WORK BEGUN ON BRIDGE ON CENTER ST.

Four Months Will Be Spent
In Building Cement
Structure

Traffic over the Center street road to Plymouth will be detoured over the Northville-Plymouth pavement for approximately the next four months, according to Wayne County Road officials, who are supervising the construction of the Center street bridge, which has been serving faithfully for 42 years.

Center street road to Plymouth is open south from the Six Mile road on.

A large concrete span will replace the old structure, the shuttles to which were considerably weakened recently when the River Rouge and the streams feeding it flooded their banks.

The grading of the old bridge level will be reduced by a foot and a half, say engineers, and that will enable the road to meet the new concrete highway from Cass, Benton Park, which forms part of the new River Rouge Parkway system.

The Center street bridge will be of the "two barrel" type, construction such as that at present carries over Waterford dam. This will take off a larger flow of water than did the old bridge. It will be safer, facilitate traffic, and carry more weight.

The overhead bridge at the Six Mile and Northville roads has been completed and the bridge farther into the park is near completion. The entire project will probably be finished and ready for use sometime during the fall, it is said.

Approximately 20 men selected from the welfare rolls of Northville and nearby townships will be engaged in building the Center street bridge, say local officials in charge of the work. Hiring of the labor will be done, they say, through the Detroit office of the Wayne County Roads commission.

H. A. Shuptrine, Wayne County Roads inspector, is in charge of the work.

HARRY E. NESMAN OF WALLED LAKE GOES TO STATE POSITION

Harry E. Nesman, superintendent of the Walled Lake Consolidated School, announced his resignation Tuesday to become associated with the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. He plans to go to Lansing next week.

Mr. Nesman came to Walled Lake nine years ago as high school principal and became superintendent three years ago. He has been a close student of educational administrative problems and won his master's degree from the University of Michigan recently with a study of school systems.

His district was one of the few in Oakland county that found its activities would not be crippled seriously if it compelled to live within the property tax allocation permitted it by the county tax commission.

W. R. C.
The regular meeting of the W. R. C. will be held in the Legion rooms on Wednesday evening, July 12. All members are requested to be present.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO THAD J. KNAFF

At the annual gathering of the Northville high school alumni association Friday evening, July 1, an impressive tribute was paid to the late Thad J. Knapp, an alumnus of the school and for nearly three years its superintendent. The following resolutions were passed voicing the feelings of all:

RECORD BEGINS ITS 63RD YEAR WITH THIS ISSUE

Nine Editors Have Been In Charge Since Its Founding

Starting with this issue of The Record, Northville's weekly newspaper pursuing its sixty-third year of activity.

Living up to mast-head slogan, "The Oldest Paper in Wayne County Outside of the City of Detroit," The Northville Record has had an honorable career since the day of its founding by Samuel H. Little.

Started as The Wayne County Record, this newspaper changed to its present name approximately one year later. A disastrous fire destroyed the building in the winter of 1930 and the new building, owned by Mrs. Bertha Neal, was completed in June, 1931.

Nine editors have guided the destinies of The Northville Record. Starting with Samuel H. Little, there have been the following: George Kator, J. H. Juntin, E. Roscoe Reed, A. C. Walterhouse, Frank S. Neal, E. E. Brown, Elton R. Eaton, and the present editor, Richard T. Baldwin.

The Record has never missed a single weekly publication, it is said, since the day it was first published.

GRUNOW SELECTED FOR WORLD'S FAIR

The Grunow Super-Safe Refrigerator, handled exclusively here by Clifford Turnbull of Northville Electric Shop, was selected by unanimous choice to be the only electric refrigerator displayed in the Hall of Science at the World's Fair at Chicago.

The Grunow refrigerator will represent the entire industry at the Century of Progress.

The Grunow electric refrigerator, explains Mr. Turnbull, is the only domestic refrigerator whose principle of operation would permit the use of glass for demonstration purposes. Every electric refrigerator, he says, contains some kind of liquid which turns to gas to remove the heat from the cabinet and then is condensed to liquid form again. Water electric refrigerators accomplish this change from liquid to gas and back to liquid form by high pressure, according to Mr. Turnbull.

The Grunow, by using carbon as a refrigerant operates under a vacuum, says Mr. Turnbull, instead of high pressure. Therefore, because there is no danger of bursting equipment glass tubing has been employed.

The Grunow, states Mr. Turnbull, has received the endorsement of the Good Housekeeping Institute, the approval of the Underwriters Laboratory, and now it has been chosen by the country's leading scientists to represent the entire refrigerator industry.

Notice of Appreciation

Many thanks to the people who saved their vote coupons from the A. & P. store for me, and especially to those who stuck with me to the end of the contest.

Percy Angove Has Made Splendid Record in Field of Education Assisting Handicapped Children

It will be with considerable surprise that many Northville people will learn that, due to the shake-up in Wayne county politics, Percy Angove, well known state educator who has been connected with the Wayne County Training school for the past few years, terminated his services there on July 1. However, our citizens will be glad to know that Mr. Angove and his estimable family have come to Northville to live and are residing at 211 West Dumlup street.

Many of our readers will be interested in knowing that Mr. Angove has a remarkable background of 17 years experience with children during which time he has become known as one of the state's experts in this field. He is highly trained, holds his life certificate in teaching and has the degrees of both Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts. He was a teacher and director of education in the public schools for seven years and in 1920 was called to the state department of education to inaugurate three new divisions of educational activity, becoming state director of vocational rehabilitation, state director of manual arts and state director of special education. Mr. Angove supervised all three of these for seven years.

High honor came to Mr. Angove during his work with the state department. He helped write and administer laws for the atypical child. Among the notable positions to which he was named were: President of the Intermediate Association for the Education of Handicapped Children; president of State Manual Arts association; and president of the Inter-City Conference of Social Workers.

After much solicitation, Mr. Angove came from Lansing to develop the educational department at the Wayne County Training school and this department is now considered a model by experts from the University of Michigan, Michigan State Normal college and the state department of public instruction. Mr. Angove states that his great regret at leaving the school is the breaking of the association with the hundreds of children who have been under supervision.

ARTHUR MARZ TO OPEN FORD PLANT HERE

Manufacture of Parts Will Be Carried On In Local Garage

A new factory located in the Marz Motor Sales garage employing from ten to twenty men, will shortly begin production on 3,000 Ford car pieces daily.

The factory will be in charge of Arthur Marz, proprietor of the Ford sales and service in Northville.

Negotiations which have been under way for the past two weeks were completed Wednesday, according to Mr. Marz, and machinery is expected to arrive within the next two weeks.

The parts of the Ford car to be made are the waterpump housing, impeller, and pulley.

Capacity production will not, as reached immediately, says Mr. Marz. Probably, manufacture of one or two of the parts, he explains, will put ten men to work at the outset, and as fast as the machinery arrives new men will be employed. Mr. Marz believes that he will be able to employ 20 men at least with the equipment planned.

The sales and service part of the company will continue to operate in conjunction with the factory.

The placing of small factories throughout the small towns of the country is a part of the new Ford industrial program which is now getting under way. Small factories in nearby towns are also being planned, it was learned.

It is possible that another small factory will be established in Northville on a site which is equipped for manufacturing but negotiations for this have not yet reached the stage where this proposition can be regarded as certain.

Raw materials for manufacture at the Marz factory will be provided by the Ford Motor company, states Mr. Marz, two pickups and three delivery trucks being the schedule planned.

LICENSE PLATE SALE

The half-price sale of 1933 license plates will start August 1, it was announced by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald following the governor's decision to veto the Raymond bill which provided for four different license plate prices, according to time of purchase.

Defects in the bill in not properly specifying the times when plates should be sold at half and at quarter prices were one of the reasons given for the veto. The half-price sale will start August 1 under the provisions of the Orr bill which allowed 1932 plates to be used until that date when accompanied by a windshield permit showing that one-half of the 1933 weight tax had been paid.

Street Dance Draws Crowd

Well-established, Northville's weekly free street dances are becoming known throughout the countryside.

Although scheduled to begin at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening Saturday's dance did not get under way until eight-thirty, at which time the out of town people had an opportunity to complete their evening chores, get cleaned up, and arrive in town.

Scott Montgomery's Rhythm Kings provided the harmonious music and the scrape, scrape of the dancer's feet was heard on N. Center street until eleven-thirty o'clock.

Tomorrow evening an additional feature has been planned to entertain those attending the free dance.

A treasure hunt will be conducted and the awards now contained in the shop windows throughout the town will be given away free. Merchants are giving out the numbered tickets during business hours and the holders of the numbers will be able to seek their prizes at nine o'clock during intermission when the winning figures are placed in the windows along with the awards.

Chairman Irving J. Ulrich announces that the dance will start promptly at eight-thirty o'clock in the evening and will last until eleven-thirty.

CLOSING OF LAKES IS APPROVED BY HEALTH OFFICIALS

The following letter was received from the State Health department by Chief of Police Wm. H. Safford, relative to the closing of Waterford because it is dangerously unprotected and highly polluted:

Mr. Wm. H. Safford, Chief of Police, Northville, Mich.
Dear Sir:

In reply to your telephone conversation with Mr. Butler of this department relative to swimming in the River Rouge on Ford property downstream from Northville, we would advise that this section of the river is highly polluted, and we do not consider it safe for swimming. The department has already taken a similar stand with regard to Phoenix lake.

The fact that Northville discharges their treated sewage into the river above this swimming place is sufficient evidence to condemn it for swimming.

Yours truly,
Bureau of Engineering,
Edward D. Rich, Director.

Chief Safford states that the main objection to swimming in either Phoenix or Waterford lake is the fact that no protection is offered to bathers.

EXPLOSION OF CRUISER CONCERNS NORTHVILLE

The explosion which occurred on the cabin cruiser of Alva L. Grinnell of Detroit Monday evening near Algoma is of interest to Northville because one of the men, Jas. B. Shepard, injured in this accident, is a brother-in-law of Mrs. T. B. Henry, Dumlup street.

Shepard had just gone aboard the cruiser, which was lying in dock, to be the guest of the Grinnells at dinner when the explosion occurred. All were badly burned and otherwise injured. Shepard was taken by ambulance to Harper hospital and physicians from the Mayo clinic in Rochester were called in consultation. All are still in a critical condition.

Mrs. Shepard is well-known here, having made her home with her sister, Mrs. Henry, for some time.

OLD COWELL HOUSE PUTS ON NEW DRESS

The former Cowell House is undergoing a thorough redecoration at the hands of painters and paper hangers preparatory to the opening of the new Merritt Hotel.

Partitions between small bedrooms and the dining room have been removed, thus enlarging the capacity for seating guests in the dining room, besides making the room much lighter. New linoleum has been laid on the entire lower floor and the woodwork has been painted a pale ivory.

The Merritts have had experience in running a successful hotel previously in this village and Mrs. Merritt can scarcely remember when she was not associated with this line of work.

Their Northville patrons will welcome them back and wish them good luck.

WORKING 24 HOURS A DAY

The Detroit concern which makes chocolate syrup for making chocolate milk, of which Chas. E. Rogers of the Nine Mile road, is one of the heads, is now working 24 hours a day to supply the demand for its product is Solco Chocolate Syrup, added to care for the new business, says Mr. Rogers. The name of the firm is Choice Foods, Inc., and the product is Solco Chocolate Syrup.

BILLY SCHULTZ IS LEADER IN CONTEST FOR TRIP TO FAIR

Billy Scholtz won the local sales contest conducted by the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company to select candidates for free trips to the Chicago World's Fair, with a total of 102,544 coupons.

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Scholtz, 295 West Cady street. Running a close second Chas. W. Hall, Jr. garnered 91,683 coupons.

According to Manager Frazer Starnes of the A. & P. store, both of these boys stand an excellent chance of being selected to join the 150 boys from the state of Michigan who will see the World's Fair free. The will be a contingent of 11 boys selected from the Detroit area of which Northville is a part.

Jack McCrumb turned in 30,993 coupons and Lawrence Parmenter, 8,679 coupons. Although these boys are not high enough in the lists to be selected to go on the trip they worked extremely hard, said Mr. Starnes, as did Harold Jordan and Chas. Neuschwanger.

The contest in which a coupon was given with each five cents worth of purchases closed Monday evening at six o'clock.

LEGION BALL TEAM LOSES FIRST GAME

The Northville Legion Junior Baseball team is in the thick of the scramble for the state-wide championship.

A defeat Saturday by Plymouth, 17-to-9, and a rain-out with Hazel Park Sunday has not failed to lessen their enthusiasm.

Tomorrow afternoon (Saturday) at three o'clock the Northville Legion team will play Farmington at the Fair Grounds here. Sunday Northville will meet Royal Oak in a game to be held there.

The line-up for Saturday's game will probably be: Hochkins, pitcher; Moose or R. Westphal, catcher; G. Westphal, first base; Deal, second base; Riley, third base; Himes or Bishop, shortstop; Marberger, left field; Myers, center field, and Giles, right field.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. May Knapp of Monroe was a visitor of Mrs. Bertha Neal, Sunday.

Rev and Mrs. H. G. Whitfield and daughter, Helene, spent the Fourth among Canadian friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wilkinson and family visited Mrs. Wilkinson's parents near Deckerville last week.

A number of representatives of the American Legion and Auxiliary were present at the celebration at Ypsilanti on the Fourth.

Word has been received from Kenneth Beach that he is now stationed at Gwin, Mich., in the upper peninsula. He is the only Northville boy in camp C. C. 1620.

Mrs. S. M. Hamilton, local manager of the Redford Lumber Co., is still a patient in the Pontiac City hospital, where she is recovering from an emergency operation for appendicitis performed two weeks ago.

Friends of Mrs. Fred P. Simmons will be sorry to learn that she suffered a rather painful accident while at the farm of her son, George, Tuesday, when she fell, injuring her leg. Mrs. Simmons is confined to her bed for a time and is being cared for by her granddaughter, Evelyn Simmons.

SCHOOL BOARD CLOSES YEAR WITH ELECTION

Dr. P. R. Alexander, Fred W. Lyke Conclude Three Year Terms

Faced with problems the immensity of which no Northville school board has ever faced before the little group of men who have struggled to uphold Northville educational standards will meet with residents of School District No. 2 Fractional of the township of Northville and Novn Monday evening, July 10, in the high school auditorium.

An election will be held to determine the successors to Dr. P. R. Alexander, treasurer, and Fred W. Lyke, trustee, whose official terms of three years each expire on that date. Both Dr. Alexander and Mr. Lyke are eligible to succeed themselves.

A summarized report of the financial condition of the schools will be read and the meeting thrown open to question and comment. Discussion of the budget for the coming year will be held and officials of the board expressed the desire that the meeting be well attended.

NORTHVILLE BARBERS FOLLOW OTHERS IN ADVANCE IN PRICES

In keeping with rising overhead expenses Northville barbers are following the example of their brother craftsmen in Detroit and other neighboring communities by raising the price on haircuts from 25 cents to 35 cents.

Shaves will cost 25 cents. Children's haircuts, ten years and under, are priced at 25 cents. Plymouth barbers have made the same advance in prices.

These prices, according to the barbers, will take effect on Saturday, July 8.

LOCAL SONGSTERS UNITE IN CHORUS

With a two-fold purpose first to contribute to the pleasure of the public and secondly, to satisfy their sheer joy in singing, a group of men of Northville have organized to form a male chorus. Secular songs, sacred songs, selections from the classics and even some of the giddy airs of popular music, all will come within their range of singing and will be dealt out at will as the mood and the occasion demand.

All of these men have good voices and read with ease. The members of the male quartet which the whole community has heard with pleasure on many occasions, are included in this chorus.

Although at present in a state of development, the group so far is comprised of the following: first tenors Pierre Kenyon, R. H. Amern and Ray Van Valkenburg; 2nd tenors, Leslie G. Lee, B. E. Larson, Maurice Giles, and Alex Johnson; baritone: Carl H. Bryan and Roy Clark; Bass: Al Smith (Plymouth), Merrill S. Sweet, Chas. Strautz and Merle Fraser.

After several weeks of practice and polishing it is expected that these men will burst forth in song at some public occasion and surprise the village with the talent in their midst.

Dr. B. H. Douglas, New Head Of Exchange Club Tells Of Trip to Toronto Convention

Wielding the gavel as president of the Exchange Club for the first time, Dr. Bruce H. Douglas gave a brief resume of his recent trip to Toronto, Canada, where he attended the annual convention of the National Tuberculosis association and the American Sanatorium association to Exchange and their guests at their weekly luncheon held Wednesday at the Methodist church house.

Dr. Douglas spoke highly of the Canadian hospitality to their American guests and commented on how much more serious is the English attitude toward the government and the King. He told of several customs which illustrated this point, one being that no one smokes at any banquet before a toast is drunk to the King.

Outlining the future six months' program, Dr. Douglas explained that the system of having each member provide a program for the entertainment of the club would be continued.

Dr. Douglas announced that he had finally succeeded in having the Wayne County Board of Auditors agree to accept City of Detroit scrip from Northville merchants in payment of county taxes. Arrangements may be made with Mr. Pelham of the county clerk's office, said Dr. Douglas.

SCRIP SURE TO BE ACCEPTED BY WAYNE COUNTY

Dr. Douglas Completes Final Arrangements With Treasurer

Following much planning and many arrangements which fell through several times the Wayne County Board of Auditors has at last agreed to accept City of Detroit scrip from Northville merchants for payment of county taxes.

This information was made public by Dr. B. H. Douglas, medical superintendent of the Maybury sanatorium located on the West Seven Mile road near here. Dr. Douglas was mainly instrumental in having the arrangement finally worked out whereby merchants in this community could relieve themselves of the burden of scrip. A large amount of scrip is spent by Maybury "sen" employees here.

The scrip is good for payment of delinquent taxes, stated Dr. Douglas. Northville merchants who expect to take advantage of the arrangement, he said, will save time when paying their taxes by first making arrangements with Mr. Pelham, Wayne County clerk.

RECREATION PLANS FOR YOUNG FOLKS NOW UNDER WAY

The recreation program for the summer is now under way with Paul Thompson, faculty member of the high school, as director.

Young folks of all ages are asked to meet at the public school grounds every morning at 9:30 o'clock. There will be group games for everyone which will include such games as croquet, tether ball, playground ball and others.

A Twilight League of 7 or 8 teams will be organized consisting of teams of the Exchange and Rotary clubs, American Legion and the churches. At the northwest end of the playground there will be a tennis court. Wellington Roberts is assisting in making the court.

Watch for the ball schedule in next week's Northville Record.

FOUR MISS INJURIES AS CAR HITS DITCH

Four persons escaped serious injury Sunday evening when the car in which they were riding drove by Wm. Wilson, ran into the ditch going east on the Fishery road in front of the Wm. Van Sickle home.

The three passengers were Bert Haywood, Martin Boyle, and Frank Bower, who owned the car, all of Salem.

The car was badly wrecked and the men suffered severe bruises and cuts but were otherwise not seriously injured.

MRS. CHAS. SESSIONS HAS SERIOUS FALL

Mrs. Charles A. Sessions had the misfortune to fall from the porch yesterday noon fracturing her left hip at the neck of the femur. She was taken to Acheson hospital where the injured member was put in a cast and she will be incapacitated for several months.

BOLT HITS TREE

The sharp bolt of lightning which roused drowsy summerers early Sunday morning struck a large tree close to the house of Mrs. A. K. Dolph, crashing a window. No further harm was done.

COUNCIL STILL WORKING FOR BETTER WATER

Department Heads' Reports Are Received Monday

Reports of the chief of police, Wm. Safford, the street commissioner, Earl Montgomery, and the health officer, Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, and the tentative approval of a project to run a water main from the reservoir to the village so that the Eastlawn sanatorium may get water more easily and construction of a new reservoir, composed of the bulk of the business before commissioners Monday evening at the village hall.

Application for a loan to the federal government is being considered, according to Dr. T. W. Snow, village president, although the necessary papers have not yet been drawn up nor the application made.

Chief of Police Safford reported that a total of four arrests were made during the month of June. Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston reported that the amount of contagious disease in Northville had been very small, only one case of mumps and six cases of chicken pox being written on the books.

According to Dr. Snow the installation of the main from the reservoir to the village may not start until late next fall. Further details of the loan to be made will be announced later he said.

W. C. T. S. PROVIDES FUN FOR THE SUMMER

Carrying out the usual summer program of recreation at the Wayne County Training School five workers have been chosen to attend to this feature. Mrs. Thomas Trull will be in charge assisted by Miss Dorothy Wisely, Mrs. R. J. D'Amour, Edwin Pankratz and T. W. Trull.

On the Fourth a big celebration was staged with all the cottages represented in an industrial parade, each working out its individual project.

Games of all kinds were played on the play ground concluding with a picnic supper. In the evening the girls danced on the green.

DENNISTONS GO FISHING

Over the holiday, Captain Edward Denniston, head of the Detroit House of Correction, and his wife, had the pleasure of a trout fishing expedition to their cottage, "Rumpus Ridge," at Grand Marais, and of having with them their two sons and two daughters and families, viz., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Denniston of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Denniston, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mrs. B. Klein, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Lorr of Detroit. The captain returned to his Dehoco duties Wednesday evening. He reports many trout and more mosquitos.

DENNISTON HOST TO POLICE CHIEFS AT MEETING THURSDAY

Captain Edward Denniston of the Detroit House of Correction was the host yesterday afternoon to the monthly meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

A company of 75 sat down to a meal served in the auditorium and listened to a very fine program of music and vaudeville acts. Among the entertainers were the Henry Ford Dixie colored "Eight" and the Dehoco colored male quartet. Chief Lawrence C. Knox of Wayne, president of the association, was in charge of the business session.

Among the guests were: Chief Wm. H. Safford and R. T. Baldwin of Northville, Sterling Eaton of Plymouth and Rev Wm. Richards of Belleville.

NORTHVILLE BOYS FIGHT FOREST FIRE

Encountering forest fires, bears, deer and porcupines, are among the novel experiences of the Northville boys up in the reforestation camp in Kenton, in the Northern peninsula.

On Friday afternoon all the boys were called out to fight a forest fire and so well did they work that they were given a day off to go swimming, according to a letter received from Monroe Weston by a Record representative. Monroe says, "we are having the best time of our life." Incidentally he remarks, "We have to go to church every Sunday. We are compelled to do so."

THE CLOUD OVER COMSTOCK

A cloud of suspicion continues to hang over Governor Wm. A. Comstock. He has lost the confidence not only of leaders of the rival party but of many of his own party. His administration meets with serious charges on all sides. He is said to be dominated by his friend, Isaiah Leebove, who admits that he has been the attorney for well known gangsters of New York City. Such an outstanding democrat as Edward Frensdorff is thrown out of his position on the prison commission and the charges he makes against the governor are serious.

What is Governor Comstock going to say to the people of the state of Michigan who put him in office with the high hope that he would keep his promise of cutting costs of government and of giving a "daylight government"? He is in a very unenviable position right now. What does he have to say regarding the influence of such men as Mr. Leebove? What does he have to say to the charges by members of his own party that "sinister influences" are at work at Lansing?

When is Governor Comstock going to remove the cloud that hangs heavily over his administration?

VACATION MODERATION

After a ten days' vacation in which—through our own choice—we got a little more "roughing" than was good for us, we can give you all a little tip on how to get the most out of vacation.

Here it is: Be moderate. If you have been indoors for a year or two, don't try to catch all the fish in the lake or river in one day; if you haven't been walking more than a mile or two a day, don't set out to be a marathon walker the first day on vacation. (We tried that little stunt and threw out a muscle in a fall over a fallen tree on a trout stream and walked like a man with a wooden leg for the next two days.) If you have been used to sleeping seven or eight hours a night, don't you think you can fool Mother Nature by cutting those hours short on vacation—just to get more "good time." If you do you will pay for it.

In fact, moderation is the best way to get the most out of life, whether on vacation or on the regular job. We often fail to practice this sensible doctrine ourselves, but the smartest folks we know do carry out this theory and we wish we had their good judgment. For example, on this little trip of ours, two of our men each said after a few days of strenuous fishing: "I've had all the fishing I want." One went to work on a book that he is writing. The other went to reading a book.

MICHIGAN'S BANK TRAGEDY

Northville, the little sister of Detroit, has a keen interest in the sensational changes that have been made there by responsible men, that the closing of the two groups of Detroit banks was a vicious move, wholly uncalled-for, a terrible calamity and in the words of former governor, Alex J. Groesbeck, the "rape of Detroit."

Men of the highest reputation have gone on the witness stand, taken their oath and then charged that incompetent officials of our national government brought about the banking holiday which brought untold ruin in Detroit and the State of Michigan and spread its disaster to other states.

The grand jury investigation has reached the point where we shall soon know whether the government at Washington will consider the right of 800,000 depositors. We shall soon know whether Washington bureaucracy is to crush a great city and a great state or whether there is still justice enough left at our national capital to protect the rights of nearly a million of people in Detroit alone. We shall soon know whether the tentacles of Wall street are to keep in their grip a free people or whether we shall control the money that is ours. As the Detroit News suggests, we shall soon know whether the "New Deal" is to be a "Fair Deal." The bank holiday so far, as handled by our federal officials, has been nothing less than a pitiful calamity.

If President Roosevelt is the fair-minded and right-eous president that we believe him to be, the crime of the bureaucrats will be atoned for as soon and as completely as possible. A tremendous wrong has been done Detroit and the whole state of Michigan. The only recompense that can be made must come from Washington, whose officials brought about one of the greatest financial tragedies in the history of the state.

UPPER PENINSULA CONTENT

During the vacation of the writer, up on Isle Royale, we covered in the trip and return 1,263 miles by automobile. About half was in each of our two peninsulas.

Of all those miles, which ones do you suppose gave us the most thrill? Not in the crowded sections from Northville north; not in the resort country; not along the big lakes. No sir, the finest 50 miles of the whole trip were those we rode in the evening, on the way from Negaunee south toward Gladstone, en route to the writer's brother's home at Manistique.

The road was narrow and winding. It wasn't the best pavement in the state—just a stretch of rather rough macadam. But all along that pavement until darkness began to slip down on us, there were people by the hundreds, outdoors enjoying the simple pleasures of a summer evening. Every few miles there would be a ball game going on, with maybe a dozen playing and perhaps in the next corner thirty or forty. The ball grounds were crude but fine American boys—probably mostly of mining stock—were out there getting as much fun out of the ball game as though they were watching the Detroit Tigers play the New York Yankees.

Then all along that road, coming out through the mining section of Negaunee, there were whole families out just walking and enjoying the evening together. Many a father was pushing the family baby cab while his wife walked along beside him—quite a far cry, we thought, from rushing to a movie to get a good time. Just a walk in the country to see boys play ball. Yet over it all there seemed to hover a peace and a content that were priceless.

Getting into more rough country, and away from the villages we came to a clearing where there was only one house. But out in front was a girl vigorously swinging her little sister in a swing. The smiles on their faces showed that they were having just as much fun as though they were walking the streets of the crowded city, looking for pleasure. Then the night came down and the stars came out as the automobile bore us toward Manistique and sleep. The faces of those swinging children followed us and we thought then as we have often thought: The finest things of life often cost the least and are found where the haughty and proud do not look for them.

WANDERING THOUGHTS

The best news in many a day: Dollar wheat.

Another bit of good news: Letters to be distributed in Northville go for two cents.

The sales tax is with us. The folks who voted last fall for the amendment to forbid more than 15% tax on real estate have given us the sales tax. Time will tell whether it will be a blessing or not.

The best part of a vacation is coming back and finding all the wheels of the office machinery running smoothly as if there had been no interruption. There never was a more loyal office force than the Record boys.

How do you like having your automobile "soaked" coming and going? We are all now paying a total gasoline tax of four and three-quarters cents per gallon. The sales tax adds the latest addition of a quarter of a cent per gallon. Not much at a filling but a lot in the course of a year.

While we were at Isle Royale one of the aunts who had a great influence on our boyhood days, when we visited the farm of our uncle, John E. Sykes, near Ida, died at the age of 79. Had we known that the passing of "Aunt Maggie" was imminent, we should without the slightest regret have given up all vacation plans. So completely isolated was Isle Royale for us that we did not know of her death until we reached home.

In another column we have a little article on our trip to Isle Royale. It is a very unique and isolated place. It was the first time that we had been in the upper peninsula. We made the trip too hurriedly to see or learn much of the cities and villages through which we passed. We did learn this: Marquette is in the iron mining district and Houghton and Hancock in the "copper country." One of the copper mines, we were told, is two miles deep. Going down! Some day, when the mines get going again and we are not with a fishing party, we hope to drop in to those mines and see how iron and copper are mined.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

How many real friends have you?

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

JOHN BARLEYCORN

(Geo. Averall in Birmingham Economic)

When 20 more states ratify the repeal of the 18th amendment, your Uncle Sam no longer will be required to consider John Barleycorn an outlaw. For a while John will dwell with us in a sort of peace; he will then become loud and noisy; and as citizens band together again to make him obedient, he will rebel and eventually be banished by law. That is, unless human beings are able to be temperate in their acquaintance with John. And you can hardly expect temperance and moderation from today's human nature, can you?

BUILDING REPAIRS STARTING

(Emerson O. Gildart in Utica Sentinel)

Building repairs are becoming quite prevalent, we learn, among the farmers of this vicinity. Factors at play now justify the belief that a heavy upturn in building work will occur before long. During the past two months small residence building has been moving steadily upward, and material makers have noticed better than a seasonal gain in orders. A building upturn would be felt in every industry—lumber, steel, transport, metal, paint, electric, gas—and would provide a vast amount of new employment, with a consequent jump in buying power. Also important would be its favorable effect on security values.

THEY ARE LOOKING TOWARDS SMALL TOWNS

(C. S. Seed in Rochester Clarion)

Manufacturers are doing some heavy thinking these days. A great many of them have come to that place in the business road where they must make up their minds which way to turn. Many of the larger industrial centers—most of them in fact—have engaged in a wild and extravagant spending orgy in the past. These cities are heavily bonded. The outlook for the future is not bright. They face debts which will not be discharged in this generation or the next. The manufacturer knows that if he stays there he will have to shoulder his share of the burden. In the face of demand for lower prices for his product, he does not see how he can do this. It is natural that manufacturers should be casting longing

THIS WEEK

By H. E. WHITE

The making of criminal laws and the enforcing of them depend entirely how earnestly citizens object to certain classifications of crime or in other words laws of most any nature which make certain kind of conduct illicit are effective insofar as the breaking of such laws arouses the citizenry into action to defend an established and recognized conception of law and order. It is not sufficient that Mr. Average American Citizen as a law abiding and peace-loving adherent, for a small minority can render nugatory criminal law, let alone most any law, if the population at large is not law-enforcing minded enough.

This Judge Henry Sweeney made an interesting and obvious statement at Lansing the other day when he said "progress in dealing with crime has not kept pace with our advances in science, industry and other important phases of life, and that legal procedure in criminal cases must be revised radically before United States can cope successfully with its crime problem."

Such a thing can only be accomplished as long as government resides in the people and stays there. For government is the composite decisions of concrete situations. Since the power in the modern state to enforce law and order lies with the people and not in the government, what Judge Sweeney said about the need of a radical revision in our criminal laws before we can cope with the situation successfully is an obvious truth, of which everyone who is an American citizen and voter must share the responsibility.

glances toward the smaller towns which have continued on a sane basis. Another element which is attracting him is labor conditions. Crowded cities harbor disturbing elements which prey upon the masses. Today the manufacturer is weighing the advantage of centralization, mass production and transportation advantages against the more sane and less spectacular conditions which exist in smaller cities.

DEMONSTRATION VACATION SCHOOL IS GIVEN BY PUPILS

On Sunday evening a large number of parents and friends of children of the various churches of the village gathered at the Methodist church to listen to a demonstration of the work accomplished in the vacation Bible school just closed.

Upon the platform stepped these children in turn and repeated whole chapters and psalms from the Bible besides singing from memory a great many songs. More than one parent in the audience blushed with the embarrassing realization that he could not do as well as his child standing confidently there.

Great appreciation was expressed among the elders who listened in the great amount of good accom-

MRS. LOUIS SCHROEDER

The Lord took our dear sister, Mrs. Louis Schroeder out of this life, Monday evening, at 5:45, June 26th.

1933. For the past three years our dear Mother and grandmother had been a patient sufferer, having undergone an operation on her eyes during that time. Mrs. Schroeder was the daughter of Henry and Minnie R. Berndt and was born in Wetzlar, Germany, November 22, 1864. She attained the age of 68 years, 10 months and four days. She was preceded in death by one daughter, Elizabeth, ten years ago, and her faithful companion, Ludwig Schroeder, six years ago. In 1893 both Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder came to America, having married in Germany some years previous, and bringing four children with them.

For some years they were located in Detroit, later coming to South Lyon, and Salem, where they have ever since resided.

Rev. W. Breitenbach, pastor of the Farmington Evangelical Lutheran church, conducted the German service. Mrs. Salow and a friend of hers sang a duet, "Nearer My God to Thee," in German. Rev. Breitenbach then gave a very touching message.

Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, pastor of Salem Congregational church, had charge of the English service. Mrs. Ivan Speers and Mrs. Stroh sang, "The City of Dreadful Night." Mrs. Stroh read from the Revelation 21st chapter, "The New Jerusalem" described there as dear Grandma Schroeder had a marvelous vision of that city a few weeks before her departure, exhorting all her dear children who were around her bedside to accept the Savior and meet her in that city of eternal glory.

Seven children survive to mourn the loss of a precious, beloved mother. Gustave Schroeder and Herman Schroeder of Salem, Mrs. Martha Defer of Detroit, Frank Schroeder and Mrs. Elsie Dudley of Salem, Albert Schroeder of Detroit, and Mrs. Lillian Hill of Wayne, and twelve grandchildren.

Our sister was a faithful member of the Farmington Evangelical Lutheran church. ## A Vacation on Isle Royale

By RICHARD T. BALDWIN

Seven days away from all telephones!

A week away from all sounds of automobiles!

Two days riding on a fishing boat and five days on an island out in cold Lake Superior. A whole week away from home folks and only the slightest chance to get in touch with them, should anything serious happen. Days when your feet never touched sidewalks and when the sight of a bath tub would have shocked you. Nights when you slept on a foot-and-a-half wide bench of a fishing boat and longed for the old Seelye mattress, hundreds of miles back home. Calm, cold evenings when all the stars came out and you sat around the camp fire and wondered how Indians felt, as night drew its sable mantle over them and covered with darkness the lapping waters of the nearby lake.

This was the week that we had at Isle Royale, and going and coming from that beautiful, yet awesomely distant spot, set out in Lake Superior, 50 miles and more from the tip of the Northern Peninsula of Michigan.

Last week we mentioned the trip we took with eleven other men from Lansing, Jackson, Howell and Charlotte to see this picturesque island. It was one of the most unique vacations of a whole life time. It takes its place in the writer's memory for five days spent in Death Valley where the cruel desert isolates you. In Isle Royale you are isolated, not by blistering sands, which have claimed their dead but are shut off from the outside world by the cold, cold waters of Lake Superior, which never gives up its dead. For one who is constantly with people, it is an isolation that grips you. You realize how helpless one is away from all touch with the outside world.

Our week's experience took us from Portage Entry (just to the north of Keweenaw Bay), through Portage Lake, about 15 miles to Houghton where we took on groceries for the week's stay; then out through a ship canal that man has helped make, for nine miles, to the shore of Lake Superior, and then finally, but not briefly, out on the cold waters of Lake Superior, northwesterly for eight hours of riding to majestic Isle Royale.

We left the little fishing village at Portage Entry Wednesday morning, June 21, at 7:00 o'clock, were in Houghton City at 8:30, stopped there for an hour and then enjoyed the quiet ride through the canal for an hour. Then at 10:30 we left land behind and struck out into the "big waters." That was the boat ride that will stick in memory.

Our fishing boat, The Eagle, was only 40 feet long and Lake Superior doesn't fool with little boats. You toss up and down and you roll sideways just like "nobody's business." Edwin Eskelinen was our pilot, with Good-Guide A. Edd Ackley, nearby to take the wheel if needed. Capt. Arthur Tormala, owner of the boat, was to have taken us across and back but he was highly honored when the captain of the 300-foot boat, Isle Royale, asked him to guide the big ship among the treacherous rocks and reefs of Isle Royale as the boat made its maiden trip to the island, on its way from Chicago. Off the west end of Isle Royale, hanging high on the jagged rocks, was all that was left of the ship, George Cox, which had been wrecked on the "Rock of Ages." Its captain was off the course several miles and has lost his "papers" for life. There were 159 people aboard. It was no time to be taking a big boat for the first time into these menacing waters without a master hand at the wheel who knew every rock and reef. So Capt. Tormala took over the wheel of the majestic Isle Royale and his brother-in-law, the courageous, even though young, Edd, Eskelinen, became our navigator. Capt. Arthur joined us in a couple of days at Rock Harbor, having come across to us in a small boat, and piloted us around the east end of the island and finally back to the mainland and Portage Entry.

The trip from the mainland to the island brought us a real thrill when we ran into a low lying fog. We were due at the island at 4 o'clock, but when that time came we could not see the island and the thick fog was still ahead. Watching the compass with an eagle eye, both the pilot and the guide proceeded very cautiously, knowing the danger of running onto rocks. It came 4:30 and then 5 o'clock and we were still unable to sight the island. Then in a few minutes our pilot rushed back and stopped the engine. We had run into fishing buoys which meant that we were in shallow water, near the rocks which rise high above it. Then we looked down into the crystal-clear water of the lake and saw more rocks. Our boat drew only four feet of water but as we looked down, those rocks underneath looked to be four feet from us. Rather sobering. We were not far from the island but the problem was to get into a harbor through a clear opening. The fog lifted off to the west, but still lay in great banks ahead of us.

We looked around at the life preservers and thought solemnly of the words of some one who said of life preservers in Lake Superior: "They are like anchors around your neck." The reason is that the water of the lake is 42 degrees cold—just ten above freezing and one cannot live long in the waters of the lake.

After the navigator backed away from the fishing nets he started at a small-like pace to find the harbor. Going about two miles an hour our usual pace was ten. It was a long, slow, steady pace. At last there was a shout of joy. Point Houghton was sighted to the west and then it was an easy matter for us to head for that—and the harbor and safety. At half past six we dodged all the rocks, rounded the point and rode into the smooth waters of Hay Bay, on the south side of the island, about 15 miles from the west end.

Hay Bay was a beautiful spot and after our long water ride looked like paradise to us. It was a good night, but soon a big fire on shore united us all in a spirit of camaraderie and as the calm night came down, we were a happy party—a long way from home but experiencing a new life in one of the most isolated and picturesque spots in this glorious United States. Part of our party put up their tent and dragged their cots in there for the night—each with a tent of mosquito netting over his head. We boat dwellers hied ourselves to our board beds and slept the sleep of the just. Tomorrow we were to go trout fishing—and for us that was to be a new chapter. Around us rose the cadence of the snoring of tired men.

Louis and Frank Eaton Celebrate Birthday on the Fourth

Not every boy can have the whole nation celebrate his birthday as did Louis and Frank Eaton, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Eaton, who thought for years that the fireworks and flags were always put out in their honor. Frank and Louis were ten years old Monday and their mother invited in a bunch of boys to join in a picnic supper in the yard. The weather was perfect and the boys had a merry time together with games.

J. D. Miller Surrounded by Children on His Birthday Sunday

Sunday was a happy day for J. D. Miller when five of his six children gathered at the paternal home on the Prairie road to give him greetings on the occasion of his 70th birthday. Five grandchildren also added their presence to the merry-making. A bountiful cooperative supper was spread and a most pleasant family time was enjoyed. A birthday cake was the final course and was appreciated by the one honored in spite of 70 years of such celebrations. Mr. Miller has lived in this vicinity for most of his life and is well known and respected.

Happy Family Gathering at Bentons' On Glorious Fourth

Mr. and Mrs. Carmi Benton welcomed a big family gathering at their country home on the Seven Mile road, Tuesday. Twenty strong they gathered, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, and most honored of all, Mrs. Eliza Crocker, mother of Mrs. Benton, who was happy to have with her on this day all of her children. Everyone was young on this day and entered heartily into the games of their choice, baseball, bridge or five hundred. Some preferred to visit and many joined in the family "sing" around the piano with Seth Crocker, a pianist, a brother of Mrs. Benton, making the piano lead the melodies with zest.

When the picnic dinner was spread on the lawn the whole group sat in the shade of the trees and ingered over the delicious meal. Those present with the Bentons were: Mrs. Eliza Crocker, Seth Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crocker, and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evans, Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Mrs. Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuler, all of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslie and son, Benton, and Mrs. Ameren, of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Lester is a sister of Mr. Benton.

A number of the guests said as they left "We never had a better day."

Miss Grace Hawkins Becomes Mrs. Hawkins, June 30

A romance which began when Miss Grace Hawkins was introduced to Frank Hawkins at the table of Miss Grace Tremper several years ago culminated on Friday evening, June 30, very happily in the marriage of these young folks at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Clyde Ford, in Dearborn, with whom Miss Hawkins made her home.

In the presence of a large number of relatives and intimate friends, the ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clyde McGeath, pastor of the Methodist church of Dearborn. When the guests had assembled, Miss Gertrude Deal sang the appropriate "At Dawning," by Cadman.

Crooks, violin, the bride party took its place before a beautiful arch of flowers entwined among the wrought iron gateway between the two living rooms. Banks of palms and ferns and a profusion of blossoms made a fitting setting for the marriage service. Preceding the bride was a little flower girl, a young Dearborn friend. On the arm of Mr. Ford, the bride entered the room charming in white eyelet organdie over silk, white turban and carrying a shower bouquet of rosebuds and gypsophylla. Accompanying her were her maid of honor, Miss Eunice Parks of Ypsilanti, who wore a pink organdie gown and turban, and her bridesmaid, Miss Wilma Ford, who wore yellow organdie and turban to match. Both carried shower bouquets.

The groom, attended by James Green, as best man, awaited the bride at the altar where the vows were exchanged.

Following the ceremony and felicitations, a dainty two-course buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins left immediately for a motor tour with Chicago, and the world's fair as their destination. They will be at home at their apartment on Thayer boulevard on their return.

Both are well and favorably known in this community, the bride having taught in Northville public schools for six years and Mr. Hawkins having been in the employ of the Detroit Edison company here. Many friends extend hearty good wishes.

The bride has been honored at a number of happy functions in anticipation of her marriage, among them a personal shower given last week by the Odette club of which she is a member when Mrs. R. L. Lee was hostess.

Guests from Northville attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Green, Miss Ellen Reincke, Miss Helen Leonardson, Mrs. Gladys Grinnell, and Gertrude Deal.

Mrs. Chase Has Program Committee As Dinner Guests

Mrs. C. M. Chase was hostess at six o'clock dinner to the members of the program committee of the Northville Woman's club at her home on Wednesday evening. The weather being perfect for such an event dinner was served on the porch. The guests were seated at one table in the center of which was a large bowl of mixed flowers from the famous Chase Gardens.

In the party with the hostess were Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. E. M. Eaton, Mrs. Harold Bloom, Mrs. J. N. McLaughlin, Mrs. Don P. Yerkes, Sr., Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, another member of the committee, was unable to attend being on a visit in the south.

The party was served by Mrs. Chase's daughter, Miss Marjorie, being "aided and abetted" by Mr. Chase behind the scenes.

Alumni Banquet Attended By Over One Hundred "Old Grads"

On Friday evening, June 30, nearly 125 former students of Northville high school gathered for an evening of renewing old friendships at the alumni banquet held in the gym.

Following dinner Mrs. John Litsenberger, president of the alumni association, introduced the toastmaster Attorney Arthur S. Nichols, '35, who announced the program.

Lee J. Smith, of the Detroit Times, gave an interesting insight into the "tricks of the trade" in getting news for a city daily. His speech was original and full of interest to his hearers.

In characteristic sincerity, Supt. R. H. Amerman spoke of the lasting relation of the alumni to the school. A violin solo by Miss Frances Cousins, accompanied by her sister, Miss Eunice, and a vocal solo by Merle Fraser were other numbers on this program.

Dancing to the music of Patterson's orchestra from Plymouth concluded the evening.

"Mothers" of Church Are Honored By Ladies Aid

Approximately ten of the older women of the Methodist church were honored at a luncheon given them at the church house Thursday by the members of the Ladies Aid society.

The guests were escorted to the luncheon by Mrs. Roy Clark. On the tables were bowls of garden flowers and the honored guests were seated together at the central table. At the place of each guest lay an old-fashioned nose-gay. The menu was dainty and delectable, and a spirit of friendly camaraderie was evident.

At the close of the meal Mrs. Bertha Neal, president of the society.

A negro woman walked into an insurance office and asked whether they dealt in fire insurance.
"We do," a clerk replied. "What do you want insured?"
"Mah husband."

"Then you don't want fire insurance," smiled the clerk, as she reached for another application form. "What you want is a life insurance policy."
"No, Ah don't," exclaimed the woman. "Ah wants fire insurance. Mah husband's been fired 't times in de las' two weeks."

Fish Resembles Pelican

A rare deep-sea fish with a long eel-like body has its jaws, throat and stomach so distended as to resemble the pouch of a pelican. This characteristic which gives it the name "pelican fish" is sometimes responsible for its death for it enables it to swallow fishes too large for it to handle. Individuals of one species of this remarkable family of fishes have been known to swallow fishes larger than themselves.

PERCY ANGOVE HAS MADE FINE RECORD
AS AN EDUCATOR

worker. He was much in demand as a public speaker and through his eloquent addresses and untiring efforts he did much to stimulate interest in the handicapped children of the state.

It was only on the most urgent solicitation that he gave up his work with the state department to become director of education at the Wayne County Training school. During the time Mr. Angove has been connected with the latter institution I have visited him frequently and have had opportunity to observe the splendid way in which the school there has developed under his direction and supervision. I regard Mr. Angove as one of the few educators in the country who has an adequate understanding of mentally and physically defective children. The school at Northville as it stands today, in organization, curriculum and methodology is a monument to skillful and effective service.

Mr. Angove is a man of culture and a gentleman in every sense of the word.

Very cordially yours,
Dr. Chas. M. Elliott,
Director of Special Education

Federal Board for Vocational Education
1880 E. Street Northwest

June 19, 1933

To Whom It May Concern:
The writer has known Mr. Percy Angove for a number of years. For several years of this period Mr. Angove was Supervisor of Rehabilitation in the State of Michigan, working under the administrative direction of the State Board for Vocational Education. During that time Mr. Angove rendered effective service in the management of the state work. His relations with the Federal Government during that period were most satisfactory. He was very cooperative not only in carrying out the terms of the agreement between the State and Federal Governments, but later in rendering additional cooperative service beyond the scope of that required under the State and Federal Acts.

Mr. Angove is well equipped for his work both by training and experience. His experience in dealing with disadvantaged persons and effecting their vocational readjustment should commend him to careful consideration of those who are in a position to use his efficient services.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. John J. Lee
Department of Public Instruction
Lansing, Michigan

My Dear Mr. Lee
Mr. Percy Angove was State Director of Rehabilitation when I became State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and thus a member of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education.

Mr. Angove, in my opinion, is a very exceptional Director of Special Education. He had the interest of each one of his cases at heart and exercised every effort in their behalf. He was especially well qualified for the work.

Mr. Angove possesses a very pleasant and sincere personality, has developed very successful qualities of administration and is an enthusiastic teacher and I know of no one whom I would recommend more enthusiastically for a position of administration or of teaching than I would Mr. Angove.

Very truly yours,

A TWILIGHT MEETING
FOR ORCHARD OWNERS

To Fruit Growers:
How does that sound after a hot day?

We will meet at Ralph Foreman's orchard three miles west of Northville on Seven Mile (Fishery Road) at 7:00 Friday, night, July 7.

H. A. Cardwell, Extension Specialist in Horticulture for the Michigan State College, will discuss orchard spray and cultural practices and in general answer your questions. These early evening meetings have been going well since it gives time to actually see the orchards before dark and does not interfere greatly with the day's work and we know you will get some help with your problems.

Please tell your neighbors or others interested and come early.
Very truly yours,

INGHAM LEGISLATOR LOOKS AT MICHIGAN'S NEW DEAL

SERIES OF ARTICLES TO SHOW SUCCESSES AND FAILURES OF NEW ADMINISTRATION

Publisher to Review Accomplishments of Legislature; Will Compare Actual State Costs With Promises Made in Campaign

By V. J. Brown of the Ingham County (Mason) News

Six months of the new deal administration have passed into history and Michigan citizens in considerable number are inquiring concerning what has actually been accomplished and what may be expected of the future. It is now about 15 months since this writer began a series of articles which gained rather wide circulation among the taxpayers of Michigan in which an attempt was made to evaluate the state government of that day and to point out to the taxpayers of Michigan where their tax dollars were being spent and for what purpose. Incidentally an attempt was made at that time to discover in behalf of the people, from whom the taxes were being collected, just who was benefitting; whether in fact the tax money was being used for the people of the state or just those whose names appeared on the payrolls. Some rather disconcerting discoveries were then made.

During recent weeks many appeals have come to this writer asking him to review the session of the legislature just closed and to point out some of the influences which have worked against the adoption of the reforms promised last fall when the campaign was on and again this spring when the people expressed their choice at the polls.

Because of this demand and because of the widespread interest of the reading public of Michigan in the truth regarding the affairs of their state governments I have decided to submit a second series of articles dealing with current domestic and state political circles.

In doing so a sincere desire is held that this series, like the foregoing, shall be free from partisan bias and that the truth only shall be related. Again I shall present no opinion other than is necessary for the reader's interest. Quite in keeping with the preceding series, what is written here will be based upon the record and statements of fact based upon records open to all at Lansing. Some interesting comparisons will be possible as between the payrolls of 1932, notoriously extravagant, and those of 1933 under the economy rules laid down by the campaigners at Michigan's two most recent elections.

Outlines Problems

On January 5, when Governor William A. Comstock appeared before the joint convention of the house and senate to deliver his inaugural address, he stressed few points, promising that later as he became more familiar with state problems and better acquainted with his legislature he would further reveal his administration program. On January 5 he stated it as his judgment that the most important measures for early consideration included direct welfare relief and a provision for public works to give employment to heads of families out of work, old age pensions, state aid for primary schools, primary election reforms, revision of workmen's compensation laws to include occupational diseases, complete revision of the tax system, and, last, but by no means least, he emphasized economy in every branch of state government.

A little less than a month later he transmitted to the house and senate a message in which he endorsed the cancellation of taxes of 1927 and prior years and an extension of time to delinquent taxpayers of 1928 and subsequent years which amounted to a virtual cancellation of delinquent taxes for current support of municipalities and schools as well as a repudiation of the debt represented by the so-called calamity bonds sold by municipalities on security represented by the delinquent tax lists then suggested to be cancelled. The governor further in his message of Feb. 2, again pointed out the necessity of revision of the tax laws.

On March 8, Governor Comstock requested the joint convention of the two branches of the legislature in order that he might again appear in person and deliver a third message. On this occasion he asked that the malt tax law be amended to permit the release of about $250,000 to the counties to be applied against a total debt then amounting to nearly $2,000,000. He again urged the revision of the tax laws and the submission of an amendment to the state constitution to permit a lower than the average rate of taxation for personal property and intangibles and the adoption of a graduated income tax measure. He also at that time urged it as his opinion that a constitutional convention should be called for a complete revision of the state constitution.

In keeping with the foregoing administration program, from time to time, numerous bills were introduced and promoted by administration leaders designed to bring about the accomplishment of the reforms sought and advocated.

So far as the records of the house and senate are concerned, the foregoing constitutes the administration program to date.

Need Big Stick

Frequently governors have improved their respective political positions by jockeying the legislature into unfavorable light in the public mind. The public appears to like that sort of thing. Mr. Average Citizen harkens back to the days of "Teddy" Roosevelt and his "big stick" and cheers lustily whenever the chief executive by force of character, a strong personality, or by sheer ability forces his house and senate into a position where the members respond to the crack of the whip.

Students of politics and political maneuvers are a unit in declaring that in every such situation an able governor is required—a governor able to think ahead of the legislators as well as one who has a carefully worked out program of genuine merit.

Never since the days of Stevens T. Mason has the administration been confronted with more perplexing problems than those faced by Governor William A. Comstock and the members of the 1933 legislature. When the legislature convened in January there were many problems to be solved, those problems for the most part falling naturally under four general headings: Indigency and welfare matters growing out of an extended period of unemployment were paramount. Intricately interwoven with these problems were the questions of finance and taxation, including the perplexing matter of tax delinquency and what to do with lands held under tax liens and about to be confiscated for taxes past due and unpaid. Banking and related fiscal problems involving the entire credit structure of the state, governmental and private, constituted the third great field of legislative concern. Support of the public school system of the state following the adoption of the 15-mill tax limitation amendment to the state constitution last November, was the fourth.

Beer, horse and dog racing, the small loan law, garnishment exemptions, clash of interests between the railroads and the highway trucking interests, notary public commission rates and a hundred and one similar measures were incidental to the real problems of 1933 but for some reason successfully held the center of interest throughout. The people are out with a big question mark to learn the reason why the big issues were ignored and funny, silly and inconsequential questions held sway.

Baptist Church

Kindly remember the morning service begins now at 10:00 a. m. instead of 10:30. Evening services are held every summer at the Baptist church just as in winter. The hour is 7:30 o'clock. The scriptures tell us in Hebrew 10:25, "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves as the manner of some is." The manner of some is all too apparent and this is a time when this scripture ought to be heeded. No cooler spot in town and no more comfortable seats, and they are free.

If you are a transient in town come and fellowship with us. The pastor Rev. W. Roscoe Barbour preaches morning and evening. The Sunday school meets at 11:20 a. m.

"If thou wilt enter into life, keep thy commandments," Matthew 19:17. There is but one way to eternal life, namely through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, Acts 16:31. But does not the above text contradict this assertion? Both the rich young man and the Philippian jailer had asked the same question, namely, how to obtain eternal life. But the answers differ. The one is: "Keep the commandments," the other: "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ." Which is the correct one? Both? What? Both? How can these things be? The solution is simple. Without fulfillment of the commandments no one can enter eternal life. That decree is irrevocable, but man, a born sinner, cannot fulfill the law. As a consequence, he is barred from eternal life; for God's justice and holiness demand the execution of His threats: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "If man is to be snatched from the jaws of eternal death, the law must be fulfilled. Was it fulfilled? Indeed, to the letter by Jesus the God-man. He did this as our substitute for you and for me.

Do you believe this? If so, then Christ's fulfillment of the commandments is credited to your account, and yours is the promise of eternal life. Thus it is true that you are saved through faith in Christ, and also through the keeping of the law.

He gave the congress so much important matter that it had no time to think up devilry and begot the session with pet measures and political gestures. Comstock never produced a program. The only discipline he maintained over his party members was the threat of loss of patronage for those who kicked over the traces. The inevitable result was a stream jammed with knurlly logs and driftwood while the straight timber was lost in the eddies. When the drive was over there was little worthwhile lumber to be saved. Comstock was a woodsman in his early days but evidently he never learned the first rule of the drive: "Keep the stream open and the logs rolling and there will be no jams at the cross currents."

The senate made the mistake of discharging men and women with years of experience in handling the technical side of the work. Their places were taken by campaign workers who knew little and cared less for the work of the session. With the aid of a handful of sound thinking democrats the republican members of the house succeeded in saving the clerk and his staff, hence the amount of the work done on that side shines forth in contrast to that of the senate. Likewise the house proceeded with a degree of regard for the rules while the senate bunched along as best it could.

Patronage Heads List

But what of the program? In contrast with the seriousness of the situation, there was none. Such as there was had not been submitted by the governor even to the members of his own party. From the very outset patronage took precedence over the public good. Petty party quarrels marred the discussion of every important measure to the point that even a majority of the democrats of the house are found on the record in the closing hours of the session as forced to vote for a sales tax measure which the governor had previously declared he would veto if passed.

One week of honest effort in laying out a program and in laying it carefully before his leaders would have saved Governor Comstock a great deal of worry and would have assured Michigan of a much better set of enactments.

It will be the purpose of the next article to take up the course of each of the more important measures suggested, to trace their course through legislative channels, to point out the interests which caused their defeat where defeat was accomplished, and to set forth as near as may be the present status of each of the several proposals. Later along in the series, current payrolls will be employed to show the extent to which the "new deal" economy has been carried.
