital of the Incas—antecedates the white man's discovery of America. Its exact age is unknown.

Goethe's Lineage

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe was a direct descendant of Charlemagne. This is the claim of Professor Schroeder, noted German historian, of the University of Tuebingen, who has carefully studied the list of ancestors of the famous German poet, the hundredth anniversary of whose death was marked by memorial festivities throughout Europe. According to Professor Schroeder, the wife of an ancestor of Goethe in the eleventh generation, Frau Kuntzel Dietz, was the illegitimate daughter of Duke Henry III of Hesse. Following this line, Professor Schroeder came to the astounding discovery that Charlemagne was one of the early ancestors of the famous German poet.

The Stamp Collector

A missionary had delivered a lecture relating his experiences in various parts of the world. He concluded with an earnest appeal for funds to keep up the good work, and added that even the children would be welcome to give their mite.

When the meeting was over he was pleased to see a boy pressing forward to meet him. He held out a hand to the boy and said: "I'm glad to see you, my little man. I always take a great interest in children. I suppose you would like to contribute to the cause."

"Well," replied the little boy, "what I wanted to ask was whether you have any foreign stamps to give away?" —Punchliner.

Patent Office Is Ahead of All Others on Income

The patent office is self-supporting, there being a surplus of receipts over expenditures in practically every year of operation. A report of the institute for government research states that the charges made by the patent office for its services and most of its publications usually aggregate more than the entire expense of operation, so that this bureau has become one of the revenue-producing organizations of the government.

The accumulated surplus earnings of the patent office up to June 30, 1932, amounted to over $8,460,000. A recent act of congress states that the money required for that office shall be appropriated by law out of its revenues, except as otherwise provided by law.

The commissioner of patents is appointed by the President, with the consent of the senate. The annual report of the patent office for the year ended June 30, 1932, showed that a record number of patents, 52,572, had been granted; it showed also that all of the 65 examining divisions were less than six months behind, a great advance over former conditions. The demand for economy makes it unlikely that the force of about 700 examiners will be increased in the near future. Statistics for 1930 showed 95,227 applications, 52,571 patents granted, 119,597 pending, 16,230 trademarks.

Airedale Is One of Most Popular of All Terriers

From mongrel to the most popular of all large terriers, at least in this country, is approximately half a century to the record that has been made by the airedale. This breed had its origin in Yorkshire, England, where its mongrel ancestors resulted from the interbreeding of the black-and-tan wire-haired terrier and the other hound about sixty years ago. From a clever and dependable mongrel it has since been developed, by careful breeding, into the airedale terrier of today which generally meets the most exacting of requirements and is considered an all-around dog hard to beat.

The airedale terrier has been used successfully for all kinds of purposes; from hunting lions in Africa to guarding and playing with children; and from herding sheep and cattle to drawing a sled in the Arctic. Lively, watchful, impetuous and unusually intelligent, this dog has all the qualities that go into the making of a lovable and useful dog companion.

Origin of Phrase "Sub Rosa"

The origin of the phrase "sub rosa" or "under the rose," implies secrecy and had its origin in 477 B. C. At that time, Pausanias, commander of the confederate fleet of the Spartans and the Athenians, was engaged in a secret plot with Xerxes for bringing Greece under the Persian rule. The plottings were carried on in a building connected to the temple of Minerva, the roof of which was a bower of roses, so that the plans, which were conducted with the utmost secrecy, were literally made "under the rose." It afterward became a custom among the Athenians to wear roses in their hair whenever they wished to communicate to one another a secret. Hence, the saying "sub rosa" among them, and since that time, among Christian nations.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

Geological Sketch of the United States of America

United States has an area of 3,026,791 square miles. Length from north to south is 1,780 miles, width from east to west is 3,100 miles, and the coastline 21,354 miles.

The mineral supply is one of the chief natural resources. It has extensive production in coal, iron, oil and silver. The deposits of gold, quicksilver, lead and copper are very great. In the West and Northwest there are dense forests of pine, spruce, birch and maple; in the Southeast the cedar, pine and many valuable hardwoods abound; in the east-central part grow oak, maple, hickory, elm and other useful trees, while in California are found the giant sequoia trees. The great agricultural region, growing three-fourths of the corn and wheat crop of the world and half the tobacco crop, is in the central and southern part of the country.

Total railway mileage, 270,000. Total tonnage of American shipping is over 7,000,000. There are more than 290 streams in the country used to a substantial degree for navigation, with an approximate navigable mileage of 26,400.

Washington, D. C., is the capital; other important cities: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Buffalo, San Francisco and Milwaukee.

Submarine Mountains Form Chain Not Unlike Rockies

The United States coast and geologic survey recently explored, off the coast of New England, submarine mountains forming a chain not unlike the Rockies. A counterpart of the Grand canyon was also found in Corsica gorge, a ravine two miles wide, with a slope of 45 degrees in places and a height of 1,800 feet. Transatlantic liners pass over "scenery" as bold as any the passengers on board may be en route to see.

These great canyons and gorges, it is believed, are the result of river erosion at a time when New England was a plateau at least a mile and a half above sea level. The canyons resemble river valleys, with branching tributaries like those of the western canyons. Another surprise regarding this formation is that the gorge was the result of a gash left by a giant glacial landslide, which slipped from the continent to a depth of 6,000 feet below the present surface level of the water.

Creation of Perfumes

Every good perfumer has to mind something that he wishes to depict when he creates a new fragrance. Perhaps it is merely a memory, as in the fragrance, a success of the moment, which was born of the memory of a brilliant state occasion at a royal court. Another evokes the essence of the English spring, breathing the scent of countess flowers gracing gardens of English countryside. Still another creation is reminiscent of a visit to the Orient, with its rich color, its pagentry and, behind everything, its mystery. Another odor, an almost instantaneous success, is a vital one, suggesting beauty with candor and strength of character. A delightful fragrance was inspired by the scent of ferns at twilight, when this delicate plant gives off its fragrance.

EDGEWATER PARK PLANS BIG FOURTH CELEBRATION

July 4th will be a gala day at Edgewater Park, Seven Mile road W., near Grand River, Detroit. Paul Henze, general manager, has arranged an elaborate all-day outdoor show with a spectacular fire fireworks display as the climax.

In addition to the free fireworks display there will be the usual thrilling rides and amusements, all priced at but 5c and 10c. Jean Goldkette is also planning a special program in Edgewater Park ballroom for July 4th. Dancing to the music of Eddie Shell and his 14 radio artists will be 35c per person that evening. The week-night admission is 10c less.

Special bus service will connect with all Grand River street cars at Lahser avenue, Redford, and take all patrons direct to the park without charge. Free admission, free parking and free picnicking facilities each contributing their share to make Edgewater Park an ideal, yet inexpensive, spot for the family outing on July 4th, or any other day for that matter.

Slight Difference Between Coke and Coal for Heating

In heating value, there appears to be little value between coke and various kinds of coal, the figure given for coke being 14,400 to 14,600 B. T. U. per pound, while for coal it is a little higher. Of course, a good deal depends on how completely burned the fuel is, how much of the heat is lost, etc. Our coke is now made chiefly in by-products ovens, the production for 1930 being 45,515,000 tons from by-product ovens and 2,756,000 tons from bee-hive ovens. Most of the coke is produced in coke plants in the coal regions of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, etc. Bureau of census figures for a recent year show only 3,444,000 tons produced for sale in the manufactured gas industry (by firms making this their principal business). It is estimated that one ton of Pittsburgh coal produces 1,500 pounds of coke, 11,360 cubic feet of gas, 12.4 gallons of tar, 25 pounds of ammonium sulphate and four gallons of light oil (benzenes). All of these products, including the gas, are sold to consumers or to manufacturers of other products.

Strong Language

Captain—What's the report? Executive—This man is reported, sir, for foully and loudly using profanity and abusive language against another person in the naval service.

Captain—What Have You to Say?

Sailor—I was standing on the port side of this mastedeck, sir, near the gangway in my new liberty "blues" when I saw a fellow when the cork of the spud locker kicked over a pot o' paint and the top o' the galley deck house and it emptied down my neck and all over the back o' my new blues.

Captain—And what did you say?

Sailor—I said, "Hurry, you really ought to be more careful."

Captain—Excused. Next—West Virginia Mountaineer.

Glass That Bends; Both Bullet and Stone Proof—Unbreakable glass is said to have been invented 2,000 years ago. An artist appeared before Tiberius with a glass cup which he dashed on the ground. It was not broken but merely dented like a piece of metal. Then he hammered the cup back into shape with a mallet. Tiberius asked if anybody else knew the secret, and when the inventor answered "No," had him beheaded lest this wonderful glass should depreciate the value of gold!

Now the secret which died with its discoverer so long ago has been again revealed in Germany, where glass has been produced with neither splinters nor breaks. To test it three adults used a long sheet of 9-50th of an inch thickness as a saw, and the glass is reported to have shown an elasticity similar to that of highly-flexible steel.

As a further test, a heavy steel ball was dropped from a height of 10 feet on the glass without leaving any impression. Railway authorities and the motor-car trade are keenly interested in this glass, and it may be that the police will not be indifferent to it, as its general use for shop windows would tend to reduce, if not abolish, the "smash-and-grab" menace.—Tit-Bits.

EXCHANGITES ELECT DR. B. H. DOUGLAS AS NEXT PRESIDENT

Conclusion of the mock trial and election of officers for the coming quarter occupied Exchangers at their weekly meeting and luncheon held Wednesday noon at the Methodist church house.

Following are the results of the election: Dr. B. H. Douglas, president; Dr. H. I. Sparling, first vice-president; Robert G. Yerkes, second vice-president; Frank L. Snipes, third vice-president; Sherrill W. Ambler, secretary; and Ad. Schwenger, treasurer. Elected to the board of control was Sam Wilkinson.

Charles Murphy, retiring president, will turn over the gavel to Dr. Douglas on Wednesday, July 5, the next time the club convenes.

Following an address to the jury both the prosecution and the defense attorneys, Robert G. Yerkes and M. J. Murphy, respectively, rested their cases.

The prosecutor asked the jury merely to "look at the cringing defendants, and then decide what verdict should be rendered."

The defense attorney began a paean of praise of the two defendants, Dayton Bunn and Ad. Schwenger, but stopped abruptly when he discovered that his honorarium had not been left in the box provided for that purpose.

Mr. Schwenger, fainting when the defense attorney left his post, but was revived by Dr. A. A. Holcomb and Dr. L. W. Snow, with the aid of a pint sized hypodermic needle.

Judge Nelson C. Schrader charged the jury and finding the defendants guilty proceeded to read the sentence. Mr. Bunn was ordered to provide a full turkey dinner for members of the Reptile Club annually and to smile as though he enjoyed it. Mr. Schwenger was given a suspended sentence, ordered to keep his sleeves rolled down while dining at the club, and to report once each week to Police Chief Wm. H. Sanford.

Guests were: James Richard Patrick Lyons and Dr. L. W. Snow. Riverside Park, located near Plymouth, will be the focus point for thousands of Exchangers on Thursday, July 13, when they go there for an outing of huge proportions. Each Exchanger will bring a basket lunch and there will be plenty of entertainment: ball games, and other recreation to provide a good time for all.

SECOND AIR ACCIDENT OCCURS NEAR HERE—The second airplane crash within a period of two weeks in this vicinity occurred Tuesday evening when a young Negro woman and her husband, a student flier attempting his second solo flight, were killed Tuesday evening when their plane struck the tip of a twenty foot pole at the edge of the Burns airport and crashed into Plymouth road a few yards west of Telegraph road, narrowly missing passing motorists.

Don P. Simmons, 25 years old, Detroit, the pilot, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, died at 10:30 p. m. in Redford Receiving hospital. His wife, Katherine, 20, had died in the hospital two hours earlier and only shortly after the crash which occurred at about 7:45 o'clock in the evening.

Last week a pilot and observer from Selridge field crashed near the Twelve Mile road after stunting their craft in the vicinity of Farmington.

LEGION BOYS PLAY PLYMOUTH SATURDAY—The first official game of the junior baseball team sponsored by the Northville Lloyd H. Green post of the American Legion will be held at Plymouth tomorrow (Saturday) at Riverside Park, beginning at 3:00 p. m., with the Plymouth Legion team.

The team is so far without uniforms and a collection will be taken for the purchasing of equipment. Northville Legion officials urge that as many Northville fans as possible attend. There is also to be a game at Hazel Park Sunday afternoon.

Christian Science Churches

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 2.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Joel 2:28): "And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom, is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

St. Paul's Lutheran—Leo C. Eckstaedt, Pastor. 220 Elm St. SHEEP OF JESUS—In John 10 verse 27 we read the Savior's words: "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow Me."

Here is comfort for the Lord's people. Three brief statements only, simple for any child to understand, but more precious than all the earth: "My sheep"—what a compliment the kind Lord pays us. Sheep are gentle, sheep are tractable, easily led. What a name for those who often balk, who are headstrong and wayward! And what a glorious promise. Sheep are weak, helpless, the prey of any foe. But He gives us assurance that we are His. He has an owner's interest. And He is strong. He will protect those who coast Him dearly.

"They hear My voice"—the gentle voice of the Gospel, though they deserve to hear the stern voice of the law and curse and wrath. "And I know them"—Is not this very often the source of much of our trouble? People do not know and understand us, our motives and our objects. And for that reason we are not appreciated, or people expect too much of us. No danger of this here, my Christian. The All-knowing One knows them to be His, bought with a price. And therefore He knows every one of them in love and deep affection and stands ready to maintain His claim of possession. And He knows their strength, their particular needs, their peculiar problems. Leave your case and your problems to His everlasting arms. "And they follow Me"—This also belongs to the description of His sheep. Thus they are characterized. That is what makes them sheep. They follow Him, cling to Him in true and firm faith, because they realize what they have in Him. They also follow Him in childlike, grateful obedience when He makes demands for sacrifices. His faintest wish is law to them, the doing of it their greatest bliss.

Examine yourself then. If you fall short, if you complain of His extravagant claims, (as it would seem to you) hear His voice again, and then some more and follow Him.

Divine service will be held at the usual time, 10 o'clock. The pastor will preach.

Strangers in the village and people without a church home are cordially invited and welcomed to our services.

Prayer service is held at the church every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. "I will meet you at the hymn-sing Sunday evening at 7:30."

Each father received a spray of sweet peas by four lovely young ladies of the Crusader class, who were ushers.

The pastor brought a stirring message on examples of "Fatherhood" in the Bible. Sunday school followed with Ed. Bauman conducting.

Tanning Rabbit Skins

The method of treating rabbit skins at home, so that they can be used for coat trimmings is as follows:

First, remove fat and flesh from the skin, then cover the flesh side with salt and allow to stand three or four days in a fairly cool place to dry out. Make a tanning solution of 4 pounds of salt and 5 gallons of water in a wooden tub, adding carefully 2 fluid ounces of sulphuric acid. Allow the skin to remain in this for one to three weeks, then rinse and dry in a shady place. Work and stretch the skin to make it pliable and rub in a little neat-foot oil.

Gasoline Vapor

One gallon of gasoline at 60 degrees F. is said to average 6.15 pounds in weight. According to Mechanical Engineer's Handbook, one pound of gasoline vapor at 62 degrees F. and at atmospheric pressure has a volume of 4.2 cubic feet. At this rate, a gallon of gasoline would produce about 25.8 cubic feet of vapor. The gas ignited in an automobile cylinder is of course a very large amount of air. It has been stated that if one gallon of gasoline be completely changed to vapor, it will render the air in a room 21 by 10 by 10 feet explosive, or a quart for a room 8 by 8 by 8 feet. One authority has estimated that automobile engines are able to utilize less than 5 per cent of the tremendous energy stored up in gasoline, the other 95 per cent being either thrown away entirely or used up in friction.

Birth of American Navy

The American navy came into existence in 1776 after the close in vestment of Boston by Washington had cut off all supplies to the British troops, save such as might arrive by water. To intercept these some small vessels were armed and manned by New England seamen, first under the auspices of Rhode Island and Connecticut, and afterward by authority of the congress which organized a naval committee with John Adams at its head. These little craft not only deprived the enemy of succor, but captured enough prizes to furnish the Continental army with war material, without which it could not have continued hostilities.

Many commissions will be administered with reception of members and baptism.

Sunday school at 11:45 a. m. All are most cordially invited.

The Crusader class will meet and have a picnic supper and class party at Silver Lake, Friday evening, July 7. All young people are urged to attend this party. Mrs. Ernest P. Schockow is the efficient teacher of this class.

DR. FISHER STARTS SUMMER SERMONS AT ANN ARBOR

The public is invited to attend the service which begins at 10:45. The church is located at State and Washington streets, Ann Arbor.

BILLY SCHULTZ AND CHARLEY HILL LEAD IN GROCERY TEST

Two Northville boys are well up in the lead of the A. & P. sales contest for boys, their goal to be a free trip to the World's Fair at Chicago. The two are Billy Schultz and Charles Hill, Jr., who have approximately 50,000 votes each. The contest closes Monday, July 3, and the boys now in the home stretch of the race are working hard to get as many votes as possible. Extra votes are given for specified articles in the A. & P. advertisement in this issue.

Priser Staman, store manager, believes that the boys have an excellent chance of being selected among those fortunate to win this trip.

OLDSMOBILE STEPS UP JUNE PRODUCTION

Sales of Oldsmobile Six and Straight Eights continued to increase during the second 10 days in June, says Kenneth Rathburn, local dealer, exceeding the same period of 1932 by 87.66 per cent and the first 10 days of this June by 107.7 per cent. The increased sales of the second over the first 10-day June period indicate a steady demand inasmuch as June is usually a receding sales month from the peak of spring buying.

Oldsmobile is one of the few automobile manufacturers with total volume of retail sales through June 20 of this year greater than for the same period last year, according to Mr. Rathburn.

During May, Oldsmobile broke all previous monthly records since July, 1931, and twice during the first half of June, factory schedules were boosted to meet dealers' orders.

CHILDREN TAKE PART IN MORNING SERVICE

"A church should be a school to develop character from earliest childhood on throughout life," said Rev. F. N. Miner to his audience at the Methodist church Sunday morning. "So that life may be fuller of meaning and happier."

Only a few practical remarks were made by Mr. Miner on this Sunday which was observed as children's day. A fair representation of the children of the Sunday school attended and made their contributions to the program. A recitation by Maxine Perkins, a duet by Vivian Grosvenor and Jean Atchison, accompanied by Miss Betty Miner, and a piano solo by Faith Liebetret added to the interest of the service. The choir sang a special number with the solo part carried by Miss Florence Johnson.

The church bell rang one half hour earlier than usual and both church and Sunday school were commenced in this one service.
